

Class PN1993

Book .M6

Scanned from the collections of
The Library of Congress

Packard Campus for Audio Visual Conservation www.loc.gov/avconservation

Motion Picture and Television Reading Room
www.loc.gov/rr/mopic

Recorded Sound Reference Center
www.loc.gov/rr/record

JULY 11, 1914

NO TITLE PAGE & INDEX ISSUED

PRICE, 10 CENTS

The Motion Picture News

3 S 1
G 2 0
Library

The fastest growing picture Journal

Dayton CONVENTION Number

VOL. X NUMBER

Judge Love

THE GIRL OF MYSTERY

FEATURING GRACE CUNARD AND FRANCIS FORD

NEWS WHILE IT IS NEWS DAILY ON YOUR SCREEN!

Already the Exhibitors who have Booked these livest of Motion Picture News Films

THE PATHÉ DAILY NEWS

Have become convinced that for getting the money it is the one best bet. To show a DAILY NEWS Poster outside your theatre is insurance against a dull day—to show the film on your screen means a satisfied audience. Invariably THE PATHÉ DAILY NEWS exhibitor is a successful exhibitor.

BOOK IT THROUGH THE FOLLOWING PATHÉ DAILY NEWS EXCHANGES:

BOSTON, MASS., 3 Tremont Row.
PHILADELPHIA, PA., 1235 Vine St.
ATLANTA, GA., Rhodes Building
PITTSBURGH, PA., 715 Liberty Ave.
CINCINNATI, OHIO, 217 E. 5th St.
NEW ORLEANS, LA., 910 Gravier St.
MINNEAPOLIS, MINN., Kazota Building.
DENVER, COL., Nassau Building.
SAN FRANCISCO, CAL., 67 Turk St.
KANSAS CITY, MO., 928 Main St.
NEW YORK, N. Y., 115 East 23d St.
WASHINGTON, D. C., 7th and E Sts., N. W.
SYRACUSE, N. Y., 214 Fayette St.
CLEVELAND, OHIO, 622 Prospect Ave.
CHICAGO, ILL., 5 S. Wabash Ave.
ST. LOUIS, MO., 3210 Locust St.
DALLAS, TEXAS., Andrews Building.
PORTLAND, ORE., 392 Burnside St.
LOS ANGELES, CAL., 114 E. 7th St.
SEATTLE, WASH., 810 Third Ave.
OMAHA, NEB., 1312 Farnam St.

Delays are dangerous. Write at once for full information, addressing as below

PATHÉ DAILY NEWS, 1 Congress St., JERSEY CITY, N. J.

POINTERS

Audiences
Must be Entertained!
Receipts are
In proportion to Capacity and Attendance
Nightly.

Change your luck—
Order MELIES AMERICAN
Made COMEDIES, released
Every TUESDAY, and
Derive the benefit of Increased business.
Exchanges now
Supplied.

RELEASES AS USUAL

SINGLES
Tuesday, Comedy
Wednesday, Drama
Thursday, Comedy

MULTIPLES
Thursday, Drama
Saturday,
Comedy or Drama

SPECIAL FEATURES

BOOST BUSINESS BY BOOKING

THE CURSE OF GREED
IN
5 PARTS
ABOUNDING
IN TRYING ORDEALS

MELIES MONEY MAKING MULTIPLES

THE THUMB PRINT
IN
4 PARTS
A THRILLING
DETECTIVE DRAMA

'NEATH THE LION'S PAW
IN
3 PARTS
THE GREATEST ANIMAL
DRAMA EVER ATTEMPTED FOR FILM PORTRAYAL

RELEASED THROUGH THE GENERAL FILM CO.

MELIES G FILMS

Essanay

10,000,000 PEOPLE

Are waiting to see the Photoplay Masterpiece

"One Wonderful Night"

(IN FOUR ACTS)

Written by LOUIS TRACY

This magnificent production will be released

Saturday, July 18th

Francis X. Bushman

the winner of the Ladies' World Hero Contest will play the leading role—your audience elected him to play it.

BOOK THIS ATTRACTION NOW!

Released through the
General Film Company's Feature Department

Essanay Film Manufacturing Company

521 First National Bank Building, Chicago
Factory and Studio, 1333 Argyle St., Chicago, Ill.

BRANCH OFFICES IN

LONDON PARIS BERLIN BARCELONA

THE DRAMASCOPE COMPANY

Will Release on

August 15th

Detective

Wm. J. BURNS

IN

HIS MOST CELEBRATED SECRET SERVICE CASE

"The $5,000,000 Counterfeiting Plot"

IN SIX PARTS

A thrilling dramatization of the Famous Philadelphia-Lancaster Counterfeiting Mystery produced under Mr. Burns' personal supervision in order that every detail be accurate.

Mr. Burns acts in nearly every foot of this picture.

SIR ARTHUR CONAN DOYLE, creator of "Sherlock Holmes" is shown with Mr. Burns in this picture.

For Booking or State Rights call upon or write to

THE DRAMASCOPE COMPANY

110 West 40th Street, New York

Every Exhibitor at Dayton Convention Should Book Bosworth's New Thrilling Release

"JOHN BARLEYCORN"

WOMAN'S CHRISTIAN TEMPERANCE UNION OF CALIFORNIA

SAN FRANCISCO, CAL.,
APRIL 17, 1914

BOSWORTH, Inc.,
Los Angeles, Calif

GENTLEMEN:-

THE EXECUTIVE BOARD OF THE WOMAN'S CHRISTIAN TEMPERANCE UNION OF CALIFORNIA WISH TO EXPRESS TO YOU THEIR APPRECIATION FOR YOUR ACTION IN REFUSING TO WITHHOLD THE JOHN BARLEYCORN PICTURES UNTIL AFTER THE ELECTION.

VERY TRULY YOURS,

(Signed) ANNA B. CHASE,

Corresponding Secretary
3 City Hall Ave.

A strong letter from the W.C.T.U. of California

The Lad Himself—Age Seven—DRUNK!
Strongest Plea For TEMPERANCE Ever Pictured

A Story That Will Touch The Heart Of Every Spectator

For Bookings and Other Information in Western Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Kentucky, communicate at once with FAMOUS PLAYERS FILM SERVICE, Inc.

404 Ferry Street, Pittsburgh, Pa., or 37 S. Wabash Avenue, Chicago, Ill.

American Feature Film Co., 162 Tremont Street, Boston, Mass.—New England States; Massachusetts, Connecticut, Maine, Rhode Island, New Hampshire and Vermont.

Wm. L. Sherry Feature Film Co., Inc., 126 West 46th Street, New York City—Greater New York and New York State.

Famous Players' Exchange, 1331 Vine Street, Philadelphia, Pa., and 71 West 23rd Street, New York City—New Jersey and Eastern Pennsylvania.

Famous Players Feature Co., 28 West Lexington Street, Baltimore, Md.—Delaware, Maryland, Washington, D. C., and Virginia.

Casino Feature Film Co., Detroit, Mich.—Michigan.

Kansas City Feature Film Co., Kansas City, Mo.—Missouri, Kansas, Nebraska and Iowa.

Famous Players Star Feature Film Service, Temple Court Building, Minneapolis, Minn.—North and South Dakota, Minnesota and Wisconsin.

Notable Feature Film Co., Salt Lake City, Utah—Utah, Colorado, Montana, Wyoming and Idaho.

Progressive Motion Picture Co., three offices—Head Office: San Francisco, Cal., 642 Pacific Bldg. Seattle, Wash.: Central Bldg. Los Angeles, Cal.: Marsh-Strong Bldg.—California, Oregon, Washington, Nevada, Arizona and New Mexico.

BOSWORTH
INC.

648 S. Olive St., Los Angeles, Cal.

WILLIAM W. HODKINSON, Distributor, 110 W. 40th St., NEW YORK CITY

Everybody Should See This Picture—Endorsed by Prominent W. C. T. U. Temperance Organizations and the Moral Element Everywhere

Cosmofotofilm Co

Will present at an early date

"She Stoops to Conquer"

in four parts

THE LONDON FILM COMPANY'S

Great Production of

OLIVER GOLDSMITH'S FAMOUS COMEDY

Produced by George Loane Tucker

The finest comedy yet produced

A feast of setting and situation

Every member of the cast a Star

Something New

Something Better

A change from the morbid and sensational

MISS JANE GAIL AS KATE HARDCASTLE

"The Sparkling Comedy which has become a Classic"

PERFECT STAGING PERFECT ACTING WONDERFUL PHOTOGRAPHY

EVERY SHOWMAN WILL WANT TO BOOK IT

"Nothing more really amusing nor more artistic has been filmed."—London Evening News

For further particulars communicate with

Cosmofotofilm Co

WORLD'S TOWER BLDG., 110 West 40th Street, New York

SOLE AMERICAN DISTRIBUTORS FOR THE LONDON FILM CO., Ltd.

PHONE, BRYANT 8126

LONDON M. P. SALES AGENCY, Ltd.

JESSE L. LASKY

PRESENTS

THE ROLLICKING MILITARY ROMANCE

"The Man ON The Box"

By Harold MacGrath

WITH

MAX FIGMAN and LOLITA ROBERTSON

RELEASED JULY 13

COMING

THE CLASSICAL SUCCESSES OF DAVID BELASCO

THE TRIUMPHS OF THE LIEBLER CO.

The Hits of* COHAN & HARRIS

BOOK NOW—There's a Distributor in Your State

JESSE L. LASKY FEATURE PLAY COMPANY

LONG ACRE THEATRE W. 48TH STREET

JESSE L LASKY PRESIDENT — N. Y. C. — SAMUEL GOLDFISH TREAS. & GEN'L MANAGER

CECIL B DeMILLE DIRECTOR GENERAL

All Star Feature Corporation
Proffers

Lew Dockstader

The World's Greatest Black Face Character Actor
In a 5 Act Motion Picture

"DAN"

By HAL REID

A Comedy Drama of Civil War Days
Replete with Sensations and Heart Throbs

—Coming

ETHEL BARRYMORE

IN

"THE NIGHTINGALE"

By Augustus Thomas

ALL-STAR-FEATURE-CORPORATION

HARRY R. RAVER
PRESIDENT

EXECUTIVE OFFICES
220 W. 42nd ST., NEW YORK

AUGUSTUS THOMAS
DIRECTOR GENERAL OF PRODUCTIONS

EXCLUSIVE AGENTS IN PRINCIPAL CITIES OF THE WORLD

"30 FAMOUS FEATURES A YEAR"

DANIEL FROHMAN
Presents
The Distinguished Film Star

MARY PICKFORD

In A Thrilling, Romantic Drama of Life in The West Virginia Mountains

"THE EAGLE'S MATE"

FROM THE CELEBRATED NOVEL BY ANNA ALICE CHAPIN

In Five Reels

Released July 1st

FAMOUS PLAYERS FILM COMPANY

ADOLPH ZUKOR, President
DANIEL FROHMAN, Managing Dir. EDWIN S. PORTER, Technical Dir.
Executive Offices, 213-229 W. 26th St., New York City.

"30 FAMOUS FEATURES A YEAR"

40,000 People

Tried to get into Ebbet's Field to see

THOS. H. INCE'S six part photo play

The Wrath of the Gods

or, The Destruction of Sakura-Jima

Released through Continental and Mutual Exchanges

Note—Monday evening, June 22nd, Marcus Loew opened up the Brooklyn National League's baseball grounds (Ebbet's Field) with a motion picture show, THE WRATH OF THE GODS, New York Motion Picture Corporation's six part production produced by Thos. H. Ince. Ebbet's Field can comfortably seat about 20,000 People, but Monday night over 40,000 tried to get in, consequence was, a riot ensued, quite a few people hurt, and the Police Reserves from three different precincts had to be called, over 15,000 turned away. New York Newspapers devoted columns to the story.

Enlargements from the film.

New York Motion Picture Corporation, Longacre B'ld'g, 42nd St. and B'wy, New York

KAY BEE FEATURES

KAY BEE

The Feud at Beaver Creek. Two Parts. July 10th.
The City. Two Parts. July 17th.
Thos. H. Ince, Director General.

KAY BEE

DOMINO WINNERS

DOMINO

The Curse of Humanity. Two Parts. July 9th.
Star of The North. Two Parts. July 17th.
Thos. H. Ince, Director General.

DOMINO

BRONCHO HEADLINERS

BRONCHO

The Final Reckoning. Two Parts. July 8th.
Shorty Turns Judge. Two Parts. July 15th.
Thos. H. Ince, Director General.

BRONCHO

KEYSTONE COMEDIES

KEYSTONE

Three Comedies a week.
Monday, Wednesday and Saturday release day.
Mack Sennett, Director General.

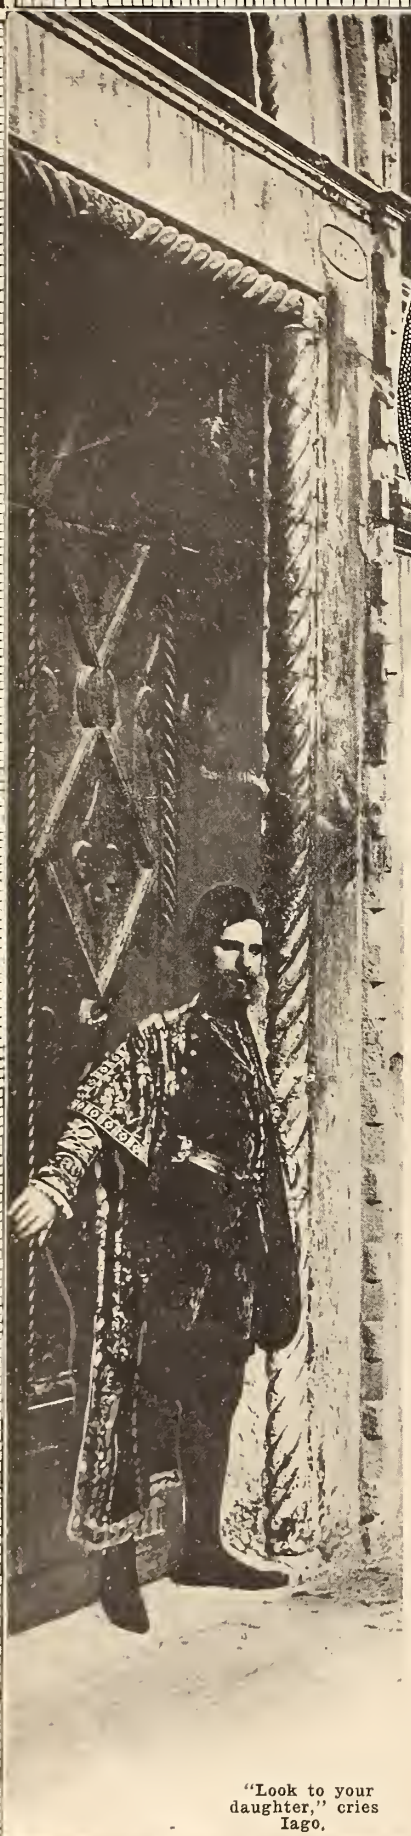
KEYSTONE

KEYSTONE COMEDIES

Photos

8 by 10 Photos of players mentioned below can be had by sending to the Publicity Department. 15 cents for one; 50 cents for sets of four; $1.00 for sets of eight

Mack Sennet
Mabel Normand
Charles Chaplin
Roscoe Arbuckle
John Keller
Harry G. Keenan



Thos. H. Ince
Barney Sherry
Richard Stanton
Gretchen Lederer
Margaret Thompson
Tsuru Aoki
Roy Laidlaw
Clara Williams
Jay Hunt
Rhea Mitchell
Mildred Harris
Shorty Hamilton
Charles Ray
Walter Belasco
Frank Borzage
Thomas Chatterton
Leona Hutton

A set of 8 by 10 of "KEYSTONE MABEL" in four different poses, 50c.

New York Motion Picture Corporation

Longacre Building, 42nd Street and Broadway NEW YORK

In writing to advertisers please mention "THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS"

"Look to your daughter," cries Iago.

Othello

Special Feature Department
GENERAL FILM CO.

OR

THE MOOR OF VENICE

FIVE PARTS

THE DIVINE SHAKESPEAREAN DRAMA

MADE AT VENICE, ITALY!!

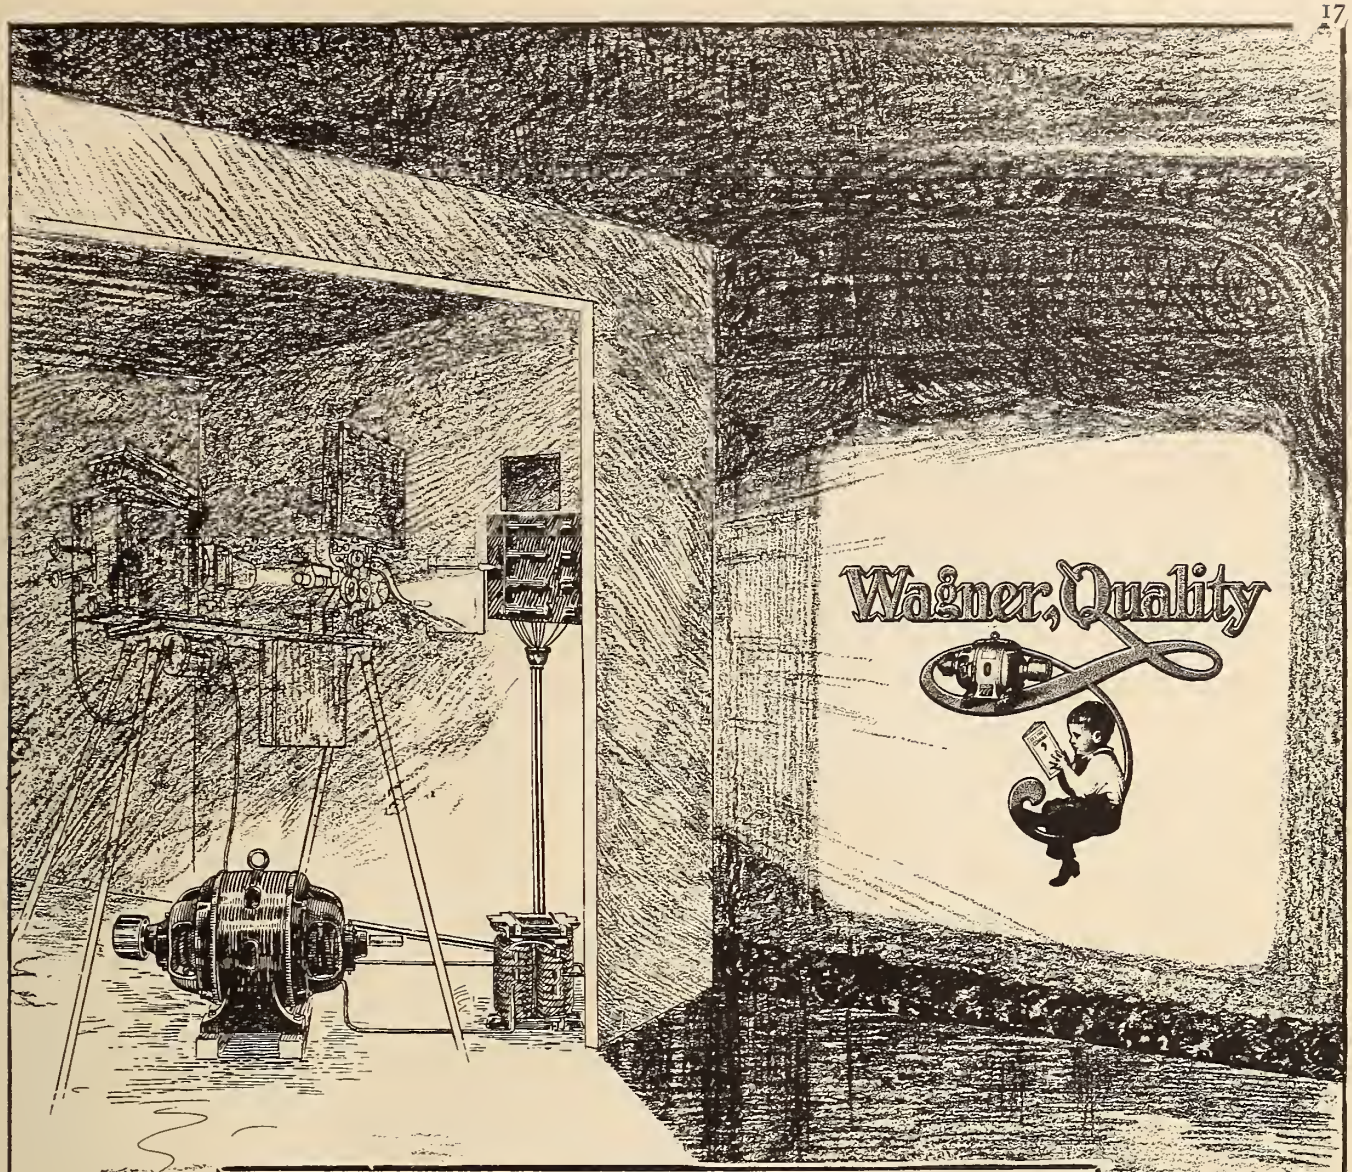
By the Photo Drama Company. THE SUPER FILM—By All Odds The Most Pretentious, Beautiful and Accurately—Screened Version of Shakespearean Stories!

MADE AT VENICE, ITALY! That's a Tremendous Advertising Feature in Itself! VENICE! rendezvous of the modern tourist—a very fountain-head of Romance and Adventure! The waterways of Historic Venice with their tales, ten centuries old, of Passionate Loves and Fierce Vendettas—the indolent, dreamy sweep of these Gondola-ridden highways are scenes of the quaintest stories in any language!

FOR THE MAKING OF OTHELLO the city Fathers Declared a Half-Holiday—Canals Were Closed to Modern Commerce Leaving Only the Aged Palaces, the Gayly-Costumed Players and the Clicking Cameras of the Photo Drama Company.

In OTHELLO we offer a real masterpiece—it is the first of Shakespeare's stories filmed in its proper environment, as the Master would have wished.

FOR RELEASE THROUGH



GENERAL FILM COMPANY

WEEK OF JULY 6th

Complete line of Lithographs, Press Stories, etc.

GEORGE KLEINE

166 N. STATE ST. CHICAGO

Good Brilliant Moving Pictures

fill the house. The goodness of the pictures depends upon your selection of the films—

Brilliancy of Pictures is assured by the use of

WAGNER SINGLE-PHASE CONVERTER

It converts the usual alternating current supply to a steady direct current, the best current for moving picture projection.

Wagner Converter is easy to install and easy to operate. It is rugged and reliable, and its first cost is its last cost. Our Bulletin 103F and Booklet "Standing Room Only," are yours for the asking.

Wagner Electric Manufacturing Company,
Saint Louis, Missouri

Get the Rights in Your State for the MEXICAN WAR PICTURES

To the Victor Belongs the Spoils

AND if you want to share in the fruits of Villa's conquests get control of the exclusive right to exhibit in your state War pictures made by the Mutual Film Corporation under Special contract with General "Pancho" Villa himself!

We have taken the "Big Chance"—which we are sure is really a Dead Certainty—and have paid the Mutual Film Corporation an enormous sum for the rights to these pictures for the entire United States.

THE IRON IS HOT! Villa is getting more famous every day! There is three times more about him in the newspapers than about any other man alive! Prints are all ready for delivery—if you want the rights for your state telegraph without delay or write by special delivery. Every moment counts in the stratagem of the FILM business, just as well as in the stratagem of war.

Remember These Facts:

The Mexican War Pictures—the only authentic ones actually taken under fire—are in seven full reels, filled with thrilling, throbbing excitement from start to finish.

The picture includes hundreds of scenes taken during the Battles of Torreon, Chihuahua and other famous conflicts and other scenes showing the tragic early life and adventure of this wonderful warrior, the greatest military genius since Napoleon!

This material has never been shown except at the Lyric Theatre in NEW YORK where it drew record breaking houses of enthusiastic patrons.

NOW IS THE TIME TO "GET BUSY" AND TURN THE USUALLY DULL SUMMER MONTHS INTO THE MOST PROFITABLE PERIOD OF YOUR CAREER!

MEXICAN WAR FILM CORPORATION

Room 1205 71 WEST 23rd STREET NEW YORK

Griffith's Latest Masterpiece

A feature that has played a Return Engagement on Broadway—first at the Strand—then at the Cort.

Home Sweet Home

IN SIX REELS

The cast embraces the following well-known players:

James Kirkwood
Henry Walthall
Robert Harron
Donald Crisp
Ralph Lewis
[illegible] Moore
Edward Dillon

John Dillon
Earle Foxe
Courtenay Foote
Jack Pickford
Spottiswoode Aitken
George Seigmann

Blanche Sweet
Mae Marsh
Lillian Gish
Dorothy Gish
Irene Hunt
[illegible] Cooper

Mary Alden
Fay Tincher
Teddy Sampson
Mrs. Crowell
W. [illegible]. Lawrence
F. A. Turner
W. H. Long

now being released by the

Continental Feature Film Corp.

29 UNION SQUARE, NEW YORK AND ALL MUTUAL EXCHANGES

Other Pulling Continental Features Are:

"The Battle of Gettysburg" 5 Reels

"Joseph in the Land of Egypt" 4 Reels

"The Great Leap" 4 Reels

"Gangsters" 4 Reels

"Frou Frou" 4 Reels

"Moths" 4 Reels

"Ruy Blas" 3 Reels

"Legend of Provence" 4 Reels

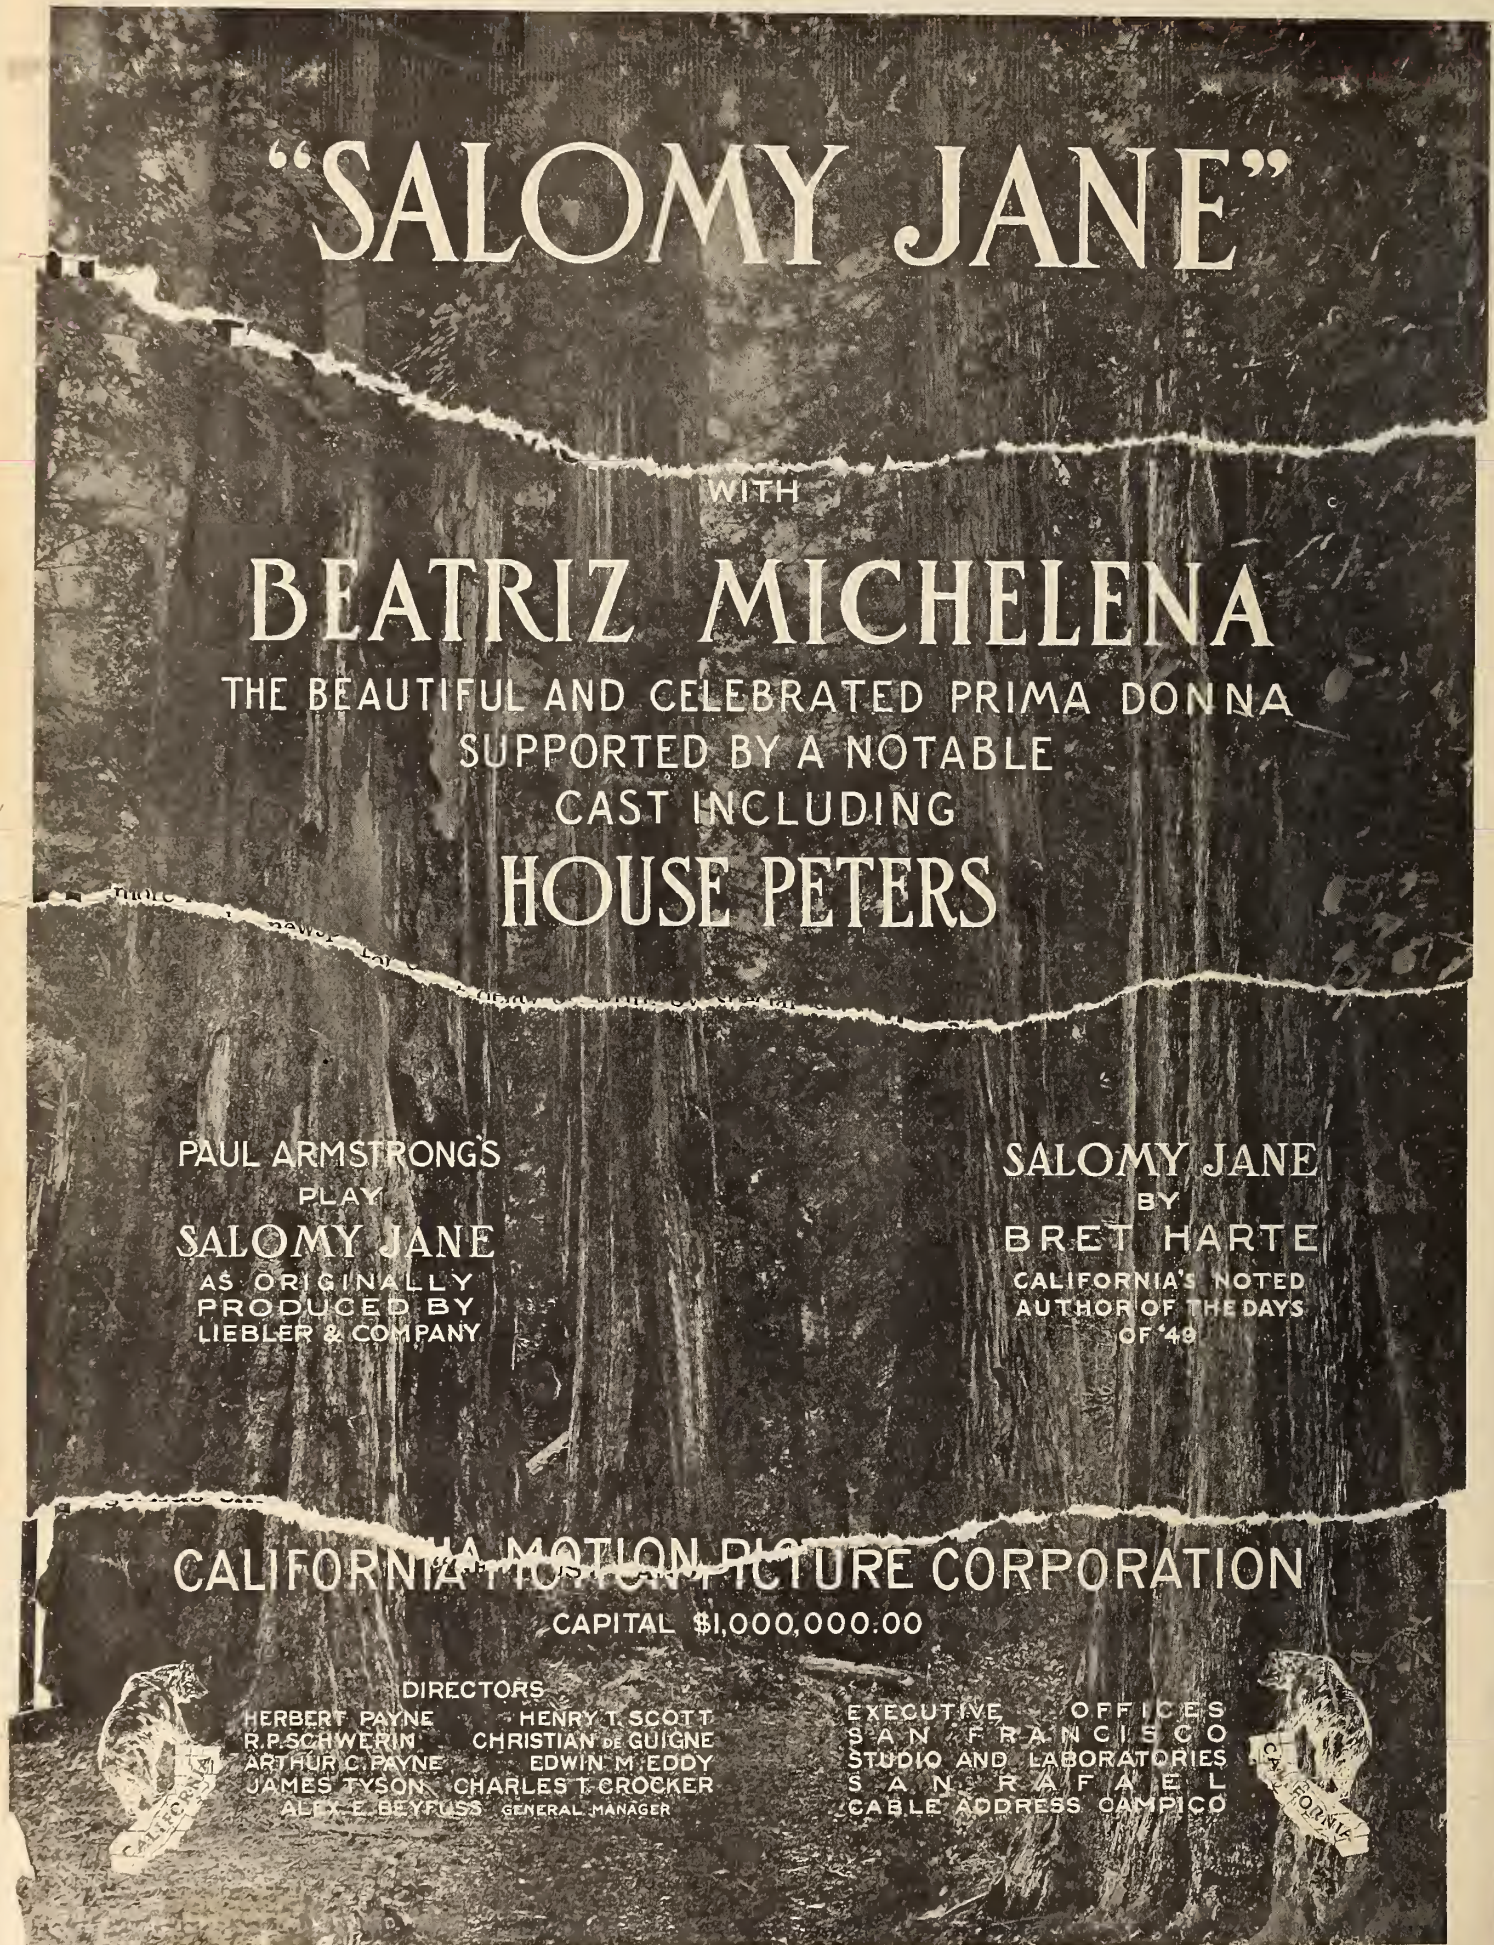
"Sapho" 6 Reels

"Seeing South America with Colonel Roosevelt" 3 Reels

"Robin Hood" 4 Reels

"Zu, Zu, The Band Leader" 2 Reels

"The Floor Above" 4 Reels



"The Battle of the Sexes" 5 Reels

"The [illegible] The Dishonored Medal" 4 Reels

"The Mountain Rat" 4 Reels

"Dope" 6 Reels

"Cardinel Richelieu's Ward" 4 Reels

"SALOMY JANE"
WITH
BEATRIZ MICHELENA
THE BEAUTIFUL AND CELEBRATED PRIMA DONNA
SUPPORTED BY A NOTABLE CAST INCLUDING HOUSE PETERS
PAUL ARMSTRONG'S
PLAY
SALOMY JANE
AS ORIGINALLY PRODUCED BY LIEBLER & COMPANY
SALOMY JANE
BY BRET HARTE
CALIFORNIA'S NOTED
AUTHOR OF THE DAYS
OF '49
CALIFORNIA MOTION PICTURE CORPORATION
CAPITAL $1,000,000.00
DIRECTORS
HERBERT PAYNE HENRY T. SCOTT
R.P.SCHWERIN CHRISTIAN DE GUIGNE
ARTHUR C. PAYNE EDWIN M. EDDY
JAMES TYSON CHARLES T. CROCKER
ALEX. E. BEYFUSS GENERAL MANAGER
EXECUTIVE OFFICES
SAN FRANCISCO
STUDIO AND LABORATORIES
SAN RAFAEL
CABLE ADDRESS CAMPICO

The Capture

PASQUALI AMERICAN CO.

110 W 40th St. NEW YORK

The Conspiracy

NOW READY FOR DELIVERY

A MEXICAN MINE FRAUD

or The Game that Failed

(IN FIVE PARTS)

Stupendous dramatic production in five active reels from Rome to Mexico, tango dances, raging lions, great fire scene, wild action every moment, featuring the great international actor, Capozzi. New England States, New York, Eastern and Western Pennsylvania, Ohio and Canada have all been sold, Western and Southern buyers should act quickly.

RELEASED JUNE 29th. NOW READY FOR DELIVERY

THE CHIMNEY-SWEEPS

Of the Valley of Aosta

(IN FIVE PARTS)

ALL EASTERN STATE RIGHTS SOLD

One of Pasquali's best productions, entirely new, a thrilling drama in five parts, feverish action, more exciting romance than has ever before appeared. The beautiful actress, Laura Darville, here featured as heroine, will command your admiration.

Buying Chimney-Sweeps

Artistic Two Color Heralds
Unusual Sepia Photos
AND Attractive
One, Three and Six Sheet Posters
In Four Colors
will be of great assistance to you in booking these plays.

A Mother's Anguish

NOW SELLING STATE RIGHTS
ON BOTH PICTURES

W

The Black Hundred in Secret Session

Flo La Badie as Florence Gray, the Heroine

Attendance Records Broken!

The record for hot weather crowds is shattered—smashed! Never before have crowds rushed to the theatres in the hot weather as they have to see Thanhouser's Million Dollar Motion picture version of Harold MacGrath's great story, "The Million Dollar Mystery." Theatres everywhere report record crowds. And that means to theatres record profits!

THE MILLION DOLLAR MYSTERY

By Harold MacGrath

Thanhouser's Million Dollar Motion Picture Production

This stupendous production is being shown in weekly episodes-a 2-reel episode will be released each week for 22 weeks. $10,000.00 will be paid for the best 100-word solution of the mystery.

Exhibitors and the public join in saying:
"Wonderful photography." "Beautiful settings." "Exceptional acting." "A splendid cast." "An example of the very best motion picture work."

Bookings are still being arranged. The Million Dollar Mystery is an independent release and may be obtained regardless of the regular program being used.

SYNDICATE FILM CORPORATION

71 W. 23rd St., NEW YORK 166 W. Washington St., CHICAGO

or Syndicate Film Corporation representative at any Mutual Exchange in the United States and Canada.

The Thanhouser Three-A-Week

Tuesday, July 7th, "Deborah" (2 reels). A romance of the 18th century, displaying the talents of Maude Fealy, Robert Robson, Josephine Hoole, Morris Foster, Edward Hoyt, Mitch Lewis, Louis Evert, Helen Badgley, the Thanhouser Kidlet.

Sunday, July 12th, "The Leaven of Good." The happy uniting of a brother and sister in an astoundingly dramatic romance, enacted by Mayre Hall, Irving Cummings, Tom Crugar, Tools Brady, H. Marx.

When You See It
In "The News"
It's NEWS

The MOTION PICTURE NEWS

"The Exhibitor's Medium of Communication with His Fellow Showman"

Volume X | July 11, 1914 | Number 1

A Trade Review

THE attention of the reader is called to the scope, detail and value of the Market Reports featured in this issue.

A month ago each of the ninety-seven field representatives of THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS was instructed to make a full and definite investigation of exhibitor conditions within his territory.

Particular information was requested along the following lines:

What is the approximate number of theatres as compared with last year? How are the small houses being affected by the new and larger theatres? Is there too much exhibitor competition? What is the trend in prices of admission?

How many theatres are being remodeled and improved and in what ways? What type of features are in demand? How does the single-reel program compare in popularity with multiple-reel subjects? Is there a tendency toward chains of theatres? Are theatre audiences changing, and how? etc., etc.

The end in view has been to present information of practical value to the exhibitor and to the manufacturer and distributor of films and of theatre equipment and supplies.

This report covers the United States. From it, as a whole, several main conclusions may be drawn which may be said to characterize clearly the present status of the entire industry. Manufacturers who are doing a national business may guide their activities accordingly.

The detailed information in the sectional reports ought to make them valuable to state rights buyers and to distributors in general, while for the exhibitor in any one section, there is voluminous information about exhibitors elsewhere, from Maine to California—their failures and successes and the reason therefore.

A large number of copies of this issue will be distributed abroad, in the belief that this report on the American market will clear away much of the misinformation existing in Europe as to conditions here.

This is the first American market report ever compiled and made public. About the only way to secure such information heretofore has been for the manufacturer to send out special investigators at a considerable expenditure of time and money.

The fact that the reports herewith presented come from disinterested persons, men too who are in close touch with theatre conditions and whose newspaper training makes them good investigators, gives an added value to such market information.

We feel no hesitation in recommending this information as authoritative. Much of it is new and surprising. We believe that its value is such that copies of this issue will be kept at home for permanent reference.

In this connection we beg to announce that we will, upon request, answer inquiries upon points involved and also make further investigations along any new lines suggested. We invite inquiries.

This present report inaugurates a series of similar reports which THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS will publish quarterly from now on. The next market report number of this publication will be issued October third.

In conclusion, we believe that aside from their value to the individual in the trade, these reports will be of benefit to the progress of the industry as a whole.

W. A. J.

AY AT DAYTON

POWER DI[S]

ature, of the Second position of the moo be held at Dayton,
6 to 13, will be the
Nicholas Power Com-
York City.

A prominen[t]
International
tion picture a[t]
Ohio, from J[une] exhibit of th[e]
pany, of its projecting machines, and will have a large ex-
This c[o]y one of the largest spaces at the exposition. All the various types of projecting machines invented by Mr. Nicholas Power, from the Peerlesscope to the famous Power's Cameragraph Six A, will be shown, together with an enlarged model of the cam and four-pin intermittent movement, which will show why there is so little wear and tear on the film when this device is used.

The following representatives of the company will attend: J. F. Skerrett, general manager, Will C. Smith, assistant general manager; L. W. Atwater, sales manager; Bert Bohannon, Herbert Griffin and F. W. Swett, traveling representatives.

CONCRETE THEATRE FOR TRENTON

Trenton, N. J., July 1.

Work of constructing the new Limit Motion Picture House, South Broad and Hudson streets, is being prosecuted with all possible speed. Reeger and Walters, the owners, expect to have the handsome little concrete house of entertainment ready to be opened within a few weeks. This theatre will have practically a field of its own. It is on the outskirts of the Chambersburg section of Trenton, far from the three large houses.

Society "Picture Garden" in Pasadena

Maryland Court Garden a Veritable Café-Cabaret in Pacific Coast Millionaire Colony—Feature Films Only Booked

Special to The Motion Picture News.

Los Angeles, Cal., June 30.

MARYLAND Court Garden, a veritable motion picture cabaret, was opened to the millionaire colony and citizens of Pasadena, Cal., Saturday evening, June 20, under the management of Palmer P. Day. The new airdome, or sunken garden, occupies the former site of the Maryland Hotel park, famous for many conventions and exquisite floral beauty, which has not been used since the destruction of the hotel by fire about three months ago.

The Garden occupies a space 150 x 175 feet, with a beautiful pergola of massive concrete pillars and rare vines and flowers from all parts of the tropical world extending the full length of one side. Boxes containing chairs and tables extend along the side of the pergola and two adjoining sides, and just inside of the boxes, but two and a half feet below, is a broad promenade, also extending on three sides, where there are tables and chairs. The center, two and a half feet below the level of the promenade, is fitted with 1,200 seats, arranged in four sections.

VIEW OF AUDITORIUM FROM PERGOLA LOGES, MARYLAND GARDEN, PASADENA, CAL.

Prices are as follows: 200 box seats, 30 cents; 500 promenade seats, 20 cents, and general admission, 10 cents. The hours for performances and café service have been fixed for from seven to eleven o'clock daily. Dinners, luncheons, and soft drinks will be served and smoking will be permitted in the promenade, boxes and pergola.

Japanese decorations of all kinds will be used, and the boxes and promenade will be brilliantly lighted by hundreds of Japanese silk lanterns, which will not affect the pictures, because of their distance from the screen.

The booking consists of feature films, of four, five and six reels, and a prominent part of the program will be the musical numbers by a ten-piece orchestra.

J. G. Jessen.

Demand Sunday Opening in Elizabeth

Sentiment Is Divided; Some Exhibitors Are Agitating for It, Others Declare That They Will Not Open Sunday if License Is Granted

Special to The Motion Picture News

Elizabeth, N. J., July 1.

SOME of the local motion picture house managers are trying to stir up agitation in favor of Sunday performances. They claim that there is as much demand for motion picture shows on Sunday as there is for Sunday baseball games and other athletic events which are allowed to go on here without police interference.

Theatrical performances of any kind have always been prohibited in Elizabeth on Sundays. The only way in which Sunday performances could be secured here would be through arousing intense public sentiment in their favor for the city officials are opposed to Sunday amusements—at least as far as the pictures are concerned.

Some of the motion picture men are not in favor of open Sundays, either. They think that six days' work is sufficient.

"I do not believe in Sunday shows," said Louis H. Stirm, manager of the Walton Theatre at Third and East Jersey streets. "We have six days a week and I believe in giving other people a chance to make a little money. I don't think that Sunday shows would be a paying proposition, anyway. They certainly wouldn't be profitable in the summertime, for people are not anxious to spend warm afternoons indoors. They go to the beaches or into the country, and I don't think we would command much Sunday patronage.

"Sunday business hurts a theatre, in my opinion, and, whatever the rest do, I will not keep my place open on Sundays. If the other fellows want to do it, it's up to them."

J. W. Hawkins.

VITAL WELFARE AND TRADE PROBLEMS SUMMON EXHIBITORS TO DAYTON

Strong Sentiment Shown in Favor of the Formation of a Board of Trade and the Amalgamation of the Motion Picture Exhibitors League with the International Motion Association—Extensive Plans Made for the Entertainment of Visitors

THE fourth annual convention of the Motion Picture Exhibitors League, scheduled for the week of July 6-11, at Dayton, Ohio, planned by its promoters to be one of the greatest gatherings of exhibitors, exchange men, accessory dealers and manufacturers in the history of the industry in this country, will be remembered for many a day to come for the many vital problems affecting the trade which will come up for discussion at the various sessions.

The first of these questions is amalgamation of the Motion Picture Exhibitors League with the International Motion Picture Association. Seven delegates were appointed at the New York convention last month to attend the Dayton meeting for the purpose of urging the desired coalescence.

The consummation of such a plan is the wish of all who have the future of both organizations at heart. The New York delegation, consisting of capable men upon whose efforts the well-wishes of the two bodies can depend, are fully able to acquit themselves with credit in a trust requiring delicacy and tact.

Empowered with authority to act in any manner they thought best to promote harmonious relations between the members of both associations, no doubt the effect of their negotiations will have far-reaching results favorable to a successful development of matters affecting everybody in the industry.

ANOTHER factor necessary to the welfare of the motion picture business International Association delegates were instructed to put before the Dayton session for consideration was the inauguration of a board of trade.

The importance of such a body for the promotion of good feeling and reciprocal service is beyond estimate. Every man in the trade, exhibitor, exchange man, accessory dealer and manufacturer will receive benefit from its practical operations.

The majority of the leaders in both motion picture associations have been

GEORGE H. WILEY,
Chairman and Managing Director Special Convention Committee

in favor of the board of trade and amalgamation movements for some time, and it would seem strange, if after all their labors to that end at the Dayton convention, final plans were not made to complete both of these big issues.

The delegates were instructed to take up the matter of censorship, that thorn in the side of every exhibitor; standardization of prices; and the conditions affecting the use of features.

THE time between 9:30 in the morning, the opening hour set by the managers, and 1:30 p. m. is considered ample to allow purchasers to visit the various booths under most favorable conditions, free from the interference of pushing, curious throngs. Such an arrangement justifies the contention that manufacturers are enabled to meet exhibitors in person, and that the attention of prospective buyers will not under such circumstances be diverted from trade exhibits by other attractions.

Plans were made to have the exposition occupy two floors, the second story devoted to accessories alone.

The management also planned to avoid the conflict of social features of the week with the business of the daily convention program.

Such foresight has not always been observed by convention managers, and this feature of the program for the week excited approval on every hand when the members of the trade intending to go to Dayton learned of the division of the order of events.

In the past the conflict of social diversions with convention business sometimes occurring in other lines of business has been a disappointment for the reason that delegates who had brought their wives and daughters were unable to accompany them on the jaunts scheduled throughout the week.

NOT only had the management of the exposition in mind the avoidance of the convention program with its own social events arranged for the entertainment of the delegates, but they considered the possibility of individuals planning trips of their own. Short side trips to landmarks of a city like Dayton are always attractive to those convention visitors who like to steal off in between times to places of historical interest. Dayton has always proved attractive in this respect, and for that reason numerous conventions in various lines of business other than the motion picture industry have been held in this live western city.

Convention visitors were told to go at once to either the Algonquin Hotel or Memorial Hall and register at the booths provided for that purpose, and arrange to get their badges for use on the floor as a means of identification at the official exercises and in the exposition hall while the general public was in attendance.

The slogan of the occasion consists of phrases which sum up the idea of the convention. They are: "Do it for a good time"; Do it to uplift your business"; "Do it to meet your brother exhibitor"; and "Do it because you can do it"; sentiments happily design to promote the right kind feeling among all members of the trade.

OPEN sessions are planned for the benefit of non-members who might care to make suggestions they considered of sufficient importance to put into operation for the development of the various branches of the industry.

A feature which the managers of the exposition thought would prove a drawing card in the promotion of sales at the booths in Memorial Hall consisted of cash awards to exhibitors who will purchase the largest volume of goods without regard to the number of manufacturers from whom the purchases will be made.

In planning to make the exposition complete in the numerous ramifications of the industry, the managers decided to provide features of interest both to the members of the trade and the general public.

This is to consist of the writing and editing of scenarios and their staging; the projection of pictures on the screen; the various methods of illuminating theatres; the box-office and other matters pertaining to the front of the house; the mechanical orchestra and other musical effects; the construction of theatres according to the ideas of competent architects; ventilation and heating, as well as the selection of seats and floor coverings; and the complicated processes of micro-photography.

ACCORDING to advance reports, the attendance from Canada is expected to be satisfactory, regardless of the fact that Toronto has been the scene of a large and representative gathering of Dominion exhibitors, who might perhaps feel that one convention was enough for them to attend during a season.

This also holds good of the men in the industry who were at the New York convention. The management of the Dayton exposition expect that a large percentage of the latter will be on hand in the Ohio city to help swell the crowd and watch the developments toward the amalgamation of the International Motion Picture Association and the Motion Picture Exhibitors League; the launching of the board of trade and other important matters of vital interest to every man on the floor of the convention.

For months previous to the opening the men on the executive committee put forth every effort to make the fourth annual convention of the league better in every respect.

M. A. NEFF
President M. P. E. L. of A.

IT was decided, among other things, to prevent the solicitation of business by salesmen whose firms had not bought floor space, the management assuming that it was not fair to the booth owners, who were entitled to all the business capable of being obtained in the exposition hall, for their substantial support of the exhibition.

For the purpose of advising visitors of the management's view concerning this matter, a list of manufacturers who have signified their intention of buying space has been prepared to be sent out to the trade before the opening. A "buying card" was enclosed with each list, with the request that buyers would have a record made of their purchases.

Manufacturers engaging booths have been informed that badges would be provided them for quick identification on the part of the prospective buyer.

An invitation has been extended to every bona fide motion picture manager with the assurance that nothing would be overlooked by the reception committee and the other members of the organization in making the sojourn of the league's guests one they would long recall with pleasure.

Arrangements have been made to have a parade for July 9, at 9:30 a. m., with an offering of the following cash prizes:

THE state branch having the greatest number of members in line—with the exception of Ohio—over twenty men, $50; the state branch coming the greatest distance which should have the greatest number of members in line, $50; the manufacturer who should have the most original float in the parade, $25.

Numerous individual prizes are also to be part of the program worked out by the entertainment committee, consisting of a ten-dollar gold piece for the shortest exhibitor; the same amount for the tallest; the heaviest was to get ten dollars; the one weighing the least, the same figure; the oldest exhibitor a gold eagle; while the delegation coming the longest distance, ten dollars.

Special convention rates have been arranged for with the principal hotels—the Algonquin, the Beckel, the Phillips, the Atlas, the Colonial, the Geddings, the Savoy and the Antler. The scale of prices were to range from seventy-five cents a day for rooms in the smaller hostelries and $3 and $5 at the biggest caravansaries.

THE following men were appointed to serve on the special convention committee: Geo. H. Wiley, chairman and managing director; Clem Kerr, assistant managing director; Peter J. Jeup, secretary; Orene Parker, treasurer, and M. A. Neff, ex-officio.

The national executive committee consists of: M. A. Neff, chairman; Geo. H. Wiley, secretary; Orene Parker, Kentucky delegate; R. L. Macnabb, New York; T. P. Finnegan, Texas; Peter J. Jeup, Michigan; and Mark E. Cory, California.

A partial list of manufacturers who arranged for booths and floor space at the convention is as follows: General Film Company, Inc., New York City; Famous Players Film Company, 213 West 26 street, New York City; Eclair Film Company, Inc., 126 West 46 street, New York City; All Star Feature Corp., 220 West 42 street, New York City; Burns International Films, Inc., 110 West 40 street, New York City; Atsco, Inc., 218 West 42 street, New York City; Warner's Features, Inc., 145 West 45 street, New York City; Colonial Motion Picture Corp., 18 East 41 street, New York City; Sawyer, Inc., 1600 Broadway, New York City; Great Northern Film Company, 110 West 40 street, New York City; L. E. Forup & Company, 232 Green-

(Continued on page 26)

OFFICIAL PROGRAM

Fourth Annual Convention

Motion Picture Exhibitors League of America and Second International Exposition of

The Motion Picture Art

At Dayton, Ohio, July 6 to 11, 1914

MONDAY, JULY 6

10:00 A.M.—Opening of the Second International Exposition of the Motion Picture Art. Address of welcome by Mayor Shroyer of Dayton to the manufacturers, jobbers and dealers of the motion picture industry.

10:30 A. M.—Governor James M. Cox of Ohio will start the Exposition by pressing button in the Executive Office at Columbus.

7:30 P. M.—General review of leading feature films at Memorial Hall.

10:00 P. M.—Entertainment and cabaret show on Algonquin Hotel's roof garden.

TUESDAY, JULY 7

10:00 A.M.—The Fourth Annual National Convention of the Motion Picture Exhibitors League of America will convene. Address of welcome by Mayor Shroyer.

1:30 P. M.—Entertainment at National Cash Register Company, including scientific demonstration, cinematography review, luncheon, trip to country club, dancing, etc.

1:30 P. M.—Convention reconvenes; executive session.

7:30 P. M.—Exhibitions and demonstrations at Memorial Hall.

WEDNESDAY, JULY 8

10:00 A.M.—Convention reconvenes. Election of National officers.

2:00 P. M.—Aeroplane flights at Wright's field. Auto sightseeing tour of the city.

2:00 P. M.—Convention reconvenes. Open meeting. Manufacturers, jobbers, dealers and exhibitors are cordially invited to take part in this meeting.

7:30 P. M.—Reception of leading actors and actresses.

TUESDAY, JULY 9

9:30 A. M.—Grand Prize Parade. The following prizes will be offered:

INDIVIDUAL PRIZES

Shortest exhibitor	$10.00 in Gold
Tallest exhibitor	10.00 " "
Heaviest exhibitor	10.00 " "
Lightest exhibitor	10.00 " "
Oldest exhibitor	10.00 " "
Delegate coming from greatest distance	10.00 " "

Judges for the Prize Parade will be selected from the Dayton daily newspapers. Prizes will be distributed according to their decision.

10:30 A.M.—Convention reconvenes.

10:30 A. M.—Meeting in the West Assembly Room of the manufacturers, jobbers and dealers of the motion picture industry exclusively.

1:30 P. M.—Visit to the National Military Home, the largest home in the United States; also a visit to Lakeside Park, Dayton's beautiful amusement park. An impromptu moving picture will be taken of the Soldiers' Home. Everybody invited.

FRIDAY, JULY 10

10:00 A. M.—Convention reconvenes. Open meeting for manufacturers, jobbers, dealers and exhibitors to discuss the censor question.

2:00 P.M.—Convention reconvenes.

2:30 P. M.—Visits to the White City Amusement Park for an afternoon outing.

7:30 P. M.—Fourth Annual Banquet of the M. P. E. L. of A.

7:30 P.M.—At Memorial Hall varied entertainment and receptions.

SATURDAY, JULY 11

10:00 A. M.—Convention reconvenes.

2:00 P. M.—Convention reconvenes.

3:00 P. M.—Awarding of prizes at Memorial Hall.

7:00 P.M.—General review of feature films and good-bye receptions of leading actors and actresses.

wich street, New York City; Bausch & Lomb Optic Company, Rochester, N. Y.; Mirror Screen Company, Shelbyville, Ind.; Reisinger, Hugo, New York City; Great Northern Special Feature Film Company, 103 Candler Building, New York City; Jesse Lasky Feature Play Company, New York City; Nicholas Power Company, 90 Gold street, New York City; Bell & Howell Company, 1801 Larchmont avenue, Chicago, Ill.; A. Blinkhorn, 110 West 40 street, New York City; G. Melies, 204 East 38 street, New York City; Picture Theatre Equipment Company, 21 East 14 street, New York City; Eberhard Schneider, 219 Second avenue, New York City; Clarence E. Sinn, 1501 Sedgwick street, Chicago, Ill.; Pathé Frères, 1 Congress street, Jersey City Heights, N. J.; Novelty Slide Company, 67 West 23 street, New York City; Manhattan Slide & Film Company, 23 East 26 street, New York City; Balboa Amusement Producing Company, Long Beach, Calif.; Henry Mestrum, 385 Sixth avenue, New York City; Cloud Publishing Company, 1100 Hartford Building, Chicago, Ill.; Eastman Kodak Company, Rochester, New York; Ernemann Photo-Kina-Works, 114 Fifth avenue, New York City; Simplex Projection Machine Company, New York City; Recording & Computing Machine Company, Dayton, Ohio; Selig Polyscope Film Company, Chicago, Ill.; Egry Register Company, Dayton, Ohio; Automatic Ticket Selling and Cash Register Company, New York City; Theatre Specialty Company, Cleveland, Ohio; Columbus Theatre & Equipment Company, Columbus, Ohio; A. J. Miller & Company, Bellefontaine, Ohio; General Electric Company, Schenectady, N. Y.; Cosmograph Projector, Morehead, Ky.; National Cash Register Company, Dayton, Ohio; Kraus Mfg. Company, New York City; Essanay Film Company, Chicago, Ill.; World's Film Corporation, New York City; Schroder Art Floral Company, Cleveland, Ohio; Golden Radium Condenser Company, New York City; Gentry C. Walburn, Electric Specialties, New York City; Motion Picture Apparatus Company, New York City; Mutual Film Corp., New York City; Rudolph Wurlitzer Company, Cincinnati, O., and New York; American Slide Company, Columbus, Ohio; Animated Advertising Company, Cincinnati, Ohio; The Universal Film Manufacturing Company, New York City, and the Wyanoak Publishing Company, 136 West 52 street, New York City.

Phillips Smalley and Lois Weber (Mrs. Smalley) have joined the stock company of Bosworth, Inc., producers of the Jack London stories.

Fire Board Assails Open-Air Theatres

Elizabeth Commissioner Begins Prosecution of Airdome Proprietor—Latter Contends City Has No Supervision

Special to The Motion Picture News.

Elizabeth, N. J., July 1.

WAR is still on here between the moving picture men and the Board of Fire Commissioners. Having apparently exhausted the possibilities of restriction in the closed houses, the board has turned its attention to the airdomes.

The latest development is the bringing of charges against Dennis J. Shepherd, proprietor of the Open Air Theatre in East Jersey, near First street. Shepherd, according to the complaint sworn out by the commissioners, allowed an exit from his place to become blocked by persons standing to witness a performance last Saturday night.

His case was set down for hearing Wednesday morning, and Shepherd's counsel, John R. Connolly, secured an adjournment after he had threatened to certiorari the proceedings if the delay were refused. Colonel Robert L. Patterson, one of the commissioners, and Fire Chief August Gerstung appeared in court in behalf of the board, and they were represented by Assistant City Attorney John J. Griffin.

Mr. Connolly declared that he had not been allowed sufficient time to prepare his case. The warrant was not served on Shepherd until 10 o'clock Tuesday night. Mr. Connolly contended that it would be obviously unfair to force him to continue the case without having time to look up the law. The case was adjourned until next Monday morning.

Colonel Patterson is still making himself obnoxious to the motion picture men. However, they have apparently found a friend in the person of Frederick Kurtz, another member of the Fire Board. Patterson directed his guns toward Shepherd's place at a special meeting of the board held Monday night, June 22, when Chief Gerstung reported that he had found forty persons standing in the place when he inspected it. Patterson urged that the city attorney be asked immediately to prosecute Shepherd.

At this point in the proceedings Commissioner Kurtz intervened. He submitted that the Open Air Theatre is not an enclosed structure and that the floor is of dirt, and he expressed some doubt as to whether the board had jurisdiction under the circumstances. Commissioner Patterson was quite certain that it had and a lengthy discussion followed.

The result was that the case was referred to City Attorney Joseph T. Hague, who was instructed to take such action as he might deem necessary. In the course of the argument Patterson declared "that the manager of any motion picture theatre who is caught violating the law should be dealt with as severely as the law will allow."

There is very little danger of fire in Shepherd's place. It is only a fenced enclosure, and has no roof. The operating room is absolutely fireproof.

Shepherd will probably fight the case to the last ditch. He is of the opinion that the fire board has no jurisdiction over his place. If they have, it looks as if they also should exercise supervision over baseball fields and enclosures where ahtletic contests are held.

John W. Hawkins.

Birmingham Exhibitors Seek Sunday Law

Retain Law Firm to Draft Bill for Alabama Legislature Giving Exhibitors Right to Operate Sunday—Abandon Municipal Fight

Special to The Motion Picture News.

Birmingham, July 1.

ANNOUNCEMENT is made by A. Alex Wall, owner of the Alcazar Theatre, Second avenue and Nineteenth street, Birmingham, and national vice-president of the Motion Picture Exhibitors League, that the law firm of Gibson & Davis has been engaged to draft a bill which the motion picture men will endeavor to have passed through the state legislature this winter, giving to motion picture show operators the right to operate on Sunday.

The local motion picture men have abandoned their fight before the city commission for Sunday motion picture shows. They state that they believe the better tactics would be to have a state law passed giving them the right to operate on Sunday, and they believe that there will be little opposition to such a bill in the legislature, which will convene this winter.

After the bill has been drafted, it is stated, it will be taken to the local members of the legislature from this city and county, and their endorsement and suggestions secured. Some one of them will then be asked to take charge of the bill, introduce it, and have charge of it while it is passing through the various steps of legislation.

Proceeding along this line, it will probably be some time next summer before Sunday pictures are secured in Birmingham, providing, of course, the bill becomes a law.

R. S. Silver.

DENOUNCE CENSORSHIP AT WILKES-BARRE

"Oppose Censorship of Pictures in Any Form Whatsoever" Instructions to Pennsylvania Delegates to Dayton—Neff Tells Keystone Exhibitors He Is Willing to Abide by Dayton Action; Criticises "Public-Its-Own-Censor" Doctrine—Attendance at Convention Exceeds All Expectations

Special to THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS.

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., July 2.

THE third annual convention of the Motion Picture Exhibitors League of Pennsylvania, held in Wilkes-Barre, June 23 and 24, proved a bigger success than anticipated. The delegates expressed their opinions on the new state censorship law, and in the resolution adopted may be found the sentiment that will be manifested in the coming legislative fight.

Twenty-seven new members were taken into the league from northeastern Pennsylvania, and as many more will have joined within the next month. M. A. Neff, the national president, was in attendance and spent the greater part of his time in personal chats with the various exhibitors.

The surprise of the convention was in the contest for the election of a state president. Benjamin H. Zerr, of Reading, was understood to be the only candidate in the field, but when nominations were called for Philadelphia exhibitors entered the name of Samuel F. Wheeler, and the Quaker City candidate won by a vote of 29 to 9.

While the vote was being taken many exhibitors were out of the convention hall, so that the total vote cast does not mean that only thirty-eight delegates attended the convention. It is estimated that more than one hundred and fifty exhibitors visited the convention and listened to the arguments of the various speakers. But few of the exhibitors who put in an appearance are members of the league.

THE convention opened Tuesday morning with introductory remarks by Fred W. Hermann, secretary-treasurer of the convention committee on arrangements. He introduced John W. Kosek, Mayor of Wilkes-Barre, who after welcoming the delegates, spoke of the efficient men who are engaged in the motion picture business in the Wyoming Valley. The mayor said the type of men engaged in the industry was so high that his city needed no censorship.

Daniel L. Hart, city treasurer, playwright and humorist, went on record as being in favor of Sunday night motion picture shows in Pennsylvania, particularly Wilkes-Barre. The chairman's address was given by Gilbert C. Miller, of Plymouth.

The next speaker was Mr. Neff. He said he pleaded guilty to the charges that he opposed negroes kissing white women in a picture, that he did not approve of women kissing dogs in the film stories, and that he objected to women smoking cigarettes in the café scenes. He said in part:

"Some people who are opposed to any censorship have advanced the proposition that the public would be sufficient censors, but," he asked, "how many exhibitors select their own programs?

"As to what method of censorship should be used there is not one manufacturer, not one film exchange, not one paper publication that publishes motion picture news, that has come to the front with any real proposition in regard to this matter. I disclaim any responsibility on the part of the exhibitor for the lack of censorship within the trade itself, and I am perfectly willing to abide by the action of the majority at the Dayton convention next month."

In his discussion of the Pennsylvania censorship law, Mr. Neff said:

"You can do anything you desire in the State of Pennsylvania. The men who are in the legislature want to go back and they will come to you. The trouble with Pennsylvania is that the exhibitors are not organized. You are engaged in a great business, educating and amusing thousands of people every night. The politicians know this and also know that the exhibitors are unorganized. As soon as they realize that there is an organization, they will want to see you before enacting any laws pertaining to your business."

SAMUEL WHEELER, of Philadelphia, the next speaker, had the following to say on censorship:

"Have you any realization of what you are up against in this state with the censor law of 1911?" he asked. "Who passed this law?

"Where was the demand for it? What is the censor law of Pennsylvania? It is a big joke in some respects; it is a catastrophe in others.

"First of all, in Pennsylvania there are two classes of corporations. One, known as the corporation of the first class, consists of religious, social and political organizations, or any corporation organized without profit as its object. The second class is known as the business corporation, the corporation for profit, and these good people who passed the censorship law, said that it must only apply to the business and not to the religious, fraternal or social organizations.

"In other words, it is a terrible thing to show a bad picture in the theatres, but it is all right to show any kind of a picture in the church or political club.

"Now, why should they be contaminated more than ourselves, who frequent the picture shows? You will find that there was an ulterior motive back of this. It was not to protect the public but to knock the business of the motion picture people. There was no money involved in showing pictures in churches, but there was money in showing pictures in the theatres, picture parlors as they are commonly known, and there were certain insidious hands back of it all.

"THIS law goes further, and I don't recall many attempts having been made in this free Commonwealth to persecute the business interests as this law has done, without the right of appeal.

"That law says that upon the opinion of one man and one woman, eight million people of this state must be satisfied to see what they wish to give. Can you imagine any two people, man or woman, in this Commonwealth, that you would wish to have control your ideas of morality, and that is what it is, and if these censors say that a picture is immoral and should not be shown, it is therefore immoral and we exhibitors go to jail if we present it?

"And remember again that the manufacturer does not go to jail, he does not show it. It's the poor exhibitor that goes to jail if he violates the law. Of course the manufacturer is supposed to pay the $2.50 per reel for examination, but that is another bluff.

"Who pays it?

"Why, we exhibitors. Go into the exchange and ask how much you are paying per reel for a picture, and they will say 'None of your business,' and they will put on the motion picture patent copy, plus censorship fee, for you, if the law is declared constitutional."

The convention adopted a resolution thanking THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS for its work and space devoted towards the meeting. The local convention committee also expressed its thanks to the NEWS, fully believing that the large attendance at the convention was due to the publicity given in the columns of this trade journal.

THE following resolution was adopted regarding the censorship question:

Resolved that the Motion Picture Exhibitors League f Pennsylvania be, and it hereby is, [illegible] opposed to censorship of motion Compictures [illegible] any form whatsoever, whether under the supervision of a national or state board, for the following reasons:

1. Because we believe to single out one class of business for persecution is un-American, and unconstitutional.

2. Because we believe that there is no real popular demand for censorship, and that the interests supporting the same are selfish ones.

3. Because we believe that it is unreasonable and impracticable to permit any small body of persons, such as a Censorship Board, to say what is good or bad for the morals of millions of other people who have minds of their own and can decide for themselves what they want to see in motion pictures.

4. Because we believe that to control the production and exhibition of motion pictures is as dangerous for the best interests of the people as it would be to restrict the freedom of publication of newspapers, magazines or other periodicals. A motion picture has every element of a newspaper. It has its news, advertising cartoon and magazine sections just as the newspaper has. The only apparent difference is that one moves, and the other remains still while the public is viewing them.

5. Becaus we believe that the boards of censors of motion pictures, wheather national or State, will soon deteriorate into political machines and be used to create positions for a large retinue of politicians, and to advertise the merits of the political party in office and denounce its opponents.

6. Because we believe that there are adequate existing laws to prosecute persons who manufacture and exhibit immoral pictures. It is time enough to arrest and send a man to jail after he commits a crime and after he has had a trial by a jury of twelve other men.

Censorship in Pennsylvania provides that an exhibitor is guilty of a misdemeanor, and must undergo a fine or imprisonment, merely on the decision of one man and one woman, who, it is presumed, have infallible ideas concerning morals.

Resolved further, that the Motion Picture Exhibitors League of Pennsylvania assist in the pending litigation to have the present censorship law of Pennsylvania declared unconstitutional, or being unsuccessful in this, to have the said law repealed at the next session of the legislature.

Resolved further, that the delegates to the national convention at Dayton in July, 1914, be instructed to oppose censorship of pictures, in any form whatsoever.

THE following officers were elected: President, Samuel F. Wheeler, Philadelphia; national vice-president, Gilbert C. Miller, Plymouth; first vice-president, Ben H. Zerr, Reading; second vice-president, Francis E. Devlin, Wilkes-Barre; secretary, Julius G. Hansen, Reading; treasurer, E. F. McAtee, Mahanoy City; and publicity representative, Frank A. Gould, Reading.

The delegates selected to attend the Dayton convention are: Miss Mae Carr, Hazleton; Ben H. Zerr, Reading; Samuel F. Wheeler, Philadelphia; Walter S. Wilson, Plymouth; Martin P. Myers, Hazleton; M. Spiers, Philadelphia, and Frank P. Gilligan, Wilkes-Barre.

The alternates to the National convention are: M. E. Comerford, Scranton; H. Berman, Philadelphia; F. A. Gould, Reading; J. Phil. Sitkins, State College; J. S. Thomas, Scranton; Luke Farrel, Carbondale, and W. A. Pittis, Beaver Falls.

The following new members were taken into the League:

Carr & Lynch, Poli Theatre, West Hazleton; Harry Knoblauch, Grand Theatre, Hazleton; Simeon Lewis Alpha Theatre, Kingston; John D. Burry, Lyric Theatre, Hazleton; E. F. Moyer, Electric Theatre, White Haven; J. S. Thomas, Scranton; George S. Thomas, Palace Theatre, Edwardsville; E. F. McAtee, Family Theatre, Mahanoy City; Harry Friedman, Pastime Theatre, Duryea; Martin P. Meyers, Diamond Theatre, West Hazleton; Reilley & Kerrigan, Diamond Theatre, Georgetown, Abraham Orr, Star Theatre, Wilkes-Barre; A. George Strojny, Gem Theatre, Nanticoke; William B. Prest, Palace Theatre, Plymouth; Gilligan & Company, Park Theatre, Ashley; Sun Amusement Theatre, Wilkes-Barre; R. J. McGowan, Orpheum Theatre, Larksville; Ike Berney, Lyric Theatre, Lewistown; Walter S. Wilson, Hippodrome Theatre, Plymouth; Joseph Heim, Luna Theatre, Danville; W. A. Pitts, Comet Theatre, Beaver Falls; Louis Marinos, Marinos Theatre, Luzerne; Harry Hersker, Family Theatre, Hazleton; Edward J. Brislin, Crystal Theatre, Wilkes-Barre; Thomas J. McGuire, Court Square Theatre, Scranton; William J. Fegely, New Lyric Theatre, Bloomsburg, and Fred W. Hermann, Savoy Theatre, Wilkes-Barre.

THE display booths at the convention hall were occupied by several firms, including the Power Company; George F. Schroeder, architect; Diamond Advertising Company, of Wilkes-Barre, slides and photoplayer fans; National Cash Register Company; Cosmos Feature Film Corporation, Joel A. Levy, representative; Calehuff Supply Company, represented by Charles Calehuff, Samuel Lapin, Miss Gene Koller and Arthur Heyman; Wyanoak Publishing Company, novelties, represented by Messrs. Blum and Friedman; International Photo Play Coupon Company, Charles S. Van; and several other film renting and feature companies. The local exchanges were also represented.

Tuesday evening an informal banquet was held at the Hotel Redington, and Wednesday night there was a dansant.

The delegates voted the convention the best that has ever been held by the organization.

J. F. FORESTAL.

Maryland Delegates Strong for Union

Go Uninstructed to Dayton, but Feeling Is General that One Organization Only Should Control Exhibitors' Destinies—Open-Air Convention a Success

Special to THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS.

Baltimore, Md., July 1.

WHILE the Maryland delegates go uninstructed to the Dayton convention of the Motion Picture Exhibitors League of America, the general feeling in Maryland, and of the delegates themselves, are for the one organization plan. There is no doubt but Maryland will be in the foremost ranks of those who will fight for harmony among the motion picture exhibitors of the country.

Delegates to the convention were selected at the annual meeting of the Maryland branch of the Exhibitors League held at Bay Shore Park, a summer resort near Baltimore, on Thursday, June 25. The delegates are Marion S. Pearce, Frank Durkee, Harry Lewy, William Fait, Jr., and Harry B. Cook, all of Baltimore, and George List, of Frederick. Mr. Fait will leave for the convention city in his automobile on July 1. The other delegates will leave on Sunday.

Officers for the year were also elected at the Maryland meeting. They are: Marion S. Pearce, president; William Kalb, first vice-president; Thomas J. Bohannon, second vice-president; Guy L. Wonders, treasurer; George P. Klein, secretary; and William Hovey, sergeant-at-arms. With the exception of Mr. Bohannon and Mr. Klein, all of the other officers were re-elected.

The entire day was spent at the summer resort, the delegates and their families going to Bay Shore on special cars at ten o'clock in the morning. The early part of the day was spent in taking in the amusements. Luncheon was served at one o'clock.

The business meeting followed, after which all of the delegates enjoyed a dip in the Chesapeake Bay. A Maryland shore dinner was served about five o'clock. There was then a ball game between the single and married men of the Maryland branch, the single men carrying off the honors.

A. F. GILLASPEY.

WHERE IS LESTER CUENO?

Information is requested by Roscoe C. Cueno regarding Lester Cueno, formerly with the Selig Company. Mr. Cueno's address is the Star Theatre, Upper Sandusky, Ohio.

THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS REVIEW OF FILM TRADE CONDITIONS IN AMERICA

A Comprehensive Survey of the Business, Environment and Outlook Among the Exhibitors of the United States and Canada, Dealing with Admission Prices, Rental Rates, Popularity of Features, Competition Conditions, the Small Exhibitor and the Big One, Increase in Theatre Construction, Relations Between the Exhibitor, Exchange Man and Producer, "What Does the Public Want?" and Every Other Phase of the Field

COMPETENT observers who have been investigating the motion picture field during the last year, watching the industry from every angle with an eye to discovering the basic elements affecting it for either good or ill, have determined that, broadly speaking, three important things underlie the business.

Three Underlying Influences at Work

First—There is a spirit of unrest, due to a process of evolution naturally expected in a line practically new. But out of this unsettled condition will soon emerge a tremendous volume of business, satisfactory in the accruing profits, if manufacturer, exchange man and exhibitor alike, observe the trend of the public attitude. For after all it's the likes and dislikes of the public which must be studied and catered to intelligently in order to get the best results.

Second—Better films in all branches must be the slogan, and more attention to detail must be observed in the manufacture of pictures. This is owing to the reason that the motion picture fan is demanding a better product.

Of course, there are now films being shown which are representative of the best efforts of the most capable firms in the business. But the public now demands that the rank and file of studios follow these big leaders.

It might be said in passing that it is a pleasure to record the fact that the progressive manufacturers are awake to this necessity, and are putting forth their best efforts to bring their products up to this standard.

Third—The manufacturer must study the markets with a much closer scrutiny. He cannot afford to generalize. Local conditions must be made a source of scientific observation. It is folly to ship one class of pictures to a center which demands something entirely different. Some men, blind to their own interest, scatter releases broadcast just because they are new. Consequently, an exhibitor who caters to a class of trade requiring, say, elaborate features making a bid solely by their elaborate scenic effects, must take from his exchange sensational melodrama.

He not only loses money, but the maker of the picture loses as well. Now, if that exhibitor were able to get just the kind of film he knows is best for his neighborhood his house would be crowded to the doors every night.

Manufacturers Should Study Local Conditions

It would be well for producers to study local conditions somewhat after the manner of the big advertising agencies, which maintain tabulated lists enabling them to know at a glance the commercial possibilities of any given section of the country. Thus they are able to determine the particular kind of advertising best suited to each locality.

In the case of the larger film exchanges this plan would be feasible, and could be carried out with very little expense or trouble. The managers of the various branches are naturally in a position to know the conditions of their immediate vicinity and probably do make reports to the main offices. But do they systematize the information and include the remoter districts covered by their distributing centers? Apparently not. If, on the other hand, they did, why does the local exhibitor complain of not always being able to get what his public demands?

Evidently, if all the reports coming to the office of THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS are correct, no such department is maintained in the highest state of efficiency, as it should be for obtaining the best results.

Even if it were necessary to send men over a large area, taking in some of the small show districts, for the purpose of studying the tastes of each locality, the work would bring satisfactory results.

When a Release Is Not a Drawing-

And it should be borne in mind that a release, because it is new, is not necessarily going to be a winner with every section of the country.

As every large advertising agency can find instantly from its detailed compilations information about population, manufactures, industries and the class of people to be sold a certain product, before mapping out a campaign of advertising for a client, so should motion picture producers be able to tell at a glance from their sources of information obtained in a similar manner what the tastes and idiosyncrasies of a given territory call for in respect to film amusements.

Sixty per cent of the difficulties of exhibitors are caused by the failure of manufacturers to supply them with proper films. This means only one thing: there has been no proper study and analysis of the desires, tastes, wishes and inclinations of the motion picture public.

What follows? It has been necessary for the exhibitor to take upon himself the almost impossible task of providing patrons for the manufacturers' products. It should be the other way round. He should have products that fit the requirements of the patrons.

This deadlock condition has done more to retard the prosperity of the exhibitor and the growth of the business than anything else.

Let the manufacturer, the producer, the exchange man realize what must be done, and begin immediate and vigorous remedial measures, and the great problem confronting the industry to-day will be solved.

New Era in the History of the Industry

It will mark the beginning of a new era in the history of the motion picture business. No matter what shifting conditions—always to be expected in any new industry finding itself—may crop up from time to time, calling for new and adroit methods of handling for a solution of the difficulties, the undisputable fact remains that constant study of the local situation throughout the country can under no circumstances be neglected by those supplying exhibitors with films.

Another thing which must occupy the attention of producers sooner or later is the quality and kind of paper in use. The poster illustrations should not, for instance, misrepresent the scenes in the pictures.

Already there is an indignant cry in many quarters against this practice, which we are glad to say is not general. But the few producers who have not strictly adhered in their paper to the film episodes have by these unwise methods made the public lose confidence.

A reaction was bound to be felt.

Public Sentiment Brings a Reaction

The public naturally ceased to believe in the advertising matter after noticing the discrepancies, and failed to attend a show on the strength of the paper. Where, then, is the value of such posters? It is just a waste of money to put them out, if they no longer serve as a drawing-card.

And furthermore, it seems quite unnecessary to distort and misrepresent when any film, if it is any good at all, should certainly have something striking enough for pictorial display outside of a theatre. From the very nature of its plot, which must have plenty of action to carry the story, every motion picture certainly should contain sufficient striking scenes suitable for reproduction on the posters.

Lack of Uniform Admission Prices

Reports on admission prices show widely diversified conditions, with no likelihood of uniformity for some time to come. In one part of the country, the elaborate feature put on at topnotch prices is in the ascendancy, with chances in its favor of the high admission remaining permanent.

The people in some places will not support anything but five-cent houses, while in other localities the ten-cent theatre thrives. The managers of many houses charging the latter price find that their patrons will respond occasionally to an extra program at fifteen and even twenty-five cents—but this does not hold good in many instances; it must be a straight ten cents, week in and week out.

In some localities five-cent houses are raising their prices, with a good outlook of maintaining the increased price permanently—while others have been compelled to reduce their admission fee.

Program Situation Lacks Uniformity

The same chaotic and unstable condition prevails in the program situation. The diversified number finds popularity in many sections, while the feature has a strong hold on the patrons of other parts of the country.

This, of course, is due to difference in population. A historical film, which presupposes on the part of the spectator some knowledge of the events depicted for a thorough appreciation of the picture, will not take well in a coal-mining town where only slapstick work reaches the level of intelligence.

A word might be said in respect to the latter kind of films. A demand has been shown for better quality in quarters least expected. The non-reading public, which does not care for stories containing literary and historical allusions, has become so exacting that manufacturers must improve the average story designed to appeal to this particular class.

Many producers are recognizing and endeavoring to meet this demand; others, it is hoped, will do the same.

Must Improve Quality of Cheap Films

There are certain standards by which even these cheaper films should be judged, and are being judged. It is only a question of a short time when the patron of a five-cent house will refuse his custom if the stories contain glaring inconsistencies of time and place, bad acting, anachronisms, flabby plots and padded scenes.

Fortunately live manufacturers themselves are not waiting for the reform to be forced on them, but are striving to give the public the best pictures possible for the prices the public is willing to pay.

BUSINESS CONDITIONS IN NEW YORK UNIQUE

THE New York City situation differs from any other part of the country because of the complex conditions not found elsewhere. It is due partly to the population, comprising as it does people from every corner of the globe; the fact that the city is the center of the industry, both in respect to production and distribution; and certain aspects of competition.

Conditions Are Different in New York

Because of the heterogeneous population there is a wider range of possibility for the exchange men than in any other part of the country. Broadway attracts the more intelligent motion picture fan, thus popularizing the big feature; the East Side wants sensational subjects appealing to the primeval instincts; the neighborhood houses in the up-town districts on the West Side have a patronage requiring more subdued plots, light comedy and rational drama.

The manufacturers have entered into competition with the exhibitor by erecting houses for showing their own productions. This is a serious menace to the small man with one or two theatres.

As New York is the heart of the feature market, from which the big films are distributed, manufacturers give these productions their première in the metropolis. This has had a peculiar effect on the small houses and the exchanges.

People are drawn away from the neighborhood theatre to the down-town show, thus making it almost impossible to put on a feature at an outlying house. As a result, the exchange men are dependent on suburban houses for regular program reels. Down-town houses have practically ceased to use regular programs, on the other hand, except, of course, off the main arteries of travel.

Business Excellent Though Nearly 300 Failures

Competition is so keen that the feature people have had excellent chances to secure booking for the big productions.

One phase of the situation seems almost paradoxical. While business has been so good in general among the exhibitors of Greater New York, it is a noteworthy fact that between 250 and 300 houses have been forced to close. But the reason is easy to find. On account of the popularity of features, the tendency of patronage has been toward the large theatres.

This drain has been felt by houses using films of the lowest quality, for the patrons, once initiated to the high degree of artistic production seen in features, have become dissatisfied with the former offers of the cheap neighborhood theatre. The number of failures has not been exaggerated, as the figures have been obtained from brokers and exchange men.

In some sections where vaudeville and pictures have been combined straight pictures have in many instances been put out of business. This is a condition differing from the rest of the country.

Scale of Prices in the City Varies

Prices average five and ten cents in the tenement districts, while the big houses average about twenty-five cents. Of course, in a few instances, fifty, and even seventy-five, cents and a dollar admission has been charged. But these were unusually pretentious productions which cannot be considered representative of conditions as a whole.

The field for the activities of the exchange men has become greater than in any other part of the country, due partly to the demands of the numerous neighborhood houses in the suburbs.

The seating capacity, according to building statistics, has increased from twenty-five to forty per cent during the last year.

One thing not found in other parts of the country is that business has been so good that managers have not had time to make improvements, like the introduction of musical features and other accessories.

Uplifting Influence of the Feature

Thus the houses in the city are not so well equipped as elsewhere. The popularity of the motion picture has become so great that it has resolved itself into "shooting people through one door and out another," making ready to fill the house again in quick time.

It has been noticed that many houses which might be expected to fall off in attendance maintain as good a patronage as during the winter. The reason is that the majority of the airdomes have failed to put on the best films.

People seem to prefer sitting in stuffy auditoriums when they can see a meritorious production, than to remain in the open air, where an increase of comfort, but poorer pictures, means less enjoyment of the entertainment. This is because the public has been educated to a point where it wants better films.

This has been brought about by the feature, having as it does all the excellencies of the motion picture art. The feature has been responsible for the improvement of the films shown at neighborhood houses. When the patron has seen the best obtainable at a Broadway theatre he naturally becomes dissatisfied with the inferior productions he has been accustomed to at the house around the corner at home.

The use of better pictures in the local houses has, of course, entailed a greater expense on the management, but the patron whose taste has been sublimated by the down-town feature is willing to pay more on extra exhibition days than for the ordinary program.

SITUATION IN CANADA IS FAR FROM ROSY

Special to THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS.

Winnipeg, Manitoba, July 1.

FOR the previous four or five years the motion picture business in Winnipeg, as well as in the entire province and the larger cities of the three prairie provinces, has been one long round of success and a money-making venture for almost everyone who went into the business with any business capabilities at all.

The remarkable manner in which theatres went up all over the country was surprising, and more than one exhibitor looked askance at the mushroom proclivities of the motion picture house.

Year after year it was said it could not last, but year after year saw the "movie" increasing in numbers and the patrons helping by the nimble dimes to enrich far-seeing managers. But competition in Winnipeg has done much to stagnate the market and the situation to-day is far from being rosy.

Money Is Tight; Theatres Too Numerous

Conditions, in fact, are not of the best at all, and the causes are obvious. The first, and unquestionably the most essential, is that the west of Canada is at present feeling the very decided pinch of the money market and no matter what may be said or done the financial market is tighter than it has been in many years, and certainly tighter than it ever was since the advent of the picture.

The other cause is the large number of theatres which have cropped up in the city in the past eighteen months.

The tremendous advance in values of property in the past two years and the sudden slump in receipts for all amusements, as well as for the sale of almost everything staple, has resulted in the investments in many cases being too heavy to be properly carried when thirty theatres, all showing motion pictures, are bidding for the public money.

The house that two years ago did $1,000 a week is to-day not doing half that business. The investment was made at the $1,000 a week estimated business and the sudden cutting of this in half, as it has been cut in many cases, has been a serious setback to many of the exhibitors.

It must not be construed from this that all the theatres in Winnipeg are not paying, but a good many which were turning out nice incomes for the investor are to-day just paying their way.

No Relief in Sight; Five-Cent House Ominous

Nor does there appear to be any likelihood of any appreciable difference in the near future; the exhibitors have themselves discounted too far into that future and it will take a good deal longer than the optimist is willing to admit to bring matters up to the normal level again.

To make matters worse, there has been entered the thin end of the "five-cent" general admission wedge, and thus has been obliterated the possibility of there being any increase of admission price.

The general price of admission to-day all over the city is ten cents. In some cases, however, the price is raised for special pictures, but this is not popular in the down-town houses, and has never been done frequently by managers of the larger houses. Another great fact in altering the conditions has been the building up of houses in the outside districts.

That is to say, in various localities all over the city giving the residents theatres in their own districts and thus obviating the expenditure of car fare to come to downtown houses. A serious deflection has thus been caused from the larger, handsome downtown houses and sections of the public, having seen that the best pictures will eventually be shown in their own neighborhood, are willing to take in their own local palace and keep a week or two behind the other theatres.

Under present conditions, especially when times are hard, it is very clear that the public of Winnipeg will not stand for any increase of price and to the credit of the exhibitors it must be admitted that they have not lately given any raise the least consideration.

Neighborhood House Now a Factor

The increase in number of theatres during the past 12 months has been mainly in the outside districts. It must be borne in mind that Winnipeg, with its population of 200,000, can be traveled over very easily in a very short time and it was no great hardship for anyone to jump on a car and come downtown to see the picture houses.

But with their own houses in the immediate neighborhood, many have become firm local patrons and it must be also obvious that where the downtown houses drew from the outside districts this has been a serious loss.

The average seating capacity of the Winnipeg houses is about 700. There are one or two which seat over 1000, but again there are many that do not seat more than 500. The theatres themselves are modern in every sense of the word, built along artistic lines, good seats, well decorated screen proscenium openings, good orchestras, indirect lighting, well ushered, clean and in most cases well managed.

The main difficulty which has not yet been overcome, however, is the ventilation and here it must be admitted that Winnipeg has fallen down. Efforts are being made continually to improve the inside atmospheric conditions, but so far with but little success.

Any Good Film Is in Demand

The film in demand here is ANY GOOD film. All subjects are interesting to the patrons if the subject has any punch, or plot.

But one thing is certain and that is that the big eight-reel subject is not wanted in this city.

The exhibitors believe in features of all kinds, but if there is a favorite type, it is unquestionably the well edited pictorial motion picture newspaper for adults and the comedy pictures for the children.

The future of the picture in Winnipeg is very hard to prophesy, but in all likelihood the diversified program, made up of one and two reel subjects is mainly the most popular. Good short features are always acceptable, but the exhibitors themselves have not much use for the continual application of the multiple reel pictures which take up an entire show. In the first place the local theatres are not adapted for such pictures and the general opinion is that such belong to the houses which can run them exactly as they would run a legitimate drama.

At present, however, there are no houses in Winnipeg which would feel justified of making a practice of running the big multiple reel.

Three Programs a Week Downtown

All the smaller houses in the uptown districts run the "daily" program and the district they tap is too small to permit of repeating. It is to hold the business that "daily" programs are run. In the downtown houses there is no indication that any change from the "three-a-week" program will be considered.

The "three-a-week" appears to cater to the right number and the "daily" program in these larger downtown houses would be a waste of money. The 60 or 75 minute program consisting of several reels is the ideal program, though more than five or six reels could hardly be managed in the larger houses.

During the past year several of the houses have improved exteriors and interiors, but much that was to be done has been left undone owing to the conditions now existing.

There are but few houses in the city which can be considered reel "failures." Several have been "poor investments" about three of the thirty houses have failed, but these have not remained "dark," as there has always been someone to take them over, feeling that there was a chance to make good money. At the present moment all the houses are operating and there are no indications that any will close, but even so, some are losers.

Competition in Winnipeg is very keen as the number of houses will show, but the competition is entirely individual and the houses are all practically under their own management with the exception of two. The Strand and the Victoria (stand No. 2) are now also under the Allart management, but these are not devoted entirely to motion pictures. Vaudeville takes up the greater part of the show and pictures are a secondary consideration. The indications now are that the individual house will continue.

Exhibitors Dissatisfied with Producers

Exhibitors are not eminently satisfied with the products of the manufacturers and, as it was neatly put recently during the course of a conversation:

"Some firms run as far as they can to the margin that is permitted by the broadest of censors and would go farther if they could. Others do try and give the public artistic and clean pictures. The larger the firm, the better the product, but the situation in Canada is so different from that in the United States. What we want here first, last and always are British pictures; that is to say pictures dealing with British plots, subjects and characters"—and there in a nutshell is the situation.

The average cost of film service is about the same to-day as it was 18 months ago, perhaps less. More is being paid for exclusive programs and less for other programs down to a very small amount for "repeats" or "third" or "fourth" runs.

In one case, the "exclusive" price has reached $350 a week, but it is only the "top" houses which could come near paying this price, especially at the present time.

Outlook Is Not Bright

The outlook for the motion picture in Winnipeg is far from being rosy. And while "competition may be the soul of commerce," there is not enough material supplied to make "program competition" up to very much.

The output is not sufficient to supply the demand to permit of very many theatres running exclusive programs.

There is no indication of brighter conditions for some time to come and then, when things do improve the improvement will be counteracted by the building of more theatres, faster than the population demands them, and much the same conditions will pertain.

Winnipeg possesses a wonderful number of motion picture fans. Keep the programs clean and strong and supply the shorter programs rather than the long, multiple films making the one show and the corner will be turned ultimately.

But it is up to the manufacturers themselves.

CHANDOS ST. JOHN-BRENON.

Need for Organization in Montreal Is a Crying One

Special to THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS.

Montreal, P. Q., July 1.

EXCEPT in the case of two or three theatres which, owing to their exceptionally favorable location and general fine appointments as theatres, rather than to the excellence of their film features, the picture houses in Montreal and surrounding districts are not doing any too well just now.

It is doubtful, even, if they are more than paying expenses. This has been the case since the opening of the spring.

One reason for this is the general depression which has characterized Montreal and the other large cities of the Dominion. A trade boom has been followed by the usual reaction, and there is not an overabundance of ready money floating around just now.

Another reason is that competition among the exhibitors generally has become too severe. They are cutting each other's throats as hard as they can. There is no association to govern the general interests of the theatres, and the civic regulations are very mild. Anyone with a few hundred dollars can pull down the partitions of a store and run a motion picture house.

Jealousy Makes Association Impossible

Thus, in one of the principal streets in Montreal within the radius of half a mile, there are at least nine pictures houses of a sort running in competition. Most of them are death traps, but there they are.

The better class houses would like to associate, but there is so much jealousy among the others, the proprietors of which are mostly Greeks and Syrians, that nothing can be done.

The only remedy is for the city authorities to step in and pass a by-law governing the building and general appointments of a picture house, and refusing permits and the granting of a license where it is proved that a theatre is not desirable, or paying. This competition has ruined the business, for the time being, at least.

Public Asks More Than Formerly

Once the public were content with a three-reeler and two or three single-reels of drama and comedy, and an orchestra consisting of a piano. Now they want nothing less than five and more part features, half a dozen other reels, a full orchestra, and vocalists. Over and above this, the smaller houses are giving away premiums on certain nights. All this, too, for five cents.

There is one house giving first-runs such as "Lucille Love," "Samson," etc., and a continuous performance from about eleven o'clock to nearly midnight for five cents—a program that in New York would at least cost twenty-five cents. There is no doubt that at the present time the motion picture business in Montreal and district is in a parlous plight.

The theatres in the higher class districts are naturally better situated. The average admittance price is ten cents, but even here the public generally will not pay more.

The whole question is not to increase the price, but to maintain it at ten cents.

Long programs are desired by the public, and they must be changed at least twice a week. Feature productions are popular, especially the ones that are supported by serials in the papers. "The Adventures of Kathlyn," "Lucille Love" and "The Million Dollar Mystery" were all eagerly sought for by the exhibitors.

They shake their heads over the price, and regretfully think of the days when single reels contented the public; but whether the feature manufacturers or the public are to blame, the big productions are now wanted by their patrons.

Character of Film Does Not Matter

So far as the character of the films are concerned, the public are not overexacting. What they want is length of program, newness and excitement. In fact, plenty for the money.

Another great hardship against which exhibitors have to fight is the arbitrary actions of the censors. Films are held up to the last minute, and then probably canned. Only this week three theatres were unable to advertise their program on Saturday for the following week because on that day the censors were killing and holding back films.

Conditions in Montreal Summarized

The Mutual Film Company is apparently very dissatisfied with Canada generally, and I believe they are stopping all new features. They are going to economize by simply peddling their old stuff. Whether this is wise is up to them.

Summarizing, I might say that:

The average price of admission is ten cents.

Long programs with two or three changes are demanded.

Two theatres in a high-class neighborhood are now running stock companies because of the lack of support as picture houses.

Owing to the absence of proper civic regulations, houses of a kind are springing up and dying with cheerful regularity.

General business conditions, with one or two exceptions, are bad.

The exchange managers, when they are not damning the censors, are hoping for the best. What the Mutual thinks is evident from their action in cutting Canada out so far as new productions are concerned.

The only remedy is for the better class houses to get together, for the city to regulate theatres properly, and, as in the case of liquor licenses, refuse to grant permits where the general welfare of the motion picture business does not want further competition. In this way there would be no death traps, as there are at present, and the exhibitors would stand a better chance of elevating the business to the betterment of the public.

F. J. Arrowsmith.

PRICES A PROBLEM IN NEW ENGLAND

Special to The Motion Picture News.

Boston, July 2.

PECULIAR local conditions obtaining in New England make the situation differ from other sections of the country.

The people, as a rule, are conservative, for one thing, and demand what might be designated for the want of a better name, "the conservative sensational film." Their pictures, on the whole, must be replete with action, carrying on the story at a high tension, yet there must be nothing violating the spectator's sense of the probable, nor his prejudices and traditions.

Patrons Show Keen Interest in the Business

The average patron and exhibitor alike are very conservative in their tastes. And furthermore the motion picture fan knows almost as much about the business as the manager. He is familiar with the trade names, the companies, the stars, the kinds of productions offered by the various manufacturers. And he has his favorite, too, among producing companies and players. All these things the exhibitor has to take into consideration when making his bookings or he pays the penalty of his neglect.

Such big features as those put on the market by representative firms like Famous Players, Kleine, Warner's Features, World Film, Popular Plays and Players are in more demand than the out-and-out sensational stuff. The film reproductions of famous operas, novels, dramas and historical events, provided they are put on with plenty of action, never cease to find favor.

Many of the smaller houses have gone out of business—the survival of the fittest.

New England Prices Stand at Ten Cents

The New England exhibitor has discovered that the price will probably not go any higher than ten cents. The problem with him, then, in planning to make greater profits, is to bring down the expenses by the introduction of more efficient management.

The syndicate houses are not so common as in New York and other Eastern points. A man operating a string of syndicate places can keep down expenses by booking a film for, say, ten days, one day to a theatre; and of course he gets the reduced figure on the booking.

The numerous factory towns with their permanent population have proved good motion picture centers. The people, on account of their regular salaries, feel at liberty to spend more freely than wage-earners who in many other regions are not in receipt of as steady incomes. The sense of surety engendered by a permanent position results in their feeling at liberty to spend money regularly for amusements; and they consequently become regular patrons of the picture houses.

Houses Have Regular Clientele

The same faces are seen in the same theatres night after night, so that each place has its clientele, whose likes and wishes it is easy for him to gauge accurately.

The summer business in New England is better than elsewhere, as the people remain in the cities more than in other parts of the country. The airdomes have increased in number in the last twelve months.

In the factory towns the feature was in great demand, but now the taste has changed somewhat and differs from other parts of New England; the diversified program is favored.

The feature has been responsible for an uplift of taste in the factory towns as much as it has been the means of improving standards elsewhere. Local houses and airdomes have felt its influence in this respect.

A case in point can be found in the experience of four managers who last year opened airdomes with "junk." Only one opened this year, though last season the four were making money, their individual profits amounting to about $150 to $200 a week. Now the proprietor of the remaining airdome is lucky if he has a profit of $25 or $35 a week. The reason is that the people want "better stuff." They will not sit in the coolest spot available if the pictures are poor the exhibitor, of necessity, must recognize this.

Campaign for Higher Prices Is Being Pushed in New Haven

Special to The Motion Picture News

New Haven, Conn., July 2.

BECAUSE they believe that the public will not submit to an advance in price, yet realizing that they are running almost beyond their means, small exhibitors in this city fear a crisis in the motion picture industry that may spell ruin to a number of them.

Censorship and Low Prices

What with heavy competition, low prices, severe police censorship and the popular demand for costly feature programs, six theatres have already been forced out of business during the past year; two have changed hands, one is tottering on the brink of ruin, its owner borne down under the burden of a constantly increasing debt, which at present amounts to about $1,500; two other theatres are said to be for sale, and a number of exhibitors are wondering which week is to be their last.

Not that there is no hope, for already there are indications of fair weather ahead, and though it is quite probable that one or two of the small houses may go under, it is thought that it will be only to have other and better theatres spring up in their places.

In fact a large theatrical syndicate is planning the erection of a house expected to cost in the neighborhood of $100,000.

Campaign for Better Prices

There are two things, possibly three, to which the managers hereabouts pin their faith now, and these are a coming general campaign for higher prices, an indication that the public is getting tired of the feature programs and is beginning to favor again the return of the old five-reel variety, and the possibility of less rigorous censorship.

Of course the movement for higher prices is the thing. Exhibitors in New Haven, as a rule, are firm believers in the efficacy of newspaper advertising, and have already been considering the advisability of taking up the cudgels against censorship agitators through the columns of the dailies. And they are considering, through the same agency, to make a bid for their advanced prices. They hope to be able to appeal to the reason of the public, sufficiently strong to turn the tide in their favor.

Unity is the principle of their action, and they are first seeking to have every exhibitor in the vicinity fall into line with them. Besides wanting each proprietor to furnish his share of time and money, they want to make sure that they will not be alone when they make their demand, and to feel that if Mr. Anybody will not pay ten cents at their theatre, he will not be given a seat elsewhere for five. They know that people will bow to the inevitable, after a time, and "come across" with the extra nickel

Differ About Feature Values

So far as the feature programs are concerned, exhibitors differ. Most of them, proprietors of the houses in the outlying districts, say that the five, six and eight-reel pictures have seen their day and are no longer as popular as they have been in the past. Central theatre owners, however, claim that the features are as strong as ever, and show no signs of losing popularity.

Because of the competition the feature programs make life miserable for the small exhibitors. These are crowded into three districts, the Congress Avenue, Dixwell Avenue and Grand Avenue. The first is peopled with Jews and Poles, the second with negroes, and the third with Italians. They cannot, as a rule, afford to pay the dimes for admission to the big houses where the features are shown, and so are forced to demand the same for a nickel of the exhibitors in their districts.

Of course these exhibitors, having houses of exceedingly limited capacity, could hardly make enough from packed theatres to pay all expenses, including the additional one of a feature picture, and so cannot grant the requests of their patrons.

The latter fail to attend, and the houses suffer. Only now are there signs of returning life, as old patrons gradually return to see the old-time programs of one reel of comedy, one of Western, and three of society drama.

Central Houses Use Features

The central houses continue to feature the big productions, and are still playing to crowded houses, though the pictures are not so enthusiastically received now that the novelty has worn off. Those who know predict a return, even in these places, to the diversified program.

From observation in a number of houses in all districts, the likes of New Haven audiences have been summed up as follows: Variety program, five or six reels in length; feature programs occasionally, changes in program every day or two, at the most; Western drama, one reel out of each performance; comedy, one reel; society, about three or four reels. The change of program every day is common in this city, and though it is one of the causes that may be said to concontribute to the poor condition of the industry now, managers are not kicking at it.

Police Interfere Too Much

Censorship, as has been said, has caused a great deal of the trouble, and unless its methods are changed, may cause more. Exhibitors complain that the police are too officious, cut sometimes where it is unwarranted, and make themselves disagreeable in other ways. Where some were in favor of police censorship, a while ago, they still remain opposed to state censorship, but cry for national censorship only. Then, they say, they will have peace.

Under ordinary circumstances, New Haven is one of the most fruitful of the motion picture fields, and could even accommodate as many as thirty-five or forty houses. In the past, before the introduction of the feature programs, when theatres all over had programs similar in length and character no matter what the price, proprietors have done well, and in most instances have made improvements from time to time that have been in line with the movements to "elevate the moving pictures."

Nickel Men Hard Hit

Now, however, most of the houses are the small affairs, seating between five and six hundred people (a large number, years ago), and at a nickel proprietors find it hard to make both ends meet Only well-filled houses pay, and these are possible only where feature bills are shown.

Being too costly, these programs are not to be heard of for the small exhibitors, and so the patronage is divided principally among the central exhibitors who do not even need the features, and the scattered outlying theatres, where the features are little known and consequently little cared for.

Of the theatres that have fallen victims to the various causes which have resulted in the present state of affairs, the St. Elmo, Majestic, Moonlight, McLay, National and Quinnipiac were six that had been doing excellent business until competition became too warm.

Changes of management failed to help them, and they went down. The two to change hands were the Comique, sold by the Slepack Amusement Company to Frank Wilcox, and the Marvel, purchased by William Brady. Others are understood to be on the market, the Mitchell, at Savin Rock, being chief among these.

Will Erect More Theatres

No definite plans have as yet been unfolded, but the Gordon Brothers, of Boston, are understood to be arranging to build here. They are said to be negotiating for a central piece of property, and it is claimed that their building, when erected, will be one of the handsomest in the city.

It is also reported that another exhibitor is planning to enter the field here, but as yet the rumor is unverified. It sub-stantiates, however, the claim of those leading in the business here, that the industry is not going to suffer, but will continue to prosper, after the various questions of to-day are settled, and that others will enter the field here, so that the public will be given plenty for its money, while exhibitors will be able to make successes of their undertakings.

AMSTER SPIRO.

Waterbury Reports Success; Features Extremely Popular

Special to THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS

Waterbury, Conn., July 2.

A PERIOD of success. The past several months have been more or less prosperous ones for the majority of the motion picture theatres in Waterbury and environs, all things considered. Of course, at this especial season of the year there is always a falling off in the attendance due to the arrival of the warm weather, but this years has been no worse than preceding ones, and owing to the rather cool spring and early summer the managers claim the decrease in attendance has not been as great as formerly.

Several theatres are suspending the matinee performances during the summer months, and one theatre at least has closed its doors entirely, until the arrival of the cool weather.

The closing of theatres for the warm weather gives the proprietors an opportunity to renovate and remodel their houses if they so desire. The Scenic Theatre on Bank street has had its lobby remodeled after the fashion of metropolitan houses, the result being a most pleasing one. The Garden Theatre on East Main street has also been entirely renovated both in the lobby and auditorium proper and a Mirroroid screen installed.

In addition to this remodeling, several new and up-to-date theatres have been constructed during the past year, notably the Carroll, the Star and the Princess. These motion picture theatres can seat as many as 1,000 and have spacious galleries. The old houses are of the long, single-decker type which are fast becoming obsolete. The newest of the theatres have frequently run vaudeville acts in connection with the photoplays, being equipped to put on such form of entertainment.

Think Ten Cents Is Maximum

The price of admission to all of Waterbury's motion picture theatres is five and ten cents, and every manager of a house in this city believes that this is the maximum admission the public will pay.

Last fall Carl F. Chapin, an editor on the Waterbury "American," took hold of the Garden Theatre, a Poli house, intending to show only the biggest of features. He announced the price as fifteen and twenty-five cents, but failed to make any kind of a success of the venture and relinquished the managership.

It was a case of giving in or starving, and he chose the former course.

In catering to the wants of their patrons, the exhibitors here, as everywhere else, have shown all kinds of films to "feel out" their audience. The Western reels have proven first-class drawing cards. The society films are rare in Waterbury, and managers do not care to exhibit the foreign films at all.

Comedy pictures are enjoying an unprecedented run just at present. Educational films are "fill-ins."

Features Are Extremely Popular

Feature productions are extremely popular, and one manager when interviewed expressed himself after this fashion: "If I could get enough five and six-reel features through the 'Association' and 'Universal,' I wouldn't run single reels."

Sensational features are not desired and the classical productions are seen infrequently. This same exhibitor when asked if he thought the time was coming when more features would be demanded, replied that the day was not far distant when nothing else would be shown.

However, while realizing the value of the big features, local managers are practically unanimous in declaring for a diversified program. Waterbury, they claim, is hardly large enough to support its many motion picture houses if only the large features are run.

The cost of these, they point out, would eat up all the profits, although features like "Ten Nights in a Barroom," and others from books which have a tremendous sale, have packed the houses here continually whenever exhibited. Old-fashioned love stories are other return producers.

No Departure from Daily Change

A daily change of program is in vogue in Waterbury, and there are no indications that this will be altered.

Motion picture men in discussing the probability of a three-change, two, or one each week, say that conditions must be taken into consideration and that a theatre now having a daily program can scarce revert to a three, two or single change a week.

The daily program, in their opinion, has revolutionized the motion picture industry. It is the direct outgrowth of the double and triple changes, they assert. Then again, they have found that the public likes the daily change, and as long as they patronize them the schedule will be kept up.

Public Wants Quality Rather than Quantity

The desirability of long program, such as seven and eight reels to a show, exhibitors aver, depends entirely upon the field. If one is conducting a large theatre, say seating 1,200, a single show an evening with seven or eight reels would be a profitable one.

With small motion picture houses, however, it is necessary that a much shorter program be given, the manager must fill his house once and a half or twice if he is going to have the balance on the right side of the ledger.

Then again, the public wants quality rather than quantity.

"You can't fool them," said one exhibitor, "by giving a long show that is stamped with the mark of cheapness. They would much prefer a short sweet program, and if you don't give it to them they are going where they can get it—the fellow across the street for instance."

While the theatres in Waterbury have made money, they had their ups and downs not infrequently. They have had to fight competition, commonly called "the life of trade." Two big vaudeville houses in this city, Poli's and Fox's, up to a short time ago gave seven reels of pictures and five acts in the afternoon for 5 and 10 cents.

Force Vaudeville Houses to Cut Programs

If the exhibitors did not go to great expense and secure the very cream of the market, eventually they would have gone to the wall. But they did and aided by a generous amount of advertising held their own and now that the vaudeville houses have cut their seven reels to two, things are running smoothly again.

Competition among the motion picture theatres themselves, that is those showing motion pictures and nothing else, strange to say, has not been very heavy. One house will run a feature to-day and another one the next so that all in all things are evenly balanced.

Then again, the public tries out the different houses, going to this house to-night and that one to-morrow evening and so on. They long for something new, theatres as well as pictures.

Praise For the Manufacturers

While pleased with their success during the past year motion picture managers, almost to a man, attribute a large amount of it to the manufacturers and have nothing but praise for them. They believe the manufacturers are striving at all times to give better pictures and are well content with their efforts thus far.

One such manager, however, did have a complaint to make regarding the rental charged by the film services. He said that in sending his daily program the company would substitute a serial for two of the regular runs and charge anywhere from $6 to $15 more. This, he thought, was an injustice.

When interrogated further relative to an increase in such service in the future, he stated that since the public is looking for better films the manufacturers will have to cater to them which means an expenditure of more money on their part which of course will react on the exhibitors.

His fellow exhibitors held practically the same view.

E. Christy Erk.

Nickel Reigns in Bridgeport; Daily Change Is Unpopular

Special to The Motion Picture News

Bridgeport, Conn., July 2.

ATTENDANCE at motion picture theatres in Bridgeport seems to have decreased with the approach of warm weather. All managers complain of reduced attendance and several houses have closed. On the other hand, three new airdomes have opened here.

One under the management of Thomas Patterson, former manager of the Empire Theatre, has a seating capacity of 1,000, and is soon to have a large dance pavilion in connection with it.

Some Feautres Bring Seventy-five Cents

The average price of admission in Bridgeport is five cents. Some houses get ten cents for evening performances, and some charge fifteen cents when big features are shown. Feature pictures which play the regular theatres at twenty-five, fifty and seventy-five cents all have done good business here in the past.

Bridgeport has some handsome motion picture theatres, most of them built with artistic interiors and exteriors. The population of Bridgeport is about 120,000, and there are nearly forty picture houses, with several more building. Several of the theatres have a seating capacity of more than 1,000 persons. A few only seat about 300 and are unsuccessful for that reason. The average seating capacity is between 600 and 700. All sorts of films, Western, society drama, foreign, comedy and educational are shown here, and all are well received. Feature productions are very popular here and most of the managers prefer them with reels of other character to diversify the program.

Only Few Houses Change Daily

Programs are changed daily in only a few of the theatres. In the majority the changes are three a week, and in some but two a week. Most programs have from six to seven reels.

Several theatres are closed because their seating capacity is so small they are not profitable. The Lenox in John street, the Maplewood in Maplewood avenue, and the Star in Newfield avenue are closed for this reason. The last named theatre has been remodeled for a club room, and is now occupied by a political club.

Competition is very keen in this city and for that reason several failures are attributed to this cause.

There have been no amalgamations to quell competition but several are reported. It is exceedingly difficult to substantiate these rumors, however. There has been no material increase in film service rentals here the past year. In fact some exhibitors claim they are receiving cheaper service than before.

Many Local Pictures Put On

Several exhibitors have had Bridgeport films made for exhibitions at their theatres. At the recent state parade of the Eagles here Thomas Patterson, then manager of the Empire Theatre, had a film made of the parade and after exhibiting it at his own theatre rented it out throughout the state in cities that had delegations in the parade.

Robert M. Sperry is exhibiting at the Lyric Theatre a six-reel photoplay written by himself and produced in Bridgeport in which some 10,000 Bridgeporters appear. For seventeen years past Mr. Sperry has written every year a play and produced it for a week's run as the closing event at the Park Theatre. His plays have always been acted by local amateurs and many who are now professionals appeared for the first time in one of the Sperry plays.

Robert M. Sperry Produces His Own Play

This year Mr. Sperry decided to vary his closing by writing and producing a motion picture play. It is called "Winning a Bride," or "One Mile of Bridgeport." The scenes were made at the baseball grounds, on several of the nearby beaches, in parks, and at factories where the employees were leaving for the day—and in many other places. Mr. Sperry also took in full the Memorial Day parade in which some 5,000 men and boys participated, and added this to his reels. Scenes of boating, canoeing, shooting, horseback riding and automobile racing are subjects among those shown. The pictures have played to capacity business every night thus far.

There is a golden field as yet undeveloped in Bridgeport among the big churches for such feature photoplays as "From the Manger to the Cross" and others.

J. B. Cargill.

OUTLOOK ENCOURAGING THROUGHOUT THE EAST

(Special to The Motion Picture News.)

Buffalo, N. Y., July 2.

GENERAL business conditions among the local film men during the past two months have been on the average quiet, because of the bad weather allotted to Buffalo. The evenings have been cool and wet with rain every other day. However, during the past week a change for the better has taken place and Old Sol has been bringing warmth and sunshine, with a consequent increase in audiences. This has been noticed particularly at the larger houses such as the Allendale, Elmwood and Strand, all of which have had capacity houses during the past week.

The average price of admission in the local houses is five cents, but many local film men think that the day of the five-cent house is about over, as they all predict an increase to ten cents. However, it is the consensus of opinion that the maximum price which local patrons will pay is ten cents, except for large attractions, such as the Kleine productions, which are being shown in legitimate houses at twenty-five and fifty cents.

Want Society, Comedy and Feature

The average seating capacity of the Buffalo houses is about 800, with a maximum of 1,800 in the Elmwood. There has been a decided increase in the number of theatres during the past six months, especially is this true of larger and more palatial houses. The Elmwood, Regent, Ellen Terry, New Victoria, Palace and Sun theatres are now in the course of construction and all have large seating capacity and beautiful interiors. Large organs are installed in all the new houses.

The kind of film most in demand is society and comedy, with educational a close second in the residential sections of the city, where parents take their children to see the films.

Feature productions are extremely popular locally, the demand being greater for really classical productions than sensational; and from present indications it looks as though exhibitors will demand more features. Many of the houses will in the fall adopt an exclusive feature policy, as exhibitors in many parts of the city are of the opinion that if they want to keep their audiences, they must show the better class of film.

Favor Three-a-Week Changes

There are indications that the daily change of program will be abandoned in favor of three changes a week, except in localities having a limited territory to draw upon and where new faces are seen every evening in the audience. This condition is found only in the five-cent houses.

Long programs are not desired. Six-reel features seem to be the limit with a one-reel comedy to close. Nothing over six reels has been shown in the motion picture theatres in Buffalo, except the Kleine attractions which have played legitimate theatres.

There has been remodeling done among the houses during the past year. Better ventilation systems have been installed in many of the theatres. Surroundings have been improved and handsome gardens laid out at many of the residential district houses. New lighting systems have been installed, and in several instances new seats installed.

Bad for Five-Cent Houses

From present indications it will not be long before many of the five-cent houses will have to discontinue business, because of the opening in the near future of larger houses in the immediate vicinity. With the opening of these houses showing big features and charging ten cents, it will be a miracle if any of the smaller houses survive. It is just a case of the larger houses crowding out the smaller.

Competition is extremely heavy in Buffalo, both with the exhibitor and the exchange man. In one instance there are three large theatres—the Lyric, Family and Olympic, within fifty feet of each other. Here will be a case of the survival of the fittest. The Lyric closed recently and the manager resigned, but last Wednesday it reopened with a policy of exclusively motion pictures. Formerly vaudeville was put on in connection with the pictures at the Lyric. Manager Walter Foster, of the Family, is now managing the Lyric.

Local Exhibitors Complain

There has been one very recent amalgamation of large theatres in order to quell competition. The case is that of the Elmwood and Allendale. The Elmwood is Buffalo's largest and most beautiful house devoted exclusively to motion pictures. The Allendale was recently bought by this company. Both theatres are in the Elmwood district.

Local exhibitors do not think that the manufacturers pay enough attention to their market. They say that the business of getting suitable films is becoming harder every day; in fact, the film service proposition is getting on the nerves of many of the local men.

Film service rentals during the past year have been increased at least thirty per cent, and a still further increase is prophesied. Many of the men will not be surprised if the increase amounts to fifty per cent before the end of the year.

Hopeful Outlook

The consensus of opinion among local exhibitors in regard to the future is, on the average, good. Buffalo is becoming a picture town in every sense of the word. So popular are the films becoming that many predict that before long motion pictures may become a purely domestic proposition, with a theatre "next door" for everybody. The outlying theatres are taking many patrons away from the downtown houses, the managers of which complain of a decrease in the evening audience. With the same films being shown in the outlying districts a few nights later, patrons are willing to wait, thereby saving their ten cents carfare and time, which is valuable to the tired business man, who does not relish a long trolley ride in the evening.

Many have been so enthusiastic over the future of pictures locally that they have predicted the turning over of the legitimate houses to pictures. Such a prophecy is not without reason, from present conditions, for the legitimate houses have a hard time attracting audiences, while the motion picture houses have a hard time finding seats for their patrons. Many predict that the coming fall and winter will be one of the busiest in years. Many new and larger houses will open their doors on September 1, with feature policies and increased admission prices, although not more than two will go above ten cents. The Palace will charge twenty-five and fifty cents, but this will be for eight and nine-reel productions.

The Palace is controlled by Mitchel H. Mark, who will bring the films from the Strand, New York, to the Palace in Buffalo.

Extensive Plans for the Fall

In the smaller towns of western New York, houses are springing up in great numbers. The Mark-Brock theatrical enterprises are erecting theatres in many of the western New York towns. Olean, N. Y., and Erie, Pa., will have Mark houses.

In the residential districts there are several palatial theatres which report very satisfactory business. All are clamoring for films, better films and first-run films, and in fact the film service problem in the fall promises to be a big proposition for many of the theatres.

As a whole the business in Buffalo is satisfying everybody and all are making pretentious plans for the fall.

CHARLES B. TAYLOR.

Albany Exhibitors Lack Business-Increasing Methods

(Special to THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS.)

Albany, July 3.

"COMPETITION is the life of trade" is an old adage, and it is being practised in Albany, but this same adage is going to be the cause of many of the smaller houses going out of business. In Albany at present there are twenty-five picture houses, four of which are open-air affairs. This does not include the Colonial or Proctor's Theatre, which combine vaudeville and pictures. This is an increase of five houses over last year.

These houses average in seating capacity from 300 to 1,000, and all at present seem to be doing very well. How long this will last is hard to state, as many experts claim that in a year or two the picture business will be divided among the large houses, the smaller theatres being closed up. The reason for this, those experts claim, is competition.

The smaller houses are trying to give the public as much as the larger places for less money. They think by doing this they can draw from the larger theatres, but they are all wrong. A few months ago the houses of Albany were satisfied to give three or four reels for five cents, now they are giving six reels for the same money. On a couple of nights each week they have a ten-cent night, known as a special feature night, and on this night, in addition to their regular program, they give a three or four-reel feature.

Ready to Pay Twenty-five Cents

No matter how hard they try, these smaller houses can not give two shows a night, and give them right. The larger theatres have the advantage inasmuch as one capacity house will give a profit, This is sure to be the downfall of many of the small theatres.

The people of Albany are very peculiar, but not hard to suit. If they are shown good things they are willing to pay for it. Although the general admission to the Albany houses are five and ten cents, the citizens would not kick if it were more. A theatre playing only the best films and charging twenty-five cents admission would make a big hit, as it would draw from the best class of people.

It is almost certain that the price of admission will have to go up, as in addition to there being an increase of twenty-five per cent on films over last year, help and everything else connected with the business has taken a jump. "Play to twenty-five-cent admission, showing three reels of film, with a two or three-reel feature," should be the slogan of the Albany showmen.

Albanians do not want six or eight-reel features, although Mary Pickford and her features always play to capacity. The serial stuff is anything but a success. When the Kathlyn and Pauline series first started, they were house-fillers, but now the people are tired of them. To see part of a picture one week, and the next part two weeks later, is anything but pleasing to the Albany picture-goers.

People Like Variety

A varied program goes well in Albany. Each class of films has its followers. Western dramas go well with all, especially with the younger generation. A Western drama featuring Anderson as Broncho Billy, makes a hit with the young women. Anderson is a regular matinee idol, but no more than Francis X. Bushman. The films in which the latter is featured always draw the crowds. The newsy films, such as Pathe's Weekly and the Hearst-Selig Weekly, are good drawing cards. There is no room for the foreign stuff whatsoever. Society dramas are coming into their own and in a month or so will surpass all others as drawing cards.

There is hardly a city in the country that is a better motion picture town than Albany. Everyone of the picture houses are modern in every respect. The building laws with which each has to conform makes them all absolutely fireproof. There has not been a complaint about any of them in over a year, as every manager is doing his utmost to make his theatre just as the authorities would have it.

Both the General and the Universal companies are handling the programs of these theatres, each getting an even share of the business. The managers of both companies are satisfied that the daily changes have come to stay, although they admit that there are some films that would draw for at least three days.

The Albany managers are doing absolutely nothing to increase their business. There is one or two who realize that an advertisement once in a while helps some. It is not only the newspapers that are neglected, but other advertising methods as well. The managers of the film agencies are doing their utmost to inject ginger and snap into these house owners, but up to the present time have been unsuccessful.

Houses Need More Advertising

If these houses can make money without advertising for it, what would happen if a live wire struck the town and opened up a house? This is a question that is going the rounds, and there is just one answer. He would clean up a great deal. There is a chance for some good show man in Albany. If he came here with a few up-to-date methods, used the newspapers once in a while, and act alive, he would soon be able to retire.

Give the Albanians what they want, but let them know that you are going to give it to them, and they will crowd the theatres. There are many subscribers to the various motion picture publications in this city, and oftimes they read of some film that has been released. They wait and wait for some announcement of it being shown, but that announcement never comes and they never see the film.

Yes, there could be many improvements in the motion picture world of Albany, and the managers should help the film agencies in bringing them about.

A. Sayles.

Unprecedented Prosperity in Wilkes-Barre; Optimism Rampant

(Special to The Motion Picture News.)

Wilkes-Barre, July 2.

WHETHER industrial depression throughout the country is actual or psychological, this economic problem is not taking up much of the time of the motion picture exhibitors of Wilkes-Barre and the contiguous territory embraced in the Wyoming Valley. Exhibitors here have been too busy making money to worry about federal administrations and affairs of state.

Never Before So Prosperous

At no time in the history of the industry has business been so prosperous. Motion pictures have just come through the melting pot, stronger and more powerful than before the test. In the city of Wilkes-Barre, with its 70,000 population, and a quarter of a million within a radius of ten miles, there is not a legitimate theatre doing business, and only one vaudeville house, and that a ten cent admission, with half its bill motion pictures.

This leaves the amusement harvest to be reaped by the proprietors of the silent dramas. And going to a well known advertised cereal for an expression, "There's a Reason."

Field Left Entirely to Motion Pictures

The Grand Opera House, booked by the Shuberts with legitimate drama, closed early this spring and substituted a stock company. The latter lingered for a month and expired. The Nesbitt Theatre, a "pop" vaudeville house closed in the middle of last season.

Before the winter had ended the Majestic, another "three-a-day" closed its doors. The Poli vaudeville house cut its price to five and ten, chopped off some of the variety acts, threw in several reels of pictures, featuring the reels in their advertising.

The Family Theatre and the Princess Theatre in Pittston, twelve minutes distant, struggled and battled, but they gave up the ghost before the season started on its last lap. This left the entire amusement field to the motion pictures.

It was a survival of the fittest—the crucible into which all forms of pastimes were thrown indiscriminately and the motion picture entertainment and instruction emerging unscathed and invulnerable.

Twenty-five Cents Too Much

The subject of appealing to the masses brings to mind the question of admission. Most exhibitors charge five cents day and night. About three get ten cents for after supper attendance.

And let it be positively asserted here that ten cents is the maximum pressure that can be placed on the patrons. The Alhambra, one of the best paying houses in the city encouraged the owners to open another and more pretentious house.

The Alhambra was neglected in the effort to switch the patronage to the new place. When it was discovered that the Alhambra had slipped too far, a new policy was inaugurated.

Lasky's productions were tried at twenty-five cents. Nobody paid it. Then the same kind of programs were tried at fifteen cents. The same result. Finally ten cents straight was tried. But it wouldn't work.

After the Nesbitt closed its vaudeville policy, kinemacolor at twenty-five cents was tried. And a failure resulted. When the Majestic vacated the variety field, ten and fifteen cent admission programs were installed.

But the patrons were a unit in their determination to keep the price to the sum that made them the people's favorite. The lesson of maximum admission has been well sent home to exhibitors here.

Serials Do Not Appeal to the Majority

The sudden switch to serials by the manufacturers is causing not a little complaint. Serials are not relished here by the exhibitors. They complain that day after day they see their patrons come to the theatre, look at one of the serials on the lithographs and then turn away.

Investigation shows that the people do this not so much because they dislike the serial per se, but because they have probably missed one or two of the last ones shown, and fear they cannot get the benefit of the performance that day.

The most popular productions are the comedies. Like babies for a certain kind of nostrum, they "cry for it." The semi-sensational feature is in great demand. The really classic productions are poor box office attractions.

It must be borne in mind that here in the heart of the anthracite coal region, and in the great industrial state of Pennsylvania, the heterogeny of population with a predominance of Southern Europe immigrants, eliminates an appreciation of the latter type of films. The foreign productions, singular to note, receive only ordinary favor. The society drama merits good attendance, the Western is becoming passé, while the educational film is appreciated by only a small percentage of the patrons.

Despite the growth in popularity of the features, the exhibitors generally desire a diversified program. No story should be more than three reels if produced to satisfy the exhibitor.

With a production extending beyond this limit the performance runs too long, and there is no chance for getting spectators who have spent two hours at the first night show at an opposition house in for the second show in another house when programs are long drawn out.

The patron finds it is getting late and under the impression that the next show will be as long, usually goes home or at any rate fails to take in another performance.

Three-Reel Feature as a Headliner

The exhibitor figures that with a three reel feature as a headliner, he can rush through a program in not much longer than an hour, clear out his house and fill again, sending away his patrons better satisfied with a diversified performance rather than with two stories. The proprietors fix the maximum at six reels for one program.

Complaint is also made against the producer by the exhibitor for the absolute carelessness or indifference shown the latter in the type of films booked to their houses.

When an especially good reel makes a hit, the exhibitor claims the bookings do not indicate a desire nor a consideration to repeat with a similar film. The grievance is presented that any kind of show, no matter what its character or description, is sent to them, regardless of the variety that takes well in their particular houses.

Policy of Six New Bills a Week

There is no indication that a change in policy regarding the daily change of program is coming. The present system of six new bills a week is going to remain for a long time to come.

Theatres here are on the whole exemplary. The new state regulations have been anticipated for a year or more, and exhibitors have kept ahead of the restrictions placed upon them by Pennsylvania statutes. The average seating capacity is about 400.

Ample exits are provided, the ventilation is good as a whole, and special efforts are made by the management to add tone to their houses. Uniformed attaches are the rule, and politeness toward patrons is constantly drilled into the employes. In some local theatres the ticket takers are compelled to say "Thank you" to every person handing them their admission card.

Sunday performances are of course not permitted, but many of the exhibitors take advantage of Sunday nights to run special shows to invited guests, including newspapermen and thus getting advance advertising on programs that will be released the following Monday or during the coming week.

These private exhibitions are well attended by those engaged in other theatres, with their families, and the stunt acts as a sort of reunion of local motion picture employes.

Only One Theatre Fails to Make Money

While competition is heavy and keen as compared with other communities, there is now but one theatre, centrally located and capable of bidding for exalted prestige, that seems in danger of collapsing. The trouble with this house, however, is internal, rather than a depression in general attendance. Constant shifts in management and policy and inability of those directing its destinies to feel the pulse of the people is largely responsible for its proximity to the referee in bankruptcy.

The film exchange managers are a unit in expressing the belief that the coming fall will prove the biggest season in their connection with the trade. Exhibitors complain, however, that there has been a constant shift upwards in the film retail charges with nearly all the manufacturers.

Only two or three of the larger concerns have not increased their rates during the last year.

There is no talk or anticipation of amalgamating smaller theatres under one management, although several have plans in preparation for increased seating capacity to accommodate the night attendances.

The motion picture business here generally revels in an optimistic atmosphere and prosperity and automobiles for the exhibitors are the commonplaces of the trade.

JOSEPH F. FORESTAL.

Opinions Conflict in Quaker City; Renters'-Stanley Fight Vital

Special to THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS.

Philadelphia, July 1.

AFTER a careful survey of the trade conditions in Philadelphia it is hard to say exactly what is what in a few words. In some points we hear that business is as well as can be expected considering the season. Others report that it is rotten.

The recent upheaval in the personnel of the local General Film branch has resulted in many dissatisfied customers and has been of great benefit to Mutual, Universal and Greater New York. The "small feature" men have also profited, though not as much as the two independent exchanges.

The Mutual reports that business is better, considering the season of the year, than they had hoped for. They say that the business measures fully up to what it was at this time last year, and that this time nearly every run is filled.

The Mutual still holds to the time-honored "lock" system, that relic of bygone days.

The Continental Feature Film Company and Syndicate Film Company, both Mutual offshoots, report that outside of about a dozen of the big houses business is very quiet.

"The Million-Dollar Mystery" started off with quite a flourish, and on this they report fairly good bookings. The company itself is doing much local newspaper advertising, even running to half pages in the dailies. This has proven to be a good thing for both exchange and exhibitor.

"Business Only Fair," Says G. F.

At General Film, business is reported as "only fair," that favorite slogan for "damning with faint praise." The Kathlyn series still seems to be holding favor, with the new Alice Joyce serial going fairly well. On service, as remarked above, they have lost considerable trade, but they expect it to swing back gradually.

The Greater New York Film Rental Company summarize present conditions in three words, "Very —— rotten." You are at liberty to fill in the dash line for yourself.

World Film say that they have no kick coming, considering the weather, and that they have advance bookings for July and August which will make things comfortable for them.

The Eastern Booking Offices are getting by with a quantity of small features and with George Kleine stuff. "The Drug Terror" and "Smashing the Vice Trust" are booked solid well into July.

The Famous Players are running a series of "Famous Player Weeks" at the larger houses, and reports seem to indicate that this is drawing some money for the exhibitor.

Beneficial Reaction Soon, Say Warner's Men

Warner's Features say that, while the condition in general seems to be bad, they are not affected as much as some of the others. Their percentage of decrease is less than is reported by some of the smaller feature concerns. The opinion of the manager is that the present slump will react for the benefit of the entire business.

The exhibitor, of course, feels the first brunt of any adverse condition, and in Philadelphia you cannot find one today who is not complaining of the lack of trade. The hot spell of the last week has hurt everybody very seriously, and even the airdomes are not doing as much business as might be expected.

For some reason, which no one seems to be able to explain, business at the picture theatres has been worse since January 1 than it was before. The explanation no doubt lies in the number of new theatres which have opened since that time and which have caused a division of the normal trade.

At the present time many of the small houses have closed their doors, ostensibly for the summer, but some of them will never reopen. Of the few that do open again it will be a survival of the fittest, and next season will see their final demise.

The fact that a man has a small house will not count so much as will the fact of whether or not he is a "small" exhibitor. To use theatrical parlance, the "small-time" man who runs a dirty, foul-smelling, poorly ventilated and generally ill-managed house will be eliminated along with the feature man who sells "junk" features.

Many of the houses which have closed up are the relics of the early days, being mostly converted "store shows." In one or two instances where the houses have been closed their former proprietors are building in the vicinity and will have large and pretentious houses.

Renters' Fight with Stanley

One of the interesting features of the present situation is the battle between the Stanley Booking Company on the one hand and the Film Renters' Protective Association on the other.

The Stanley Booking Company, according to their published advertisements, desires to book for individual houses at a reduction in price of features because they claim that by buying a number of runs of features that they can get them at prices 10 to 20 per cent less than individual bookings would cost.

It is the old co-operative idea, with modifications. For the booking services and to cover overhead, they charge the exhibitor booking through them 10 per cent. It apparently assumes also to pay the exhibitor's bills for him promptly, too.

But like all "well-laid plans of mice and men" they "gang aft agley." The fly in the ointment this time is that they want to charge the feature man another 10 per cent for booking his show after he has given them a quantity price for a number of runs.

And here the Film Renters have stepped in and say that they will not book to any house THROUGH the Stanley Company, but will book direct such houses as may be so affiliated directly through the individual managements.

It now remains to be seen which will win. If the Film Renters can hold their organization together they will win. If there are individual desertions it spells failure for them.

JULIAN M. SOLOMON, JR.

Eliminate Cutthroat Methods in Harrisburg; Theatres Increase

Special to THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS.

Harrisburg, Pa., July 2.

THE healthful condition of the motion picture business in Harrisburg is aptly indicated by a statement made by a prominent theatre manager who said that 15 per cent of the whole population of the city are regular attendants at the picture shows, and that the percentage is likely to be increased to 20 per cent of the city's 84,000 souls within the coming year.

Number of Theatres Increasing

So great has been the success of the business in this city that, although there are now a dozen theatres, with an average seating capacity of from 600 to 700, including three or four that seat 1,000 or more, there are now five additional theatres that will seat about one thousand each, either under construction or about to be started.

The only danger seems to be that the addition of these five theatres, which will increase the total seating capacity by about 5,000, will temporarily cut into the business of the existing houses to some extent.

Ten Reels a Day at a Loss

Through an organization just effected among the owners of practically all the motion picture houses in Harrisburg, the most serious menace to the picture business in Harrisburg—cutthroat competition—has practically been eliminated.

Some of the theatres in the central business district found that they were losing money during the last two months by pursuing the policy of running six to ten reels a day in the keen competition to get business away from their rivals, and by adopting the expedient of putting on brand-new feature reels with the same end in view.

This ran up the cost of reel rentals to such an extent that in some instances expenditures were in excess of receipts. Under the organization agreement recently effected, however, it was agreed to limit the number of reels to three or four a day.

Standardize Prices

It was also agreed among the members of the organization to standardize the price of admittance at five cents in all houses where the vaudeville feature is not included, charging ten cents only on Saturday nights and for special feature performances. In the one large house in which vaudeville is offered in addition to pictures, the daily admittance fee is ten cents, with fifteen cents for Saturdays and special occasions.

With the elimination of the cutthroat methods referred to the picture men of Harrisburg are satisfied that all of the houses now in operation will do a paying business even during the dull summer months.

There is little prospect that there will be any departure from the above prices of admittance in the immediate future.

The comedy and drama type of picture appears to be the most popular with Harrisburg patrons, although the expensive feature films that were put on during the height of the rivalry, before the managers organized, attracted big crowds. Sensational films and the really classical productions are about equally popular. It is likely that the demand for feature films will not be so great since the cutthroat competition has been eliminated.

Daily Neighborhood Changes

It has been the policy of the local theatres to change the reels every day, and this policy appears likely to be adhered to except possibly in the central part of the city, where the theatres appeal more strongly to transient patrons than do the theatres in the outlying or residential districts, where the same people attend the theatres night after night.

Long programs, including seven or eight reels, are not necessary in the opinion of the managers who take the view that the presentation of three or four-reel shows will benefit the business because persons who attend a show of that length in many cases will visit a second theatre the same day.

Negligent Express Deliveries

There has been no very great amount of remodeling of motion picture theatres in the last year. No theatres have been compelled to discontinue business; in fact, the tendency has been in the direction of increasing the number in the city, as indicated by the above-mentioned fact that five new houses are under construction.

The managers here generally feel that the manufacturers take good care of this market, although there have been some complaints of carelessness in deliveries of films on time, which in most instances, however, can be traced to oversights on the part of the express companies.

Film rentals have remained practically unchanged here in the last year save during the period, now past, when the rivalry was so great that managers were paying fancy prices to get the best features available.

Censorship Burden

There is a prospect, however, that rentals may be increased to some extent by the manufacturers in this state as a result of the new Pennsylvania censorship law, which went into effect June 1 last, which requires manufacturers to pay $2.50 for each film submitted to the board of censors for approval.

The manufacturers, under this law, also must stand the expense of displaying the pictures for the censors' approval. The theatre men believe part of this extra expense may be saddled upon them. The law, however, is being tested in the courts as to its constitutionality, and in the meantime is practically ineffective.

V. H. Berghaus, Jr.

Business Good in Elizabeth; Long Programs Are in Demand

Special to The Motion Picture News.

Elizabeth, N. J., July 1.

WHEN an average of 65,000 persons each week attend motion picture shows in a city of less than 80,000 inhabitants, the motion picture business can be said to be fairly good—if there are not too many theatres.

Statistics compiled from information given out by the managers of Elizabeth's picture houses show that more than 10,000 persons patronize the theatres every day.

There are eight houses in the city devoted exclusively to the silent drama. There are also three airdomes and another large theatre which shows films in conjunction with vaudeville.

Calamity Cries Are Not Warranted

Some of the local motion picture men are kicking because business is bad, but investigation shows that they are doing little or nothing to get it. Business is gravitating to the men who are hustling for it and they are optimistic.

The motion picture business here is as peculiar as the city itself. About half of the theatres here are downtown and the rest uptown. The downtown population contains a large element of factory workers and foreigners who have to be reached in a different way from the people uptown, most of whom are New York commuters.

During the last month, there has been unusual activity in the amusement business here, caused by the opening of three open air places and of a new house with a roof garden annex. The newcomers are fighting for business and the men at the old stands are struggling to hold what they already have. Business, naturally, has fallen off somewhat with the arirval of warm weather.

Scale Fixed at Five and Ten Cents

In nearly every amusement house in the city five and ten cent prices prevail, and there is no immediate prospect of any advance in this scale. The houses have to compete with a big Proctor theatre offering both vaudeville and feature pictures at a ten-cent admission and this tends to keep down the prices in the smaller houses.

Photoplay goers here pay twenty cents on occasion, but they pay it under protest. One house tried running big features one day a week and raising its prices on that day, but the plan didn't work.

Audiences in the down-town section demand slap-stick comedy, thrillers, and wild-and-woolly Western pictures, while the taste of up-town movie fans runs strongly to society and comedy films with historical or educational interest. Educational films by themselves fall flat.

Strong Cry for Good Features

There is a strong cry for good feature pictures. The presentation of a Famous Players' production is a guarantee for a full house in the up-town theatres.

The managers believe that the demand for features will grow greater as time goes on. The people are being educated to look for big things and are disappointed if they don't get them.

But diversified programs are in order, and even big features are seldom booked without an additional reel or two to vary the entertainment.

While daily changes are being made now in every house in the city, it is likely that the bigger theatres will tend toward a split week, making two, or perhaps three, changes. Competition is so strong among the smaller theatres that to show the same picture more than one day would be suicidal, no matter what the subject was.

People Demand Seven-Reel Programs

Seven-reel shows are demanded. The people have been educated to expect a lengthy entertainment. One or two houses are running eight-reel performances and two places down-town are showing twelve reels.

Many of the theatre-goers here would stick in their seats all night, if there were no repetition in the pictures.

It is very unlikely that any of the local motion picture theatres will discontinue business. None of them are losing money, and the city is growing so rapidly and transportation facilities into the suburbs are being so improved that trade will increase rather than drop off.

Competition is keen among the smaller theatres. Some of the managers have complained about the "bicycling" of films, which has been prevalent recently.

The manager of one of the biggest theatres in the city—a house which seats about 1,200 persons—is of the opinion that the manufacturers have not kept close enough watch on the pulse of the film-loving public. "But they are beginning to wake up," he added, "although there is still room for improvement." This man has cut out Western films and thrillers almost entirely from his bills.

Business Fair, Construction Slow

Summed up briefly, the moving picture business here is fair. Three large moving picture houses have opened up here during the last year and three open-airs have just been started for the summer.

There are enough places to take care of the business for the next year, at least, and it is improbable that any more theatres will be erected before 1916. None of the moving picture men are buying new limousines, but on the other hand none of them expect to be confined to a diet of snowballs next winter.

J. W. Hawkins.

HIGHER PRICES MOVEMENT AROUND THE CAPITAL

Special to The Motion Picture News

Baltimore, July 2.

PERSISTENT efforts are being made in Baltimore by some of the leading exhibitors to start a general movement to advance the price of admission to ten cents for motion picture theatres. Thus far the proposition has been unsuccessful.

The prevailing motion picture theatre admission is five cents and exhibitors seem reluctant to make a radical change at this time. A few days ago at a meeting of the Baltimore members of the Maryland branch of the Motion Picture Exhibitors League of America, a motion was made to advance prices. The suggestion was thoroughly discussed but up to the present no action has been taken.

Trying to Boost the Admission

As a matter of fact, it is doubtful if there will be concerted action on this subject. Last fall, several of the larger houses in the shopping district on Lexington street agreed to charge ten cents.

The plan was tried out for several months but later abandoned. One of the theatres continued to hold to the price and is getting ten cents to this day.

Another large house discontinued the advanced price on account of not being able to secure sufficiently high-grade film subjects, notwithstanding the fact that the theatre was the only subscriber to an exclusive film service. The exclusive service was abandoned and a regular service substituted.

Within the last two months, however, the latter house has been booking classical productions featuring stars of the legitimate stage who appear before the camera. The plan has been a great success and the management will continue upon their present policy, and ten cents admission is being again charged.

Just what the outcome of the picture proposition will be is still problematical. The exhibitors, in order to satisfy the public taste for better pictures, are compelled to improve their programs, and it now costs the exhibitors according to the standing of their theatre from $25 to $50 per week more at the present time than the corresponding time last year.

They are getting no more money from their patrons, and in fact in many locations, owing to the building of newer and larger theatres, the competition is keener than before.

From the present outlook there will be in the future two separate and distinct classes of motion picture theatres in Baltimore, the ten-cent and the five-cent house. Indications are that the large houses—those seating 350 to 500—will charge ten cents, while the smaller houses, those seating from 150 to 300, will remain at five cents.

There are only two of the larger houses, as before mentioned, that charge ten cents regularly, but a number of others are conducting feature day, one or two days in the week, when the higher price of admission is charged. It looks as though the latter houses will gradually develop into the regular ten-cent class. It will be necessary for the latter to present the better-class features, four, five and six-reel products, however, in order to maintain their lead.

Not So Many Double Reels

There will always be the single and double-reel five-cent house, however, as there is a big demand for the shorter reels in the business section. Many of the exhibitors, particularly those who cater to the business man, are clamoring for fewer double reels and more single reels.

The latter class of theatres are numerous in the downtown section of Baltimore. Many business men or women stop in to see pictures for half an hour, or an hour, and have no time to witness a long production. Several exhibitors do a very profitable business catering to this class of patrons alone.

Society and Comedy Plays

Good comedies and society dramas are by far preferred by the Baltimore public. Westerns, while in demand in the residential sections mostly, are not as popular as they were even a year ago, while foreign dramas if really worth while are very well received. Educational films are not very popular. There has been a growing demand in this city for feature productions, and this demand is steadily increasing.

Baltimore is by far a much more promising field for the feature man to-day than last year, or for any year since the picture business won popular favor.

Business Good Until May 1

General business conditions in the motion picture field were very satisfactory up to May 1st. Seemingly in sympathy with business depression in mercantile lines, there has been a decided slump in the last two months.

It is true that several weeks of excessive warm weather lessened the attendance at the picture theatres, but pleasant, or even cool, afternoons and evenings fail to bring out the average quota of film followers.

A slump in business is always looked for in June or July, but this year it was far more extensive and came much earlier than was expected. It really caught the exhibitor off his guard.

Several theatres in the residential sections usually close during the hot months. This year they began to close about the middle of June. Not only did they close earlier, but many more will probably close this year than in 1913 or 1912.

Some of these houses are for sale, and it is indeed a question whether some of them will open in the fall or for some time to come.

Good Feeling Among Exhibitors

The organization of the exhibitors, particularly the most advanced exhibitors about a year ago, was a big factor in wiping out much competition, particularly in the houses in the center of the city.

Among the latter exhibitors there is now almost universally a feeling of kindly interest and good followship. An example of this occurred a few months ago when one of the popular houses was disappointed in not getting its show.

Another house, one-half block away, the nearest to the unfortunate exhibitor, offered its show in order that the patrons of the first house would not be disappointed in the performance. The two houses for the entire morning ran the same show.

This spirit continues to exist among most of the exhibitors in the center of the city. In the outlying section the competition is much more keen.

The large majority of the five-cent houses give four reels each performance.

Nine Reels for a Nickel

In some cases, where competition is at its height an exhibitor will offer six reels and in some cases as high as nine reels for a nickel. The latter, however, are seldom members of the exhibitors' league. Another example of undesirable competition came to light when on one of the large business streets in the eastern section of the city, one exhibitor cut his price for large children to two cents per admission. Fortunately, the class of film available which would allow such cutting was so poor that the practice was short-lived. There is still, however, rather keen competition in the sections outside the shopping and business centers.

The daily change of program is the rule in Baltimore. While a few would like to see a return of the twice-a-week or three-times-a-week change of bill the great majority stands for six shows. This has been caused by the great increase in the production during the last year or two. There is such a large variety of film now being made that it would be impossible for an exhibitor to get the bulk of the best pictures released and hold a show two or more days.

Want Fewer but Better Pictures

It frequently occurs that a show one day is much inferior to that of the preceding day, but the exhibitor can not afford, under present conditions, to hold a show for two days and keep abreast of the times. It is the consensus of opinion that the manufacturer is sacrificing quantity to quality.

The exhibitor feels that he is forced, in self-protection, to make daily changes, but there is hardly one who would not by far prefer to have fewer pictures released and a better quality of story told.

Serials Strong Pullers

Exchange managers favor multiple reel productions with a few single reels. Practically all of them are strong for the serial picture. Up-to-date serials have been well received in Baltimore, and have been big money-makers. "Kathlyn" made money for every exhibitor who handled it. "Perils of Pauline" is pulling very well for those who have booked it, although there has been one cancellation. The "Andy" and "Mary Fuller" series are being followed most satisfactorily.

The exchange reports that the showing of "Lucille Love" is most gratifying and that many claim it is the best drawing card on the program. The booking on the "Million Dollar Mystery" in Baltimore has been extensive.

The serial proposition just at present is very favorable as an entirety. The feeling, is, however, that the market has all it can hold.

There has been fear expressed that there is danger of an over-production of serials, and with any more coming on the market before those now running have been concluded, there is apt to be a change in public favor.

A. F. Gillaspey.

Capital Exchanges Are Busy; Put Hope of Future in Features

Special to The Motion Picture News.

Washington, D. C., July 1.

OWING to the seceding of Pathé and Kleine from the ranks of the General Film Company, and the rumor that others may follow their example, some disturbance in film circles is noted in the National Capital.

There is a tendency to be close-mouthed on the situation, as the exchanges seem to have some such orders from the home offices and the managers affected are reticent until they settle their own programs. It is asserted by some that "There is more war on Ninth street than in Mexico," but as yet it is only in a smouldering state. Besides Washington is noted for settling film disturbances in a rather quiet unsensational way.

The man most concerned, S. J. Mayer, manager of the local General Film office, refuses to make any statement, admitting that such are his orders. Referring to Pathé leaving the ranks, he said:

"That was no material loss to us, as the Pathé photoplays were not very popular in this section. Their scenics are always good, of course." And this is the sentiment of exhibitors here.

Regarding the secession of Kleine and the rumor about the others, Mr. Mayer said simply, "I do not know. We have received no such word to that effect. Many groundless statements are made."

Report Defections from General Film

At all events, certain managers have discontinued General Film service and others contemplate doing so.

This is particularly significant in two houses of the Brylawski chain of theatres, for the Brylawski contingent has always been the closest adherents to and probably the biggest customers of the General Film Company. No statement could be secured at present from Mr. Brylawski at this time.

The public places the cause of the decline of the General Film Service to the trite plots of the photoplays. A prominent patron of the motion picture, in no way connected with the industry, made this statement:

"Certain companies under the 'G. F.' banner are relying too much on the mechanical side of the motion picture industry, on beautiful photography, tricks, sensational situations, and accessories for their success and are not giving sufficient thought to the drama itself.

"Perhaps they are resting on past glories—for these same companies had them in the past. The public has become more particular now and demands a good logical story with all the arts and crafts of the industry added, too." Perhaps there is some truth in these remarks.

"As Busy as We Can Be," Says Mutual Man

Interviewing B. C. Cunningham, manager of the Mutual Film Corporation, he said: "We are just as busy as can be, and are happy in our rush and long hours. We have added several new houses to our lists, new ones that are just entering the motion picture arena, and the Hippodrome and the Colonial, which have just seceded from the General Film Service.

"We find that the manager of the five-cent theatre who permits us to arrange his program with one feature and two single reels, including a comedy, is thoroughly satisfied and the public is satisfied with such a show for the price. Really, we have all the Mutual releases so booked now that I scarcely know how we would accommodate a new customer."

A. Dresner, manager of the Washington Film Exchange, handling the Universal program, was in the midst of arranging display advertising for the new serial, "The Tray of Hearts," when I entered, but he permitted interruption, as usual. This serial, by the way, will run in the Washington Herald simultaneously with its screen appearances.

Naturally serials became our first topic, and Mr. Dresner admitted that they were losing in popularity with the public. That seems to be the universal sentiment.

Tendency Toward Single Reels Again

Mr. Dresner was of the opinion that there is a tendency for the return of the single-reel drama. "This is due to the padding practised by some manufacturers to increase the number of feet. To weed out this, the single reel is the only alternative. Much can be put into such a drama without tiring the spectators. With the advent of hot weather and the closing of some of the houses and the opening of air-domes this office has not been affected, because most of these open-air parks are controlled by the managers who have closed their houses. In most cases it is simply a change of the locale of the program."

Contrary to Mr. Dresner's statements, Mr. Robb, house manager of Moore's Garden Theatre, had this to say about features:

"There is no doubt whatever that the future of the motion picture as an entertainment lies in the feature plays. Everything points that way. It is the highest expression of all the arts that go to make the industry. Even the five-cent house must include a feature in its daily program.

"Of course, I'll admit that it takes time, labor and expense to produce features—that are features—and it is best accomplished by companies who devote themselves exclusively to such work. Not many may be released in a year and the small house with its daily change of show could not live on such an offering. So the single reel has its place and its demand as well."

Features Will Make Future of Films

Tom Moore voices the same sentiments, adding, "Do you suppose President Wilson and the officials of the Administration would have given such recognition to 'Cabiria' had it not been a feature—and eleven reels, at that? Would they have sat through an exhibition of eleven single reels? Never! That is the surest proof of the significance of the future feature play."

Harry Crandall, manager of Crandall's Theatre, expresses the same belief. His house is one of our big feature theatres which caters to society folks and is always well patronized. It is sometimes called the "Tuxedo Theatre" since its ushers and manager meet the patrons in such attire.

The fact that the office of Warner's Features, under the management of Sydney B. Lust, is a very busy distributing point practically demonstrates the popularity of the feature. It is admitted that there is a decided falling off of calls for multi-reels of foreign manufacture.

Foreign Films on Decline, Says Warner Man

The sensation, sentiment, and action are not quite in accord with American taste. With the recent increase in features of our own manufacture there is ample supply on the market to curtail the foreign products of mediocre value. Speaking on this point, Mr. Lust said, "To demonstrate the decline of the foreign feature film in the American market, I might say that we release less than half a dozen in a year."

Questioning Mr. Lust regarding the present unsettled conditions of the General Film Company, he remarked, "Oh, yes, it has brought added business to our office. Some of the seceding manufacturers will join our ranks, but I am not at liberty to give the names at present.

"The exhibitor is the cause of our existence, and it is our business and policy to cater to his demands and to give him an honest and reasonable deal. The exchange that does not do this may expect to lose out sooner or later. In Washington, with its many theatres with changing programs, there is room for all exchanges with good service."

THEODORE FRANKLIN.

Bad Business Methods the Cause of Pessimism in Virginia

Special to THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS.

Norfolk, Va., June 22.

IN this section of the country the general business for the past two months from the exhibitor's view has been very bad. This is partly due to depreciation in business in general, and also because of a lack of unity and business methods employed by the exhibitor.

At present five cents is the average price of admission to motion picture theatres here.

Exhibitors Look for Increase Over Ten Cents

It is the belief that there will be a gradual increase in admissions by the better class of houses. Ten cents is about the maximum price the public will pay.

Most of the motion picture theatres have a capacity of from two hundred and fifty to three hundred; although the tendency is for better and larger places. There has been a decrease in the number of theatres since last year.

The films mainly in demand are those of a comedy, society and educational nature. The western drama also seems to have a number of devotees.

Features in Big Demand

Real features, such as Famous Players, the All Star casts, etc., are popular with the better class of patrons, and the classical in demand rather than the sensational. The better class of features only are gradually but surely making their way to the front ranks of motion picturedom. The future is certain to demand a place for both the real big features for classicals as well as for a diversified program to suit the classes.

There will continue to be need of a daily change for a diversified program in some of the theatres, while a good production properly featured will be good for several days' showing.

Long programs necessitating seven or eight reels do not seem to be desired in this section. Five or six reels for a feature program and three reels for a diversified program satisfy the public.

There has been very little remodeling done here during the past year and little seems to be projected.

Fully fifty per cent of the theatres have changed hands during the past six months and most of the new owners are inexperienced in the business.

Too Many Motion Picture Houses

It seems to be the opinion, from a managerial point of view, that Norfolk and Portsmouth have more theatres than are needed to serve the population.

There is no amalgamation in sight just now of any theatres, each exhibitor making an individual fight.

The managers seem satisfied with what the manufacturers are supplying. The impression here seems to be that the manufacturer is giving the best that can be produced. There is no change in this section and no joint effort in the motion picture world.

Rentals Increase Over Twenty Per Cent

Film rentals have increased in most of the places from twenty-five to thirty-three per cent during the past six months and in some instances there has been as much as fifty per cent increase in the rental of the regular weekly service.

It is the general opinion that the tendency is towards better pictures generally. Many of the pictures being produced to-day are not accepted as being equal to regular programs, and therefore the theatres generally are depending more, and have been for some months back, on the regular programs with an occasional feature that has more foundation to support it than the fact of its being an interesting picture.

HENRY D. PERKINS.

Film Market at Low Ebb in Florida Because of Weather

Special to The Motion Picture News.

Jacksonville, Fla., July 1

THE market conditions in Jacksonville, Fla., and vicinity are at a very low ebb at the present time, according to J. T. Alsop, secretary and treasurer of the Montgomery Amusement Company and treasurer of the Southern Investment Company.

This, it was explained, is due to the excessively hot weather which has been existing throughout this section for an unusually long period this summer, the hottest day in forty years having been experienced during the present spell.

Such weather conditions naturally affect the photoplay fans, of whom Jacksonville is more or less a hotbed, supporting at the present time four first-class houses, located directly in the heart of the business section, and numberless other smaller houses throughout the business section and suburbs.

Plans for new and larger theatres are rapidly being pushed forward, and there seems to be no limit to the appetites of the people of Jacksonville for moving pictures on afternoons and evenings when the weather is not such that they are driven to the various seaside resorts or are seeking breezes in the parks and outlying suburbs.

Features Draw Crowds Despite Weather

Feature productions, such as "One of Our Girls," Famous Players, and "Home, Sweet Home," D. W. Griffith, and other similar productions continue to draw the crowds despite the weather conditions.

The first named filled the lobby of "The Grand," a Montgomery theatre located in the heart of the business section of Forsyth street, just west of Main, for the two nights it was presented.

It was further stated by Mr. Alsop that this low ebb in conditions in this section is an annual occurrence at this season and that, despite the fact that this summer has been an unusually severe one, the conditions are better, comparatively, than has heretofore been the case during the warm weather.

With the coming of the cooler weather it is expected that conditions will be such that they will be well worth watching by exhibitors throughout the country.

Coleman B. Jones.

PROSPERITY PREVAILS IN NORTH CENTRAL SECTION

(Special to The Motion Picture News.)

Detroit, Mich., July 1.

THE motion picture business in Detroit seems to be in a state of rapid transformation, a transformation which looks good for the film men, for the exhibitor and for the public.

The transformation is the elimination of the barnlike houses which consist of a curtain, a set of chairs and a projecting machine, the elimination of the factory hand or day laborer with a few hundred dollars and no knowledge of the picture business as a factor in this field of entertainment and the coming to the front of an intelligent class of showmen who know their business, have the financial backing to put up artistic, sanitary, safe houses, convenient and comfortable, and give the public a show enjoyable from every angle and the film man no cause to worry over the collection of the weekly service bill.

That is the tendency. Even the experienced showman may be misled and put a house where competition will be too keen for either to be successful.

Larger Houses the Order of the Day

In the early days of the picture game many houses were opened with 200 seats and the admission was a nickel. Few Detroit houses now in operation seat less than 400. The new ones that are building, of which there are about twenty, will seat from 600 to 2,000.

All of these houses are designed by experienced theatre architects, have attractive and appropriate fronts, modern ventilating devices, comfortable seating and the best possible equipment instead of a makeshift outfit. They will run in cost from $10,000 to $100,000.

Such houses as these cannot do business on a five-cent admission, nor yet on ten cents alone, which is the prevailing price throughout the city now.

A large number of houses already have proven successful on a scale of ten cents, fifteen cents and twenty cents. Any attempt to charge a quarter has failed except in the case of a big feature like the Kellermann picture or "Traffic in Souls," or "Joan of Arc," in one of the big down-town houses.

Now, the film men declare that for every theatre that has closed up in the past year two new ones have opened. About thirty new houses have opened during the year, so fifteen must have closed up. Not all the losers are out of business, however. The liner advertisements in the Business Opportunities columns of the daily newspapers show motion picture theatres running a close second to small grocery stores for sale.

Detroit Strong for Comedies

Figuring that a territory having 1,000 families will support a motion picture house and giving Detroit 600,000 population, it will be seen that with 135 theatres Detroit has fifteen more than can be supported on this minimum basis, allowing five persons to each family.

But of this 135, more than twenty may be considered down-town houses, lying within seven blocks of the city hall, which is at the heart of the down-town district.

As to the kind of film in demand, comedy leads in all houses, I believe, with the exception, perhaps, of the houses running only features.

Westerns come second and society third, educational and foreign last. Feature productions are undoubtedly popular, especially if they are of a sensational character.

The diversified program prevails in Detroit and under the present system of booking must continue to do so unless the demand for features requires a complete overthrow of present methods.

Each house patronizing a film exchange uses a certain predetermined program at a fixed price per week, seven-day service. If a feature is substituted, the daily program must be paid for, whether used or not, and the feature must draw the price of the daily program in addition to the cost of the feature. Few houses will sacrifice their program more than once or twice a week, no matter how good the feature.

Some of the exhibitors believe that the patronage drawn by a feature in excess of the regular attendance is only taken away from some other night and does not amount to a net gain in attendance for the week, but a feature advertises the house and is thus of value even though it bring no added receipts and is perhaps run at a slight loss.

Long Programs Are Taboo

There are at present but five or six houses in Detroit which do not have a daily change of program, and these are among the larger down-town houses. There doesn't seem to be any indication except in down-town houses of a general shift to anything other than the daily change. Return engagements of a good feature are readily booked, and the interval between first and second showing gives a chance for more advertising.

Seven and eight-reel programs are out of the question here.

The Detroit Exhibitors League has established a standard of three reels for a nickel, five reels for ten cents. The film exchanges are in sympathy with this stand and the exhibitor who would jeopardize his own profits and do cut-throat business by giving more has a hard row to hoe.

As I have remarked, the houses now under construction are all designed from the ground up for theatre purposes, and the reconstruction of old buildings for motion pictures is a thing of the past. An occasional front is changed to give a better display of the paper or to provide an arcade entrance, bringing the ticket office back under shelter for the convenience of patrons in bad weather.

All upstairs theatres have been closed in Michigan by the state fire marshal's office. Inspection by both state and city officials has been rigid and a theatre is now rarely closed for not conforming to the law. When one goes out of business it is because business has gone out of the theatre. In that case it is usually because a newer and better house is drawing the patronage away.

Chains of Theatres the Profitable Plan

This matter of competition is going to be dealt with to a large extent by corporation methods, the organization of companies which will control strings of theatres, buy for them collectively and thus reduce the cost of operation. At the same time the improved class of the shows given will warrant better prices.

It is difficult to say what increase there has been in film service cost. It is higher, but Detroit exhibitors are getting better service for the increased cost, they admit. If it were not for the system that requires them to pay for extra features they would not kick. To this extent the manufacturers are neglecting their market, the exhibitors say. And the exchange men say the exhibitors continue to demand better service and they must pay the price. That looks like higher prices to come.

An indication of the trend of the picture business in Detroit is this:

The Casino Feature Film Corporation, headed by J. H. Kunsky, controls seven theatres and has projected two more. Interests headed by William F. Klatt, the Union Trust building, have eight theatres operating or projected. King & Co. own two, Oppenheim & Co. two, and two projected, and Scribner & Co., two.

L. H. Bailey.

"Can't Kick," Minnesota's Word; Business Booms; Outlook Bright

Special to The Motion Picture News

Minneapolis, July 1.

WHEN the motion picture theatres can get bigger crowds with the thermometer registering 90 degrees than the bathing beaches, film men and exhibitors should have little cause to worry.

That is just what has taken place in Minnesota during the early summer and, in a word, it shows where the motion picture stands in the state of 10,000 lakes.

"We can't kick," is the answer of the film men when asked how business is in city and country business.

The fact is, the film men are in most cases doing an unusual summer business. Some distributors who specialize are getting the usual summer bumps, but they know that there will be a come-back in September, and so they are joining in the chorus, "We can't kick."

Theatres Run Full Blast in Minnesota

There are seventy-six theatres showing films in Minneapolis, nearly sixty in St. Paul and a proportionate number in Duluth, with a theatre in every country town of any importance. The combined seating capacity in the three cities is 50,000. Those in the cities and larger towns are running almost the full winter program, while in the country districts they are holding up better than ever before.

Only in the strictly farming communities where a theatre depends largely on farmers for their patronage, is there a noticeable loss of bookings. These were expected, however, while on the other hands other reductions in film service or darkening of houses that were expected did not materialize.

The months of May and June did not indicate the letting down of motion picture popularity as the same months did in prior years. The theatres are going after the business and they are getting it.

They are placing orders for first-class attractions, they are paying good money to get them and they are advertising them properly and making the most of the opportunity when they get a good attraction.

Tent Shows in Lake District Popular

Outside the cities the motion picture has followed the summer "outer." The vacationists just couldn't get away if he wanted to, but there is no indication that he wanted to.

Some exhibitors in the lake towns, where a large part of the summer population is composed of cottages, have closed their regular theatres and opened tent houses at the lake side. These have all proven popular. Others have opened tent shows in addition to the regular theatre and have had success.

Of course, the film men have had their part in these successes, for did they not work to the best advantage of the exhibitors, there would be a general locking of theatre doors. The man who likes outdoor life isn't going to a motion picture show and look with any comfort at a picture of a fire, of stokers on a steamship or other warming view.

Consequently the distributor must see that the films are enjoyable and seasonable. They must carry a breeze.

Ten-Cent House Predominates

The ten-cent house is the average house throughout the state and it predominates in the three leading cities. There is little call for a nickel theatre in Minneapolis, St. Paul or Duluth. The public is educated to pay ten cents to see a motion picture show of average quality, and will pay more to see a first run of a high-class feature.

There is little indication, however, that this price will increase.

"The exhibitors report that ten cents seems to be established as the motion picture price and the business of the theatre must be arranged on that basis," said J. V. Bryson, manager of the Laemmle Film Service in Minneapolis.

"Bigger theatres are being erected all the time, and it looks like a settled thing in the business. The problem that is up to the exhibitor is to give a maximum amount of good entertainment, comfort and protection for that price."

Minneapolis and the Northwest have never been tried out on a maximum price, but there were lines from the lobby to the street when the regular theatres put on pictures in weeks that would otherwise have been dark and charged twenty-five and fifty cents. The fifty cents paid for boxes and loges and the lower amount was a general admission.

High Prices Have Been Tried with Profit

One of the largest week's attendance at the Metropolitan Opera House during the year was the week when "Quo Vadis?" was shown in pictures. Other big features followed and there were good houses at the same prices.

The Orpheum Theatre, which is on Seventh street, in the heart of the theatre district, where competition is heaviest, had good houses when it filled out the spring season with picture shows exclusively and charged twenty-five cents.

In the country districts, however, the dime seems to be the maximum figure for Minnesota at present. The big features at better prices will go to the country when mattresses supersede feather beds and bath tubs and modern heating go there—that is, when country is educated in real living. In the city a good motion picture show is as much a part of life as a salad or an electric fan.

The average theatre in the cities is one of from 300 to 500 seating capacity. There are theatres that hold 2,000 and are devoted exclusively to pictures. For the average exhibitor, however, the smaller size has proven most convenient.

Smaller Theatre Best for Average Exhibitor

An instance of its popularity is the success of the firm of Green & Agnew. These men were formerly liquor dealers, but went into the motion picture business to make it a success. They have made it a signal success.

They have found that by building more average size houses and taking the theatre into the neighborhood, they can do better than by building one or two large theatres and depend on getting patrons in from a distance.

The individual theatre building predominates in the Northwest now. Except in the business centers where land is too costly, separate buildings are erected in nearly every case. Many of the new ones, though small, are fireproof.

The theatre with plenty of side exits, wide aisles and with the operating booth in a separate fire-proof building is the most popular and is getting common. In some cases the operator's booth is in a building at the rear of the audience and in others the pictures are projected from the front through the opaque screen. The floors are all raised, stationary opera chairs are used in every case and the theatres are neatly decorated and well enough lighted so that there is no confusion in the constant shifting of audiences. The theatres in the residence districts are built without balconies.

Steady Increase in Building

There has been a steady increase in the building of theatres, but there have been no amalgamations as yet in the larger towns. The day of the big roomy theatre and the disappearance of the smaller theatre is predicted, however.

The clean, sensational film is holding its own and, according to F. A. Louis, manager of the General Film Company, the bulk of the business lies between the Western comedy and educational film, with the features holding their own.

"Audiences want relaxation that will take them clear away from the steady grind of business and the good sensation is the thing that does it best," Mr. Louis said.

Film men who deal chiefly in feature films report a steady increase in the demand, and they believe there is a great future for it.

"Our business is improving steadily, though the hot weather has cut off a few bookings," said L. J. Schlaifer, manager of Warner's Feature Film Company. "We handle both features and single reels, but we have noticed a marked increase in the demand for the feature. I am confident that the feature is going to give the old school theatre its hardest rub.

"The feature that shows foreign scenes affords many of the pleasures of travel to the man who will never see Europe, and it is the coming form of entertainment.

Exhibitors See Big Demand for Features

The exhibitors generally believe that the demand for features will increase, though they predict that single-reel will not lose in a marked way.

"Nothing will take the place of the good laugh, and just as the short story will always be popular in literature the single-reel will be popular in motion pictures," said William J. Edwards, manager of the Orient Theatre, 44 Third street south, Minneapolis, who always furnishes a diversified program.

"Exhibitors, generally, throughout the Northwest, as I have learned, are strong for the diversified program," he continued, "and I have discussed the program matter with them from every standpoint."

Average city shows run from three to six reels, with four reels as the happy medium, with three changes a week. The daily change has not been popular, for the theatres are like groceries. They have their regular patrons and all of them can not get there to see the good things under a daily change system. There is little indication, both exhibitors and dealers say, that there will be a change in the near future. Frequently when a theatre gets a good film it will take it for a week. In the smaller towns weekly and bi-weekly changes are the rule.

There has been little actual remodeling of theatres in Minnesota. Those who have gone into the business to stick or die have built well, but there has been a general adoption of the constant freshening plan. This plan is to change the hangings frequently, change the artificial flowers, if they are used, and change the general stage settings, if the curtain is well back on the stage.

Some of the managers, especially the Lyric Theatre, conducted by Saxe Brothers, at 720 Hennepin avenue, Minneapolis, rely on this plan for keeping steady patrons. Here the colored lights at the entrance are changed weekly and the general lobby decorations are changed at least once a month.

No Theatres Likely to Close

Changes of ownership are not frequent in the district, and film men say they know of no theatres that are going out of business. The Lyric is to discontinue, according to present plans, but only to give way to the new theatre now building at 36 Seventh street, south. Saxe Brothers are building the new theatre.

St. Paul conditions are the same and there is little prospect that any of the houses will discontinue.

Managers of the various theatres work in harmony for the general good of the cause. There are associations of exhibitors in all the cities and these organizations work with the city officials to get the public confidence. Rivalry is keen, but there is a ban on knocking. "Get more patrons for all the theatres," is the general motto. If a theatre man wants something he is entitled to from the city, the other men will help him get it.

There is a general friendly spirit throughout the business. Film men and exhibitors co-operate and kicks from exhibitors are becoming fewer. "Just as fast as the exhibitor learns that his success is our success, he stops kicking and talks things over to get advice," said Bert Barnett, manager of the Famous Players Star Feature Film Service.

"There is little kicking. Of course kicks will never be entirely eliminated, for they give a certain mental relief, but they are getting down to the minimum."

Complaints are also yielding to the new system of things. Exhibitors are wanting better films and first runs and they are willing to pay for them. With a big market, and with the film men trying to please, conditions are good.

Film Rentals Increase 20 Per Cent

Film rentals have increased about 20 per cent in the last year, according to Mr. Bryson and Mr. Louis, both of whom do a general business. This they say is due to the exhibitors themselves who are giving better shows.

"I doubt if the film rentals will increase as much in the next year, however," said Mr. Bryson.

"The shows are now on a high plane and the last year has been remarkable for getting onto the big idea in film shows. The increase will be steady, there will be more theatres because there will be room for them, and the outlook has not been brighter since I have been in the business."

Mr. Schlaifer, Mr. Barnett and Mr. Louis are also optimistic. They declare that the business is still young, that it will remain young and that the field is just opening. They cannot see a setback.

R. G. Marshall.

Competition in Milwaukee Is Heaviest in the Suburbs

(Special to The Motion Picture News.)

Milwaukee, Wis., July 1.

MILWAUKEE'S film situation in one respect is indeed a curious one. Here we have the unusual situation of competition in most of the outskirt territories much heavier than downtown, and the spectacle of but two of the film companies booking downtown houses that display their entire program.

This dearth of downtown picture houses naturally serves to keep the film rental for the big exhibitor really cheaper, considering his capacity, location, etc., than the outskirt exhibitor.

The scarcity of really good locations that can be secured at anywhere near a reasonable rental has had much to do with the downtown situation.

Ten Cents the Limit

Milwaukee being practically a one-street town, as far as business is concerned, makes it imperative that the exhibitor gets on or near this thoroughfare, Grand avenue. Then, too, two of the downtown houses can comfortably take care of close to 4,000 people.

Milwaukee is primarily a ten-cent town, and though the Saxe brothers are making a brave effort to establish a twenty-five cent house, until now they have not received very great encouragement. However, even in the smaller outskirt houses the ten-cent price is being gradually secured. It is doubtful if any but the biggest features will ever get anything but a dime in Milwaukee, exhibitors and exchange men agreeing that this price is the limit.

Milwaukee has not experienced the usual mushroom growth in picture houses, and the result has been that the business as a whole has had a steady, healthy growth.

Westerns on the Decline

The seating capacity of the houses averages about 500. The Western picture has gradually been losing its hold and the demand that has developed is principally for good clean comedy and drama, though as a rule the drama must have a bit of sensation injected into it to get across right.

The feature business has about reached its zenith locally, and a decline is looked for in the demand for this type of picture from now on. The exhibitors as a whole appear to be almost unanimous in the belief that the diversified program will not have a very strong hold on the photoplay fans, although the really big and meritorious feature will always have a place.

Over ninety per cent of the houses in this city change their program daily, and there appears to be little indication of any of them changing fewer times a week. The other ten per cent give four changes a week, and Milwaukee only boasts of one photoplay house, the Orpheum, changing weekly or giving more than six reels to a show.

Nearly All Regular Theatres

Milwaukee exhibitors have done but very little remodeling. All of the theatres are in splendid condition. There being but five store shows in the entire city, every one of the other houses having been constructed especially for theatrical purposes.

Though competition is as heavy as in most towns, there is still room for more exhibitors as the business grows. There is little chance of any amalgamation of either the large or small theatres, as most of the exhibitors are perfectly contented with things as they are.

The exchange men and exhibitors work hand in hand, and though the rental has been increased about twenty-five per cent during the past year and indications point to another increase of about twenty per cent in the next year, the rentals are far from excessive. The exchange men are very sanguine about the future, and, all in all, things present a very rosy appearance in this city.

J. W. Martin.

Standardize Prices in Beloit; Advertising War on in Earnest

(Special to The Motion Picture News.)

Beloit, Wis., July 2.

THAT Beloit motion picture patrons are "hitting their stride" at present with five and ten-cent programs of from three to four reels each is the unanimous opinion of the men who in each theatre check up the tickets at night and record in their books the profits of each day's business.

Five Cents the Usual Price

The standard program in Beloit at the present time is the five-cent, three-reel sign, and local exhibitors do not believe that there will be any change; at least not for a long time.

True, ten-cent nights are frequent; but only when there is a special feature. Manager Quinn, of the Lyric, boasted that in all of his years of experience with the Lyric there was only once when he increased the price to ten cents that the films he showed did not cost him from $10 to $50 more than his regular program.

The public will gladly pay ten cents to see Mary Pickford or a production by the Famous Players, "The Adventures of Kathlyn," "The Perils of Pauline," "Lucille Love," or similar features.

Twenty cents has been paid for "Quo Vadis," "The Drug Terror," and "The Traffic in Souls." But such features are brought to Beloit only at long intervals. The exhibitors believe that their patrons will rebel if their pocketbooks are hit for such a sum frequently.

So five and ten cents is the accepted standard.

Theatres Advertise in the Newspapers

In Beloit at the present time, three theatres have combined their advertising in the daily papers under the caption "Quality, Not Quantity." For there is a bitter war on between the managers of the three independently owned houses and the management of the Chicago-controlled theatres.

The latter theatres give four, five and sometimes six reel programs. There is a division of opinion among the local exhibitors as to what the Beloit public considers the proper length of a program to be. Two managers give the longer programs and fill their houses.

Three managers give three-reel programs and fill their houses. Money is being made with each plan. Each exponent of his idea believes himself to be in the right. A more thorough trial of the longer program is desirable before an opinion is formed.

Wide Diversity of Tastes

Beloit managers are not united on their views of the kind of pictures which local patrons want. The Lyric has found out that it pays to run classic features; well-known plays with famous players, and secondly, adventurous and exciting films, such as the Kathlyn series

The Star adheres consistently to excellent dramas and comedies with but few thrillers.

The Rex and the Gem run almost exclusively to exciting films, prodigious spectacles; something with a new tang. "The Sky Monster," "The Fall of Constantinople," "Zingo in Africa," and "The Traffic in Souls" are the type which bring in the greatest returns at the box-office. But good drama is not forgotten and the comedies are frequent visitors.

There is not a Beloit exhibitor who does not realize the value of the comedy and who does not play up the laugh-producers to leave a pleasant glow with his audience.

All Houses Are Making Money

While the rentals have increased in Beloit somewhat during the past year, the managers are not particularly disturbed. Not one of the five theatres in Beloit is a losing proposition; not even remotely so. And no theatres are changing hands without good and sufficient reasons. There are no sales of houses here because the business does not pay.

The only recent transfer of a house was made because the manager was in extremely poor health. Two of the theatres have been in the same hands for several years. There seems to be no reason to believe that any of them will go out of business. Neither does it seem probable that there will be additional houses in Beloit.

None of the men have any fault to find with the manufacturers of films as far as catering to their needs is concerned. C. T. Quinn, manager of the Lyric, states that he believes some of the best plays ever filmed have reached him through his service.

Exhibitors Pleased with Their Service

This attitude is typical. Each manager feels that the service which he uses is best suited for his patrons. He uses a certain service because it gives him the kind of pictures he wants.

The Rex and the Gem would naturally feel this way, since they are controlled by a big producing company which would naturally look to the interests of the theatres which it owns.

Of course, the tendency of Beloit managers, as well as all managers throughout the world, is to build up a clientele of "repeaters." The same faces can be seen in any one theatre practically night after night.

A certain class of people will be attracted to a certain theatre and will patronize that house almost exclusively, unless a big feature is being shown at some other house. Then they generally manage to attend both houses. It would be folly to say that there are no exceptions to this. But such is true in the majority of cases.

So each manager has his particular problem to study out. But each man has boundless faith in the future of the motion picture in Beloit.

ORSEN M. NIELSEN.

CINCINNATI DULL SPOT IN CENTRAL STATES

Special to THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS

Canton, Ohio, July 2.

ADVANCE of the general film business in this locality will be marked principally in the development of the feature film, according to declarations made by exhibitors in their review of the last two months' business and predictions for the future.

The six-reeler has come to stay, exhibitors here believe, and will, in short time, almost entirely supersede the "combination reel" carrying pictures taking less than ten minutes to show.

Patrons of the various motion picture houses have voted from time to time on the subject of film favoritism and have invariably expressed a preference for the feature pictures. As a result, the exhibitors have drawn more and more from the supply of the longer reels until now all but one theatre plays at least one feature in every program.

The dramatization of Jack London's "Sea Wolf" was perhaps the most popular picture show here this year. Annette Kellermann in "Neptune's Daughter" filled the Orpheum every performance for a week.

Feature Films Are Theatre's Knell

Exhibitors say the longer films have started a last break in the thread of sympathy between the stage and the public. Within the last week, a stock company playing at the Grand Theatre, owned by Feiber & Shea, of New York, has left the city chiefly because of the popularity of the film theatres.

"I am making arrangements now to take the small reels out of my theatre with the single exception of the Pathé news reel," said V. L. Schram, manager of the Orpheum Theatre, Tuscarawas street East, leased by the Sun-Murray Amusement Company.

"I am going to get new Pathé reels every day from the Cincinnati office, and I will thus have the news pictures as quickly as the newspapers. The rest of my programs will be made up of nothing but the biggest features on the market. Nothing else hits the public now."

Other exhibitors have expressed practically the same opinion of the future of the feature film.

As to the kind of features which are most popular, good strong stories of adventure receive the most patronage. The educational films are unpopular and the lengthy comedies do not meet with especial favor.

Two Changes a Week Likely

In view of the length of time it takes to show feature films, exhibitors in this locality predict that the change-a-day plan will soon give way to two changes of program a week.

Indications of the prosperity of the film houses here is shown by the number of improvements made in the last few months. Different of the theatres have been remodeled and enlarged until the average seating capacity is now approximately 750. One new theatre is in course of construction which will seat over 1,200, and the Orpheum Theatre, now seating 800, is to be enlarged in the fall.

According to J. A. Bernower, manager of the Alhambra Theatre, Market avenue North, competition has been of little consequence here owing to the unprecedented demand for film shows. Each theatre plays to capacity houses practically every performance. The only competition is in getting the best films at the earliest possible time.

Complain of Exchange Methods

A. H. Abrams, manager of the Lyceum, Tuscarawas street East, seating 1,400 people, is going to read a paper at the convention of the Motion Picture Exhibitors League of America, to be held in Dayton early in July, on the subject of "Film Exchange."

"The exchange men need a little jogging up, and I am going to attempt the task," he said. "As conditions are now, an exhibitor knows not what kind of a game he is playing. Prices shift between cities and over night. Deliveries are the worst possible. I am for a uniform price and I, with other exhibitors, will insist that deliveries of our purchases be more prompt." GILBERT CANTERBURY.

Summer Hits Cincinnati Hard; Town Too "Cheap" for Features

Special to The Motion Picture News.

Cincinnati, O., July 1.

ASIDE from the usual dulness of the summer months, Cincinnati as a film market has presented to the exchange manager a very difficult problem. Always known as a "cheap town," its moving picture fans have allowed their enthusiasm for the screen entertainment to lag as the result of the general business depression throughout the state.

The strike of coal miners in various parts of the state and that of the carpenters in the vicinity of Cincinnati have added to the difficulties of the exchange men as well as the exhibitor, owing to the fact that Cincinnati depends almost entirely on its industrial activity for that genial state of affairs which promotes large attendances in moving picture houses.

During the months of April and May, conditions were flourishing. With the first of June, however, the addition of the ennui resulting from the oppressive heat, to the general business depression, worked havoc in the film market.

Business in Deplorable State Until Autumn

Two theatres in Cincinnati were forced to close for the season. Twenty-five motion picture houses were closed for the summer in Columbus, including the Lyceum and the Auditorium in Dayton, and eight smaller houses found that they were losing money by keeping open.

Conditions in Columbus and Dayton are declared to be deplorable by film men, who do not expect business to right itself before September.

The average price of admission in Cincinnati is five cents, and it has been proven that the Cincinnati public will not pay more than ten cents to support a motion picture house of any description.

Isaac Libson tried the twenty-five-cent feature house for just two weeks in May. He is operating the Grand Theatre, which he opened with "Les Miserables" at 25 cents. and now showing second-run Mutual for five cents.

Thomas Corby, who opened the Gayety Theatre in May, with first run of the best features he could buy at ten cents, stuck it out until the second week in June, when he was to close, having sustained a very heavy loss.

Libson, who for a time took the second-run big features following Corby, has cancelled all features and now will absolutely not book features at any price.

Film Exchanges Forced to Meet Reductions

The Walnut Theatre undertook to show big features during the summer, but was forced to close after a widely advertised production of "Ten Nights in a Barroom" netted the manager a loss of $500.

The film exchanges have been compelled to meet the summer reductions to hold their accounts, fearing at all times that more exhibitors will be forced to close because of the dull business.

Theatres in Cincinnati devoted to motion pictures are mostly of the modern, up-to-date, fire-proof type, with a seating capacity of 1,000. The newer theatres are getting away from the elaborate exteriors with the "gingerbread" effect. They are plain, comfortable houses, solidly built and sanitary and hygienic throughout. The average seating capacity of the houses in this territory is 300. A few new houses are being built, but will not be ready to open until next fall.

Comedies and Westerns Most in Demand

Comedies and Western dramas are the kind of films most in demand here. The society and educational films come next in popularity. Unless the foreign film is far above the average American feature in point of interest, the exhibitor will not book it at any price.

The serial feature, however, is fast gaining a stranglehold on the affections of the local exhibitors. It has been found that the serials are assisting in holding up the program to an extent never felt before. The public has become interested in these serial stories of the screen and the exhibitors have found that their biggest business nights are those nights on which they have arranged to produce the various chapters of the serial feature which they happen to be running.

Features which are not more than three reels in length are fairly popular, but the greatest demand in Cincinnati is for sensational pictures.

The demand for features is daily growing more conspicuous for its absence.

The future demand of exhibitors will not be for more than three reels, according to present indications, the program to be diversified, consisting of either a two-reel feature and one comedy reel or a comedy and two reels of single subjects.

Daily Change Will Prevail

The present system of changing the program daily will be forced to continue by the demands of the motion picture patrons.

Picture lovers have been educated to a daily change of program, and they will not stand for a reversal back to the old system of one, two or three changes a week, in the opinion of the film men.

Those of the public who do not demand quality, but want only quantity, in pictures are pleased with long programs of seven or eight reels—if they can see them for five cents.

However, the exhibitor who has the interests of all his patrons, as well as himself, at heart, will not cheapen the reputation of his house by showing more than three reels for five cents.

Because of the recent stringent rules and pressing demands of the Board of Health and the building commissioner, considerable remodeling of theatres has taken place in Cincinnati.

The Rentals Different in Different Quarters

Owing to the keen competition among exhibitors in some sections of the territory, and the lack of competition in others, film service rentals have increased about 25 per cent in some instances and decreased 25 per cent in others.

This is due to the fact that new theatres are being compelled to use first-run service and can naturally afford to outbid the competitor of the older and smaller houses. The manager whose theatre has a seating capacity of 1,000 or more can pay two or three times as much for his service as the man whose theatre will only seat 300 people.

On the other hand, the conditions have been reversed in some localities where the exhibitor has run down the film prices because of the lack of competition on his end and making competition among the exchange managers to get his business. The advent of the feature exchanges into the field has helped to decrease the prices.

Neff Has Bill for Next Legislature

Exhibitors claim that further increases in film rentals will compel them to lose money and eventually drive them out of business. President Neff of the Motion Picture Exhibitors League of America is advocating a bill, which he hopes to have passed by the next Ohio Legislature, arranging first-run prices according to the size of theatres and the population which the theatre has to draw from.

The enterprise which was opened by Otto Luedeking showing motion pictures at 10 cents on Redland Field, one of the largest airdomes in the world, to prevent competiton by speculators in the West End, is being operated at a distinct loss five nights a week, due to the admission price of 10 cents. If the program were shown at 5 cents, the airdome would show a profit every night, it is believed.

Roe S. Eastman.

Pittsburgh Exhibitors Gloomy; Feature Exchanges Hard Hit

Special to The Motion Picture News.

Pittsburgh, Pa., July 1.

"I HAVE never seen such poor business since entering the motion picture industry," is the statement made to a representative of the News by a big man in Pittsburgh motion picture circles.

Exhibitors, when asked how their business is, generally reply, "There isn't any."

The feature exchange seems to be the hardest hit, for the managers claim that it is like pulling teeth to book a feature at half what it would bring in ordinary circumstances.

The large Fifth avenue photoplay houses, which are given the name of being gold mines, and usually book from four to five features a week, are satisfied with their regular program, but as this has been the hottest June in years and four of the largest dramatic theatres are running seven and eight reel features during the summer months at a small admission fee, much of the trouble can be traced to this.

Exhibitors All Kick on Business

It is a hard matter to find an exhibitor in this locality with a small house who is not kicking on business, saying that it is the worst since opening up, or they would be satisfied if they broke even or could sell out.

But, as a rule, the little fellows' delight is claiming they are losing money even when they pack the house to the doors.

The favorite arguments heard around the exchange are about the big show for a nickel, and if they are responsible for the fall off in attendance of motion picture theatres.

Some take the stand that if a good two-reel drama and a single reel of comedy is shown by all the exhibitors instead of four and five reels of junk, which they claim is tiresome to the patrons, they would see a big change in the receipts.

Playing to Lunch-Hour Crowd

This argument made a hit with the down-town exhibitors, who have been having trouble with the lunch-hour question, claiming that the amount of people who spend the noon hour in picture shows do not get their money's worth, as they only have from forty-five minutes to an hour to see the show, and if a four-reel feature or six reels of pictures are being shown they can only see about half of the show.

Many of the Fifth avenue exhibitors are getting together to run a special lunch-hour show so the patrons can witness the entire program and get the value of their money.

J. D. Looney.

Demand for Genuine Features in Springfield; Fakes Boycotted

Special to The Motion Picture News

Springfield, Ill., July 2.

DELEGATES from Illinois State Branch No. 2, of the Motion Picture Exhibitors League of America will carry a cheery message regarding business conditions throughout the state when they go to the national convention which opens in Dayton July 6.

What's more, there'll be nothing "psychological" about their report, but real conditions. The delegates will represent nearly all the motion picture exhibitors outside of Chicago, for Chicago is the only city in the state that is not represented in the Illinois branch.

Five Cents Admission for the Summer

From reports reaching here, the business of exhibitors all over the state is very satisfactory at present, considering, of course, that summer is here and the natural decrease in patronage that comes with hot weather. The five-cent admission fee for three-reel shows continues to be the most attractive price, and exhibitors throughout the state probably will stay by this price as a general proposition for some time to come.

Of course, there are a number of theatres where ten-cent admission fees are being charged, but these are few as compared with the five-cent shows, and usually are for shows that exceed the three-reel limit.

Smaller Theatres Forced to Quit Business

The past year has seen an increase in the number of motion picture theatres in Illinois, and these new theatres are all of a larger type, for the prevailing idea among exhibitors seems to be not so much the matter of location as the matter of seating capacity.

Consequently, the newer theatres are all equipped to seat anywhere from 350 to 700 persons and for the most part are attractive in design and appointments.

As these newer houses come in there is a tendency on the part of patrons to give them an increased attendance with the result that in several cases smaller and less attractive houses have been forced to close.

Competition in nearly all the Illinois cities is keen, and hence the success or failure of motion picture theatres depends entirely on the exhibitor. If he has a new, attractive theatre with a large seating capacity and can offer a good line of films he can get the business, providing, of course, that he is keen enough to judge his patronage and see to it that he keeps his programs filled with offerings acceptable to his particular locality.

And exhibitors are, in nearly all the cities, waking up to the fact that just any old kind of a program won't go. There are certain sections of nearly every city where slap-stick comedies and "Westerns" go fine, while in another section the patrons demand good dramas, society and educational films. Foreign pictures of the one-reel kind are, as a general rule, the least attractive to nearly all classes of patrons.

Increasing Demand for Good Features

Feature pictures, that is, genuine features, are growing in popularity and it would not be exaggerating to say that the coming fall will find nearly every one of the larger cities of the state with at least one exclusive feature house, or some one house showing once or twice a week a big seven, or eight or nine reel feature. Exhibitors generally, however, are wary of feature offerings. They are finding that a great many of these so-called features are nothing more than a succession of "thriller" scenes without any connected story and without any real excuse for production. Dramatizations of popular novels, and historical events and photoplays of well-known theatrical productions are the kind of features that carry the biggest appeal for popular favor, and can attract paying patronage at an admission price of twenty-five cents. Features that are real features are the kind that are going to "get across" in the better theatres.

Managers do Not Favor One and Two Weekly Changes

The feature picture seems to be the only desirable long programs, while the daily change in the programs of the regular motion picture houses promises to continue most in favor. Exhibitors generally are not much in favor of one or two changes a week.

Exhibitors are finding ample offerings by manufacturers from which to pick their programs, and feel that the keen competition that is on among the producers is giving them about all that could be expected in the way of film offerings.

With the kind of productions that are now reaching the market exhibitors have only to be alive to the requirements of their patrons to get the kind of programs that will hold and increase their business. Film service rentals have increased some and, of course, the exhibitor is being continually pushed to increase his show.

Delegates to the national convention from Illinois State Branch No. 2 are as follows:

Thomas Leonard, Johnston City; F. S. Russell, Shelbyville; W. W. Watts, Springfield; W. Bradley, Ottawa; C. J. Law, Pana; E. C. Bostick, Pekin; Mrs. Conrad Striewing, Decatur. Alternates, Edward Kunz, Springfield; E. L. Harris, Peoria; T. L. Vandreska, W. W. Goodell, Beardstown; A. W. Ackerman, Mason City; J. C. Davidson, Danville; Edward Carrier, Peoria; Thomas O'Down, Witt.

C. C. CHEADLE.

Lower Prices, Shorter Programs Is the Tendency in Louisville

(Special to THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS.)

Louisville, Ky., July 2.

WHILE the usual summer dulness in the motion picture business has about reached its maximum with both the exchange men and exhibitors, little complaint is heard from either source. In fact, the dullness is no greater than was anticipated, consequently there is little cause for unusual complaint. In adjusting themselves to summer conditions, and to offset the shrinkage in attendance, a number of exhibitors in Louisville and throughout the state are reducing the number of daily shows, or shortening up their programs. In some of the smaller towns daily performances have been discounted for twice and three-times-a-week shows.

Gets Ideas from Motion Picture News

The neighborhood houses are perhaps hardest hit by the dull season, although a few exhibitors are doubling up their efforts to attract sweltering city folk, with good results. Joseph Goldberg, manager of the Olympic, which caters to a crowded East Side neighborhood, is using as the central figure of his lobby display a large refrigerator and thermometer, with placards reading: "Here's the temperature on the street," "Step inside and cool off."

This week he is starting a contest among boys and girls, offering prizes for best written essays telling what class of film they like best, and why. This idea, he says, was taken from an article in THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS and is producing results.

The average price of admission in Louisville remains between five and ten cents, there being a few more nickel theatres than those charging ten cents. Keith's Theatre, which is now devoted exclusively to motion pictures, this week reduced its admission to straight ten cents, which will prevail throughout the summer.

The National, Majestic, Novelty, and other large downtown houses are charging ten cents.

Price Reduction Tendency

The tendency throughout the year has been toward a reduction in the price of admission, and exhibitors are unanimous in declaring that it takes an unusual picture nowadays to command an increased price. A close estimate gives the average seating capacity of the Louisville picture houses at about 400.

There are now twenty-eight picture theatres in the city, an increase of only two houses during the year. The cause for this slow growth is blamed in great part on the unusually heavy license tax exacted here—$30 when paid by the month, or $250 a year.

There is no discrimination between the large and the small houses, all being forced to pay the same license tax, which would be too heavy a burden on the small houses were there many more of them.

People Want Variety

The diversified program plainly is the most attractive and profitable at this time in Louisville. Exhibitors in different localities are at variance of opinion as to just what kind of film is most in demand.

While the majority of exhibitors in this field view the feature film as in the infancy of its development and appeal to the public, some exchange men who are in a position to observe the trend of the times emphatically declare that the feature film has reached the zenith of its glory and will at an early date be well on toward its decline.

Predicts Decline in Features

Robert S. Shrader, manager of the Central Film Service, is one of the exchange men who believes that the feature film has seen its best day. His conclusions appear to be drawn from experiences with the six, seven and eight or more reel films. In this connection he calls attention to a recent lengthy classical production, well staged and very expensive, which it was necessary to cut down from eleven to four reels in order to meet the requirements of English exhibitors and many others in this country.

An opinion shared by all exhibitors alike is that the feature film should not run over four reels, and that in order to make a hit with the average theatre-goer, a longer film must be unusually good. At the present time the majority of theatre managers who use features at all invariably have a diversified program containing something which smacks of the dramatic, with a spice also of the hilariously comic.

There is little doubt, judged from an unprejudiced standpoint, that the feature film of four and five reels, in which there is a discriminating vein of comedy, will meet the popular approval of a larger part of the patrons of the silent drama in Louisville than any other class film.

Short Programs in Sight

A period of readjustment is due at an early date, it is believed, which will mark the discontinuance of the long program. Several of the downtown five-cent theatres now showing six, seven and eight reels, in competition with houses catering to the same class trade which stick to the four and five-reel program, eventually will cease an unprofitable method of competition and come down to the short program, it is said.

There is little active competition among the film men in the territory covered by the Louisville exchanges.

"We cannot force an exhibitor to take anything which does not suit the demands of his patronage," says one of the exchange managers. "Exhibitors usually drift from one service to another, as an experiment, or to meet some peculiar condition or demand. In fact, it seems they travel in circles. There is little use in the exchange man trying to head it off, and the sensible thing for us to do is to give the best service possible to those on our list, retain their friendship and good will, and in case they drift away it will be easier to win them back when the time is ripe."

Little change is noted in the price of film rentals, the Universal reporting the only increase, due, it was stated, to the increased cost of production.

F. D. VANOVER.

Theatres for Sale in Canton, but Admission Prices Rise

Special to THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS

Columbus, O., July 2.

MOTION picture prices in Columbus are going up. At the same time many of the smaller "neighborhood" theatres are going under, it is reported. The more pretentious theatres downtown and the newer and larger neighborhood theatres are getting the business.

A string of twenty-one of the smaller theatres, which flourished up until six months ago, have recently been placed on the market.

Prices Rise to Ten Cents

A year ago the price in the neighborhood theatres was five cents, with an occasional feature film at 10 cents. Now, although some days the price is five cents, features are advertised practically every day and the price is ten cents. Many of these theatres have established the ten-cent admission price permanently.

With the coming of hot weather, long feature productions, unless they have been much talked of in advance or include some famous and popular player, are not drawing so well.

The Lyceum Theatre, which houses popular priced attractions in the winter, began the spring and summer season with feature pictures, running one week.

Two weeks ago the policy was changed and Manager Harry Brown explained that his public, which includes many of his winter patrons, seemed to want the diversified program at ten cents with daily changes.

One House Finds Features Profitable

The Majestic Theatre, the most luxurious theatre in the city devoted entirely to films, however, seems to have found feature pictures profitable. The theatre runs a mixed program five days a week at ten cents, with some one picture featured and a "Famous Player" picture on Sundays and Mondays, for which twenty-five cents is charged.

The "Famous Player" pictures, the first of which was Mrs. Fiske in "Tess of the D'Urbervilles," have drawn capacity business.

Another large theatre, the Colonial, finds the daily changes of program the most profitable and seldom advertises a feature.

Exhibitors here say that while there is a demand for feature pictures, that the demand is limited and that the diversified programs are more generally popular. Those who want feature pictures are provided for, they point out, in a few downtown houses.

The Hartman Theatre, first-class legitimate house, runs feature and educational pictures at intervals during the regular season and in the summer. It enjoys good business, attracting better class crowds.

Predictions of Exchange Men

H. S. Van Groder, of the General Film Company here, says that the daily change program will continue popular and predicts that ten cents is the maximum price the people will pay for pictures. He thinks that in some localities that people will not attend the "movies" if more than five cents is charged.

J. G. Miller, of the Wyandotte Film Company, agrees with him that long programs of seven or eight reels are desired, rather than feature pictures.

H. F. Bussey.

SOUTH CENTRAL EXHIBITORS NEED CO-OPERATION

Special to The Motion Picture News

St. Louis, July 1.

A RETROSPECTIVE survey of the film business in St. Louis during the last few months reveals three very pleasing and very gratifying conditions. First, we have no censorship problem to vex and worry the exchange man and exhibitor.

Secondly, while competition is keen and spirited, it is still safe and sane, and there is little or none of the cut-your-nose-off-to-spite-your-face sort of rivalry that causes exhibitors to race seven and eight reels of pictures through a program that is as tiresome to the audience as it is ruinous to the box-office.

Thirdly, film business all along the line shows a good healthy growth. There is now and then a short period of depression that causes the easily discouraged and timid exhibitor to prophecy dire things for the trade, but in the main business is good, and there is every indication that the future holds progress and a steady upward climb.

Vaudeville Losing Vogue

There has been several new houses built during the last six months, three are now in course of construction, and a number are planned for the immediate future.

The price of admission is generally ten cents. Some of the small neighborhood houses give a five-cent program, but a dime is the standard of admission, and there is little likelihood of any increase; certainly not as long as the combination vaudeville and picture houses continue to dish up their mixture of trained seals and wheeze teams with the pictures.

Vaudeville is losing its vogue, too, to some extent, but there is still a sufficiently large number of persons in every audience who seem to like the chicken-crossed-the-road sort of entertainment. They are the people who, before the advent of motion pictures, never saw the inside of a theatre, and when they did get the habit, they were given near-vaudeville in their pictures, and they will continue to demand it until they will have heard the last of the works of the late "demented" Joe Miller.

What Is Not Wanted

There are also still some exhibitors who think that their program is not complete without a barber-shop tenor in an ill-fitting dress suit bawling out the raucous words of a sickly sentimental song, to the accompanying scene of haberdashing Harold, with hand-painted socks and an arm around the waist of a pulchritudinal female leaning over a property wall.

There are some theatres that give high-class singing acts between the pictures that are artistic to the highest degree, and are appreciated by the audience, but the ordinary illustrated song is a pest, and a crime against art. It is one of the stumbling blocks in the path of ultimate perfection of the art of motion pictures as the prime amusement and instruction for the world.

The types of St. Louis theatres are improving, and the seating capacity is increasing all the time. Indeed, there is grave danger that this phase of the business will be carried too far. Many managers seem to think more of the number of people the house will hold than they think of the comfort of the occupants of the two and three thousand seats.

It sounds big to advertise an airdome that will seat four thousand people, but many a man reading the advertisement will stay away from that place because he fears that he may have to occupy one of the thirty-nine hundredth seats.

Quality, Not Film Length

Managers jump from one mistake to another; as fast as they have learned that footage in films is not the only quality to be considered, they pass right by the fact that the number of seats in their houses is of no moment to the audience if they cannot see the show to advantage from every one of them. If more was said about the comfort of the seats and less about the number more people would go to many shows than they now stay away from.

The detail and furnishings of the St. Louis theatres is second to none in the country. No theatre is considered complete without an up-to-date air-cooling device, and every house has its free telephone, rest and retiring rooms for both sexes. These conveniences were not general in many of the large downtown theatres before the advent of motion pictures. The ventilating plant of one theatre alone was installed at a cost of $24,000, and the manager does not think he has done anything out of the ordinary in putting it in; he simply regards it as being up-to-date and progressive to equip his house with all the modern conveniences.

Strong Features Demanded

Features are on the uphill climb. Two downtown houses have changed from a four and five-reel program to all features. The series pictures are very popular, "The Adventures of Kathlyn," "Perils of Pauline" and the "Lucille Love" series are taking fine; the "Million Dollar Mystery" has just been launched. Stories of these pictures are printed in local newspapers.

On the other hand, though, there is a cry from both audience and exhibitor for real features. One exhibitor, representing a number of houses, says he finds it difficult to get features that please his audiences. They want three and four-reel stuff, but they do not want padding; they do not want to see John sit and gaze at the locket three hundred feet of film just because the director or the author, or whoever was responsible, was suffering from laziness, or poverty of intellect, to such an extent that he could not invent action enough to keep the picture moving.

Five reels is about the standard program, and daily changes are coming more to the front, although there are still a few houses that change three times a week.

Exhibitors are either more exacting, or manufacturers are giving them less attention than they should. There is a general feeling among a great many exhibitors that the manufacturers are thinking more of footage and grinding out a certain number of releases each week than they are thinking of quality.

Censorship has not struck us yet. Two vice crusade films were stopped at downtown theatres, one after it had run several weeks, and the other after a few days; but in the main there is little talk of censoring pictures. We have the usual number of blue-law and blue-soul persons, and our share of citizens who have an intolerable itch to regulate somebody else's business, and there are many patriots who are willing to hold down a political job censoring films, but they are in the background.

To sum up, business looks good and the future bright for the film business.

A. H. Giebler.

Future Bright In Chattanooga; Competition Keen; Prices Are Low

Special to The Motion Picture News.

Chattanooga, Tenn., July 2.

A BRIGHT future faces the motion picture business in Chattanooga. Among exhibitors there prevails a spirit of optimism. There are now nine picture theatres in the city, catering only to white patrons, while five theatres in the principal colored section are being well patronized by members of this race.

Feature films are proving very popular, and it is the opinion of one exhibitor who has made a careful study of the situation, that the future of the business will hinge on real features.

Within the past five weeks a new picture theatre has been opened here, and plans are now under way for the fitting up in the heart of the city of what promises to be one of the finest theatres in the South.

Quite a little remodeling has been done in the last year, and one picture house is now being thoroughly remodelled and renovated throughout. Still another theatre was recently reconstructed on the inside.

Big Features Getting Good Business

The average price of admission is five cents, except when feature films are shown, when it advances to ten and twenty cents. It is not probable that the price of admission will be increased.

Seven of the picture theatres are located on Market street, the principal thoroughfare, three of these being within a few doors of each other in one block. The seating capacity of these theatres is about 400 or 500. The Lyric will seat about 1,200 people.

Feature productions, now being shown, are proving great drawing cards. Especially has this been true at the Lyric Theatre, managed by Lawrence H. Smith, where such films as "Brewster's Millions," "For Napoleon and France," "Les Miserables," the "Old Curiosity Shop," and other masterpieces have been exhibited. "Lucille Love" pictures, shown at the Picto, of which M. Mugnier is manager, have proved highly popular, as was "Tess of the Storm Country," "The Brute" and "The Littlest Rebel," shown at the Alhambra Theatre, managed by Howell Graham.

The public demand seems to be for more features and the exhibitors are supplying this demand to the best of their ability.

Where feature films are shown the program is changed about two or three times a week. Otherwise it is changed daily.

One exhibitor thinks three reels are sufficient, while another says that he feels he cannot get on with less than five reels. The competition is heavy and exhibitors are vying with one another in producing pictures that will be drawing cards.

Ernest G. Taylor.

Optimism Strong In Birmingham; Higher Prices Needed, But Unlikely

(Special to The Motion Picture News.)

Birmingham, Ala., July 1.

WITH four, and possibly five, new theatres planned and the popularity of the picture theatre apparently steadily increasing, there can be nothing but a decided note of optimism in the film market for Birmingham in the near future.

50,000 the Estimated Daily Attendance

Although at the present time there are fewer theatres than there were six or eight months ago, nevertheless the increase in number and quality of theatres over two years ago is more than double. The seating capacity of the motion picture theatres in this city now will approximate well over 7,000, not counting the vaudeville houses nor the negro theatres; and it is estimated that fully 50,000 people pass the box-offices every day.

The closing of the Odeon No. 2 by T. S. Abernathy on account of the expiration of his lease and being compelled to move, and the closing of the New Victoria some months ago on account of fire, has reduced the number of theatres within the last few months.

A. Alex Wall, owner and operator of the Alcazar on Second avenue, between Eighteenth and Nineteenth streets, announces that he already has plans under way for the erection of three airdomes in the residence sections of the city, and T. S. Abernathy, of the Odeon theatres, announces that he has about closed a deal for the construction of what will be the most beautiful theatre for motion pictures in the entire South, although it will not be so large.

Mr. Abernathy's new theatre will be in the heart of the downtown section, he states, but he will not give particulars regarding its location and other details until another week.

Mr. Wall's contemplated airdomes will be erected, one at Woodlawn, one at West End, and one at Five Points, in the South Highlands residence section.

Five Cents Is the Present Limit

So far, the maximum admission price the public will pay in this city is five cents, and local exhibitors are not of the opinion it will be increased in the near future, although they state there is no doubt but that higher prices are needed.

H. M. Newsome, who now operates three theatres in this city, has tried to put one or two shows on a ten-cent basis, but the attendance immediately dwindled. After a week or two's operation he had to drop to five cents. The local exhibitors admit that the reason they cannot get more than five cents is due to too much competition.

There are several different and separate interests operating theatres here, and instead of co-operating and working in harmony, they conduct the keenest competition with each other.

At one time an agreement to raise the price of admission was entered into but the old competition "bug" immediately got busy and several of the party broke the agreement. Just as soon as film men get together and cooperate for their own interests there is no doubt but that higher priced shows will flourish here.

Well Balanced Programs Please All

It would be impossible to designate the favored class of film with the Birmingham public, for it appears that the best patronized show is a well-balanced bill of comedy, drama, Western, foreign and educational subjects, although the strong drama and the comedy and educational are best liked.

The widely diversified program is practised by local exhibitors. Feature productions are popular and feature films have increased a great deal, but exhibitors state this is due probably as much to the fact that manufacturers are making more of them as to the fact that the public wants more of them.

They state that both the classical and the sensational feature are wanted, because each caters to a certain class of patrons. When they run a classical feature they state they draw patrons who would never enter the theatre under other circumstances, and when they run a sensational feature they draw big crowds who would not like a classical film.

Patrons Unwilling to Remain Over Half an Hour

All local exhibitors are strongly in favor of the daily change of program. They state that conditions are such that longer runs with a single film are not profitable here. Long programs are not desired. People here do not want to spend over half an hour or three-quarters in a show. Three or four reels are being used and they seem to suit the public best.

Film rentals have been increased in the past year with a steady growth which has not been exceptional but which is expected to continue. The growth of the business here appears healthful and steady. About a year or eighteen months ago local exhibitors apparently overstepped the field and too many theatres were operated, with too long programs, and some of them failed to make money. Things soon went back to normal and since that time there has been a steady and substantial growth.

Birmingham exhibitors state that manufacturers no doubt often are found not exactly in touch with their market, but that such neglect apparently is due to some mistake.

No Attempts Made to Form Combines

In spite of the heavy competition here there are at present no amalgamations of small or large theatres in prospect. The last effort at a combination of interests of some of the theatres was made about eighteen months ago but nothing has developed since.

The average seating capacity of the Birmingham theatres would probably be about 900; they range from 500 to 1,200. They are all of the highest class, modern in equipment and furnishings. The fronts of nearly every one are costly and attractive. The prevailing type is the long room with inclining floor, the stage at the end opposite the entrance. Two of them have balconies but the rest use but the one floor for their seats.

No remodeling of any consequence has been done in the past year. Some changes are contemplated by one or two of the operators, however, in the near future. There are no indications of any theatres discontinuing business. Mr. Abernathy closed the Odeon No. 2 because the building was to be torn down for the construction of a new one, and the new downtown theatre he is contemplating will take the place of the one closed.

Exhibitors Want Sunday Shows

About the only public issue pending here now which the motion picture men are interested in is the Sunday opening proposition. There have been no developments in this movement recently, and when interviewed the majority of the exhibitors were pessimistic. They seemed to indicate that the matter would be dropped for the time being.

They state that there is no doubt but that Sunday shows are needed in Birmingham, or that the public wants them. If given an opportunity to demonstrate the proposition to the city commissioners and the Pastors Union, they say they could prove their contention.

This, however, the pastors will not hear too frankly admitting they are afraid of the competition with their churches. As long as the pastors with their more or less good-sized following stand ready to fight the matter the commisioners will not agree to the Sunday shows, although personally there is no doubt but that all three members of the city commission favor Sunday shows.

Exhibitors state that there can be no doubt but that Sunday shows are coming, it being merely a matter of time. And they apparently have decided to play a waiting game.

RALPH S. SILVER.

Lower Mississippi Valley Men Blame Producers for Neglect

Special to THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS

New Orleans, July 1.

TOO many productions, overcrowding the market with unwisely selected reels and unnecessary competition among theatre proprietors, have resulted in rather poor market conditions in Louisiana and Mississippi during the past few months.

Little attention paid by producers to needs of this section is blamed to an extent by theatre managers, who add that there appears to be a desire on the part of division representatives to push on them anything that happens to be on hand.

Exhibitors Dissatisfied

In many parts of Louisiana and Mississippi motion pictures are a very recent development, but the patrons are rapidly becoming educated and local managers declare that a higher standard and a better selection will be demanded in the future.

Information gathered from a number of places in the two states indicate that theatre managers are dissatisfied with the present service, and that there will be a number of changes in the booking arrangements.

New Orleans representatives of the film manufacturers believe that conditions will be better within the next few months. In the first place, the long summers tend to diminish the motion picture business, except in the coast resorts and airdomes, and in many points competition has gone to a ridiculous degree.

In some sections of New Orleans and in a number of other places in Louisiana and Mississippi local managers are endeavoring to give the people too much, showing from six to ten films at each performance, and so proving themselves so eager to get all the business there is and kill off competition that they are killing themselves by making it impossible for the patron to visit more than one performance during the evening.

Good State Sunday Business

Average seating capacities of theatres through the two states is about 300, but conditions vary considerably by sections. In New Orleans the average city conditions exist, but in the outside town there is practically no patronage of the theatres, except at night, and in many instances there is no opportunity to give more than two performances each evening.

However, through the state generally the films enjoy a lucrative Sunday business. As a general rule, the towns in both states that have had the most phenomenal growth in the past two or three years owe their prosperity to the lumber business, and the theatres in those places owe their patronage to the laboring element. In these places there is little or no business done except at night, and retiring hours are so early that the theatre manager must be satisfied with getting most of his patronage with one performance.

Agents Should Study Local Conditions

Many of the films sent to these towns are badly selected and over the heads of the audience, resulting in failure of the theatres to hold the business. Booking agents in this section seem largely unfamiliar with the conditions with which they have to deal in the various sections, especially in the French districts of Louisiana and in the many and extensive foreign settlements. Louisiana in particular is a peculiar state and representatives of film concerns would do well to familiarize themselves with conditions before attempting to advise local managers.

Average prices for admission are five and ten cents. In some of the larger cities feature productions up to twenty-five cents have done splendid business. But in this connection, too, the peculiar conditions come into consideration. There are only two really large cities in Louisiana, New Orleans and Shreveport, and there is no city in Mississippi with a population of over 25,000.

Some of the Factors

It is easy to see, therefore, how certain films that have done big business and have proved great successes on circuits composed of cities with the average population of say, 50,000, fail to meet success where the average is far less than one-fourth that number.

Still another element entering into the problem is the large colored population, there being a number of theatres catering exclusively to the negroes and many others who depend on the patronage of the blacks to pay expenses.

There is every prospect for increased demand in feature films, the representatives of the film companies report, and many of the towns, especially in those where the laboring element is strong the demand for the more sensational is keen.

Problem Plays Do Not Attract

The ordinary problem play and society drama is far above the heads of the average spectator outside of the larger cities, and the continued flooding of this section with society plays and dramas of upper strata big city life is ridiculous and is causing a loss of patronage.

Comedies and dramas with a punch and a liberal sprinkling of Western plays are demanded for the diversified programs, yet local managers are complaining that the Western plays are being overdone very badly and that their patrons are finding fault that there is too much sameness in them, too much mere horseback riding without real action.

One recent two-real drama which simply portrayed the theft of a sheriff's wife and a battle with the outlaw was condemned on many sides as being tiresome and pointless. Many managers say that producers of Western drama seem to think that when they have introduced a few horses and have provided considerable gun play they have done enough.

Some Fields Overcrowded

Relentless competition, caused as already stated by the tendency to make the programs too long, has resulted in quite a number of theatres closing during the past few months, and in some sections the field seems to be overcrowded.

This has come in some degree by a number of houses being started by men who are totally unfamiliar with the business, and who have believed success certain simply because another man in the same town is doing good business.

In such cases competition has brought in the distribution of prizes and souvenirs and all sorts of contests that have taken up the greater share of the profits.

Lack of Good Judgment

Film rental services have been decreased during the past year and there seem to be prospects that the rentals are going still lower unless there is a falling off in the present intense competition, and unless the newest producers cease offering all sorts of inducements and making claims for their film service that are not carried out. It is a fact the recital of which will probably be resented in film-producing circles that some one, either the manufacturers or the district representatives, are showing lack of business discretion in dealing with Louisiana and Mississippi conditions.

There is not a great deal of building in prospect for the coming months. During the past year there has been a distinct tendency of the regular theatres to abandon their bookings and substitute films.

This will continue if the manufacturers give varied programs of films that the average patron will understand, and cease attempting to pad out films that are not worth half the space that is being given them.

Chances for the Right Men

Both Louisiana and Mississippi are rich fields and there are many sections that have been barely touched, but the local managers in the two states generally are poorly organized and are badly in need of the interchange of views and the study of the film business.

What is the matter with motion picture conditions in Louisiana and Mississippi may best be summarized in this:

Lack of the proper organization of the theatre owners, failure on the part of many to understand the business both before and after entering the game, and unwise competition afterwards that tends to destroy the business of all concerned.

On the part of the manufacturers the chief trouble rests in the facts that they are undertaking to supply films to a people with whom they are unfamiliar, and that instead of studying these conditions they are apparently content with attempting to force on the public what they desire to supply.

R. E. Pritchard.

READY MARKET FOR "YELLOW" IN MONTANA

Special to The Motion Picture News

Billings, Mont., July 1.

A CAREFUL scrutiny of the local motion picture situation reveals two facts which stand out pre-eminently from the chaff of opinion, speculation and surmise. They are:

1. The public likes feature films and will pay an increased admission to see them.

2. The public craves sensations rather than photoplays of educational or esthetic value.

African Hunt Pictures Popular

While there are those who prefer the picture travelogue, current events, or productions of historical or educational value, they constitute only a small minority of the photoplay patrons. Just as the tired business man prefers musical comedy to grand opera, or vaudeville to the problem play, so the motion picture public prefers that which amuses or stimulates and excites the sympathies or emotions to those offerings which merely instruct.

This is generally true—the exception to which all rules are subject is also found among motion picture devotees. African hunt pictures, for instance, proved exceptionally popular, and the local house which showed them could not accommodate the crowds which sought admission.

On the other hand, "masterpieces" are shown on Wednesdays and Thursdays—the two dull days of the week. An explanation of the popularity of the hunt pictures may possibly be found in the fact that they combine the sensational and educational, with the emphasis on the sensational.

Business Forty Per Cent Better

To take up other features of the local situation, conditions may be summarized briefly as follows:

Business in the better patronized houses is fully forty per cent better than a year ago. All houses report an increase.

The average price of admission is ten cents, with twenty-five cents the maximum. Exhibitors believe the latter figure is the most the public will pay at the present time, although predicting that the time will come when double that amount may be charged for big features.

In Billings there are four motion picture theatres with an average seating capacity of 400, and a "legitimate" playhouse where photoplays are occasionally shown which seats about 2,000. During the past year there has been neither increase nor decrease in the number of theatres, and the chief improvements made were the remodeling of the Star Theatre at a cost of $3,000 and the redecorating of the Gem at a cost of about $1,000.

But two of the regular motion picture houses have sidewalk entrances. To reach the other two patrons must pass down a long corridor.

Society Films in Billings

In the Billings district, comprising eastern Montana and northern Wyoming, an occasional new house has sprung up here and there during the year, but nowhere has any great increase been noted. The territory is fairly well covered at the present time, and competition—if you ask the exhibitor—is "all the traffic will bear."

As stated above, Billings, a city of 16,000, has four houses on regular circuits and another which picks up occasional "strays" and shows them between-times when the house is otherwise idle.

Society films are supreme with the Billings public—quite naturally, as the country is only thirty years old—and comedy comes next. Western playes are condoned, but are not especially popular because so many are not true to actual conditions. Confidentially, Western people have a grudge against this class of productions for the reason that they portray the old West—the West of the Indian and the range rider, which long ago was relegated to a romantic past—and to that extent misrepresent a section of the country which is rapidly attaining a high degree of civilization. Foreign and educational films are nil in point of popularity, and are only used as "fillers."

Features Get Their Innings

Another word as to features: bona fide feature productions, say exhibitors, are growing in popularity more rapidly than any other class of plays.

"Give us more," the public cries, and the managers are doing their best to supply the demand. From this it may be gathered that the future of the business will most certainly require more big features, and, in the opinion of many Western exhibitors, future successes will be in direct ratio to the number of features produced and exhibited.

The time is coming, they say, when all-feature theatres will pay. They will not entirely supplant the variety house—if the term may be used to apply to pictures—but will make their presence felt, to say the least.

But the Features Must Be "Yellow"

And this also is true—the features must be sensational beyond all imaginings of the pioneers in the game. They must be "yellow."

"The louder the paper the quicker the public will come," is the way a director of the Montana Theatrical and Exhibitors League puts it.

In the matter of changes, exhibitors generally admit that while the daily change has many attractions, at the same time it does not give them time to properly advertise their programs, and for that reason is less desirable than three or four changes a week, with a new program, say, each Sunday.

Whether or not the daily change will be abolished is conjectural. If the exhibitors get together it may be—if they don't it will not. Just now it is a question of competition—if the other fellow advertises a daily change his competitor must, too.

Shy at "Long" Programs

Long programs, if "long" means more than six films, are not desired. Three to six seems to be the popular standard, according to their length. The public expects a show to last an hour or an hour and a half, and whatever length program will occupy that period is the one which exhibitors say will prove the most popular.

There is no prospect of amalgamation at the present time. Mergers have been tried, but have not proved successful, and indications are that locally, at least, the theatres will run along indefinitely as at present. There are signs, however, of co-operation as to price. While the managers have not been able to get together on any fixed basis, the probabilities are that before another year is up all playhouses will be operating under a price agreement which will eliminate cut-throat tactics and ruinous competition.

Service Rentals Increase a Third

Service rentals have increased fully a third during the past year, and exhibitors predict a still further increase as added features are "wished" on them faster than they have time to train the public appetite.

That this may not sound inconsistent with statements previously made, let it be understood that the producers apparently have sensed the public demand for features, and are turning them out as fast as the market can take care of them.

In one detail local exhibitors do not think manufacturers are paying enough attention to their needs, and that relates to the tendency to group productions of similar character instead of balancing them to conform to the public taste.

Greater diversification seems to be the present need of exhibitors, and the sooner manufacturers realize it the sooner they will restore harmony among their customers.

Gauging the Public Pocketbook

In closing, exhibitors declare both plan and price must inevitably go up, and already they are groping about in the dark of public opinion to see how far the public will go to get what it wants.

Exhibitors realize that the big features cost money, and that the added expense in the final analysis will have to be borne by the public. Whether or not the photoplay patrons will pay an admission commensurate with the character of the production he is demanding remains to be seen. That development of the business is still in the experimental stage.

T. A. Huntley.

Exhibitors In Idaho Complain That Producers Neglect the Market

Special to The Motion Picture News.

Boise, Idaho, July 1.

DIVERSIFIED programs, society, drama and educational, preferred; short programs not to exceed five or six reels well acted and telling the story and a popular admission price of ten cents is the opinion of the Western moving picture theatre managers in this territory. Through keen competition, they have carefully studied their audiences, surrounded them with every comfort and luxury known to the business. They are seeking to secure moving picture films that satisfy and are most successful with short reels and diversified programs although an occasional long special feature is a winner. But it only catches a certain crowd, unless exceedingly well advertised, while good reels on a general program with two changes a week are regarded as best business getters.

While there is a vast difference in opinion among managers relative to the best business getters, whether comedy, drama, or educational, they find that the western pictures do not take well in this country. They are often overdone, do not characterize the western type and only pull a small crowd, while foreign pictures do not take well at all and are seldom shown here and have not been for the past few years.

Sensational Features Not a Success in Boise

Sensational features are not big business winners in this section and it is believed by the managers that they will be less in demand in the future. There seems to prevail an opinion that the sensation is often overdrawn and while an occasional sensation feature which stays within the bounds draws a crowd for a time, it is not nearly as successful in filling the house as a diversified program.

Film service rentals have not increased in this territory during the past year, except on a few of the larger productions. Theatre managers are unanimous in their opinion that the manufacturers do not begin to pay enough attention to their market and that this phase of the motion picture business must be remedied and the manufacturers brought face to face with conditions.

Probably the most important question to motion picture theatre managers is the one relative to what productions please most and will bring the most business.

This question was put to four managers in one night. They were asked to ponder it carefully, consult their cash receipts and upon finally getting answers, they were as follows:

No. 1 manager says, "Society, drama and educational."

No. 2, "Comedy, society and educational, also travelogues, very few western and still fewer foreign."

No. 3, "Society, comedy and western."

No. 4 declares that when subjects are good there is no discrimination.

It may be of interest to know that manager No. 2 tried out western productions to some extent and even featured them with special singers, but found they were not a success here only in rare cases.

Keen Competition: Up-to-date Theatres

There is probably no city in the West with a population of 25,000 where the motion picture theatres are better than in Boise. Competition is keen and the managers have arranged their buildings with every conveniences, comfort and luxury known in the business.

There are four theatre buildings here, two were especially designed for motion picture show buildings and two were large store rooms remodelled for the business. A special ventilation plant was installed in one theatre forcing the cool air from the cellar into the building, making it cool on the hottest day.

The others have installed special fans for ventilation while fans on both sides the house are constantly going in all the theatres. A special feature at two of the theatres and one which is proving a winner is the clocks installed at two of the theatres directly in front of the audience and to one side of the picture curtain.

Owing to the fact that a number of interurban cars run out of Boise, this novelty has proven popular here and especially so as the clocks are those regulated by the Western Union, thus assuring accurate time and permitting those having to go at a certain time, to enjoy the pictures knowing that they can depend upon the time and catch their cars or train.

The average seating capacity of the theatres here is 500. Two of the houses will run above that mark and the other two possibly a little below.

During the past year no new improvements have been made and while business has been slow for the past two months, it is doubtful if any of the houses go out of business, except, perhaps one, which has been operated for but a few weeks by an amateur and is really the fifth theatre house in the city, although it caters more to vaudeville than to motion pictures.

Big Specials Are Uncertain

High class pictures and numerous special features have been shown here more during the past year than previous. Some of the big specials have had a big run, while others, equally as good, have not been well patronized, while diversified programs run of the same night have brought good houses, according to a report of one of the theatre houses. It is this manager's opinion that it is hard to tell just what the public demand most, but he believes that any good production with an occasional change will bring out a crowd to a ten cent show while they might not come out if the price was higher, although if the productions warrant 25 cents admission, he does not think there will be any objection to raising the price. But he does not believe the present productions warrant a change in the admission price.

A rise in quality might warrant a corresponding rise in prices.

J. M. Floyd.

WEST IN STATE OF UNREST AND TRANSITION

Special to The Motion Picture News.

Kansas City, Mo., July 1.

THE great Southwest speaks in no other terms to the motion picture than prosperity. The biggest wheat crop in Kansas and Missouri in ten years, cheering prospects for a huge corn crop, and a steady development in all the lines that make up the wealth of the surrounding states, predict a big year.

And, as the motion picture theatre quickly catches any drift toward either adversity or prosperity, business looks promising for at least the next eight or nine months.

Theatres Increase in Small Towns

This territory, however, has gone through several bad years, and in some respects the motion picture business has been dull. But the smaller towns outside of Kansas City in this territory have shown an increase in the number of theatres. The smaller towns now are installing picture shows and in the larger cities bigger and better showhouses are being constructed.

In Kansas City, though, there has been a decrease in their actual number—but a rather startling increase in the seating capacity of the showhouses.

This is explained easily. Kansas City has built several large theatres recently that have forced out of business two, possibly three, smaller ones. The prevailing type of theatre in this district still is the store show, with an average seating capacity of from three to four hundred. But that is passing. The list of bigger showhouses, averaging a seating capacity of six hundred, built within the last year and a half, is interesting. The Royal, the Electric, the Gladstone, the St. John, the Merit, the Bancroft, the Apollo, the Ellsworth, the Highland, the Gilham, the Benton, the Bonaventure, the Queen, the American, the Colonial and the Emerald are all of recent construction. Besides these, the Willis Wood, formerly the leading "legitimate" theatre in the city, has been converted to the silent drama.

Admission Stays at Five Cents

The price of admission here still remains at five cents, although one house is experimenting with ten and twenty-cent admissions and several charge a dime on several days a week.

The Willis Wood ran for several weeks with an admission price of twenty-five cents. The higher admission fee has been charged only when a long program consisting of big features was given.

Features Lose Appeal

The status of the feature film is rather in doubt in this territory. A tendency is being evidenced to get away from it and to return to the former one-reel pictures.

When feature films are shown here they must be either of a classical or a sensational production of a popular play or story. Many long, multiple-reel features of uninteresting subjects have been shown here in the last few months and have caused complaint among theatre patrons.

"The program of the future, at least here, must consist of one-reel subjects with only an occasional two or three-reel feature," an exchange man who is thoroughly in touch with local conditions said recently.

"But these single-reel pictures must show the same character of acting and of setting as the eight or nine-reel features. The longer subject frequently becomes uninteresting and redounds to the discredit of the show."

Personally the writer believes the exchange man's ideas are correct. Other exchange men, however, are pinning their faith to the longer feature. Several houses here are increasing the length of their program, but, apparently, there is little demand for that. The program of three or four reels seems to be filling the bill with complete changes every day.

Taboo Red Light Pictures

The strength of the diversified program in this city is shown by the demand for films. Western, society, comedy and sensation pictures almost comprise the list, with each in about the same amount. The anti-vice film, depicting stories of the red-light districts, has been on the whole a failure here. One such reel, despite the general apathy, has been shown repeatedly and is still drawing the crowds. It is almost alone in that field.

The future here will see a gradual disappearance of the storeroom shows and a gradual increase in the number of specially built houses. It probably will witness also an increase in the cost of film rental service.

Excessive competition and purely local conditions have forced the prices down, according to exchange men, until they are on the whole lower here than in many other cities.

This will be rectified slowly perhaps, as the standard of the single reel subjects increases. And, too, an increase in the number of rentals is certain to follow.

So far this year there has been little change in conditions. But much is expected in the immediate future.

George E. Quisenberry.

Omaha Is Feature-Mad, But Exhibitors Want "Short Stuff"

Special to The Motion Picture News.

Omaha, Neb., July 1.

IF unsettled conditions prevail in any part of the motion picture world, it is in the Middle West of the United States. Business here is reaching a capacity it has never known before. Exhibitors are just beginning to erect special structures for the exhibition of motion pictures and are beginning to move out of remodeled buildings.

Omaha and its territory have been called upon within the last two weeks to support a fifth exchange. The state branch of the M. P. E. L. A. is one of the most advanced in the country, and there is an intense activity in the city branch here.

But there are problems.

Cutthroat competition is a reality and standardized admission is a fond dream still far away in the future.

Omaha Is Feature-Mad

Omaha is going feature-mad, according to the exhibitors of regular programs. Exchange men say the list of feature exhibitors is growing every day. A number of theatres, regular motion picture houses, as well as the legitimate theatres that are being used for pictures during the summer months, are running features exclusively.

And Omaha exhibitors have a decided kick to make to the manufacturers.

They want more "short stuff," that is, half-reel or one-reel pictures.

Lively comedies, heart-dramas, educational films and once in a while a two or three-reel feature to mix in—and advertise big—are what the local trade want.

Exhibitors Keen for Standard Price

The average price of admission in Omaha is ten cents for theatres showing regular programs and fifteen cents for houses showing big features. In the congested district—one corner, for instance, where there are five motion picture theatres within 100 feet—the price is five cents. The Omaha public will pay a regular price of ten cents and twenty-five cents admission to the big feature shows.

Exhibitors would like to see the standard price ten cents for the regular shows and do away with cutthroat competition in some parts that has been spoiling business for orderly shows.

When theatres get to plastering the front of the house with huge banners bearing the words: "Blood! Blood! Blood!" and then, when the patron gets inside, showing him a common, slow picture, it is tempting destruction.

A local newspaper caused much comment recently when it ran a series of articles, saying the motion picture theatres were taking the place of the cheap yellow-backed novels we read when we were kids. "Jesse James in Novels Gives Way to Jesse James in Moving Pictures," read one scare-headline. The better class of exhibitors raised a protest, of course. But they admitted the sensational advertisers couldn't be blamed. It was the competition.

Frequent changes in the management of a number of down-town theatres indicate that some will discontinue business soon. They are known to be losing money. The weakest must succumb in the competition. They are having an uphill pull that is proving too hard.

Foreign Features Are Popular

How to standardize admissions and prices so these places can compete and let the best survive is a problem local exhibitors are anxious to see solved. Regular patronage, desired by all exhibitors, is now enjoyed by only three of Omaha's down-town theatres.

Foreign pictures, shown in features, are popular in Omaha.

Out in the state and in the down-town districts of the cities, sensational features are in demand. The small towns are, however, rapidly developing a hunger for really classical features that threatens to bring on a dearth in the market unless more is produced.

When the motion picture business is standardized in Omaha the exhibitors will have two changes a week. Four or five reels will make a show. And the shows will be of such a nature that the patrons will be well satisfied. Needless to say, this is what exhibitors want.

The introduction of a recent ordinance threatens to halt growth of the business in the Omaha residential district for a short time. The ordinance refuses permission to build new motion picture theatres in the residence district.

Five new theatres have gone up in Omaha this spring and more are coming if the ordinance can be overcome. No amalgamations of theatres are being made to quell competition. Exhibitors agree such amalgamations would be hailed as a Godsend in some parts of the city, but it is a groundless hope.

Small Towns Want Better Films

Out in the state the motion picture business is passing the experimental stage for the first time this summer. The made-over opera-house is giving way to the cool, specially constructed motion picture theatre. The small towns are rapidly getting away from the cheaper films and are taking up a higher class with great success.

All the Omaha exchanges report greatly increased sales of motion picture machines, indicating that business is going to be better than ever. The machines are going all over Nebraska, Iowa, South Dakota and Kansas from Omaha.

Exhibitors at all the league meetings are getting to censor the manufacturers. "More short stuff!" is the cry.

"Where can I get a good, lively one-reel drama?" asked an exhibitor. "I can't get it.

"I don't want a six-reel feature. Condense a four-reel feature into two reels and give it to me—something bubbling over with action. I want a short comedy with real laughs in it. I want a one-reel drama full of thrills and emotions. Where can I get them?"

Such was the plea from nearly a dozen of the leading exhibitors, not only of Omaha, but of the state.

At a meeting of the Omaha branch of the M. P. E. L. A. last week the increasing length of features was deplored in a series of talks. And the Nebraska branch's representatives at the national convention will voice the same sentiment.

Exchange Men See Promising Future

Exchange men in Omaha declare they are looking into a future more promising than ever before. Of course there is competition here, and it has grown since a new exchange was started two weeks ago. There is a constant fear on the part of exchange men that cutting prices may be started. Not a theatre in Omaha's territory discards one service but what it has repeated and earnestly presented opportunities to take four other services. Several of the largest theatres in Omaha have changed their service recently.

The quantity of films shipped from Omaha has increased nearly one-fourth within the last year, say the exchange managers. They decline to say, of course, how much the income has increased, but they point to an increased number of employees, better equipped headquarters and progressive conditions all about.

"What do you think will be done at the national convention?" was the question asked The Motion Picture News representative in his trips from theatre to theatre and in the letters sent in from out in the state.

Every exhibitor in this state and in Omaha's territory is watching the convention. What is he thinking? What is he hoping for?

He wants the same fair, square chance that he would have if he owned a grocery store or were in any other business, and he wants it bad, especially since the business is growing, growing, growing. And he is hoping the convention will help him realize his desire.

Guy P. Leavitt.

Denver Sees Salvation In Combine to Stop Competition

Special to The Motion Picture News.

Denver, July 1.

THE consolidation of the motion-picture interests and the monopoly of productions to control the flood of films is the logical ultimate salvation of the motion-picture industry, is predicted and to no little degree anticipated by the majority of Denver film men.

When competition has reached a point where it menaces not only its own cycle, but casts a grim shadow of failure over the entire industry, then the adage that "competition is the life of trade" may well be erased and "co-operation through the medium of consolidation" be written indelibly in its stead.

Undoubtedly in the opinion of the local interests the curbing has passed beyond control of exhibitors with the influx of feature films and a disregard of the future by their exploiters nothing short of universal control of the production will suffice.

"A couple of billion dollars combine" aptly expresses the proportions that the motion picture has assumed and the magnitude of the controlling power, according to S. L. Baxter, owner of the Isis, perhaps the finest house in the West.

"Industry Needs One Head," Says Manager

"What the photoplay needs is one head, one power, one master mind trained to the needs of the field, to grasp the reins and check the mad race in which the industry is moving.

"The motion picture is only where drama was when the alleged trust took hold and organized and placed upon a sound business basis the commercial end of the drama," says C. C. Percy, manager of the Paris Quarter, a million-dollar house.

H. E. Ellison, manager of the Colonial and the Plaza, the first exclusive weekly stand to embody the higher ideals of the silent art, said:

"A process of elimination will surely take place. The public is daily becoming more exacting in its demands. This latest art is being advanced to a higher development, and a new era of management has dawned. Consolidation is the eventual solution."

Perhaps no city in America presents such conditions as Denver. Graced by as fine a lot of theatres as is found anywhere in the land. There are two blocks of theatres in the motion-picture district, where the investments aggregate more than a million dollars.

Denver Suffers from Five-Cent Standard

Denver has long suffered from the five-cent menace; not from the fact that the public would not pay more for amusement, but from lack of organization and co-operation of the interests involved.

The interest in photoplays can be readily realized when it is known that almost the entire population attends pictures every week, in spite of the long programs. In spite of the influx of features the patronage has remained even during the past six months.

True, there is a steady dropping off of the one-time "fan," who was the daily guest at his favorite house. This species is almost extinct now.

This is accredited to many causes by many managers. They said that it has come from the concentrating upon the lengthy programs of five, six and seven reels of which Denver is now in the grip, and which tires the spectator, from whom are heard expressions like, "There's nothing new in pictures; they don't interest us as they used to."

The writer, in interest of the argument, questioned hundreds of old fans, who a year ago never missed a day at the pictures, but now rarely attend. One out of every hundred will credit it to anything but the long programs that are produced.

To this argument the present exhibitors bring the same answer: "Yes, the public do not want more than three or four reels, but what can I do when the others are showing six and seven reels, although the public want no more? They feel cheated if I show less."

New Clientele Takes Place of Old Fans

However, instead of the fan there has grown a new clientele, recruited from the legitimate patrons, stock house-goers, readers, influenced to attend by their acquaintance with the adaptations presented with celebrated stars. Only the price now stands in the way of a larger patronage from this class.

They refuse to pay a nickel, and it has only been within the past few months that local exhibitors realize it is foolish to expect people to spend ten cents carfare to spend a nickel for amusement, and have raised the price to ten and twenty cents.

Now there are five principal houses charging ten cents two and three days a week. They play to a larger patronage than formerly.

The opening of the Plaza has thrown the strongest light on the photodrama entertainment than any other venture recently mentioned, and its relation to the future of the industry is vital.

Boldly this theatre, facing in a city of a quarter of a million people enough amusement enterprises, has flaunted its ideas and ideals in the face of competition, demanding a permanent advanced admission, and it inaugurated a schedule of four performances a day. The first week the receipts were more than to justify the defiant, somewhat altruistic attitude of the management.

Feature Film Far Ahead of Single Reels

The feature film is foremost in popularity in this city, single reels failing to attract. The loss of the "fan" has broken the back of the single reel's appeal.

Denver, like other cities, has had a flood of "slave dope" meant to attract sensation-loving and the deprayed. But they were disappointed in not seeing as much crime depicted as they expected, and the patronage failed, with the result that true dramatic patronage with its appeal to modern minds has taken the rightful hold upon people.

The foreign films, with their erotic emotions and their lack of sympathy appealing to American hearts, the exploitation of affairs and passions not in accord with American understanding, failed to draw. Likewise American productions with Civil War locale, and Revolutionary days. There are only the two extremes in period the logical kind of films: ancient spectacle and the ultra-modern drama. Nineteen hundred years is a chasm which the photodrama must span to appeal to the present-day audience.

Public Does Not Demand Lurid Films

That the public does not demand the lurid and the vile, but accepts it because it is offered, is expressed in a remark of one exhibitor. He said: "A street-car conductor calls the station, a man gets up, goes to the door and steps to the street, and unconsciously hangs on a full block before he can get off."

It emphasizes the demand for modern entertainment. "Speed," declared the manager. "If I could, I would screen a reel in seven minutes instead of fifteen, and please more people by doing so."

The play that has sharp, clean, speedy action, quick turns of plot and suspense is the only thing acceptable to the public to-day. Artistry need not be sacrificed to speed. The modern locomotive that travels seventy miles an hour is better to look upon than the engine of a decade ago."

Sensational scenes have until the present time satisfied this demand for speed, but the audiences refuse to sit through four reels of dragging action to see an automobile plunge over a cliff.

Day of Daily Change Is Past

No little emphasis may be placed upon the influence of the "fan" as well as the feature production. The daily change is now considered illogical. Two, three, four, or even seven-day engagements are common. Admission price has ceased to be an issue locally, nearly all agreeing that the public will respond regardless of price. There is a realization abroad that quality is the dominating factor in the present-day entertainment.

While ten or twenty cents is the maximum asked for larger attractions, with the increasing quality of the productions and as the prejudice is being overcome, accompanied by an understanding of the magnitude and the expense of photoplay production being assimilated by the playgoers, exhibitors are optimistic of the future.

Complaints Against Producers and Exchanges

The disregard of the exchange men and the manufacturers of the interest of the exhibitors, their listless attitude to advertising and the lack of co-operation with the theatres, have been active agents against the proper exploitation of superior attractions. Because of this many magnificent productions have died an inglorious death. Plays deserving wide advertising and dignified presentation flicker on or off, often without a mark of memory.

The speed with which the industry is traveling is credited with this neglect of publicity by one manager, although others are not prone to accept this excuse.

"If I go to a fountain for ice cream do they say, 'Eat it with your hands'? or do they give the customer a spoon," asked one exhibitor. "Then why should I put on shows without proper methods to serve the public?"

In spite of many annoyances and the failure to co-operate, business manages to hover around normal of the business barometer, with inclinations to climb, as newer ideals are grasped by the public and exhibitor alike.

S. Barrett McCormick.

SOUTHWEST MARKET IS FULL OF PROMISE

(Special to The Motion Picture News.)

El Paso, Tex., July 1.

HORACE GREELEY'S advice: "Go West, young man, and grow up with the country," is applicable to the motion picture business in El Paso.

In the past two years El Paso has undergone an evolution in the motion picture game for the reason that the trend of the manufacturer, superinduced by the exhibitor who was first to realize the "picture" possibilities of this section, has been westward.

Both the manufacturer and the exhibitor who have followed the westward travel of the films have prospered.

Rapid Building Strides

Two years ago El Paso boasted of three picture houses, the Crystal, Wigwam and Majestic, the latter a combination house which it still is. At that time there was only one film exchange, the W. H. Swanson concern, which opened its offices in the Litle Caples Building, at the intersection of San Antonio street and Mesa avenue. The exchange still maintains its office in that building.

The Crystal and Wigwam were both on San Antonio street. The Majestic was on Broadway. The Crystal was running a two-reel show while the Wigwam ran three. There were daily changes of program at both theatres.

The Majestic was drawing the crowds with pictures and vaudeville, in a majority of instances putting on tabloid musical comedies with the motion pictures.

From that first beginning in the business to the present thousands of dollars have been spent in the erection of motion picture houses. There is now under construction the Alhambra, El Paso's latest film house, which when completed is to cost $45,000. It will have a seating capacity of 700, and in addition to that will embody the latest features of motion picture houses in the East. The new structure is of Moorish design.

From three picture theatres three years ago the number has grown to thirteen, and the seating capacity of all the houses will average 400.

$6,000 Remodelling for the Year

The Unique was the first modern motion picture house to be erected in El Paso. That was followed by the Grecian, the new Wigwam, Bijou, Eureka, Hidalgo, Liberty, Star, a remodelled Majestic, Lyric, City of Mexico, Smelter Theatre, and motion pictures for the soldiers at Fort Bliss. In addition to the building expenditures $6,000 has been spent within the past year for remodeling and repairs.

With the increase in the number of theatres came the film exchange. For a time the Swanson firm had the field to itself. Then the Mutual Film Corporation opened headquarters in the Trust Building, corner of San Antonio and Stanton streets. The Consolidated Film and Supply Company established headquarters in the Mills Building on North Oregon street. The Warner Feature Film Company moving into the same building on last June 15 is the latest exchange in El Paso.

Business Expanding Westward

The increase in the demand for films occasioned by the growth of the motion picture houses was really responsible for bringing the film exchanges to El Paso. Besides, the growth of the business was, extending westward taking in Arizona and New Mexico, two states, which like El Paso, are yet pioneers in the motion picture line.

Another reason for the advent of the film exchanges is that El Paso is the logical point for handling the New Mexico and Arizona territory.

The exchanges have enabled the exhibitor to get a better grade of pictures, and at the same time affording the exhibitor the certainty of showing the pictures he has advertised.

Before the exchange men came the exhibitor on many occasions was compelled to substitute old reels for those he had advertised. Delays in deliveries in most instances was responsible for that, or the inability of the film exchange dealt with to supply the promised picture.

Require Better Pictures

The patrons of motion picture houses have kept pace with the progressive strides of the exhibitors. Pictures shown two years ago would now show to dark houses. the patrons of to-day has been educated and he is demanding a high-grade production.

As far as the patrons are concerned in the aggregate, the exhibitor in El Paso has a nondescript audience to deal with. There is a class that highly appreciates classical productions, but that class is not sufficient in number to support a house showing only that character of pictures.

At least one-third of the population of El Paso are Mexicans, and Mexicans are classed by the exhibitors among their best patrons. While exhibitors give the manufacturers the credit of keeping in close touch with the motion picture business in the different territories, the local exhibitors here say they have not been careful enough in the class of pictures they have sent here that dealt with Mexican characters.

Bad Selection of Mexican Subjects

From the standpoint of the exhibitor the manufacturer should keep strictly away from the Mexican situation, restricting their productions exclusively to historical events dealing with Mexico. The business of several local houses which play almost exclusively to Mexican patrons have suffered because of these ill-timed productions.

The Mexicans as a race are sensitive and do not appreciate a scene where they are made ridiculous.

Any picture that tends to humiliate him is offensive and a house showing that sort of picture will notice a material depreciation in the number of its Mexican patrons.

Ten cents is the regular price of admission at all of the houses, and there is not the slightest indication that the price will ever be advanced. Anyhow, it will only be in the years that are to come, and then only when El Paso boasts of a real feature house. The standard price for classical productions is fifteen and twenty-five cents, but this raise must not occur at frequent intervals if the exhibitor wants to keep his patrons in a good humor.

Do Not Want Too Many Classics

A classical production being shown once a month at the advanced prices will be accepted with good grace, but shown oftener than that will result in dissension among the patrons. The exhibitor who persists in showing more than one classical production a month at advanced prices is playing a losing game. The number that really appreciates classical productions and will attend every production of that kind, no matter how often, is greatly in the minority, and the exhibitor whose hobby is classical productions will not prosper. Taking into consideration the fact that the patrons of picture houses here are nightly-goers and the great majority of that class will not support classical productions at advanced prices shown more than once a month, the exhibitor showing a diversified program is the man that is reaping the profits. A program consisting of a two-reel feature and a one-reel comedy is the one that nets the business and sends away satisfied patrons.

Mexicans Want Westerns

The demand for feature films and good comedies is about equal Picture houses in the Mexican section of the city do a good business with Western films. Standard books and plays reduced to motion picture form always draw a good crowd. The demand for sensational pictures has all but died out.

There is not the slightest indication that the daily change of program will be abolished in favor of any less changes. The reason is that practically the same patrons attend the theatre nightly. Long programs are not in demand. Patrons will sit through a six or seven reel standard production shown once a month and not complain.

Each exhibitor considers that El Paso is a good field for the business even with the present number of houses. They are of the opinion that there is money enough for all.

The exhibitor who steadily keeps his price down to ten cents is the man accredited with making the real success in showing motion pictures. There are a number of Mexican theatres that only charge five cents for admission, and these are running three reels with the customary daily change.

Nickel Houses for Mexicans

But in these theatres wooden benches are used for seats, and these are crowded into every available space. Mexicans are the patrons of these nickel theatres and they are packed into them like sardines in a can. The Americans and better class of Mexicans demand a strictly sanitary place with plenty of room. These will not go into a house where they have to be crowded. Yet the nickel man is making the money and will continue to do so until a city ordinance cuts down his seating capacity to its correct dimensions.

Lose Patronage Through "Ad" Slides

In the work of educating the patrons the exhibitor has lost what was perhaps at one time considered one of his best sources of revenue—the advertising slide. To-day there is not a picture house in El Paso throwing an advertising slide on its screen.

There was a time when the patrons had to sit for fifteen or twenty minutes while the operator ran the advertisement slides of local merchants and others. Patrons stood this for some time, but it was only recently that the exhibitor realized the possibility of losing his patronage if there was a continuance of the "ad" slides.

So also the exhibitor realized that it was the patron that supported his place of business and not the advertising merchant. While it was a struggle to give up that source of revenue the exhibitor made the sacrifice in behalf of the patron, and again the El Paso exhibitor displayed his wisdom.

Herein lies the real reason for the success of the prospering El Paso exhibitor; his willingness and readiness to be pleasant to his patron. The success of the local exhibitor, after all, is based on his friendly relationship with his patron. This he considers his greatest asset. But the friendship of the patron ceases when the exhibitor shows him second-rate pictures.

R. G. Chapman.

Five Cent Theatre Is Yielding In Los Angeles to Higher Prices

Special to The Motion Picture News.

Los Angeles, July 1.

LOS ANGELES is seeing the passing of the five-cent motion picture theatre, and the building up of very substantial business on the ten, fifteen, twenty, and even thirty-cent admission fee basis.

Five-Cent Houses Out of the Running

During the past week three five-cent houses have closed, and two suburban theatres have changed their programs and stepped into the ten-cent class. Of the number of five-cent houses now in this city where there are more than one hundred motion picture theatres, there are less than twenty that charge less than ten cents admission, and of the twenty a majority of the managers argue that the bottom has fallen out, as compared with business of one year ago.

With the downtown and suburban houses, where ten cents or more is charged, there is little complaint, and, generally speaking, business is good.

Practically all of the ten-cent houses have orchestras, show programs consisting of three, four, or five-reel features, with no more than six reels on the program, except in rare instances, and aim to keep away from the single-reel numbers unless they have exceptional quality.

Big Center of the Industry Arouses Interest

Probably the greatest success in the motion picture field of the greatest motion picture city in the country —greatest because of the many studios, film manufacturing plants, and general interest in the film industry— is that of W. H. Clune, who recently leased the Auditorium, the former home of all grand opera, musical recitals, etc., with a seating capacity of more than 2,500. The house has been drawing capacity crowds afternoon and evening at ten, twenty and thirty cents.

During the two weeks prior to the opening of the Auditorium for pictures, Mr. Clune advertised in every way possible, using twenty inches of space daily in the five leading newspapers, and 24-sheet stands on the most conspicuous boards, announcing the policy of his new house —for he has two other theatres in the retail business section—and telling of the twenty-piece orchestra and his intention to give continuous programs from noon to five and seven to eleven daily.

He urged all to "watch for the fireworks on the opening night." And thousands packed the city park just south of the Auditorium, because they could not gain admission, and saw the electrical fountain blaze forth the name of Clune every minute, amid a shower of red and green sparks.

The Auditorium is an eleven-story building located on a slightly higher level than the business section, and the sign can be plainly seen to the city limit in all directions except north.

No Serious Competition from Vaudeville

The opening bill was "Home, Sweet Home," a D. W. Griffith production, from the local Majestic-Reliance studio. And this has since been followed by such features as "War Is Hell," "A Million Bid," "The Spoilers" (two weeks), "Mr. Barnes of New York," and "Antony and Cleopatra." All the programs have been generously advertised on the billboards and in newspapers, and with gratifying results to the management of the big motion picture theatre.

Local motion picture theatre owners and studio managers believe there is a place for the five-cent theatre, with short pictures of one and not more than two reels, in the shopping districts, where people may rest for half an hour or an hour during the day. But for the evening amusement, it is generally conceded Los Angeles picture fans want the feature programs with good music, which is impossible for the five-cent admission houses.

The competition of the vaudeville houses does not materially affect the motion picture theatres. In addition to the Orpheum, with seats at from ten cents to one dollar, there are four other vaudeville houses. Pantage's gives a nine-act program for ten, twenty and thirty, but does not draw away the line from Clune's Broadway, two doors away, where six reels are shown for ten, fifteen and twenty. And within two blocks is the Hippodrome, with ten acts, and any of the three thousand seats for ten cents; the Republic, with nine acts for ten cents; and the Empress, of the S. & C. circuit, with ten acts for ten, twenty and thirty cents.

One Person in Five Attends Every Day

Of the other retail district theatres, the Woodley, Tally's Broadway, the Alhambra, National and Lyceum, it has been found the larger subjects—and those without padding—from one and two reels to four and six reels—are the best attractions.

All of the larger theatres are free users of newspaper space and very frequently the space occupied in the local newspapers by the motion picture theatres is twice as great as that of all other theatres.

Some motion picture theatre managers—through columns of trade papers—have voiced their opinion that it would be detrimental to exhibitors generally for people to be taken into the confidence of motion picture manufacturers and shown how the films are made, but this cannot be proved in Los Angeles.

Here people are accustomed to seeing the companies working on streets, at business houses, in parks and studios, and it is generally believed these public exhibitions greatly increase the interest in films, at least statistics gathered from all exhibitors show that about one person in five attends a theatre daily.

If the west coast city with its mountains, sea and sunshine, which make it the ideal place for film-making, and where seventy per cent of the domestic pictures are made, can be taken as the leader in matters pertaining to picture theatres of the future, by virtue of its large photoplayer population, it is a very safe prediction that sooner or later the five-cent houses will be succeeded by larger ones where feature films will be shown and the musical numbers will be on a quality basis with the programs of the finest theatres.

J. C. Jessen.

"IN THE SHADOW OF DISGRACE"

(Edison—Two Reels)

REVIEWED BY PETER MILNE

THE cast of this picture, which is quite large and able, includes Mabel Trunnelle, Herbert Prior and Yale Benner. It is evident that Mabel Trunnelle does not turn up her nose at any part she may be called upon to take, and here she is a simple country girl who, quite naturally, is loved by a squire. They are married secretly and he is called away to India. She is cast out from her home, but later her husband returns and the two live happily together.

The picture is marked by its unconventionality and is very well acted and staged. The rural scenes are most realistic and beautiful. Some of these are worthy of more than passing notice; a pretty waterfall is shown, and the numerous scenes beside the country stream lend the desired atmosphere to the picture. Nothing sensational appears at all, in fact, the action is even slow in parts, but it is of a kind that will appeal to all, especially those who admire good acting and a pretty story.

COMPLETE PICTURE OPERATORS' COMMISSION

Special to The Motion Picture News

Rochester, N. Y., July 1.

The motion picture operators' commission has been completed by Mayor H. H. Edgerton, who has named two additional men to act on the board. They are Commissioner of Public Safety Charles S. Owen and Ervin Saterds.

The appointment of the additional members paves the way for the holding of the test for the Italian operators, and for candidates who recently failed to qualify on the first test. The next examination will not be held for ten days, at least.

"THE IRON MAN"

(Gaumont—Three Reels)

REVIEWED BY A. DANSON MICHELL

A THREE-REEL mystery story, told in the style that has made the Gaumont Company famous. This firm, although doing splendid work in other lines, excel in detective stories, or plots that have strong mystery for their foundation. The "Fantomas" series are a proof of this fact.

This story combines mystery with fast action. Unfortunately the photography is poor and not in any way up to Gaumont standard. The print seen, however, could be bettered by clearer tinting and deeper developing.

The disappearance of Philip Travers, an American millionaire, brings Barnet Parker, who has appeared in a number of other stories in a like capacity, on the job. Rochecombe Castle, where the Count and Countess of Severnac hold full sway, is visited by the detective after some difficulty in getting an introduction.

He finds that Travers had been waylaid in an inn nearby and, going there himself, makes a thorough search, discovering that the hotel and the castle are connected. He also finds clues to enable him to see that the cellar had once held Travers a captive.

Winning considerable money from the Count puts him in disfavor and he is captured and thrown bound in the cellar. He frees himself and returns to the room above. The iron man, an automatic skeleton armor, which operates when something is pushed against it, is used against its owner by Parker. The Countess is captured without any difficulty, and the other conspirator is trapped in a sliding door. The police are called in and make their arrests.

"ARMS AND THE GRINGO"

(Majestic—Two Reels)

REVIEWED BY PETER MILNE

THE scene of action, as the title indicates, is laid on the border between Mexico and the United States. The story deals with the dishonesty of some few Americans, who make a business of smuggling arms across the border to sell to the Mexicans. This idea is not untrue and for this reason the story is more entertaining than it would be without the truth. The plot is an entertaining one, and one that will hold all with its intense and absorbing situations.

A well-known cast performs; all of whom do wonderfully well. Dorothy Gish, F. A. Lowery, Wallace Reid, Fred Kelsey and H. Gaye are the main characters. Miss Gish is the only woman in the cast, and it is well that there is no other. As it is, she outshines all the male actors that perform and they do excellent work.

Sullivan, a young officer in the United States Army, is accused of smuggling arms across the border. Through the efforts of his sweetheart he is exonerated and the real culprits captured. The film seems a little light-struck in places, but otherwise is perfect.

"SHORTY TURNS JUDGE"

(Broncho—Two Reels)

REVIEWED BY PETER MILNE

IT would be difficult to find a better comedy-drama than this. The two are not mixed, as is usually the case, but the first reel is almost entirely drama and the second is devoted to the comedy.

Shorty Hamilton appears in the leading role, as in the other pictures of this series. Once again he is accused of murder and once again he escapes with the aid of his faithful friends. While wandering about, waiting for a safe time to show his face again, he finds a judge that is journeying to his town, who has been bitten by a snake. Shorty impersonates the judge and returns. Some of his fellow cowboys are on trial, and he, of course, frees them all. They discover the deception and loudly nominate him for sheriff.,

The
Motion Picture News
MOVING PICTURE NEWS EXHIBITORS' TIMES
Published Every Week by
EXHIBITORS' TIMES, Inc.
220 West 42nd Street, New York City
Telephone Bryant 7650
Chicago Office.....604 Schiller Building
WM. A. JOHNSTON.....President
HENRY F. SEWALL.....Vice-President
E. KENDALL GILLETT.....Secretary
WENTWORTH TUCKER.....Treasurer

WM. A. JOHNSTON.....Editor
MERRITT CRAWFORD.....Managing Editor
LESLEY MASON.....News Editor
E. J. HUDSON.....Circulation Manager
E. KENDALL GILLETT.....Advertising and Business Manager
C. J. VERHALEN.....Chicago Manager

This publication is owned and published by Exhibitors' Times, incorporated under the laws of the State of New York. The offices and principal place of business are at 220 West 42nd Street, New York City. The address of the officers is the office of the publication.
Entered as Second-Class matter at the New York Post-Office.

Subscription $2.00 per year, postpaid in the United States, Mexico, Hawaii, Porto Rico and the Philippine Islands. Canada $3.00, Foreign $4.00 per year.
ADVERTISING RATES on application.

Copy for next issue must reach us by Wednesday 11 a. m.
For Releases see Pages 114, 116, 118, 120
For Buyers Guide See Page 109

Cuts and copy are received subject to the approval of the publishers and advertisements are inserted absolutely without condition expressed or implied as to what appears in the text portion of the paper.

Vol. X July 11, 1914 No. 1

What Will Happen At Dayton?

A GOOD deal of real interest is being manifested throughout the trade in the outcome of the Dayton convention.

The questions being generally asked are:

"How large will the convention be?" and "What will it accomplish?"

* * *

THE committee in charge has announced that convention interests will be kept foremost, that matters of entertainment and the like will not be allowed to interfere with its best conduct and serious purpose.

A well-considered program has been worked out and apparently excellent and complete arrangements for visitors have been well and thoughtfully made in advance.

Such all-important matters as censorship, length of programs, admission prices, posters, etc., it is stated, will receive the most serious consideration.

* * *

THIS is all very estimable.

But the best that the convention can do along these lines will go for nothing, unless the exhibitors assembled first show to the trade that they can organize themselves into one strong, compact body.

Their resolutions then will be not mere words but recommendations and demands that will receive due consideration and action.

AMALGAMATION is the big opportunity of the Dayton convention.

Only politics—the politics of a few—can defeat this wish of the many.

If politics rule, then we shall have just another year of disorder and lack of achievement.

Which shall it be?

The "Educational" Picture

AN exhibitor who viewed the Strand Theatre program last week and heard the applause given to the two Eclair "educational" features, "Como Lake" and "Caddis Flies," made immediate arrangements to book these pictures at his own out-of-town theatre.

For some undefined reason the average exhibitor has taken the stand thus far that his audience takes a keener interest in comedies and dramas than in the travelogue and scientific pictures.

And he still clings doggedly to the belief despite the fact the average audience, Broadway, or neighborhood, large-city or small-town, never fails to give the most unmistakable signs of its tense interest in the "news" daily or weekly, the travelogue, and the scientific film of general appeal.

* * *

THERE are, of course, varied tastes for pictures, just as there are varied tastes for books, magazines and newspapers.

And it is true of the picture world, as of the reading world, that the broadest appeal is had by the imaginative portrayal of events that stir the human emotions by the picturized story, in other words, be it drama or comedy.

But it is safe to say that there is scarcely an individual who prefers comedies and dramas of any quality and is not only keenly interested in world happenings, in travels through lands he will never be able to visit, and in the wonderful ways of nature.

* * *

ON the other hand, there are thousands of people everywhere who will not patronize picture theatres in the belief that only comedies and dramas are shown, and these of a quality that they consider beneath their standard of entertainment.

Features of the higher order have recently brought this large portion of the public into the picture theatre. But they are asking urgently to-day for topical and travel and scientific pictures.

* * *

MANAGING DIRECTOR ROTHAPFEL, whose exhibiting success is due to his knowledge of what the whole public wants and his ability to deliver it, has accomplished an ideal, well-rounded program at the Strand by adding two "educational" pictures—one a scenic and one a scientific picture. The program usually embraces a feature melodrama, a Keystone comedy, and two interesting educationals—all interspersed with excellent musical features. Here is a complete appeal—to the entire public.

"THE MILLION DOLLAR MYSTERY"

(Thanhouser—Two Reels)
REVIEWED BY A. DANSON MICHELL

THE second in the series of "The Million Dollar Mystery" stories. Although this is a continuation of the first two reels, the story would make interesting amusement even for those who did not have the chance to see the preceding installment.

Intrigue and strategy follow one another so closely in this picture that the audience are constantly on the qui vive in the hope that something will turn up that may give them a hint as to the possible solution, as far off as it is.

In the first two reels the money was stolen by a mysterious hand that reached out to the safe, unlocked it and "lifted" the million dollars. The thief is apparently one of a few, for by the process of elimination only three could have stolen it, apparently. Suspicion is thrown on the butler in a clever manner, and it now looks as though he were the guilty party. If the father took it before his thrilling escape in the balloon, why did he not have it with him when the dirigible was wrecked and he was found exhausted? If the crooks have it, why are they still searching for it?

THE BUTLER REFUSES TO SPEAK

These things are certainly sufficient to make a person think and think hard. And it is these thoughts that will increase the box-office receipts of the theatre wide awake enough to obtain the serial.

This installment of the mystery also brings in the lover, or the hero of the picture. A reporter is sent to interview the daughter of the missing man, and love, or perhaps friendship, seems to spring up immediately between them. There is a dramatic escape registered in the finale that should go well. Two policemen, chasing one of the escaping crooks, are thrown overboard into the water, dropping a long distance.

At the completion of the first installment the butler was left in the house, tied securely to a chair. By clever maneuvering he gets near enough to the table to lift the telephone receiver from the hook and thus call aid. The police rescue him and search for the members of the Black Hundred, who were believed to still be in the house.

A little while later Florence, the daughter of the missing "owner" of the million dollars, comes to his home looking for him. She has her schoolgirl friend with her and is received by the butler, who tells her what he thinks she ought to know. The reporter calls and is told the story.

The father is picked up at sea and brought to land where he disappears once more and does not turn up again during this picture. The Countess Olga, one of the conspirators, calls and makes friends with Flo by using strategy. The newspaper man also calls and succeeds in defeating the plan of the conspirators to get Flo in their power. The Countess is not suspected.

"THE WILL O' THE WISP"

(Box Office Attractions Company—Four Reels)
REVIEWED BY A. DANSON MICHELL

THIS production of the Balboa Company, along with a large number of others, was purchased by the Box Office Attractions for North and South America, and is to be boomed on the coming tour by representatives from that company.

Photographically this four-reel picture is perfect. The clearness of detail, the lights and shades are worked out with an artistry which at once brings it into prominence.

The preceding paragraph does not by any means belittle the story, nor convey the meaning that the plot is not sufficiently good to go with such perfect mechanical detail. But the salient point is the photography.

The story as told on the film impresses one with being true to life in every way. The writer was informed that it had a tale from life for its foundations, and this seems very likely. The rendition is left to a capable cast headed by Helen King, formerly of Lubin, and Jackie Saunders.

In the latter part of the picture some excellent rain effects are obtained. Real flood scenes, taken in California, form an important basis for certain portions of the drama. This is very realistically portrayed.

King and Julia break their engagement and King leaves for the wilderness. His duel with his rival is stopped by Julia and he goes his way. Arriving in the country, he changes clothes with a tramp and builds a hut for himself. He meets the Will o' the Wisp and saves her life from the quicksand.

TRAPPED BY THE RISING FLOOD

The villain buys Hazel, the Will o' the Wisp, from her father, telling the latter he intends to marry her. Again King saves her and takes her to a farmhouse and leaves her there for safety. The rising rivers become a great menace to the blind father, who has been shut in his house by the villain in revenge for allowing Hazel to escape him. He is rescued by King after an arduous trip and the villain dies in the water.

The Serial Film That Has Broken All Records For Bookings and Patron Pulling Power

The Perils of Pauline

Pauline is without doubt the most popular character in motion pictures. She is known and liked from coast to coast, as the most daredevil—chance taking actress before the camera. As she said the other day, "One of these days something will happen and poor Pauline will be a real angel." She is backed up by the most extraordinary cast ever gathered together.

Pauline Pulls People—She's a Gold Mine

A Pathé Made—Lightning Action—Human Interest Drama

Detective Craig's Coup

(5 Parts)

A drama so full of intense action and contagious interest that your patrons will find their nerves tense as piano strings which will not relax till the last foot of film has passed before them. Then they will thank you for the opportunity you have given them.

ECLECTIC FEATURE FILM EXCHANGES FOR YOUR USE

ATLANTA Rhodes Bldg.	BOSTON 3 Tremont Row	CHICAGO 5 So. Wabash Ave.	DALLAS Andrews Bldg.	LOS ANGELES 114 E. 7th St.	MINNEAPOLIS 4th & Hennepin Sts.
NEW YORK 115 E. 23rd St.	PITTSBURGH 715 Liberty Ave.	SAN FRANCISCO 67 Turk St.	ST. LOUIS 3210 Locust St.	SYRACUSE 214 E. Fayette St.	CINCINNATI 217 E. 5th St.
CLEVELAND 622 Prospect Av., S. E.	PORTLAND 392 Burnside Ave.	PHILADELPHIA 1235 Vine St.	WASHINGTON 7th and E Sts., N.W.	NEW ORLEANS 910 Gravier St.
SEATTLE 810 Third Ave.	OMAHA 1312 Farnam St.		DENVER Nassau Bldg.	KANSAS CITY 928 Main St.

SALT LAKE CITY: 68 South Main St.

THE ECLECTIC FILM COMPANY

110 West 40th Street — New York City

"The Cream of American and European Studios"

6 Parts

The Reign of Terror

6 Parts

Queen Marie Antoinette is Condemned to Die

A true to history dramatization of the great world famous novel by Dumas. It shows the terrors and trials of the French Aristocracy at the time of the great revolution. It shows the prison scenes, the mock trials, and the prisoners hurried in batches to execution. It is a wonderful film.

Don't Fail to Get "A Pearl of the Punjab"

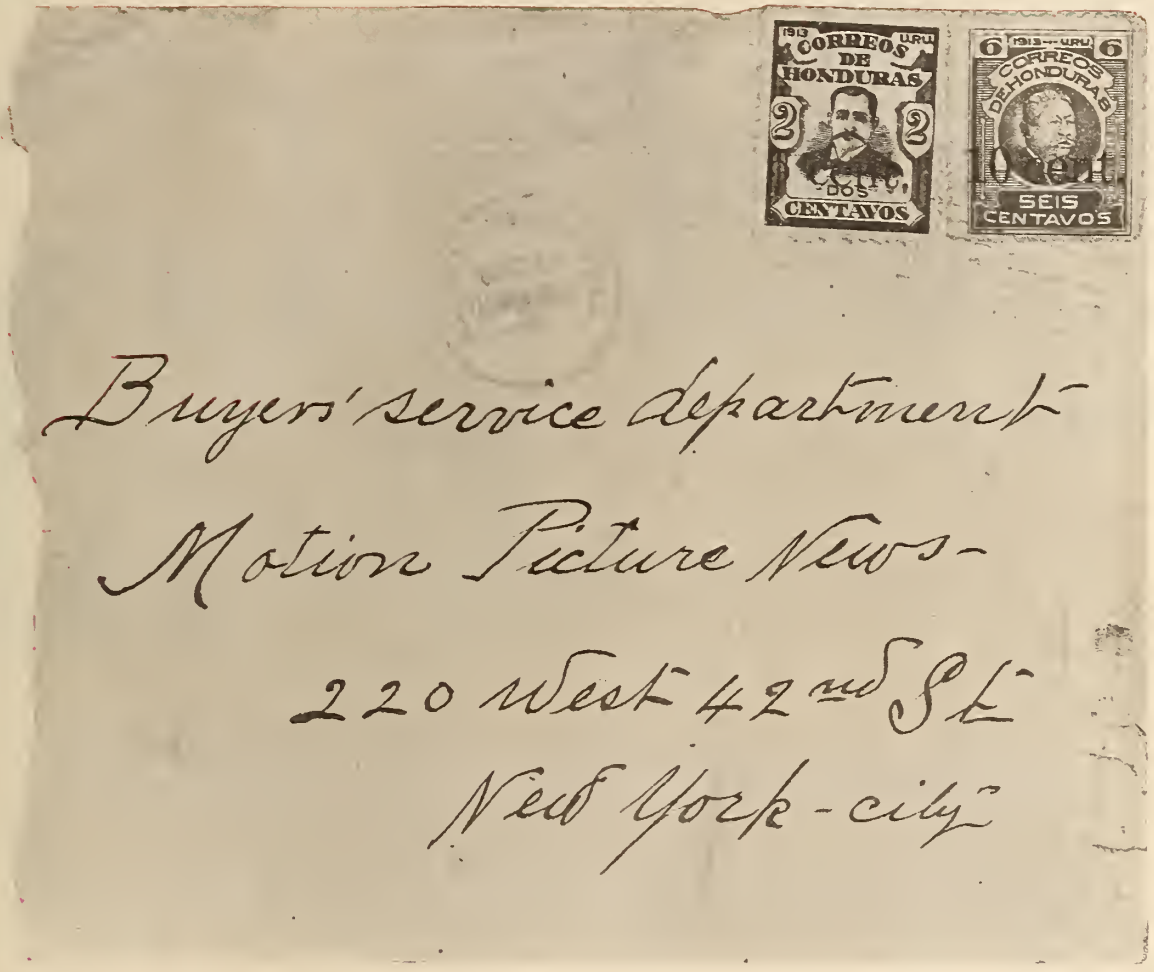
Pathé Made in 3 Parts—Carrying the Action to the Fullest Limit of Perfection

ECLECTIC FEATURE FILM EXCHANGES FOR YOUR USE

ATLANTA Rhodes Bldg.	BOSTON 3 Tremont Row	CHICAGO 5 So. Wabash Ave.	DALLAS Andrews Bldg.	LOS ANGELES 114 E. 7th St.	MINNEAPOLIS 4th & Hennepin Sts.
NEW YORK 115 E. 23rd St.	PITTSBURGH 715 Liberty Ave.	SAN FRANCISCO 67 Turk St.	ST. LOUIS 3210 Locust St.	SYRACUSE 214 E. Fayette St.	CINCINNATI 217 E. 5th St.
CLEVELAND 622 Prospect Av., S.E.	PORTLAND 392 Burnside Ave.	PHILADELPHIA 1235 Vine St.	WASHINGTON 7th & E Sts., N. W.	NEW ORLEANS 910 Gravier St.
SEATTLE 810 Third Ave.	OMAHA 1312 Farnam St.		DENVER Nassau Bldg.	KANSAS CITY 928 Main St.

SALT LAKE CITY: 68 South Main St.

THE ECLECTIC FILM COMPANY



110 West 40th Street — New York City

"The Cream or American and European Studios"

SUBSCRIBERS

Everywhere are taking advantage of our Buyers' Service Department, not only in the United States but all over the world.

Here is a facsimile of a letter from Honduras asking about equipment:

Our information files are open to all who need advice or help. Write now.
Are you building or remodeling? Is your projection good?
Do you need a ventilating system?
These are some of the questions you should ask yourself, and then let us help carry them out. Write in detail to

Buyers' Service Department

The fastest growing picture Journal

MOTION PICTURE NEWS
220 West Forty-second Street - New York City

"ST. ELMO"

(Box Office Attraction Company—Six Reels)
REVIEWED BY A. DANSON MICHELL

A WONDERFUL screen dramatization of the book by the same name, written by Augusta J. Evans. It was produced at Long Beach, Cal., by the Balboa Company. The Box Office Attractions Company, of 146 West Forty-sixth street, New York, obtained the North and South American rights to this, together with all the other productions of this company.

The original story in book form has probably been read by as many people as any other American novel, "Uncle

ST. ELMO KILLS HIS COUSIN MURRAY

Tom's Cabin" excepted. The drama written from the book has been on almost every stage in the country, and certainly in every stock theatre. As usual, the screen adaptation is better than that of the speaking stage. The opportunities are many and are grasped. The actual wording of the book is followed in a most concise manner.

Nothing much need be said of the photography. The class of work made by the Balboa Company is by this time too well known. Suffice, therefore, to say it is excellent. Beautiful locations accentuate the artificial beauty of the picture. Large flower gardens, with old-fashioned walks running through them, the characters in the old style costume then in vogue, the background of fountains and the old mansion leave nothing to be desired in this respect.

There is just a little comedy here and there throughout the action to relieve the monotony of the heavier situations. The excellent dissolves and double exposures are registered in a capable manner. The transformations in which the devil either enters or leaves St. Elmo are well executed. There is a clever child introduced toward the end who will draw sympathy from the women of the audience.

The story, in brief, is as follows: St. Elmo and his cousin, Murray, love Agnes, a fickle girl, who promises to marry the former, although she loves the latter. St. Elmo discovers their duplicity, and in a duel kills Murray. From that moment the devil occupies his soul and for twenty years he wanders around, a menace to all. Then he meets Edna, the daughter of a village blacksmith, whom he rescues in a wreck. His mind, still unbalanced, he is a curse to his good parents. Gradually, however, he begins to see the light, and when he gains Edna's love, his whole being changes. He becomes the reverse of his former self. In this respect the story resembles the famous "Dr. Jekyl and Mr. Hyde" from the pen of Robert Louis Stevenson.

"GERMANIA"

(Leading Players Film Corporation—Five Reels)
REVIEWED BY PETER MILNE

"GERMANIA" may be considered a welcome addition to that class of pictures which is none too large, that are commonly called masterpieces. So many pictures dealing with the life of Napoleon have been produced, all of which take Napoleon's side in his great struggle with the European powers, that if one relies on pictures only he is inclined to think that Napoleon was a perfect man.

"Germania" conveys an entirely different idea to the mind of the spectator. It doesn't paint Napoleon in a totally bad light, but at the same time the vicious side of his character is outlined with more force than the better.

This picture takes the part of the German patriots just as the famous Libretta by Luigi Illica did, after which the screen story is modeled. This is not the first time that an opera has been transformed into a motion picture, but this is perhaps the most well known of the few that have been, which will cause it to be received well and even better than the others.

As in the other pictures made by Savoia, the acting is of the best quality. A comparatively small amount of individual acting appears, but the little that does is most worthy. Hector Mazzanti plays Napoleon, the rest of the cast, composed of Albert Cavalleri, Henry Fiori, Paolino Gerli, Diana D'Amore, Joseph Rabanato, Hector Baccani and Arthur Garzes, are all on a par in deserving praise.

AFTER THE EXECUTION

The photography and lighting of the picture can hardly be criticized except that at times, especially in the close-up scenes, the center of the picture is a trifle light-struck, but these places are few and far between. Some of the scenes must have been exceedingly difficult to film, a fact that makes one admire the photography all the more.

The story that runs through the picture is a trifle obscure and not enough opportunity is given to straighten out the characters, but in the picture the characters, individually, play small parts, and the absorbing battles that consume a large part of the film stand out in everyone's mind more than the story itself.

It is seldom that one sees such realistic battle scenes as are to be found in these five reels. It seems almost impossible that a camera man and a director were standing before the soldiers while they were engaged in battle. Everything seems too realistic and vivid to be a sham.

The picture tells, in a forcible manner, the fight that the German patriots made to regain their freedom after they were conquered by Napoleon. Finally their efforts were rewarded by defeating him in the battle of Leipzig, which consumes all the last reel. This battle marked the beginning of the end of Napoleon's career, therefore it is an important point in the history of the world, and naturally a point that will interest any audience.

LIFE PHOTO FILM CORPORATION

"The House of Broadway Features"

Executive Offices:
220 West 42nd Street

Studios and Laboratory:
Grantwood, N. J.

"The Greyhound" by Paul Armstrong and Wilson Mizner, in five parts, booked at the Strand Theatre the week commencing June 20th. A house with a seating capacity of 3,500, packed to the doors at every performance of "The Greyhound."

A master production with a master cast.

Scenically superb and real. Photographically perfect. Lithographs, lobby displays, photographs, slides and other advertising matter that befit the high character of our productions.

Advise us of your territory and we will wire our terms.

IN PREPARATION

An overpowering Western Psychological drama, "Northern Lights." A six part photoplay that will be epoch making.

We produce features adapted from plays that have already created a national reputation on the legitimate stage.

OUR POLICY: To work with our State Right Buyers to make their purchase Pay.

"LUCILLE LOVE, THE GIRL OF MYSTERY"

(Gold Seal—Twelfth Instalment)
REVIEWED BY PETER MILNE

IN all other instalments of this series Hugo has treated Thompson, his butler, in a very primitive manner, but Thompson has taken it all calmly, just as a dog might. But here he rebels after receiving a severe beating from Hugo. He brings about Lucille's escape from the Mexican ranch, where she has been imprisoned again. The chauffeur is in the plot, too, and he and Lucille manage to escape, but Thompson is, as usual, receiving a drubbing from Hugo as the reel closes.

Before the scene changes to Mexico, Lucille is in San Francisco, imprisoned in her enemy's house. Just by chance her lover, Lieutenant Gibson, the man for whom Lucille has had all her mysterious adventures, is passing in the street and sees her in the window. She waves frantically to him, and he organizes a party and attempts to rescue her. But Hugo is on the alert, as usual, and meets the troop at the doors and a furious engagement follows.

LUCILLE REGAINS THE PAPERS

It is seldom that one sees such a realistic hand-to-hand fight on the screen as he sees here. For a time not a gun is drawn, fists are used with disastrous results, chairs, tables, and anything that comes handy are flung by each side at their enemies. In all probability, several black eyes, bloody noses, and perhaps even broken bones were carried by the combatants after the struggle was over.

After this stirring scene, the rest of this instalment seems somewhat tame. Little action occurs before the end, when Hugo and Thompson test their skill. The butler and Lucille are seen talking together and plotting the latter's escape. Hugo is watching them out of the corner of his eye, and when the tar attempts to escape out of the door he attacks Thompson. The papers drop from his pocket and Lucille picks them up and makes good her escape.

With internal strife going on in Hugo's party, it seems very likely that Lucille will come out the victor. She has only three more weeks to do it in, but one can never speculate on the next part by seeing the one before it. It may safely be said that this series has so far kept the public entirely in the dark as to what the outcome will be. "Which will be the victor, Hugo or Lucille?" is still a burning question.

"THE CITY OF PROMISE"

(Warner's Features, Three Reels)
REVIEWED BY PETER MILNE

THIS same story has been told on the screen, on the stage and in books many times, and it will be told again many times more, yet however old the story may be, it will never fail to appeal to all classes. Perhaps the plot is one used more than any other, but it will never get out of date, more especially as it is almost true. Of course, the minor events which make up the story run true to the saying, "Probable but not possible," yet the main plot is strictly true to life.

A country girl, emboldened by her success as an actress in the town play, determines to try her luck in the city. But after various experiences she finds that the city is not as pleasant as the country, and returns to her family and her former sweetheart.

Cecilia Loftus plays the lead and makes her debut with this company. Miss Loftus is a well-known star, and many will remember her on the legitimate stage. As a motion picture actress and as the country girl in this picture she does excellent work.

The picture is not sensational but most entertaining, and the action is absorbing and always commands attention. Realistic scenes behind the stage are depicted, and the picture has its humorous parts as well. The photography is good. Success is almost certain to attend "The City of Promise."

"ALLAH 3311"

(Eclair—Three Reels)
REVIEWED BY A. DANSON MICHELL

AN excellent offering that will not pall on the minds of the audience. The story is of a mysterious character and deals with modern discoveries and their use in criminal pursuits. Radium forms much of the foundation for the whole story. Little is known by the general public of this discovery and its use insures attention.

Barbara Tennant and O. A. C. Lund, a clever pair, are the principals. They are supported by a number of players whose faces are familiar to every Universal "fan." The story in brief is as follows:

Jack Bond, a youthful newspaper man, is given an assignment to locate the daughter of the murdered Roumanian minister, who has disappeared. Just as he is preparing for his search, a girl enters his room. He hides her from her pursuers, and she goes without telling him her identity.

REGINA IS DISCOVERED

Bound on revenging the death of her father, who she knows was murdered by a band known only as Allah 3311, she becomes a flower girl in the district haunted by these Roumanians, and is soon taken in as a member. Jack follows her and enters the house, where he is captured.

By the use of the radium with which they had murdered her father, she puts the leader to sleep and frees Jack. Together they steal the books of the order and are about to escape when captured. The arrival of the police saves them from a horrible death.

ONE MAN PLAYS THEM ALL

Copyright 1914 by The Rudolph Wurlitzer Co.

THIS IS THE WURLITZER THEATRE ORCHESTRA

It produces the same volume and quality of tone as a large Human Orchestra, and plays every instrument, every kind of music and every effect. A great money-saver and a great money maker. Sold on easy terms.

For particulars Call or Address

The Rudolph WURLITZER Company

CINCINNATI, 121 E. 4th St.

NEW YORK:	ALBANY:	SYRACUSE:	DAYTON:	PHILADELPHIA:	CLEVELAND:	LOUISVILLE:	ROCHESTER:
113-119 W. 40th St.	17-19 Green St.	427 S. Clinton St.	133 S. Ludlow.	912 Chestnut St.	800 Huron Road.	652 S. 4th Ave.	370 E. Main St.
CHICAGO:	COLUMBUS:	BUFFALO:	DETROIT:	MILWAUKEE:	ST. LOUIS:	KANSAS CITY:	SAN FRANCISCO:
329-331 S. Wabash.	57 E. Main St.	701 Main St.	26 W. Adams Ave.	133 Second St.	1109 Olive St.	1027 Main St.	985 Market St.

"THE 'POWERS' THAT BE"

The U. S. S. "Delaware" has purchased a Power's Cameragraph No. 6-A motor-drive motion picture projecting machine from the General Film Company, of Washington, D. C. The Army and Navy Y. M. C. A. of New York City, has installed a Power's Cameragraph No. 6-A motion picture projecting machine. This machine was sold by the Picture Theatre Equipment Company, of New York.

A Power's Cameragraph No. 6-A motion picture projecting machine has been installed in the Central High School of Minneapolis, Minn.; sold by the Feature Film Company, of Pittsburgh, Pa. The Variety Film Company, of Honolulu, Hawaiian Islands, have purchased two Power's Cameragraph No. 6-A motion picture projecting machines.

A Power's Cameragraph No. 6-A motion picture projecting machine has been installed by the Eclair Film Company at their studios at Fort Lee, New Jersey. One Power's No. 6-A was sold to the Moorish Gardens at 110th street and Broadway by the Universal Film Exchange. Two Power's Cameragraph No. 6-A motion picture projecting machines have been installed in the Fox Airdome at Atlantic City, New Jersey, by the Greater New York Film Rental Company.

Two Power's Cameragraphs No. 6-A have been purchased by D. R. Faunce for his theatre at Atlantic City, N. J., from Williams, Brown & Earle, Philadelphia, Pa.

HUTCHINSON TAKES VACATION ABROAD

Samuel S. Hutchinson, president of the American Film Manufacturing Company, Mrs. Hutchinson and their two sons, Hobart and Winston, sailed on the Olympic, Saturday, June 20.

Mr. Hutchinson goes abroad on a business trip taking him to London and the principal business centers of Europe. His family accompanies him to relieve the monotony of solitary travel. The party will not return until September.

KLEINE OPTICAL ANNUAL

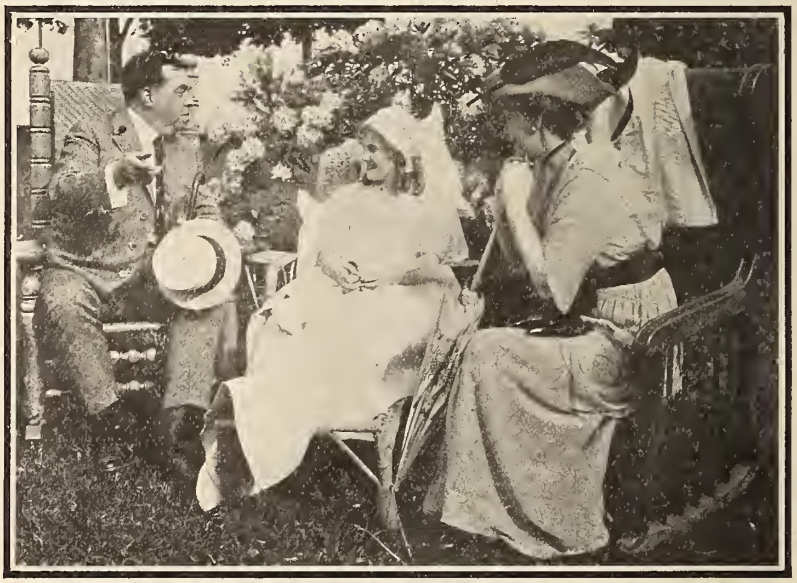
The twentieth annual edition of the Kleine Optical Company catalogue is just off the press and ready for distribution. It contains one hundred and seventy-five pages, printed on highly enameled stock and is bound in blue "advertiser's cover."

The catalogue this year contains many valuable hints on lenses, theatre construction and kindred subjects in addition to a complete list of motion picture accessories and supplies of all kinds.

Old Stage Driver Will Play in "Salomy Jane"

Joe Downey, Relic of the Days of '49, Will Figure in California Motion Picture Corporation's Production

REALISTIC representation will mark the California Motion Picture Corporation's forthcoming production of "Salomy Jane." The studio at San Rafael, Cal., has taken on the aspect of a museum of the "Days of '49." From the old strong box, ribbed and riveted against assault upon its contents of yellow orc, to the antique, rocking stage-coach, ererything smacks of the feverish epoch of the great gold rush to the Pacific seaboard.



The latest addition to the company's producing forces is "Old Joe Downey," the most picturesque and famous of California's rapidly diminishing army of ancient stage drivers. Downey first mounted the box over half a century ago, and there is scarcely a mountain grade from Calaveras County to the Oregon line that has not at some time awakened to the crack of the whiplash.

He has met more than one "knight of the road" during his career—always with courage, he will admit, but, nevertheless, tempered with a saving caution. When opportunity was favorable he has lashed out with his whip and chased his six horses straight down the grade while the bullets whistled about his ears. Under more adverse circumstances, however, he has thrown on the brake, wrapped his reins and dismounted from the box with his hands held resolutely above his head. "I don't figger as I'd driv no fifty years if I hadn't," he explains.

Downey numbers some of the most celebrated of California's pioneers among his personal friends. He knew Bret Harte, he declares, when they hadn't a chew of tobacco between them. He has given Joaquin Miller more than one ride on "tick" and Robert Louis Stevenson was his boon companion.

The particular capacity of "Old Joe" with the California Motion Picture Corporation is that of understudy to Andrew Robson, who is the stage driver in "Salomy Jane."

Cobb Talks Sausages with "Our Mutual Girl"

IRVIN S. COBB TELLING "OUR MUTUAL GIRL" A FUNNY STORY

IRVIN S. COBB, the humorist, says there are 336 kinds of sausage, of which only three are edible. Sir Arthur Conan Doyle admits Mr. Cobb's count is correct but holds the opinion that only two can be eaten. Edward Brennan, soldier of fortune, author and actor, goes even further than Conan Doyle in disputing the American author's claim and holds that only one kind of sausage is eatable.

Inasmuch as all three men are globe trotters of renown and have eaten sausage all over the world, it may fairly be presumed that they are sausage experts.

While at Our Mutual Girl's house on Long Island, Mr. Cobb recently posed for the Mutual and talked sausages. Four hundred feet of film were used to encompass Mr. Cobb's bulk. Panoramic views of the Kentucky leviathan were taken from all angles, head on, and at right angles, while fifty feet of celluloid were used in filming the subject's sausage container.

The Detective on the Screen

By William J. Burns

Motion Pictures the Greatest Field for the Sleuth Drama, Declares Hunter of Criminals—Stage Productions not Real Enough—Popular Notions of Detective Work Dispelled in Production of "$5,000,000 Counterfeiting Case."

THE motion pictures have merely begun to scratch the surface of possibilities in the production of detective stories. Producers instead of having gone to actual cases for their thrilling dramatizations, and for their presentations of detective methods, have gone to fiction. And fiction is never as thrilling as the truth—at all events in the detection of criminals.

It is strange that producers have not taken their material, first hand from the actual facts and actual cases, for indisputably the best method of reproducing celebrated cases is by motion pictures. It is a better means of presenting them than either the magazines or the dramatic stage. The best writers cannot visualize or convey to the reader in article or story forms, any idea of the strategy employed in the swift moving drama of hunting down criminals in real life. The scenes are also too varied and too numerous to be suitable for vivid reproduction behind the footlights. Only in motion pictures can the painstaking shadowing, the one hundred and one detective ruses, and the fast-following events be shown with all their realism.

In fact, if a detective desires to have a celebrated case presented as it actually occurred, he must choose the motion picture field as his medium. I have collaborated with some of our best authors both in the stories of my cases and in dramas built around my cases, but there has always been a sense of disappointment after they have been finished. They do not seem real enough.

FOR that reason I consented to allow the Dramascope Company to produce my most difficult case, known in the Secret Service as the "Philadelphia-Lancaster Counterfeiting Mystery," and in the pictures as "The $5,000,000 Counterfeiting Case." I supervised this production, and appeared in nearly every part in order to correct popular notions about detective work, and also to educate the public better in protective measures.

A great many crimes could be prevented, or, if not prevented, easily detected, if people knew that successful detective work is merely the application of common sense. Any man who keeps his wits about him, and who is quick in his perceptions, can be a successful detective.

The best way to educate the public in preventative measure is to familiarize it with detective methods. Just as there is no way in which these methods can be reproduced so effectively, as in the motion pictures, there is no way in which the lessons can be brought home so directly. A great many criminals are still at large because the public and certain police officials have absorbed their detective ideas from fiction rather than from actual cases.

WILLIAM J. BURNS

Excepting Sir Arthur Conan Doyle's hero, I know of no fiction detective who could ever have successfully traced down any important case. Fiction has spoiled a whole lot of detectives that might otherwise have been good.

Detective stories describe men in many disguises, employing astounding bravado, and shadowing in the obviously gum-shoed way. Ambitious young men, who apply for positions as detectives, are invariably of the impression that they must cultivate a black moustache before they can qualify. The best detective, however, is one who looks like and can pass for a business man. I have endeavored in "The $5,000,000 Counterfeiting Plot" to show how naturally real detectives do act, and how naturally they must act in order to trap criminals.

I CHOSE the "Philadelphia-Lancaster Counterfeiting Mystery" as the picture in which I would appear for the Dramascope Company for two reasons: first, because it is undoubtedly my most difficult and most interesting case, and second, because a counterfeiting story has never been properly presented in motion pictures.

The conspiracy of these counterfeiters with their headquarters in Philadelphia and Lancaster is probably the most colossal of all counterfeiting plots. So cleverly did the counterfeiting ring engrave and print one hundred dollar Monroe head certificates, that they threw the government officials and banking circles virtually into a state of panic.

It was necessary for the Secretary of the Treasury to recall the entire issue of about twenty-five million dollars. The Treasury Department feared lest the counterfeiters ruin credit by throwing into circulation millions of dollars in spurious notes.

Counterfeiters are the cleverest of all crooks, and, in this case they used such infinite skill that all of the government experts, except one, W. H. Moran, declared the counterfeit bills to be genuine. The puzzle of who perpetrated this enormous counterfeiting plot gripped the attention of the country for over a year.

In this film I have endeavored to select the most thrilling portions of the case upon which I worked with the most expert men in the Secret Service.

THE Dramascope Company went to great lengths in reproducing a number of the settings. In only one important particular have we departed from real life, and that is in the names. All the counterfeiters that we caught have now been released from prison. One of the brilliant engravers is dead, and the other one is leading an honest, industrious life, employed, oddly enough by the very man who gave me the first clue in the case.

The printers and bill makers have scattered throughout the country, and from all the reports, they are doing their best to be law-abiding citizens. It is therefore unfair to bring back to them any unpleasant notoriety, and we have veiled the actual characters under fictitious names.

I believe that it is only fair, as well, to let a few years elapse before retelling the story of the case, unless the retelling be for the purpose of vindicating a man whose good name has been besmirched falsely. The case loses none of its thrills and interest, and, meantime a criminal that honestly tries to reform, has a chance to get on his feet.

Paramount PICTURES IN EXCELSIS

Get in touch with our distributor in your territory

PARAMOUNT PICTU

For the Un

6 CASINO FEATURE FILM CO., Dime Bank Bldg., Detroit, Mich.—Michigan.

7 KANSAS CITY FEATURE FILM CO., Gaiety Theatre Bldg., Kansas City, Mo.—Missouri, Kansas, Nebraska and Iowa.

8 FAMOUS PLAYERS STAR FEATURE FILM SERVICE, Temple Court Building, Minneapolis, Minn.—North and South Dakota, Minnesota and Wisconsin.

9 NOTABLE FEATURE FILM CO., Boston Bldg., Salt Lake City, Utah, and Denver, Col.—Utah, Colorado, Montana, Wyoming and Idaho.

10 PROGRESSIVE MOTION PICTURE CO., three offices—Head office: 642 Pacific Bldg., San Francisco, Cal. Central Bldg., Seattle, Wash. Marsh-Strong Bldg., Los Angeles, Cal.—California, Oregon, Washington, Nevada, Arizona and New Mexico.

11 For the present communicate direct with New York office.

Our next announcemen
ductions for the quarte

PARAMOUNT PICTU

Paramount PICTURES IN EXCELSIS

110 West 40th Stree

Telephon

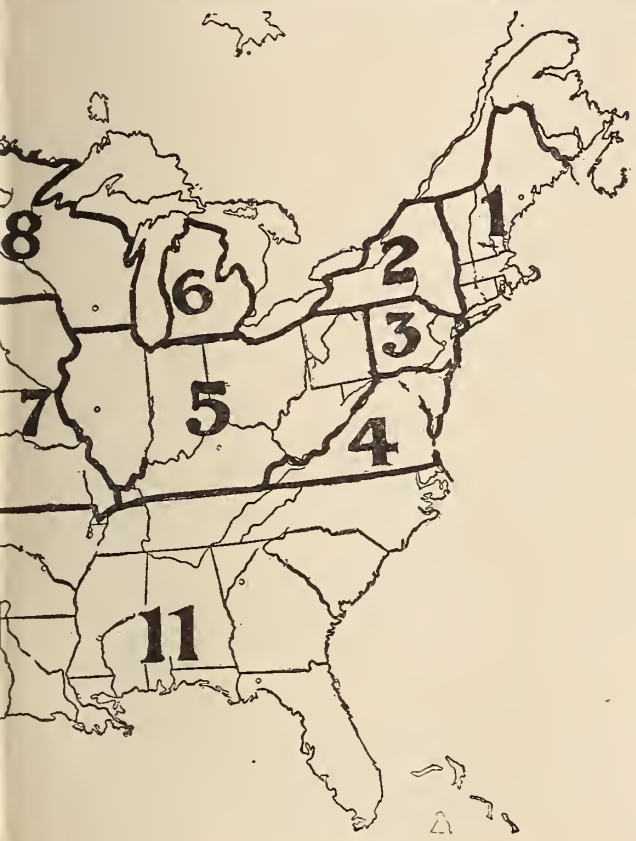
Distributors of th

Famous Players Film Co.

Jesse L. Lasky

Paramount PICTURES IN EXCELSIS

And the cream of the world's marke



nd secure the finest pictures the world has ever seen

Paramount PICTURES IN EXCELSIS

RES DISTRIBUTORS

ted States

vill give a list of pro- beginning September 1st

1 FAMOUS PLAYERS FILM CO. OF NEW ENGLAND, 31 Beach Street, Boston, Mass.--New England States: Massachusetts, Connecticut, Maine, Rhode Island, New Hampshire and Vermont.

2 WM. L. SHERRY FEATURE FILM CO., Inc., 126 West 46th Street, New York City—Greater New York and New York State.

3 FAMOUS PLAYERS EXCHANGE, 1331 Vine Street, Philadelphia, Pa., and 71 West 23rd Street, New York City—New Jersey, and Eastern Pennsylvania.

4 FAMOUS PLAYERS FEATURE CO., 28 West Lexington Street, Baltimore, Md.—Delaware, Maryland, Washington, D. C. and Virginia.

5 FAMOUS PLAYERS FILM SERVICE, 404 Ferry St., Pittsburgh, Pa., and 37 S. Wabash Ave., Chicago, Ill.—Western Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and Kentucky.

RES CORPORATION

New York City

Bryant 8463

Paramount PICTURES IN EXCELSIS

Productions of Feature Play Co.

Bosworth, Inc.

n addition to the above manufacturers

Paramount PICTURES IN EXCELSIS

ABRAMS ON SALES TRIP

Charles Abrams, accompanied by Louis Goldstein, left New York Wednesday on a feature sales expedition which will carry him into nearly every state in the Union. He has taken several trunks full of film of varied brands, including "The Black Triangle" and subjects of the Great

CHARLES ("Feature") ABRAMS

Northern Special, Great Northern Preferred and Film Releases of America.

Abrams's itinerary includes Pittsburgh, Cleveland, Toledo, Cincinnati, Indianapolis, Chicago, Duluth, St. Paul, Minneapolis, St. Louis, Kansas City, Wichita, Denver, Salt Lake, Los Angeles, San Francisco. On the way back he will stop off in Nevada, Texas and cities in the South. He will be absent between four and five weeks.

SIX WEEKS FOR FEATURE IN DETROIT

Special to THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS.

Detroit, July 1.

"Neptune's Daughter," featuring Annette Kellermann, will complete this week a six-weeks' run at the Detroit Opera House, following the close of the regular dramatic season. This breaks the record of any other feature ever shown in Detroit. Two weeks has heretofore been the limit for a continuous run. About 50,000 persons have seen the production in Detroit, some of them two or three times.

Newspaper advertising and window cards and heralds constituted the greater part of the publicity. In the later weeks, blotters were distributed through the office buildings of the downtown section. The past two weeks there has stood in front of the opera house a large glass tank of gold fish mounted on a moss-covered standard. A big card beside the tank announces, "Iced-air ventilation makes this theatre as cool as the scenes in Neptune's Daughter." The legend is delightfully suggestive.

"Check Your Babies" at El Paso Theatre

Eight Cots, with Nurses in Attendance, Provided at Alhambra for Infants Whose Mothers Want to See the Photoplays

Special to THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS.

El Paso, July 1.

THAT babies are coming to their own in the motion picture world is evidenced by the preparations being made by the management of the Alhambra, El Paso's new $45,000 picture house.

The new theatre, rapidly nearing completion, will open its doors to the public on the night of July 18. When that event takes place a "baby's" rest room, a new idea in local play houses, will be one of the main features of the new motion picture house. Eight little cots, with all the necessary equipment, have been purchased by Rudolfo Cruz, owner of the new enterprise. These cots will be placed in a room to the left of the entrance and a special nurse will be in charge of the baby ward.

Mothers with children whom they do not wish to carry into the theatre will "check" the baby, knowing that it will be under the care of a trained atendant until the show is over. This baby's rest room will be open from 11 in the morning until 11 at night, with two nurses on duty during that time.

Adjoining the special retreat for the babies will be the women's rest room, equipped with telephones, writing desks, stationery, mirrors, electric fans and many other conveniences.

A large percentage of the gross receipts taken in on the opening night will be given to the Sunshine Day Nursery, an institution that looks after orphan babies and the babies of mothers who are employed during the day and have no one with whom to leave their children.

"The charity organizations of El Paso will find us always ready to help with all the means at our disposal when a worthy cause needs aid," said Mr. Cruz. "The people of El Paso have been cordial to us and we stand ready to show our appreciation.

The Alhambra management intends to boost El Paso from the start in every way and we are confident that the community, from the banker to the laborer, will back us up. This new theatrical enterprise was conceived with the idea of permanency and we are here to stay."

R. G. CHAPMAN.

First of Oz Films Is Under Way

"Patchwork Girl of Oz" First to Be Produced—Montgomery & Stone Will Appear in "The Wizard" Later

Special to THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS.

Los Angeles, Cal., June 30.

THE Oz Film Company, recently organized by Los Angeles capitalists, began work in its new and perfectly appointed studio on the film of the twenty-eight fairy stories by L. Frank Baum, of Los Angeles.

The first to be taken up was the "Patchwork Girl of Oz," with Cauderc, an acrobat secured from Paris, where he had completed an engagement in the Folies Bergere, in the role of l'Etoile. Violet MacMillan, who played the part of Dorothy in the original Montgomery and Stone production of the "Wizard of Oz," was induced to cancel a part of her engagement on Orpheum time, and take the part of Ojo.

Other members of the cast are Fred Woodward, Florence Dagmar, Frank Moore, Frank Bristol, Raymond Russell, Ben Deely, Blanch Lang, Bobbie Gould, Queenie Rossom and Marie Wayne. Montgomery and Stone have been engaged for the "Wizard of Oz" film, which will be taken up in the near future.

The studio of the company is complete in every detail, the company having visited a number in Eastern cities and selected the new devices. All positive film will be finished at the laboratories at the studio. Louis F. Gottschalk is producer, Harold Ostrom assistant producer and J. Farrell Macdonald director. Mr. Baum will assist in every way possible.

J. G. JESSEN.

FOX PROJECTION ROOMS CAUSE COMMENT

The two beautiful projection rooms of the Box Office Attraction Company at 126 West Forty-sixth street, New York, are daily being filled with visitors from all parts of the country, viewing the output of the Balboa Company, which the Box Office recently purchased. Because of the dull season these pictures will not be released until the fall. In the meantime, Alec Lorimore and other representatives will tour the country advertising the merits of these productions.

Much admiration is expressed by all at the beauty of the theatres in the offices. These are larger than the usual projection rooms and are fitted up in a most elegant manner. They are named "The Red Room" and "The Blue Room," respectively.

PROG SIVE

TRADE MARK

COMEDY

WESTERN

INDUSTRIAL

TRAGEDY

EDUCATIONAL

HISTORICAL

Have You Booked

"The Master Cracksman"

IF NOT—WHY NOT?

It Scored a Smashing Hit!

ANOTHER LINK IN THE CHAIN OF MOORE'S THEATRES

MOORE'S ORPHEUM THEATRE

NINTH AND D STREETS NORTHWEST

CAPACITY 2240 WASHINGTON, D C. June 23, 1914. 191

Progressive Motion Picture Corporation,
Times Bldg., Times Square, New York, N. Y.

Gentlemen:—We can use "MASTER CRACKSMAN" for a repeat date, two days in September or October. If you sell same in the meantime, kindly refer this request to purchaser of this Territory. This production was well received.

With best wishes, beg to remain, Very truly yours,

Tom Moore

TM/M.

Read These Comments:

"HARRY CAREY, in the role of the gentleman burglar, is incomparable. There are crook and crook plays, but seldom has there been a story which embodies so many startling situations and real thrills." —Morning Telegraph.

The story is well developed, interesting and finely acted by the company in support of Mr. Carey. —Dramatic Mirror.

Any State Right buyer that is fortunate enough to get this feature will make some real money with it. —New York Star.

"'THE MASTER CRACKSMAN' makes a good movie story and rounds out the kind of action and interest that the American picture audiences glory in. Photographically the picture is there. 'The Master Cracksman' will hold its own." —Variety.

"Undoubtedly one of the finest melodramas yet produced. It is a good picture, a thoroughly worthy attempt, sufficiently good to do honor to any house in which it may be shown. Harry Carey possesses technique and skill." —Motion Picture News.

STATE RIGHTS AND BOOKING NOW

Progressive Motion Picture Corp.

505 TIMES BUILDING
NEW YORK

Cable Address
Promopict, N. Y.

Telephone
Bryant 8536

Espouse Children's Matinee Idea

Omaha Managers Enthusiastically Work with Head of School Social Service Board in Carrying Out the Plan—Film Companies Give Films Free

Special to The Motion Picture News.
Omaha, Neb., July 1.

EVERY "copper" in Omaha has been enrolled to assist in arranging special Saturday afternoon programs for children. The Social Service Board, headed by Mrs. Paul Getzschmann, gave them other instructions. She is also enrolling the aid of exhibitors in choosing subjects for the special programs.

Many of the suburban theatres in Omaha are giving the special programs. The film companies furnish the films free. One-half of the Saturday afternoon proceeds is given by the exhibitors toward a playground fund. The fund is growing by jumps.

Mrs. Getzschmann's appeal to the exhibitors and her instructions to the "coppers" are of general interest to those having the welfare of their patrons in mind:

"Children's films should be in the main, instructive, educational, entertaining and amusing," says Mrs. Getzschmann.

"Under instructive would come such topics as historical events, world happenings, plant and animal life and a variety of general subjects. Educational would be such films that teach the children to observe proper care of their health, hygienic living, the evils of carelessness and excesses; also scientific subjects of a popular nature; biblical narratives, scenes from different countries, portraying beautiful architecture, natural scenery, people and their customs, and similar ideas. For entertainment and amusement a wealth of material is available, the most suitable probably being dramatizations of juvenile literature, Alcott's works, Grimm's and Andersen's fairy tales, and nursery rhymes. Wit and humor of a playful and wholesome nature could also be introduced to good advantage, for a hearty laugh is often more successful in bringing home a lesson than a serious lecture would be.

"It is along the line of morals, however, that Children's Programs would accomplish the most good. Unfortunately the children of to-day are being influenced too much by the so-called 'funny pages' issued in lucid colors with the Sunday newspapers as 'Comic Sections,' and which in most cases ridicule justice and propriety, which place a premium on law breaking and getting the best of some one, or which are of such a silly and nonsensical nature as to be absolute trash. If we exhibit films where urchins are successful in tricky manipulations and treacherous designs, many of the youngsters are influenced to emulate such examples, while on the other hand films as suggested for the Children's Programs must have only a good and beneficial effect.

"Film manufacturers have spared no expense in producing high grade reels and are often provoked when a board of censorship steps in and declares that certain ones must not be shown. We can fully realize the feelings of these manufacturers, but from our standpoint it is merely a question of regulation and right. In the race for the dollar, principles are only too often lost sight of or are simply ignored entirely in order to put forth a production that will 'take' well. There are in this world, however, certain well-defined ethical principles which we simply must admit and ought to observe, without question, and if the photoplay writers and producers would just adhere to these principles, if they would employ their better nature when producing new films and plots—in a word, if they would simply hearken to the dictates of conscience, censorship would become almost unnecessary.

"Naturally, the manufacturers wish to give the public what it wants, but the public can be educated to desire that which is right by appealing to the nobler sentiments and better instincts of man. These teachings should begin with the child, for the future of a nation is in its children. The danger of decay which confronts us through our enormous accumulated wealth must be counteracted by striving to bring up children along moral lines." Guy P. Leavitt.

I. W. W.'s Start Strike of Universal Supers

"Grecian Army" in Classical Film at San Fernando Demand $2 a Day Raise—Management Retortsby Hiring New "Soldiers"

Special to The Motion Picture News.
Los Angeles, Cal., June 30.

THE Los Angeles motion picture colony has had its first labor war. Six hundred I. W. W.'s employed as extra people for scenes in a big Grecian feature being filmed at the New Universal ranch, in the San Fernando valley, north of Los Angeles, had been receiving one dollar per day and meals and carfare and demanded an increase to three dollars per day.

The strike resulted in a lockout of the six hundred, who then threatened to burn the Grecian village, and the management's ordering of additional men through the Los Angeles municipal employment bureau.

The strike, a spectacular one, was "pulled off" when the six hundred "Greek soldiers" were returning to Syracuse from a triumphant campaign of the Agrigentum wars. All were clothed in Grecian robes, and carried spears or swords of ancient type.

The march began on the other side of the foothills, and down toward the gates of the city they came. The news of their coming brought all citizens to the streets to bid them welcome. With flags waving they returned to their "native city" and marched to where the picture was being taken. Here the leader of the I. W. W.'s crowded through to the front ranks and made the demands for more pay to Director-General Otis Turner. Most of the scene desired was secured before the "strike" occurred, but the refusal of the men to complete the march necessitated the employment of six hundred additional extras on another day.

The warlike appearance of the men with swords and spears caused many of the other extras to fear a riot would follow, but the prompt organization of forces to prevent destruction of property or injury of anyone resulted in the routing of the film "army."

J. G. Jessen.

BON-RAY PLANT NEAR COMPLETION

The Bon-Ray Film Company is rapidly completing the installation of its machinery at its extensive plant at Woodside, Long Island. Much of the outfit has come from abroad and considerable of the machinery has been specially designed and built in this country.

The technical direction of the new manufacturing enterprise is in the hands of J. Roy Hunt, a well-known cinematographic expert, while the business direction is controlled by F. E. Holliday, formerly of the Gaumont Company. The treasurer of the news company is A. B. Roberts.

AMERICAN STAR GETS MANY PROPOSALS

Vivian Rich, leading lady for the American Company, is the recipient of as many letters from admirers as probably any other girl on the screen. Proposals come in a large number as well as offers of platonic friendship.

Spend $25,000 on Safety Film Vault

Evans Film Manufacturing Company Has Installed Fireproof System That Makes Disaster to Films Next to Impossible—An Account of the Company's Equipment and the Proceeds That Turn the Raw into the Finished Product

A PROTECTION AGAINST FIRE THAT REALLY PROTECTS

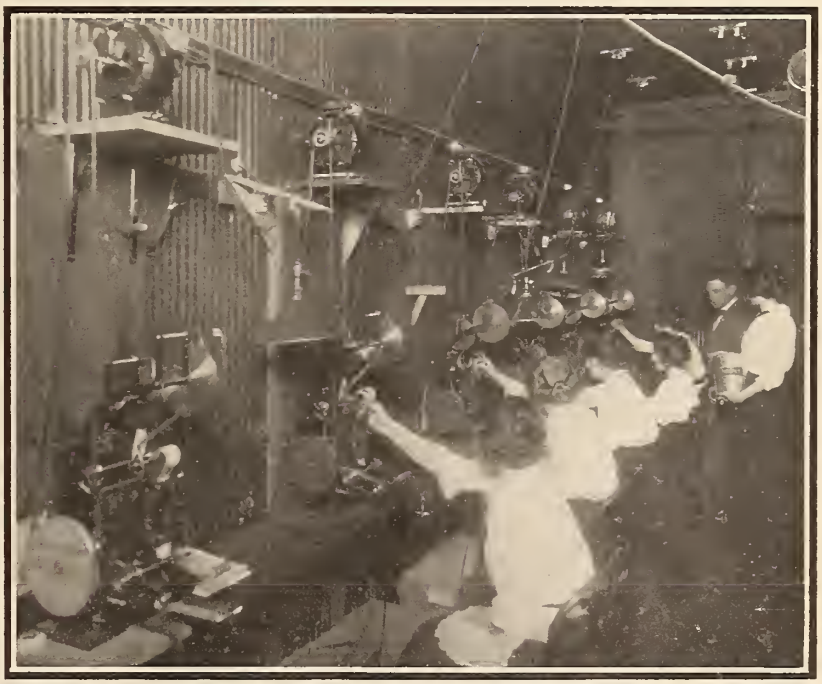
AN idea of the valuation placed upon "film in work," or while being developed, printed and assembled in factories in preparation for the market, is gained through an expenditure of $25,000 by one concern for safety appliances alone.

The Evans Film Manufacturing Company, operating a factory and laboratory at Two Hundred and Sixteenth street and Broadway, New York City, recently completed the installation of an immense fireproof vault and a complete safety appliance system that is one of the most modern in existence. The vault is set apart from the factory building, at a distance sufficiently great to eliminate danger from any fire within the workrooms—a thing almost impossible with the new equipment for the prevention of this danger.

The vault has an outer construction of brick and cement. The supports are of steel, around which are four walls of cement. The one door closely resembles that on a modern bank safe, both in physical construction, and with regard to burglar-proof devices.

All film handled in the factory during the day is taken each night to the vault.

THE factory in itself presents many points of interest as a model-working institution. It has facilities to permit a weekly output of five hundred thousand feet of film. To obtain this capacity speed was essential.



While there is no crowding of workmen or equipment, the total floor area is reasonably small. This eliminates lost motion. The factory building is two stories high, with a basement extending under its entire length. And here it is possible to follow the course of a piece of negative from the time it leaves the camera until the positive prints are ready for the exhibitor.

The negative, when delivered to the factory, is taken to the developing-room, which is light-proof, and is illuminated by several very dim red globes. The incoming negative is allowed to accumulate during the day, and is handled by the night force as a further prevention against being "light struck."

The negative is placed in vats containing "developer" for periods ranging from three to twenty-five minutes, depending upon its age, the quality of the photography and other conditions. Genuine technical knowledge is required to prevent over-developing.

AFTER being developed, the negative is placed on drying racks. Following this process it is polished by placing it on small revolving drums, while the film is brushed either with chamois skin or gauze saturated with carbona. Then comes the assembling, in some instances requiring from a week to a month. The complexities of this task are added to by the fact that the last scenes in a production ofttimes are the first to be photographed.

The negative then goes to the printing-room. The operation of the printers used by the Evans Company is shown in an accompanying photograph. In cases where a subject has a wide sale, as high as one hundred thousand feet of positive film is printed continuously from the one negative. The developing of the positive film after it has been printed requires the same process as for the negative, with the exception that the developing solution is weaker. The positive film is dried on huge drums.

VIEW OF THE EVANS PRINTING ROOM

From fifteen minutes to three hours are necessary, depending upon the humidity and general atmospheric conditions. The positive print is then polished, at an average rate of a full reel in seven minutes. It is then sent to the factory projection-room, where the defects, such as dark scenes and other imperfections, are noted.

After these have been corrected, the print is sent to the assembling-room, where the titles are inserted, and the completed production measured for footage. It is then placed in cans and stored in the outside vault.

THE titles at the Evans factory are obtained by painting white letters on a black background. In some cases block letters, made from various materials, are used. One man is employed to paint designs for the backgrounds of the titles.

By no means is the heaviest burden of production within the studio. Many of the feature manufacturers make or spoil a production after it reaches the factory or laboratory. And thus, modern equipment, scientifically perfect methods, and competent workmanship form the basis for the successful fulfilment of work started in the studios.

TERRITORY GOING FAST FOR "ATLANTIS"

Territory is being rapidly disposed of for the Great Northern Film Company's production of "Atlantis," the film adaptation of Gerhart Hauptmann's famous novel. The following territory has already been contracted for: New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Massachusetts, Connecticut, Delaware, District of Columbia, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kentucky, Maine, Maryland, Minnesota, New Hampshire, North Dakota, Rhode Island, South Dakota, Vermont, Virginia, West Virginia, Wisconsin and Canada.

The state-right buyers who have acquired this feature, seem to be securing choice bookings for it, some of them having presented the pictures in leading legitimate theatres. It began an engagement of two or more weeks at the beautiful Pitt Theatre, Pittsburgh, on Monday, June 22, and was also seen at His Majesty's Theatre, Montreal. It will probably be seen at other first-class houses.

Finish Two Lasky Features on the Coast

"The Man on the Box" and "The Call of the North" Completed at Hollywood—Next will Come "Where the Trail Divides" and "What's-His-Name"

Los Angeles, Cal., June 30.

TWO big features were completed during the past week at the Jesse Lasky studio, in Hollywood, Cal., "The Man on the Box," with Max Figman and Lolita Robertson, and Stewart Edward White's story, "The Call of the North," with Robert Edeson in the lead.

GROUP OF NOTABLES AT LASKY HOLLYWOOD STUDIOS

1. Thomas W. Ross; 2. Theodore Roberts; 3. James Neill; 4. Max Figman; 5. Dustin Farnum; 6. Stewart Edward White; 7. Robert Edeson; 8. Oscar F. Apfel; 9. Cecil B. DeMille; 10. Peggy—the mascot.

The past two weeks have been strenuous ones for all of the Lasky players, as all the possible sunlight was taken advantage of in order to complete these pictures. "Getting into the pictures has been percolating through my system for several years," Mr. Figman said in speaking of his experience with a camera for an audience, "and the desire just perked over. I had been told by many that it was far better than the work on the stage, but now I swear the hours from daylight to darkness get rather long. But it's great, and I am appreciating the sunshine and open air work, even though it did burn me the first week."

"The Man on the Box" will consist of five reels, and in this Mr. Figman played the part of Bob Warburton, the character he originated on the stage. In the film, however, there is far more realism. The Indian fighting of Warburton, referred to in the book, is given in a prologue, in which two hundred Californian national guards just home from duty at Calexico, on the Mexican line, took part. Lolita Robertson plays the part of Betty Annesley.

All the exteriors for "The Call of the North" were taken on locations selected by the author of the story, in the vicinity of Bear Lake, Cal., about one hundred miles northeast of Los Angeles, and forty miles from a railroad station. The company consisted of sixty-two including Dustin Farnum, Stewart Edward White, and Director-General Cecil de Mille. The author played the part of an Indian chief in several scenes, and was of great assistance to Mr. de Mille. There is one very unusual scene in this picture, where Mr. Edeson, who plays a double role—that of father and later son—sees himself as his father saying good-bye to himself as a child.

Mr. Edeson will next take part in the filming of another of Mr. White's stories, "Where the Trail Divides," and the Max Figman company will take up the production of "What's-His-Name," a dramatization of the George Barr McCutcheon novel by Cecil de Mille.

J. G. Jessen.

TAKES OVER BIG FEATURES

The American Feature Film Company, 162 Tremont street, Boston, has bought the complete list of productions previously handled by the Famous Players Film Company, of New England, except the Famous Players and All-Star features.

Live News of the Week

FRANK COOK, for the past ten years identified with the Saxe Brothers, of Wilwaukee, Wis., and one of the best-known film men in the country, has resigned from his position as chief booking manager of that firm to become general manager of the F. O. Nielsen Quality Feature Film Company, Chicago, which company has the state rights for "The Spoilers" in five of the middle western states.

Mr. Cook's departure from the Saxe firm will be a great surprise to his many friends as he was regarded as one of the fixtures of that firm, having been with the Saxe's since they entered the motion picture business. It was Mr. Cook's efforts and knowledge of the business that did much to place the Saxe Brothers in their present enviable position in the film world.

He is planning to attend the Dayton convention, where he expects to meet many of his old time friends.

The latest stage star to be enrolled in the companies at the Universal studio is Elsie Jane Wilson, known to many theatrical people as the original Everywoman in the play of that name, produced under the direction of Daniel Frohman. Prior to the engagement with Mr. Frohman, Miss Wilson was leading woman of several noteworthy companies, among them the Little Theatre in Los Angeles, where she scored many successes.

ELSIE JANE WILSON

The first picture in which Miss Wilson will appear is "The Dreamer," a one-reel subject to be released under the Julian Rex brand. The scenario is from the pen of Rupert Julian, husband of Miss Wilson, and will be the first time the two have worked as co-stars.

The Newman Manufacturing Company, with factories in Cincinnati, New York and Chicago, will have quite an attractive and elaborate booth, occupying space No. 20 at the convention to be held in Dayton, July 6 to 11. They will have a complete line of the very latest and attractive brass poster frames, easels, railings, ticket choppers.

A cordial invitation is extended to all exhibitors to visit their booth, where representatives of the firm will be glad to go into detail with reference to any of the equipment.

Agnes Egan Cobb will handle through the Leading Players the output of Clarendon, of London, and the productions of Filmfabriken of Copenhagen after September 1.

AGNES EGAN COBB

No Pathé company had been seen at Los Angeles for some time, until P. C. Hartigan, erstwhile of the Kalem, returned accompanied by Mabel Frenyear, Peggy Hart, Alfred A. Grady and George Rizard, camera man. They began work at the studio on Hill and Court streets, where the Famous Players worked up to the time that Mary Pickford and the rest of them started on their world tour.

W. C. Brandon, of the Dixie Film Company, of Atlanta, Georgia, has closed contracts to handle the products of the Progressive Motion Picture Corporation and Colonial Motion Picture Corporation exclusively in Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia, Florida, North and South Carolina and Tennessee.

Harry and Octavia Handworth, director and leading lady, respectively, of the Excelsior Feature Film Company, Inc., are now working on the second release of that corporation. The first picture, "The Toll of Mammon," was received well by all who saw the exhibition at the New York Theatre, and great things are promised of the second.

OCTAVIA HANDWORTH

Mr. and Mrs. Handworth were formerly with the Pathé company and on severing their alliance, took several of the well-known players with them to the studio at Lake Placid.

Fred McClellan, former general manager of Luna Park under the Frederic Thompson regime, was selected recently by Werba & Luescher as general manager in the far West for d'Annunzio's great photo-spectacle "Cabiria." Mr. McClellan will make his headquarters in San Francisco where he will prepare for the initial presentation to which the public officials, newspaper representatives and Italian Consulate will be invited will be given the night previous.

Mr. McClellan is arranging to take a New York symphony orchestra. A chorus will be selected locally. He is well known in the West, as he was connected with the amusement bureau of the World's Fair at Seattle a few years ago.

One of the most important changes that has taken place in Philadelphia film circles in some time is that of the management of the Continental Feature Film Company. W. A. Macan, Jr., who has piloted the destinies of this concern since its consolidation last fall with the Federal Feature Film Company, leaves to take up the management of an industrial concern. He has many friends among all branches of the business in the Quaker City, and he will be missed.

To fill the vacant chair of Friend Macan, J. W. Pierce has been promoted from the ranks of the Mutual's solicitors. Pierce has been with the firm but a short time, having been formerly an exhibitor and also secretary of the Philadelphia branch of the M. P. E. L. He, too, is well liked and should make many more friends in his new office.

F. Jessie Smith has resigned her position with the North American Films Corporation to resume her former connection as sub-title editor of the Vitagraph Company of America.

George Sidney, originator and producer of the "Busy Izzy" series, has just completed his first two-reel release of that series and is working on his second. Fred Bennage, sales manager of the Progressive Motion Picture Corporation, says "The demand for this class of film is greater than the supply. I have a hard time getting enough of it."

GEORGE SIDNEY

A. J. Corcoran, Inc., report they are doing a large business and their factory in Jersey City is working to capacity. Tanks and racks have been installed in the following plants within the past few months: Universal, Pathé, Edison, Solax, Eclair, Centaur Pierott, North American, I. & D. Film Company, Industrial, Humanology Film Company, and a large order has been placed for the Bob Ray.

Miss Mary Alden, emotional leading woman with the Donald Crisp Reliance Company, has just finished playing a very unusual part in a two-reel Civil War picture, "The Weaker

MARY ALDEN

Strain," from the story by Russell E. Smith, at the Majestic studio, Hollywood, Cal.

Miss Alden, who has been in pictures less than a year, has been adding to her laurels with each new production. It was by accident that she first posed for the camera, but now she asserts she will not return to the legitimate stage, for with her work in pictures she can give much time to study and continue with her art work.

Her waiting moments in the dressing-room is taken up with the study of French, and at home she does sketching and illustrating during spare moments. Although very young, Miss Alden's best pictures have been those in which she impersonated a mature woman.

A Radium Gold Fibre Screen has been installed in the Screen Club by Atsco, Inc.

On Thursday, July 16, the Universal Company, under their Imp brand, will release the first number of the Universal Boy series. Other pictures with this boy playing the lead will be released every two weeks thereafter.

The James McEnnery Syndicate of 12 Archer street, Shaftesbury avenue, London, W., are handling the complete line of supplies of Atsco, Inc., in the capacity of manufacturers agents.

"Bill," the series written by Paul West, will be released on July 5 under the Komic Brand of the Mutual. Other numbers of the set will follow at frequent intervals.

Winfield R. Sheehan, general manager of Box Office Attraction Company, William Fox Enterprises, left New York Monday night for a Western trip that will embrace Pittsburgh, Cleveland, Detroit, Cincinnati, Chicago, Minneapolis, St. Louis, and Kansas City. On his return East he will stop at Washington, and in all important cities east of the Mississippi. The Box Office Attraction Company will open large exchanges for the purpose of supplying exhibitors in those various fields with Box Office Attraction features.

Mr. Sheehan will arrange for sheltering fifteen branch offices by leasing suitable premises or arranging for the erection of special buildings.

Samuel White, president of the White Specialty Company, is one of the most popular men in the film business. His company was established five years ago, and has at the present writing two branches, one at 450 Fourth avenue and the other at 71 West 23d street, both in New York City. These branches handle everything in connection with the needs of the exhibitor.

SAMUEL WHITE

George T. Fitzmaurice, who has been for some time at the head of the scenario department of Pathé, has become a director. Mr. Fitzmaurice has written the scenario for a six-reel feature and is directing the production himself. He has as his leading man William Rossell. It is estimated that it will cost $50,000 to produce this feature, owing to the artistic sets and rare backgrounds which are used in the different scenes.

Stanley Walpole, leading man for the Eclair Company, has had a varied and wide experience on the stage. He was first seen with the late Wilson Barrett, with whom he played for twelve months. He then took innumerable trips on the road; tiring of this, he settled down for several years in stock. He is an Australian by birth and has played on almost every continent. He has been with the Eclair for two years.

Two years ago the Majestic Theatre, Cleveland, Ohio, was running at a loss. Numerous promoters put on stock and vaudeville without success. The Schroeder Art Manufacturing Company people, who had been watching the fortunes of the house with interest, thought that they saw possibilities in the theatre if it were run properly with motion pictures.

The house needed renovation throughout. The interior was decorated with flowers and lanterns, producing a garden effect of very striking appearance, which gave the house a cool and cheerful feeling. By skilful arrangement of the decorative materials the company's men succeeded in getting away from the dead effect noticeable in many motion picture houses. The theatre opened with a program of Mutual pictures.

In the face of many doleful predictions, the theatre drew a large patronage from the start.

This is only one instance of a house being improved and put on a paying basis by the use of telling decorative schemes originating with the Schroeder film.

The floral lines around the proscenium arch are called "stage bouquets" by the inventors. They form a frame of soft, subdued effects against the screen and bring out the picture stronger, at the same time preventing eye strain as there is no reflection thrown on the picture background.

The decoration is inexpensive, and the flowers are fireproof. They will last for years, and their color can be changed from time to time with but little expense.

E. B. Seaman, vice-president of the Progressive Motion Picture Corporation, died unexpectedly June 27 after an operation.

The release date for Belasco's "Du Barry," produced by George Kleine, with Mrs. Leslie Carter in the title role, has not as yet been definitely fixed. Belasco's "Heart of Maryland," in which Mrs. Carter also plays the leading part, will probably be the first important production of the Kleine forces in this country.

The Consolidated Projection Machine Company has transferred its factory from 100 Beekman street, New York, to 186 Southern boulevard in the Bronx. They have ten to fifteen thousand square feet for manufacturing, and the factory, which is turning out parts will be running a full force in thirty days. Erie Morrison will attend to the selling end of the company.

Jacques Jacquard has been appointed co-director with J. Warren Kerrigan in the Universal Victor Company. Mr. Kerrigan will hereafter be seen in both society and western dramas, either of which he plays equally well.

Frank Kugler, the head cameraman of the Life Photo Film Corporation, is the inventor of seventy-nine separate improvements for motion picture cameras, none of which he has patented, assigning the rights of the inventions to others.

FRANK KUGLER

Mr. Kugler was formerly the senior photographer for the Edison Company. He is also the president of the Cinema Camera Club, which he organized some time ago.

A. Alex Wall, well known motion picture exhibitor, of Birmingham, Ala., has been suffering from a severe sprain in his side which he received in his theatre, the Alcazar.

TASTEFUL INTERIOR DECORATIONS OF THE MAJESTIC THEATRE, CLEVELAND, O.

Ormi Hawley, who plays opposite Andrew Mack in "The Ragged Earl," the coming feature motion picture of Popular Plays and Players, Inc., of 1600 Broadway, New York City, has discontinued attending social affairs during the production of the picture. She now spends her evenings rehearsing for her work on the next day. The same is true of Eleanor Barry, who will also be seen in "The Ragged Earl."

Abe Mundon, juvenile lead for the Universal "Special Features" Company, was one of the first to go to the present "war" in Mexico. Mr. Mundon was a member of the California National Guard, and was forced to go. Through a strange coincidence his last picture, which was rushed to completion, is named "On the Verge of War."

Harvey B. Day, manager of George Kleine Attractions, Pittsburgh office, put one over on the Pittsburgh exchange managers by opening the Pitt Theatre, home of the Pitt Stock Company, with "Antony and Cleopatra," the Cines photo-drama in eight reels.

The Mortimer Film cleaner, manufactured by the Mortimer Film Amusement Company, was well represented at the New York convention last week by the Atsco Inc. The company broke all records for shipments during the week of June 1, sending out fifty-three cleaners and 40,000 cleaning pads.

Donald Crisp, of the Reliance Mutual Company, is the latest recruit to join the directing staff. "The Newer Woman," a comedy on the new woman question, the scenario of which was written by Russell E. Smith, has just been completed by Mr. Crisp. Dorothy Gish, Robert Harron, and Mr. Crisp play the principal parts.

DONALD CRISP

Al. E. Christie and his Nestor Comedy Company have returned from a journey that took them from one end of California to the other and into Mexico. They experienced every sensation from being seasick to near-arrest when accused of spying on the two-foot Mexican fortifications at Tia Juana.

One of the pictures Christie made shows scenes of construction in the Exposition at San Diego which will celebrate in 1915 the opening of the Panama Canal.

IMP-PICKFORD FILMS TO BE REVIVED

Universal exhibitors and patrons throughout the world are to be treated to a series of plays featuring the famous little screen star, Mary Pickford. These plays, produced for the most part three and four years ago by the old Imp company, are the ones which first brought the clever little artist to the attention of the picture public and made her the popular screen star she is to-day.

The first play to be released featuring Miss Pickford in the lead female role, will be entitled "In the Sultan's Garden," and the date has been set for July 20. Following, one of the Imp plays will be released under the Imp brand every other Monday for an indefinite period.

Now Is The Time For Quick Action

The following states will be disposed of to quick buyers at bargain prices

WEST VIRGINIA	OREGON	TEXAS	ALABAMA
WESTERN PENNSYLVANIA	IDAHO	LOUISIANA	GEORGIA
INDIANA	MONTANA	OKLAHOMA	FLORIDA
KANSAS	UTAH	ARKANSAS	NORTH CAROLINA
MISSOURI	WYOMING	KENTUCKY	SOUTH CAROLINA
WASHINGTON	COLORADO	TENNESSEE	VIRGINIA

NEW YORK STATE, OUTSIDE OF GREATER NEW YORK

If your territory is on this list wire us your price for the Four Reel Sensational Feature

"A CRY IN THE NIGHT"

ALL PRINTS ON EASTMAN STOCK

20TH CENTURY FEATURE FILM COMPANY

216 WEST 42ND STREET - - - - NEW YORK CITY, N. Y.

SPECIAL FILM REVIEWS

"The Great Universal Mystery." (Nestor. Friday, July 10.)—One of the best comedies yet produced. It will be talked about for some time to come. It is absolutely original and produced by the largest and most expensive group of celebrities yet filmed.

The first leader reads "Pauline Bush Lost It," and the screen depicts the popular leading woman hunting for something. Boys are sent out on the search, and everyone met is questioned and frisked for the missing something.

Among those at the coast who were requested to produce the missing treasure were: Phillips Smalley and Lois Weber, Al Christie, Jules Bernstein, Jack Warren Kerrigan, Edwin August, William Clifford, Sherman Bainbridge, Lule Warrenton, Francis Ford and Grace Cunard, Cleo Madison, Hazel Buckham, Robert Leonard, and every director and camera man. Then a rush telegram to J. C. Graham in New York. Mr. Graham did some excellent acting. He sent chasers after King Baggot, Carl Laemmle, Florence Lawrence, Ethel Grandin ad infinitum. Finally "one" was discovered and the day saved. Just what it was we don't know, but it looked mightily like a safety pin.

"The Chasm." (Essanay. Two reels. Friday. June 26.)—The relationship of the different characters is not quite clear until the beginning of the second reel, when a sub-title explains. Otherwise no fault can be found with the picture. Richard Travers, Bryant Washburn and Gerda Holmes play the leads.

Shirely, a stenographer, is in love with a consumptive who works in the same office. He is sent away, and as her employer is in love with her, he gives her money to send to him. Later she marries her emplyoyer and still later learns to love him. The other man returns and tries to ruin their happiness, but is unsuccessful.

"The Harlowe Handicap." (Thanhouser. Two reels. Tuesday, June 30.)—One of the best Thanhouser releases of the last month. It is no unusual sight to see a race, but this is an unusually pretty one. There is a fine fire scene in the picture. The heavy tries to destroy his rival's horses and sets fire to his barn, but the horses are rescued in time.

Allen's horse wins the race on the next day and besides he wins a wife. The picture is well photographed and the story is of a kind that will appeal to all wherever it is shown.

"For Her Child." (Thanhouser. Two reels. Tuesday, June 23.)—An absorbing drama. The attention is not lost once throughout the picture, owing to the fine story and the good acting. Irving Cummings plays the lead. The couple quarrel and separate. He is awarded the child, but in order to keep it she declares it is dead. Later he is attacked by burglars and almost killed. His wife returns to him and they are happy once more.

"The Weakling." (Kalem. Two reels. Monday, July 6.)—The third feature of the Alice Joyce series. It far surpasses either of its two predecessors. Part of the picture was taken in a heavy rainstorm and the figures are remarkably clear, considering the poor light that must have attended the rain. A furious encounter occurs in a dark room. Only at times are the characters visible, when the lightning flashes brighten things.

Litt is a weakling, and even when he sees a woman insulted is afraid to interfere. The school teacher takes an interest in him, and he is sent to college. Here he is a coward, also. Later he proves that he is afraid of no one and wins the teacher. Tom Moore, Henry Hallam, John E. Mackin and Jere Austin complete the cast.

"Olana of the South Seas." (101 Bison. Two reels. July 11.)—A drama made in Honolulu by William Clifford, Marie Walcamp, Sherman Bainbridge and supporting company. The story introduces a number of the native dances and some excellent scenery, which, needless to say, adds atmosphere. The characters are mostly natives. A good fight scene is also enacted.

Olana is married to Palapo, whom she loves. Newaka also loves her and plans her abduction. Through the use of a drug she is made unconscious, and after being pronounced dead by the medicine man, is carried away by Newaka. She is recaptured later after a fight between the two tribes.

"The Stuff that Dreams are Made of." (Edison. Two reels. Friday, July 31.)—This is a new version of the Edison comedy that was released some time ago, as a one-reel picture. In its improved condition it is fully deserving of two reels. One seldom sees such a comedy that is so strictly true to life or rather to dreams. To say that it keeps one in a continual roar of laughter would be putting it mildly. The general tendency is to roll off one's seat before the picture is half over.

The dream comes to Nellie when she thinks her lover false. The happenings are disconnected, impossible, but what is more to the point, sidesplitting. Such things as a train passing over the body of a man without injury to him, the same man being shut up in a folding bed and being squashed flat, and the heroine breaking down a prison wall are among the many that follow one another in rapid succession. Gladys Hulette, Richard Tucker, Gertrude McCoy and William Bechtel are the principals.

THE MARRIAGE OF OTHELLO AND DESDEMONA IS ANNOUNCED AT COURT

Scene from "Othello" (George Kleine—five parts—Released by General Film Special Feature Dept.—July 6)

"Finger Prints." (Essanay. Two reels. Friday, June 19.)—The third adventure of "Richard Neal, Private Investigator of Crime." This far surpasses his other experiences. The story is worked out in such a manner as to keep one's interest at the highest point until the last scene.

Francix X. Bushman, E. H. Calvert, Rapley Holmes, Gerda Holmes, Cyril Leonard and Charles Hitchcock make up the cast. These well-known players make the story twice as entertaining as it would be without them.

A notorious criminal tries to procure a priceless scarab amulet. He obtains it for a time but he and his whole gang are captured by Neal.

"Enmeshed by Fate." (Victor. Two reels. Friday, June 12.)—Convicts, after being released from prison, have a difficult time trying to live straight no matter how hard they try. This drama conveys this idea perfectly and no one will condemn the hero when he attacks the detective who has constantly followed him and kept him from obtaining work. The murderer of Danvers is kept a secret from the characters themselves, but the audience knows that Jim, the former convict, is the culprit. He at length gives himself up when another man is wrongly accused. The story is powerful.

"Duty." (Eclair. Two reels. July 8.)—Alec Francis and Belle Adair are the principals. Helen Martin, who plays a minor part, does some very clever work. The plot presents a domestic relationship question.

J. J. McGRAW IN THREE-REEL DETECTIVE PLAY AT PATHE STUDIO

An old doctor has a young and frivolous wife. A case which is likely to cost the doctor his life is brought to him. He demands that his wife remain with him during the operation, to tend him should he become inoculated. She sees her duty and complies gladly.

"A Matter of Minutes." (Edison. Tuesday, July 20.)—In this installment of "The Man Who Disappeared" series, Mary, Perriton's sweetheart, learns the truth about the theft of her necklace. But her selfish brother will not confess. Instead he goes for the police to arrest Perriton. He and Mary plan to escape to Canada. She leaves on an early train; he follows on the next, which breaks down.

He then hires an aeroplane to take him to his destination. A wonderful view of the earth is shown from the air craft. The police are on his track but fail to overtake him.

"The Curse of Humanity. (Domino. Two reels. Thursday, July 8.)—"The Curse of Humanity," as the picture clearly defines, is drink. If one doesn't think this sort of drama disagreeable, he will most certainly regard this particular one quite the other way, and the majority will be pleased with it. The finale is pretty and nice. The family is reunited after the son has reformed and broken away from his evil habits.

Roger marries without his father's consent and is disowned. He is unable to obtain work and so takes to drink. His mother meets his little girl, who tells her the family's troubles, and this leads to a happy reconciliation.

THE OLD COBBLER'S BIBLE CLASS
Scene from "The Old Cobbler" (101 Bison—two reels—Released June 27)

William Bechtel, of the Edison players, is recovering from his illness, at Mt. Clemens, Michigan, and will soon be playing again.

INTERESTING FILM REVIEWS

PRODUCTIONS FROM ALL PROGRAMS

GENERAL FILM PROGRAM

"The Servant Question Out West." (Selig. Split reel. Tues., June 23.)—On the same reel with "Doc Yak and the Limited Train." An amusing comedy. Four of the servants disappear with the different cowboys, the fifth is black, but the bootblack gets her. The sixth is a Chinaman, who remains.

"Doc Yak and the Limited Train." (Selig. Split reel. Tues., June 23.)—On the same reel with "The Servant Question Out West." The thirteenth of these animated cartoons. Doc has several laughable experiences on a railroad track.

"The Passing of Diana." (Vitagraph. Two reel. Tues., June 23.)—James Morrison and Dorothy Kelly play the leads. If the picture were without subtitles one could understand it just as well, for the acting is enough to make all the happenings clear. The last scene is a thriller. An automobile plunges over a high cliff and its occupant is killed. The artist does not know that his model is the wife of his dearest friend. She is in love with him and swears that on his wedding day she will die. She attempts to carry his fiancee with her, but by a lucky chance she escapes.

"The Epidemic." (Essanay. Wed., June 24.)—The idea of this comedy is good, but the picture does not cause many laughs. A large cast performs. All the office force has the tango fever. So have the crooks who try to rob the boss of his book on dancing. A general mix-up follows.

"The Greater Treasure." (Lubin. Two reels. Wed., June 24.)—The cast: Rosetta Price, Joseph Kaufman, John E. Ince and Ruth Bryant. A fine drama that tells in a pathetic way that riches seldom if ever bring happiness, if love is absent. The scenes are well laid. The photography is good and the story entertaining. The picture will surely be a success.

"Somebody's Sister." (Selig. Wed., June 24.)—William Stowell, Adele Lane and Miss Johnson play the leads. The subject dealt with deserves more than one reel, as it is a big question. The public will be pleased with the picture. Frank comes to the city with his sister, where he keeps company with a chorus girl. He is dining and acting in a disgraceful manner with her when he hears a scream from the next room. His sister is resisting the attentions of an artist. This sight causes the brother to reform and the two return to their country home.

"The 'Bear' Facts." (Vitagraph. Wed., June 24.)—One of the Sunny Jim series. Bobby Connelly, Tefft Johnson and Mabel Kelly are the principals. The comedy is poor and few except the very young will endure it. Sonny, after hearing the story of "The Three Bears," sets out to find them. He finds three that have escaped from a circus. Much commotion follows.

"Through the Flames." (Kalem. Two reels. Wed., June 24.)—The principals are, Guy Coombs, Marguerite Courtot and Alice Hollister. The light is so poor that it is difficult to distinguish the characters in some scenes. A realistic fire occurs in the first reel. The story is absorbing and every one will enjoy it. Hall's wife flirts with another man. She leaves him and he thinks her dead. He marries a simple country girl. His old wife returns and breaks up the happy family. Years later Hall is on the point of killing himself when he meets his daughter by his second wife, who prevents him from dying.

"The Conductor's Courtship." (Kalem. Tues., June 23.)—An excellent railroad story, as those put out by Kalem usually are. The picture is a mixture of comedy and drama. The freight conductor, who is in love with a station agent's daughter, manages to marry her while the father and his choice are looking for them.

"Nice Nursey." (Lubin. Split reel. Tues., June 23.)—On the same reel with "Brown's Big Butler." It turns out that the son of the family is sick because of his pretty nurse, when the new nurse comes he speedily gets well again. The comedy will be enjoyed by all.

"Brown's Big Butler." (Lubin. Split reel. Tues., June 23.)—On the same reel with "Nice Nursey." The Lubin midget plays the lead in this highly amusing comedy. Brown's friend is told to make himself at home in his house while he is away. He does and the butler waits on him without him knowing it. The consequences are very funny.

"The Countess." (Essanay. Tues., June 23.)—Francis X. Bushman and Beverly Bayne are the leads. The story is absorbing and will be well received. The reporter wins the heart of the Countess by posing as her butler and defeating a gang of nihilists who are on her track.

"The Political Voss." (Kalem. Sat., July 4.)—Carlyle Blackwell and Nerva Gerber play the leads. Tom, who owns a small paper, succeeds in laying bare a corrupt political boss. The boss's candidate is the father of Tom's sweetheart, but all ends well between them. An excellent fire scene occurs in the latter part of the reel.

"The Flaw in the Alibi." (Kalem. Two reels. Mon., June 29.)—An interesting story, but poorly produced. The plot has many new turns and is absorbing from the start. Helen Holmes and William Brunton are the principals. The innocent cashier of a bank is almost convicted of robbery, when, through the efforts of a detective he is exonerated and the guilty man apprehended. The detective solves the case by noticing that the hands of a clock were turned forward by the guilty man, to cover up his crime.

"The Two Doctors." (Edison. Tues., July 14.)—The unworthy doctor becomes rich through unscrupulous methods, the worthy one is poor. But the latter is the means of reforming the other. The drama is pleasant and will appeal to the admirers of good acting coupled with a pretty story.

"Qualifying for Lena." (Edison. Mon., July 13.)—A comedy that will amuse nearly all. To win Lena, the servant girl, he must own an auto, have property and moreover a Van Dyke beard. These he gets after a fashion, but is suspected of robbery and lands in jail.

"The Old Maid's Baby." (Vitagraph. Fri., June 26.)—John Bunny and Flora Finch in their usual roles. Flora dresses her dog in baby's clothes so she may carry him on the train. Bunny exposes her trick, but wins her in the end.

"A Practical Demonstration." (Lubin. Fri., June 26.)—A story that proves a woman can fill a man's position. The photography is good, and the plot, though rather far-fetched, will entertain all.

"An Elopement in Rome." (Kalem. Split reel. Fri., June 26.)—On the same reel with "Labor Demonstration in Hyde Park, "London." Beautiful scenes mark this comedy. While two gallants are fighting for the hand of the old Roman's daughter, another marries her.

"Labor Demonstration in Hyde Park, London." (Kalem. Split reel. Fri., June 26.)—England has its Socialists as well as America, as this picture demonstrates. A few current happenings in England take up the rest of the reel.

"The Captain's Chair." (Selig. Fri., June 26.)—The nephew of old Captain Snaggs hopes to inherit his fortune, so he invites him to live with him. When the old man dies he leaves all his money to a poor boy and the unworthy nephew gets nothing. A comedy-drama that will amuse any audience.

"Happy-Go-Lucky." (Vitagraph. Thurs., June 25.)—Clara Kimball Young, James Young, Mrs. Kimball and Earl Williams are the principals in this sprightly drama of stage life. Happy-Go-Lucky, an actress, is an orphan. When she is taken sick on the stage she is taken care of by a kind woman, whose son she later marries.

Hearst Selig News Pictorial. (Selig. Thurs., June 25.)—The funeral of Adlai Stevenson, former Vice-President, and scenes from various college graduation exercises are shown.

"Her Neighbors Next Door." (Biograph. Thurs., June 25.)—Morgan goes on a business trip and is wrecked and believed dead. Returning later he is superintendent of a mill, the hands of which go on strike. His sweetheart lives next door to one of the strikers, who attempts to kill Morgan, but is prevented by the girl. A reconciliation between all is effected.

"The Candidate for Mayor." (Lubin. Two reels. Thurs., June 25.)—The plot of this picture is in many ways similar to the novel "The Masquerader." The main points only have been altered. Twins are separated in childhood. Years later, one is a candidate for mayor. The other is a doctor. The politician disappears, through the work of the opposition, and his brother, turning up opportunely, takes his place. The man is elected and some time later the brother returns and the usurper gives up his place. The girl goes with the man she has learned to love, forsaking her former lover, the real mayor.

"Sophie Finds a Hero." (Essanay. Thurs., June 25.)—At last it looks as though Sophie was really going to be married. After much trouble she finds that the bandit is the only one of her four ardent suitors that has not a yellow streak.

"Andy has a Toothache." Edison. Tues., July 7.)—A fair comedy. Andy is much adverse to having his tooth pulled. His mother tries the old string and the door trick, but without avail. He goes to the dentist, but hearing the groans of another unfortunate, makes his escape." It finally comes out while Andy is having a fight with another messenger.

"Dolly at the Helm." (Edison. Sat., July 11.)—The managing editor is sick and the city editor has trouble in the family, so Dally manages the "Comet" for a few days. This pictude mainly shows how a daily is run. There is no plot, but all will enjoy it.

"Kaintucky Bill." (Kalem. Tues., July 7.)—A wonderful explosion of the moonshiners' still is the crowning scene of this drama. The story is good. It contains an old plot, but it has been twisted around to appear quite new. The final outcome of the picture is not definite. Bill, the worst moonshiner in the country, is, for a joke, elected sheriff. After his election he unexpectedly turns against the moonshiners and ruins their still. Later he goes away with the leader's daughter.

"A String of Pearls." (Kalem. Two reels. Wed., July 8.)—Two clever falls from off a high bridge into the water are feats worthy of great praise. The story is interesting and will meet with success. The close-ups and the distant scenes differ in several places, as regards consistency. Batiste poses for an artist and attempts to steal a string of pearls from his safe. She throws them out the window, thinking they will fall into the hands of her husband. An organ grinder finds them. The truth is learned later, and the artist gives the Italian couple a chance in life. William Brunton, Leo D. Maloney, Helen Holmes and G. A. Williams play the leading roles.

"The Right to Happiness." (Selig. Sat., June 27.)—Kate, a poor girl, becomes the victim of circumstantial evidence and is sentenced to two years' imprisonment. When released she is trailed by Weaver, an old associate. She lives straight, is married, and is happy. When Weaver attempts to roh her husband, she shoots him. Adele Lane is the principal character in this drama that all will enjoy.

"The Gypsy Gambler." (Kalem. Sat., June 27.)—A pretty story featuring Princess Mona Darkfeather. The gypsy leader loses his daughter in a game of cards to a gambler. In the meantime she has eloped with an Indian. The Indian is turned from his tribe for marrying the gypsy, hut the two live happily together.

"The Wire Chief's Reward." (Kalem. Tues., June 30.)—The telephone girl in the railroad office becomes the innocent accomplice of rohhers. She discovers that they have made off with some valuahle papers and starts to pursue them. The wire chief (Carlyle Blackwell), while on the top of a telegraph pole, overhears their plot and it is he who finally hrings them to justice and wins the girl. The drama is teeming with action all the time and will he well received wherever shown.

"Laddie." (Edison. Two reels. Fri., July 24.)—Ben Wilson and Margaret McQuade are the characters of most importance. Laddie goes to the city and hecomes a great doctor. Later when his mother comes to him, he is ashamed of her. She leaves his house and is found hy Laddie's fiancee, who takes her to a hospital and calls him to attend her. He arrives in time to receive her last hlessing with her dying breath. The story will appeal especially to the old people. It is hardly deserving of two reels.

"Something to a Door." (Edison. Wed., July 29.)—A laughahle production depicting the experience of a suitor held very much in disfavor with father. It will furnish a good laugh for all. William Wadsworth, Arthur Hauseman and Elsie MacLeod are the principals.

"A Deal in Statuary." (Edison. Split reel. Wed., July 22.)—The young artist is to get $10,000 from his aunt if he makes two statues. He conceives the hrilliant idea of having his hutler and gardener pose as such. But the trick is discovered. Later he makes the real article and gets the money. A fine comedy on the same reel with "His Wife's Burglar."

"His Wife's Burglar." (Edison. Split reel. Wed., July 22.)—On the same reel with "A Deal in Statuary." The hushand fixes a dummy burglar to scare his wife. The police are called and he himself is mistaken for the hurglar. He vows never to attempt to scare his wife again.

"The Mystery of the Lost Stradivarius." (Edison. Tues., July 28.)—Another ahsorhing page in "The Chronicles of Cleek." The story is not apparent until the very end, which serves to heighten the interest. Cleek locates an impersonator and clears the name of an innocent man. His methods of working on the case are extremely entertaining.

"The Honor of the Law." (Biograph. Mon., June 29.)—An absorbing drama that contains an unusual amount of thrillers, among which is a fight with pistols in the dark. An ancient feud comes near lasting down into civilization, when through the influence of the law everything is put aright. No one can help hut enjoy this picture.

"Lame Dog's Treachery." (Kalem. Sat., July 11.)—A plain Indian story that contains little action. Interest in the picture is decidedly lacking. When the old chief dies, he names as his successor his daughter's sweetheart. A rival usurps his power for a time, but later the will is carried out.

"Who's Boss?" (Lubin. Split reel. Sat., June 27.)—On the same reel with "His Sudden Recovery." The chief rules the police force, hut not his wife, as she demonstrates in a comical way.

"His Sudden Recovery." (Lubin. Split reel. Sat., June 27.)—On the same reel with "Who's Boss?" The Luhin fat boy recovers from his serious illness when his relatives proceed to loot his house. A worthy comedy.

"His Wife and His Work." (Vitagraph. Two reels. Sat., June 27.)—The drama is entertaining in the extreme, hut the whole story is based on a poor idea. The wife of a painter is prejudiced against his use of models in his work. They separate, hut after a time she comes to her senses and returns to him.

"A Spanish Omelet." (Biograph. Split reel. Sat., June 27.)—On the same reel with "Ribhons and Boxing Gloves." This comedy has no plot and the actions of the characters, clad in Spanish clothes, are dry and exceedingly tiresome.

"Ribbons and Boxing Gloves." (Biograph. Split reel. Sat., June 27.)—On the same reel with "A Spanish Omelet." Not humorous at all. One who is thought to he a sissy knocks out the town champion.

"Broncho Billy's Jealousy." (Essanay. Sat., June 27.)—Through the influence of a minister Broncho Billy is prevented from killing a man whom he thought was stealing his sweetheart. Victor Potel plays the comedy lead. One of the hetter comedy-dramas.

UNIVERSAL PROGRAM

"Love, Roses and Trousers." (Joker. Sat., July 11.)—A picture that really deserves to he called a comedy. Boxes get mixed and trousers go to the girl instead of roses. The events leading up to this comical climax are exceptionally humorous.

"On the Rio Grande." (Rex. July 5.)—All one knows when this picture is over is that Dick Harrod has heen elected sheriff. The story is so vague and loosely put together that it is difficult to understand.

"Out of the Darkness." (Rex. July 10.)—A drama that contains universal appeal. It touches on two opposite sides of life and both young and old take part. Robert Leonard plays the lead. Here he is a hurglar. One night while rohhing a house he discovers his little daughter, who has heen adopted hy a rich couple. The sight of her causes him to reform.

"Bessie the Detectress, or the Dogwatch." (Joker. July 9.)—A fair comedy, hut no one will find many laughs in it. Bess Meredyth plays the leading part, as in the other experiences of Bessie. She locates and captures, hy mistake, a notorious thief and wins $200 reward. Most of the action takes place on shiphoard and Bess is no sailor, as is shown hy her actions.

"The Adventures of a Girl Reporter." (Imp. Two reels. Mon., June 29.)—Featuring Ethel Grandin in a part requiring much technique and skill. Edmund Mortimer, Edwin Maxwell and Jack Grey assist her. It is a detective story with much that will interest. The girl reporter ohtains a position as maid in the house where a daring rohhery has heen reported. Through a number of adventures she goes, finally locating the real thief, her mistress.

"Universal Ike Jr. and the Vampire." (Universal Ike. Tues., June 30.)—Ike Jr., in rivalry with a number of other cowhoys, wins the "vampire," but when she has stolen everything he owns, he is sorry he even went into competition.

"The Broken Barrier." (Frontier. Sun., July 5.)—Arthur Allardt, Jos. J. Franz and Dolly Larkin are the principals. The story for the first hundred feet is conventional, hut later hecomes unusually good. Arthur is hlamed for a murder and freed for lack of evidence. Joe, the sheriff, is finally found guilty hut given five hours' start hy the girl.

"Nearly a Stepmother." (Crystal. Tues., July 7.)—A laughahle comedy along not overdone lines. Charlie dresses as a woman and makes love to Dick's propective father-in-law. He is discovered and Dick and he exit hurriedly.

"As Fate Disposes." (Rex. Thurs., July 9.)—Ella Hall, the new leading lady of the Rex Company, and Rohert Leonard are the principals in this unusually strong drama. Miss Hall is a very pretty and capable girl. Ella promises to marry the artist because she is grateful, hut later love overcomes her and she is thankful when he asks his freedom.

MUTUAL PROGRAM

"The Final Reckoning." (Broncho. Two reels. Thurs., July 9.)—A sensational Western melodrama; one that the lovers of this variety of picture will surely enjoy. The Western atmosphere is good. Lieutenant Groves is accused of murder, when in reality he is innocent. Many years later the Indians attack a hand of settlers, among whom is the guilty man. Groves pursues him to the quicksands, where he perishes. Groves is proved innocent and is reunited to his daughter.

"The Eavesdropper." (Keystone. Mon., June 22.)—Charles Murray plays the lead. He is married, hut flirts with other girls. His wife puts a detective on his track and the chase that results, especially his descent of the side of a huilding by means of a rope, will furnish amusement for everyone.

"The Suffragette Battle in Nuttyville." (Majestic, Tues., June 30.)—This picture shows the comical yet disconnected experience of the women of Nuttyville while trying to reform the men. A lot of kicking and falling occurs. Dorothy Gish heads the cast.

"Professor Snaith." (Princess. Fri., June 26.)—The athlete wins the girl from her lover. He enlists the services of a husky hartender, who proves the athlete is no pugilist. The other wins back the girl. Muriel Ostriche and Boyd Marshall play the leads in this highly amusing comedy.

"The Widow's Mite." (Thanhouser. Sun., June 28.)—The Widow's Mite, a little child, almost ruins a happy love affair hy a childish prank, hut all ends well. The Thanhouser kidlets appear throughout the picture, which will he enjoyed more hy children than others.

"Bobby's Plot." (Reliance. Split reel. Sat., June 27.)—On the same reel with "Empire Day in the Bahamas." Bobby sends a telegram to his sister's would-be husband to the effect that Aunt Sarah has inherited a fortune. The old man marries Sarah and sister is free. A comedy that everyone will enjoy.

"Empire Day in the Bahamas." (Reliance. Split reel. Sat., June 27.)—On the same reel with "Bohby's Plot." An interesting picture showing the gay events that took place on this day in the Bahamas.

"A Hasty Exit." (Royal. Sat., June 27.)—The boys play a joke on Jack and make him think the widow is married, hut in the end he wins her hand. A lot of slapstick work appears, which makes the comedy an unusually amusing one.

Our Mutual Girl No. 24. (Reliance. Mon., June 29.)—In this chapter Margaret tells the story of her disappearance. She was knocked down by an automobile, and the owner of the car takes her home, heing afraid of the police. Later she meets Irvin S. Cohb, who tells her one of his funny stories, which will hring a laugh from all.

"The Tale of a Tailor." (Beauty. Tues., June 23.)—Margarita Fischer and Harry Pollard are the principals. The tailor mistakes another for his wife and hecause of his mistake gets into quite a mix-up. The picture is a comedy-drama of the ordinary sort.

"The Land of Liberty." (Majestic. Fri., June 26.)—This picture furnishes a lot of information ahout Ellis Island. Different officers on the incoming ships are shown. An entertaining part of the picture reveals the different types of immigrants that come to this country. A fine view of New York City from the harhor ends the picture.

"The White Slave Catchers." (Komic. Sun., June 28.)—Jim and Sue elope. Father's choice, a detective, sets out to catch them, hut they are married hefore he overtakes them. Tod Browning appears in his usual comical role.

"Izzy the Detective." (Reliance. Wed., July 1.)—A poor comedy. Izzy captures the wrong man after a lot of trouhle, and in the end lands in jail himself.

NEW ROOF GARDEN OPENED

The new Roof Garden Theatre at 51-53 Broad street, Elizaheth, N. J., was opened on Memorial Day, securing the patronage of hig audiences. "Soldiers of Fortune" was the opening attraction. The roof garden connected with the theatre proved to he a big drawing card. It is the only one in the city. The house is under the management of the City Amusement Company of Newark. Fred Ritz, of Elizaheth, will direct the house.

FIRE

is impossible with

"Agfa"

Non-Flam Stock

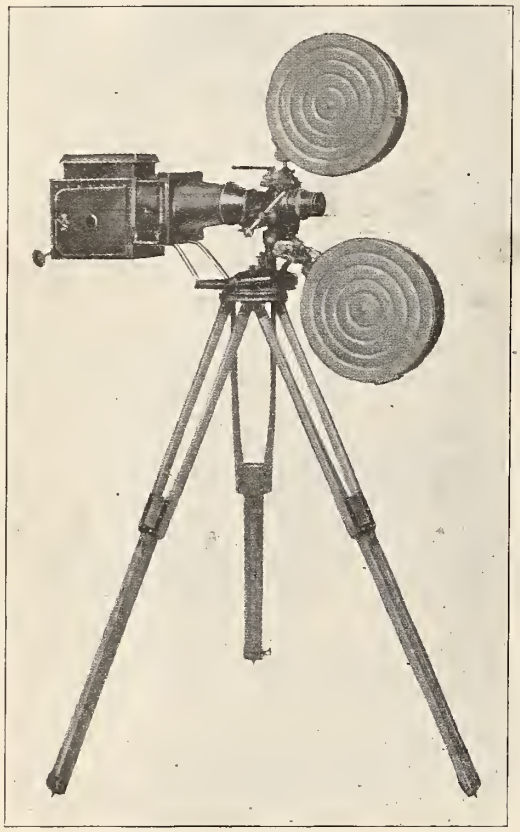
Superior Photographic Qualities

Long Wearing Base

Non-Peeling Emulsion

Formulae Book, Samples, etc., gratis

"AGFA" non-flam film either in the raw or finished state can be shipped through the United States Mails.



RAW FILM SUPPLY CO.

SOLE AMERICAN AGENTS

15 East 26th Street New York City

Optigraph
TRADE MARK REG.

A Perfect Portable Motion Picture and Stereopticon Projector
FOR Home, Industrial, Educational, etc.

Price, $100.00 complete
Weight, 20lbs. complete

Using Standard
Films Condensers Carbons
Lenses Reels and Stereopticon Slides
Gas Apparatus

Can be attached to any electric light socket.

This machine is not an experiment, more Optigraphs have been sold than any other machine made.

Dealers Apply to

OPTIGRAPH
MANUFACTURING CO.
FIRST NATIONAL BK. BLDG.
CHICAGO - - - ILL.

THEATRE LAWSUIT IN WATERBURY, CONN.

Special to The Motion Picture News.

Waterbury, Conn., July 1.

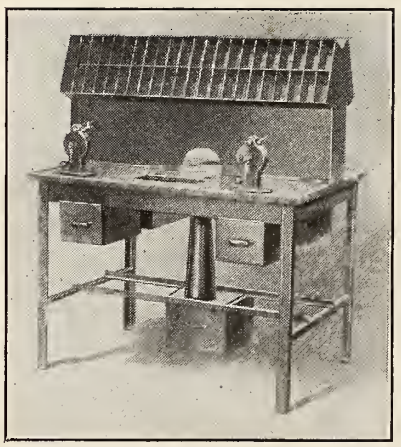
The Scenic Theatre, on Bank street, this city, is the subject of more litigation. Joseph Burg, of Waterbury, has brought an action against Isaac E. Burg and Rudolph Saunders, both of Brooklyn, N. Y., for damages of $2,500, and for the appointment of a receiver.

Burg claims through his counsel, Herman Weisman, that on February 24 last he entered into a partnership with his namesake, by which they were to pay $2,000 each for the lease and property of The Scenic.

When the rent fell due for April, Burg, of Brooklyn, declined to pay his share. On May 15, according to the complainant, he drew all the funds of the partnership out of the bank, $300, and sold his rights in the theatre to Saunders.

In consequence of the failure to meet the rent, Burg, of Waterbury, claims he is liable to be ejected from the premises, thereby losing his business and his investment. Claims are coming in, and as he is not able to meet them, he wants damages of $2,500.

ST. LOUIS HAS NEW THEATRE FOR COLORED PATRONS



St. Louis, July 1.

Wilson & Shaffner have opened a new and well-equipped theatre at Twenty-third and Market streets, which will cater to colored audiences. The Movie, as the new house is called, is small, seating only two hundred and fifty, but it is well appointed in every respect, and clean and neat as a pin throughout.

A four-reel General and Mutual program will be maintained, a Simplex projector will be used with Leroy Martin as operator, and five cents admission will be charged.

ATTENTION!
FILM
PRODUCERS
MANUFACTURERS
EXCHANGERS
DEVELOPERS

We build fireproof Cabinets, Tables, Racks and Equipment either to specifications or to our stock models. Entire line designed to increase the efficiency of your plant and get the film out quicker.

Double Steel Joining Table—2 Electric Lights inset in top—Ground Plate Glass Covers—2 Compartment Boxes—Waste Receptacle

SEE US

We are serving General Film Universal Film Co., Warner's Features, Comet Film Co., Greater N. Y. Film Rental Co., Consolidated Film & Supply Co., and many others.

COLUMBIA METAL BOX CO.
226-228 East 144th Street New York, N. Y.

THE FALSE MAGISTRATE

4 REELS

Shipping Date July 10th

FANTOMAS No. 5

FANTOMAS No. 5

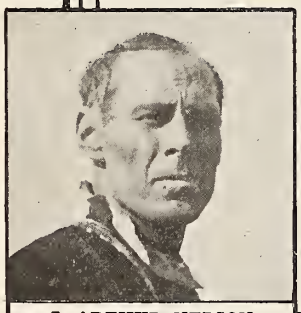
The greatest of all detective dramas

Gaumont Co

110 W. 40th St., New York City

EXCEPTIONAL POSTERS

WARNER'S



GENE GAUNTIER
Gene Gauntier Feature Players. Released by Warner's Features, Inc.

SID OLCOTT
Sidfilms. Released by Warner's Features, Inc.

MARION LEONARD
Marion Leonard Features. Released by Warner's Features, Inc.

J. ARTHUR NELSON
United States Film Corporation. Released by Warner's Features, Inc.

NATALIE de LONTAN
United States Film Corporation. Released by Warner's Features, Inc.

CECILIA LOFTUS
Secured through George W. Lederer. Released by Warner's Features, Inc.

JACK J. CLARK
Gene Gauntier Feature Players. Released by Warner's Features, Inc.

HELEN HESPERIA
Milano Films. Released by Warner's Features, Inc.

VALENTINE GRANT
Sidfilms. Released by Warner's Features, Inc.

JOSEPHINE WEST
The Colorado Motion Picture Co. Released by Warner's Features, Inc.

DOT FARLEY
Albuquerque Film Mfg. Co. Released by Warner's Features, Inc.

WARNER'S FEATURES, Inc.,

FEATURES

INC.

NEW IDEA IN FEATURE FILMS

Three big features every week in the year—every feature produced by star players—every film perfect in its photography—that is the policy which makes Warner's Features stand head and shoulders above the crowd.

As a matter of good business, you should investigate Warner's Features. Most of you who attend the Dayton Exposition will have an opportunity to see a few of them on the screen. View them as critically as you please, you'll admit they have all the elements of big success—the appeal, the "punch," the quality. Take note of these recent Warner's releases:—

MOTHER LOVE—into which Marion Leonard has put all her cleverness and talent and sympathy. A picturesque heart drama in two chapters of three parts each.

A BORN WARRIOR and its sequel EXILED—the most fascinating war romance you ever saw, portraying the life story of Napoleon. Magnificently staged in two chapters of three parts each.

THE CITY OF PROMISE—with Cecilia Loftus as the star. The adventures of a stage-struck girl in New York. Never before have Miss Loftus' splendid powers of mimicry been shown so strikingly. A great three-part production.

TWILIGHT—one of Gene Gauntier's most delightful and absorbing dramas. A virile story of the great North Woods, with a beautiful half-breed girl named Twilight as the heroine. A fine three-part film-play that you ought to see.

TRICKING THE GOVERNMENT—with Valentine Grant in the leading role. A thrilling tale of the moonshiners through which runs a captivating love story. One of the famous "Sidfilms" in three parts.

THE LIGHT UNSEEN—another of Marion Leonard's great six-part productions, released in two chapters of three parts each. The story of an artist and a girl. The artist goes blind, but the love of the girl surmounts every obstacle.

BRINGING IN THE LAW—a wonderfully realistic story of the plains, featuring Josephine West. A truly remarkable picture in three thrilling parts.

The above partial list of recent releases will give you an idea of the tremendous things Warner's is doing. There are more big features coming.

When you visit the Exposition be sure to look up Mr. Harry Charnas, manager of Warner's Cleveland Exchange, and get complete information about Warner's Features.

130 West 46th Street, NEW YORK

Valuable Lubin Films Cannot Be Replaced

Among Those Irreparably Lost Were Many of Great Historical Interest. Others, However, the Plant will be Able to Remake.

Special to The Motion Picture News.

Philadelphia, July 1.

FEW persons who patronize motion pictures are familiar with the old style pictures of a dozen years ago. Every manufacturer of note, regards his first efforts with a keen degree of sentiment.

About these old films which are now used largely for either foreign or stock productions, centers a great deal of pride; for in those days the industry had not reached the high state of development which exists today. Imagine then if you can, what must be the loss to a manufacturer who is forced to realize that every one of his historic negatives of the first prints of his first pictures has been destroyed.

The recent fire of the Lubin plant in this city, apart from the financial loss, of a half-million dollars' worth of films that could not be insured, caused Siegmund Lubin many a heart ache, which even this stoical business man could not well conceal. Films that were made in his little unassuming laboratory, and which represented his first efforts, meant almost as much to him as the beautiful productions which cost him thirty and forty thousand dollars to make at the present time.

Not alone because of a sentimental attachment for these old prints, but largely because they represented the first attempts of an American manufacturer to film objects of interest and incidents which can never take place again.

Probably one of the films which Mr. Lubin prized as highly as any which he lost, was that showing President McKinley and his cabinet at Camp Alger during the Spanish-American War. He also possessed a valuable film which showed the funeral of the martyred president as well as some films of funerals of foreign monarchs. These, of course, had a large commercial value abroad.

WHEN the Lubin Company started to manufacture and produce well-known plays, "Uncle Tom's Cabin" was one of the first which the firm made, and Mr. Lubin essayed the part of Simon Legree; and his acting and the entire picture was one of the films which the Philadelphia manufacturer prized as highly as almost any other film in his plant. "Jack and the Bean Stalk" and "Little Red Riding Hood," two of the plays that appealed strongly to the children, who are always dear to Mr. Lubin's heart, were other films that were destroyed and which it is unlikely will ever be restored, as there is no market for them in these days of high-priced productions.

Among the other important films which can never be replaced, and which are included in Mr. Lubin's losses are pictures of the Pan-American Exposition at Buffalo and the Paris Exposition, the Galveston disaster, the San Francisco earthquake, the Transvaal War, the death of Maceo, General Miles and his staff, and several of the naval commanders of the Spanish-American War; and the almost priceless films of the Russo-Japanese war.

Valuable pictures of great industrial and educational movements of interest were also lost. Pictures of the Pennsylvania coal strike, films showing wonderful surgical operations by renowned American and foreign medical men, new inventions by men of prominence in the scientific world, and some of the most important reproductions of technical discoveries were destroyed.

With the rebuilding of the vaults, in which will be stored the new negatives, Mr. Lubin has planned for the construction of a lighting system that will not give rise to any such condition that caused the recent fire.

FILM TITLES PRINTING AND DEVELOPING

Give Us a Trial — All Work Guaranteed
Prices Right — Prompt Service

If you have any event that you want photographed we can furnish an expert camera man

STANDARD MOTION PICTURE CO.
Telephone, Randolph 839 — 5 S. Wabash Ave., Chicago

A. L. Runyan Advertising & Sales Co., Inc.
Successors to
ACME COMMERCIAL FILM CO.

Prices to The Trade
POSITIVE PRINTS .04½ Per Ft.
(In Quantities over 5000 feet)
Above price includes printing, developing, tinting toning and Raw Positive Stock.
Negative Film Developed .01 Per Ft.
Film Titles .08 " "
(Our Special Title Apparatus will match any perforation.) All work guaranteed.
General Offices
2624 Milwaukee Ave. Chicago
Phone Albany 3125

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING

Rates for advertising under this heading, 3 cents per word, cash with order. 50 cents minimum charge per insertion.

FILMS FOR SALE
Two Hundred (200) fine Commercial Reels at $5.00 each. Send us amount to cover express charges. Will ship subject to your examination. Address OMAHA FILM EXCHANGE, 14th & Douglas Sts., Omaha, Neb.

WE will rebuild your old machine as good as new. If your machine needs repairing, we can do the work. We have every facility and use only genuine parts. All work guaranteed. We carry a complete line of new machines and supplies. Will sell for time or cash.

SEND FOR CATALOG TODAY.

AMUSEMENT SUPPLY COMPANY
160 No. Fifth Avenue - - - - - - - - - CHICAGO

"American" Motion Picture Cameras AT THE FRONT

Our famous Improved No. 2 Camera on the firing line at "Vera Cruz."

"AMERICAN" products are always with the Advance Guard. The world's most important motion pictures are taken with "AMERICAN" CAMERAS.

Agents for AGFA and GEVAERT Raw Motion Picture Film.

Send for Catalogue C.

American Cinematograph Co.
617-631 W. Jackson Blvd., Chicago, Ill.

In writing to advertisers please mention "THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS"

Supreme Success!

The Spectacular Six-Part Photo-Drama

ATLANTIS

Adapted from Gerhart Hauptmann's World-Renowned Novel

OPINIONS OF THE CRITICS

"The thrilling scene is the wreck of the Roland and the panic among the passengers, as the doomed ship sinks. This is a strong bit of realism and is convincing to a degree that haunts the mind."—Moving Picture World.

" * * * undouhtedly is a masterpiece. There are a numher of 'punches' hut the sinking of the ship stands predominant over all else."—Motion Picture News.

" * * * the handling of the entire production has heen admirably attended to on a large scale."—The Billboard.

"The production is heyond criticism, the sinking of the great ocean vessel heing sufficient to estahlish its worth. But there are other scenes which earn admiration."—Motography.

" * * * 'Atlantis' may be called an unqualified success."—New York Telegraph.

" * * * For downright realism this film heats anything ever shown."—Pittsburgh Dispatch.

" * * * the wreck and sinking of the vessel were given with marvelous realism. A most remarkahle performance."—Montreal Gazette.

"Wonderful spectacular production. Many artistically beautiful scenes. Fine Photography."—National Board of Censorship.

Some Valuable Territory Still Available. State-Right Buyers Should Wire at Once

Sensational One, Three, Six and Nine-Sheet Posters

EXHIBITORS Wishing to Book This Unusual Attraction May Ascertain Who Controls the Feature in Their Territory by Writing Us.

GREAT NORTHERN FILM COMPANY, 110 W. 40th St., New York

INSIST ON GETTING

CRYSTAL COMEDIES

—FEATURING—

VIVIAN PRESCOTT

FROM YOUR EXCHANGE.

UNIVERSAL PROGRAM

¶ EXHIBITORS, GET ON OUR MAILING LIST FOR FREE ADVERTISING MATTER THAT BRINGS BUSINESS.

CRYSTAL FILM COMPANY

428 Claremont Parkway - - - NEW YORK

The Box Office Attraction Company

WILLIAM FOX, President

BIGGEST FEATURE HOUSE IN AMERICA

Department of State Rights

The Box Office Attraction Company now controls the continental rights—North and South America and all islands adjacent thereto—of five great manufacturers of motion pictures. Sixteen productions, embracing twelve all-American three reel features, a variety of one and split-reel comedies, and four European masterpieces, have already been disposed of on the state rights basis in Washington, Oregon, California, Idaho, Nevada, Utah, Arizona, Montana, Wyoming, Colorado, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Indian Territory, Texas, Arkansas, Louisiana and Canada.

We Keep Everything East of the Mississippi

The entire territory east of the Mississippi will be reserved for The Box Office Attraction Company and exchanges will be opened at once in all cities recognized as distributing points where offices are now maintained. Among these important centers of population will be Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Cleveland, Cincinnati, Indianapolis, Washington, Atlanta, Detroit, St. Louis, Kansas City, Des Moines, Dallas, Minneapolis and Chicago. Buyers of state rights in all territories not disposed of are requested to communicate with us at once. Special terms to those in a position to handle all the films we control.

The Box Office Attraction Company

BIGGEST FEATURE HOUSE IN AMERICA

130 WEST FORTY-SIXTH ST., NEW YORK

The Box Office Attraction Company

WILLIAM FOX, President

BIGGEST FEATURE HOUSE IN AMERICA

Exchange Department

One Hundred Great Crowd-Drawing, Money-Making Features Now Being Booked. All three and four reelers, with the exception of "Fantomas," "The False Magistrate," "St. Elmo" and "East Lynne," which run from five to six reels.

Exclusive neighborhood rights go with each feature.

Special rates during the summer on entire seven-day-a-week programs for indoor and open air exhibitors.

Prompt and Efficient Service Guaranteed

We handle New York State, Northern New Jersey and Connecticut from the home office, but will soon have an exchange in Syracuse. The remainder of New England is booked from our Boston Exchange at 10 and 12 Piedmont Street.

Important Announcement to Exhibitors East of the Mississippi

The Box Office Attraction Company will open exchanges at once in Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Washington, Cleveland, Cincinnati, Detroit, Indianapolis, Atlanta, Chicago, St. Louis, Des Moines, Kansas City, Dallas and Minneapolis, and all exhibitors in territories contiguous to those cities will be supplied with the superlative features that have made this company a predominant factor in the motion picture business.

The Box Office Attraction Company

BIGGEST FEATURE HOUSE IN AMERICA

130 WEST FORTY-SIXTH ST., NEW YORK

The ALBUQUERQUE FILM MFG. CO., Inc.

RELEASING THROUGH

Warner's Features, Inc.

FEATURING

Miss Dot Farley

IN FEATURE STORIES WRITTEN AND ACTED BY HER.

PRODUCED UNDER THE DIRECTION OF

GILBERT P. HAMILTON

Past Releases

"First Law of Nature"
"The Trail of the Law"
"A Web of Fate"
"The Course of Justice"
"The Unwritten Justice"
"The Daughter of the Tribe"

Ready for Release

"The Lust of the Red Man"
The greatest Indian Story ever produced.
"The Toll of the Warpath"
"The Price of Crime"
Undoubtedly the greatest three-reel subject of the year.
"False Pride Has a Fall"

OTHER GREAT PRODUCTIONS IN COURSE OF CONSTRUCTION AT THEIR

WESTERN STUDIO
406 Court St., Los Angeles, Calif.

"KIDS OF THE MOVIES"

(Child Players—Two Reels)
REVIEWED BY PETER MILNE

A COMEDY played entirely by child actors and actresses, and although children will enjoy it more than grown-ups, the latter will be highly amused with it. It will be a welcome addition to the program of any house, for it takes its place among the best comedies of the day.

The acting of the children, if they attempted a real drama and went about it in a serious manner, might be open for criticism, but in this picture they act out a Western melodrama, and the action is supposed to be wholly of the burlesque variety.

The scenes, though few, correspond exactly to the action. Most of the houses are made of paper, and this adds greatly to the humorous effect. The lighting of the picture is not exceptionally good, but good enough to be overlooked.

A firm advertises for motion picture actors, and a group of children answer the "ad." They all obtain positions, and proceed to act out the picture. When it is all over they discover that there is no film in the camera, as the secretary of the manager had removed it. The camera man and the secretary are the best comedians in the lot.

COMMISSIONER OF LICENSE HUNTS BAD FILMS

Commissioner of Licenses Bell, of New York City, has begun a campaign to suppress motion picture theatres putting on films not passed by the National Board of Censorship. While paying a tribute to the efforts of that organization, he declared that in spite of the excellent work it has performed, numerous theatres have been exhibiting harmful pictures.

The commissioner has decided to impress the inspectors of his department into service for the purpose of eradicating this evil, and they will act as a censor board.

A large, light loft, suitable for a small studio, skylight. Ceiling 19 ft. high; windows on all four sides; no other buildings adjoining; large freight elevator; large private yard for loading, unloading and handling properties. A few minutes' walk from Times Square.

For further information, address

P. PRYIBIL MACHINE CO.
512 to 524 WEST 41st STREET - - - NEW YORK

HARVARD

Send your negative and be convinced that quality and punctuality is our motto

FILM

We print—develop—tint and tone. We furnish camera men for all occasions

CORPORATION

231-233 10th AVENUE NEW YORK CITY

W. K. HEDWIG, President TEL. CHELSEA 812. J. T. REARDON, Sec'y-Treas.

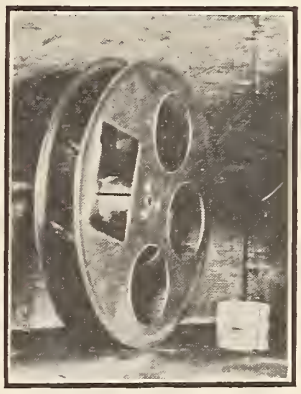
METAL CARRYING CASES



APPROVED FIBRE LINED METAL CARRYING CASES FOR SHIPPING FILMS. ALL SIZES FOR ANY NUMBER OF REELS. THE STRONGEST AND BEST ON THE MARKET.

PATENT ALL METAL FILM REEL
10" TO 16"

We also manufacture high grade reels with wooden hubs, the hub being reinforced with a metal bushing, and patented clip gives longer service and is far superior to any other.

SHARLOW BROTHERS COMPANY

Manufacturers of Portable, Asbestos and Sheet Metal Motion Picture Booths, Metal Slide Carriers, Film Reels, Film Cans, Film Cabinets, Carrying Cases, Metal Re-Winding Tables, Racks and Shelves

440-442 West Forty-second Street NEW YORK CITY 439-441 West Forty-first Street

Lobby Photos

OF

ALICE JOYCE Series

ALSO

ALL KALEM Monday Releases

Six Beautiful Wyanoak Photo reproductions
11x14
Just fill one sheet frame

$1.00 per set

Send your order—
Your credit is good

BEGINNING

July 6—The Weakling
July 13—Diamond in the Rough

Wyanoak Means Quality

If your photographic reproduction is a Wyanoak, you know that it is the best.

We obtain results because we give every subject individual attention. Our success is the result of years of experimentation. You profit by it.

THE WYANOAK PUBLISHING CO.
136 W. 52nd St., New York City.

HEARD IN THE LOBBIES

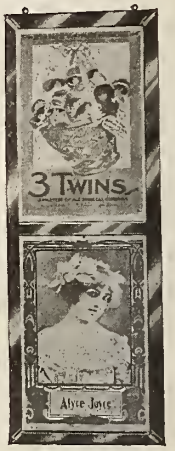
J. E. Merick has been put in charge of the booking and inspection department of the World Feature Corporation offices in the Navarre Building, St. Louis.

F. Wehrenberg, manager of the Best Theatre, 3360 South Jefferson avenue, St. Louis, has bought the Missouri and Illinois right to "The Shelling of Vera Cruz" pictures.

The Washington Theatre, at 4961 Delmar avenue, St. Louis, has closed for the hot weather, and advertises that the unfinished reels of the Kathlyn series may be seen at the Maple Airdome, at Kingshighway and Page Boulevard.

A. Norwine, manager of the Odeon Theatre, at Bonne Terre, Mo., is now booking an exclusive program in his home.

Proctor's Leland, at Albany, N. Y., has taken on a summer appearance and as a result the crowds are flocking to that house. Manager Hatch has banked the orchestra pit with palms, intermingled with which are several blue lights. The sides of the stage are also banked, but red lights are used there. Through the door on the left of the stage can be seen the large organ, which has become quite popular since its inauguration a few months ago.



The entire effect is very novel, and even on the hottest days the atmosphere inside the theatre is most pleasing.

The Eden Theatre, on Bank street, Waterbury, Conn., which has been running only nights, has been transferred from Anna Richards, of White Plains, N. Y., who was in charge, to John Fernandez, for a consideration of $400. Mr. Fernandez will take charge of the theatre early in July.

Make Your Lobby Display Attractive

There is nothing more fascinating to the public than a bright brass frame to display your photos or posters.

We make Lobby and Theatre Fixtures and Brass Rails of every description.

Don't fail to visit our Showrooms

Write for Catalog.

The Newman Mfg. Co.
717 Sycamore St.
Cincinnati, Ohio

Branch Factories and Show Rooms:
101 Fourth Ave., New York, N. Y.
106-108 W. Lake St., Chicago, Ill.
Established 1882.

OPERA CHAIRS

Latest and Best in Seats

SEND FOR OUR PRICES BEFORE BUYING THE BENNETT SEATING CO.
535-537 W. MARKET ST.,
LOUISVILLE, KY.

THE ELEPHANT BRAND
Means Quality
WORLD FILM CORPORATION
130 West 46th St., New York

No. 2
Price, Each . 30c
Price, Pair . 50c

Stop Wasting Electricity

Improve your light by using the

Little Giant No. 2

Make a perfect contact without removing insulation from the wire. Handled by all leading Film Exchanges and Supply Dealers.

L. B ADKINS CO.
Sole M'f'rs. Columbus, O.

Our Factory Is Yours!

Negative assemblers, projecting machines and an equipment second to none, with an organization of experienced people always at your SERVICE for DEVELOPING and PRINTING.

EVANS FILM MFG. CO.
Incorporated
416-22 WEST 216th STREET
Tel. 7652 Audubon at Broadway, New York

A Message from a BIG Place May Be Compressed in SMALL "Ad" Space

You Can't Gauge Our Place by Our "Space"

It may not be possible for you to personally survey the Spacious "FULCO" establishment, but you can at least VIEW the remarkably complete line of Moving Picture Equipment and General Supplies for Exhibitors, catalogued in OUR A-Z BOOK.

Help yourself to a copy if you can't favor us with a personal visit and we will soon get acquainted. It contains Everything of interest to the Purchaser of Moving Picture Supplies.

The Recognized, Standardized Buying Guide for Exhibitors.

You'll be pleased with "FULCO SERVICE."

E. E. FULTON CO., 156 W. Lake St., Chicago

Sole American Distributers of the "Gail Pastil"

TRADE MARK

CHILDREN PHOTOPLAYS

TRADE MARK

For Children By Children

"KIDS OF THE MOVIES"

A Two Part Comedy that brings forth continual chuckles of genuine laughter from the heart; and yet withal thrills as one follows the wonderfully clever plot to its climax. The superbly spontaneous acting astonishes and amazes beyond realization.

STATE RIGHTS NOW SELLING

Child Players Co. of America, Inc.

MARTIN P. KORN
President

45 West 34th Street, New York Telephones 6270 / 6271 Greeley

DEVELOPING—PRINTING

ANY QUANTITY

Quality and Delivery Guaranteed

STANDARD FILMPRINT CORP.

120 SCHOOL STREET

YONKERS, N. Y.

Telephone 4600 Yonkers

N. Y. OFFICE
Room 1006 TIMES BUILDING
Tel. 7094 Bryant

Meets long-felt need for better box-office system

THE moving-picture and amusement business has long waited for a system which would safeguard money received for admissions. This protection is now provided by the "National" Ticket-Issuing Register.

A strong box-office system is essential

The difference between a strong and a weak box-office system may mean the difference between continuing in business with financial success or retiring from business with financial loss.

The protective feature of the "National" Ticket-Issuing Register makes the proprietor's success more certain. It insures him the proper amount of cash for every person who enters the theatre.

Ticket issued by National Ticket-Issuing Register.

Some advantages of the new "National" System

Tickets cannot be duplicated or re-sold. A new ticket is issued for each admission. The register makes a positive, unchangeable record of each ticket issued, and the amount received for it. This record is under lock and key inside the register.

The customer takes the ticket from the machine. The cashier need only to press the keys and make change.

A continuous audit

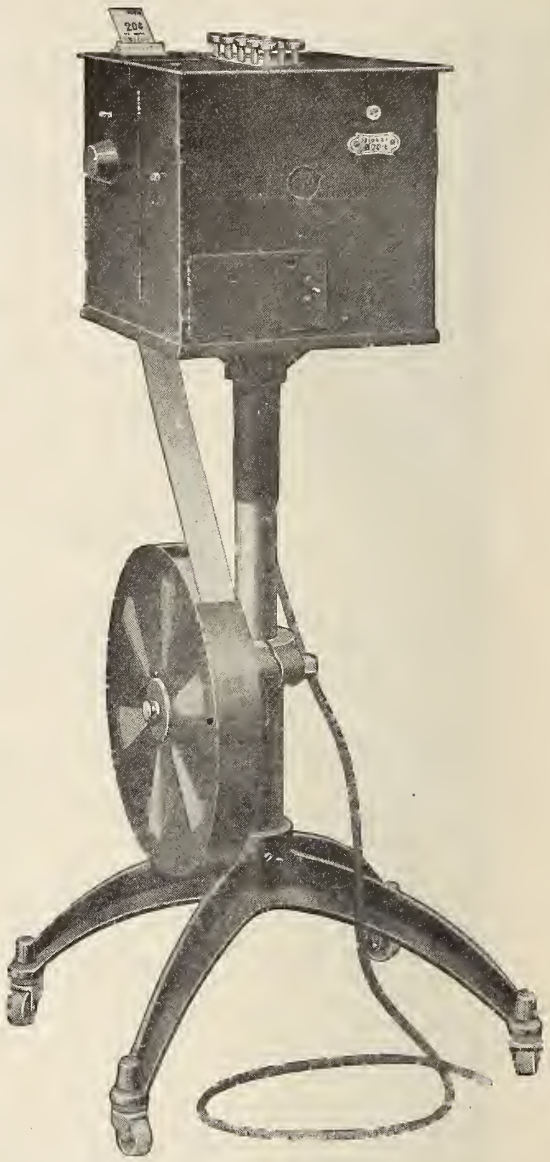
At any time—morning, afternoon, or evening—the proprietor can tell exactly how many tickets have been sold and how much should have been received for them. He can demand the exact amount from the cashier.

An instant audit of the day's business is obtained and the proprietor knows that he gets all his money.

Tickets recorded and printed at one operation

Tickets are printed and recorded as issued. There is no waste in unused or lost ticket rolls.

It is the fastest admission system ever devised. Crowds are handled quickly and without confusion.



"National" System can be used in many businesses

This system can also be used in other businesses, such as—

Lectures.
Circuses.
Exhibitions.
Race meets.
Ferry boats.
Toll bridges.
Lunch counters.
Excursion boats.
Subway railways.
Elevated railways.
Unreserved galleries.
Dance halls and pavilions.
Fairgrounds and concessions.
Baseball and athletic associations.
Summer gardens and concessions.
Soda fountains in drug and department stores.

This register was shown at the New York Exposition and will be on display at the Toronto and Dayton conventions.

Let our representative tell you more about how this register stops worry and losses, removes temptation, and increases profits.

The National Ticket-Issuing Register.

Quick, easy and economical to operate.
It stops losses and protects your money.

Register has ten keys in two banks of five each. Left-hand bank controls the number of tickets issued, the right-hand bank governs the price of the tickets issued.

The keys in the left-hand bank are as follows: 5-4-3-2-R. When five tickets are wanted, the "5" key is pressed. When four are wanted, the "4" key is pressed, etc. The "R" key is a release key, used to release the key pressed, if an error is made.

The register is 10½ inches wide, 10½ inches deep, and 10⅝ inches high. The top of the machine has a flange which extends over the sides ¼ inch on three sides, and on the front side, ½ inch. This makes the top of the register 11 inches wide and 11½ inches deep.

Cabinet is of pressed steel and is finished in black enamel.

The printing mechanism is contained in the left-hand side of the machine, and the motor is in the right-hand side of the machine. Both sides have a large door.

The stands are, in all cases, furnished with the register.

The register is guaranteed against breakage, or getting out of order, due to ordinary wear, for a period of two years, the same as all National Cash Registers. It is a perfect-working machine, and is as carefully made in every detail as our highest-priced cash registers.

The National Cash Register Company, Dayton, Ohio

What Do You Need?

LISTING IN THE BUYERS' GUIDE, FOR NAME AND ADDRESS, INCLUDING ONE YEAR'S SUBSCRIPTION TO THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS—$8.00 A YEAR, CASH IN ADVANCE. FREE TO ADVERTISERS USING $100.00 OR MORE WORTH OF DISPLAY SPACE DURING THE YEAR. ADDRESS ADVERTISING DEPARTMENT

ANNOUNCEMENT SLIDES

Niagara Slide Co., Lockport, N. Y.

ASBESTOS BOOTHS

Sharlow Bros., 442 W. 42nd St., New York.

COSTUMERS

Miller-Costumier, 236 South 11th St., Philadelphia, Pa.

DEVELOPING TANKS

A. J. Corcoran, Inc., 9½ John St., New York.

ELECTRIC LIGHTING SETS

The Chas. A. Strelinger Co., Box P-2, Detroit, Mich.

FILMS

(Manufacturers, Dealers and Renters)

American Film Mfg. Co., Chicago, Ill.
Thomas A. Edison, Inc., 275 Lakeside Ave., Orange, N. J.
Essanay Film Mfg. Co., First National Bank Bldg., Chicago, Ill.
General Film Co., 200 Fifth Ave., New York.
George Kleine, 166 N. State St., Chicago, Ill.
Lubin Mfg. Co., Philadelphia, Pa.
G. Melies, 204 E. 38th St., New York.
Mutual Film Corp., 71 W. 23rd St., New York.
New York Motion Picture Corp., Longacre Bldg., New York.
Pathé Freres, 1 Congress St., Jersey City, N. J.
Renfax Film Co., Inc., 110 W. 40th St., N. Y.
Selig Polyscope Co., Chicago, Ill.
Thanhouser Film Corp., New Rochelle N. Y.
Universal Film Mfg. Co., 1600 Broadway, N. Y.

FILM ACCESSORIES

Berlin Aniline Works, 213 Water St., N. Y.

FILM TITLES, PRINTING, DEVELOPING, ETC.

Commercial Motion Pictures Co., Inc., 220 W. 42d St., New York.
Centaur Film Co., 670-682 Ave. E, Bayonne, N. J.
Evans Film Mfg. Co., 412-22 W. 216th St., at Broadway, New York.
Gunby Bros., Inc., 145 W. 45th St., New York.
Harvard Film Corporation, 231-233 Tenth Ave., New York.
Industrial Moving Picture Co., 223-233 W. Erie St., Chicago.
Standard Motion Picture Co., 5 S. Wabash Ave., Chicago.

FILM REELS

Lang Mfg. Works, Olean, N. Y.
Taylor-Shantz Company, 224 Mill St., Rochester, N. Y.

FURNITURE AND FURNISHING ON RENTAL

William Birns, 103-105 West 37th St., N. Y.

FEATURE FILMS

Aetna Film Co., Longacre Bldg., New York.
All Star Feature Corp., 220 W. 42nd St., N. Y.
Ambrosio American Co., 15 E. 26th St,. N. Y.
Box Office Attraction Film Rental Co., 130 W. 46th St., New York.
A. Blinkhorn, 110 W. 40th St., New York.
California Motion Picture Corp., San Francisco, Cal.
Cosmofotofilm Co., 110 W. 40th St., New York.
Criterion Feature Film Mfg. Co., 110 W. 40th St., New York.
Direct-From-Broadway Features Co., 46 W. 24th St., New York.
Eclair Film Co., 126 W. 46th St., New York.
Eclectic Film Co., 110 W. 40th St., New York St.,
European Feature Film Co., 220 W. 42nd New York.
Features Ideal, 126 W. 46th St., New Yo N. Y.
Feature Photoplay Co., 220 W. 42nd St., th St.,
Famous Players Film Co., 213-229 W. 26 New York. . Y.
Films Lloyds, Inc., 220 W. 42nd St., N York.
General Film Co., 200 Fifth Ave., Ne g., Chi-
General Feature Film Co., Powers Bld cago, Ill. ork.
Gaumont Co., 110 W. 40th St., New Y N. Y.
Gloria American Co., 110 W. 40th St. 110 W.
Greene's Feature Photo Plays, Inc., 40th St., New York. ew York.
W. W. Hodkinson, 110 W. 40th St., N Y., Inc.,
Imperial Motion Picture Co. of N. 1476 Broadway, N. Y. Broadway,
Italian American Film Corp., 1482 New York. 40th St.,
Inter-Continent Film Co., 110 W. New York. State St.,
George Kleine Attractions, 166 N. Chicago, Ill.
New York Office: 1476 Broadway

Jesse L. Lasky Feature Play Co., Longacre Theatre, New York.
Lea-Bel Company, 912 Schiller Bldg., Chicago.
Leading Players Film Corp., 126 W. 46th St., New York.
Life Photo Film Corp., 220 W. 42d St., N. Y.
Mecca Feature Film Co., Inc., 126 W. 46th St., New York.
Mohawk Film Co., Times Bldg., New York.
Mundstuck Features, 909 Longacre Bldg., N. Y.
New York Film Co., 145 W. 45th St., N. Y.
Pan-American Film Co., 110 W. 40th St., N. Y.
Paramount Pictures Corp., 110 W. 40th St., New York
Pasquali American Co., 110 W. 40th St., N. Y.
Phoenix Feature Film Corp., 164 Federal St., Boston, Mass.
Photo Play Production Co., 220 W. 42nd St., New York.
Playgoers Film Co., Lyric Theatre, New York.
Popular Plays and Players Co., 1600 Broadway, New York.
Progress Film Co., 110 W. 40th St., New York.
Progressive Motion Picture Corp., Times Bldg., New York.
Ramo Films, Inc., Columbia Theatre Bldg., New York.
Rolands Feature Film Co., 145 W. 45th St., New York.
A. H. Sawyer, Inc., 1600 Broadway, New Yor' Y.
Stellar Photoplay Co., 1476 Broadway, N St.,
Sterling Camera & Film Co., 145 W. 45 New York.
Solax Co., Fort Lee, N. J. , New York.
Union Features, 126 W. 46th St. 0th St., N. Y.
Unique Film Co., Inc., 110 W. Broadway, N. Y.
Universal Film Mfg. Co., 1600 . 40th St., N. Y.
University Films, Inc., 110 Via Biofilm Co., 38
Edw. H. Wagner, Agt., D Park Place, New York oadway, New York.
Wil-Kar Films, 1482 Bro ion, 130 W. 46th St.,
World Film Corpora New York. Inc., 130 W. 46th St., N. Y.
Warner's Features,

LABELS

oll Label Co., 203-7 W. 40th
Every Ready Ark City.
St., New Yo

LIGHTING PLANTS

Lor Works, Lincoln, Neb.
Cushman Mo

PICTURE MACHINES AND MOTION SUPPLIES

at Supply Co., 160 E. North Fifth
Amuseme , Chicago, Ill.
Ave Supply Co., 1301 Race St., Philadel-
Calehuffia, Pa.
phorise Optical Co., 568 W. Randolph St.
Enterimann, 114 Fifth Ave., New York.
Erne Chicago, Ill.
ars Theatre Supply Co., Sam Lears, Prop.,
Le 509 Chestnut St., St. Louis, Mo.

Oliver Moving Picture Supply Co., 647 Euclid Ave., Cleveland, O.
Picture Theatre Equipment Co., 21 E. 14th St., New York.
Precision Machine Co., 317 E. 34th St., N. Y.
Nicholas Power Co., 90 Gold St., New York.
The Phantascope Mfg. Co., Washington, D. C.
Sweeley's Photo Supply House, 51 Ave., Renova, Pa.
Williams, Brown & Earle, Inc., 9 nut St., Philadelphia, Pa. 16-918 Chest-

ARATUS

MOTION PICTURE APP E. Ontario St., Chicago, Ill.

MENTS

MUSICAL INSTR cinnati, O.
Rudolph Wurlitzer Co., Cir ., Berkeley, Calif.
American Photoplayer C

TIES

NOVEL
Philip Hano, 806-810 G eenwich St., New York.

PICTURE FRAMES

POSTER AND 42 W. 42nd St., New York.
Menger & Ring.

RAW FILM

an Kodak Co., Rochester, N. Y.
Eastm uloses Planchon, Inc., 75 Fifth Ave., Cel' New York.
David Horsley, 1600 Broadway, N. Y.
Raw Film Supply Co., 15 E. 26th St., N. Y.

OPERA CHAIRS

The Hardesty Mfg. Co., Canal Dover, Ohio.
Steel Furniture Co., Grand Rapids, Mich.

PIPE ORGANS

Henry Pilcher's Sons, 914-920 Mason Ave., Louisville, Ky.
M. P. Moller, Hagerstown, Md.

PROJECTION LENSES

Bausch & Lomb Optical Co., 569 St. Paul St., Rochester, N. Y.

POSTERS

The Morgan Lithograph Co., Cleveland, Ohio.

REWINDERS AND GENERAL SUPPLIES

L. C. Smith Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

SCREENS

Atsco, Inc., 218 West 42nd St., New York.
Day & Night Screens, Inc., 291 Broadway, New York.

STEEL FILM EQUIPMENT FOR EXCHANGES AND MFRS.

Columbia Metal Box Co., 226-228 E. 144th St., New York.

THEATRE LOBBY FRAMES AND FIXTURES

Eagle Frame Co., 506 N. Carpenter St., Chicago, Ill.
Newman Mfg. Co., 715 Sycamore St., Cincinnati, O.

UNIFORMS

Fechheimer Bros., Union-made Uniforms, Cincinnati, O.

HEARD IN THE LOBBIES

Claude Lewis and Roff Dale, of Lebanon, Ind., have purchased the White City Theatre at Georgetown, Ill., and are refitting it. They plan to make it one of the most attractive motion picture theatres in the section.

Percy W. Gebhart has purchased the Oakland motion picture theatre of Decatur, Ill., from D. C. McClelland. He will install a new screen and add a new and more powerful lens to the machine. Gebhart owns a number of other picture theatres here. McClelland goes to Chicago, where he will enter business.

The Monmouth Amusement Company has opened the Royal Theatre on South Main street, Monmouth, Ill., in the building formerly occupied by the Casino skating rink. The new theatre is unique in that the screen has been placed at the front of the room and the operator's booth at the rear.

The seats have been arranged so that a patron can be seated by disturbing only three persons in case the theatre is filled to capacity. The interior is 50 feet by 100 and well ventilated. It will seat 700. The room is finished in mission style and has a steel ceiling. The operator's booth is fireproof.

Frank Green, manager of the Empress Theatre, at International Falls, has started work on remodeling the theatre.

Every man, woman and child who could walk or ride or who could get out of doors in Lake City, got into the moving pictures that are going to put that city on the map. Lake City is on Lake Pepin, and is famous as a city of launches, fine nurseries, the camping grounds for the Minnesota National Guard, as a manufacturing city and as a beautiful town in general.

The business men arranged for the making of the films and a holiday was proclaimed for the event. The thousand feet of film showed the life on the principal business and residence streets, showed the boating and water sports, the camp grounds and every point of interest.

One of the first moving picture theatres to fail in or around Milwaukee was the house run by J. S. Dano at the corner of 73d and National avenue, West Allis. Mismanagement and poor location were thought to be the cause of the theatre closing. The house did not even bear a name, or if it had any it seemed to be unknown to those in the neighborhood.

The management of Proctor's Broad Street Theatre, Elizabeth, N. J., has adopted a summer scale of prices. For afternoon performances, any seat in the house may be had for five cents and no seats are reserved. In the evening, a five and ten cent schedule prevails. The ten cent seats are reserved.

GENERAL

MAIN OFFICE: 200 FIFTH

LIST OF

CITY	STATE	STREET ADDRESS
ALBANY	NEW YORK	737 BROADWAY
ATLANTA	GEORGIA	RHODES BUILDING
BALTIMORE	MARYLAND	36 SOUTH EUTAW STREET
BANGOR	MAINE	123 FRANKLIN STREET
BOSTON	MASSACHUSETTS	218 COMMERCIAL STREET
BUFFALO	NEW YORK	122 PEARL STREET
BUTTE	MONTANA	50 E. BROADWAY
CALGARY	ALTA., CANADA	85 McDOUGALL BLOCK
CHICAGO	ILLINOIS	429 S. WABASH AVENUE
CHICAGO	ILLINOIS	139 N. CLARK STREET
CHICAGO	ILLINOIS	19 S. WABASH AVENUE
CINCINNATI	OHIO	S. E. COR 7TH & WALNUT STREETS
CLEVELAND	OHIO	1022 SUPERIOR AVENUE, N. E.
COLUMBUS	OHIO	26 W. NAGHTEN STREET
DALLAS	TEXAS	2017 COMMERCE STREET
DENVER	COLORADO	1448 CHAMPA STREET
DETROIT	MICHIGAN	71 GRISWOLD STREET
INDIANAPOLIS	INDIANA	24 W. WASHINGTON STREET
KANSAS CITY	MISSOURI	921 WALNUT STREET
LOS ANGELES	CALIFORNIA	822 S. BROADWAY
MEMPHIS	TENNESSEE	302 MULBERRY STREET
MILWAUKEE	WISCONSIN	220 W. WATER STREET
MINNEAPOLIS	MINNESOTA	909 HENNEPIN AVENUE
MONTREAL	CANADA	243 BLEURY STREET

FILM CO.

AVENUE, NEW YORK

BRANCHES

CITY	STATE	STREET ADDRESS
NEW ORLEANS	LOUISIANA	840 UNION STREET
NEW YORK CITY	NEW YORK	440 FOURTH AVENUE
NEW YORK CITY	NEW YORK	71 W. 23RD STREET
NEW YORK CITY	NEW YORK	260 WEST 42ND STREET
OKLAHOMA CITY	OKLAHOMA	211 WEST 2ND STREET
OMAHA	NEBRASKA	208 SOUTH 13TH STREET
PHILADELPHIA	PENNSYLVANIA	1308 VINE STREET
PITTSBURGH	PENNSYLVANIA	119 FOURTH AVENUE
PITTSBURGH	PENNSYLVANIA	436 FOURTH AVENUE
PORTLAND	OREGON	393-5 OAK STREET
ROCHESTER	NEW YORK	501 CENTRAL BUILDING
ST. JOHN	N. B., CANADA	122 GERMAIN STREET
ST. LOUIS	MISSOURI	3610 OLIVE STREET
SALT LAKE CITY	UTAH	260 FLORAL AVENUE
SAN FRANCISCO	CALIFORNIA	138 EDDY STREET
SEATTLE	WASHINGTON	819 THIRD AVENUE
SPOKANE	WASHINGTON	120 WALL STREET
SYRACUSE	NEW YORK	HIPPODROME BUILDING
TORONTO	CANADA	172 KING STREET, WEST
VANCOUVER	B. C., CANADA	440 PENDER STREET, WEST
WASHINGTON	D. C.	7TH & E STREETS, N. W.
WHEELING	WEST VIRGINIA	1141 EAST SIDE CHAPLINE STREET
WILKES-BARRE	PENNSYLVANIA	47 S. PENNSYLVANIA AVENUE
WINNIPEG	MAN., CANADA	220 PHOENIX BLOCK

LUBIN

"FOOLING FANNY'S FATHER".....Comedy. Tuesday, July 7th
Father is working on a contrivance to advance or reverse a person's age, but Fanny and her sweetheart show him that it won't work.

"WHILE AUNTIE BOUNCED".....Comedy. Tuesday, July 7th
Auntie tries to stop the courting between Alice and a Circus Acrobat, but they throw her into the bounding net until she consents.

"THE INCOMPETENT".....Two Reel Drama. Wednesday, July 8th
A very intense drama. A story of a worthless man, a devoted wife and excellent friend, the fatal triangle which causes a tragedy followed by a new era of happiness.

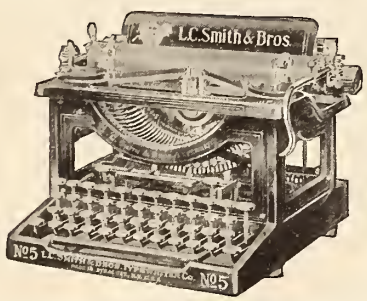
"THE DEBT".....Two Reel Drama. Thursday, July 9th
Some sad experiences in the life of a poor but worthy chorus girl who becomes the victim of a rich roue, but eventually is saved by a heroic and worthy lover.

"THE TRIBUNAL OF CONSCIENCE".....Drama. Friday, July 10th
Unfortunate career of a spendthrift son who, being discarded by his excellent father, robs the safe and goes headlong to ruin and poverty. Eventually he reforms and a faithful old servant secures a reconciliation and prosperity.

"HOW HE LOST HIS TROUSERS".....Comedy. Saturday, July 11th
Excellent comedy picture in which a young swell friend calling on his chum's family is mistaken for an escaped lunatic. He is deprived of his pants and has to escape dressed in a lamp shade.

"MANDY'S CHICKEN DINNER".....Comedy. Saturday, July 11th
Mandy invites the preacher to dinner and gives her trifling husband money to buy a chicken, but through his clumsiness the rooster gets away. The husband then robs a poultry farm, which causes a sad mix-up.

Five Releases Each Week



"HE WAS BAD"—Comedy	Tuesday,	July 14th
"TOUGH LUCK"—Comedy	Tuesday,	July 14th
"CODES OF HONOR"—Two Reel Drama	Wednesday,	July 15th
"THE CROSS OF CRIME"—Two Reel Drama	Thursday,	July 16th
"THE LIE"—Drama	Friday,	July 17th
"SHE WANTED TO KNOW"—Comedy	Saturday,	July 18th
"ALL FOR LOVE"—Comedy	Saturday,	July 18th

LUBIN POSTERS

By Our Own Staff of Artists—One and Three Sheets with Single and Split Reels. One, Three and Six Sheets with all Multiple Reels.

LUBIN MANUFACTURING COMPANY

PHILADELPHIA, PA. CHICAGO OFFICE: 154 West Lake Street

Write Your Slides on an L.C. Smith & Bros. Typewriter

DO YOU KNOW that you can throw your announcements on the screen in typewriting? It's no more trouble than to write on a card and it looks far better than the scrawling and illegible handwriting that is so often seen.

The L. C. Smith & Bros. Typewriter is especially adapted to writing these slides. Write for information.

L. C. SMITH & BROS. TYPEWRITER CO.

Home Office and Factory, Syracuse, N. Y. Branches in all principal cities.

LUBIN

LUBIN MASTERPIECES

Lubin Masterpieces are eagerly sought and well advertised by Exhibitors, because of their tremendous drawing power.

This drawing power has been thoroughly established from the painstaking efforts always noted in Lubin pictures, together with the lavish expenditure necessary to produce and maintain the standard which we have set.

The first requisite is a good play, then the carefully selected cast and bearing those two important points in mind, the list below will conclusively prove that we are now in a position to offer

"BROADWAY'S BEST SUCCESSES WITH BROADWAY'S BEST STARS"

NOW READY AND ABOUT TO BE RELEASED

"THE WOLF"—by EUGENE WALTER—5 reels—with the Famous Lubin All Star Cast. As beautiful a picture as was ever made.

"MICHAEL STROGOFF"—5 reels with JACOB P. ADLER, the Eminent Romantic Actor, in the leading role.

"THE HOUSE NEXT DOOR"—5 reels—with the famous Lubin All Star Cast.

FAMOUS AND POPULAR PLAYS NOW IN PREPARATION

"THE EAGLE'S NEST" (now being produced in Colorado). Written by EDWIN ARDEN, who made a great success in this play for years and who now plays the important role in the photo play.

"THE FORTUNE HUNTER"—by WINCHELL SMITH—with WM. ELLIOTT, late Star of "Madame X" production, in the leading role.

"THE RAGGED EARL"—by JOSEPH HUMPHRIES and ERNEST LACEY. With ANDREW MACK in the leading role.

RAYMOND HITCHCOCK—the funniest man on the stage—in a specially written Comedy which promises to be the funniest Motion Picture yet produced

FUTURE PRODUCTIONS WITH WELL KNOWN BROADWAY STARS

"THE SPORTING DUCHESS"—by CECIL RALEIGH, with the remarkable racing scene taken on a large and expensive scale.

"THE GREAT DIVIDE"—by WM. VAUGHN MOODY. HENRY MILLER'S and MARGARET ANGLIN'S great success.

THE BIG DRURY LANE and BROADWAY SUCCESSES by CECIL RALEIGH

"SPORTING LIFE"—"THE GREAT RUBY"—"THE GREAT MILLIONAIRE"—"THE COLLEGE WIDOW"—by GEORGE ADE, the humor dispenser.

"THE DESERTERS"—by ROBERT PAYTON CARTER.

"LOVER'S LANE" and "THE CLIMBERS"—by CLYDE FITCH.

"THE CIPHER CODE" and "DR. BELKNAP"—by CHARLES KLEIN, author of "Third Degree," "Lion and the Mouse," "The Gamblers" and "Daughters of Men"—already produced by Lubin with wonderful success.

"MRS. DANE'S DEFENCE"—by HENRY ARTHUR JONES.

And more to follow.

LUBIN MANUFACTURING CO.

PHILADELPHIA, PA.

RECORD OF CURRENT AND COMING RELEASES

EDITOR'S NOTE.—These lists of releases for this week and next are arranged in this form for the convenience of the operator and exhibitor. In the blank column a record may be kept of the date when a given subject will be shown at your house. Keep it in a convenient place for future reference.

GENERAL FILM PROGRAM
RELEASES OF THE WEEK

AT MY HOUSE

MONDAY, JUNE 29TH, 1914.

BIOGRAPH. The Honor of the Law, D., 1895..... 15330
EDISON. The Revengeful Servant Girl, C., 1000..... 15338
KALEM. The Flaw in the Alibi, D., 2000..... 15332
PATHE. A Visit to the Paris Zoo, 857 15334
Rapids and Waterfalls of New Zealand, T., 200.....
SELIG. The Leopard's Founding, D., 2000..... 15335
SELIG. Hearst-Selig News Pictorial, No. 35, N., 1000.... 15338
VITAGRAPH. The Gang, D., 1000 15337

TUESDAY, JUNE 30TH, 1914.

EDISON. The Mystery of the Fadeless Tints, D., 1000..... 15340
ESSANAY. The Darling Young Person, D., 1000..... 15341
KALEM. The Fire Chief's Reward, D., 1000..... 15350
KLEINE. The Bondage of Evil, D., 2000 15342
LUBIN. Walko Sisters, C., 1000 15348
MELIES. One Suit of Clothes, C., 1000 15349
PATHE. French Village in Senegal, West Africa, T., 541. 15344
Venomous Serpents, Zoo, 460
SELIG. Hearts of Men, D., 1000 15345
VITAGRAPH. The Poor Folks' Boy, D., 2000..... 15346

WEDNESDAY, JULY 1ST, 1914.

EDISON. Back to the Simple Life, C., 1000..... 15351
ESSANAY. The Fahle of "The Good Fairy," C., 1000..... 15354
KALEM. The Fatal Portrait, D., 2000 15352
LUBIN. The Living Fear, D., 2000 15358
MELIES. The Monk's Sacrifice, D., 1000 15360
PATHE. Pathé's Weekly No. 43, 1914, N., 1000..... 15353
SELIG. The Empty Sleeve, D., 1000 15357
VITAGRAPH. The Circus and the Boy, C., 1000..... 15356

THURSDAY, JULY 2ND, 1914.

BIOGRAPH. The Goat, C., 557 15361
The Firemen's Social, C., 443 .....
ESSANAY. Sophie Gets Stung, C., 1000 15362
LUBIN. The Shadow of Tragedy, D., 2000..... 15363
MELIES. Womanly Curiosity, C., 1000 15365
MELIES. The Prescription, D., 2000 15368
SELIG. Hearst-Selig News Pictorial, No. 36, N., 1000..... 15367
VITAGRAPH. Two Stepchildren, D., 1000..... 15366

FRIDAY, JULY 3RD, 1914.

EDISON. The Shattered Tree, D., 2000 15370
ESSANAY. Trinkets of Tragedy, D., 2000 15372
KALEM. Fleeing from the Fleas, C., 500..... 15374
Trooping the Colors, Top., 500 .....
LUBIN. The Doom of Duty, D., 1000 15377
SELIG. Making Good With Her Family, C., 500..... 15375
Doc Yak's Wishes, C., 500
VITAGRAPH. A Train of Incidents, C., 1000..... 15376

SATURDAY, JULY 4TH, 1914.

BIOGRAPH. The Cracksman's

AT MY HOUSE

Gratitude, D., 999..... 15384
EDISON. Molly, the Drummer Boy, D., 1000..... 15378
ESSANAY. Broncho Billy's Punishment, D., 1000..... 15379
KALEM. The Political Boss, D., 1000 15383
LUBIN. It's a Shame, C., 500. 15380
The Kidnapped Bride, C., 500
MELIES. Hidden Death, D., 2000 15386
SELIG. The Little Hoho, D., 1000 15385
VITAGRAPH. The Toll, D., 2000 15381

GENERAL FILM PROGRAM
RELEASES OF NEXT WEEK

MONDAY, JULY 6TH, 1914.

BIOGRAPH. Eva, the Cigarette Girl, C., 563..... 15383
The Boiler-Maker's Day of Rest, C., 437.....
EDISON. Her Spanish Cousins, C., 1000 15395
KALEM. The Weakling. Third Alice Joyce Series, D., 2000... 15389
PATHE. The Heart and the Circulation of the Blood, E., 500. 15391
Modes of Travel in Japan, Manners and Customs, 500....
SELIG. Reporter Jimmie Intervenes, D., 2000..... 15392
SELIG. Hearst-Selig News Pictorial No. 37, N., 1000..... 15396
VITAGRAPH. The False and the True, D., 1000..... 15394

TUESDAY, JULY 7TH, 1914.

EDISON. Face to Face, D., 1000 15397
ESSANAY. A Night with a Million, C., 1000..... 15398
KALEM. Kaintucky Bill, D., 1000 15407
KLEINE. The Heirloom, D., 1800 15399
LUBIN. Fooling Fanny's Father, C., 400 15405
While Aunty Bounced, C., 600 .....
MELIES. A Discolored Romance, C., 1000 15406
PATHE. A Tiger Hunt (Indo-China), S., 500..... 15401
The Ice and Snow, S., 500..
VITAGRAPH. The Moonstone of Fez, D., 2000..... 15403
SELIG. Algie's Sister, C., 1000 15402

WEDNESDAY, JULY 8TH, 1914.

EDISON. Andy Has a Toothache, C., 1000..... 15408
ESSANAY. A Boarding House Scramble, C., 1000..... 15411
KALEM. A String of Pearl, D., 2000 15409
LUBIN. The Incompetent, D., 2000 15415
MELIES. The Hole in the Wall, D., 1000 15417
PATHE. Pathé's Weekly No. 44, N., 1000..... 15412
SELIG. Caryl of the Mountains, D., 1000 15414
VITAGRAPH. Doctor Smith's Bahy, C., 1000..... 15413

THURSDAY, JULY 9TH, 1914

BIOGRAPH. A Romance of the Pueblo, D., 1020..... 15418
ESSANAY. Slippery Slim, Diplomat, C., 1000..... 15419
LUBIN. The Deht, D., 2000.... 15420
MELIES. Good Fortune's Tardy Smile, C., 1000..... 15422
MELIES. A Royal Survivor, D., 2000 15425
SELIG. Hearst-Selig News Pictorial No. 38, N., 1000..... 15424
VITAGRAPH. Prosecution, D., 1000 15423

FRIDAY, JULY 10, 1914.

EDISON. In the Shadow of Disgrace, D., 2000..... 15427

AT MY HOUSE

ESSANAY. Night Hawk, D., 2000 15429
KALEM. Ruho, the Interloper, C., 807 15431
In Old England, Top., 195..
LUBIN. The Trihunal of Conscience, D., 1000..... 15434
SELIG. Did She Cure Him? C., 1000 15432
VITAGRAPH. The Vases of Hymen, C., 1000..... 15433

SATURDAY, JULY 11TH, 1914.

BIOGRAPH. Her Primitive Model, D., 1000..... 15441
EDISON. Dolly at the Helm, D., 1000 15435
ESSANAY. Broncho Billy and the Sheriff, D., 1000..... 15436
KALEM. Lamo Dog's Treachery, D., 1000..... 15440
LUBIN. How He Lost His Trousers, C., 500..... 15437
Mandy's Chicken Dinner, C., 500 .....
MELIES. His Friend's Forgiveness, D., 2000..... 15443
SELIG. His Fight, D., 1000.... 15442
VITAGRAPH. Lillian's Dilemma, C., 2000..... 15438

UNIVERSAL PROGRAM
RELEASES OF THE WEEK

MONDAY, JUNE 29TH, 1914.

IMP. Adventures of a Girl Reporter, D., 2000.....
STERLING. It's a Boy, C....
VICTOR. A Twentieth Century Reporter, C. .....

TUESDAY, JUNE 30TH, 1914.

CRYSTAL. The Girl in Pants and Her New Hat, C., split reel
GOLD SEAL. Lucille Love, The Girl of Mystery, Series No. 12, D., 2000 .....
UNIVERSAL IKE. Universal Ike, Jr., and The Vampire, C.

WEDNESDAY, JULY 1ST, 1914.

ECLAIR. Snow Drift, D., 2000
JOKER. Bess, The Detectress, or Tick, Tick, Tick, C.....
NESTOR. The Lost Arrow, D.

THURSDAY, JULY 2ND, 1914.

IMP. The One Best Bet, C....
REX. The House Discordant, D., 2000 .....
STERLING. The Crash, C....

FRIDAY, JULY 3RD, 1914.

NESTOR. Those College Days, C. .....
POWERS. Pearl of the Sea, D. .....
VICTOR. Her Ragged Knight, D., 2000 .....

SATURDAY, JULY 4TH, 1914.

JOKER. Captain Kids Priceless Treasure, C. .....
101 BISON. The Hopes of Blind Alley, D., 3000.....

SUNDAY, JULY 5TH, 1914.

REX. On the Rio Grande, D.
FRONTIER. The Broken Barriers, D. .....
ECLAIR. The Greatest of These, D. .....

UNIVERSAL PROGRAM
RELEASES OF NEXT WEEK

MONDAY, JULY 6TH, 1914.

IMP. The Lady of the Island, D., 2000 .....
STERLING. Billy's Vacation, C.

TUESDAY, JULY 7TH, 1914.

CRYSTAL. Nearly a Stepmother, C. .....
GOLD SEAL. Lucille Love, The Girl of Mystery, No. 13, D., 2000 .....

The Golden Gate Film Exchange, Inc.

Largest Buyers of Feature Productions in the Western States

Quality is assured as we buy only on screen examination through our New York Office, 614 Candler Building

WE RELEASE 3 STATE RIGHT FEATURES
WEEKLY SINGLE REEL FILLERS

We Can Also Supply a Weekly Service of Twenty-eight Reels

GOLGATE FEATURE SERVICE

San Francisco Los Angeles Seattle Portland Denver Salt Lake City

THE LEADING FILM EXCHANGE IN THE WEST

Who wants 1000 Dollars
"LIFE OF ST. PATRICK"
(4. PART FEATURE FILM)
FROM CRADLE TO GRAVE
SPECIAL LETTER OF ENDORSEMENT
FROM HIS EMINENCE CARDINAL GIBBONS
IMMENSE FUROR WHEREVER SHOWN
EVERY SCENE TAKEN ON EXACT
HISTORIC SPOTS WHERE ST PATRICK
LIVED, PERFORMED HIS MIRACLES
AND DIED
BEAUTIFUL LITHOS & CUTS
FOR STATE RIGHTS
PHIL. P. BENEDICT
1402 BROADWAY, NEW YORK CITY
KNICKERBOCKER THEATRE BLD'G

Film Quality

Quality in the film—quality from a technical photographic standpoint is as important to the Exhibitor as is interest in the story that the film tells.

There's one film that's recognized the world over as the standard of quality — that is always used by those whose effort it is to give the Exhibitors the very best goods and the very best service—Eastman film.

And it is identifiable. Look for "Eastman" on the perforated margin.

EASTMAN KODAK COMPANY,
ROCHESTER, N. Y.

RECORD OF CURRENT AND COMING RELEASES—Continued

AT MY HOUSE

UNIVERSAL IKE. Me, Him and I, C.....

WEDNESDAY, JULY 8TH, 1914.

ECLAIR. Duty, D., 2000.....
JOKER. Bess the Detectress or The Dog Watch, C.....
NESTOR. A Ranch Romance, D.

THURSDAY, JULY 9TH, 1914.

IMP. The Old Rag Doll, D....
REX. When Fate Disposes, D., 2000 .....
STERLING. Snookee's Flirtation, C. .....

FRIDAY, JULY 10TH, 1914.

NESTOR. The Great Universal Mystery, C. .....
POWERS. Passing the Love of Women, D. .....
VICTOR. A Beggar Prince of India, D., 3000.....

SATURDAY, JULY 11TH, 1914.

101 BISON. Prowlers of the Wild, D., 2000.....
JOKER. Love, Roses and Trousers, C. .....

SUNDAY, JULY 12TH, 1914.

ECLAIR. Willy and the Parisian and Lilly as a Little Mother, C., split reel.....
FRONTIER. The Fight in Linely Gulch, D.....
REX. Plain Mary, D.....

MUTUAL PROGRAM
RELEASES OF THE WEEK

MONDAY, JUNE 29TH, 1914.

AMERICAN. The Little House in the Valley, D., 2000.....
KEYSTONE. Not Yet Announced. .....
RELIANCE. Our Mutual Girl, No. 24 .....

AT MY HOUSE

TUESDAY, JUNE 30TH, 1914.

BEAUTY. Via the Fire Escape, D. .....
MAJESTIC. Not Yet Announced. .....
THANHOUSER. The Harlow Handicap, D., 2000.....

WEDNESDAY, JULY 1ST, 1914.

AMERICAN. Nature's Touch, D. .....
BRONCHO. Shorty Gets Into Trouble, 2000 .....
RELIANCE. Izzy the Detective, D. .....

THURSDAY, JULY 2ND, 1914.

DOMINO. The Hour of Manhood, D., 2000.....
KEYSTONE. Not Yet Announced. .....
MUTUAL WEEKLY, No. 79..

FRIDAY, JULY 3RD, 1914.

AMERICAN. Mein Lieber Katrina Catches a Convict, C.
KAY BEE. The Heart of a Crook, D., 2000.....
PRINCESS. The Decoy.....

SATURDAY, JULY 4TH, 1914.

KEYSTONE. Not Yet Announced. .....
RELIANCE. The Weaker Strain, 2000 .....

SUNDAY, JULY 5TH, 1914.

KOMIC. Bill No. 1, C.....
MAJESTIC. The Angel of Contention, 2000 .....
THANHOUSER. The Cooked Goose .....

MUTUAL PROGRAM
RELEASES OF NEXT WEEK

MONDAY, JULY 6TH, 1914.

AMERICAN. Cameo of the Yellowstone, D., 2000.....

AT MY HOUSE

KEYSTONE. Not Yet Announced .....
RELIANCE. Our Mutual Girl, No. 25 .....

TUESDAY, JULY 7TH, 1914.

BEAUTY. The Other Train, D.
MAJESTIC. The Only Clue....
THANHOUSER. Bevorah, D., 2000 .....

WEDNESDAY, JULY 8TH, 1914.

AMERICAN. Feast and Famine, D. .....
BRONCHO. The Final Reckoning, D., 2000.....
RELIANCE. How Izzy Was Saved, D. .....

THURSDAY, JULY 9TH, 1914.

DOMINO. The Curse of Humanity, D., 2000.....
KEYSTONE. Not Yet Announced .....
MUTUAL WEEKLY, No. 80..

FRIDAY, JULY 10TH, 1914.

KAY-BEE. The Feud of Beaver Creek, D., 2000.....
PRINCESS. The Girl of the Seasons, C. .....
RELIANCE. A Wife from the Country, D. .....

SATURDAY, JULY 11TH, 1914.

KEYSTONE. Not Yet Announced .....
RELIANCE. Blue Pete's Escape, D., 2000 .....
ROYAL. Mistakes Will Happen

SUNDAY, JULY 12TH, 1914.

KOMIC. Wrong All Around..
MAJESTIC. A City Beautiful, 2000 .....
THANHOUSER. The Leaven of Good .....

RIGHT OFF THE REEL

"Annette Kellermann in Neptune's Daughter," a banner the whole width of the Detroit opera-house, one of the largest theatres in the city, announced at its opening to the person afar the feature that was to have a three weeks' run there during the hot weather. Moreover, the lobby display space and front of the house were filled up with pictures and big sheets calling attention to the play. Hotel windows, candy stores and other available spots carried posters and cards, and as much space is being used in the newspapers as for a stage production in the regular theatrical season. As a result, 25,000 people saw the photo drama the first week and the opening attendance for the second week was but little short of that of the first week. The purchase of display in the newspapers made possible "getting by" with feature stories on Annette, and, once informed of the feature and their interest aroused, the public did the rest.

Wilfred Lucas, of the Univeral, has started upon a new series of pictures featuring Cleo Madison.

The Vitagraph Company of America has purchased from Dr. Cyrus Townsend Brady, the eminent divine and author, the rights to three of his best novels. They are "The Fetters of Freedom," "Sir Henry Morgan, Buccaneer" and "The Chalice of Courage."

Headed by Alexander Gaden, Ruth Donnelly and Dorothy Phillips, the Imp company, under the direction of Frank Crane, have returned from Twin Island, where they have been spending the last two weeks producing a two-reel melodrama, "The Lady of the Island."

By telegram yesterday Messrs. Werba and Luescher arranged to present "Cabiria," for an indefinite period, at the Gaiety Theatre, San Francisco. Fred Belasco, lessee of the Gaiety, which is San Francisco's newest house, has been negotiating for "Cabiria" ever since its American premiere, and only succeeded, after making concessions that would appear tempting to the largest of comic operas, as it was the intention of Werba and Luescher to exhibit but four prints of this gigantic spectacle during the summer months at the Knickerbocker, New York, the Illinois Theatre, Chicago, the New Dixon Theatre, Atlantic City, and the Savoy Theatre, Asbury Park.

A Lubin Company, of which Percy Winter is the director, is temporarily located at Point Pleasant, N. J. The program consists of comedy pictures.

Robert Leonard and Lloyd Ingraham, of the Universal West Coast studios, are producing a one-reel romance of artist life. It is entitled "As Fate Disposes."

The "Michael Strogoff" picture was staged by Lloyd B. Carleton, of the Lubin Studio, Philadelphia, Pa.

Director Charles Giblyn, of the Universal West Coast organization, has recently completed a two-reel military drama, entitled "Kate Waters, Secret Service." The production is of special interest because Captain Herbert Ford, late of the U. S. Cavalry, not only took part in the drama but was consulted in prescribing military usage and in rendering the production true to military ethics. Edna Maison plays the title role. The scenario was written by Calder Johnstone and Dr. Stafford, both of the West Coast scenario department.

Max Davidson is making such a hit in the character of Izzy that the Reliance Company is issuing the film regularly through the Mutual program. The film for release July 1 is "Izzy, the Detective."

"Cabiria," the Itala Film Company's motion picture production of Gabriele d'Annunzio's scenario, which is being exhibited to capacity audiences at the Knickerbocker Theatre, New York, has proven to be a spectacle of unusual proportions, and of great interest to the theatre-going public.

Since their wonderful terpsichorean performance in the Edison comedy "A Tango Spree," May Abbey and Dan Mason have been exhorted by many admirers to institute a tango school.

Charles Bennett, of the Keystone Company, was educated for the law and used to go playacting at nights, his parents little suspecting his duplicity. What is more, he made his start with Edwin Booth, in what capacity we will not question. He appeared with Booth later in good parts.

Francis Ford has put on a ballroom scene in "Lucille Love" which is one of the deepest "sets" ever tried. In this scene a regular cabaret performance by well-known people was given, and Grace Cunard, in very filmy dance raiment, impersonates a dancer in order to fascinate Lubeque (Ford). Mr. Ford loves big things.

Our national anthem, "The Star Spangled Banner," and the motive that inspired the writer, Francis Scott Key, will be produced in two parts by the Edison Company.

The interior of an up-to-date shoe store, shoes and all, was recently constructed at the Universal Pacific Coast studios for a Ford Sterling picture entitled, "The New Clerk." The picture was produced by David Kirkland.

Peter Lang, after a three months' vacation, is back at the Lubin Studio.

In "Cameo of Yellowstone," produced by Sidney Ayres at the American, Billy Garwood went with other members of the company beyond the San Marcus Pass in order to get the Yellowstone atmosphere. They made the journey twice, for the weather was very unsettled.

A new series of split-reel comedies from the famous "Buster Brown" cartoons will be launched by the Edison Company. Morris Millington, who has played in juvenile roles with Viola Allen and Robert Bennett, is an ideal type of Buster Brown. Constance Robertson, the Mary Jane in the original production, will appear in that role throughout the series. Charles France will be the director.

A new theatre has been opened at Auburn, Neb., with W. Eustice and H. Bousfield, proprietors. It will be known as the Universal.

The National Amusement Company's new $75,000 theatre on Nebraska street, between Fifth and Sixth streets, in Soux City, was opened recently. Marshall Moore is the manager of it. The Universal films will be used.

"Flying A" Feature Films

See Americans First

"THE LURE OF THE SAWDUST"

Under Direction of Thomas Ricketts.

A Two Part Feature Story Finding Its Inception under the Big White Tops—Comedy and Tragedy—Three Rings, Elephants, Camels and all the big features of a gala day.

RELEASE MONDAY, JULY 13th, 1914

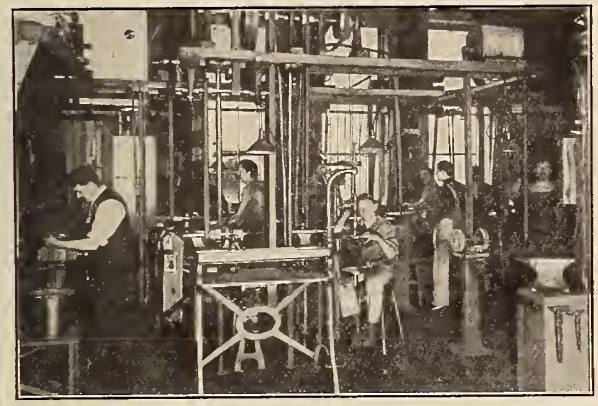
AMERICAN BEAUTY

"THE JOKE ON JANE"

Featuring MARGARITA FISCHER and HARRY POLLARD.

It's a Dandy. RELEASE TUESDAY, JULY 14th, 1914.

"YOUTH AND ART"



Featuring WINNIFRED GREENWOOD and ED. COXEN.

Under Direction of Thos. Ricketts.

Love—Genius—Success—Linked with Heart-Throbs. RELEASE WEDNESDAY, JULY 15th, 1914.

AMERICAN FILM MANUFACTURING CO.

CHICAGO

Manufacturing Projection Supply House

That's Why We Have

REASONABLE PRICES

Quick Repairs of M. P. Machines and Cameras of All Makes

Edison, Powers, Simplex, Motiograph and Edengraph Machines and Genuine Parts

HENRY MESTRUM, Succ. to C. B. Kleine

Established since 1865

385 6th Ave., New York Between W. 23rd and 24th Streets

Ventilation Cooling Heating

"TYPHOON BLOW-IN SYSTEM" has revolutionized the ventilating problem. You get in front of a desk fan to keep cool, not in back. Apply this common sense and blow the air in.

Don't waste money experimenting with exhaust fans.

The TYPHOON MULTIBLADE BLOWER will force air right through ordinary exhaust fans. Reversed, the air can be exhausted as well.

Our Catalogue N tells how to keep cool in summer and warm in winter.

TYPHOON FAN CO. NEW YORK CITY 1544 BROADWAY

RELEASE DATES FOR READY REFERENCE

RELEASE DAYS

GENERAL FILM PROGRAM

Monday—Biograph, Edison, Kalem, Pathé, Selig, Vitagraph.
Tuesday—Edison, Essanay, Geo. Kleine, Pathé, Lubin, Melies, Selig, Vitagraph.
Wednesday—Edison, Essanay, Kalem, Lubin, Melies, Selig, Pathé, Vitagraph.
Thursday—Biograph, Essanay, Lubin, Melies, Pathé, Selig, Vitagraph.
Friday — Edison, Essanay, Kalem, Selig, Pathé, Lubin, Vitagraph.
Saturday—Biograph, Edison, Essanay, Kalem, Lubin, Pathé, Vitagraph.

UNIVERSAL PROGRAM

Monday—Victor, Imp, Power.
Tuesday—Gold Seal, Crystal, Universal Ike.
Wednesday—Nestor, Joker, Eclair.
Thursday—Imp, Rex, Frontier, Sterling.
Friday—Nestor, Powers, Victor.
Saturday—Joker, Frontier, 101 Bison.
Sunday—Rex, Crystal, Eclair.

MUTUAL PROGRAM

Monday—American, Keystone, Reliance.
Tuesday—Beauty, Majestic, Thanhouser.
Wednesday—American, Broncho, Reliance
Thursday—Domino, Keystone, Mutual.
Friday—Kay-Bee, Majestic, Princess.
Saturday—Keystone, Reliance, Royal.
Sunday—Majestic, Komic, Thanhouser.

AMERICAN

6—22. The Painted Lady's Child, D....2000
6—24. Blue Knot, King of Polo, D.....1000
6—29. The Little House in the Valley, D.2000
7— 1. Mother Love, D.....1000
7— 3. Mein Lieber Katrina Catches a Convict, C. 1000
7— 6. Cameo of the Yellowstone, D.....2000
7— 8. Feast and Famine, D.....1000
7—13. The Lure of the Sawdust, D.....2000

APOLLO

5— 3. The Cheese of Police.....

BEAUTY

6— 9. Nancy's Husband, D.....1000
6—16. The Dream Ship, D.....1000
6—23. The Tale of the Tailor, C.....1000
6—30. Via the Fire-Escape, D.....1000
7— 7. The Other Train, D.....1000

BIOGRAPH

6—15. The Prize Employer, C..... 434
6—18. Her Neighbors Next Door, D..... 996
6—20. By the Old Dead Tree, D..... 998
6—22. The Song of Sunny Italy, D..... 998
6—25. The Ragamuffin, D..... 999
6—27. A Spanish Omelet, C..... 435
Ribbons and Boxing Gloves, C.. 563
6—29. The Honor of the Law, D....1895
7— 2. The Goat, C..... 557
The Firemen's Social, C..... 443
7— 4. The Cracksman's Gratitude, D.... 999
7— 6. Eva, the Cigarette Girl, C..... 563
7—9. A Romance of the Pueblo, D.....1020
7—11. Her Primitive Model, D.....1000

101 BISON

6—13. The Isle of Abandoned Hope, D..2000
6—20. The Forbidden Room, D.....3000
6—27. The Old Cobbler, D.....2000
7— 4. The Hopes of Blind Alley, D....3000
7—11. Prowlers of the Wild, D.....2000

BRONCHO

6—17. The Hour of Reckoning.....
6—24. Desert Thieves .....
7— 1. Shorty Gets Into Trouble.....

CRYSTAL

5—26. Dead Broke and A Change of Complexion, C. ....Split-reel
5—31. Some Hero, C.....
6— 2. Easy Money and A Midnight Supper .....Split reel
6— 8. His Lucky Day.....
Boxes and Boxes and Foolish Lovers, C..
6—23. In Wrong, C.....
6—30. The Girl in Pants and Her New Hat, C., split reel.....
7— 7. Nearly a Stepmother, C.....

DOMINO

6— 4. The Latent Spark, D.....2000
6—11. A Relic of Old Japan.....
6—18. In the Southern Hills.....
6—25. Frontier Mother .....
7—2. His Hour of Manhood.....

DRAGON FEATURES

For June
The Black Ship.....3000

ECLAIR

6—14. Aunty's Money Bag, C.....
6—17. The Mask of Affliction, D.....2000
6—21. The Blunderer's Mark, D.....
6—24. Dead Men's Tales, D.....3000
6—28. Prince Willy and Nutty and His Father, ...Split reel
7— 1. Snow Drift, D.....2000
7— 5. The Greatest of These, D.....
7— 8. Duty, D. 2000
7—12. Willy and the Parisian and Lilly as a Little Mother, C.....Split reel

EDISON

6— 6. The Counterfeiters, D.....1000
6— 8. The Tango in Tuckerville, C....1000
6— 9. The Voice of Silence, D.....1000
6—10. Andy Goes A-Pirating, C.....1000
6—12. A Warning from the Past, D....2000
6—13. A Terror of the Night, D.....1000
6—15. The Adventures of the Missing Legacy, C. 1000
6—16. The Gap, D.....1000
6—17. A Modern Samson, C..... 500
On the Steps, C..... 500
6—19. The Hand of Horror, D.....2000
6—20. In the Days of Slavery, D.....1000
6—22. The Basket Habit, C.....1000
6—23. A Foolish Agreement, D.....1000
6—24. The Mysterious Package, C..... 700
On the Ice, A Demonstration of Fancy Skating at Wegen, Switzerland, Sc. 300
6—26. The Man in the Street, D.....2000
6—27. Dolly Plays Detective, D.....1000
6—29. The Revengeful Servant Girl, C..1000
6—30. The Mystery of the Fadeless Tints, D. 1000
7— 1. Back to the Simple Life, C.....1000
7— 3. The Shattered Tree, D.....2000
7— 4. Molly, the Drummer Boy, D.....1000
7— 6. Her Spanish Cousins, C.....1000
7— 7. Face to Face, D.....1000
7— 8. Andy Has a Toothache, C.....1000
7—10. In the Shadow of Disgrace, D.....2000
7—11. Dolly at the Helm, D.....1000

ESSANAY

6—18. The Wooing of Sophie, C.....1000
6—19. Finger Prints, D.....1000
6—20. Broncho Billy—Outlaw, D.....1000
6—23. The Countess, D.....1000
6—24. The Epilemic, C.....1000
6—25. Sophie Finds a Hero, C.....1000
6—26. The Chasm, D.....2000
6—27. Broncho Billy's Jealousy, D.....1000
6—30. The Darling Young Person, C....1000
7— 1. The Fable of "The Good Fairy," C. 1000
7— 2. Sophie Gets Stung, C.....1000
7— 3. Trinkets of Tragedy, D.....1000
7— 4. Broncho Billy's Punishment, D...1000
7— 7. A Night with a Million, C.....1000
7— 8. A Boarding House Scramble, C....1000
7— 9. Slippery Slim, Diplomat, C.....1000
7—10. Night Hawks, D.....2000
7—11. Broncho Billy and the Sheriff, D..1000

FILMS LLOYD

5— 7. Cora, the Temptress.....3900

FRONTIER

5—29. The Joys of a Chaperon.....
6— 4. The Girl Next Door, C.....
6— 7. The Girl and the Hobo, D.....
6—14. His Dress Rehearsal.....
6—21. The Gunmen of Plumas, D.....
6—28. On the Verge, D.....
7— 5. The Broken Barriers, D.....
7—12. The Fight in Lonely Gulch, D.....

GOLD SEAL

6—16. Lucille Love, the Girl of Mystery, Series No. 10, D.....2000
6—22. Lucille Love, The Girl of Mystery Series No. 1, D.....2000
6—30. Lucille Love, The Girl of Mystery Series, No. 12, D.....2000
7— 7. Lucille Love, the Girl of Mystery, Series No. 13.....

GR. NO. SPEC.

5— 5. The Monomaniac.....3000

IMP

5—18. Beneath the Mask, D.....2000
5—21. Love and a Lottery Ticket, C.....
5—25. A Mexican Warrior.....
5—28. The Dawn of the New Day, C....
6— 1. His Last Chance, D.....2000
6— 8. The Man Who Lost But Won, C..2000
6—11. Across the Atlantic, D.....3000
6—15. —The Baited Trap, D.....2000
6—18. The Fatal Step, D.....
6—22. Papa's Darling, C.....
6—25. The Skull, D.....2000
6—29. Adventures of a Girl Reporter, D.2000
7— 2. The One Best Bet, C.....
7— 6. The Lady of the Island, D.....2000
7— 9. The Old Rag Doll, D.....

JOKER

6—24. Willy Walrus, Detective, C.....
6—27. Love and Electricity, C.....
7— 1. Bess the Detectress or Tick, Tick, Tick, C. .....
7— 4. Captain Kids Priceless Treasure, C.
7— 8. Bess, the Detectress, or The Dog Watch, C. .....
7—11. Love Roses and Trousers, C.....

KALEM

6—17. Home Run Baker's Double, D.....2000
6—19. The Wages of Sin, C..... 500
6—20. Brought to Justice, D.....1000
6—22. The Show Girl's Glove, D.....2000
6—23. The Conductor's Courtship, C....1000
6—24. Through the Flames, D.....2000
6—26. An Elopement in Rome, C..... 500
Labor Demonstration in Hyde Park, London, T..... 500
6—27. The Gypsy Gambler, D.....1000
6—29. The Flaw in the Alibi, D.....2000
6—30. The Fire Chief's Reward, D.....1000
7— 1. The Fatal Portrait, D.....2000
7— 3. Fleeing from the Fleas, C..... 500
Trooping the Colors, Top..... 500
7— 4. The Political Boss, D..... 500
7— 6. The Weakling, Third of the Alice Joyce Series, D.....1000
7— 7. Kaintucky Bill, D.....1000
7— 8. A String of Pearls, D.....2000
7—10. Rubo, the Interloper, C..... 807
In Old England, Top..... 195
7—11. Lamo Dog's Treachery, D.....1000

KAY-BEE

6— 5. Tennessee, D. 2000
6—12. From Out the Dregs.....
6—19. The Voice on the Phone.....1000
6—26. The Voice at the Phone, 2d part
7— 3. The Heart of a Crook.....

KEYSTONE

6— 4. Her Friend the Bandit.....
6— 6. Our Country Cousins.....
6—11. The Knockout .....
6—13. Mable's Busy Day.....
6—15. A Gambling Rube.....
6—18. A Missing Bride.....
6—20. Mabel's Married Life.....
6—22. The Eavesdropper .....
6—25. Fatty and the Heiress.....

KLEINE

6— 2. Trapped by Wireless, D.....2000
6— 9. The Trap Door Clue, D.....2100
6—16. One Woman's Way, D.....2000
6—23. A Midnight Guest, D.....1000
6—30. The Bondage of Evil, D.....2000
7— 7. The Heirloom, D.....2000

KOMIC

5—31. An Exciting Courtship.....
6— 7. The Last Drink of Whiskey, C..
6—14. Hubby to the Rescue.....
6—21. The Deceiver .....
6—28. The Wild Girl.....
7— 5. Bill's Job .....

LUBIN

Good Cider, C..... 600
6—17. The Struggle Everlasting, D.....2000
6—18. The House of Darkness, D.....2000
6—19. The Parent Strain, D.....1000
6—20. Getting Solid With Pa, C..... 400
Long May It Wave, C..... 600
6—23. Nice Nursey, C..... 400
Brown's Big Butler, C..... 600
6—24. The Greater Treasure, D.....2000
6—25. The Candidate for Mayor, D....2000
6—26. A Practical Demonstration, D....1000
6—27. Who's Boss, C..... 400
His Sudden Recovery, C..... 600
6—30. The Walko Sisters, C.....1000
7— 1. The Living Fear, D.....2000
7— 2. The Shadow of Tragedy, D.....2000
7— 3. The Doom of Duty, D.....1000
7— 4. It's a Shame.....
7— 7. Fooling Fanny's Father, C..... 400
While Aunty Bounced, C..... 600
7— 8. The Incompetent, D.....2000
7— 9. The Debt, D.....2000
7—10. The Tribunal of Conscience, D....1000
7—11. How He Lost His Trousers, C.... 500
Mandy's Chicken Dinner, C..... 500

Have Them Say

when they come from your theatre "a fine show and unusually clear pictures."

They are sure to come back as an appreciation of perfectly projected pictures if your equipment is

Bausch and Lomb Projection Lenses

Discriminating operators everywhere realize how much Bausch & Lomb objectives and condensers add to the success of a film story and insist upon having their machines equipped with them.

The Edison and Nicholas Power Machines are regularly supplied with our lenses.

A fund of interest in our free booklet. Write for it.

Bausch & Lomb Optical Co.
569 ST. PAUL STREET ROCHESTER, N.Y.

To whom it may concern:

I have severed my connection with Wm. W. Hodkinson of my own accord. Mr. Hodkinson will confirm this.

My present address is 311 Strand Theatre Building, New York City.

Yours truly,
J. D. WILLIAMS

The Centaur Film Co.

The Oldest Independent Film Manufacturer has the Largest Commercial Plant in America. The most up-to-date equipment and an organization second to none.

Printing and Developing in any Quantity
Guarantee Quality—Prices Interesting

THE CENTAUR FILM CO.

Factory and Studio
BAYONNE, N. J.

Offices
1600 Broadway, N. Y

OPPORTUNITY

To invest in Motion Picture Film Stocks.

I have a limited amount of the following stocks for sale. Some of which return from 10% to 24% at present market prices.

Ansco Film common
Biograph
Colonial Motion Picture Co.
General Film preferred
Inter-Continental Film
Kinemacolor common
Kinemacolor preferred
Mutual Film common
Mutual Film preferred
New York Motion Picture Corp.
Pathé Frères
Reliance
Thanhouser Film
Universal Film Manufacturing Co.
World Film common World Film preferred

William J. Hoey

Dealer in Unlisted and Inactive Stocks and Bonds

115 Broadway New York, N. Y.

RELEASE DATES FOR READY REFERENCE—Continued

MAJESTIC

5—29. The Stolen Radium.....
5—31. The Soul of Honor.....
6— 2. The Newer Woman.....
6— 7. The Intruder .....
6— 9. Her Birthday Present.....
6—14. The Rebellion of Kitty Bell.....
6—16. Their First Acquaintance.....
6—21. The Severed Thong.....
6—23. The Burden.....
6—26. The Idiot .....
6—28. The Tavern .....
6—30. Suffragette Battle in Nuttyville...
7— 5. The Angel of Contention.....

MELIES

Midday? or Midnight? C..... 500
6—10. The Love Story of Her Youth, D.1000
6—11. His Uncle's Deception, C.....1000
6—13. The Mummy, C.....2000
6—16. On the Beach, C.....1000
6—17. At the Mercy of the Waves, D....1000
6—18. His Dream Fulfilled, C..... 500
Everyhody's Doing It, C..... 500
6—18. Hidden Death, D.....2000
6—20. Pills and Pills, C.....2000
6—23. A Good Time Spoiled, C.....1000
6—24. Mother, D. 1000
6—25. A Shadow on the Wall, D.....2000
6—27. Gypsy Child, D.....2000
6—30. One Suit of Clothes, C.....1000
7— 1. The Monk's Sacrifice, D.....1000
7— 2. Womanly Curiosity, C.....1000
7— 2. The Prescription, D.....2000
7— 4. Hidden Death, D.....2000
7— 7. A Discolored Romance, C.....1000
7— 8. The Hole in the Wall, D.....1000
7— 9. Good Fortune's Tardy Smile, C...1000
7—11. His Friend's Forgiveness, D.....2000

NESTOR

6—10. A Wife on a Wager, D.....
6—12. Sophie of the Films, Series No. 2
6—17. 'Cross the Mexican Line, D.....
6—19. Sophie of the Films, Series No. 3, C. .....
6—24. The Den of Thieves, D.....
6—26. Sophie of the Film, Series No. 4, C. .....
7— 1. The Lost Arrow, D.....
7— 3. Those College Days, C.....
7— 8. A Ranch Romance, D.....
7—10. The Great Universal Mystery, C..

PATHE

5—27. Pathé's Weekly No. 38, 1914, N..1000
5—30. The War of the Lilliputians, C...2000
6— 1. The Bricklayer's Joke, C..... 350
Monaco, Arch. 300
6— 2. Dogs of War, Mil.....1000
6— 3. Pathé's Weekly No. 39, 1914, N..1000
6— 6. The Lost Heir, D.....2000
6— 8. Woof! Watch Whiffles, C..... 650
Picturesque Scandanavia, T..... 350
6— 9. The Poison of Serpents, E..... 750
River Travel in Indo-China, T.... 250
6—10. Pathé's Weekly, No. 40, N.....1000
6—15. Whiffles, the Spotter, C..... 689
Cournailles, Brittany, T..... 400
6—16. Simple Experiments in Electricity, E. 594
Through the Bosphorus, T..... 400
6—17. Pathé's Weekly No. 41, 1914, N...1000
6—22. Max, The Magician, C..... 672
Historic St. Cloud, T..... 328
6—23. Glacier National Park, E..... 492
The Marmot, E..... 500
6—24. Pathé's Weekly, No. 42, N.....1000
6—29. A Visit to the Paris Zoo, Zoo.... 857
6—30. French Village in Senegal, West Africa, T. 541
7— 1. Pathé's Weekly, No. 43, 1914, N..1000
7— 6. The Heart and the Circulation of the Blood, E. 500
Mode of Travel in Japan (Manners and Customs) 500
7— 7. A Tiger Hunt (Indio-China), S... 500
The Ice and Snow, S..... 500
7— 8. Pathe's Weekly No. 44, 1914, N...1000

POWERS

5—18. The Count's Infatuation, C.....
5—22. Sisters, D. 1000
5—25. Why They Grew Jealous and From Interlaken to Brientz. Split reel
5—29. The Feud, D.....2000
6— 5. Heart Springs, D.....
6— 8. The Undertow, D.....
6—12. The Masked Rider.....
6—19. The Plot that Failed.....
6—26. The Love Victorious, D.....2000
7— 3. Pearl of the Sea, D.....
7—10. Passing the Love of Women, D....

PRINCESS

5—29. A Telephone Strategy.....
6— 5. His Enemy .....
6—12. The Toy Shop .....
6—19. The Little Senorita.....
6—26. Professor Snaigh .....
7— 3. The Decoy .....

REX

6— 4. The Big Swede, D.....3000
6— 7. Closed Gates .....
6—11. The Awakening, D.....
6—14. The Sherlock Boob, C.....
6—18. The Law Unto Himself, D.....2000
6—21. The Boob Detective, C.....
6—25. The Woman in Black, D.....
6—28. Lost by a Hair, C.....
7— 2. The House Discordant, D.....2000
7— 5. On the Rio Grande, D.....
7— 9. When Fate Disposes, D.....2000
7—12. Plain Mary, D.....

RELIANCE

5—30. Silent Sandy .....
6— 6. The Rosebush of Memories, D....2000
6— 8. Our Mutual Girl, No. 21.....
6—10. The Cowboy's Chicken Dinner....
6—12. Dan Morgan's Way .....
6—13. The Horse Wrangler .....
6—15. Our Mutual Girl No. 22.....
6—17. The Peach Brand.....
6—20. The Stolen Code.....
6—22. Our Mutual Girl, No. 23.....
6—24. Izzy's Night Out.....
6—27. The Broken Banner.....
6—29. Our Mutual Girl, No. 24.....
7— 1. Izzy, the Detective.....
7— 4. The Weaker Strain.....

ROYAL

5—23. Three of a Kind.....
5—30. Bomhsky and the Bomb.....
6— 6. Tango Troubles .....
6—13. Handle With Care.....
6—20. Such a Business and The Busy Man
6—27. A Hasty Exit.....
7—4. Did She Run?.....

SELIG

6— 2. The Sheep Runners, D.....1000
6— 3. The Rummage Sale, C.....1000
6— 4. Hearst-Selig News Pictorial No. 28, N. 1000
6— 5. Willie's Haircut, C..... 500
His First Ride, C..... 500
6— 6. Rose O' My Heart, D.....1000
6— 8. Judge Dunn's Decision, D.....2000
6— 9. Eugenics at Bar "U" Ranch, C...1000
6—10. The Doctor's Mistake, D.....1000
6—11. Hearst-Selig News Pictorial No. 30, N. 1000
6—12. Bombarded, C. 500
Doc Yak's Zoo, C..... 500
6—13. When the Night Call Came, D....1000
6—15. The Adventures of Kathlyn No. 13, D. 2000
6—15. Hearst-Selig News Pictorial No. 31, N. 1000
6—16. How Lone Wolf Died, D.....1000
6—17. Castles in the Air, D.....1000
6—18. Hearst-Selig News No. 32, N.....1000
6—19. Peter's Relations, C..... 500
Chicken, C. 500
6—20. The Girl at His Side .....
6—22. Me An' Bill, D.....2000
6—22. Hearst-Selig News Pictorial No. 33, N. 1000
6—23. The Servant Question, C..... 500
Doc Yak and The Limited Train, C. 500
6—24. Somebody's Sister, D.....1000
6—25. Hearst-Selig News Pictorial No. 34, N. 1000
6—26. The Captain's Chair, D.....1000
6—27. The Right to Happiness, D.....1000
6—29. The Leopard's Foundling, D.....2000
6—29. Hearst-Selig News Pictorial, No. 35, N. 1000
6—30. Hearts of Men, D.....1000
7— 1. The Empty Sleeve, D.....1000
7— 2. Hearst-Selig News Pictorial, No. 36, N. 1000
7— 3. Making Good with Her Family, C. 500
Doc Yak's Wishes, C..... 500
7— 4. The Little Hobo, D..... 500
7— 6. Reporter Jimmie Intervenes, D....2000
7— 7. Algie's Sister, C.....1000
7— 8. Caryl of the Mountains, D.....1000
7— 9. Hearst-Selig News Pictorial No. 38, N. 1000
7—10. Did She Cure Him? C.....1000
7—11. His Fight, D.....1000

STERLING

6—25. The Jealous Husband.....
6—29. It's a Boy, C.....
7— 2. The Crash, C.....
7— 6. Billy's Vacation, C.....
7— 9. Snookee's Flirtation, C.....

THANHOUSER

5—25. The Henpecked Hod Carrier, C.. 882
5—25. The Purse and the Girl, D.....1003
5—28. The Golden Cross, D.....1909
6— 2. From the Shadows, D.....2000
6— 7. The Scrub Lady, C.....
6— 9. Rivalry .....
6—14. The Girl Across the Hall.....
6—16. Remorse .....
6—19. The Man Without Fear.....
6—21. The Outlaw's Nemesis.....
6—23. For Her Child.....
6—28. The Widow's Mite.....
6—30. The Harlow Handicap.....
7— 5. The Cooked Goose.....

UNIVERSAL IKE

6— 9. Universal Ike, Jr., is Kept from Being an Actor, C.....
Universal Ike, Jr., In a Case on the Doctor, C. .....
6—16. Universal Ike, Jr., Bearly Won Her, C. .....
6—30. Universal Ike, Jr., and The Vampire, C. .....
7— 7. Me, Him and I, C.....

VICTOR

5—29. A Princess for a Day.....
6— 1. The Golden Ladder, D.....
6— 5. The Doctor's Testimony, D.....2000
6— 8. Uncle Sam in Mexico, E.....
6—12. Enmeshed by Fate, D.....2000
6—15. The Sandhill Lovers, D.....
6—19. A Singular Cynic, C.....2000
6—22. The Silent Witness, D.....2000
6—26. The Slavey's Romance, D.....
6—29. A Twentieth Century Pirate, C..
7— 3. Her Ragged Knight, D.....2000
7— 6. At Mexico's Mercy, D.....
7—10. A Beggar Prince of India, D.....3000

VITAGRAPH

Bride, C. 1000
5—30. The Mystery of The Hidden House, D. 2000
D., 2 parts.....2000
6— 1. Miss Raffles, C.....1000
6— 2. The Last Will, D.....2000
6— 3. Wanted, a House, C.....1000
6— 4. A False Move, C.....1000
6— 5. The Maid from Sweden, C.....1000
6— 6. Too Many Husbands, C.....2000
6— 8. Eve's Daughter, D.....1000
6— 9. The Right of Way, D.....2000
6—10. The Widow of Red Rock, C.....1000
6—11. The Power to Forgive, D.....1000
6—12. The Accomplished Mrs. Thompson, C. 1000
6—13. Our Fairy Play, C.....2000
6—15. A Wayward Daughter, C.....2000
6—17. The Ladies' War, C.....1000
6—18. Only a Sister, D.....1000
6—19. The Persistent Mr. Prince, C.....1000
6—20. Father's Flirtation, C.....2000
6—22. Maria's Sacrifice, D.....1000
6—23. The Passing of Diana, D.....2000
6—24. The "Bear" Facts, C.....1000
6—25. Happy-Go-Lucky, C. 1000
6—26. The Old Maid's Baby, C.....1000
6—27. His Wife and His Work, D.....2000
6—29. The Gang, D.....1000
6—30. The Poor Folk's Boy, D.....2000
7— 1. The Circus and the Boy, C.....1000
7— 2. Two Stepchildren, D.....1000
7— 3. A Train of Incidents, C.....1000
7— 4. The Toll, D.....2000
7— 6. The False and the True, D.....1000
7— 7. The Moonstone of Fez, D.....2000
7— 8. Doctor Smith's Baby, C.....1000
7— 9. Prosecution, D. 1000
7—10. The Vases of Hymen, C.....1000
7—11. Lillian's Dilemma, C.....2000

ANIMATED SONGS

Imperial Motion Picture Co., New York
Releases for May:

4. The Woman Thou Gavest Me.
5. My Melancholy Baby.
6. How Easy It Is To Remember The Things You Would Like To Forget.
7. Tonight's My Last Night Single.
8. Going Up Ahead.
9. Two Floral Wreaths.
10. Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm.
11. Peg O' My Heart.
12. When I Carved Your Name On The Tree.
13. A Real Moving Picture From Life.
14. Down On The Farm In Harvest Time.

Truth vs. Bunk

We could have sold THOUSANDS OF MACHINES made of lead composition parts, guaranteed for a year and each one would have become an active salesman for lead composition parts at a big profit, and part of said profit would have boosted the sales of many more machines, but we don't believe in doing business that way.

We could state that in a certain locality "EIGHTY MACHINES OUT OF NINETY-FIVE COUNTED ARE MOTIOGRAPHS." If our count included only fifteen other machines when the proportion was vastly greater, it would be misleading and if no such number of our machines were in use in that locality, it would be an untruth.

According to a list, dated May 5th, 1914, of theatres in San Francisco, that is in our possession, San Francisco Theatres did not contain eighty machines made by any one company as stated in an advertisement some weeks ago, nor was there one half of the machines in use made by any one company, according to the said list.

WE HAVE NOT CIRCULATED A STATEMENT that the originator of some other manufacturing business is said to have sold about 75 per cent of this stock several years ago, and is still posing as the head of the Company.

WE DO NOT CIRCULATE STORIES through our Travelling Men that other makers of machines are going out of business, or circulate other malicious stories about them for the purpose of preventing the sale of their machines, as others have persistently done regarding us, according to reports from many directions.

WE DO NOT BELIEVE IN THROWING STONES, but we do believe in respectable business methods and self protection when it becomes necessary, and when we are told repeatedly "It must be true or you would say something," it is apparently time to speak.

HOUSE CLEANING in business methods, we believe, is necessary in this line. All business should be conducted honestly and fairly. If those who have necessary information will write us, we may be able to make it an object of interest to them, and with what we have in hand, we may be able to begin House Cleaning.

This Company has been actively engaged in the manufacturing and jobbing business for the past sixteen years, its cash bank balance on June 1st was equal to more than four times the total amount of its indebtedness, the stock is still in the hands of the original owner, it is thoroughly alive, has no intention of going out of business, and any statements that have been circulated to the contrary are malicious lies.

THE MOTIOGRAPH IS SOLD ON ITS MERIT, its projection work is second to none, besides its wearing qualities ELIMINATES REPAIR BILLS. The 1914 Model MOTIOGRAPH has hardened and ground tool steel star and cam, solid steel gears, and other important improvements. An extra strength film tension spring can be furnished when desired for special high speed projection.

The statement is repeatedly made by owners of MOTIOGRAPHS that are many years old, "I do not need a new machine. My machine is in good condition and doing excellent work."

SEE THE 1914 MOTIOGRAPH AT DAYTON

during the Convention, beginning July 6th. Let us show you the machine, the parts, the wearing qualities, the excellent arc lamp, and the reasons why the MOTIOGRAPH is the machine to buy.

The Enterprise Optical Manufacturing Co.

546 W. Randolph Street, Chicago, Ill.

Eastern Office:
21 E. 14th St., New York

Western Office:
833 Market St., San Francisco

CALEHUFF SUPPLY CO.

INC.

CHAS. A. CALEHUFF, Pres. and Mgr.
1301 Race Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

JOBBERS 4 POWERS, EDISON, MOTIOGRAPH AND SIMPLEX

Largest Leading SUPPLY HOUSE IN AMERICA

Mercury Arc Rectifier	Brass and Wood Frames
Flame Arc Lamps	Ticket Choppers
Automatic Ticket Registers	Asbestos State Booths
Exit Signs	Ft. Wayne Compensarcs
Slide Ink	Fire Extinguishers
Carrying Cases	Fire Boxes
Tickets	Carbons
Condensers	Cement
Pianos	Trap Drum Effects
Chairs
Wagner Converters
Spot Lights

MIRROR SCREENS

Prompt Shipments Backed By A Solid Guarantee.

A FEW SLIGHTLY USED MACHINES

STERLING Motion Picture CAMERA

Price No. 2.....$350
Including Instruction.

This is a practical Professional Camera fitted with Zeiss Tessar Lens, patent adjustable dissolving shutter and aperture plate operated from outside of camera case, equipped with 4-500 ft. magazine.

STERLING CAMERA & FILM CO.
145 W. 45th St., New York City, N. Y.
Bryant 8064

LANG'S FILM REELS

THE BEST MADE
14 in. $1.50 10 in. $1.00
CATALOGUE
LANG MFG. WORKS, Olean, N. Y.

FURNITURE & FURNISHINGS
On RENTAL
We equip your settings complete in accordance with your scenario.
WILLIAM BIRNS
103-105 West 37th St.
Phone: Greeley 6355.

HEARD IN THE LOBBIES

It is announced that the Hippodrome in Springfield, Mo., will discontinue S. & C. vaudeville and run pictures for the remainder of the summer.

Manager Joslin, of Lebanon, has an airdome and a theatre, both idle. Believe there is a chance for some one to pick up a little change there.

The Motion Picture Scope Company, of Chicago, has been granted permission by the secretary of state to increase its capital stock from $10,500 to $25,000.

Robert S. Hopper, owner of the Lyric Theatre at Freeport, Ill., has secured a ten-year lease on another building in the city and will at once start work remodeling it into another motion picture theatre.

The motion picture theatre at Harrodsburg, Ky., has been purchased from R. S. Shrader representing the Central Film Service Company by William Perlberg, of the Lincoln Amusement Company. The new management will continue giving two shows each night, but have increased the bill from three to four reels. It is announced that principally the higher class comedy and dramatic films will be offered.

Every newspaper in Omaha, Neb., is carrying nearly a column of advertisements for the various motion picture theatres in the city every day. Omaha exhibitors say they find that kind of advertising pays. Most of them give the theatre, the address and the feature picture of the day.

Harry Muir, former assistant booker with George McCool, of the Omaha Laemmle Film Service Company, has accepted a position as booker with the Minneapolis office of the company with a nice increase in salary.

Dr. C. G. Stockfeldt, of Fremont, Neb., opened a new theatre at that place recently. He has not named it yet. He is using the Universal films.

J. Mickelson has opened the Princess Theatre at Grand Island, Neb.

RENTERS OF REAL FEATURES
European Feature Film Corp.
J. H. STEINMAN, Mgr.
220 West 42nd Street New York City

NIAGARA SLIDES

are just what you need. Sample for 10c. and this advertisement. NIAGARA SLIDE COMPANY, Lockport, N. Y.

PAN-AMERICAN FILM MFG. CO.
High Grade Feature Films booked in all parts of the country.
Offices 9th Floor World's Tower Bldg., 110 West 40th St., New York. Bryant, 6578.

Kinematograph Weekly

$5.15 a Year
The Leading Motion Picture Publication of Great Britain and Colonies
Sample Copies 10 cents
For Advertising Rates Write
ASSOCIATED MOVING PICTURE PRESS
250A Kingston Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y.

LOCAL PICTURES

Your negative developed, printed and titled complete 5c per foot
delivered within 12 hours
We Set the Pace, Let Those That Can, Follow
Feature Work Our Specialty
Titles 6c per foot
GUNBY BROS., Inc.
145 West 45th St., N. Y. City

Lantern Slide Mat Co.

Manufacturers of
Lantern Slide Mats and Reel Bands

Prompt Service	Prices Right	Best Goods

627 Greenwich Street, New York
General Electric Company Building
Telephone: Spring 8558

LE COURRIER
Cinematographique
28 Boulevard St. Denis, - Paris
Directeur: Charles LE FRAPER
Journal hebdomadaire français, le plus important de l'industrie cinematographique.
Envoie numéro spécimen, sur demande.
Abonnement 12 FR. 50

SAVE TIME—SOLUTION
Use Corcoran Tank System
Get Price List No. 6
A. J. CORCORAN, Inc.
9½ John Street New York

HEADQUARTERS FOR POWERS, MOTIOGRAPH, SIMPLEX AND EDISON MACHINES
PICTURE THEATRE EQUIPMENT CO.
THE BIGGEST MOTION PICTURE SUPPLY HOUSE IN AMERICA
21 EAST 14th STREET, NEW YORK CITY
CONDENSERS—BOOTHS—TICKET CHOPPERS—REELS—REEL CASES—BOOTH CABINETS
WE EQUIP MOTION PICTURE THEATRES COMPLETELY

Price complete, packed in a strong wooden cabinet $22.75 with 500 foot reel box, or $25.00 with 1,000 foot box.

Profitable Territories Now Being Granted

to live men able to see a big opportunity and financially able to lay in a small stock of these inexpensive, serviceable, easily operated and rapid selling machines. For such firms we have a liberal proposition to make, granting exclusive sales agencies which mean big profits for you. Every family is a possible purchaser of

Bing's Home Entertainer

THIS fascinating, absolutely safe motion picture machine, practical in every respect, is manufactured at our factories in Germany, is sold on import, and to dealers only. While useful for lectures and sales demonstrations it is primarily designed for home use. Simple and self-contained; takes tandard sized films; equipped with fire-proof film boxes of 500 and 1,000 feet capacity.

Bing's Home Entertainer gives very large white pictures at a short distance; has strong, silent mechanism and large lamp house. Each machine has a baby arc lamp of 800 candle power, taking about 6 amperes. The rheostat supplied is suitable for 110, 150 or 220 volts.

Don't delay—write us for territories open NOW

BING BROTHERS, Manufacturers. JOHN BING, Sole Representative, 381 Fourth Avenue, New York

"Get it from White"

Everything for the Photo-Play House
Except the Films

Our Specialty—Menisco Condensers
$1.50 Each

Brass Frames, Shipping and Carrying Reel Cases, Excello Lamp Carbons, Pink Label and Bio Machine Carbons and 1001 Different things for the Photo-Play House.

Send for our new catalog

WHITE SPECIALTY CO

71 W. 23rd Street Masonic Bldg. New York City Branch 450 4th Avenue

If you haven't had your

PHANTOSCOPE

yet, you shouldn't blame us. Goodness knows, we are willing enough. Send for a Catalogue to-day.

PHANTOSCOPE MFG. CO.

700 Bond Building Washington, D. C.

WHO WATCHES WHAT THE OTHER FELLOWS ARE DOING

You can get complete information describing business boosting schemes employed by exhibitors everywhere by reading every issue of THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS.

This ad. pinned to a check, bill or money order for $2. will bring it to you for one year.

COOL and ATTRACTIVE

theatres and lobbies mean more patrons

The demand is growing for pleasing surroundings with the picture.

Improve your theatre now with flowers and soft lights.

Don't start redecorating till you have seen the effect of our artificial electrical Screen Flowers, Palms, etc.

Write for our Catalogue
It is yours upon request

The Schroeder Art Flower Mfg. Co.

6023 Superior Ave., N. E. Cleveland, Ohio

In writing to advertisers please mention "THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS"

A Trade Review

A review of the whole Motion Picture field by the Atsco corps of representatives, shows that

Progressive Exhibitors

USE

Radium Gold Fibre Screens

"They Save Your Eyes"

All But One

of the TWENTY-TWO downtown moving picture theatres in Dayton will act as our show rooms during the Convention, for they use Radium Gold Fibre Screens.

Dayton has keener competition in the motion picture game than any other city on the map.

Every one of these twenty-two exhibitors is keeping open house and a glad hand for visitors who want to know what screen to use.

Now you can get Radium Gold Fibre Screens on the

Atsco Easy Payment Plan

Ask about it.

There are a few Atsco "gold" credit coins left—only a few. Good for $5.00 on a $100 purchase.

"Get Yours at the Atsco Exhibit"

ATSCO, Inc.

218 West 42d Street New York City

and everywhere

THE TREY O' HEARTS

THE GREAT MODERN PROBLEM STORY

BY

LOUIS JOSEPH VANCE

Author of "THE BRASS BOWL," "LONE WOLF," "THE BLACK BAG,"

"FORTUNE HUNTER," ETC.

THE STORY

IT COST $15,000.00

EXCLUSIVELY UNIVERSAL

VANCE'S MASTERPIECE

A THRILL IN EVERY PARAGRAPH

WILL APPEAR SERIALLY FOR 15 WEEKS IN EVERY LEADING NEWSPAPER IN THE UNITED STATES

STARTS WEEK JULY 28th

THE PICTURE

WILL COST A FORTUNE

SURPASSES "LUCILLE LOVE"

A GOLD SEAL DE LUXE

A TREMOR IN EVERY SCENE

TWO REELS WILL BE RELEASED EVERY WEEK FOR 15 WEEKS—3 REELS THE FIRST WEEK

STARTS WEEK JULY 28th

THE TREY O' HEARTS

Written by LOUIS JOSEPH VANCE Produced by WILFRED LUCAS

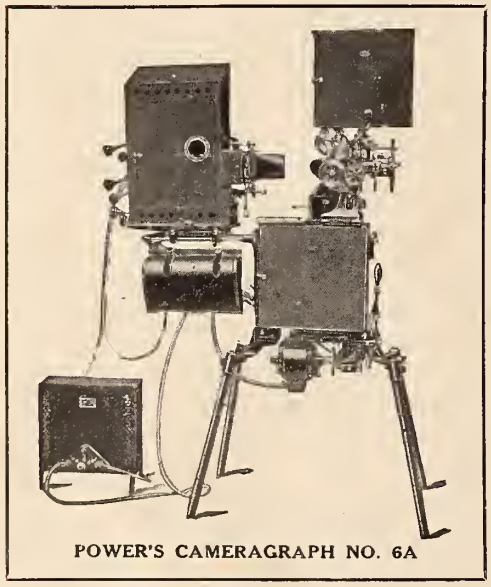
AN EXCEPTIONALLY STRONG COMPANY CAST
FOR THIS SENSATIONAL LITERARY MASTERPIECE

CAN BE SEEN ONLY IN



MOVING UNIVERSAL PICTURES

MERIT WINS

POWER'S CAMERAGRAPH NO. 6A

WON ITS POSITION OF LEADERSHIP

BECAUSE IT HAS DEMONSTRATED IN THOUSANDS OF INSTANCES THAT FOR

POWER'S CAMERAGRAPH NO. 6A

Safety and Projection It Has No Equal

This Machine is preferred where Perfect Projection and Safety of Operation is desired.

Write for Catalogue D.

NICHOLAS POWER COMPANY

NINETY GOLD STREET NEW YORK CITY

JULY 18, 1914 PRICE, 10 CENTS

The Motion Picture News

NEFF OUT as League Head

Amalgamation NOW A CERTAINTY

The fastest moving picture journal

VOLUME X NUMBER

INTRODUCING

THE TREY O'HEARTS

BY LOUIS JOSEPH VANCE

THE MASTER PROBLEM PLAY
IN FIFTEEN STORIES

MOVING
UNIVERSAL PICTURES
STORY ONE

Almost As Quick As the Telegraph

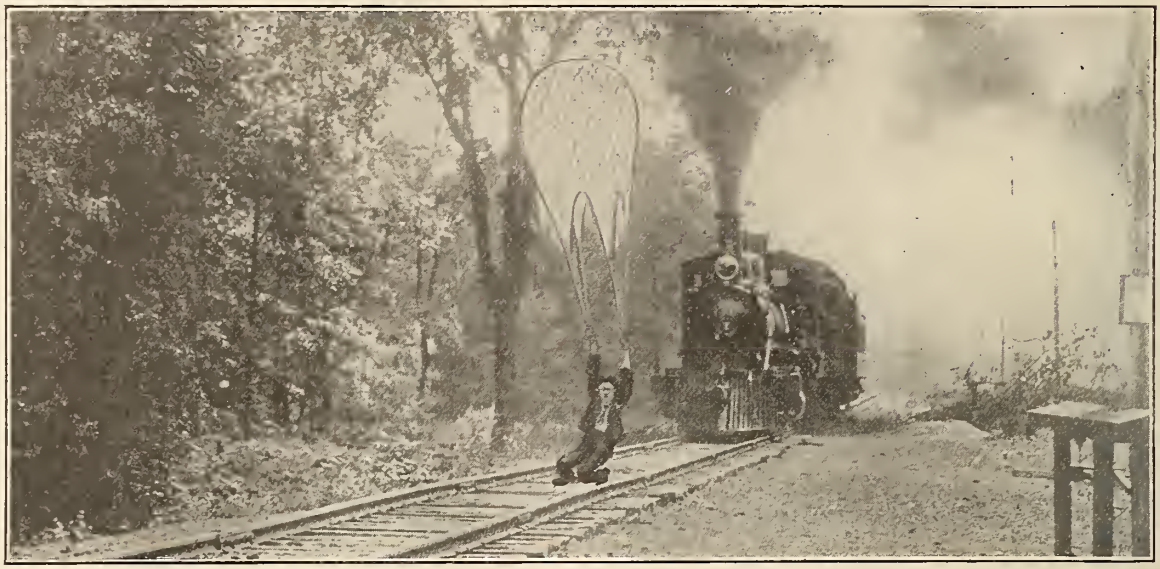
THE PATHÉ DAILY NEWS

THE SAME DAY the daily papers are running telegraphic reports of great world happenings

The Pathé Daily News

is showing on the screen these events and showing them in a way impossible to the papers.

The Pathé Daily News



is the most important—most interesting—most truthful—most prompt distributor of news when it IS news yet thought of and used. The daily papers at best give one man's opinion and each paper's account of the same thing will vary so you can hardly recognize them as the same.

The Pathé Daily News Shows Events As They Actually Happen When They Happen

For Further Particulars Address:

THE PATHÉ DAILY NEWS, 1 CONGRESS STREET JERSEY CITY, N. J.

We Promised to Put Out the Greatest Serial Film Ever Produced—WE DID IT

THE PERILS OF PAULINE

still continues its unprecedented success. Pauline is making more friends daily. In fact so great has become the demand for this serial that many of the exhibitors who at first booked for only one day of each episode are now demanding the film for two and sometimes three days so that they can take care of all their patrons who are Pauline fans. There is such an intensely interesting quality combined with some of the most unusual, almost superhuman achievements in this serial that it makes new friends of every one who sees it—There's a reason—

PAULINE PULLS PEOPLE—SHE'S A GOLD MINE

COMING! COMING!! COMING!!!

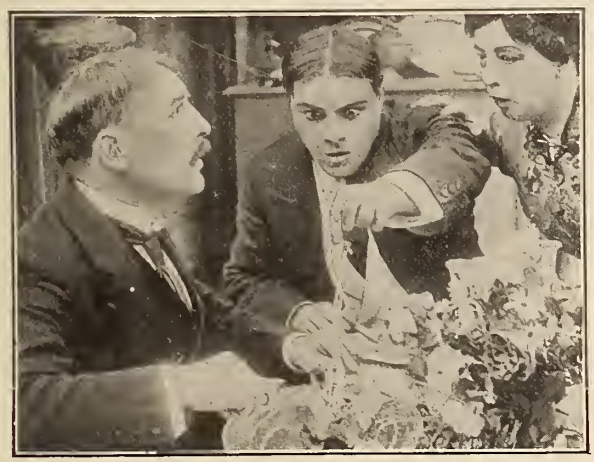
Some of the Greatest Sidesplitting, Riproaring, Laugh Creating One Reel Comedies You Ever Saw—Eclectic Quality—'Nuff Said

ECLECTIC FEATURE FILM EXCHANGES FOR YOUR USE

ATLANTA Rhodes Bldg.	BOSTON 3 Tremont Row	CHICAGO 5 So. Wabash Ave.	DALLAS Andrews Bldg.	LOS ANGELES 114 E. 7th St.	MINNEAPOLIS 4th & Hennepin Sts.
NEW YORK 115 E. 23rd St.	PITTSBURGH 715 Liberty Ave.	SAN FRANCISCO 67 Turk St.	ST. LOUIS 3210 Locust St.	SYRACUSE 214 E. Fayette St.	CINCINNATI 217 E. 5th St.
CLEVELAND 622 Prospect Av., S. E.	PORTLAND 392 Burnside Ave.	PHILADELPHIA 1235 Vine St.	WASHINGTON 7th and E Sts., N.W.	NEW ORLEANS 910 Gravier St.
SEATTLE 810 Third Ave.	OMAHA 1312 Farnam St.		DENVER Nassau Bldg.	KANSAS CITY 928 Main St.

SALT LAKE CITY: 68 South Main St.

THE ECLECTIC FILM COMPANY



New York City — 110 West 40th Street

"The Cream of American and European Studios"

A ROYAL IMPOSTOR (5 Parts)

A strong Drama in natural colors of Royal Life in a small Principality—Rich in action with a thrilling story.

The Phantom Thief

(3 Parts)

Introducing Nick Winter, the greatest of all comedy detectives, who meets with some of the most interesting and extraordinary adventures.

Book Eclectic Features for Big Profits

ECLECTIC FEATURE FILM EXCHANGES FOR YOUR USE

ATLANTA Rhodes Bldg. | BOSTON 3 Tremont Row | CHICAGO 5 So. Wabash Ave. | DALLAS Andrews Bldg. | LOS ANGELES 114 E. 7th St. | MINNEAPOLIS 4th & Hennepin Sts.

NEW YORK 115 E. 23rd St. | PITTSBURGH 715 Liberty Ave. | SAN FRANCISCO 67 Turk St. | ST. LOUIS 3210 Locust St. | SYRACUSE 214 E. Fayette St. | CINCINNATI 217 E. 5th St.

CLEVELAND 622 Prospect Av., S.E. | PORTLAND 392 Burnside Ave. | PHILADELPHIA 1235 Vine St. | WASHINGTON 7th & E Sts., N. W. | NEW ORLEANS 910 Gravier St.

SEATTLE 810 Third Ave. | OMAHA 1312 Farnam St. | DENVER Nassau Bldg. | KANSAS CITY 928 Main St.

SALT LAKE CITY: 68 South Main St.

THE ECLECTIC FILM COMPANY

110 West 40th Street — New York City

"The Cream of American and European Studios"

Now Booking

THE LITTLEST REBEL

(By Edward Peple)

5 Reels. Laughter, Tears, Thrills and Sensation, showing thousands of United States Regular Army Troops, Cavalry, Infantry and Artillery in action. Veterans of both the Union and Confederate Armies take prominent part.

REAL BATTLE SCARRED FLAGS

carried during the greatest war ever known are shown in the picture. Real war horses and equipment used.

E. K. LINCOLN

former star of the Vitagraph, one of the most popular of all picture players, plays the lead. Two Universal stars, an Edison leading man, a Mutual director and a crack Edison camera man assist in making this the most wonderful 5 reels filmed in years.

THE LITTLEST REBEL

is a picture that will appeal to people in all walks of life. There are no double meanings that will leave one in doubt. Yet, all the sweet story of the Southland is retained. It is gripping, spectacular quality, sensational, pathetic with plenty of comedy to relieve the strain.

Perfect photography prevails from title to trail piece, with action enough to satisfy the most exacting, yet carrying that dignity so necessary to appeal to those who desire the best in motion pictures.

32,000 feet of negative taken to make "The Littlest Rebel" and only the very best is being put into the 5 reels, thus assuring the most perfect picture ever sent out.

Mimi Yvonne, the six-year-old leading lady, plays the title role, her work in the picture sets a standard that will make many of the older leading ladies work hard to reach.

BOOKINGS ARE NOW READY

If you want to be first in your territory, wire at once, reservations made in the order received.

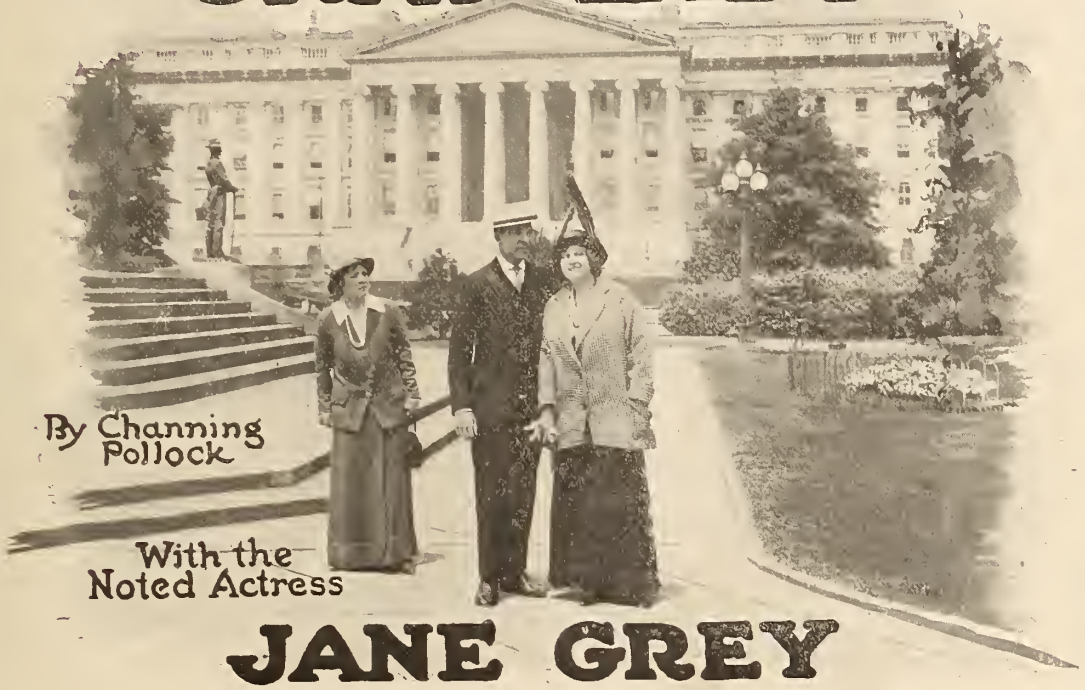
SHOULD A WOMAN TELL?

A 5 Reel Apex Special

with a world of special paper being released for Illinois and Wisconsin, now playing La Salle Opera House and Bijou Dream (Chicago) to turn away business. Get your order in at once.

The Photoplay Productions Releasing Company

Released through the



G & G Feature Film Co., Inc., 37 S. Wabash Avenue, Chicago, Ill.

"30 FAMOUS FEATURES A YEAR"

DANIEL FROHMAN
Presents

The Famous Romance of Official Life in Washington,

"THE LITTLE GRAY LADY"

By Channing Pollock

With the Noted Actress

JANE GREY

In 4 Reels of Motion Pictures.
Released July 10th.

FAMOUS PLAYERS FILM COMPANY

ADOLPH ZUKOR, President
DANIEL FROHMAN, Managing Dir. EDWIN S. PORTER, Technical Dir.
Executive Offices, 213-229 W. 26th St., New York City.

"30 FAMOUS FEATURES A YEAR"

Essanay

TEN MILLION PEOPLE!

ARE ANXIOUSLY WAITING TO SEE THE PHOTOPLAY MASTERPIECE

"One Wonderful Night"

(IN FOUR ACTS)

The story, written by Louis Tracy and which ran serially in the Ladies' World Magazine, has stirred the entire universe—your audiences took delight in reading it, because they were given the privilege to vote—to elect a photoplayer to enact the leading role—that of John Delancey Curtis, the spirited American chap, who had such a strenuous night of adventure. Your clientele are interested in this production—they want to see it—they want to see the man they elected—the man they imagined as the hero throughout the entire story—

FRANCIS X. BUSHMAN

He has been proclaimed the most popular photoplay actor, by the millions who voted—this and the fact that the production is dramatically and photographically perfect, is enough to warrant your booking this attraction.

DO IT NOW!

Released through the General Film Company's feature department

Saturday, July 18th

SPECIAL LITHOGRAPHS DESIGNED BY OUR OWN ARTISTS ARE NOW READY
ONE SIX-SHEET; TWO THREE-SHEETS; TWO ONE-SHEETS

Essanay Film Manufacturing Company

521 First National Bank Building, Chicago
Factory and Studio,* 1333 Argyle St., Chicago, Ill.

BRANCH OFFICES IN

LONDON PARIS BERLIN BARCELONA

Mr. Lasky is in the mountains, Mr. Goldfish in Europe, our advertising man is at Dayton, "nobody home" the papers want an ad, so I've got to write one. Please forgive the punctuations, but read the Ad.

Signed—JOSEPH ROTHMAN, Esq.
Asst. Press Agent and Office Boy

(our regular start)

JESSE L. LASKY

PRESENTS

(We always start with Mr. Lasky's name because it means so much in the way of fine shows and things)

Harold MacGrath's Great Novel

THE MAN ON THE BOX

with the great actor and actress

MAX FIGMAN AND LOLITA ROBERTSON

A Rollicking Military Romance in Five Parts

(I copped this out of the press book)

A Magnificent Photo-play production replete with thrilling episodes, vivid climaxes and potent situations, and possessing a glorious vein of majestic romance. And a different finish.

(our advertising man was going to use the above next week, but I found it on his desk and beat him to it)

Released July 13

As soon as the folks get back

BOOK NOW—There's a Distributor in every State

(Regular line in all our ads)

The still pictures from the coast look great. Mr. Figman is a great actor and Miss Robertson is wonderful. The story is attractive, full of thrills and from all reports is a wonderfully reelistic photo-play. Messrs. DeMille and Apfel staged "The Man on the Box" so you can imagine how good it is.

The whole world will want to give it the "once over"

(I got this from Tad in the Cartoons.)

JESSE L. LASKY FEATURE PLAY COMPANY

LONG ACRE THEATRE — W. 48TH STREET

JESSE L LASKY, PRESIDENT — N. Y. C. — SAMUEL GOLDFISH, TREAS. & GEN'L MANAGER

CECIL B DEMILLE
DIRECTOR GENERAL

Mexican War Pictures

Photographed Under Fire by the

Mutual Film Corporation

under special contract with

General Villa

3 sheet poster in full color

Seven Exciting Reels, direct from its only showing at the Lyric Theatre, 42nd Street and Broadway, New York. Crowd-Pulling Posters, Still Pictures of Absorbing Interest for Lobby Display

FOR months the newspapers of the whole world, and especially those of the United States, have been full of accounts of the photographing of battles in the Mexican war, under special contract with General Francisco Villa, the great rebel commander—probably the most talked of man in the world to-day. In every city, town and village there is absorbing interest not alone in the fighting, but in the life story of the man himself. Since early in January daring camera men have carried Mutual cameras into the thick of every fight and have made thousands of feet of film amid the roar of artillery, the deadly hum of machine guns and the vicious crackle of rifle fire. The brilliant sunlight of the tropics has made marvelous pictures—pictures thrilling with nearness and the reality of actual sordid warfare. You can almost hear the whistle of bullets as you see the spatters of dust in the picture, and the shriek of the shells as rapid-fire guns on armored trains leap back in the recoil.

Much of this film had to be cut out because it was too realistically horrible to be publicly shown.

Some because it was obscured by the smoke and dust of battle.

Some was lost entirely by the shattering of cameras by bullets.

TWO THOUSAND FEET OF ACTUAL BATTLE SCENES HAVE BEEN SELECTED.

These form the last two reels of the seven we offer.

Of perhaps even greater interest are the five reels made in the very districts where the fighting was fiercest, showing by a series of exciting scenes the TRAGIC EARLY LIFE OF GENERAL VILLA.

It would be impossible to tell the scenes of actual battle from those posed to show the story, were they not separated and shown frankly by themselves, to avoid the smallest suspicion of misrepresentation.

Here then is a story vastly more exciting, more absorbing, more thrilling than the most exciting of fiction, where woe and murder and intrigue weave a tale of tragic reality—with vast educational interest beside. Every man and woman and schoolchild ought to see and, what is more to the point, WANTS to see these pictures.

The task of distribution of such a film is not the business of a company with other interests.

Every picture house in the country—no matter what programme it shows, no matter what its usual feature arrangements—should show these seven reels.

Just now, with hundreds of theatres closed for the summer months, the possibilities of theatre showings are enormous. The man who buys state rights on this series, and then WORKS HIS TERRITORY TO CAPACITY, has profit chances almost undreamed of—even in the moving picture business. BUT—You must speak QUICKLY.

MEXICAN WAR FILM CO., Room 1208, 71 W. 23rd St., New York

State Rights For Sale to This Wonderful Series

6 Wonderful Reels of 6 ACTION 6

6,000 feet of film without a single superfluous inch.

An uninterrupted marvel of incessant throbbing, vital GRIFFITHS big scenes!

SUCH IS

Home Sweet Home

THE VERITABLE MASTER-WORK OF THE MASTER

D. W. Griffiths

A PHOTODRAMA of appealing, world-wide sentiment rendered into a series of soul-stirring incidents—First, the romantic, tragic and adventurous life of John Howard Payne, author of "Home Sweet Home"—Then, three thrilling episodes showing how the magic thought of home is the dominant force in moments of extreme temptation, anguish and heart-rending calamity —A heart drama of mighty, profound struggles for love and life.

Now being released by the Continental Feature Film Corp.

29 UNION SQUARE, NEW YORK AND ALL MUTUAL EXCHANGES

Other Pulling Continental Features Are:

"The Battle of Gettysburg" 5 Reels

"Joseph in the Land of Egypt" 4 Reels

"The Great Leap" 4 Reels

"Gangsters" 4 Reels

"Frou Frou" 4 Reels

"Moths" 4 Reels

"Ruy Blas" 3 Reels

"Legend of Provence" 4 Reels

"Sapho" 6 Reels

"Seeing South America with Colonel Roosevelt" 3 Reels

"Robin Hood" 4 Reels

"Zu, Zu, The Band Leader" 2 Reels

"The Floor Above" 4 Reels

"The Battle of the Sexes" 5 Reels

"The Dishonored Medal" 4 Reels

"The Mountain Rat" 4 Reels

"Dope" 6 Reels

"Cardinal Richelieu's Ward" 4 Reels

"Wrath of the Gods" 6 Reels

BOSWORTH'S
NEXT RELEASE

John Barleycorn—

Some Experiences of Jack London's Life

—Written by Himself

The Saloon Always Offers a Warm Welcome to the Workingman

The Liquor Bill of the American Nation is $1,500,000,000 annually.

What per cent. of this does the Wage Earner Pay?

John Barleycorn Gives Tragic, Realistic Answer.

A Compelling Plea for Temperance

Don't Fail to Book This Picture

—it will surely bring crowds to your theatre

Make Application Immediately to American Feature Film Co., 162 Tremont St., Boston, Mass.—New England States: Massachusetts, Connecticut, Maine, Rhode Island, New Hampshire and Vermont.

Wm. L. Sherry Feature Film Co., Inc., 126 West 46th Street, New York City—Greater New York and New York State.

Famous Players Film Service, Inc., 404 Ferry Street, Pittsburgh, Pa., and 37 South Wabash Avenue, Chicago, Ill.—Western Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and Kentucky.

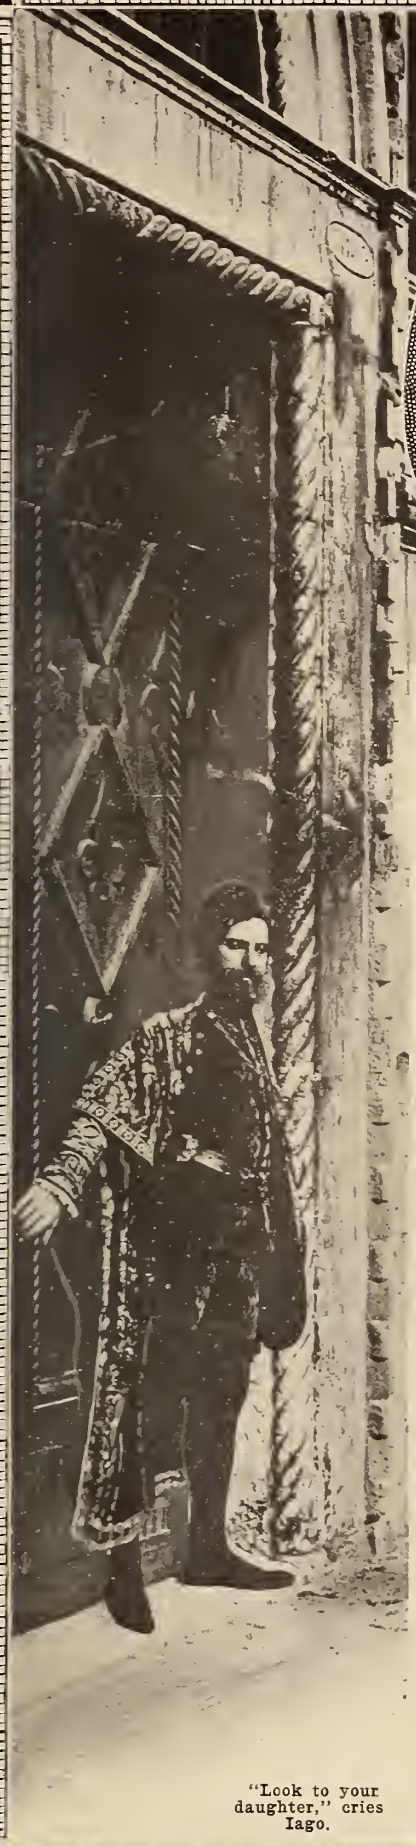
Famous Players Exchange, 1331 Vine Street, Philadelphia, Pa., and 71 West 23rd Street, New York City—New Jersey and Eastern Pennsylvania.

Famous Players Feature Co., 28 West Lexington Street, Baltimore, Md.—Delaware, Maryland, Washington, D. C., and Virginia.

Casino Feature Film Co., Detroit, Mich.—Michigan.

Kansas City Feature Film Co., Kansas City, Mo.—Missouri, Kansas, Nebraska and Iowa.

Famous Players Star Feature Film Service, Temple Court Building, Minneapolis, Minn.—North and South Dakota, Minnesota and Wisconsin.



Notable Feature Film Co., Salt Lake City, Utah—Utah, Colorado, Montana, Wyoming and Idaho.

Progressive Motion Picture Co., three offices—Head office: 642 Pacific Building, San Francisco, Cal.; Central Building, Seattle, Wash.; Marsh-Strong Building, Los Angeles, Cal.—California, Oregon, Washington, Nevada, Arizona and New Mexico.

BOSWORTH, Inc., 648 Olive Street, Los Angeles, Cal.

William W. Hodkinson, Distributor, 110 W. 40th St., New York City

After September 1st All Bosworth Releases Handled Through Paramount Program

"Look to your daughter," cries Iago.

Othello

Special Feature Department
GENERAL FILM CO.

OR

THE MOOR OF VENICE

FIVE PARTS

THE DIVINE SHAKESPEAREAN DRAMA

MADE AT VENICE, ITALY!!

By the Photo Drama Company. THE SUPER FILM—By All Odds The Most Pretentious, Beautiful and Accurately-Screened Version of Shakespearean Stories!

MADE AT VENICE, ITALY! That's a Tremendous Advertising Feature in Itself! VENICE! rendezvous of the modern tourist—a very fountain-head of Romance and Adventure! The waterways of Historic Venice with their tales, ten centuries old, of Passionate Loves and Fierce Vendettas—the indolent, dreamy sweep of these Gondola-ridden highways are scenes of the quaintest stories in any language!

FOR THE MAKING OF OTHELLO the city Fathers Declared a Half-Holiday—Canals Were Closed to Modern Commerce Leaving Only the Aged Palaces, the Gayly-Costumed Players and the Clicking Cameras of the Photo Drama Company.

In OTHELLO we offer a real masterpiece—it is the first of Shakespeare's stories filmed in its proper environment, as the Master would have wished.

FOR RELEASE THROUGH

GENERAL FILM COMPANY

WEEK OF JULY 6th

Complete line of Lithographs, Press Stories, etc.

GEORGE KLEINE

166 N. STATE ST. CHICAGO

KAY BEE FEATURES

KAY BEE

The City. - - - Two Parts. - July 17th.
The Sheriff of Bisbee. Two Parts. - July 24th.
Thos. H. Ince, Director General.

KAY BEE

DOMINO WINNERS

DOMINO

Star of The North. - Two Parts. - July 16th.
The Defaulter. - - Two Parts. - July 23rd.
Thos. H. Ince, Director General.

DOMINO

BRONCHO HEADLINERS

BRONCHO

Shorty Turns Judge. - - Two Parts. July 15th.
Shorty and the Aridville Terror. Two Parts. July 22nd.
Thos. H. Ince, Director General.

BRONCHO

KEYSTONE COMEDIES

KEYSTONE

Three Comedies a week.
Monday, Wednesday and Saturday release day.
Mack Sennett, Director General.

KEYSTONE

KEYSTONE COMEDIES

Photos

8 by 10 Photos of players mentioned below can be had by sending to the Publicity Department. 15 cents for one; 50 cents for sets of four; $1.00 for sets of eight

Mack Sennett
Mabel Normand
Charles Chaplin
Roscoe Arbuckle
John Keller
Harry G. Keenan

Thos. H. Ince
Barney Sherry
Richard Stanton
Gretchen Lederer
Margaret Thompson
Tsuru Aoki

Roy Laidlaw
Clara Williams
Jay Hunt
Rhea Mitchell
Mildred Harris
Shorty Hamilton

Charles Ray
Walter Belasco
Frank Borzage
Thomas Chatterton
Leona Hutton

A set of 8 by 10 of "KEYSTONE MABEL" in four different poses, 50c.

New York Motion Picture Corporation

Longacre Building, 42nd Street and Broadway NEW YORK

The Appeal—the "Punch"—the Quality

There you have the triple alliance that plays to crowded houses. You know that. And you also know that when you put on a program that doesn't have this combination of essentials—you lose.

Warner's Features have the Appeal—Every story strikes the chord of intense human interest. The themes run the gamut, from comedy, through romance and stirring adventure, to tragedy.

Warner's Features have the "Punch"—Every scene throbs with life and action and tense situations. The story is told from beginning to end with vim, vigor and verve. The "punch" is always there.

Warner's Features have the Quality—Star players produce Warner's Features. You know them—Marion Leonard, Gene Gauntier, Cecilia Loftus, Sid Olcott, and a host of other top-notchers. Star acting and star photography give the quality to

WARNER'S FEATURES

The Star Feature Service

Below are briefly described two new Warner's releases. Make a note of them.

J. Arthur Nelson in "Under Fire in Mexico"

Under Fire in Mexico

A thrilling, stirring story of Mexican warfare, to the staccato accompaniment of hair-breadth escapes, dark conspiracies, wholesale massacres, daring rescues and the crash of battle. This great feature was produced by the U. S. Film Corporation, under the direction of

J. Arthur Nelson

It shows deeds of valor performed by American troops under Mexican skies, and through it all runs a thread of romance—a pretty love story with a happy ending. The acting and photography are fully up to the high Warner's standard.

The Romany Rye

A beautiful gypsy, dainty, winsome and capricious, is the heroine. Around her centers the whole romantic story, and the love she awakens, and the tragedy she causes will make any audience thrill.

The gypsy part is played by

Miss Marion Leonard

That means the acting is perfect. Miss Leonard portrays the gypsy maid in a most realistic manner. There is a young farmer in love with her, a jealous gypsy lover, a sweet old mother, and plenty of fighting and romancing.

Miss Marion Leonard in "The Romany Rye"

There are many more Warner's Features that you ought to know about. Write now to your nearest Warner's Exchange for full information.

WARNER'S FEATURES, Inc., 130 W. 46th St., New York

A Spectacular Production

Spectacular—because no other film production equals it in size—46 reels.

Spectacular—because no other film production equals it in costliness—$1,000,000.00.

Spectacular—because no other film production equals it in stars, settings, photography and dramatic climaxes.

Spectacular—because no other film production is the motion picture version of a story by Harold MacGrath now appearing in 200 leading newspapers.

$10,000 for 100 Words!

THE MILLION DOLLAR MYSTERY

$10,000 for 100 Words!

By Harold MacGrath

Thanhouser's Million Dollar Motion Picture Production

The first five episodes of this startling production are now being shown at the better theatres throughout America. Each episode is in 2 reels—released each week for 23 weeks. The story is by Harold MacGrath—scenario by Lloyd Lonergan. The Thaohouser Film Corporation is tbe producer—Syndicate Film Corporation the distributor.

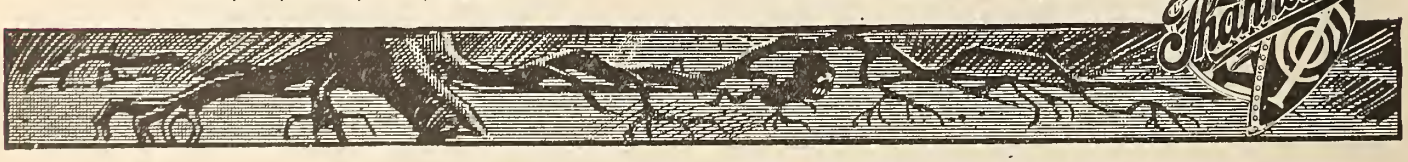
Some booking dates are still open—but you must act quickly! The Million Dollar Mystery is an independent release and may be obtained regardless of the regular program being used.

SYNDICATE FILM CORPORATION

71 W. 23rd Street, NEW YORK — 166 W. Washington Street, CHICAGO

or Syndicate Film Corporation representative at any Mutual Exchange in the United States and Canada

The Thanhouser Three-A-Week



Tuesday, July 14th, "The Substitute." An exciting 2-reel drama, throbbing with stirring scenes from everyday life. Cast includes Mignon Anderson, Carey Hastings, John Lehnberg, Wilford Young, Arthur Bauer and Joseph Phillips.

Friday, July 17th, "A Gentleman for a Day." A beautiful child drama; depicting the play spirit of children and how it triumphs over an irate mother. In this production is an exceptional cast of child actors, including Leland Benham, Helen Badgley (the Thanhouser kidlet) and others.

THANHOUSER FILM CORPORATION, New Rochelle, N. Y.

Head European Offices: Thanhouser Films, Ltd., London, W. C., England

Thanhouser releases will continue to be features of the Mutual Program

When You See It
In "The News"
It's NEWS

The MOTION PICTURE NEWS

The Fastest
Growing
Picture Journal

Tel. 7650 Bryant. No. 220 West Forty-Second Street New York City

"The Exhibitor's Medium of Communication with His Fellow Showman"

Volume X July 18, 1914 Number 2

PEARCE, OF MARYLAND, SUCCEEDS NEFF AS LEAGUE HEAD; LATTER WITHDRAWS

Second Split in League Ranks Threatens Exhibitors Until Neff Drops Out of Running—Convention Elects M. A. Pearce, President; T. P. Finnegan and M. E. Cory, Vice-Presidents; P. J. Jeup, Treasurer, and W. R. Wilson, Secretary — Amalgamation Now A Certainty, Declare Leaders — Resolutions Presented in Conference of "Harmony" Men for Convention's Action

Special to The Motion Picture News.

Dayton, Ohio, July 9.

THE days of M. A. Neff as National President of the Motion Picture Exhibitors League of America are numbered.

Amid scenes that rivaled in dramatic intensity the climax of a political convention in a Presidential year, President Neff withdrew his name from before the League delegates, assembled in executive session for the annual election of national officers here yesterday, and bade the convention choose his successor.

Mr. Neff's action had been shrewdly foreseen in some quarters but to many of the delegates it came as a surprise, particularly to those who had steadfastly believed that he would take his chances in the field once more.

As soon as the convention had realized the significance of Mr. Neff's withdrawal, the members proceeded at once to the task before them. With surprisingly little delay, considering the magnitude of the business confronting them, the following officers were nominated and elected by unanimous vote:

President, M. A. Pearce, of Maryland.
First Vice-President, T. P. Finnegan, of Texas.
Second Vice-President, M. E. Cory, of California.
Treasurer, Peter J. Jeup, of Michigan.
Secretary, W. R. Wilson, of Ohio.

WHAT the mainspring of Mr. Neff's withdrawal from the presidential race was, whether purely voluntary or due to pressure exerted at the eleventh hour, is not yet definitely known.

It is certain, however, that with the approach of the time for the election of officers for the ensuing year, the Motion Picture Exhibitors League had come to a crisis in its corporate existence, and the self-elimination of Mr. Neff from the field has cleared the air and dissipated the dangers that had begun to loom up before the convention.

A split within the League ranks was in sight from the moment the delegates arrived in this city. Those dissatisfied with the existing regime were legion. They made no attempt to mince words or suppress names.

It was openly asserted, wherever delegates gathered, that if M. A. Neff should persist in forcing his candidacy upon the convention the scenes of last year at the convention in New York, when whole sections withdrew from the League, would be repeated.

Some of those most openly opposed to Mr. Neff declared that the entire south and east was ready to secede unless some man not committed to the reactionary policies of the present order was put into office.

THE delegates who represented this spirit—and they formed an admittedly powerful body in the national organization—were outspoken in branding the present state of affairs which kept two so-called national organizations in existence, as a disgrace.

They have been loud in their demands for a man who could bring back the bolters of last year into the fold and unite the exhibitors of the country into one coast-to-coast organization.

The rumors of an opposite nature, which have been circulated since the opening of the convention, that M. A. Neff was rallying the Ohio delegates around him for a last stand, and was prepared to go down to defeat or retake the throne with "The Old Guard" around him, did not tend to allay the feelings of bitterness in the minds of those who were determined not to perpetuate the existing regime beyond the present national gathering.

A canvass of all the exhibitors present at the Dayton convention and exposition revealed that the anti-Neff sentiment was not by any means confined to the delegates. It was equally noticeable among the exhibitors, who were merely visitors and spectators at the exposition. Save for the Ohio contingent—which, gossip said, was a "hand-picked" crowd, nominated for their loyalty to Neff and his principles—the prevailing opinion was that, great as had been the present president's services to the League, the hour had come when he should give place to another man, if for no other reason than for the welfare of the exhibitors whom he had led so long.

WHILE the inside story of Mr. Neff's abdication has not come to light, the presumption, on the basis of known facts, is that his staunchest advisers and counsellors, having themselves seen the "handwriting on the wall," warned Mr. Neff at the last minute that, unless he desired to taste the bitterness of crushing defeat, his wisest move was to "put aside the crown" with dignity, and march out with the honors of war.

From the opening of the convention, the names of League leaders whose strength might warrant placing them in opposition to Neff were discussed with considerable animation wherever exhibitors gathered. Marion A. Pearce, of Baltimore, Maryland; Peter J. Jeup, of Michigan, W. S. Eddy, secretary of the Ohio State League and George W. Wiley, national secretary, were the most prominent in the pre-election discussions.

Of these, Pearce, whose election yesterday marks a new epoch in Motion Picture League history, was the favorite. Wiley, who might have swept all before him in an actual ballotting battle, had eliminated himself, and his name was regretfully dropped from the "dope-sheets." Jeup, it was conceded, would have a place on any ticket, but whether or not he would be the standard-bearer was a moot point.

Around Pearce the interest centered, chiefly because he had witheld his consent to be entered as a candidate until ten o'clock yesterday morning, the hour when the delegates were to convene for the electoral session.

FROM the moment his boom was launched, Pearce men began to crop up with startling rapidity, until by Monday night it was acknowledged that he would have to be reckoned with by any man who put himself forward as a presidential candidate.

Mr. Pearce's "platform," if it could be called such, he, himself, laid down in a manifesto issued late Monday night, in which he pledged himself to work for harmony, and to "put the League on the plane where it belongs."

Mr. Pearce's statement was as follows:

"I shall either decide to run or not to run at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning. In the event that I decide to accept the nomination and am elected, I will, in every instance, see that the league's work is directed identically as the members desire. If I should be elected I would see that the organization benefits the industry and that harmony is brought about.

"I realize that it would mean a sacrifice of time and probably money. I have always made it a point not to seek office. If I should accept, it would be because popular demand is so strong and that I would really feel to be able to put the league on the plane where it belongs. I want to see the league go ahead with power and to do great things. It will be my aim, if I should accept nomination and should be honored with election, to do everything along these lines."

The situation was palpably a tense one when the delegates assembled for the election yesterday morning.

Amalgamation was plainly in the air. It was more than that. Practically every exhibitor at Dayton, and particularly the leaders of the league, had come to realize the importance of a united exhibitors body, and were determined to allow no minor issues or politics for politics' sake to sidetrack such an all-important desideratum.

A CONFERENCE arranged between the seven "harmony" delegates of the International Motion Picture Association, consisting of Messrs. Trigger, Sweeney, Phillips, Tugwell, Bullock, Herrington and Rembush, and the executive committee of the league, composed of Messrs. Wiley, Neff, Jeup, Parker, Cory, Finnegan and McNab, had, it was rumored, been productive of good results within the limits of the conference, and these rumors had fanned the smouldering longing of the exhibitors for reunion into open flame.

Since the election was held behind closed doors, no authentic report of what transpired within could be obtained. From various members present, however, enough was learned to make the trend of the electoral session perfectly plain.

Mr. Neff did not long keep the convention on tenter-hooks before announcing his attitude toward the national presidency. His address withdrawing his name as a candidate was at once dignified and impressive.

He had ever striven for the welfare and prosperity of the exhibitors, he declared, since the foundation of the Motion Picture Exhibitors League of America. He had made enemies, he admitted, but no man who commits himself to a fixed line of policy and adheres to that regardless of criticism and approbrium, can come forth from such an experience without enemies.

He believed that he could say, without hesitation, that he had always endeavored to do what, in his best judgment, was for the benefit of the whole body of exhibitors who had committed themselves to his guidance.

THE time had now come, continued Mr. Neff, when it seemed that the best interests of the league demanded the elevation of new and younger men to the head of affairs. For himself, while the office of national president had brought him much keen pleasure in the discharge of its duties, it was a pleasure not unmixed with weighty responsibilities, and he was ready to relinquish these to another, much as he regretted that his term as president was over.

In conclusion, Mr. Neff thanked all those who had worked with him and had been his adherents in troublesome and trying moments, for their cordial support, and assured the members of the league that he would hold himself in readiness at any time to come to their aid, should his leadership again be demanded. He considered it unnecessary to add that he should continue his close association with all league affairs, and always be on hand to lend his influence where he thought he might accomplish some good result.

There were cheers and applause for President Neff as he concluded, and, in justice to the venerable official, it is but fair to say that these came as loudly from the ranks of his most consistent opponents as from his devoted supporters.

THE minutes of the conference between the "harmony" delegates from New York and the executive committee of the league reveal two important propositions which were laid down by the Eastern men as a sine qua non to amalgamation.

One was uncompromising opposition to all forms of legalized censorship. This was crystallized into a resolution laid before the conference by Sam Bullock, of Cleveland, one of the members of the I. M. P. A. committee.

The other came from Fred J. Herrington, of Pittsburgh, and called for the elimination of all national officers of both organizations, in the event of amalgamation, and the vesting of authority in a National Executive Board.

The report in full is as follows:

"A preliminary meeting of the Committee on Amalgamation of the I. M. P. A elected at the New York Convention on Friday, June 12, 1914, and a similar committee representing the M. P. E. L. of A. was held at Memorial Hall on the above date.

"Those present were Messrs. M. A. Neff, Ohio; O. Parker, Kentucky; George H. Wiley, Missouri; T. P. Finnegan, Texas; R. L. MacNab, New York; M. E. Cory, California; Peter Jeup, Michigan, Executive Board Member. Also S. H. Trigger, New York; Sam Bullock, Ohio; F. J. Rembush, Indiana; F. J. Herrington, Pennsylvania; W. J. Sweeney, Illinois; Judge Tugwell, California, and President Chas. H. Phillips, Ex-Officio Member of Committee. Thomas Furniss, of Minnesota, was absent, being delayed in transit

T. P. FINNEGAN, OF TEXAS
Newly elected National First Vice-President M. P. E. L. of A.

"After a general discussion of the method to be devised in order to bring the two organizations together it was decided that the I. M. P. A. members should withdraw for a conference to enable them to present some concrete propositions to work upon. An adjournment was taken for that purpose.

"After a recess of thirty minutes the I. M. P. A. committee reappeared and the joint meeting then reconvened, at which time the following propositions were submitted to the joint meeting with a recommendation that the M. P. E. L. of A. submit the propositions to the convention body for action.

"This was agreed to unanimously.

"President M. A. Neff presided and George H. Wiley acted as secretary of the joint meeting. The resolutions submitted were as follows:

"By SAM BULLOCK, of Ohio.

"Resolved: That this committee cannot amalgamate with any organization under the terms of the resolutions by which we were elected, unless the said organization is opposed in toto to all forms of legalized censorship.

"By F. J. HERRINGTON, of Pennsylvania.

"Resolved: That it be to the best interests of all concerned, that the committee of the International Motion Picture Association recommend the only method of amalgamation that can be made possible will be by the elimination of the officers of both organizations and the control of the amalgamative forces should be vested in a National Executive Board comprising the membership of the Executive Boards of both organizations.

PETER J. JEUP, OF MICHIGAN
Newly elected National Treasurer of M. P. E. L. of A.

"After a general discussion and a mutual exchange of courtesies the meeting then adjourned until Tuesday morning, July 7th.

"Respectfully submitted, "SAM BULLOCK,
"Secretary of the Committee of the I. M. P. A."

THE amalgamation men are jubiliant to-day over the outcome of the election. Nothing, they now declare, can prevent the healing of the breach caused a year ago and the enrolling of all the exhibitors under one banner again.

Most of the league leaders are willing to concede that the hopes of amalgamation were never so bright as now. The most sanguine of them, and the conference committee of the International Motion Picture Association, are disposed to regard the reunion as a certainty. Only the necessary lapse of time for perfecting the reorganization will postpone the accomplishment of this important event.

Manufacturers who have exhibits at Dayton are equally pleased with the result. They have been complaining because under present conditions they are forced to attend state conventions and also the national convention of the M. P. E. L. of A. and the convention of the National Motion Picture Exhibitors League. The latter organization was formed by bolters from the former, following the New York meeting.

It is understood that an attempt will be made here this week to bring about an amicable understanding and eventually bring the bolters back.

Expense and time lost by exposition men in attending the two national conventions have placed them in a sulky mood. They declare that twice the money is spent on making displays and not as many picture men attend. They are hoping for an amalgamation.

Among the other important business matters considered during the week are the questions on censorship, length of program, posters, etc. President Neff early in the week, in speaking of the censorship question, said:

"The question has been so often asked, and quite a large number of delegates are still asking the same question. Where does President Neff stand upon the censor question? My position I shall define once more, that I stand upon the censor question as follows: That when a picture is censored that it shall be shown by the exhibitors throughout the country without interference from any source or person or persons whatsoever.

"I wish to go on record in advance of the opening of the convention that I shall stand by the majority rule, regardless of whether it coincides with my view or not. In other words, after thoroughly discussing the censor question among the delegates in our convention, if the majority of the delegates of our convention decide against censorship, I shall stand by the majority rule, as I am positively opposed, and always have been, to bolts and kicking upon the majority rule, and I am opposed to minority rule and absolutely and unalterably in favor of majority rule at all times."

Everything was in readiness for the opening of the convention when President Neff rapped for order at 10:30 o'clock Tuesday morning at the Parker High School. Business sessions were conducted at the Parker school building, as Memorial Hall was used for exhibits, displays, registration booths and offices of the managing director of the exposition.

This is the fourth annual convention and second annual exposition. The first convention of the league was held in this city in 1911, in Chicago in 1912, New York in 1913.

Sentiment seems to be in favor of San Francisco for 1915. Committeemen and delegates from that section of the country are pulling for the Western city, and it is likely that they will land the next national meeting.

M. E. Cory will read a letter from Mayor Joseph Rolph, Jr., of the Golden Gate town, extending an invitation to meet there in 1915. In addition to other reasons, it is believed that San Francisco is the logical place to hold the convention, because of the Panama exposition. Cory says a new auditorium has just been finished, the building covering a solid block and forming a part of the new $8,000,000 civic center which the city is providing.

BRILLIANT TRADE EXHIBITS MARK SECOND MOTION PICTURE EXPOSITION

THE Dayton Exposition and the Fourth Annual Convention of the Motion Picture Exhibitors League of America was formally opened Monday afternoon, July 6th, at 2:30 p. m., by George H. Wiley, chairman and managing director of the Special Convention Committee.

Ten-thirty a. m. had been set down on the official program for the convention opening; but, delayed by the Fourth of July and Sunday tie-ups of freight and express, manufacturers were unable to arrange their exhibits in time.

Chairman Wiley extended cordial greetings to all and announced prizes of $300 to purchasing exhibitors and of $85.00 for the parade held on Thursday, July 9.

He then introduced Mayor Schroyer, of Dayton, who gave the keys of the city to the visitors in a brief speech. The Mayor was followed by City Manager Waite, and in turn by President M. A. Neff of the Motion Picture Exhibitors League of America.

THE opening of the exposition was auspicious. A great deal of well-deserved credit must be given to George H. Wiley and to Clem Kerr for their able efforts, not only in presenting a well-ordered, well-opened exposition, but equally for their success in creating an atmosphere of welcome and prevailing cordiality.

Memorial Hall, a sightly and interiorly a very attractive and commodious building, was decorated without by flags and welcome signs.

Within, the broad stage was filled with potted plants and flowers, illumined with electric lights. In the midst a screen had been placed and on the wings and facing the stage below was grouped an imposing Wurlitzer display, a $10,000 pipe organ with complete musical effects.

This, the main floor, was given over to the following film companies:

Pathé Frères.
Essanay, in charge of General Manager Day.
Universal, in charge of Joe Brandt.
All-Star, Joe Farnum in charge.
Famous Players.
Selig.
Eastman Company.
Jesse Lasky, Harry Reichenbach in charge.
World Film Corporation. This booth attracted a great deal of attention by sending up toy balloons. Manager Trainor and other traveling representatives of the company entertained many visitors.

All of the booths were tastefully decorated with potted plants and displays, colored photos and transparencies of leading actors and actresses.

NOTICEABLE among the booths on the floor was that of the Schroeder Art Floral Company, of Cleveland, Ohio. The hanging baskets and other artificial flower decorations for the picture theatre screen were most attractive.

The Typhoon Fan Company had very prominent and sightly displays on either side of the stage, facing the entrance to the hall.

Their cooling, ventilating and heating apparatus was installed on the floor below.

This floor, given over entirely to accessory exhibits, contained the following:

Mott-Le Gaige Animated Advertising Company, 220 West 42d street, New York, Raymond Ayers in charge.

Nicholas Power Company, a large display, with General Manager Jno. F. Skerritt, Will C. Smith, Assistant General Manager and Traveling Representative B. Bohannon, F. Suett, and H. Griffin.

Enterprise Optical Company, of Chicago, motiograph machine, Mr. Spahr in charge.

National Cash Register Company, large display.

Kraus Manufacturing Company, art publishers, New York.

Dayton Power Light Company, together with Wm. Hall and H. H. Starrett.

Ernemann Photo-Kino Works, New York, exhibiting the Imperator projection machine, Ernemann camera and the new Ernemann product that takes, prints and projects films all in one. H. J. Hoffman in charge.

Motion Picture Apparatus Company, New York—Moy, Pathé, Prestwich, Gaumond cameras and supplies.

American Slide Company, Columbus, Ohio.

Mirror Screen Company, Shelbyville, Ind. T. J. Rembush.

Egry Register Company, Dayton, Ohio.

Novelty Slide Company, New York. Mr. Wyler in charge.

Recording & Computing Machine Company, Dayton, Ohio.

Columbus Theatre Equipment Company, Columbus, Ohio. Fred P. Dwyer.

Automatic Ticket Selling & Cash Register Company, St. Louis. H. C. Simeral, of Pittsburgh, in charge.

Fort Wayne Electric Works. Julian Speer in charge.

Newman Manufacturing Co., of Cincinnati. Brass frames, easels, railings and a new ticket chopper.

Theatre Specialty Manufacturing Company of Cleveland. G. W. Armstrong and W. R. Hughes.

Precision Machine Company, Simplex machines. Sales Manager H. B. Coles and Traveling Representative Dan F. Cowan.

Buquo, Holman & Company, Covington, Ky. Carbon extenders, a new and practical device.

Rex Film Renovator, Columbus, Ohio. R. D. Hanish and W. C. Moore.

O. J. Miller & Company, Bellefontaine, Ohio, brass frames. H. F. Miller in charge.

Wyanoak Publishing Company, New York, a most attractive exhibit, with two live Indians in the booth.

Menger & Ring, New York, wooden frames.

FOUR hundred and seventy badges and passes were given out Monday by the committee in charge. One hundred and seventy-six of these were to visiting exhibitors. For the opening day of a convention this number was large and augured well for the week's attendance. Several hundred more exhibitors were expected on Tuesday.

At the Atsco booth at the convention interest of the exhibitors centered chiefly in the new terms under which this company is selling the Radium Gold Fibre Screen.

(Continued on page 50)

Funkhouser on the Witness Stand

Chicago Police Deputy, Who Is Said to Have Political Aspirations, Tries to Justify Film Censoring Based on a Plan Peculiarly His Own—Hypercritical with Pictures, but Blind to Outrageous Vaudeville Acts—What Exchange Men Think of the Proceeding

MAJOR METELLUS L. C. FUNKHOUSER, scissors in hand, has his eye on a tall-backed chair facing the council chamber in the Chicago city hall.

There are devious paths reaching to the mayor's chair. The paths are not always straight and narrow. Bunyan had nothing on the modern political game when it came to obstacles.

Major Funkhouser proposes to reach that tall-backed chair with the aid of his doughty scissors by committing the sins of "omission."

This conjecture may be somewhat speculative, but the signs of the weather are quite clear. Recently the major presented himself to the Chicago Ad Club—a high-standing representation of publicity men. He attempted to demonstrate that he was a very much maligned public official. He had patched up a reel of cut-outs that represented the extreme clips taken during the entire life of the Chicago censor bureau.

True, the cut-outs were for the most part justified. They consisted of hangings, and other overdone brutality, with a little obscenity and a few burglaries. One picture showed the execution of Mexican soldiers. Another showed some policemen starting out in an automobile to make a raid. This clip was made, the major said, because it was a slur on the police department, inasmuch as the police would never think of sending out uniformed men in an automobile for that purpose.

When the major was through the most of the guests were with him. He had committed one of the sins of omission deftly and with military precision. He did not show any of the cut-outs to which a majority of the film manufacturers object. It was assumed when he was through that the major was performing his duty well in censoring the parts of films that were shown. It was assumed that this was a typical representation of an average day's work.

A couple of hundred direct and perhaps several hundred indirect votes were garnered, should the major take another step toward that tall-backed chair in the council chamber.

THE talk to the ad men was typical of scores of such engagements the major now has on his list. He is trying to right himself where he has been looked at askant. He proclaimed that his activities were not limited to the censure of films. He showed himself as a valiant and successful leader charging on the ranks of vice and immorality in general. He called attention to his excellent qualifications as a business manager and his intimate knowledge of general affairs that come to an executive of the great city of Chicago.

"I am not a patrolman," he said. "I am the second deputy of police. I am the police business manager. My work requires that I must do some things that are not agreeable to everybody. I have met a little criticism on the part of the motion picture people. But I have been simply attending to my duty."

He explained again that films were judged from the viewpoint of a child under fifteen years old. He omitted to mention, however, any of the schools for crime that are open day and night in the cheap show houses on State street south of the loop. He said nothing about a certain alleged comedy vaudeville act that the writer saw in one of these places less than a week ago.

THESE shows appeal to idlers and men with criminal tendencies by advertising Oriental dancers. Fifteen cents is charged for "reserved seats." In the particular show referred to a crowd of men and boys occupied the front half of the theatre. One boy of about fourteen seemed particularly interested when two men came out on the stage, one with the appearance of a typical bad man in a black mask and hip boots and a red bandanna handkerchief around his neck and the other as an ignorant Irishman just arrived. The bad man was showing the Irishman how to become a robber.

"Now here comes a woman," said the instructor, "I'll show you how it's done."

The hold-up occurred strictly according to rule. The bad man pressed the revolver against the woman's breast, searching her and took away a roll of bills. There seemed to be no effort to make the acting funny or unique. It happened exactly according to the written reports of robberies. The bad man divided the "swag" with the Irishman. It looked like a pretty big roll and easily obtained, as the woman seemed badly frightened.

The Irishman followed with another hold-up and the bad man stood guard. In this the apprentice got his methods mixed up in a way probably intended to be humorous. Anyhow, it called for further demonstration on the part of the hold-up man, who repeated his instructions over and over again, practising on the Irishman. He showed in detail how the gun should be pointed and how the victim should be intimidated.

The young boy in the audience took this all in with eyes popping and mouth agape. The act in which a scantily clad young women came out and danced lasted about two minutes.

THIS is simply typical of any number of similar shows that may be seen in this district without interference on the part of the vice censors. The diligence of the censors seems to be directed mainly against motion picture films.

"They can't bull me," Major Funkhouser once said in the presence of the writer. "When they begin to tell me where I get off in cutting films I'll just quit cutting and make them take the whole thing out—not let 'em show it at all."

This threat and its execution has seemed to prove quite an effective muzzle on the part of film dealers in Chicago. When sought for interviews these men have been cautious in their statements, and when they have been induced to open up their hearts and tell what they thought and felt, it has been with the admonition that their names be suppressed.

The Essanay recently produced a very beautiful piece called "In the Moon's Rays." It was a throb of human passion and action. There were places where men went to battle with only the weapons that God gave them. It was masterful and sublime in its portrayal. It must have caused even the major himself to sit up and gasp, for although no guns or knives were shown he could not endure the sight of angry men facing each other bare-fisted. He turned his thumbs down. The film had to be revised before it was passed. This film, as originally produced, would be a Sunday school lesson compared with the hold-up school in the South state street show.

(Continued on page 44)

MAY FORCE CENSORS ON OMAHA EXHIBITORS

Clash Over White Slave Films with Social Service Board Threatens to Produce Censor Ordinance—Exhibitors Declare They Are Not to Blame—Film Brought in by "Legit" House Running Pictures for Summer—League Men Will Fight Law

Special to The Motion Picture News.

Omaha, Neb., July 8.

OMAHA may have a censorship of motion pictures similar to that operating in Chicago. Local exhibitors are making every effort to stop such action, which was threatened at the same time unfair charges were brought.

Ideal conditions have existed here. The only censorship was by the Social Service Board, an improvement organization, which worked in co-operation with the exhibitors and exchange managers. Members of the board had access to every motion picture theatre in the city and frequently made suggestions concerning films.

The exhibitors were always willing and desirous of complying with their suggestions. With one exception—that of an exhibitor who was forced to resort to wildcat films or go to the wall—the pictures were always approved.

The outlaw exhibitor did not belong to the Omaha branch of the M. P. E. L. A., but other exhibitors called on him, remonstrated with him and tried their best to keep him from showing objectionable pictures.

The Social Service Board apparently appreciated the assistance of the other exhibitors in keeping clean shows before the public.

RECENTLY a legitimate theatre—a burlesque house closed for the summer season—began showing features. One of them, shown some time ago, aroused the objections of the other exhibitors and of the board. He was not a member of the league and remonstrance on the part of the other exhibitors was impossible.

Last week he showed a white slave film. The proprietors of motion picture theatres all over the city were indignant, but powerless.

Such pictures, they believe, tend to injure all motion pictures.

The film was widely advertised for two weeks before it was shown. The Social Service board took no action. When it was shown, the board took no action. Those who saw the picture said it was excellent; that it was only objectionable so far as the title, "Traffic in Souls," went.

BUT somebody must have complained. Anyway, T. F. Sturgess, head of the Social Service Board, in a public speech, on June 24, declared that the motion picture exhibitors had broken their pledge made last spring to suppress all wildcat films, and all of the blood-and-thunder and the white slave type.

So he served notice on all exhibitors threatening to establish a strict censorship. He proposes, he said, to introduce before the city commission a municipal ordinance requiring a license for every film shown in the city.

The employment of a municipal censor is part of his plan, he said.

Another part of Sturgess' speech that is objectionable to the motion picture exhibitors is his assertion that the National Board of Censorship censored the pictures only so far as the manufacturers desired. He declared his belief was the National Board was employed by, and worked for, the manufacturers.

He said his belief was founded on the fact that he had written two letters, the last one registered, to the National Board and had received no answer.

PRESIDENT GOLDBERG, of the Omaha branch of the M. P. E. L. A., and one of the proprietors of the Princess Theatre at 1319 Douglas street, immediately issued a statement challenging Mr. Sturgess to show him one theatre that had broken faith, except the one which he and the board had been trying to regulate and the downtown theatre over which the exhibitors had no control.

He said the only white slave stuff to which Mr. Sturgess referred had been shown by a theatre putting on motion pictures temporarily.

"We are running clean shows," he declared,

He suggested the board might better employ itself censoring some of the dances being put on in Omaha every night.

Other exhibitors declared they were back of President Goldberg. They will fight to prevent the passage of any censorship ordinance, they said.

"It will only mean trouble for Mr. Sturgess and for us," declared President Goldberg. "It is unfair to charge the exhibitors with something they cannot possibly help. All fairness is on our side. We have done our best and have fulfilled our promise to the board in every regard, even doing some things they have not asked us to do."

OTHERS suggested that Mr. Sturgess had been criticised for permitting the objectionable picture in Omaha, and he was merely trying to shift the blame. Several members of his board made the same explanation, at the same time requesting that their names be withheld for obvious reasons.

The city commissioners, interviewed on the subject by a representative of The Motion Picture News, said the Social Service Board had been backed by them since it was organized and any ordinance they found fit to present would certainly receive consideration.

They declined to state their stands, saying they were not familiar enough with the situation.

President Goldberg, after issuing his statement, announced a committee he had appointed to call upon Mr. Sturgess and explain the situation in detail. The committee will meet the Social Service Board soon.

On the committee are: Samuel Harding, national vice-president of the M. P. E. L. A. and president of the Princess Theatre, 1317-19 Douglas street; G. S. Weaver, secretary of the Nebraska branch of the M. P. E. L. A. and manager of the Star Theatre at 1814 North Twenty-fourth street; and A. R. Praymer, manager of the Theatre Exchange Company, at 1406 Farnam street. All three are diplomats, and it is hoped their conference will result in the threat of strict local censorship being withdrawn.

FARNUM LOSES FISHING RECORD

Dustin Farnum, who went to Bear Lake, Cal., with the Robert Edeson-Lasky company for the sole purpose of making a new record for trout fishing, has returned without the laurels. Theodore Roberts, character man with the company, watched a line while waiting for cues, and landed the largest fish—a 7½-pond trout.

ECLAIR TO FILM TUCSON

Through arrangements made by the township of Tucson, Ariz., with the Western Eclair aggregation, located at that point, complete motion pictures will be taken by the Eclair people of all points of interest in and about the town. This interesting film has been almost all completed and in a short time will be ready for showing throughout the United States.

A set of the Tucson films has been presented by the Eclair Film Company, Inc., to the welfare committee of that place.

HOW MINNESOTA CHECKMATED M. A. NEFF

A Vice-President, Appointed by Letter, "Represented" the State at Dayton—The Inside Story of the Albert Lea "Convention"—Association Meeting at St. Paul Augurs Well for the Future

Special to The Motion Picture News.

Minneapolis, Minn., July 8.

A STORY of how M. A. Neff tried to organize the motion picture exhibitors of Minnesota under his own banners, completely ignoring the state organization, which is three years old, and of the preservation of the Motion Picture Exhibitors Association of Minnesota, by four staunch supporters of the anti-Neff faction, came to light at the annual meeting and election of the Association in St. Paul, June 24.

The Minnesota Association, which bolted a year ago because of the one-man Neff rule at the New York

DAVID G. RODGERS
President pro tem Local No. 2, M. P. E. A. of Minnesota.

convention, will not be represented at Dayton though Neff will be represented by five votes, all delivered by one man, whom he appointed vice-president for Minnesota, by letter.

The man who will represent Minnesota will do so without representing any organized body of motion picture men.

He admits that there was no organization of exhibitors under Neff banners, that there was no election of officers, but that as the vice-president by Neff's appointment, for the state, he will go to Dayton and vote. The four men who sent Neff back without having perfected an organization say the votes will be delivered to Neff.

THE convention fairly sizzled with new moves that will put the motion picture business in the front rank of Minnesota business pursuits, but the revealing of the Neff intrigue to the public was the real juicy morsel that put fight into the minds of every exhibitor there.

The calling of a meeting at the West Hotel for May 24 by Neff, who, the exhibitors say, had promised to re-instate the four Minnesota delegates who were read out at the New York meeting; the sudden changing of the meeting to Albert Lea; the desertion of the men called in conference by Neff, and the decamping of Neff are incidents in the battle to prevent him from pocketing the Minnesota exhibitors.

W. A. Steffes, Northern Theatre, 404 Twentieth avenue, secretary of the Minnesota Association; Harry H. Green, Crystal Theatre, the new president; D. G. Rogers, of the Nicollet Theatre, 1347 Nicollet avenue, and D. W. Chamberlain, American Theatre, 16 East Lake street, representing the Minneapolis local organization, are the men who jumped into the breach and routed Neff from the Minnesota field.

The beginning was the bolt at the New York convention, say the four men. At that time the Minnesota delegates, D. W. Chamberlain, Thos. Furniss, of Duluth; H. A. Sherman, Minneapolis; and Otto N. Raths, of St. Paul, walked out of the convention and held a rump convention to voice their objection to Neff's rule.

While they were out, they say, a

WILLIAM A. STEFFES
Secretary, Local No. 2, M. P. E. A. of Minnesota.

Neff man made a motion to drop them from the convention and the motion was carried. Because they were opposed to Neff, the latter had refused to give them the floor at any time, they said.

IN May of this year the scene shifted to Minneapolis. Neff came to Minneapolis and other Minnesota towns. He told the Minnesota men that they would be reinstated, and that there would be little trouble over the matter. He engaged quarters at the West Hotel for May 24, where he proposed to reorganize the Minnesota men into an organization that would affiliate with the Motion Picture Exhibitors League of America.

In the meantime he visited many members of the Minnesota Association and attempted to persuade them to join the new organization. Steffes and Green, of Minneapolis, both declare he promised to make them vice-president for Minnesota. They failed to fall in line, as did many others, and when the day of the convention dawned he had twenty-seven members from the entire state who had paid five dollars initiation fees to get them into the proposed new body.

HARRY H. GREEN
Treasurer, Local No. 2, M. P. E. A. of Minnesota.

The Minneapolis local order arranged for a luncheon, entertainment and a general good time.

Then they were suddenly informed that Neff had changed the meeting place to Albert Lea. He met the four Minneapolis men the day before the meeting was to take place and said that there would be a good attendance at Albert Lea and he wanted the Minneapolis men to come and get into the game.

It was too late to get good representation from Minneapolis, but the four men went.

They were surprised on arriving at Albert Lea to find just six men there who had paid their initiation fees and were ready for business. These men were: D. G. Tripp, of Faribault; E. M. Hayes, of New Ulm; M. E. Perrizo, Hibbing; C. W.

Gates, Austin; T. C. Thompson, Albert Lea and W. A. Scott, of Red Wing.

Scott said later he had paid $5 just to see the fun.

NEFF, before the meeting, according to the Minneapolis men, informed them that they would not be admitted to the meeting unless they paid the $5 fee. This they refused to do and instead called a meeting in another room of the hotel. There all but C. W. Gates, of Austin, agreed to stay by the Minnesota association and away from Neff.

Neff had no meeting that day, but remained in Albert Lea. The Minneapolis men, believing they had won the day and that Neff was completely routed, left for home.

After their return, just to make sure that things were all right, they had Mr. Steffes wire Gates. The telegram read:

"Did Neff organize, were any officers elected and what is Neff's destination?"

By immediate wire Mr. Steffes received the following reply:

"No organization, no officers elected. Destination, Chicago. Gates."

AFTER the receipt of the telegram Mr. Steffes received a letter from Mr. Gates, informing him that Neff had, by letter from Chicago, appointed him vice-president for Minnesota. This was done, Mr. Gates said, because there were no officials empowered to represent the Motion Picture League of America in Minnesota and that someone had to be appointed to take care of the $135 that had been collected.

As the sole representative in Minnesota of the league, Mr. Gates will go to Dayton with expenses paid and will cast the state vote.

"When we told Neff our position at the Albert Lea fiasco, he told us that if the exhibitors of the country did not want him to head the order, they should go to Dayton and vote him out," said Steffes.

"Well, with Neff politics at work as we have seen it, that will be some job."

The Minnesota association is friendly to the Motion Picture Exhibitors League of America. The members want to work with the league for the good of the business, but they are going to get along without Neff and will bide their time until there is a change. In the meantime, they will put into force some of the things they adopted at the annual meeting.

THE association, in the first place, presented to Otto N. Raths a big silver loving cup on his retirement as the association president. The cup was inscribed with the name of the association and on the standard was engraved, "Our Little Napoleon."

D. W. CHAMBERLAIN

Delegate-at-large to last National Convention and active member Local No. 2, M. P. E. A. of Minnesota.

Mr. Raths has worked valiantly to put the motion picture business on a high plane in Minnesota and every member of the association voiced his appreciation with a cheer.

The association then elected Minneapolis men to the principal offices. The plan will be followed hereafter of electing the officers from one city, so they may more easily work in conjunction. The officers are: President, Harry H. Green, Crystal Theatre, 305 Hennepin avenue; James Gilosky, Alhambra Theatre, St. Paul, vice-president; W. A. Steffes, Northern Theatre, 404 Twentieth avenue N., Minneapolis, secretary; D. G. Rogers, Nicollet Theatre, 1347 Nicollet avenue, Minneapolis, treasurer.

The association has opened an office at 240 Temple Court Building, Minneapolis, from which its business will be transacted.

One of the long discussed points, that of arranging a basis of dues for membership and getting away from the initiation fees, was settled. The association will charge as dues, one cent a seat for each theatre that is to be represented in the association.

BY a new arrangement the secretary of the association will be a purchasing agent for the members. He will put into operation a buying system for the purchase of electrical and other equipment necessary to the motion picture business. The association hopes thereby to cut down the general cost of these supplies.

One of the principal discussions was over the proposal to get the film companies to allow the secretary to book the features. The members said that the method of allowing an agent to take bids on features was unsatisfactory.

Under the proposed system, the secretary would have the members draw lots for first service on good features. He would give it to the lucky numbers. After that the features would be passed about in turn to the exhibitors as fast as they would come out. This plan has not yet been worked out, but the executive committee was instructed to work on it.

An exhibition of motion pictures, equipment and all accessories for the benefit of exhibitors, film men and the public at large, was planned for the early fall. This will be held in Minneapolis. A stage will be erected and the association will bring a company of experienced film actors to the city to stage a play in public.

The Minnesota people are keenly interested in motion pictures, and the association hopes to bring the public in closer touch with the films.

THE meeting was really the beginning of a new organization for new life was added and the fight from now on is to be for the good of every exhibitor in the state. The membership showed that 153 theatres were represented at the meeting.

The morning session was open to the public and to the film agencies, but the business session was secret. The film men addressed the convention on co-operation. When the first session was held, the prominent members were notified on the floor that they were wanted at the door. There they served with subpenas ordering their appearance at the offices of the film agencies. The joke was received in the spirit that it was played and the doors thrown open to the distributors.

Otto N. Raths, the retiring president, predicted that the association would grow into one of prominence and influence in the state and he said he expected to see the motion picture as much a part of the daily life as the breakfast rolls.

More emphasis is to be given hereafter to the activities of the local organizations. They will have monthly meetings and reports of them will be sent to the state secretary. He will make copies for the other locals and by this system every exhibitor will be in touch with the doings of the other exhibitors throughout the state.

The Motion Picture Exhibitors Association of Minnesota is out for business in a business-like way, and the members are already looking forward to the exhibition when they will again be together.

R. G. MARSHALL.

WINNING THE MOTHERS AND CHILDREN

By Albert C. Sproul

First Miller Convinced the Teachers He Was Entitled to Their Support; Then the Doctors; Then the Ministers; and Armed with Their Endorsement, He Laid Siege to the Mothers of the Community—and Won

Editor's Note—The climax of Miller's successful progress from threatening failure to assured prosperity is related in this, the third chapter of "The Story of Miller." The really remarkable feature of the story is that any exhibitor could do what Miller did, if he was so disposed.

AFTER Miller had made considerable headway with classes one and two, he turned his attention to class three—the children.

In a community house like "The Ideal," the children play an important part. They are often the determining factor in the failure or success of a motion picture theatre.

With due deliberation, Miller concluded that, before he could hope to convince the mothers of the help his theatre was to the children, he had to do considerable pioneer work.

He resolved to tackle a third of the proposition at a time; to make his matinee performances mentally and spiritually beneficial and physically harmless to his young patrons.

He interested the faculties of the local schools in his work. This was not done without considerable effort, for there is no class in this wide world so dogmatic and closed to suggestion as teachers.

Accustomed as they are to be supreme in their little world and having their slightest word obeyed by the children in their charge, they are liable to carry the same spirit to things in the outer world.

BUT Miller finally won them over through self-interest. He pointed out a way in which their work would be far less arduous if they would co-operate with him.

He accompanied each educational film which he showed at his theatre with a simple talk that he himself delivered each afternoon to the children.

He would examine the contents of a film and then seek that class in the vicinity that the film would most likely interest.

In a short time, he could easily persuade the teacher, by giving a condensed explanation of his talk, which he had previously compiled with that line of approach in view, to recommend that film to the class.

The scholars would often attend the theatre in a body accompanied at times by the teacher herself.

Miller, moreover, gave a certain number of admission tickets to the teachers to use as merits, the tickets being given to those children whose conduct during the week had been perfect.

That the merits were an effective restraint on mischievous conduct and duly appreciated by the teachers on that account, goes without saying.

This made the teachers all the more favorably disposed to "The Ideal."

Tickets were also used in the nature of prizes for the best essay on a certain educational reel shown at "The Ideal," or the best story based on a certain photoplay.

These prizes were eagerly fought for and proved such a stimulus to mental effort that the last of the instructors capitulated to the overtures of Miller and heartily endorsed "The Ideal."

That was what Miller was looking for—for the recommendation of a teacher goes a long way with a parent.

HAVING settled the mental side of the argument, Miller now tackled the physical side. He interviewed a local physician—one Dr. Smith—on the subject of the motion picture theatre.

Finding the latter prejudiced against it, Miller invited the doctor to visit "The Ideal" and ascertain the facts at first hand.

When Dr. Smith realized that there was a fee attached to the investigation, he consented and the next afternoon sat by Miller's side at the performance.

The doctor admitted, after a prolonged sniffing, that the ventilation was splendid. Indeed, that having been his pet aversion to a motion picture theatre—poor ventilation—he waxed enthusiastic over the ideal conditions he found.

No, he declared, the children could not possibly be harmed by breathing the atmosphere of "The Ideal."

How about the pictures? suggested Miller. Did he think they would hurt the eyes?

Dr. Smith conscientiously endeavored to find some flaw but was finally obliged to acknowledge that the pictures, as shown at "The Ideal," would not hurt one's eyes, provided, of course, one did not attend the theatre too often.

And the length of the program? An hour and a half to two hours was about right, declared the doctor.

When Miller, therefore, asked for the physician's written recommendation, Dr. Smith did not hesitate a moment in giving it. His objections had been entirely overcome by the educational film which he had seen, treating of the value of pure water.

That that special film has been displayed on the occasion of the doctor's visit, was not due entirely to accident.

MILLER, seeking to solve the last third of his problem before talking with the mothers, approached the clergy, armed with synopses of every entertainment that he had given during the past two months.

He pointed out clearly just what his object was in building up a program and explained how he felt his responsibility to the children and the community at large and how he intended to meet his obligations.

If you could talk with Miller when he was enthused with this subject, you would catch a sight of the inner man. You would forget his rather squat figure and homely features and begin to wish you were like him yourself.

That is the way he impressed the clergy who, with scarcely a cursory glance at the synopses which he had so elaborately prepared, gave him their heartiest endorsement.

"We need more men like you," one of them said in parting. "If all the exhibitors had the same ideals as you and were willing to fight for them the way you are fighting, there would be little hue and cry at the motion picture theatres."

When Miller had completed the rounds, he realized that he had not used a potent argument which he had reserved as a clincher for the sceptical: That many of the clergy were writing photoplays; that one manufacturing company had issued a special invitation to them to contribute.

PREPARED now with the physical, mental and moral arguments, Miller was ready to approach the parents, confident of his ability to down every objection that might be raised against "The Ideal."

(Continued on page 44)

NEW BUILDING LAW A PROBLEM IN OMAHA

Would Prohibit Motion Picture Theatres in Residence Districts—District Attorney's Office Does Not Think It Will Hold Water—Law Would Make Theatres a Public Nuisance; Indignation High Among Exhibitors—City Commissioners Doubt Its Legality

Omaha, Neb., July 8.
Special to THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS.

OMAHA motion picture exhibitors are indignant over the introduction of a proposed city ordinance preventing the erection of more motion picture theatres in the residence part of the city. The proposed ordinance will be acted upon by the city commissioners within two weeks.

Sam Goldsmith, the owner of several of the best specially built motion picture theatres in the city, began the erection of a building at 2506 South Thirty-second avenue, in what is known as the Hanscom Park neighborhood. It is one of the city's most exclusive residential sections.

Goldsmith planned an ornamental little building especially adapted for the class of patronage that would be drawn from the vicinity. The very best pictures were to be shown, the music was to be subdued and proper, and it was to be a quiet, orderly, picturesque place.

He had even planned the opening day, about July 15, and had announced that those attending the first week would have the privilege of naming the theatre. The one submitting the name that was selected was to be given a prize of $10.

THEN the Hanscom Park Improvement Club, a party of neighborhood property owners who take it upon themselves to run as much of that part of town—in theory—as people, objected.

They started a petition against the theatre, saying it would be a menace to the peace of the vicinity. As it always has been, they had no trouble getting two hundred influential signatures attached to the petition, and then it was presented to the city commission.

The commissioners took the routine action of referring it to the city attorney's office.

Attorney C. B. Rine, assistant city attorney, whose duty it will be to draw the ordinance as asked in the petition, says he is extremely doubtful if it can hold water.

"IN order to prevent the erection and operation of more motion picture houses," he said in an interview with a representative of the MOTION PICTURE NEWS, "we must designate every motion picture as a nuisance and give the city commissioners power to close every such theatre in the city should they deem or imagine it necessary.

"It must be like the saloon ordinance: In order to regulate the saloons we have to have power to close every saloon in the city. It is the same with the pool halls. This ordinance, if it passes, must necessarily associate the motion picture theatre on the same level as the saloon and the pool hall.

"If the matter is carried to the courts, as it doubtless will be, it will have to be proven by the city that motion picture theatres are a menace to the peace or morals of the community."

IN separate interviews the city commissioners expressed themselves as opposed to such an ordinance as foolish, but said they would probably have to pass it merely to appease the signers of the petition. They hope it will never be carried to the courts, they said.

One commissioner said such an ordinance would be restricting the business district—an impossible thing to do—and he couldn't see how it could ever be introduced even.

"I take my wife and children to the theatre near our home quite frequently," he said, "and we consider it valuable, or we wouldn't go."

An opinion from the city attorney's office gave Goldsmith permission to go ahead with the construction of his theatre. The community theatres now in operation will not be closed. But several contemplating new houses in excellent communities for business will have to halt their plans until the ordinance is shown to be without power. As a result, there is considerable indignation.

AN inert building ordinance was revived in Omaha recently and now the reviver is wishing he hadn't. He pushed himself into a match with one of Omaha's most popular moving picture exhibitors, and lost.

J. F. Morgan decided Twenty-fourth and Lothrop streets was a good location for an up-to-date motion picture house. Accordingly, he bought property and began excavating for the foundation. A neat-appearing showhouse, decorated and constructed in such a manner that it would be another pleasing sight in an already sightly neighborhood, was planned.

At this stage a community reformer who was as much a bother to his neighbors as anybody revived an old building ordinance which said no theatre or other such place could be built within 300 feet of a school. There was a schoolhouse 320 feet from the corner of Morgan's lot, but the schoolyard came to within 280 feet of the lot. Not desiring to start trouble with anybody, not even the community crank, Morgan consented to move.

The lot he next purchased and on which the pretty little Lothrop Theatre, with its clear-noted organ and crowds of children coming and going, now stands, is next to the home of the community crank. In such a manner that could leave no possible doubt, the latter has told his friends many times that he is sorry he revived the old ordinance.

Form Producing Company in Birmingham

Great Southern Photoplay Company Will Have Headquarters in Alabama City, to Make Two and Three Reel Features.

Special to THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS.
Birmingham, Ala., July 8.

A NEW motion picture manufacturing company under the name of The Great Southern Photoplay Company will soon open an office in Birmingham and fit up a studio on Shades Mountain, two miles east of the city for the production of two and three reel feature films.

The company, it is stated, was organized in New York a week or two ago and much of the stock was taken by southern men. Birmingham was chosen for the site of the studio on account of atmospheric and other conditions here which it is said are especially conducive to the staging of motion picture plays. A company of some thirty players or more is to be brought here.

Representatives of the company have been in Birmingham for several days and have been taken in charge by A. A. Wall, a well-known local motion picture exhibitor, who is helping them arrange their local affairs. It is said the company will produce industrial films and a general line of feature films of all kinds, including "thrillers" of the first order. The films will be distributed about the country as usual through one of the large film agencies.

A five-acre site on Shades Mountain has already been secured for the studio and contracts for the stage and quarters are expected to be let in the near future. There are many details yet to be arranged before the company starts work, but it is said that they expect to be in operation within the next two or three weeks.

RALPH R. SILVER.

Central Pennsylvania Exhibitors Organize

Harrisburg Motion Picture Men Form Nucleus of the Body—Plans Under Way to Make Extensive Membership Campaign and Raise Prices from Five to Ten Cents—Liquor Interests Declare Their Business Affected by Pictures

Special to THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS.

Harrisburg, Pa., July 9.

AN organization which it is proposed shall ultimately include all the leading motion-picture exhibitors within a radius of fifty or sixty miles of this city has just been formed here under the name of the Moving Picture Exhibitors League of Central Pennsylvania.

Thus far the membership includes only the Harrisburg exhibitors, but the league proposes at once to circularize the exhibitors in the Central Pennsylvania territory with a view to bringing them into the organization so that by the time the State Legislature assembles here next winter the motion-picture interests in this part of the state will have an aggressive body to oppose the passage of laws detrimental to their welfare, and to fight for favorable legislation. This is one of the chief aims of the newly organized league, and another is to raise the daily price of admittance to ten cents throughout Central Pennsylvania.

THE officers of the league, just elected, are: C. Floyd Hopkins, manager of the Colonial, president; Peter Magaro, manager of the Star, vice-president, and William Windsor, of the Arena, secretary and treasurer, all of this city.

This organization is the one that recently eliminated cut-throat competition among the Harrisburg exhibitors by effecting an agreement limiting the number of reels to be displayed in a theatre in one day. It also brought the exhibitors in this city together for mutual benefit in other directions. One of the things the league has accomplished in the strictly local field is the standardization of prices of admittance at five cents, except on Fridays, Saturdays and holidays, when ten cents shall be the fixed rate.

The league, however, in a meeting last week, definitely determined to put into effect a uniform ten-cent daily rate in all houses in the city beginning on September 1.

OFFICERS of the league believe that this step toward a uniform ten-cent price of admittance, taken by the Harrisburg exhibitors, can be made the basis of similar action through Central Pennsylvania after the league extends its membership to cover that territory.

"The league is preparing a circular letter that will be mailed to the leading seventy-five motion picture exhibitors in Central Pennsylvania in the next few days," said Vice-President Magaro, in discussing the aims of the new organization. "There is great need for this sort of an association and we expect to have a good strong fighting body before the Legislature meets next winter."

It has already been decided to have a regularly employed legislative representative or "lobbyist" to look after the organization's interests and advocate the exhibitors' cause when measures for or against the motion-picture business come up for discussion before the committee of the law-makers. The motion-picture men expect to see some bitter fights in the coming session. The liquor interests say the motion pictures are breaking into their business and the theatre men believe the liquor interests will back measures designed to restrict the operations of the theatres. Then, too, efforts may be made by the motion-picture interests to repeal the state censorship law unless the courts in the meantime declare it unconstitutional.

IN in the opinion of Mr. Magaro the new Central Pennsylvania association will be the logical medium through which to fight the motion-picture men's battles in the Legislature. This association, Mr. Magaro says, proposes to co-operate with similar organizations in the state and work in harmony with them for the general interests of the business.

It will likely seek to become affiliated with the national organization. When asked whether the new league would encroach on the territory of the Motion Picture Exhibitors League of Pennsylvania, which covers the northeastern part of the state, Mr. Magaro said it would not.

The territory which the new organization aims to cover extends to the north of this city far enough to take in Williamsport and Sunbury; to the east to take in Lancaster; to the south as far as Chambersburg, and to the west as far as Huntingdon. Included in that territory are many good-sized towns and cities, such as Carlisle, Lebanon, Lewistown, Columbia and others. According to Mr. Magaro, none of these towns and cities is included in the territory of the Motion Picture Exhibitors League of Pennsylvania, or that of any other organization of the kind.

THE officers of the league say the time is ripe for placing the motion-picture business on an out-and-out ten-cent basis throughout the Central Pennsylvania district. They say that the class of pictures that the public is demanding is far higher than it was a few years ago.

Since the public insists on the high-class productions it is getting the public will have to pay more for them, it is argued, and the only way to raise the price is through concerted action among all the theatres of the territory.

These things will be pointed out to the theatre managers who are to be invited to join the league and co-operate in the ten-cent movement.

It will be represented to them also that mutual self-protection requires a united stand among the picture men, both in the matter of resisting unfair legislative organizations among the foes of the business and eliminating cut-throat competition on the inside.

At the time of the writing of the general review of the motion-picture situation in Harrisburg, which appeared in THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS under the date of July 11, no intimation had been given by the local exhibitors of their intention to raise the daily prices to ten cents, but subsequent information shows that price will prevail generally throughout this city beginning September 1, and subsequently, if the plans of the new league carry, throughout the Central Pennsylvania district.

V. H. BERGHAUS.

KEANE AND LESSER ON WAY TO NEW YORK

With the studio of the United Keanograph Company, at Fairfax, Cal., completed and the first feature well under way, James Keane, president and general manager of the company, is on his way to New York in the company of Sol Lesser.

It is said that $65,000 has been spent on the initial production, which will run into six or eight reels. Mr. Lesser, manager of the Golgate Feature Service, has already contracted for it in his territory. A "dress rehearsal" run will be given at the Imperial, San Francisco.

THRIFT FILMS FOR BANKERS' CONVENTION

Milwaukee, Wis., July 8.

And now the movies are to be used to teach thrift, and they will first be put to this use in Milwaukee, if the plans of the officials of the Wisconsin Bankers Association are carried out. According to a prominent Milwaukee banker, who has just returned from New York where he saw the picture, pressure is being brought to bear on the owners of the film to have an advance showing of the picture at the State Bankers' Convention, which will be held in Milwaukee, July 15 and 16.

Washington Becomes an Exchange Center

Capital Forms Convenient Distributing Point Between Philadelphia and Atlanta, and Several Companies Open Branches—Eclectic, Electric Theatre Supply, Greater New York Film Exchange Among Those on the Ground.

(Special to The Motion Picture News.)
Washington, D. C., July 9.

SEVERAL exchanges have recently entered the motion picture arena with Washington as the distributing point. It seems that this city makes a convenient centralizing of trade between Philadelphia and Atlanta. The railroad facilities give quick shipments, and the fact that it is the capital of the nation gives added importance.

Besides, Washington has become an important exhibitor and uses the entire output of all markets. It has not yet become a producing center, though there are ample opportunities for this, but that is because our city holds such a peculiar political position with its floating population that it does not seek big commercial enterprises. It is, however, an amusement and educational center and in these capacities it may be considered for its size among the biggest film renter in the trade.

The Eclectic Feature Film Exchange, handling the Eclectic and Pathé output, are comfortably domiciled in a suite of rooms in the Bank of Commerce Building. This is under the management of C. L. Worthington, whose territory includes Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia, and North Carolina.

This exchange has been able to build up a good clientele with a more promising outlook for next season. Connected with his exchange is an exhibition-room for the projection of films when desired by the manager or patrons. "The World's Tour of the Giants-White Sox" is being booked successfully in this section. A running of these films in Baltimore recently proved their success by public demonstration of the audience. These will be used by Tom Moore at his Orpheum Theatre at an early date.

IN the same building, and a near neighbor of the Eclectic, is the Electric Theatre Supply Company, a branch of the Philadelphia office, and covering the territory from the Mason and Dixon line to Georgia. This office is under the able management of D. M. O'Brien, who has seen service with the General Film Company, of Philadelphia, and with the Universal, of Washington.

He has as assistants H. E. Redding, formerly of the Greater New York Film Company, of Philadelphia, on the road, and Geo. W. Smiley, formerly of Warner's Features, covering the southern end. The Electric exchange handles the All Star Features as its head-liner with a number of other features culled from American and European markets.

Speaking with Mr. O'Brien on features, he said, "The American wants American productions. He is also interested in foreign productions when they are historic or depict a story or drama with which he is familiar in literature or from the stage. But a multi-reel by Europeans with their sentiments and actions does not find favor with the American exhibitor. This has been my views for some time, and it is still my opinion.

"At one time we had to depend upon the European market for features, but with the entrance of so many American theatrical producers in the motion picture business, offering such worthy and gorgeous photoplays, we can hold our own in the motion picture trade as we have done in other industries.

"Truly, the feature is the future of the perpetuation of the motion picture as an entertainment."

STILL another exchange which has found a place for itself is the Greater New York Film Exchange, under the management of Mr. Anderson. This office handles all releases of the General Film Company, and while there is also a large office of that company in the city, Manager Anderson and his clerks and his telephone seem to be very busy indeed.

Another of these exchanges is the World Film Corporation, under the management of A. G. Irvine, located in commodious quarters at 811 E street. Mr. Irvine has just returned from a trip through the southern end of his territory and reports favorably of trade conditions.

Since in the midst of heat the winter must be given thought, it seems that Tom Moore, president of the Moore Amusement Company, operating several of our largest picture theatres, desires to become the early bird with feature productions for the season and has just closed a contract with this exchange for the first releases of all the Shubert productions and certain other features of the World Film Corporation. This means an $18,000 contract and Mr. Irvine is proud of his deal.

THE initial review of the Giants-White Sox films in the capital of the nation was enjoyed by Congress. The films were exhibited at the Capitol through the courtesy of the Eclectic Film Exchange. That these lawmakers are baseball fans is attested by their frequent attendance of the game at our local park and by the eagerness with which they seek the pink sheet to see the movements of their home team, if they have one.

It must be said that during the viewing of the films the members of Congress threw off their cloak of dignity and became real human beings. They made open demonstrations of their enjoyment of various scenes.

The humor which is so ingeniously infused during the travels of the Giants-White Sox was highly appreciated. The more serious side of the pictures being a record of a tour of the world with the glimpses of many nations and their manners and customs was highly commended.

This film has the distinction of being one of the very few that has been given viewing in the Capitol of the nation. It certainly has met with approval by the federal law-makers.

Theodore Franklin.

Re-Examination for Rochester Operators

Those Who Failed to Pass First Test Given a Second Chance without Being Required to File a Fresh Application.

Special to The Moving Picture News.
Rochester, July 8.

ANOTHER chance for motion picture operators who failed to pass the recent examination to obtain licenses to operate in this city was afforded to-day to take an examination. It was conducted by the commission recently appointed by Mayor H. H. Edgerton to have supervision of the operators of this city and the issuing of licenses.

The examination followed the lines of the one held several weeks ago, including a written test, and a practical demonstration by each candidate of his fitness to run a projection machine.

Those who took the examination for the second time did not have to file another application. The blanks go quite exhaustively into the records of the applicants and ask many questions calculated to disclose their fitness and training. The blanks are kept by the city clerk, and were required to be filled out by candidates and handed in at the time of the examination.

Arthur R. Tucker.

Motion Pictures on the Continent

Astounding Spread of Picture Theatres in Bavaria—Demand for American Films in Norway, but Poor Methods of Supply Now Exist There—Subrental of Films Customary Among Spanish Exhibitors

LESS detailed reports than those of the American consuls in England upon conditions in the United Kingdom, but information equally interesting is supplied by the consular representatives in Germany, Norway, Spain, and Switzerland, in the second half of the Department of Commerce's symposium on "Motion Pictures Abroad," in a recent issue of the Daily Trade and Consular Reports printed here.

The first half of the report was published in THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS several weeks ago.

Consul George Nicolas Ifft, from Nuremberg, Germany, writes, with particular reference to the motion picture industry in Bavaria:

The rapidity with which the motion picture theatre has advanced to first place among the amusements of the people in Bavaria, as well as elsewhere, has brought about not only the appointment of a State censor of cinematograph films but also an effort on the part of the Bavarian State Statistical Bureau to compile data setting forth the importance of this class of public entertainment in the life of the people. The inquiry comprehended the motion picture theatres of the ten leading Bavarian cities.

Number of Bavarian Theatres

The available information is still fragmentary—so much so as to permit of no definite conclusions—but it is sufficient to give interesting glimpses of the possibilities of this form of entertainment as an educational and amusement factor.

On January 1, 1913, the motion picture theatres in Bavaria's largest cities numbered 72, with a total seating capacity of 14,669, distributed as follows:

Munich, 32 theatres, seating 4,654; Nuremberg, 14 theatres, seating 3,379; Fuerth, 5 theatres, seating 1,271; Augsburg, 4 theatres, seating 1,005; Wurburg, 4 theatres, seating 960; Ludwigshafen, 3 theatres, seating 1,050; Kaiserslautern, 3 theatres, seating 659; Regensburg, 3 theatres, seating 935; Bamberg, 2 theatres, seating 390; and Hof, 2 theatres, seating 366.

It may also be noted that everywhere the number of cinematograph theatres has increased greatly since January 1; for instance, on August 1, 1913, there were 42 such places of entertainment in Munich and on November 1 there were 23 in Nuremberg.

Contrast with Theatres

Most interesting is a comparison of the attendance at the motion picture houses with that at other places of amusement. In the city of Hof, for instance, the total attendance at places of public amusement during the year 1912 was 209,551. Of this total, 138,610, or nearly two-thirds, was at the motion picture theatres. Attendance at other places of public amusement was as follows: Theatre, 38,106; concerts, 8,562; public dances, 3,967; circuses, 6,997; other places of amusement, 13,309.

In the city of Fuerth during the month of December, 1912, the attendance at the motion picture theatres was 14,080. With the exception of the city theatre, the attendance at all other places of public amusement there, including theatrical entertainments, concerts, public dances, etc., from September 18 to December 31, 1912, was 12,607, or some 1,500 less than at the cinematograph theatres for the month of December alone.

Collect Amusement Tax

Many Bavarian cities collect an amusement tax (Lustbarkeitssteuer); that is, every ticket for any public place of amusement pays a tax, ranging from 2 to 10 cents, according to the price of the ticket. In Wurzburg the returns from this amusement-tax collection offer also an interesting comparison.

From April 1 to December 31, 1912, the city of Wurzburg collected $7,668 in amusement taxes, and of this sum $2,793 was paid by the motion picture theatres. The receipts from other places of public amusement were: City theatre, $933; concerts, $678; public dances, $307; circuses, $884; all other public amusements, $2,073.

These figures indicate clearly the position of the motion picture theatre as the most popular of the amusements of the people. The prices are always moderate and mostly very low; but it must be noted that concerts and musical entertainments of all kinds are frequent in Germany, at very low and often merely nominal prices of admission.

The ordinary prices at the motion picture theatres are 20 to 80 pfennigs (4.76 to 19.04 cents); in Nuremberg there are some with a minimum admission price of 10 pfennigs (2.38 cents) and in Munich with a minimum of 15 pfennigs (3.67 cents). Both cities have also an occasional gorgeously decorated cinematograph theatre where the best seats cost 2 to 2.10 marks (47.6 to 50 cents).

Censorship Is Rigid

Being thus within the reach of all classes of the population, the importance of the motion picture theatre as an educational factor, as well as a source of relaxation, is not to be underestimated. The film censorship is rigidly enforced; the attendance of children under 16 years is absolutely forbidden except at the so-called children's exhibitions, for which strict regulations are prescribed. The Bavarian Board of Film Censors, from the beginning of its activities on April 1, 1912, until June 30, 1913, passed on a total of 8,836 films. Of these, 780 were forbidden and 1,096 were passed only after certain scenes had been eliminated.

Of conditions in Norway, some pertinent observations are made by Consul B. M. Rasmusen, writing from Bergen:

According to the annual statement made to the city authorities by the Bergen motion picture theatres, the receipts for the past year markedly increased and indicate that film shows are gaining in popularity with all classes.

There are at present eight modern motion picture theatres in Bergen, a ninth is under construction, and one or two more contemplated. The present number would be adequate if the attendance were properly distributed, but complaints are frequent that the attendance at Sunday performances is too large and that ventilation at such times is insufficient. A list of the motion picture theatres in the Bergen district is forwarded.

Censorship is exercised in regard to the character of films, hours of performance, space, and ventilation, and the city receives a fixed percentage of the gross receipts. The total receipts and amount of tax collected by the city during the last three years were as follows: 1911—total receipts $51,992, tax $2,600; 1912—receipts $89,340, tax $5,636; 1913—receipts $100,768, tax $10,076. The tax was increased from 5 per cent to 10 per cent in November, 1912.

The price of admission is 40 öre for adults and 20 öre for children, which is very nearly equivalent to 10 and 5 cents, and the theatres are kept open from 5 p. m. to 10 p. m. every day, with a change of program twice a week. Programs vary in length from 1½ to 2 hours and are usually accompanied by excellent orchestra music. The tendency of late has been to exhibit long films illustrating historical events or presenting the dramatic version of popular novels, but the comic films are still well liked by all classes.

Hints to American Producers

From the fact that, as a rule, they portray heroic action and stirring scenes, American films are popular and may be depended on to continue so if judiciously used.

The kinds of American films that would sell best in this market are those describing outdoor life, racing, heroic action, construction work, and industrial progress.

Some of the local managers gave it as their opinion that American films would be quite extensively used if there were branch houses in Norway from which films could be rented.

European houses do this; American films from the Biograph, Edison, and Vitagraph companies, and European films from the Gaumont, Eclair, and Barker companies, are supplied by film agencies at Copenhagen and are kept in the circuit until worn out. The circuit in Norway is small and there is no likelihood that there will be found a market for the sale of films, new or second-hand, so long as they can be obtained as at present.

The Spanish situation is thus summed up by Consul Charles S. Winans, writing from Seville:

As a popular form of entertainment the cinematograph exhibition is conducted in Seville in winter by theatre lessees and in summer (when from June to September no rain falls) by independent managers and open-air vaudeville houses. In winter, indoors, the prices for seats are 3 to 9 cents for a 2-hour exhibition; in summer, in the city's squares or in open-air theatres, the admission ranges from 2 to 9 cents, according to location of seat, although hundreds of people may and do see the entertainments from without.

Favorite Films

All classes of society attend these exhibitions, which are often accompanied by classic or light-opera music furnished by military bands. The films themselves are the excellent products of such houses as Pathé Frères, Gaumont, and Nordisk.

Besides good workmanship, these films often possess the great advantage of illustrating the histrionic ability of well-known European actors and actresses. Generally, too, the plays are worth while and well-staged. Such films as "Quo Vadis" and dramatizations of other famous novels are especially popular here; also, of course, spectacular representations of ancient historical or mythological events and dramatizations from the Old Testament.

Comparatively few films shown in Seville are reproductions of actual events of current history, such as processions and similar happenings, and very seldom is Seville itself seen in the films, although recently a motion picture photographer visited this city with his company of actors in search of the proper setting for a Sevillian play.

In almost all cases the local exhibitors rent films for three or four days, during which period these films are subrented—that is, the exhibitors agree among themselves to rent films from each other, thus reducing the expense to all. Of course rents vary widely according to the value of the film. The names of the houses from which Sevillian exhibitors rent films are forwarded.

Few American Pictures

American films are rather infrequently shown and only the best compete successfully with the films generally used here. Thus far American pictures have seemed somewhat inferior to the average European films, in part because of their workmanship and in part because of their execution and staging. The subjects, too, sometimes fail to appeal to a Spanish public, although this failure, of course, argues no intrinsic fault in the films themselves.

The police authorities of Zurich, writes Consul-General David F. Wilbur, from Zurich, Switzerland, have decreed that the use of celluloid cinematograph films shall be forbidden after June 1, 1915, and that after that date the use of only non-combustible films, or such as are not easily combustible, shall be permitted in the motion picture theatres of this city.

Open Novel Motion Picture House

The Broadway Rose Gardens Theatre and Danse de Pierrette Combine Film Drama with a Ball Room and Dining Garden

AT last the motion picture theatre de luxe and the Folies Bergere of picturedom has arrived. The wonderful progress of the silent drama in Broadway has made it inevitable, and the coming week will probably usher in the newcomer in the form of an experiment never before attempted either in Europe or this country.

The innovation is the Broadway Rose Gardens Theatre and Danse de Pierrette, at Broadway and 52d street, which as the name implies is a combination of motion picture theatre, ball room and dining garden. A big investment has been made to equip the establishment along elaborate lines, and here, amid beautiful and refined surroundings the finest products of the Thanhouser Film corporation will be given their premier.

Two photoplay productions that have been widely heralded were the first offering to be shown, "A Million Dollar Mystery," which is to run indefinitely in serial form, and "The Terrors of the Deep," which is the first picture filmed under a new process by which photography is possible at the bottom of the sea. The latter was made in southern waters where marine life abounds and includes a desperate battle between man and shark, taken in the West Indies.

The diver is shown without helmet or diving suit and unarmed save for a knife at his belt. Then comes the huge man-eater, scenting his prey. Vainly the diver seeks to escape by swimming—the hungry monster, at home in his native element, pursues relentlessly. Then the fight is on!

Every time the shark turns over to crush the victim in his mighty jaws the diver lunges at the monster with his knife. Repelled by pain the shark veers off, only to return when he sees the diver seeking to escape. Again and again the attack is renewed and each time the heroic diver drives him off. Finally the shark closes in for a finish fight.

In desperation the diver throws his left arm about the huge fish to give himself a brace for the final thrust, and in a moment his blade has reached a vital spot. The man-eater floats away dead and the diver is ultimately pulled aboard the small boat from which he has been seeking coral.

Charles J. Hite, president of the Thanhouser Film Corporation, is president of the Broadway Rose Gardens Theatre and Danse de Pierrette. George F. Kerr, prominent in theatrical and amusement circles is vice-president and general manager.

MODEST, BUT CONFIDENT

Here is a part of an application received at the Universal studio in Hollywood recently:

"I am willing, even, to carry a spear at first. I am old enough to know what I can do but young enough to be beautiful. You will not regret giving me a job because I am destined to become a second Mary Pickford. I can get a good job with any company but I prefer the Universal. Write me at once."

GALVANIZING A "DYING" PROPOSITION

By E. D. Torgerson

It Was About the Only Thing Left in the Way of a Theatre That Wasn't Working When Bianchi Struck Mobile — Now It Is One of the Ornamental Houses of the City

WHAT one man can do with a small theatre is exemplified in the case of the Bijou, in Mobile, Ala., under the progressive management of Joseph Bianchi, formerly of Columbia patent fame, who is conducting it as the Empire.

When he started in the business in Mobile just two years ago, Mr. Bianchi wanted to do things on a large scale. He interviewed all the exhibitors of the city, desiring to know just how they stood on the subject of one company operating a number of theatres. But they were flat-footed in their conservatism, and would have nothing but the independent war they had been waging since the beginning of their business.

Mr. Bianchi wanted to control several, wanted to buy several, but he found the field all but closed. All but closed, but not so tightly that Mr. Bianchi could not squeeze through a crack which a poor expiring little theatre on Dauphin street offered him. Mr. Bianchi bought it just for an experiment. It was called the Bijou. It had so narrow an entrance that you hardly knew you were near a theatre until you had fallen into it. It consisted largely of a small room uncomfortably filled with opera chairs, which kept their balance upon an impossible angle described by the floor in its descent from the entrance at the rear to the screen. Mr. Bianchi had been told that nobody had ever made a success of the little theatre, but this did not deter him from going ahead with plans for making the house attractive. The front of the house was made attractive with plate glass and marble.

THE style of architecture is Italian Renaissance, the effect of which is distincive and pleasing. A high arch flanked by two marble columns on either side give the impression of stability. Fine statuary, consisting of two heralds, a youth and a maiden, beautify the front on either side, ready in announcing the attractions within, to proclaim the dawn of a new era in motion picture photography.

The lobby is lined with genuine Italian marble; the doors, showing art glass designs, make the entrance to the Empire most inviting. The spacious auditorium, having a seating capacity of 581, has an arched ceiling thirty-four feet high, and is amply ventilated by three powerful exhausts with a drawing capacity of thirty-three thousand cubic feet per minute, completely changing the air every two and a half minutes.

A ladies' rest room opening to the street on the second floor of the front is free to all ladies, whether visiting the performance or not.

Another unique idea is the reservation of certain days as "visiting days."

At such times, special attendants are ready to take patrons to the projection operator's booth, acquaint them with motion pictures' mechanism, and make them familiar with every detail of the operating room.

Besides, through the means of newspaper advertising, Mr. Bianchi had the name of his theatre on the lips of thousands by the use of a puzzle contest which he inaugurated through the medium of a little descriptive booklet which he distributed to his patrons at the opening performances. Scattered through the pages were a number of misspelled words.

TO the persons handing in the correct solution Mr. Bianchi offered as a prize as many free tickets to the Empire as there were words in the sentence of misspelled words.

Here a little ingenuity caught napping three or four hundred of the thousands who tried. "Thee" and "Beste" and Onley" were easy words for the public, and of course "Empyre" escaped none. Consequently there were hundreds of solutions turned in giving the motto as "Empire—the Best Only." But a little more watchfulness was necessary to win that prize.

Mr. Bianchi had hit upon a word which is one of the favorite stumbling blocks even of practiced writers, and he spelled it "preperations." Many unsuccessful contenders for the prizes remarked sarcastically afterwards that Mr. Bianchi didn't know how to spell it himself when he prepared the booklet, but Mr. Bianchi had made prepArations for that argument, and he wasn't surprised. Anyway, the correct solution was "Preparations for the Best Only at the Empire."

That was a trifle, but it is valuable in illustration of what exhibitors may accomplish with trifles.

The Empire, with its lavishly beautiful interior and attractive exterior, its softly carpeted aisles down which fleet-footed and courteous-voiced boy ushers conduct the public, proved a show place pleasant to visit. People got the habit. They didn't—and don't—mind the dime, for it was—and is—worth the difference.

Mr. Bianchi secured exclusive rights for Kinemacolor pictures, dramas in natural colors. They are part of six reels daily that the Empire offered the public at the beginning.

MR. BIANCHI'S daily program is carefully selected with a view to pleasing everybody. There are travel pictures, scenery and educational films, Western dramas and thrillers for the small boy admirer of melodrama and his equally impressionistic brother of adult age; there are pictures with a moral; pictures that are spectacles for the artistic eye.

Feature films of unusual pretentions —those that formerly were seen in Mobile only at the big theatres at an increased price—were given special attention. He realized their advertising value in giving his theatre the stamp of the distinguished, the individual, the different theatre. Pictures like these, of undeniable artistic superiority, Mr. Bianchi regarded as the best means of reaching that class of theatre-goers who still stick exclusively to the legitimate stage for their entertainment.

"Once attract these to my theatre," Mr. Bianchi reasoned, "and I have made regular patrons of them."

The feature films were good bait, so to speak. Mr. Bianchi did not pretend to overlook the important fact that the nickels of the masses furnish the foundation for success in the motion picture business, but he also realized that too strong a play to this element would not work to the advantage of a high-class theatre like the Empire.

It cannot but make a lasting first impression on the visitor to the Empire, when, on producing his money at the cashier's window and telling "How many," the tickets are shot between his fingers with a business-like click from a patent ticket-vending machine.

The management was careful to select the most desirable attractions.

"IT doesn't take much experiment to learn what kind of pictures your public wants," said Mr. Bianchi, in discussing this subject for The Motion Picture News. A little observation will tell you whether or not a certain style of comedy really provokes laughter, or whether the audience sits through it glum and unappreciative. I watch my public, and try to keep my hand on its amusement pulse."

Mr. Bianchi succeeded in obtaining for his theatre a distinctive line of pictures which soon built up a big clientele.

In other houses, it had been the practice to offer two reels without orchestral music, illustrated songs or vaudeville, the merit of the pictures relied on to draw the crowds. Presently an advertisement appeared in the newspapers to the effect that a certain house, at that time the largest and most pretentious in the city, would begin showing three reels of film for five cents.

Not long after that, another theatre tried to go the field one better by engaging an orchestra of competent musicians, an improvement upon the doleful and monotonous electric piano. These changes elsewhere were due to Mr. Bianchi, whose progressive methods compelled competitors to wake up.

ARTHUR JAMES IN CHARGE OF MUTUAL PUBLICITY

Arthur James, formerly widely known under the nom de plume of "Beau Broadway," in the "Morning Telegraph," who was engaged by President Aitken, of the Mutual Film Corporation, a few weeks ago to carry out some special plans which Mr. Aitken had in contemplation in connection with the Mutual scenario department, has taken charge of the departments formerly managed by Philip Mindil, who resigned about a fortnight ago.

Mr. James's new duties include editorial direction of "Reel Life" and "Our Mutual Girl Weekly." In addition to this, he will continue to plan and edit the scenarios of "Our Mutual Girl" series, four of which have already come from his pen.

Mr. James recently returned from Canada, where he spent some time with Irvin Cobb, the well-known humorist, plotting out a number of "Our Mutual Girl" scripts, which will shortly be shown on the screen.

MOTHER OF EARL METCALFE DIES

Mrs. Cora B. Metcalfe, mother of Earl Metcalfe, of the Lubin Stock Company, died on June 21 following an operation at the Bethesda Hospital in Cincinnati. The deceased was fifty-six years of age. The funeral took place in Newport, Kentucky. Earl Metcalfe has the sympathy of the entire Lubin studio.

PEARL WHITE ON VISIT

Pearl White, star of the "Perils of Pauline," is spending July with her mother at Gulfport, Miss.

The Maxine Opens in Buffalo

Ladies' Orchestra a Feature of New Theatre in South Park Section—Ten-Cent Standard in Force.

Special to THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS.

Buffalo, N. Y., July 9.

BUFFALO'S South Park district has a new and beautiful motion picture theatre, the Maxine, which opened to a capacity and highly pleased audience on Monday evening, June 29.

THE MAXINE, NEWEST OF BUFFALO'S PICTURE THEATRES, IN THE SOUTH PARK DISTRICT

The Maxine is situated at Seneca and Cazenovia and is equipped with all modern improvements in the motion picture world, such as Simplex machines and Gold Fibre screens. It has a new forced air ventilation system, which completely changes the air in the theatre every three minutes.

It has the latest indirect lighting system effects, is absolutely fireproof and has a seating capacity of 800. One of the unique features is a ladies' orchestra, under the direction of Miss Belle Campbell. The members of this orchestra are noted throughout the city, for all winter they have been rendering exceptional programs at Statler's restaurant in Ellicott square.

Architecturally, the theatre is one of the most beautiful in Buffalo, and is an ornament to the South Park section. The best in the photoplay world is to be the theatre's policy at all times.

"A Million Bid" and "Classmates" were among the attractions of opening week. The Maxine is a ten-cent house with a large territory to draw upon, having only the Cazenovia, a five-cent theatre, as a competitor. Large crowds have been the rule all week, and the management has received many compliments upon the beautiful theatre.

C. B. TAYLOR.

Spokane Theatre Wins Strike Libel Suit

Judge Fines Advertising Company for Posters Denouncing Work of Non-Union Operators—Verdict of $300 Granted

Special to THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS.

Spokane, Wash., June 30.

BUSINESS houses which aid striking picture operators in spreading libelous reports about a theatre are liable for damages sustained by the theatre, according to a decision handed down by Judge J. Stanley Webster in the Superior Court here.

The ruling is the culmination of a series of lawsuits brought by the Cyclohomo Amusement Company, following a strike of picture operators at the Majestic and Lyric theatres. It carries with it a judgment of $300 damages against the Hayward-Larkin outdoor advertising company and of $11 against the print shop owned by Frank B. Gregg.

It was shown that the print shop has prepared and the advertising company had circulated, at the solicitation of the strikers, libelous posters, declaring the theatres to be unsafe because the picture machines were in the hands of non-union operators. The suits originally were brought for $20,000 each.

ONE MAN AGAINST A CITY

Against These Odds, Diebold Played High-Class Pictures, Good Music, Good Ventilation, Cleanliness, Courteous Employees, Live Advertising and the Best Equipment as His Trump Cards and Won

JANITORS, ushers, musicians, young women who know how to be polite—to many men they are mere menials, hired at random at the lowest possible wages, and hired only when the show can't possibly drag along without them.

To A. J. Diebold they are factors of serious importance, business getters selected with painstaking care.

Diebold believes that a musician or a janitor can bankrupt a motion picture business.

He knows that a young lady who has the talent to apply good manners and a sweet disposition to practical matters can make a motion picture theatre a big success.

He has reasons for his faith in janitors, ushers, musicians and polite women.

They played an important part in helping him beat prejudice against motion pictures in a mid-west city.

They helped him to success with three motion picture theatres and will help him with a fourth.

They helped him to success with a high-class motion picture theatre where high-class productions are exhibited to audiences of people who have high-class tastes and who are willing to pay high-class prices.

The interesting part is that Diebold's high-class theatre is in Cedar Rapids, Iowa, where the people, who pay high prices to see high-class shows, four years ago would have been ashamed to be seen in a motion picture theatre of any kind.

A MAN'S success can be measured accurately by considering the obstacles he has conquered. With common sense applied to janitors, ushers and musicians, Diebold conquered prejudice, educated the public to demand the best in motion pictures, and developed a new theatrical street in Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

A. J. Diebold, then manager of the Jefferson Motion Picture Theatre on Jefferson street, Buffalo, New York, journeyed West in 1909. He had as a partner F. W. Young.

Diebold & Young investigated the situation in Cedar Rapids and found that the two motion picture theatres in Cedar Rapids were considered an evil which ruined the morals of the youth of the city. Preachers preached, editors wrote and reformers agitated against motion pictures in general.

Diebold & Young were not afraid of prejudice. They saw that the motion picture business was in its infancy.

And they decided that the prejudice really was not against motion pictures in general, but against a certain class of pictures being exhibited in a certain class of supposed theatres.

Cedar Rapids looked to them like virgin soil. In spite of the prejudice, Diebold & Young secured backing and expended $15,000 in changing a section of an office building into a theatre which they called The Princess. This theatre was on Second avenue.

All other theatres were in another part of the business district of Cedar Rapids. The wise heads of the city advanced the opinion that The Princess could never succeed, because it was on a street not frequented by amusement seekers.

Diebold & Young nevertheless were cautious. They did not attack the prejudice against motion pictures with a sudden blow. They opened The Princess on February 1, 1910, not as a theatre of motion pictures exclusively, but as a sort of half-way proposition between vaudeville and pictures.

BEFORE The Princess was twelve months old, Diebold & Young, through careful study of their audiences, ascertained that the people took more interest in good pictures than in the vaudeville The Princess could afford to play.

This was a sure sign that the prejudice against pictures was disappearing. Diebold & Young discontinued the vaudeville and turned The Princess into an exclusive motion picture theatre.

Arguments were advanced that motion pictures would not attract enough people to keep up the expenses of a theatre like The Princess, and the old argument about the location was repeated. Diebold & Young, however, allowed the town philosophers to do the talking, and continued sawing wood.

Young took charge of the mechanical department. First class equipment was purchased for this department. The screen was watched for flaws, and every time a flaw was discovered the operating department began studying and experimenting to eliminate the flaw.

Diebold took charge of the front of the house. He hired the best pianist he could find. Diebold worked on the theory that practically every father in Cedar Rapids had a daughter at home and that the daughter played the piano, or that the father had a graphophone in the house.

Therefore every father knew good music.

Diebold believed that rough pounding on a piano was worse than no music at all in a picture theatre. The people paid to be entertained. The purpose of the music was to add to the entertainment, not to annoy.

Diebold hired a janitor, whose duty it was to keep the theatre scrupulously clean. And Diebold searched through the theatre for dust, to make work for the janitor.

"There is nothing so cheerful as cleanliness," said Diebold.

Also Diebold hired two ushers and devoted several weeks to teaching them how to handle patrons quickly and how to avoid disturbing the people who were seated when the picture was on.

The most important task Diebold assigned to himself. He was always in the front of the house, ready with a smile, ready to answer questions and to provide convenience for his patrons.

WITHIN a year there was practically no prejudice against picture theatres in Cedar Rapids.

Diebold had a show which father and mother would come to see, and after seeing, would want the children to see.

her managers took notice, and mprovement of picture theatres

DIEBOLD DICTA

The best equipment is the cheapest in the end.

If the manager is careless, the employees will be careless.

Newspaper advertising pays, but the ordinary "theatre card" means nothing.

I believe in big feature productions.

Nothing disgusts people like poor ventilation, or too much or too little heat.

Rough pounding on a piano is worse than no music at all; music should add to the entertainment—not annoy.

There is nothing so cheerful as cleanliness.

The high-class theatre is the coming picture theatre.

became a veritable craze. Also other theatres were being established rapidly.

Cedar Rapids now has twelve motion picture theatres, and two new theatres will be built next spring.

In the meantime Young sold out and entered another business.

Diebold was marching with the procession of progress.

He realized that to keep up with the procession he must continue improving. He interested a local capitalist, Michael Ford, and Mr. Ford got busy building a new motion picture theatre on Second avenue, across the street from The Princess. The amusement seekers now were crowding Second avenue. The new theatre was named The Palace. It had a capacity of 735 seats. The building alone cost $28,000.

Diebold opened The Palace on June 1, 1912, and began to enlarge on his simple ideas of providing amusement, pleasure and convenience for the public.

He had to enlarge, for The Palace was no ordinary picture show. It was intended for high-class patronage.

The regular admission price was 10 cents, but the price for feature films were 20 and 25 cents. The Palace played five shows daily.

DIEBOLD selected his staff with painstaking care. He was not too economical when he did so. He hired an orchestra of four persons, a janitor, an operator, an assistant operator, two ushers and a young lady who is called the assistant manager.

If you enter The Palace you will meet in the front of the house a young woman who apparently has nothing to do but to enjoy herself. She is the assistant manager, and if you will watch closely you will find that she does work which one would think no one person could do, for the assistant manager knows almost every woman and child who enters the theatre.

The assistant manager is a smart young woman. She has the talent to meet people without wasting too much time with them. Women and children are her specialty, but like a hawk she watches the ushers and keeps them from becoming careless.

No usher carelessly slams the seats while she is around, and she is around all the time.

THE orchestra is another important factor. Diebold hired four of the best musicians in Cedar Rapids. Although they are only four in number, they furnish better music than would eight inferior musicians for the same price.

Diebold's idea is to give his patrons music as good as the best they hear in any vaudeville or drama theatre in the city. And the orchestra leader must keep up with the times on his music and must select his program with care.

Diebold says that the orchestra not only provides entertainment, but adds class to The Palace. He argues that very often a motion picture shows a greater drama than can be played on any stage and that such a picture must be accompanied by good music.

THE janitor is no ordinary janitor with six buildings to care for. He devotes all of his time to The Palace.

He is kept busy keeping the theatre clean, maintaining proper ventilation and the right amount of heat.

"Nothing disgusts people as poor ventilation or the discomfort of too much or not enough heat. People do not come here to be tortured," says Diebold.

Diebold adds his ability to that of his staff. He has a manager at The Princess, but he keeps busy seeing that the employees in both theatres do their work properly.

He works on the theory that if the manager is careless, the employes are careless.

Ask Diebold about the operating room, and he will explain that he can't tell you without taking a week's time to do so. He buys the best equipment to do good work all the time and especially to be ready in a case of emergency.

He says that the best equipment is expensive, but is the cheapest in the end. He has had all kinds of trouble with operators, but he secured good service by demanding expert workmanship.

His theory is that able workmen take pride in their labor and are glad to deliver the best they have.

DIEBOLD, of course, does not neglect his advertising. The entrance to The Palace is an ornament to Second avenue in Cedar Rapids.

As a special advertising feature he uses an electrically illuminated fountain in front of the house.

He makes a study of posters and takes pains to place these so that they will advertise and at the same time ornament the front.

Diebold believes that newspaper advertising pays. Often when he has a feature film he buys a page ad in the local newspapers. In this advertising he was disappointed only once. That was when he had his first big feature and charged 25 cents admission.

The people were not yet educated to paying such a price to see a motion picture. Instead of considering this a failure, Diebold continued to secure features and to advertise them freely.

Now he packs the theatre with a feature, regardless of the price it costs to book it.

The ordinary theatre card in the newspaper has no attraction for Diebold. Advertising The Palace, he believes, means nothing.

The advertisement must announce the picture which will be shown and must announce it in a way which will rouse the interest of the public.

BIG features, Diebold has learned, sometimes have a tendency to injure the steady business. People who have seen a great production sometimes do not care to come back to see an ordinary picture.

But Diebold believes in the big productions. He secures them as often as he can. He changes the program at The Palace four times each week, and he tries to select his program so that the theatre has some high-class picture to offer the public every day.

Nevertheless, Diebold finds that all Americans share the same ideas. All like to see a good story picture and all like to see foreign lands and the great work which is being done in this world.

Some demand better music and more convenience and are willing to pay for it, while some are not so particular and do not discriminate when they can get cheaper entertainment even if all that goes with it is not all that it might be.

To those who want entertainment at a low price Diebold now offers The Princess where the program changes daily and where the admission is only 5 cents.

DIEBOLD, however, believes that a high-class theatre like The Palace is the coming picture theatre. It is the theatre for the mothers and children. Diebold firmly believes that the mother and the "kids" have a great influence over the father when it comes to the selection of an entertainment.

He says, "Every man wants his children to have something better than he had himself. The father might not care so much about convenience for himself, but he wants the children to have it."

Diebold has so much confidence in a theatre like The Palace and Capitalist Ford has so much confidence in the same theatre that both are now building a motion picture house in Waterloo, Iowa, which will cost $35,000. This theatre will be managed strictly according to the Diebold ideas.

LIVE-WIRE EXHIBITORS

EDITOR'S NOTE.—It is the desire of "The Motion Picture News" to include under this heading novel advertising ideas, successful schemes in the management, decoration and equipment of the theatre—everything, in fact, done by the exhibitor to stimulate his trade. We invite every exhibitor to write us about any new enterprise he has; also to come to us for advice or information along any line. Address: Editor, "The Motion Picture News," 220 West Forty-second Street, New York City.

THEATRE INSTALLS COOLING PLANT

JOHN W. CORNELIUS, manager of the Lyric, an all-picture house, at 114 North Sixth street, St. Louis, has equipped his theatre with a Stepco air-cooling system. The machine will deliver cooled and washed fresh air to the theatre at the rate of twenty thousand cubic feet per minute. A seven-foot exhaust fan drives out the foul air from the building.

GARB USHERS IN WHITE

MANAGER A. N. Wolff, of the Colonial Theatre, in Rochester, N. Y., has uniformed his ushers in white duck suits for the warm weather. It is proving a pleasing change, as the uniforms make the wearers and the theatre look cool and comfortable, no mater how warm it is outside. Many favorable comments have been heard on the innovation.

A COUPON PROPOSITION

IN order to stimulate business under the management of the owners, after several unsuccessful attempts had been made to operate the playhouse on a paying basis, Harry Haveson and Michael Gilinsky inaugurated a system of distributing coupons good for admission to the Broad Street Theatre, Trenton, N. J., simultaneously with changing the policy of the house from burlesque to motion pictures.

The Broad Street Theatre, situated at South Broad and Livingston streets, is just outside of the shopping district proper of the city and it has practically never been a paying enterprise; it has had many managers and lessees.

A few days ago, following a newspaper campaign against the respectability of the shows given, the place was closed by the police and later abandoned by the lessee. The owners then decided that instead of leaving it vacant they would convert it into a motion picture house.

The theatre is a handsome place of amusement, with one of the largest seating capacities of any of the houses in Trenton. It was built only a few years ago at a cost of $100,000.

HE BOOSTS BUSINESS BY 'PHONE, TOO

THE novel idea and the unusual method in the presentation of motion pictures has become one of the strongest factors in the business of popularizing the motion picture theatre.

In the management of two of the most popular motion picture houses in Springfield, O., the Princess and the Majestic, Philip Chakeres has built up a large and exclusive patronage by utilizing such ideas.

Recently he visited Cincinnati and after an introduction to several leading exhibitors by Manager "Gus" Mueller, of the Warner Feature Film Company, he entertained his auditors with a detailed explanation of the workings of some of his best ideas. His tips were responsible for bringing into play several managerial note-books and pencils.

Every employee of his theatres, from the film operator to the usher, is interested and has his eyes open for the creation of novel ideas. It means money to them, for cash prizes are given for every idea that is adopted.

One of the cleverest of Mr. Chakeres' new moves is one of his first, which, he says, was successful from the start and was responsible for an almost incalculable increase in the business of his houses.

As the patron enters Mr. Crakeres' theatres, he is ushered to a row of writing desks and asked to register on a small card his name and the name of the "movie" player who is his favorite actor or actress.

He is also asked to leave his telephone number with the promise that whenever the player appears at the theatre, the patron will be called up and informed of the chance to see the new film.

This idea was taken up so quickly and eagerly by the patrons and followed out so faithfully by the management that it is one of the many distinctive features of the Chakeres houses.

By reason of this scheme, Mr. Chakeres has been enabled to secure invaluable information regarding the class of pictures demanded by his audiences. It has proved of mutual benefit to the citizens of Springfield and the motion picture theatres.

Following this plan Mr. Chakeres evolved his program scheme, which consists of printing, a week in advance, the schedules of films which will be shown at his theatres.

The programs are elaborate affairs, printed on good paper, and profusely illustrated. They contain, besides these schedules of his releases, brief but complete synopses of the stories of the pictures which are being shown at each performance.

KEEPING 'EM INTERESTED

"KEEP the public interested," is one of the mottoes of B. A. Holway, live-wire manager of Proctor's Broad Street Theatre, Elizabeth, N. J. In keeping with this policy Mr. Holway has inaugurated a series of souvenir days at his theatre.

When he was advertising the coming of "A Million Bid," several thousand postcards bearing the portrait of Anita Stewart, who played the lead in the picture, were given out. More recently, cards with the picture of Mary Pickford were distributed to patrons of the Broad street house advertising the booking of "A Good Little Devil." As Miss Pickford is a popular favorite with "movie" fans here, the giving out of the postcards drew big houses at the souvenir performances.

CHORAL CLUB TO AID FEATURE

THE Grand-Leader Department Store employes, St. Louis, have organized a Choral Club of seventy-five members, that have been making considerable reputation for themselves in and about St. Louis. Wm. Sievers, manager of the new Grand Central Theatre, Grand and Lucas avenues, saw possibilities in the club as a novel attraction for his theatre, and he booked the entire aggregation in conjunction with the feature film, "The Port of Missing Men." The audiences were big and highly appreciative.

PUTTING THE ICE-BOX TO GOOD USE

H. M. NEWSOME has installed in his Trianon Theatre, Birmingham, Ala., a big 24-inch blow fan rigged up with an ice-box, the cold air entering the theatre from behind the stage through an opening about ten feet from the floor and to the side of the big pipe organ.

Mr. Newsome states that the atmosphere of the room has been appreciably cooler and that he notices a better attendance since he started the new arrangement just a day or two ago. He has arranged a large box of ice behind the stage and has so fixed it that the air blown into the theatre by the big electric blow-fan must pass through this box of ice before it gets to the fan. The air itself is drawn in from the alley in the rear of the theatre. A. Alex Wall, T. S. Abernathy and other local exhibitors have been trying similar schemes and they state they are satisfactory in every way.

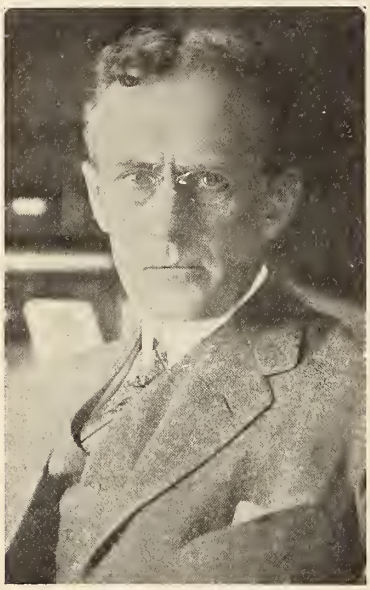
ANOTHER BABY SHOW STARTS

THE management of the Pastime motion picture theatre at Pickens, a small town in the mountainous district of South Carolina, originates an unique idea for boosting the patronage of his place and one that is calculated to appeal to the public generally, and proud mothers in particular.

He plans to have made, free of charge, pictures of all the babies in the town, which will be thrown on the screen at his theatre at an appointed time. Members of the audience will be requested to cast votes for the baby which, in their opinion, is the best, from the standpoint of healthfulness, prettiness and "cuteness."

The baby receiving the highest number of votes will receive from the management of the theatre an appropriate prize of substantial value.

POLITENESS HIS POLICY



"COURTESY, I have found, is one of the greatest factors in building up the business of a moving picture house," said L. J. Locke, proprietor and manager of the Unique, El Paso, Tex. "I discovered that fact early in the game and so whenever I happened to be taking tickets at the door I would always say, 'Thank you,' to the patron handing me the ticket. That might be considered a small thing but it is a thing that will certainly net you results.

"Politeness is a requisite I demand of the employees of my house. I always insist that the ticket seller say, 'Thank you,' to every person who purchases a ticket, and I see that the man at the door repeats it when he takes the ticket."

U. S. Films the Backbone of British Market

Horace G. Plimpton, Edison Head, Returning from Europe, Finds They Still Hold Their Own Against Long Exclusives

A BUDGET of pertinent and valuable sidelights on the European motion picture market, with particular reference to London, form by no means the least interesting result of Horace G. Plimpton's sojourn abroad, from which the manager of the Edison studios has recently returned.

HORACE G. PLIMPTON

Mr. Plimpton's qualifications to speak on this subject are so well known that no further introduction to his remarks is necessary.

"A hurried visit to London reveals two striking points of difference or development from the condition of a year ago," said Mr. Plimpton.

"The first is the great increase in production, both local and from abroad. England, after several years of comparative inactivity in film production, has now several established studios with adequate producing facilities, and the output of these studios forms a considerable part of the photoplays on the market. Many of these pictures are first class in every respect, well photographed, competently directed and well acted.

"It may be remarked in passing that the stock company, as we know it, does not seem to be such an established feature but use is made more frequently—and without attracting especial attention — of actors from the regular stage. This, as I understand it, is due to the fact that the stage engagements are apt to be short.

In addition to the increased British production, there is an avalanche of films from new concerns abroad. Nearly every day brings forth news of some new company and its output —usually a long film or an "exclusive," to use the English term—is widely heralded as the finest yet put on the market.

"Naturally, with such a condition, the sale of subjects from the older American concerns is bound to suffer a shrinkage, but nevertheless it is my judgment that such subjects still form the backbone of picture exhibition and a visit to the London theatres reveals, in the great majority, trade-marks with which we have long been familiar.

"THE second point is the revulsion of feeling against the long film. From all quarters of the trade come protests against subjects of over three reels, and even a three-reel must be much above the average in merit to command a good sale. This change in attitude has come so suddenly as to be almost startling. There is an economic reason for it, on account of the high prices such as films have brought, but, in my judgment, the real reason lies deeper yet and exists in public opinion.

"Unless of quite exceptional interest, the average person does not care to sit through a picture lasting an hour or over, and thus the best picture houses are coming back to the varied program. Long subjects will still have their place, but they must justify themselves before a discriminating trade and public.

"Practically all films in England are seen before being purchased or rented, the intermediary between the producer and the theatre being the "renter," corresponding to our exchange. There are a great many of these renters, but the tendency is towards the elimination of the small concerns and the passing of the control of the business to a few strong hands.

"In France, there is not quite so decided a reaction in respect to the long subject, but even there the tendency is noticeable. A limited number of American subjects may be seen at the theatres in Paris but, both because of trade conditions and the wide difference in the Latin taste from the British and our own, it is not to be expected that they can be marketed in large quantities.

"It was gratifying to note the interest shown in the Edison output and to see the increasing popularity of our stock company. The names of many of our people are household words in England as they are in America.

The Exhibitors' Forum

THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS assumes no responsibility for any opinion or assertion made in the columns below, nor does the publication of a letter mean that the statements it contains are endorsed by the NEWS. All letters must be signed. No attention will be paid to anonymous communications.

Neff and the National Board

EDITOR'S NOTE.—The following correspondence between Orrin G. Cocks and M. A. Neff, president of the Exhibitors League of America, is self-explanatory. Mr. Neff's letter is vague, but definite at least in one respect, that the negative quality decides the National Board of Censorship not to send a representative to Dayton.

It seems incomprehensible that the president of an exhibitors' organization which, almost to a man, favors the work of the National Board of Censorship should take it upon himself to prevent the appearance at Dayton of a National Board representative. What are your reasons, Mr. Neff?

The editor of THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS, upon learning of the above incident, requested for publication the following correspondence.

THE NATIONAL BOARD OF CENSORSHIP
Of Motion Pictures
70 Fifth Avenue
New York City, N. Y.

Editor, THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS,
New York City.

Dear Sir:—Agreeable to your request. I forward to you herewith my letter to Mr. Neff relative to representation of the National Board at Dayton and his answer. It would appear that he has no great yearning for a representative on the field throughout this period of the Convention.

Although we are desirous in all legitimate ways to adequately and impartially handle the criticism of pictures and to oppose legal censorship, we do not see how we can force ourselves with dignity on the Convention in view of Mr. Neff's answer.

Faithfully yours,
ORRIN G. COCKS,
Advisory Secretary.

(Copy)
June 16, 1914.

Mr. M. A. Neff, President,
Motion Picture Exhibitors League of America,
Cincinnati, Ohio.

My Dear Mr. Neff:—I noticed in one of the motion-picture magazines some weeks ago that you expressed yourself as desirous of having the National Board of Censorship represented at the coming Dayton Convention.

I think you understand the work, policy and position of the National Board well enough to understand that we take absolutely neutral position in trade industry and bring to it the point of view of the public. Our main desire is to preserve this powerful instrument of education, pleasure and relaxation for the highest welfare of the whole public.

We would be interested to appear before the great convention of exhibitors and present the point of view and the workings of the National Board. Since the convention convenes in July, when vacations cause the Board to be shorthanded, we would appreciate it if we had some expression of the desires of your executive committee at an early date.

Respectfully yours,

(Copy)
The Motion Picture Exhibitors League of America
Cincinnati, Ohio,
June 26, 1914.

Mr. Orrin G. Cocks,
Advisory Secretary,
New York, N. Y.

Dear Sir:—Owing to my absence from the city, hence the delay in answering your communication.

It would be almost impossible at this late date to secure an expression of the desires of our executive committee in regard to your Board sending a representative to discuss the convention, the same as I did at New York a year ago, that a special meeting and time be specified that we may all have the opportunity of discussing the question of censoring pictures, and I am in hopes that the convention will grant the request that we may hear your representative and others at a meeting called for that special purpose some morning or afternoon during our convention at Dayton.

I would appreciate it very highly if you would kindly send me a report of your Board during the years of 1912 and 1913, the same as you issued in 1911.

Respectfully yours,
M. A. NEFF, President.

A Word to Producers

Editor, THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS.
New York City.

Dear Sir: A subject causing general discussion among a representative group of old exhibitors from all sections of the country, during the recent convention at the Grand Central Palace, while not discussed on the convention floor, is so important that it easily ranks with some of the subjects discussed.

Showmen of all degrees agree as to the value of a prominent actor or actress starring in film, and it is a well-known fact that the mere announcement of such stars appearing has caused a run on the box-office.

While personal effort must be considered, yet without the assistance of the motion picture exhibitor such stars would remain in total obscurity if it were not that through the medium of banners, posters, heralds, slides and other advertising devices, the exhibitor in featuring the name of the star gradually forces this name into the minds of the film public and creates a demand for the appearance of this person on the screen.

Having become popular, the manufacturers all seem to have the happy faculty of placing these stars in five, six or more reel productions, thereby eliminating the small exhibitor, who cannot run these large multiple subjects because of insufficient seating capacity.

Without these leading players as drawing attractions, the box office naturally suffers, and Mr. Exhibitor finds himself in the position of assisting in creating stars, so that his competitor of 2,000 seats can feature them in five or six-reelers, to the detriment of the small man's business.

While nobody questions the right of the manufacturers to conduct their business in accordance with their own ideas, the very least they can do is to keep the stars in the casts of productions that will be within reach of all exhibitors, and in that way show their gratitude to the exhibitor for his share of the work in making players popular.

Very truly yours,
AN EXHIBITOR.

Seven Comedies a Week Is Horsley's Program

They Will Be "Singles," Many of Them Based Upon the Popular Serial Cartoons of the Day, with Now and Then a Feature—Releases Will Be Made Through Twenty-nine Offices in America and Europe

DAVID HORSLEY'S announcement that he will produce seven one reel comedies each week and distribute them through twenty-nine especially organized offices covering the United States, Canada, Europe and South America, marks one of the important developments in the world of motion pictures during the current year.

Mr. Horsley has long been noted for the skill with which he foresees the future turn of conditions in the film industry. His actions are therefore closely watched by all whose interests are tied up in motion pictures much as the barometer is studied by men who follow the sea for a living.

"I have been working on this plan for the last six months," said Mr. Horsley, when interviewed recently at his big glass and concrete palace in Bayonne, N. J.

"The big feature, as a steady diet, was bound to go. Even if the grand army of 'regular' five and ten-cent exhibitors had been able to stand the expense, the falling off of public patronage would have forced the long film out.

"The fundamental reason for the sweeping success of the motion picture show was the cheapness of admission and the variety and constant change of program, which appealed to the people who 'just drop in' now and then, and, above all, to the children. Childhood must be served. The little ones, in nine cases out of ten, bring the big ones, who finally become 'fans' The showman who fails to reckon with the kiddies is overlooking his one best bet.

"OF course, there will always be a demand for a limited number of good features by the larger houses and their own particular class of patrons of such high standard that high quality of product is absolutely necessary to hold their interest. But these houses are few compared with the thousands of smaller houses which are, and ever have been, the back-bone of the industry.

"The very good—the unusual—feature will always find a profitable market with this class, and with these principles in mind I shall release from time to time a multiple which I hope will live up to that much hackneyed and high-sounding phrase, 'A Film Masterpiece.'

"With the one-reel comedy plan, I am building for the future as well as the present. Comedies have always been in great demand, but the supply has never been adequate because so few of the manufacturers have solved the problem of production. One of the greatest manufacturers in the licensed fold recently declared to me that he had always been afraid of comedies.

DAVID HORSLEY

"'I would rather spend $25,000 on a big feature than $2,500 on a little comedy—the risk with me is not so great,' he said.

"There are several reasons for this condition. In the first place, manufacturers do not study their source of supply. Few writers, however excellent they may be in other lines of authorship, are able to write comedies. Those who are, have, as a rule, amply demonstrated their ability through the medium of the stage or the press. Such authors cannot be tempted into the scenario field with the paltry sum that is usually considered sufficient to pay for a 'single.'

"And when the producer does get a likely comedy script, he turns it over to one of his versatile directors, who is supposed to be 'good on comedies, too,' and to actors who have had no particular training for this seemingly easy, but actually most difficult, line of acting. The result is a dull, often amateurish, picture, and not infrequently the author is blamed for the failure.

"MY new plans are already completed and the work of production and office organization is well under way, and the first releases will be made in the early fall.

"I have many original comedies, secured from especially engaged writers, but the basis of my plan is the famous comic series which have been running in the great daily newspapers. These comics, such, for instance, as 'Babbling Bess,' are in high popular favor in every nook and corner of the land. The demand is already established. I have placed under contract the pick of the newspaper humorists and comic artists—as many as I can possibly use for the seven comedies a week.

"The head of my scenario department will be one of the ablest and best known humorists and scenario writers in America, whose name, when it is finally made public, will cause considerable comment and astonishment. I have also under contract several directors who are 'specialists.' The actors are being picked from the ranks of the trained 'screen' comedians, and from a certain class of theatrical entertainers whose line of work fits them peculiarly for broad, yet artistic, motion picture comedies.

"The distribution of these comedies will be made through twenty-six offices in the principal cities of the United States and Canada, and three in Europe. I am also going after the South American trade in a serious manner and on a scale of magnitude which has never before been attempted.

"I am after the best of the big exchange managers and have a scheme of operation which will make their work more than usually profitable. All of the work of production will be made in the Centaur Film Company studios in Bayonne, N. J., which, I believe, is destined to become the most important plant in America."

$100,000 HOUSE FOR QUAKER CITY

Philadelphia July 8.

Plans have been filed with the chief of the Bureau of Building Inspection for the Hamilton Theatre, to be erected on the southwest corner of Thirty-eighth and Chestnut streets by Solomon Greenberg for the Hamilton Theatre Company.

Everything in connection with the theatre will be of the most modern type, thoroughly ventilated and fireproof, with high ceilings and numerous exits. The theatre will contain the finest organ of its kind and have a seating capacity of more than 1,500. This building will be built on a lot 60 by 160 feet, the front will be of terra cotta, brick and copper.

Work will be commenced immediately. The estimated cost of the theatre will be about $100,000. It will be opened on Saturday, October 3.

INVENTIONS
Trade Marks Patents

Conducted By
M. H. SCHOENBAUM

All inquiries pertaining to this department will be answered by Mr. Schoenbaum, either directly or through the columns of THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS.—Editor.
Address "Patent Editor," THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS, New York City.

Latest
PATENT AND TRADE-MARK News

Patents and Trade-Marks Registered or Allowed Recently:

United States Patents

1,100,836. Automatic Fire Extinguisher. Georges W. Lorimer.

1,100,892. Picture-Exhibiting Machine. E. Kuhn and A. H. Fitzpatrick.

1,101,148. Apparatus for the Productions of Electrical Vibrations. Josef Schiessler.

1,101,172. Light Projecting Device. Léon Frassier.

1,101,414. Spot-Light Attachment. Harry C. Daley and Albert A. Taynor.

1,101,429. Automatic Annunciator. Jacob H. Genter.

1,101,452. Automatic Ticket-Registering System. Alexander Kiparski.

1,101,453. Apparatus for Automatically Totalizing Tickets. A. Kiparski.

United States: Trade Marks

70,750. "Pathéscope" Cinematographic Machines, Films, etc. Pathé Frères, Paris.

76,003. A drawing representing the sun illuminating a point of the globe through a pair of condensers, said trademark intends to cover condensers for cinematography. Kleine Optical Company, Chicago.

77,019. "The Film Book" Monthly Magazines. Cloud Publishing Company, Chicago.

77,972. "Broncho Billy" Moving Picture Films. Essanay Film Manufacturing Company.

Great Britain: Patents

4601. Films. B. Borzykowski.

4603. Kinematograph Spools. J. G. Mosenthal.

4699. Arc Lamps. R. C. Douglas.

4733. Focusing-Scales for Telephoto Lenses. A. E. Wheeler.

4925. Optical Projection Apparatus. P. A. Jurschewitz and others.

4957. Advertising, Kinematographs, etc. M. Heinig.

4966. Cellulose Solutions and Products. E. Berl.

5199. Arc Lamps. A. Schmidt.

Canada: Patents

154,077. Moving Picture Machines. A. Sinding-Larsen and John L'abee Lund.

154,218. Fire Extinguisher. Paul Brandon Barringer.

154,232. Screen for Moving Pictures. Harry William Charlton.

154,253. Light Reflector. The Boylite Concentrator, Incorporated.

154,281. Stereoscope. Alfred George Stumpf.

154,317. Fire Protection Cinematograph Machine. Ellis W. Fox.

154,596. Portable Picture Gallery. F. D. Sears and Axel O. Sodergren.

154,711. Moving Picture Apparatus. W. F. Fox, The Kinemacolor Company of America and W. H. Hickey.

154,712. Photographic Process. W. F. Fox and others.

154,713. Kinematographic Apparatus. W. F. Fox and others.

Australia: Patents

7901. Cellulose Substitute. W. A. Beatty.

10,440. Arc Lamps. C. P. Steinmetz.

Trade Notes

The Motion Picture Apparatus Company will shortly put on the market an automatic light regulator which will certainly be of great help to those who print positives from negatives.

We shall give further details about the construction of the apparatus as soon as the patent conditions will permit.

Kinemacolor Patent Held Void

Our readers remember our opinion on the Kinemacolor suit in the issue of THE NEWS of February 28, it is now confirmed that we were right.

The British Court of Appeals finally revoked G. A. Smith's patent and held that if, upon the true construction of the specification, the patentee stated that any red and any green screens might be used, the patent was invalid because there were many reds and greens that would fail, or if he stated that any red and green that would answer the purpose might be used, the patent was invalid for insufficiency; that he stated that, by means of the patented process, blue, or approximately blue, could be reproduced; that that color could not be reproduced; and that the patent was therefore invalid.

The patent was ordered to be revoked, but it was directed that the order should not be lodged at the Patent Office if the respondents appealed within four weeks. A subsequent application by the petitioners to vary the order was dismissed with costs.

Film History

Coming back on the recent decision of the United States Supreme Court in the case of the Goodwin Patent, the British "Cinematograph Exhibitors Mail" cites extracts of a well known book which read as follows:

"Celluloid as an article of manufacture was invented by the brothers Hyatt in 1869, but at that time it was designed merely for the production of solid objects. It was not until about the beginning of 1888 that sheets were available for photographic purposes, and even then much remained to be accomplished in order that a sensitive emulsion might be supported evenly and without deterioration.

"The Blair Company seem to have first supplied films, and it was from them that both Edison and Acres in the first instance obtained their supplies. The Eastman Company quickly followed suit, and Messrs. Lumière, being manufacturers, made their own from the first—a fact which is probably the origin of present lamentable want of uniformity in gauge.

"Strangely enough, after the lapse of nearly twelve years, during which rollable films of various makes have been on the market, an American patent was granted to the Rev. Hannibal Goodwin on September 13, 1898 (No. 610,861), the documents of which had lain under dispute since the date of their filing on May 2, 1887.

"It may be that this patent will not have so much effect as the inventor assumes, and some American journals claim, etc. . . . ."

To the above we may add that since 1880 flexible films were currently spoken of in a great number of patents dealing with photographic subjects.

In a patent of 1881 describing a method of making flexible photographic films, the first claim reads as follows:

1. The production and use of a translucent flexible film as a final base of photographic sheets, whether said film is made wth gelatine or any other insoluble material, or rendered insoluble in water by any suitable body, for instance, alum or tanin, etc.

The inventor of the above no doubt knew that celluloid could be employed, but preferred gelatine.

In 1885 another process was patented for the application of celluloid to photography as a base or support.

I leave it to the future historians of the films to draw conclusions.

SWAN WRITES EDISON BOOKLET

Though Mark Swan is one of Edison's best-known scenario writers, one of his most recent performances for them was not a script at all. It is an illustrated booklet, reviewing the personnel of the Bedford Park organization, from Horace G. Plimpton to the youngest actor, the whole from Mr. Swan's pen.

"The Story of the Edison Studio," with its chapters headed "The Studio," "The Achievements," "Light," "Photography," "The Guiding Hand," "Edison Directors" and "Edison Players," forms a handy guide to the big plant.

TWO CALIFORNIA OPENINGS

Special to The Motion Picture News

Los Angeles, July 7.

James Tally, on July 1, opened a new theatre, the Palace, at 642 South Broadway, in the heart of Los Angeles retail district. Four reels will be shown for five cents, but as yet the service has not been selected. This is the third Tally theatre in Los Angeles, the Broadway, owned by T. L Tally, and the College by Ed Tally, uncles of James, being the others.

George Kearns has just opened another picture theatre, the Casino, with a seating capacity of 600, at San Diego, Cal., making the third to come under his management. The new house is located at Fourth and C streets, and he will use Warner features at this theatre as well as at the Jewel and Princess. Mr. Kearns is enjoying an excellent business at all of the houses.

New Rules Will Govern Film Shipments

Only Two Methods of Packing Will Be Permitted After October 1—Fibreboard Containers Are No Longer Permissible—Violations Reported

COLONEL B. W. DUNN, Chief Inspector of the Bureau of Explosives, with offices at 30 Vesey Street, New York City, has sent out the following notice concerning the regulations prescribed by the Interstate Commerce Commission, governing the shipment of motion picture films by express:

"Effective October 1, 1914, the express regulations prescribed by the Interstate Commerce Commission will provide that shipments of moving picture films can only be made when packed in either of the following ways:

"In tightly closed metal cases enclosed in a strong, spark-proof wooden box; or

"In spark-proof cases made of sheet iron not less than 0.02 inch thick (No. 25 U. S. Standard gauge) and lined throughout with fibreboard at least one-eighth inch thick, or some other equivalent insulating material. The covers of these cases must fit tightly and must lap over the body at least five-eighths inch on the sides, forming a tight joint.

"It will be noted that the use of fibreboard containers will no longer be permissible and it is therefore recommended that shippers take immediate steps to provide themselves with suitable packages before the effective date of the revised regulations. Under the law, express companies will be obliged to refuse to accept any package not fully meeting the requirements.

"In addition to the required packing, the regulations also provide that each package must be marked to show the proper name of its contents, and must bear the standard yellow caution label (sample enclosed). These labels must conform to the standard as to printing, size and color, and the shipper's name must be either written, stamped, or printed thereon in the space provided. Shippers who do not desire to have their own labels printed can secure supplies from the Bureau of Explosives, No. 30 Vesey street, New York, at the following prices, which include transportation charges, except as indicated (*):

100	$ .50
500	.83
1,000	1.14
2,000	2.28
5,000	3.75*
10,000	6.50*

"If it is desired to have the shipper's name printed in the space provided on the labels, an additional charge of $.75 per order will be made for this work. Remittances should accompany all orders.

* Will be shipped collect.

"Reports from the Inspectors of the Bureau show violations of the regulations on the part of customers of distributing companies in making a return or re-shipment of moving picture films. The packages go to the customers from distributing companies, generally, with the proper label, bearing the shipper's certificate and the written, printed or stamped name of the distributing company. When these packages are returned or shipped to some other point, a new shipment is made, and paragraphs 60 and 62 of the regulations provide that a proper label, bearing the shipper's name underneath the certificate, shall be used.

"It has been the practice of many customers to offer these shipments without providing new labels and a suggestion has been received that if the distributing companies would furnish their customers with labels with the space shown for shipper's name left blank, these blank labels could be used by the customer in making his shipments. All that would be necessary for him to do would be to either stamp or write his name in the space provided and affix the label to the outside package. All old labels, including all old addresses, should be removed before new labels and new addresses are affixed.

"The Bureau's reports also show other violations of the Federal Law. It has been reported that a number of firms have been shipping liquid cement in small quantities in packages containing films. This cement is understood to be an inflammable liquid and under the Interstate Commerce Commission Regulations must be protected by the standard red caution certificate-label.

"To avoid complications and questions it is recommended that when necessary to ship cement it is packed and shipped separately.

Very respectfully,

B. W. Dunn,
Chief Inspector."

ROTARY CLUB POSES FOR FILM

Four hundred members of the Rotary Club of Los Angeles gathered at the Universal studio at Hollywood recently, and took part in a picture representing one of their own business meetings. The interior of a local café, where the meetings are always held, was duplicated on the mammoth Universal stage and every detail of a regular Rotary meeting was given.

This film will be used at the next annual convention of Rotarians of America at Houston, Tex.

The Picture Screen

THE screen is the subject, Mr. Exhibitor and Reader, that you have studied and which you have long been experimenting. You have reached your own conclusions and they are not satisfactory to you; and as you are the one to be satisfied as far as your place is concerned, we will not endeavor to influence you away from your conclusions. We invite you to write us, with the privilege of publication, your past experience and your ideas on this subject.

The writer has found most varied opinions on the question of what material a screen shall be made of, and the most striking feature is that some of the most successful exhibitors steadfastly refuse to entertain any but the old-time home-made product.

Many good picture houses project their picture on a white plaster wall. If the workmanship is exceptionally good and if plenty of plaster-of-paris is used, the surface will be hard and will show a good picture. Keene's cement with marble dust would make a slightly better surface and would be harder. The material has a slightly cream tone in contrast to the harsh effect of the white plaster.

Such a screen should only be built on a solid wall, for if built upon either wood or metal lath, or placed upon plasterboard of any of the various makes, seasoning cracks would soon appear, which obviously would be very objectionable.

IF the screen is built upon a solid wall, there must be an air space in the wall to prevent either dampness from without causing a discoloration of the surface, or a condensation of moisture on the surface due to the warm, moist interior air striking it.

The plaster screen is most often attempted in inexpensive show houses, where the owner and country builder most generally take charge of the construction: and they are generally unmindful of the aforesaid requirements.

The ordinary canvas sheet hung between top and bottom rods is one of the old methods still employed, and some imitate the better screen by stretching the canvas in a frame. A most inexcusable mistake in building the canvas screen is allowing the seam to run horizontally instead of vertically.

In the former method each seam shows in all the pictures and becomes very annoying. It shows a line like a wire and makes one feel that in animated pictures every one must jump over the wire to get past it.

The vertical seams are hardly noticeable, for the pictures are run in the same direction. In placing a canvas screen in a house having no stage, care shall be taken that it shall not be placed against an exterior wall. An air space must be left between it and the wall.

BOTH the plaster and canvas screens are poor reflectors and they soil quickly. They have to be painted or treated in one of the many methods periodically, or they lose all effectiveness.

The advantage of the aforesaid screens are their cheapness, and their being readily obtained at short notice by the mechanics at hand in any community and the small financial loss if by any cause they are destroyed and their quick possible replacement is desired. Their disadvantages seem to be the constant cause of annoyance to resurface them, their comparatively poor reflecting surface, and that they require a higher amperage at the machine.

This waste of electric current is not taken into consideration by most exhibitors. They look at the cost of their electricity as a matter of course, as one of their necessary expenses.

Of the so-called patent screens there are many to be had. They may be divided into two classes, rigid and flexible screens. Of the former class, the principal product is the Mirror screen. It is a highly satisfactory article, and consists of plate glass, with the face having a finely ground surface, and the back covered with mercury like a mirror. This backing is covered with paint and waterproof surface so that water either during transmission or after installation cannot harm the same.

The glass is contained in a substantial frame with wood backing all ready for setting. In the largest sizes they are built in two pieces with the joint in the glass run vertically. The joint is not noticeable in the picture.

FOR reflection, depth of picture, low amperage, and low upkeep, there is not a better screen on the market. It has advantages. The responsibility as to loss by breakage is entirely that of the purchaser. As soon as he examines it on the freight cars and finds it in good condition, he must pay his freight bill and release the railroad for responsibility before he may have it.

If the installation is in a district where plate glass contractors will undertake the handling of the same, part of this objection is removed, for they may be depended upon to land the screen safe where you want it.

If it is placed on the wall, leave an air space in back of it. If it is to be hung from a gridiron over a stage it must be rigid, with three heavy steel cables counterweighted, and operated by a good winding hoist. The writer installed in that manner on a stage the largest size glass screen. It has been giving satisfaction ever since, but was no little concern or responsibility to all interested parties until the lessee took possession of the house. It is the most costly of all screens on the market as to initial expense as well as replacement cost.

Of the flexible patent screens, many are to be had and at different prices. Of these the best are the Radium Gold Fibre screen, the Mirroroid, and the Day and Night screen.

The frame and stretching device for the Radium Gold Fibre screen is solidly constructed of California red wood with a two-inch black border running entirely around the front. By the use of this frame the general appearance of a beveled French mirror is obtained and the surface is kept as perfect as a piece of plate glass at all times and under all conditions.

The ease in handling and installing is of great advantage with a screen of this kind, it being possible to assemble the frame, which comes "knocked down," and stretch the screen perfectly in about one hour.

If at any time through accident the screen is damaged, it is a very simple matter for the manufacturer to put the fibre through their patent process again and return the screen to the owner as good as new.

THE Day and Night is a fabric screen, made of one-piece of canvas, imported from Germany, absolutely without seams, irrespective of size. It is treated with some twenty-two processes. It has a reflective surface, but not so reflective as to affect the clearness of detail or the richness of tonings. It presents a most beautiful appearance when the light is thrown on the screen and when a picture is projected it shows a picture so beautiful, with the detail so clearly brought out and with the tonings so perfectly preserved, that nothing is left to be desired.

The manufacturers claim that this screen requires less amperage than any screen on the market. There have been one or two instances where the users saved eighty per cent in electric consumption, according to the claims of this company.

One thing which has gone far towards giving this screen popularity is its ability to show perfect pictures in airdomes in the daytime.

These screens have many other excellent points, which lack of space makes it impossible to give in detail here.

Climatic conditions, size and shape of house, kind of electric current, intensity of the light in the show house, and many other factors must be kept in mind when making a selection. The flexible screens have the advantage of being light, no chance of damage during transportation, easily and inexpensively repaired, easily kept clean, easily rigged, and quickly installed.

Where a screen is not stationary, it is essential that it shall be so rigged that draughts or other conditions may not cause it to sway or move. Such disturbances will adversely affect the picture.

All screens should be set, if possible, on a slant to avoid the keystone distortion of the picture, where the booth is at a great height above the screen.

The masking of screens is an inexpensive feature which not only greatly improves the picture but gives a setting and a tone to the product. The material most generally employed is black, but any dark color in harmony with the house decorations may be employed.

NATHAN MYERS.

A UNIQUE PHOTOPLAY

Motion picture fans will find in the "Beauty" subject "The Other Train," a veritable gem of the art of cinematography.

The story covers the life of an old lady, from her youth to her journey to the poor house. When she is about to take the train to her last home the trip is interrupted by her quietly passing away into the realms beyond. The picture shows her life in her happier days as a vaudeville actress, her decline in public favor, and concludes with a vision of her passing over the Great Divide, escorted by her minister lover.

BERNARD LOWENTHAL AND GROUP OF PLAYERS IN "NORTHERN LIGHTS," A FORTHCOMING FEATURE OF THE LIFE PHOTO FILM CORPORATION

THE MAKING OF A MAGNATE

George Kleine, who is one of the best-known men in filmdom, knows the business from every angle, having been in the importing end, managed a chain of exchanges, and having been a successful manufacturer. To-day he operates a string of branch offices in ten American cities.

He sold films when the subjects came in fifty-foot lengths with frames four inches wide. That was way back before the organization of the Motion Picture Patent Company and the General Film Company. He bought and sold everything that went into the projection of the pictures, even to the pictures themselves; stereopticon machines, magic lanterns, lenses, etc.

GEORGE KLEINE

In those days Thomas A. Edison, the penny arcade and the Latham Loop were dawning over the horizon.

Mr. Kleine adapted the carbon arc as a means of motion picture illumination, enough glory for one man in a lifetime, but he is not the kind to rest on his laurels. His energetic nature impelled him forward into the various branches of the motion picture art.

He is interested in numerous enterprises like the new Candler, one of New York's best equipped theatres.

He is actively interested in the Photo Drama Producing Company, of Turin, Italy, and many lesser investments of a like nature. From April, 1910, to May, 1913, Mr. Kleine was vice-president of the General Film Company. The first big production of more than four thousand feet in length, and considered by some the most successful picture ever known—"Quo Vadis"—was brought from Italy by him in the early part of 1913.

The
Motion Picture News

MOVING PICTURE NEWS EXHIBITORS' TIMES

Published Every Week by

EXHIBITORS' TIMES, Inc.

220 West 42nd Street, New York City

Telephone Bryant 7650

Chicago Office.....604 Schiller Building
WM. A. JOHNSTON.....President
HENRY F. SEWALL.....Vice-President
E. KENDALL GILLETT.....Secretary
WENTWORTH TUCKER.....Treasurer

WM. A. JOHNSTON.....Editor
MERRITT CRAWFORD.....Managing Editor
LESLEY MASON.....News Editor
E. J. HUDSON.....Circulation Manager
E. KENDALL GILLETT.....Advertising and Business Manager
C. J. VERHALEN.....Chicago Manager

This publication is owned and published by Exhibitors' Times, incorporated under the laws of the State of New York. The offices and principal place of business are at 220 West 42nd Street, New York City. The address of the officers is the office of the publication.

Entered as Second-Class matter at the New York Post-Office.

Subscription $2.00 per year, postpaid in the United States, Mexico, Hawaii, Porto Rico and the Philippine Islands. Canada $3.00, Foreign $4.00 per year.

ADVERTISING RATES on application.

Copy for next issue must reach us by Wednesday 11 a. m.

For Releases see Pages 74. 76. 78, 80

For Buyers Guide See Page 67

Cuts and copy are received subject to the approval of the publishers and advertisements are inserted absolutely without condition expressed or implied as to what appears in the text portion of the paper.

Vol. X July 18. 1914 No. 2

The Retirement of M. A. Neff

IN the manner and the time that he chose for his retirement from the presidency of the Motion Picture Exhibitors League of America, Marion A. Neff has demonstrated that he is what his friends have claimed and his stoutest opponents have never grudged to admit.—a leader.

His relinguishment of power could not have come at a more opportune moment.

* * *

WITHOUT inquiring at this time into the merits of the controversy, the unavoidable fact was that the League. already torn asunder by the secession of a year ago. was on the brink of further disruption.

And whatever may have been the starting-point of the second movement for secession. the equally unavoidable fact was that. by the time the convention at Dayton opened. it had assumed the shape of "Neff must go or we will go!"

* * *

IF Mr. Neff had not taken the opposition seriously before. he took it seriously then. And the realization gave him pause.

Had any issue of less moment than that of the corporate integrity of the League been at stake. there is little doubt that Mr. Neff would have resolved to "fight it out on these lines. if it took all summer."

But where the existence of the League, with whose birth and growth he had been so intimately identified, was in jeopardy. the voice of ambition was silenced by higher considerations.

Whatever secondary influence may have urged him to surrender his commission, it is good to believe that genuine solicitude for the welfare of the exhibitors of the League was the prime factor in Mr. Neff's withdrawal.

* * *

HE has taken those who demanded his deposition at their word.

His act is, in effect, a challenge to them to prove that their assertions are true, and to prove it by reuniting the exhibitors of the country into one truly national organization.

The remaining duty of the convention is plain.

The duty of the new officers is inevitable. The path before Mr. Pearce and his colleagues may not be a smooth one, but its course is unmistakable.

They should have the undivided. whole-souled co-operation of every exhibitor.

* * *

AND in the carrying out of the new policies, in their efforts for amalgamation, in their fight against censorship, in their struggle for whatever makes for the welfare of the exhibitor and of the industry, President Pearce and his associates may count upon the earnest and unflagging support of THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS.

Censorship and Reunion

THE Bullock resolution, declaring that any attitude short of opposition to all forms of legalized censorship will frustrate the reunion of the two exhibitors' organizations, makes it easy to test the sincerity of the League leaders' profession of desire for amalgamation.

A timid attempt to condone certain forms of legal censorship cannot, at this juncture, be interpreted as anything less than a confession of bad faith.

* * *

A DECLARATION of war against all legal censorship as a basis of reunion can do more to arouse the interest of the lukewarm and win the respect and the support of the other members of the trade than any other single attitude the exhibitors could adopt.

* * *

THE present divided condition of the exhibitors has only been productive of futility, helplessness, stagnation and disgust.

The exhibitors themselves are sickened of the miserable farce they have been playing.

The manufacturers and trade people are thoroughly exasperated. They have shown it unmistakably at Dayton.

Something must be done, and quickly.

This is no time for quibbling.

UNITE! CO-OPERATE! FIGHT!

FUNKHOUSER ON THE WITNESS STAND

(Continued from page 21)

"WHAT right has Funkhouser to take the city machine, the city employees, and the city's time to go around and give these lectures?" demanded a district manager of one of the Chicago exchanges. "Is it right for the leader of this crusade to mutilate films that he did not buy and to take these equivalents of city money that is not owed to him and go out and vindicate himself, or rather try to vindicate himself, as the soul of honor?"

The managing director of one of the big manufacturers said:

"Jerry O'Connor, former censor, made most of the cut-outs that are in Major Funkhouser's lecture reels. The major is making capital out of this to exploit himself as a hero and the victim of unwarranted abuse. He wants to build up public sympathy that will support him in the next political campaign. Funkhouser does not show the cut-outs that he has made. They would condemn him."

An exhibitor who has a string of houses finds this fault with Funkhouser's methods:

"HE exhibits cut-outs and presents them as evidence when, as a matter of fact, they are only part of the evidence. For instance, an act of violence is shown. There is nothing to show what leads up to the situation—merely the act. A psychological effect is produced on the rapid succession of these violent acts. This effect is different from that which would be produced if the specific act were seen in connection with the play in its entirety. In making his appeal for sympathy in this manner he is taking an unfair advantage by creating false impressions."

Meanwhile the major's scissors are going snip, snip, as he winds about from club to club. His words are soft. He is stern in his sense of duty. His eye is on the tall chair in the council chamber.

WINNING THE MOTHERS AND CHILDREN

(Continued from page 25)

There were the recommendations of the teachers, the endorsement of Dr. Smith, the leading physician of the community, and the moral support of the clergy.

What possible fault could be found with anything that had met with the hearty approval of all three?

There was none.

Having delivered one volley, Miller remained victor in the field. And now he artfully, but with the good of all in mind, pointed out to each parent how he or she could use tickets as rewards for good behavior or for the faithful performance of chores about the house.

Hardly any parent would object to purchase obedience and respect at such a trifling cost. Miller, therefore, gained the attention of all.

Having in this way convinced the most sceptical of parents, he celebrated his success with a "Mothers' Day." He invited all the mothers in the vicinity to bring their children, especially their babies, to "The Ideal."

A portion of the lobby was used as a parking place for go-carts and baby carriages in such a way as not to interfere with the fire regulations, and one of the ushers was placed in charge.

As only films and slides were shown during that performance, the babies could cry to their hearts' content if so desired, for they and their mothers held full sway.

Thereafter, a special matinee was reserved for mothers, which was always liberally attended.

ALTHOUGH Miller isn't married, the "kiddies," nevertheless, occupy a big portion of his big heart. It isn't a strange thing to see him in the lobby, surrounded by a number of urchins.

Of course, Miller doesn't allow them to crowd out custom or interfere with the smooth running of "The Ideal," but otherwise he is always glad to see them.

Perhaps he doesn't know it, but I am pretty sure that the strongest card he has ever played to advertise "The Ideal," is by being the big brother to every boy and girl in the neighborhood.

Understand me rightly, Miller doesn't do that for business, but I feel confident that more than one of his little friends has been instrumental in bringing his father or mother, sister or brother, uncle or aunt, to "The Ideal."

Miller isn't forgetting the "kiddies," for he is planning a summer outing for them down the harbor. The outing, I admit, is an "out-and-out" publicity plan, but one that is going to do a lot of good.

When the affair comes off, perhaps I will tell you just how the whole thing was managed.

"THE PHANTOM THIEF"

(Eclectic—Three Reels)

REVIEWED BY A. DANSON MICHELL

A VERY unique picture, differing widely from anything yet seen by the writer. Although the story is essentially a detective story, there is much of the burlesque about it.

The actions of the chief character, a detective, arouse the suspicions of the careful spectator, and are likely to make him think that something must be peculiar. If he is astute he should guess the answer about the middle of the third reel. If he is not, then the introduction of the mysterious thief will come as a relief to his overtaxed mind.

THE THIEF AT LAST DISCOVERED

There is certainly enough mystery about the picture and the exertions of Nick Winters, the Sherlock Holmes, in his attempts to capture the thief, will relieve the heavy parts with good comedy. The acting is so French as to leave no doubt about the origin of the production. It is a comedy drama of the highest type.

Mysteriously a necklace disappears from the banker's table and his secretary is arrested and thrown into bondage. A new secretary is engaged, who is also arrested, charged with stealing a large sum of money. He is about to be thrown in prison when he discloses his identity. He is a detective.

While dining, the banker and his friend, the detective, find the missing pearls in the chicken they are carving. The detective's pipe is found in a cake and so articles that have been missing turn up. The detective comes upon a clue and follows it. After a long time he finds the thief, a large monkey.

"PERILS OF PAULINE"

(Eclectic—Two Reels)

REVIEWED BY A. DANSON MICHELL

THE ninth instalment, played by the same cast, headed by Pearl White, Crane Wilbur, Paul Panzer, Francis Carlisle, and directed by L. J. Gasnier. To see the still pictures, or to merely get a glimpse of the picture here and there without the connected story, it would appear to be nothing but a farce.

There is much comedy during the 2,000 feet, interspersing the drama, and serving to relieve the situations when they become melodramatic. It is probably the most interesting episode yet issued, and contains just as much thrill, just as much excitement as any of the others.

PAULINE TIRES OF STAGE LIFE

Aeroplanes are used extensively. By clever trick photography the aeroplane is made to twist and turn with somersaults as it descends while on fire. Pauline rides one as though she had never done anything else. The villainous pilot is killed in a most tragic manner by sinking underneath a train while descending in the parachute. This is shown, by use of a dummy, actually on the screen and has a weird effect.

Harry and his friend are marooned on an island when they announce their intentions of joining Pauline and the motion picture company on Devil's Island. When Owen, the villainous secretary, suggests she get a position as an actress with the Pathé Company, Pauline jumps at the chance to get some adventure, and before she is finished she gets it. Arriving at the island, the director is producing a play in which there are many devils and angels. Pauline plays one of the latter, while Owen, unknown to her, interprets the part of one of the devils.

Owen arranges with one of the thespians to kill Pauline. It is the attempt of this man that is frustrated by Harry. Pauline rushes wildly away and meets with an aviator, whom she bribes to carry her to the mainland. He agrees, but when in the air throws a match carelessly away, setting fire to the machine. He seizes a parachute and leaves Pauline to her fate. She, however, guides the plane to safety making a wonderful landing and is soon in her Harry's arms.

PARK THEATRE A PICTURE HOUSE

Boston, July 8.

The Park Theatre, which has long been devoted to regular drama, will be opened in the fall as a motion picture house. The Rich, Frohman and Harris interests have declined to renew their lease. The new management has capitalized the Park Theatre Company at $50,000 to operate the house. The men named in the corporation papers are: Louis Rosenberg, Albert N. Ginsbery and Walter E. Green.

"THE MILLION DOLLAR MYSTERY"

(Thanhouser—Two Reels)

REVIEWED BY A. DANSON MICHELL

THE third installment of the serial, which begins at the point left off in reel four and continues through two reels of excitement seldom equaled on the screen. The same cast play the important roles, being augmented by many supers.

The conspirators are still seeking the missing Hargreaves whom they believe to have the missing $1,000,000. Florence, his daughter, is "pumped" by the Countess, who is still in their confidence, but all in vain, for she, of course, knows nothing.

The settings are particularly good in this installment. The ball room scene is of great depth, is well lighted and carefully apportioned. The scenes on the dock are very good, considering the difficulty of lighting facilities. The one view of the interior of the shipping clerks' room is correct in every detail.

The strong point in the story is reached in the last reel when Norton, the reporter friend of Florence, outwits the conspirators by making them believe there is a package in the express safe on the dock and when they try to steal it he enters with the police. Their escape is a sensational one.

The story opens in the Hargreaves home and Florence and the Countess are discovered. Norton enters and hears part of the conversation, but says nothing, being satisfied to bide his time. Hargreaves is rescued from the balloon at sea and succeeds in landing without being interviewed by the newspaper men as to his magical escape. The papers, however, contain long accounts of his return.

The Countess hears that he has left a valuable package at the express office on the dock. This is told her by Norton and she immediately makes inquiries with the hope she may obtain it. Being frustrated, she organizes some of the conspirators, who, with a gang of wharf toughs, open the safe. Just as they are looking for the package Norton and the police are upon them. It is only by the greatest luck that any of them escape.

NORTON, THE REPORTER, SURPRISES THE CONSPIRATORS

MUST FLASH LICENSE NUMBERS ON SCREENS

Special to THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS.

El Paso, Tex., July 8.

BEFORE any motion picture operator can throw a picture on the screen he must first flash his licensed number. This is one of the provisions of the picture ordinance recently adopted by the city council. Under the new law the operator, before he is allowed to work in one of the local houses, must first apply to the city clerk and obtain a permit, for which he pays fifty cents.

When the city clerk issues the permit he gives the operator a number, and the number is transferred to a slide. The slide must be shown every time the pictures are run.

$500,000 FROHMAN COMPANY FORMING

A company, capitalized at $500,000, was incorporated at Dover, Del., July 1, by Gustave Frohman, brother of Charles and Daniel Frohman, and known as the Frohman Amusement Corporation.

Gustave Frohman will be president of the new concern, and Frederick Haddock, formerly of the Edison Company, Melies and Eclair, who supervised the production of "Soldiers of Fortune" and "Paid in Full" for the All-Star Company, will be the producing director. William L. Sherrill will be vice-president and general manager.

Other men said to be associated with the firm are: C. S. Anderson, assistant manager of the Congress Hotel, Washington, D. C.; W. H. Burn, vice-president of the Sturgis and Burn Manufacturing Company; Charles M. Biskie, business manager of the Insurance Press, New York; Louis H. Frohman, of Redfield Brothers; Frank L. Swift, associated with the Standard Oil Company, and W. P. Huguley, vice-president of the Pan-American Fibre Corporation, Washington, D. C.

CHARLOTTE BURTON PLAYED MANY CHILD'S PARTS

Charlotte Burton, the popular star of the American Film Company, had a varied career in "legit" before becoming affiliated with the silent drama. She made her debut at the age of eight, playing a principal role in the "Brownies in Fairyland," going on the road with the company managed by Samuel Friedlander.

After playing several child roles she retired and went to the public school in San Francisco until almost sixteen, when she played small parts with Nance O'Neill at the old Grand Opera House in San Francisco before the fire.

Later she went into stock at the MacDounagh Theatre in Oakland with the Nordant-Humphrey Company, playing ingenue roles; and later played Seattle with same company, after which she led a company on the road for two seasons in Western and Middle Western cities, ending the season in Chicago from whence she went directly to Santa Barbara joining the American company in 1912.

DETROIT OPERATORS ELECT OFFICERS

Special to THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS.

Detroit, July 9.

Detroit local of the Motion Picture Operators Association has elected officers as follows: President, Jas. Murtaugh; vice-president, Sam Johnson; treasurer and member of executive board, Max Ruben; business agent, J. A. McDonald; financial and corresponding secretary, Carl Beals; recording secretary, Frank Merriful.

Film Favorite Opens New Denver Theatre

Ruth Stonehouse, of Essanay, Headlines Bill at Plaza with Classical Dances —Advertising Campaign Preceded Her Appearance

Special to THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS.

Denver, Col., July 8.

MISS RUTH STONEHOUSE, Denver's star of the Essanay Company, was the principal attraction at the opening of the new Plaza Theatre, in Denver, the week of June 21. train and meet Denver's own photoplay star and be in the films with Ruth Stonehouse. See yourself in pictures at the Plaza opening" was the gist of the announcements of the final coup. Two cameramen filmed the arrival of the screen player and

RUTH STONEHOUSE, OF ESSANAY, HEADLINER AT PLAZA THEATRE OPENING, ARRIVING IN DENVER, COL.

Miss Stonehouse presented her repertoire of dances and won great success and popularity for her interpretive and classic work, aided in great measure by the advertising campaign of H. E. Ellison, manager of the Plaza, arranged in the newspapers to herald her.

Basing his campaign upon her popularity and upon the value of subtle suggestion of personal contact with the stars of the silent play, Mr. Ellison published two and three times a week in the leading newspapers photos and crisp, interesting and intimate stories of this film star, impressing in each her local origin and the charm and magnetism of her personality which, reflecting itself on the screen, was not fully realized until one could see and talk to the charming artiste in person.

The Sunday preceding the opening the sensation was sprung. The newspapers carried big headlines, cuts and stories of Miss Stonehouse's coming. She would return to the open arms of her home city for her first "real" appearance since her entrance into the "reel." This was followed with daily stories of the new theatre, its ideals, attractions, and its brilliant opening.

On Wednesday preceding the opening Ellison touched off the final gun of the campaign. "Come down to the dancer as she was greeted by her thousands of loyal friends. The films were shown the following day at the opening.

The opening bill was "Home, Sweet Home," in six reels; an advance reel of "The Million Dollar Mystery"; Ruth Stonehouse in person. Miss Stonehouse appeared every afternoon and evening.

Her dances are "The Geisha Girl," "The Dance of Love," Popular Waltzes, "The Colorado Waltz," Mendelssohn's "Spring Song," "Visions of Salome" and "The Storm Dance."

She was received with the big pictures every night by crowded houses and with great applause.

S. B. McCORMICK.

MICHIGAN LEAGUE RE-ELECTS OFFICERS

Special to THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS.

Detroit, July 9.

An election of officers of the Detroit Motion Picture Exhibitors League resulted in the re-election of President Peter Jeup and Secretary C. M. Orth and all the other officers with the exception of Jacob Stocker, financial secretary, who declined re-election because of pressing business interests and is succeeded by J. A. Ritter.

EXHIBITORS THRIVE IN MEXICO DESPITE WAR

Revolutions of Four Years Fail to Disturb the Prosperity of "Cinematografias," Which Made Money When Other Business Houses and the Regular Theatres Were Forced to Close—American Films Are the Favorites

Special to THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS.

Mexico City, Mex., July 8.

REVOLUTIONS and banditry which have swept Mexico during the past four years have failed to affect the largest amusement factor in the lives of Mexicans—outside the bullfights—the motion picture houses. At the beginning of the series of revolutions, in November, 1910, eleven "cinematografias," as the motion picture houses are called in Spanish, were in operation in this city.

Other business houses went by the board, every theatre except the Principal, was compelled to close its doors by the depressing effect of the various uprisings, but the picture houses apparently are making as much money as ever.

They range from the magnificent Salon Rojo—or Red Hall—with its wide balconies overhanging San Francisco avenue, its large refreshment parlor where anything to eat from ice cream to a seven-course dinner can be obtained, and its three film halls operating simultaneously, down to the little street show set up on a canvas-covered lot in the suburbs.

Prices range with the size and location of the motion picture houses. The Salon Rojo charges a "toston," or fifty cents, silver (25 cents American currency) admission, but this entitles the ticket-buyer to spend as much time as he likes in the balconies, watching the parade of fine carriages and beautiful women in Avenida de San Francisco, and to see all three of the shows as often as he likes.

IN the suburbs and in the outskirts of the main city—which, by the way, shelters 600,000 inhabitants—admission to the tent-houses presenting one, and rarely, two films, is as low at ten cents, silver (five cents, U. S. currency).

Enormous crowds pack both the high-priced and the cheap movies, and some of their best attractions are films of their own wars.

Profits have been large in the motion picture business in Mexico City.

The proprietor of the Salon Rojo cleared $10,000 net profit on the films of the Jeffries-Johnson fight, while the Spanish owner of the "Cine Internacional," a hall which has no other attraction than its films, netted $5,000 on a picture he made during a raid of the Zapatista bandits on Milpa Alta, about twenty miles from Mexico City.

FILMS of the Madero revolution, made by agents of the owner of the Salon Rojo and shown through the smaller "movie" houses in Mexico City, Guadalajara, Puebla, and Monterey, made a net profit, according to the manager's report to the government, of $27,000.

Of foreign films, those of the United States predominate, but many made in France are shown.

These usually appear first in the larger houses in the center of the city, and then are shown in the tent-houses, the Maria Guerrero Theatre, and similar small amusement places.

Owners of these houses figure on about forty per cent of their gross income being net profit.

The people of this capital have developed a taste for news films and for Western dramas. They care little for educational films, largely because the majority do not understand the captions, which are written in English.

THE bullfight has been reproduced frequently and well by the native movie-makers; indeed, not an important fight is held without being put onto the films of some one of the larger houses.

Aviation meets, military movements, and sports of the Reform and Jockey Clubs likewise have been filmed, and have attracted crowded houses, where similar foreign films would draw only foreigners to see them.

The field in Mexico City, and most of the larger towns of the republic, is controlled by the owners of the Salon Rojo, though the proprietor of the Cine Internacional has made some inroad into the business of the "one-man trust."

Vanoscope Shows Latest Roosevelt Films

Many Pictures Had Novel History—Were Lost in the "River of Doubt" and Recovered by Divers.

GEORGE W. PERKINS, John Hays Hammond, Henry L. Stoddard, editor of the "Evening Mail," New York; Anthony Fiala, the explorer; Walter C. Brown, of Cleveland, Ohio, and others viewed the Roosevelt South American pictures last Friday in the projection room of the Vanoscope Company, 220 West Forty-second street, New York City.

Colonel Roosevelt was expected to be present up to the last moment, but upon arriving in New York from Pittsburgh telephoned that his presence was required at once at Oyster Bay.

The Roosevelt pictures were taken by Anthony Fiala and are of vivid interest and great exploration value. Some of the reels were lost when one of the expedition boats was overturned in shooting the rapids along the "River of Doubt," and were recovered by divers.

The Fiala Arctic pictures, taken in 1903 were also shown and in addition the maneuvres of the United States Cavalry regiment sent to South America for exhibition drills. These latter pictures brought out excellently the projection facilities peculiar to the Vanoscope. The pictures were shown at a varying rate from a full stop to sixteen a second, during which every movement of rider and horse was presented separately and distinctly.

When the Vanoscope received its first demonstration before British motion picture exhibitors and scientific men interested in the mechanical side of the machine, the daily press and trade journals of the English capital accorded it high praise.

Such well-known daily newspapers as the "Graphic," the Evening "News," the Westminster "Gazette," "Reynold's Newspaper," the "Chronicle," and even that conservative of all conservative publications, the London "Times," were unanimous in conceding the claims made by the manufacturers for their projection machine.

The technical experts of such authoritative trade papers as the "Bioscope," "Cinema," the "Kinematograph and Lantern Weekly," united in saying that the Vanoscope improvements place the machine in the front rank of projecting apparatus.

"MATTY" WILL APPEAR IN UNIVERSAL FILMS

Once a month, at least, for the next year, followers of Universal pictures will see Christy Mathewson, the "Big Six" of the Giants, in a screen comedy or drama.

The contract that transfers "Matty" from the diamond to the screen was ratified only a few days ago, "Joe" Brandt, of the Universal publicity and advertising department, acting as chief negotiator. Most of the Mathewson photoplays will be produced at the Imp studio in New York. Capt. Leslie T. Peacock and Jack Byrne are writing the first scenarios.

"OUR MUTUAL GIRL" MEETS STANLAWS

In the course of her "little journeys" to the homes and offices of noted men and women, "Our Mutual Girl" is meeting everybody in the "Who's Who" and "The Blue Book." Her most recent introduction was to Penrhyn Stanlaws, the famous artist, who signalized the occasion by sketching Miss Phillips, "Our Mutual Girl," as they chatted.

PENRHYN STANLAWS AND HIS PASTEL PORTRAIT OF "OUR MUTUAL GIRL"

Incidentally, "Our Mutual Girl Weekly," devoted to the doings of the heroine of the series and things feminine, is meeting with gratifying success. As the only paper in the world which confines itself to one woman as its subject, it occupies a unique position. Exhibitors everywhere are using it with immediate results and winning the commendation of their patrons for its contents and appearance.

OPEN THANHOUSER PARK AT NEW ROCHELLE

Thanhouser Park, surrounding the Thanhouser studio, was dedicated by the residents of New Rochelle, N. Y., on Tuesday, July 7. Charles J. Hite, president of the Thanhouser Company, ordered open house on that day, and every man, woman and child in New Rochelle was welcome at the studio. The broad acres to the east of the main building in the Thanhouser group have been converted into a park, with driveways, rustic bridges, bungalows, and, most wonderful of all, a fall over which water rushes and tumbles, just as though Nature had planned what Joseph Turner, Thanhouser's scenic artist, has built.

Quaker City Exchange Men to Give Banquet

Exhibitors Will Be Guests of Warner's, Calehuff and Greater New York Film Rental Heads on July 19—Features Planned for Evening

Special to THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS.

Philadelphia, July 9.,

AN entertainment followed by a banquet is to be tendered to the motion-picture exhibitors of Philadelphia and vicinity by the Calehuff Supply Company, the Greater New York Film Rental Company and Warner's Features.

The show is to take place at the Ridge Avenue Theatre (on the evening of July 19) through the courtesy of Jay Emmanuel, the manager.

The committee in charge is Gabriel Michaels, Greater New York, chairman; J. S. Hebrew, Warner's Features; Charles Calehuff, Calehuff Supply Company, and Ben Zerr, of Reading, Pa. Jay Emmanuel is the chairman of the reception committee.

The headliner for the evening will be George Herbst, formerly of the Three Twins Company, who will present a great comedy sketch entitled "Senselessship, or the Exposure of the Flim (Flam) Game." This will be in two reels and will not have been passed by Pennsylvania, National or any other board of censorship. This promises to be a comedy which "is not actuated by a serious purpose or any other form of levity" (for details as to this provision see rules of Pennsylvania Board of Censorship) and promises to outrival "Goodness Gracious."

A brilliant array of talent recruited from the local playhouses will be the supporting bill as well as several reels of film, specially booked for the occasion. The Mott-Le Gaige Animated Slides will also make their first appearance in Philadelphia on this occasion through the efforts of Julian M. Solomon, Jr., the local representative.

After the entertainment the curtain will be run up and the banquet will be served on the stage. The Ridge Avenue was formerly a combined vaudeville and picture house, but is now exclusively devoted to the silent play.

The entire entertainment promises to be the most enjoyable film affair given in the Quaker City for many, many moons.

Cut-Throat Tactics Play Havoc in New Orleans

Disorganization and Overloaded Programs Likely to Prove Calamitous to Exhibitors, if Continued—Need of Co-operation Is Glaring

Special to THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS.

New Orleans, July 8.

INTENSE heat during the past three weeks has broken all records in the memory of the "oldest inhabitant" and has caused a temporary slump in the motion picture business. A considerable portion of the public has preferred to spend the evenings en dishabile or in street cars and automobiles, despite the fact that the local theatres are as cool as it is possible to make them.

Foolish competition, however, is doing more than the heat to injure business along Canal street. On one side of the street two five-cent houses and one ten-cent house and another five-cent house on the opposite side have been endeavoring to see how much they can give the people. Gradually it grew up to six reels with vaudeville interspersed and now one of the houses is offering seven reels. This competition will, of course, be met and there is no way to predict how far this will go.

Local theatre managers have heard through THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS of the way in which business is being killed in their neighboring city of Meridian, Miss., through just such tactics, but they have taken no heed. The local theatre managers are practically unorganized and in the present dull season they will be given an expensive lesson in getting together.

The shows that are being presented in many of the houses are entirely too long and not only prevent a patron from visiting two houses during one evening, but often disgust him with the length of the performance.

As in many other lines of business here the average motion picture manager seems to think that the other fellow has something "up his sleeve" when organization is proposed, but if the summer has no other effect, it promises to bring a realization that cut-throat tactics do not pay.

R. E. PRITCHARD.

EDISON WINS DOUBLE-HEADER

In two exciting games, July 4, at Columbia Oval in the Bronx, Edison beat Lubin, of Philadelphia, by the score of 5 to 2 and 10 to 9. Gertrude McCoy threw a brand new ball to Augustus Phillips, the official umpire, and the first game started.

Lubin held a one-run lead up to the eighth inning, when Kilroy, the twirler, weakened and allowed Crolius and France, of Edison, to cross the plate with the winning runs. The Lubinites promise to turn the tables in the return match set for Labor Day in Philadelphia.

"SHE STOOPS TO CONQUER"

(Cosmofotofilm—Three Parts)

REVIEWED BY A. DANSON MICHELL

IF ten per cent of the pictures which are being turned out on a flooded market were on a par with this production the business would take a visible boom. For all around beauty, cleverness and cleanness it would be hard to surpass this production of the London Film Company.

"SHE IS NOT A BARMAID; SHE IS MY DAUGHTER!"

When the idea was first projected of making Oliver Goldsmith's wonderful play into a screen production it is said to have been pronounced impossible. So much of the beauty of this work lies in the clever wording that it was thought impossible to get the humor across on a skeptical public. The London Film Company have succeeded, and although it is an English picture in its entirety, we, on this side, are glad to know that the majority of the credit for its success is due to the work of two Americans.

Jane Gail, formerly leading lady for the Imp Company and heroine of "Traffic in Souls,' is the life of the picture. Henry Ainley, a well-known English actor, plays opposite her, and interprets the difficult rôle of Marow Jr. as though he had played nothing else all his stage career. Christine Rayner, Kate's friend, looked very pretty and took her rôle in good style. R. Judd Green, who has a small but very important part, made a name for himself as a master of character work. Others in the cast were Lewis Gilbert, Gerald Ames, Charles Rock, Stella St. Audrie, Windham Guise, Gregory Scott, Nelson Ramsay and Fay Compton.

There are some excellent interiors, the ballroom set being particularly appropriate. The costuming is correct throughout. The novel finale will be approved by all. The characters group themselves, and after a subtitle in verse, bow themselves into a dissolve. It is similar to the lowering of a curtain and sets more or less of a precedent.

The humor of Goldsmith is of the most subtle sort. There is none of the slapstick work so apparent in many other writings. The sly wink, the nudge of the arm, all seem to convey a volume of thought, where a subtitle could only mar the effect. Yet it is a common saying that the English people do not possess a sense of humor. Those inclined to believe this fallacy should see this production and be convinced that the British have a very keen idea of what is funny.

Old Marow has planned that his bashful son shall marry Kate, the daughter of his old friend, Hardcastle. So after much coaxing, the boy and his friend consent to go. Arriving near the home of the prospective bride they meet Tony Hardcastle's stepson. He tells them, as a joke, that the Hardcastles' home is an inn, so when they arrive they naturally treat the old man as they would a servant, much to his disgust.

Young Marow, although bashful of women of his own social rank, has rather a liking for barmaids. His belief that Kate is a barmaid makes them friendly. Finally he finds out his mistake, and when forced to an issue learns that he cannot give her up. After many attempts he gets courage enough to propose to her and is accepted.

"THE REIGN OF TERROR"

(Eclectic—Six Reels)

REVIEWED BY PETER MILNE

EVERY man and woman and almost every child is familiar with that terrible period in the history of France, known as "The Reign of Terror," the title being applied to that time when the French Revolution was at its worst. To see the frightful atrocities that occurred in this age is perhaps nearly as trying an ordeal as it was to live through them, but if there was a man alive now who lived through the revolution he would be envied. One who has not seen this picture will envy the one who has, and if he is wide awake he will lose no time and see it himself. The least that can be said in regard to this feature is that it will pack any house in any place, unless there is something radically wrong with the populace.

"The Reign of Terror" has for its foundation the great work of Alexander Dumas entitled, "The Chevalier De Maison Rouge." The novel is a marvel, and the producer of this picture has done his best to model the screen story along the absorbing lines of the book. He has succeeded.

The production not only contains such a satisfactory story that one's curiosity is aroused at the outset, but it is also historically true. So besides obtaining great enjoyment from the picture, the spectator learns something in the bargain, and if he is unfamiliar with the course of events, he learns something which he will remember for a long time and something worth while.

At the start of the story Louis XVI has just been executed. Marie Antoinette is in prison. The picture follows the

THE DEATH OF THE CHEVALIER

Chevalier De Maison Rouge and his followers in their attempts to liberate the queen from the clutches of the revolutionists. All their efforts are to no avail, and they meet death in different ways. Later, as history tells us, the queen was executed.

Realism and a faithful precision is predominant throughout the picture. All the characters, the mobs as well as the principals, perform in a most natural manner. No part is overdone. Owing to the similarity in appearances, the characters are at times a trifle difficult to tell apart, and an unusually large number of leads are introduced. But as in most historical pictures the plot is secondary. Wonderfully well trained mobs appear; the leaders of the republicans are enough to send chills down the spine.

The excellent Eclectic photography supplements the other merits of the picture and puts the finishing touch on a perfect production.

BRILLIANT TRADE EXHIBITS MARK SECOND ANNUAL EXPOSITION

(Continued from page 20)

Not long since Walter Hoff Seely, president of Atsco, determined to place the Radium Gold Fibre Screen within the reach of every exhibitor by selling the screen on time payments. The excellent results the screen is giving together with this additional feature of the new selling plan—the company states—is taxing the capacities of both the St. Louis and East Orange factories to their limit.

Down the main aisle, from the St. Clair Street entrance at Space 49, was the Novelty Slide Company's display. This consisted of hand-colored slides for every possible requirement of the motion picture theatre owner.

An important feature of this exhibit was the manner in which the slides are displayed in revolving racks and illuminated from within by unseen electric lights.

Thomas G. Wiley was in charge, assisted by Albert Carlton, and both did good work.

The Laskyites were a busy crowd at Dayton during the convention. "The Only Son" was shown in one of the large Dayton theatres on Monday afternoon and evening, while on Thursday "The Man on the Box" was presented at one of the theatres in Convention Hall.

During the week the Lasky company, by arrangement with one of the Dayton newspapers, conducted a beauty contest in the hope of discovering in the Ohio city some bewitching maiden with enough dramatic talent to make it worth their while to lift her out of the obscurity of private life into the limelight. The returns are not in as yet, but Harry Reichenbach's hopes are high.

"LA BELLE RUSSE"

(The Regent Feature Film Company—Five Reels)
REVIEWED BY WILLIAM RESSMAN ANDREWS

THIS second production of David Belasco, which appeared in the early 80's and demonstrated by its superior dramatic qualities its producer's adroit stagecraft, finding later expression in the wonderful creations now universally associated with the name of Belasco, showed in the film adaptation, recently run off in the Atsco projection-room, a mastery of silent drama technique expected of such an experienced director as William J. Hanley, whose work while he was with Famous Players and Kinemacolor gave him a reputation for stage management of a high order.

RENARD DUVAL RESENTS PHILIP'S INTERFERENCE

Although the setting of the play calls for numerous foreign scenes, Mr. Hanley succeeded in creating the desired atmosphere by a clever use of ordinary studio interiors and a wise selection of outdoor spots within the environs of New York City.

The majority of the scenes indicate by their photography great care in the use of the camera on unusually clear days.

The versatility of Evelyn Rusel is strikingly apparent in the dual role of Geraldine Hatherly and Beatrice Hatherly, sisters of diametrically opposite temperaments. She readily grasps the fundamental requirements necessary for a proper rendering of the character of a wayward, impulsive girl straining at the leash of respectable poverty, and a nature kept within bounds by the traditions of family pride.

Beatrice Hatherly, unmindful of the consequences of such a step when there is no tie to hold the partner of a woman's guilty flight, elopes with the man she loves without insisting upon certain formalities before those authorized to make binding contracts between enthralled couples.

The action of the girl brings on the death of her father, a clergyman of the Church of England. Beatrice, compelled by circumstances to live by her wits, but still too clever to allow herself to sink to the bottom of the social scale, flits gaily from capital to capital, enjoying with a nonchalant disregard of the morrow, each day's pleasure unevenly distributed by the capricious hand of chance.

Although the steadier nature of Geraldine seems a bulwark against the trials and temptations of the unattached woman alone among strangers, she too has her battles to fight for self preservation and respect, but she finally triumphs and, after many vicissitudes is reunited with her husband, who supposing her to be dead shortly after their marriage, had enlisted for military service in India.

"THE FORCES OF EVIL," OR "THE DOMINANT WILL"

(Leading Players Film Corporation—Three Reels)
REVIEWED BY PETER MILNE

THE Leading Players Film Corporation's releases up to and including this, their latest triumph, have been noticeable for their lack of sensational and gruesome action. The producer of this picture must have been sorely tempted to introduce the sensational, but he has left the actual big events to the imagination and this is sufficient. Another man might have shown Lucille and the doctor falling from the cliff. To this director it was enough to show them after they had fallen. Again he might have shown the automobile passing over the child, but it was enough to show the injured child after the accident.

Facilities may have been lacking to portray these events as actualities, but it is more than likely that they were left to the imagination, for the reason that they were too horrible to show.

The class of people that enjoy good acting, with the sensationalism obliterated equals that class to which the true lovers of the melodrama belong, and that this offering will be well received by the former class is a foregone conclusion. It may be listed with the best of the three-reel pictures.

Renee Sylvaire interprets the leading feminine rôle. She is no stranger to those familiar with this brand of pictures, and her acting here is as excellent as in her former appearances. Unfortunately the names of the male members of the cast are not known, but each one personally may be accorded great praise.

The photography is perfect, and the lighting just as good. The interiors show some of the most gorgeous and beautiful sets ever produced.

The story itself will touch the hearts of all fortunate enough to see it. Young and old will appreciate it. Lucille is forced to leave her husband in obedience to the command of a hypnotic doctor. She longs to return to her husband, but cannot, for the doctor has the stronger will. Both meet with an accident, after which the doctor dies and the couple are reunited.

Live News of the Week

Charles H. Phillips, chairman of the Milwaukee, Wis., censor board, evidently aspires for some of the fame and publicity gained by Mrs. Cirus Niver, of the Pennsylvania State Board, for he has announced that he is going after all the lengthy film kisses that are shown in Milwaukee. Unlike his Pennsylvania contemporary Mr. Phillips puts no length on the legal kiss for Milwaukee, but says, "The display of lengthy kissing is both harmful and vulgar, besides being unnecessary to the play, and we will surely take action if we find any pictures which overdo the billing and cooing."

Edward Holmes, proprietor of the Gayety Theatre, Long Beach, Cal., had several front teeth knocked out when his auto collided with a streetcar in Los Angeles, a few days ago.

Charles Richman, recently secured by the Jesse L. Lasky Company for appearance before the camera, will, in all likelihood, appear in "Captain Barrington," in which he starred for several years.

Little Miss Hilda Couch is probably the youngest actress in pictures who will head her own company. While she is not widely known to followers of the photoplay, she has written some clever scenarios to be enacted by a company of child players. Most of them deal with educational subjects, and those who know her are proud of the ability she has displayed in the composition of them.

HILDA COUCH

Louis Green, who for four years was connected with the Academy Theatre as assistant manager, has been appointed Buffalo, N. Y. representative of the Box Office Attraction Company, with offices in the King Edward Hotel, on Niagara street.

Wilhelm Robert McBain Fuehrer, although a long name, represents a very small person, i. e., Universal Ike, Jr. Bobby, as he is universaly called, is a New York boy and only fifteen years old. He is a baseball fan, after a fashion of his own, and knows many of the players by their first names. He is a favorite around the Hollywood studios. He was for a time with Maude Adams and other well known stage stars, the Universal being his first engagement for the screen.

UNIVERSAL IKE, JR.

Adele Farrington, who has been playing in stock at Winnipeg for the past two seasons, is in Los Angeles to spend a short vacation with her husband, Hobart Bosworth, head of Bosworth, Inc.

Leon Wagner, of the Sterling Camera and Motion Picture Company, was married to Miss Violet Stuart at the Little-Church-Around-the-Corner on June 28. Directly following the ceremony a dinner was given in their honor at the Pelham Bay Inn. A honeymoon trip to Niagara Falls and Lewiston followed. The bride is from New York.

ETHEL GRANDIN

Ethel Grandin, the petite leading lady, formerly with the Universal company, is now working on her own features, as exclusively announced in The Motion Picture News recently.

Several large users of Non-Flam Agfa have made tests prints of this product and the results have proved very satisfactory. Initial shipments of Gevaert Non-Film will be received in this country about July 15.

The scenario for "The Rose of The Rancho," which is to be produced by The Jesse L. Lasky Feature Play Company, has been submitted to David Belasco. Cast and other details for the first Belasco picture are going forward rapidly.

Among those selected for the second company for the Western Lubin studio, which began work July 1, are Lucile Younge, Beatrice Doming, Robert M. Dunbar, William Tennise, Robert Blakeley and A. C. Gosden.

Samuel Goldfish returns from Europe this week. The trip of the Lasky chief was extremely successful. Mr. Goldfish will join his family at Long Lake, N. Y., where he will spend a few weeks with Jesse Lasky on a fishing trip.

The World's Special Feature Film corporation has removed its Buffalo (N. Y.) offices from 503 White Building to 23 West Swan street, the Warner's Features' old stand. The new offices occupy the entire lower floor. Fred W. Young is manager of the Buffalo branch.

Sol L. Lesser, of the Golden Gate Film Exchange, will land in New York this week, it is expected. The feature, "The Christian," has been put on the road and will be shown at the Portola in San Francisco and Clune's Auditorium in Los Angeles.

Charles Ogle, formerly leading man for the Edison company and now with the Universal, was, like many other Thespians, educated for the pulpit, but found the call of the stage too strong to resist. He was born in Zanesville, Ohio, and has been connected with the theatrical profession for fifteen years. He also graduated from Illinois college and practised law for three years. But again the call was too much to be resisted and he joined the Edison family. With Mary Fuller and Walter Edwin, the director, he came over to the Universal recently.

CHARLES OGLE

William D. Taylor, for two years with the New York Motion Picture Company, and later with the Vitagraph, where he played the title role in Capt. Alvarez, has taken a directorship with the Balboa Feature Films Company, at Long Beach, and is filming his first feature, "The Judge's Wife," which will consist of three reels. Neva Gerber is the leading woman of the company.

The screen dramatization of "The Fortune Hunter," by Windell Smith, is being produced by the Lubin Company. Ethel Clayton and William Elliot will appear in the leading roles.

S. H. Friedlander has been selected as general manager of the new Edwin August Feature Film Company that is already at work in Los Angeles.

The Reliance and Majestic companies are producing a series of comedy pictures from Paul West's "Bill" stories which were formerly running in the New York "World." "Tammany Young" is the original of the stories and will be featured. They will be released under the Komic brand.

A. S. Hyman left New York recently, to take charge of the field interests of Warner's Features in the states of Arizona, Nevada and California.

It was reported in the last issue of THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS that George Kleine is to release Belasco's "Heart of Maryland." This is an error as Mr. Kleine has nothing to do with the picture.

Sam J. Ryan, now with the Pathé Company, formerly a member of the Tom Lewis and Sam Ryan vaudeville team, is one of the most natural comedians on the screen. His six years' work under George M. Cohan during which time he played large parts, has fitted him for his present engagement. He took the part of Boss Dunn in "The Stain," Sig. Bashinelli in "The Perils of Pauline" and Uncle Ebenezer in "The Precious Twins."

SAM J. RYAN

William Fox is planning a studio where he will produce his own features. The location will be somewhere in New York City. Plans have been presented by the architects and as soon as they receive Mr. Fox's O. K. will be rushed forward.

A. C. Beck, formerly with the George Klein Chicago office, has accepted a position with the California Film Exchange, and will act as traveling representative out of the Los Angeles office, located at 736 South Olive street. The California exchange handle exclusively the Universal program and features.

In the early part of his career, James B. Kirk, publicity manager of Warner's Features, Inc., was a newspaper man and has worked on the reportorial, editorial, and special staffs of newspapers as far west as Denver and as far south as Atlanta. Then he became editor of "Profitable Advertising," a magazine of publicity in Boston. Mr. Kirk has contributed stories and verse to magazines and pictorial publications. He was managing editor of the Hampton Advertising Company, New York, in its palmy days, and for several years has been production manager of the Blackman-Ross Advertising Agency, New York. From the latter position he came to Warner's Features, Inc.

JAMES B. KIRK

William Fables, for twenty-two years a legitimate actor playing animal parts, will play the "Goat" in the Buster Brown series now being made by the Edison Company.

A. Potiker, a widely known figure in the feature film rental and motion picture theatre business in Cleveland, recently returned from an extensive European trip. While abroad he visited his birthplace, Bartfa, Lower Hungary.

J. L. Warner, traveling general representative from the New York office of Warner Features, is in Los Angeles for a brief stay while on his way to the San Francisco branch where he will remain several weeks.

Benjamin H. Tint has resigned as manager of the Alhambra motion picture theatre of Waterbury, Conn. He was formerly manager of the Broadway theatre.

Mr. Cippico, general sales agent of L. Gevaeret & Company, was recently in New York visiting Mr. Bodine, of the Raw Film Supply Company, and looking over the American field. Mr. Cippico states that a new studio will shortly be erected in the outskirts of Paris by the Agfa Company.

The Ambrosio-American Company has closed contracts for the state-rights of "The Angel of the Mine," "The Bells of Death," the Griffon's Claw," "The Law of Compensation," and "For the Queen's Honor."

Director Hobart Bosworth, Charles Hayden and Helen Walcott are at San Francisco, taking scenes for another Jack London story. The company will continue to take the actual scenes described by Mr. London in his stories, with all future pictures.

The United Odd Fellows, of Ilion, New York, have purchased a Power's Cameragraph No. 6-A from the Picture Theatre Equipment Company, of New York City.

Billie Jacobs, age three years, who plays in Sterling Kid Comedies, entertained about two hundred motion picture people recently, when he directed a scene on the big Universal stage, at the Hollywood studio. One of the stage carpenters made him a toy camera, and merely for the fun of it, Billie was induced to direct a scene. He conducted himself according to the best traditions.

BILLIE JACOBS

"The Script," the official organ of the Photoplay Authors League, of Los Angeles, California, is at last a reality. The first issue, consisting of sixteen pages and cover, is composed principally of vital articles dealing with their objects. The contents are copyrighted.

Archer McMackin, formerly with the Essanay Company, in charge of publicity and later in the scenario department, where he was associated with Gilbert P. Hamilton, is now with the Albuquerque Film Manufacturing Company, of which Mr. Hamilton is president and general manager.

Ben Wilson, leading man for the Edison Company, has been made a director in the Atlas Theatre Corporation, owning five hundred shares.

The State Film Company, of 60 Bank street, Newark, N. J., will represent the Progressive Motion Picture Corporation in Northern New Jersey.

Violet Mersereau has returned to the Universal-Imp Company as leading woman. It was nearly a year ago that the charming little actress left the Imp company to accept a position in the "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm" company, in which she played the title role. Miss Mersereau is an actress of long experience, though she is still very young, and her former appearance in Imp plays made her highly popular in the film world. She will now be under the direction of Herbert Brenon and will appear mostly in features of two or three reel length.

VIOLET MERSEREAU

In an exciting game on June 27, the Edison baseball team defeated the Kalem team by a score of 11 to 7.

Buffalo was honored when at the annual convention of exhibitors in New York, William A. Bean, president of the Buffalo Exhibitors Association, was elected president of the New York state branch of the national organization. Mr. Bean is manager of the Majestic Theatre, on West Ferry street, and one of Buffalo's "live wire" exhibitors.

H. G. Segal, formerly general manager of the Cosmos Feature Film Corporation, has resigned from that concern to take over the management of the New York exchange for the World Film Corporation.

H. G. SEGAL

Mr. Segal has been in the film business for the past seven years, having been connected with the Motion Picture Patents Company and the Mutual Film Corporation. He is a hustler and is a "bug" on system and organization, which he claims is the best way of getting the business.

The Raw Film Supply Company will shortly place on the market, at a cost practically the same as that of the ordinary product, films in any color desired by the purchaser. The camel scene in "Caberia" was imprinted on this film. Such a film would save the cost of tinting the raw product.

William W. Hodkinson, president and general manager of the Paramount Picture Corporation and president and manager of the Progressive Motion Picture Company, is making a tour of Los Angeles and West coast branches, and it is very likely he will spend some time in Los Angeles at the Bosworth, Inc., and Jesse Lasky feature films studios.

"The Sea Wolf" and "Brewsters' Millions," which are being handled by the William L. Sherry Feature Film Company, are being extensively advertised by Proctor's Fifth Avenue Theatre, New York, by using half-page advertisements.

CALIFORNIA ASSOCIATION HOLDS BALL

The Southern California Motion Picture Men's Association held its first annual ball in Los Angeles recently for the purpose of securing financial aid to combat drastic legislation now pending detrimental to the business in general.

The ball was largely attended and proved to be a successful and pleasant affair. A handsome blue-covered souvenir booklet was issued for the occasion, containing half-tones of prominent manufacturers, directors and players.

The officers of the association are: A. P. Tugwell, president; R. F. Hale, secretary, and M. Gore, treasurer.

PATHE EXPLODES THEATRE RUMOR

The assertion that Pathé is to build a $30,000,000 chain of motion picture theatres, extending from coast to coast, published in a recent issue of the Los Angeles (Cal.) "Herald," was branded as a canard by H. C. Hoagland, of Pathé, when he was asked to comment upon the report.

"There is absolutely no truth in it," said Mr. Hoagland. "We are in the producing and film publishing business. We are not exhibitors and have no intention of doing anything to hurt the exhibitor's business.

EQUIPMENT FIRM INSTALLS PROJECTORS

The Picture Theatre Equipment Company, of 21 East Fourteenth street, New York, announces that it has placed the following projection machines:

One Powers No. 6-A motor-drive, in the studio of the Standard Film Print Corporation, Yonkers, N. Y.

One Edison Model D with Transformer, to Dr. Sahler's Sanitarium, of Kingston-on-Hudson, N. Y.

One 1914 Motiograph complete motor-drive equipment in the Bloomingdale Hospital for the Insane, White Plains, N. Y.

One Powers No. 5 to the Brooklyn Branch of the Navy Y. M. C. A.

LATEST "BEAUTY" PRODUCTION RELEASED JULY 21

In a forthcoming "Beauty" production Kathie Fischer stars as a little girl, and repelled by the disinterested natural mother, steals away to her unknown neighbor in search of a "real" mother.

The story carries deep pathos and will prove an object lesson to such who through neglect have been permitting the yearning hearts of the little ones to go begging for love. The subject is entitled "Her 'Really' Mother," and will be released on July 21.

Essanay's "One Wonderful Night" Ready

FRANCIS X. BUSHMAN AND BEVERLY BAYNE IN A SCENE FROM "ONE WONDERFUL NIGHT," FORTHCOMING ESSANAY PRODUCTION

ESSANAY will release on July 18, through the General Film's feature department, "One Wonderful Night," by Louis Tracy, starring Francis X. Bushman, the winner of the Popular Players' contest of "The Ladies' World."

The picture is an adaptation of the serial which appeared in that magazine and aroused considerable comment among the readers for its dramatic and heart interest qualities.

The Earl of Valletort endeavors to persuade his daughter Hermione to marry a Hungarian count, who has aspirations to the throne of his country. He needs money to carry out his project, and as the girl is wealthy he hopes that she will consent to become his bride. She detests the man, and to avoid his persistent attentions, flees to America, in company with a scheming Frenchman, Jean de Courtois, whose sinister disposition is known to her father, though she is unaware of the man's real character. She arranges to marry de Courtois, with the understanding that it is to be a marriage only in name; and it is agreed that later they are to obtain a divorce.

De Courtois, in the confidence of her father, who is anxious to prevent a ceremony that would preclude her from becoming the wife of the Hungarian, makes use of every method his ingenuity can devise to put off his marriage with the beautiful heiress. John Delancey Curtis, who, with a friend unwittingly secures a room next the one occupied by the count, wears the count's coat by mistake, and later finding a marriage certificate containing Lady Hermione's name, goes in search of her to return the document. They fall in love and finally marry.

GREAT NORTHERN TO FILM PEACE NOVEL

The motion picture rights for Baroness Bertha von Suttner's novel, entitled, "Lay Down Your Arms," have been acquired by the Great Northern Film Company. Baroness von Suttner was the Austrian authoress and famous exponent of peace, who died on June 21 in Vienna. The Great Northern Company is at present busily engaged on a photo-dramatization of this book for a five part production.

"Lay Down Your Arms" achieved world-wide success when published in 1890. It is a strong argument for universal peace. The authoress had tasted of the bitter sorrows of war, when as a girl she was betrothed to a prince who was killed in a battle.

The Baroness wrote over thirty novels and novelettes, but it was "Lay Down Your Arms" which made her famous. She visited the United States in 1904 and in 1912, on the second visit remaining for six months, during which time she delivered a number of lectures, advocating arbitration instead of war. In 1905 she was awarded the Nobel Peace Prize. At one time she was the secretary to Dr. Alfred B. Nobel.

"THE CRUCIBLE OF FLAME"

(Features Ideal—Three Reels)

REVIEWED BY PETER MILNE

INASMUCH as this production is a picturized version of a most sad topic, it would receive satisfactorily, even if the valuable acting and supreme photographic effects did not accompany it. As these two important essentials of a good picture are combined with the pathetic story, the production may be termed an excellent one, and it will be peculiar if it meets with anything except success.

THE DEATH OF IRENE'S HUSBAND

The sad story of the young girl, who has grown up in blissful ignorance of the ways of the world in the quiet seclusion of a country town, and then journeying to the city where she falls in with evil companions, will touch the hearts of all, none excepted. A feeling of great satisfaction comes over one when he sees her finally restored to her father.

Della Porta is featured in the picture and a fine cast supports her. The story contains nothing startling, but nevertheless is most absorbing. There are a few scenes which arouse the sympathy even more than the entire idea of the picture. The parting of the father and daughter is exceedingly touching. Scenes which take place in the café are realistic, and afford a change from the more serious parts. The final reunion of Irene and her father makes a very pretty end.

The photography of the picture is clear and toned in a pleasing way throughout. A fine fire scene appears in the latter part of the second reel.

THE LURE OF THE SAWDUST

(American)

REVIEWED BY C. J. VERHALEN

THE Flying "A" Company, which is headed by Winifred Greenwood and Edward Coxen, interpret this story of the circus world. One of the large circuses of this country is brought into play. Much that will interest the general public is caught by the camera, such as the moving of a circus, the erecting of a tent, and the other details which have always been a mystery to the show-loving people of America.

A good, strong plot has been built around the free and open lifed people of the tanbark. Bits of sentiment and rural life are worked into the photoplay by the introduction of several characters who play a prominent part in the production of this film.

Annette, a bareback rider in a circus, is the object of attention on the part of Henri Dupree, a ringmaster. These attentions arouse the jealousy of Marie, another performer, and she plots Annette's downfall. One day as the opportunity presents itself, she wires one of the paper hoops through which Annette jumps in the course of her acts. She is seriously injured, and is taken to a local hospital, while the circus goes on.

A young farmer chap falls in love with her and wins her. A year later the circus returns, the call of the sawdust is felt by Annette, and for just one performance she returns to the tent. The binding link, however, to her domestic duties is her babe. She returns to her husband and child after a hard battle with the lure of circus life.

THE FAMILY GATHERING

"SANDS OF LIFE"

(Balboa-Box Office Attractions—Two Reels)

REVIEWED BY A. DANSON MICHELL

AS in other productions by this company, the photography is beyond reproach. The story is original and clever, and the acting good, making, all told, a desirable release. The picture will be placed on the market in a short time by the Box Office Film Attractions Company, who have obtained the rights for the entire North and South America.

The plot is one continuous round of action. It tells the life story of a prize fighter in a manner that teaches a lesson. Henry King plays the leading part in a commendable manner. He has a good build for such a part and registers careful and capable work.

THE CHALLENGE IS GIVEN

There are some excellent double exposures. The settings are all most appropriate, especially the ring scenes. The fighting scenes were well staged. There were several beautiful moonlight effects.

Jack, a young fighter, becomes rich and spends his money rapidly. He finally becomes dissipated and loses his fights. He wanders from bad to worse and finally, in a starving condition, fights his last battle.

ROSKAM RETURNS FROM EUROPE

Ed. M. Roskam, president of the Life Photo Film Corporation, has just returned after a tour through England and the continent. Mr.

ED. M. ROSKAM

Roskam has made a thorough and exhaustive investigation into the foreign film market and brings back with him trade conditions with a mass of data and information that will be invaluable to the American producers.

Next week there will appear a review by Mr. Roskam of the American film invasion in England and the continent.

GETS PUBLICITY FOR "THE $1,000,000 MYSTERY"

F. V. Armato, motion picture editor of the Philadelphia "Evening Telegram," deserves considerable credit for the able manner in which he handled for his paper the advanced notices of "The Million Dollar Mystery," the Thanhouser serial which has been causing so much talk among picture fans throughout the country since announcements were made that the story of the picture would appear simultaneously in the principal papers all over the United States.

"The Million Dollar Mystery," by Harold MacGrath, the well-known author, is scheduled to appear in the "Evening Telegram" serially in conjunction with the run of the picture in Philadelphia houses. Mr. Armato was formerly Philadelphia correspondent for THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS, and is known among his colleagues as an able and energetic man in his chosen profession.

Will Handle Best Films of All Companies

Paramount Goes Into Open Market for High-Class Productions—Does Not Intend to Restrict Programs to Present List.

THE Paramount Picture Corporation announces to the trade the inauguration of a policy which will enable exhibitors to obtain full programs of high-class productions throughout the year. In order to do this, the Paramount concern has decided to go into the open market and buy the best films from all producers whose releases measure up to the standard set for the pictures to be supplied to Paramount customers, in addition to the pictures already arranged for with the Famous Players Film Company, the Jesse L. Lasky Feature Play Company, and Bosworth, Inc.

GROUP OF NOTABLES IN FILM WORLD IN OFFICES OF PARAMOUNT PICTURES CORPORATION, NEW YORK CITY

1. Hiram Abrams, Famous Players Film Co., Boston, Mass. 2. Wm. L. Sherry, Wm. L. Sherry Feature Film Co., New York City. 3. James Steele, Famous Players Film Service, Pittsburgh, Pa. 4. Wm. W. Hodkinson, president, Paramount Pictures Corporation. 5. Raymond Rawley, treasurer, Paramount Pictures Corporation.

Exhibitors in small places will be able to get through the various exchanges throughout the country handling Paramount pictures, films of dramatic productions which made hits on Broadway theatres at two-dollar prices.

The exchanges are: The Casino Feature Film Company, Dime Bank Building, Detroit; the Kansas City Feature Film Company, Gaiety Theatre Building, Kansas City, Mo.; the Notable Feature Film Company, Boston Building, Salt Lake City; the Famous Players Star Feature Film Service, Temple Court Building, Minneapolis; the Progressive Motion Picture Company, Pacific Building, San Francisco, the Central Building, Seattle, Marsh-Strong Building, Los Angeles; the Famous Players Film Company of New England, 31 Beach street, Boston; the William L. Sherry Feature Film Company, 125 West Forty-sixth street, New York; the Famous Players Exchange, 1331 Vine street, Philadelphia; the Famous Players Feature Company, 28 West Lexington street, Baltimore; and the Famous Players Film Service, 404 Ferry street, Pittsburgh, Pa.

The Paramount program is expected to add prestige to a house, and without doubt will live up to the claims of the company that its pictures will draw the most desirable class of patrons. The releases will cost a trifle more than many pictures contracted for by exhibitors, but the excellent quality of the Paramount products justify the extra expense.

FIRST 20th CENTURY FILM UNDER WAY

The 20th Century Feature Film Company will start on its first American production this week. A well-known producer will be the managing director; Frederick Beck, the photographic expert; Geo. H. Jones, assistant director, and H. B. Reynolds, general manager.

Mr. Beck has photographed "The Three Musketeers," "House of Bondage," "Trapped in the Great Metropolis," "Traffickers on Soles" and many others.

The policy of the new company will be to produce twelve or more features a year.

SPECIAL FILM REVIEWS

"A Beggar Prince of India." (Victor. Three reels. Friday, July 10.)—The most worthy feature of this picture is the fact that it gets away from almost every other film. The plot is not original, but the characters are unlike any other picture. The story is carefully drawn and the action logical and concise. Several poor settings mar the otherwise good effect.

The beggar prince, the rightful heir to the throne, meets the daughter of the usurper and love is started. He enlists the aid of the hillsmen and rescues the girl from the man she has been forced to marry.

"Nerve." (Balboa Box Office Attractions Co.)—Henry King, Della Connors, William Wolbert and Jeanie McPherson are the principals in this one-reel drama of mining life. The story is noticeable because it is one of the very few that depict a miner's life as it really is and shows the manner in which ore is extracted.

It has strong, virile points and is acted in a careful manner with great care for details. The name is derived from the actions of a woman when placed face to face with danger. There is much to admire in the picture.

A young man is victimized into buying a salted mine. Discovering this, he enters the house of the man who had perpetrated the fraud on him and in robbing it is discovered by his daughter. She, however, lets him go on hearing his story.

"The Lady of the Island." (Imp. Two reels. Monday, July 6. Featuring Dorothy Phillips.)—The story is unusual in many ways and makes an excellent feature. The photography is clear, the acting excellent, and the settings appropriate. There is a very clever dog introduced who does feats that exhibit almost human intelligence.

By the terms of a will a villain is made beneficiary in the event of the death of the girl. He takes her to an island, where she is nearly killed several times. A couple of campers, however, come to her rescue, and with the aid of the crew of an eight-oared shell, beat the villain and his accomplice.

"The Prescription." (Melies. Two reels. Thursday, July 2.)—This is one of the best pictures that Melies has put out. The plot of the drama is almost entirely new, and although the idea is somewhat exaggerated, it is no doubt true in part.

The story is woven about a group of rich doctors. They care little about their poor patients and usually give them prescriptions which they are unable to have filled. But one of the doctors is of a better sort, and after studying the situation he brings about the reformation of the others. After one has seen the picture he may be thankful that there are just a few doctors of this class and many of the better.

The photography of the picture is very good. The scenes, mostly interiors, are carefully laid. The acting is of the best.

"A Mexican Spy in America." (101 Bison. Two reels. Saturday, July 18.)—This picture was photographed in Honolulu and, due to the similarity between Mexico and Honolulu, the Mexican atmosphere is uppermost in every foot of the picture. The part of the action that transpires in the United States is supposed to take place on the border, and here, too, the atmosphere is predominant. The Mexicans that appear in the picture, other than the principals, are Hawaiians and these latter make ideal Mexicans. The drill scenes on the border are most realistic, partly because they are real. Besides these valuable elements of the picture the drama has a new turn to affairs when, in the finale, the hero turns from the heroine even after she has proved herself worthy of him.

The Mexican spy is a friend of the son of the commandant of the United States fort, and when war is declared the spy is commissioned to procure the signal code. He is found out and apprehended before any harm occurs. Marie Walcamp and William Clifford are the principals.

"Across the Burning Trestle." (Edison. Saturday, July 18.)—This is by far one of the best one-reel dramas that have been released for a long time. It is a dramatic adaptation from Francis Lynde's novel, "In Christmas Canyon." Mabel Trunnelle, Yale Benner and Herbert Prior are the principals of the cast. The picture teems with interest from start to finish; the only complaint is that it is too short. The telegrapher is taken ill and his wife obtains a position at a lonely station in order to support him. The old operator at the station determines to revenge himself on his employers and sets fire to the trestle when a special train is due. But the girl rushes across the bridge and flags the train. She and her husband are both rewarded with good positions on account of this act.

SCENE FROM GEORGE KLEINE'S "A KINGDOM AT STAKE"
(Released through General Film Special Feature Department, June 29.)

INCORPORATIONS

Among the latest companies to be formed and registered are the following:

At Albany, N. Y.:

PANSY AMUSEMENT CORPORATION. Motion picture and general theatrical agency; $1,000; Manhattan. Louis N. Moss, Morris Levy and Benj. S. Moss.

WORLD EXHIBITING CO. Motion pictures; $50,000. E. F. Ambler, H. M. C. Woolf, L. Dennis, 451 W. 22d street.

THE TAYLOR FILM PRODUCING COMPANY. Motion pictures; $5,000; Brooklyn. Thos. A. Kirby, Richard F. Keough, Samuel H. Harris, of New York.

MANHATTAN SLIDE AND FILM COMPANY, INC. Manufacturing slides, films, advertising devices, and general advertising, manufacturing films for motion pictures; $1,000; Manhattan. Herbert Wyckoff, David Morris, of New York, and Sydney Solomon, of Brooklyn.

AEOLIAN AMUSEMENT COMPANY, INC. Motion pictures; $10,000; Manhattan. Charles Boylan, Donald M. Campbell and Herbert Ascher, of New York.

THE PLEASURE COMPANY, INC. General amusement park, motion picture theatres and restaurants; $7,500; Brooklyn. Timothy F. Murphy, Laura A. Murphy and John B. Kelly, of Brooklyn.

TRENTON GRAND THEATRE COMPANY, INC. Theatrical and motion picture business; $5,000; Manhattan. Max Spiegel, Edward Spiegel and Thos. McMahon, of New York.

ISLAND AMUSEMENT CORPORATION. General amusement and motion picture shows; $5,000; Mineola. Aaron Helman, Samuel B. Levi, of New York, and Aaron Sekelinsky.

M. A. MYERS AMUSEMENT CORPORATION. Reality, public amusement resort, motion picture shows, etc.; $200,000; Buffalo. Merlin A. Myers, Opal G. Hoefler, Tibbitts C. Pierce and two others, of Buffalo.

CAPITAL CITY FILM AND PRODUCTION COMPANY. Howard J. Curtis, Wilson F. Sanderson, C. Klarsfeld, Harry Morris, Neil V. McDonald, John C. Crary and Matthew A. Sweeny, all of Albany.

RAY FILM COMPANY. $15,000. C. F. Ray, F. T. Reeve, G. H. Borst, 600 E. 4th St.

GOLDSEAL FILM CORPORATION. Motion pictures, etc.; $30,000; Manhattan. A. L. Burchell, T. K. Mablon, A. D. Ghersan, New York City.

SAND AMUSEMENT COMPANY, INC. Motion pictures, theatres, etc.; $6,000; Brooklyn. Jacob Sommer, Abr. G. Wolf, Isaac Meister, all of 1948 85th St., Brooklyn.

At Harrisburg, Pa.:

LYMAN H. HOWE FILM COMPANY. To manufacture and sell motion picture films and apparatus; $40,000; Wilkes-Barre. Lyman H. Howe, S. M. Walkinshaw and P. A. Meixell, all of Wilkes-Barre.

THE LYMAN H. HOWE ATTRACTIONS COMPANY. Motion picture exhibitors; $25,000; Wilkes-Barre. Lyman H. Howe, S. M. Walkinshaw and P. A. Meixell, Wilkes-Barre.

THE MONARCH AMUSEMENT COMPANY. To give motion picture shows and other entertainments, at 262 Apsley street, Germantown, Philadelphia; $5,000. Joseph Morris, Edward H. Ugele and Lewis Costers, all of Philadelphia, and Samuel Bugeleisen, New York City.

JUNCTIONS PARK AMUSEMENT COMPANY. Motion picture exhibitors; $5,000; Beaver. L. S. Morlan, S. E. Duff, R. D. Hunter, J. R. Marshall and Clarence Rarick, all of Beaver.

EASTON CONSOLIDATED AMUSEMENT COMPANY. Motion picture and photoplay business; $10,000. Charles D. Brunner, H. M. Ackerman and Frank Flynn, all of Easton.

At Wilmington, Del.:

THE FROHMAN AMUSEMENT COMPANY. To purchase, own, prepare and lease feature films, photograph films, both negative and positive; $500,000; New York. W. L. Sherrell, Harry T. Rause, Byron E. Carl, E. W. A. Meysenburg, all of New York.

AMALGAMATED FILM CORPORATION. Dealing in films for motion picture machines; $800,000. H. E. Latter, W. J. Maloney, O. J. Reichard, Wilmington.

STANDARD FILM CORPORATION. To operate motion picture exchanges; $1,500,000. H. O. Coughlan, J. F. Curtin, New York City; J. M. Satterfield, Dover.

At Providence, R. I.:

LITTLE RHODY FILM & MANUFACTURING COMPANY. Manufacturing and dealing in moving picture films and all appliances; $150,000; Kittery. Pres., A. D. Sawin, Providence, R. I.; treas., H. Mitchell, Kittery.

Changing Reels With Chaney

While on a recent visit to a theatre on the East Side, I found that the operator had gone out for a while and left the machine in charge of a boy about eighteen years of age.

Some children had set fire to an old clothes hamper in the street and it was smoldering in the bottom.

One of the boys threw the cover back with a stick and immediately a dense cloud of smoke arose, blowing into the open windows of the theatre.

Some idiot, such as always materializes in a case like this, yelled fire, and the panic started.

Fortunately no one was hurt, but it was through no fault of the employees, as some of them were the first to the doors.

With a state law for the proper supervision of operators, the public would have more confidence in them, and they probably would not rush for the exits at the first false alarm.

This law will undoubtedly come some day, and I suppose it is better late than never, but "how long, oh Lord, how long?"

ST. LOUIS UNION ELECTS OFFICERS

St. Louis Moving Picture Operators Union Local No. 143 has elected the following officers for the ensuing year: President R. M. Finnegan; vice-president, C. J. Mulcahy; recording secretary, A. L. Stone; financial secretary, Geo. McDonald; treasurer, Chas. Serkes; business agent, Wm. F. Canavan.

Local No. 143 is the oldest motion picture operators union in the United States and has done its share in establishing the high standard maintained in the picture business in St. Louis.

R. Srenco, operator at the Grand Opera House for the past two seasons, went to Chicago July 1 to join the Kinemacolor demonstrating force.

WASHINGTON, D. C., WARBLES

I am informed that the baseball team of Washington operators, under the able management of Brother Spellbring, will play the Baltimore operators on Saturday, July 27.

If Baltimore does not make a better showing than they did last year, it looks like a victory for Washington.

I am given to understand that Washington beat Baltimore six (count 'em) times last season, so it behooves Baltimore to wake up.

Washington issues a defi to any operators' team in the Sunny South. Anyone wishing to arrange for a game can communicate with Manager B. A. Spellbring, Gayety Theatre Building.

Good luck to all, and may the best team win.

PROVIDENCE, (R. I.,) PIPPINS

The Pastime Theatre, Olneyville, R. I., closed for the summer on June 13. Operator Sylvinia has accepted a position with Messrs. Spitz Matheson for the summer months.

Camille Turcotte, chief operator of Bullock's Theatre, has taken a position at Narragansett Pier.

Operators Harry Kelley and E. Reddy are employed at the Westminster Theatre, which is following a picture policy during the summer.

Most of the operators in Providence are preparing for the vacation which they receive every summer.

This is what I call a "dispensation of Providence."

I think Providence overlooked New York, as the only time we get a vacation here is when we offer the office boy's excuse, "Grandmother's dead."

MEANDERING AROUND MANHATTAN

In the spring a young man's fancy, etc., etc., and I think it must be contagious.

Brother Harry Greenhouse and his ladye fayre hied them to the proper place a short time ago and are now spending their honeymoon at 67 West 107th street.

We all wish them the best luck in the world, and may all their troubles be little ones.

Does anybody want to buy a camera? If so apply to W. J. Sweeney. It has never been used. It is a good one, for Charley Unger says so.

Paste this in your hat:

Perfect Photo Plays Properly Projected Positively Please Particular People

Brother H. J. Smith of Rochester, was in town for a few days, and dropped in to see yours truly. He impressed the writer as being up-to-date and progressive in every way. He reports that things are going along swimmingly in Rochester.

ONEIDA (N. Y.,) OBSERVATIONS

Brother James Peck left last week for Norwich, N. Y. He is the only L. A. operator in the town. A local paper gave him some boost. They claim his pictures are 35% above the non-union operators.

Can some brother tell us what the attraction for Brother Gleeson in Canastota is?

Oneida has three moving picture theatres. The Park has just opened after being closed for several months, and plays the Mutual and Pathé Dailies.

The Dreamland has opened under new management doing good business. It plays the mutual program.

The Gem, the home of the licensed and the Feature films, is playing to capacity houses. Last Wednesday "Protea" was shown and it had to be repeated Thursday. Monday they feature "The Stars and Stripes in Mexico."

There is considerable talk of placing a pipe organ in the Madison Theatre.

Right Off the Reel

Joe Flores, chief cowboy at the Universal ranch, north of Los Angeles, was confronted with being dashed down a ravine or thrown into a board fence surrounding the 180-acre ranch, when the horses hitched to a chariot, used in a chariot race in the production of "Damon and Pythias," ran away. Flores chose the board fence route, and to the surprise of the hundreds who viewed the runaway, the horses dashed through the structure as though it were but tissue paper. And the mystery to all is that Flores was not injured in the least and the horses were but slightly scratched about their heads.

"Pard," the big Collie, which has been appearing in J. Warren Kerrigan Universal pictures, has been given notice that his services will no longer be needed, and that by his master and trainer—Jack Warren. "The last picture he worked in," the Universal star explained, 'Pard' tried to romp away with all the laurels, and now since I have seen the first print, am sure that he pushed me back among the settings. That's gratitude! The kennel for 'Pard' hereafter."

"Business vs. Love" is a one-reel picture in which Vivian Rich and William Garwood play opposite in a domestic drama. Garwood, as the husband, is absorbed in his business interests and Vivian Rich, as the wife, is pining away for the love and devotion she craves, but does not receive. Woman's instinct leads her to adopt desperate measures to accomplish the desired end. Released July 22.

Robert Leonard, actor and director of Rex dramas, has just completed a one-reel subject entitled, "The Symphony of Souls." It tells the story of a young and poor violinist who plays to himself, little dreaming that each note is eagerly absorbed by a sightless girl who lives across the hall. The story plays between the palaces of the rich and the hovels of the exceedingly poor.

Wilfred Buckland, artistic director with the Lasky company, constructed a stockade at Hollywood which Stuart Edward White, author of "The Call of the North," said is even more natural than the original which formerly stood at Big Lake Tap, Canada, far north of the beaten trails.

Three seals have been acquired by the Universal Film Manufacturing Company and added to the company's zoo at Universal City, Calif. The seals will be used in motion pictures.

The Faust Film Company is busy with the production of a feature picture of several reels, in which children will play the important parts. The company is working at the Eastlake studio, in East Los Angeles. The title for the picture is "Jessie of the Mountain Country."

In a forthcoming Edison multiple, "The President's Special," two trains were used only to be splintered into a thousand pieces after crashing into each other. So great was the force of the collision that the cameramen were in grave danger of being struck by the flying parts.

INTERESTING FILM REVIEWS

PRODUCTIONS FROM ALL PROGRAMS

GENERAL FILM PROGRAM

"The Poor Folks' Boy." (Vitagraph. Two reels. Tues., June 30.)—A pathetic story is told in these two reels, but there is nothing to warrant this length. The story contains nothing to awaken the enthusiasm and would be better as a one-reel picture. Paul Willis, Anne Shaefer and George C. Stanley play the leads. The greedy creditor, little by little, takes the widow's all. When he proposes taking her boy, she and he rebel and the two calmly leave their home.

"The Daring Young Person." (Essanay. Tues., June 30.)—Ruth Stonehouse and Richard Travers head the cast. The picture is a comedy-drama that stands by itself. "The Daring Young Person" is a young girl, who falls in love with a man at first sight. The queer experience that he goes through to win her will amuse all.

"Hearts of Men." (Selig. Tues., June 30.)—A strong picture, but in parts the evidence of poor producing is obvious. The fugitive and the man-hunter, after fighting for hours on the desert, unite their forces to battle against the sand-storm. Both are saved and later become the best of friends. Lester Cuneo and Barney Furey are the principals.

"The Walko Sisters." (Lubin. Tues., June 30.)—A poor comedy which furnishes little amusement. One of the Walko sisters is a man. They travel in the country towns and give fake exhibitions of their strength. In one place they are found out and consequently mobbed.

"One Suit of Clothes." (Melies. Tues., June 30.)—Two chums are possessed of but one suit of clothes. They manage to get along until Joe's sweetheart arrives, and all is discovered. This is an old comedy, but all will be amused by it.

Pathé Daily, June 29. (Pathé. Mon., June 29.)—The greater part of this daily shows the recent disastrous fire in Salem, Mass. Some wonderful views are shown, taken both at night and in the day. Roosevelt arriving at Madrid, Spain, to attend the wedding of his son Kermit, is the other item.

Hearst-Selig News Pictorial No. 35. (Selig. Mon., June 29.)—This reel starts with the pictures of the eruption of Mt. Lassen, California, a volcano that was thought to be extinct. Mexican news has started to come to the front again. The weekly closes with an excellent view of the Yale-Harvard rowing race at New London, Conn.

"The Leopard's Foundling." (Selig. Two reels. Mon., June 29.)—Written, acted and produced by Kathlyn Williams, this drama may be conceded a place among the best. Wild animals have been introduced and their presence creates added interest in the story. The rest of the cast consists of Thomas Santschi, Mrs. Clifton, Lillian Wade, Charles Clary and Lafayette McKee. Balu wanders away from her parents while they are traveling in Africa. She finds her way to a leopard's cave, where she lives for fifteen years. A hunter finds her and persuades her to return to civilization, and he eventually marries her. Her actions when clothed in fashionable garments and while meeting other people furnish the humorous parts of the story.

"The Gang." (Vitagraph. Mon., June 29.)—A pretty and interesting story of a gang of street ruffians who, after a series of entertaining experiences, are finally given a chance to make good citizens of themselves. Paul Kelly plays the lead.

"The Fable of the Good Fairy." (Essanay. Wed., July 1.)—The second of the pictures adapted from George Ade's humorous writings. A comical story of a society woman who tried to uplift the poor by dispensing literature among them. She fails in her mission and takes up dancing instead. Eddie Redway and Mabel Eaton are the principals.

"The Empty Sleeve." (Selig. Wed., July 1.)—Two old soldiers who have been separated since they last met on the battlefield meet again. A happy marriage between their children takes place. A drama which will be received well wherever shown. The cast: Thomas Santschi, Miss Greeson, Harry Lonsdale, Lillian Leighton and Franklyn Hall.

"A Monk's Sacrifice." (Melies. Wed., July 1.)—An old monk discovers the secret of gunpowder and offers to sell it to the queen who is at odds with her husband. The king comes to the monk and demands the secret from him. Rather than favor the king, the monk blows himself up by means of his discovery.

"The Circus and the Boy." (Vitagraph. Wed., July 1.)—One of the Sonny Jim series in which Bobby Connelly plays the lead. Jim is left in care of his aunt and runs away to the circus, where he impersonates the dwarf until his aunt and mother arrive. The comedy will amuse the children.

"Back to the Simple Life." (Edison. Wed., July 1.)—Richard Tucker and Sally Crute play the principal roles. The city couple decide to move to the country, but the country life does not come up to their expectations and they return. There are humorous moments in this reel, but as a whole it is rather dencient in merriment.

"The Living Fear." (Luhin. Two reels. Wed., July 1.)—When one knows that he is to see a Luhin drama he expects to see something good. He is in no way disappointed by this one as it is well up to the Luhin standard. The picture tells in an absorbing way how a monomaniac was cured through the love of a girl. There are no thrilling scenes, but the interest is not once lost.

"The Fatal Portrait." (Kalem. Two reels. Wed., July 1.)—Featuring Irene Boyle and Robert Ellis. This is an excellent drama in which, through the accusations of a jealous woman, the artist is led to believe that his model is of bad character. The accuser relents in the end and the artist and the model are happily married.

"Two Stepchildren." (Vitagraph. Thurs., July 2.)—James Morrison and Dorothy Kelly interpret the leading roles. Both of the children are terribly mistreated. The young man becomes a successful artist and is able to marry the girl. An exceptionally entertaining drama.

"The Shadow of Tragedy." (Lubin. Two reels. Thurs., July 2.)—This drama is not up to the high standard set by the Luhin dramas recently. Arthur V. Johnson and Lottie Briscoe play the leads, and one expects better work from both. A young man marries a girl knowing nothing of her past. He sees her with her brother and thinks that he is an old suitor. He shoots at the man, but wounds his wife. She recovers and all is well again.

"Military Discipline." (Melies. Split reel. Thurs., July 2.)—On the same reel with "Womanly Curiosity." Six soldiers perform here. They march through everything and create a great disturbance, besides allowing the audience a good many laughs.

"Womanly Curiosity." (Melies. Split reel. Thurs., July 2.)—On the same reel with "Military Discipline." The husband plays a practical joke on his wife to test her strength of mind. She does not survive it. A comedy that will amuse all.

"The Goat." (Biograph. Split reel. Thurs., July 2.)—On the same reel with "The Firemen's Social." The editor of the country paper lays the blame of his editorials on the printer's devil. He is handled roughly by all the members of the town. All will find this reel humorous.

"Pathé's Weekly." (Pathé. Wed., July 1.)—The most interesting views are the boat races on the Thames River in Connecticut. Automobile races in Portland, Oregon, and the arrival of Roosevelt in Madrid complete the real news.

"The Firemen's Social." (Biograph. Split reel. Thurs., July 2.)—The good dresser is not invited to the firemen's social, and seeks revenge. He sends in several false alarms and laughs at his joke. Finally he is caught in a fire, but is not rescued until he is half burnt up. One of the better comedies.

Hearst-Selig News Pictorial, No. 36. (Selig. Thurs., July 2.)—No important events are shown in this number, but all the news is interesting.

"Sophie Gets Stung." (Essanay. Thurs., July 2.)—The had man of the town is in love with Sophie, but after a lot of comical running is prevented from marrying her. The picture is a laugh throughout.

"The Shattered Tree." (Edison. Two reels. Friday, July 3.)—The well known, but ever interesting story of two brothers in which the good-for-nothing turns out to be the better of the two. A pretty love story is told in the last reel. Ben Wilson, Harry Beaumont and Gertrude McCoy are the principal characters. The drama commands the closest attention from start to finish. Most of the action takes place in the East, but a few Western scenes are given.

"Fleeing from the Fleas." (Kalem. Split reel. Friday, July 3.)—On the same reel with "Trooping the Colors." One of the better comedies. Brown and Jones both love the same girl. At a dance Jones discovers to his great discomfort that fleas have invaded his suit. A lot of comical events follow. The police force are introduced on skates, which adds to the merriment. Marshal Neilan, John E. Brennan and Ruth Roland head the cast.

"Trooping the Colors." (Kalem. Split reel. Friday, July 3.)—On the same reel with "Fleeing from the Fleas." This half reel shows England's life guards on drill.

"The Doom of Duty." (Luhin. Friday, July 3.)—A Mexican story of more than usual interest. Captain Barker is in love with the daughter of a Mexican rebel leader. In a desperate encounter between the two parties the Mexican is mortally wounded. Velma Witman, Tom Forman and H. S. Wilson play the leads.

"Making Good with Her." Selig. Split reel. Friday, July 3.)—On the same reel with "Doc Yak's Wishes." A fine comedy. Jimmie is advised by his sweetheart to become acquainted with her family before marrying her. He does this and has an awful job. Bound to strike all as very humorous.

"Doc Yak's Wishes." (Selig. Split reel. Friday, July 3.)—On the same reel with "Making Good with Her." Another comical animated cartoon which makes a fitting end to the preceding comedy.

"A Train of Incidents." (Vitagraph. Fri., July 3.)—The John Bunny fans will enjoy this comedy more than many others. The two old people each have their wards to take care of and they cause them a lot of trouble before a double wedding takes place. John Bunny, Flora Finch, Mary Anderson and Charles Bryant are the principals.

"Broncho Billy's Punishment." (Essanay. Saturday, July 4.)—One of the best of this series. The picture teaches a strong lesson. Billy is a drunkard, and through his craving for liquor and his brutality to his wife and children when he is drunk, he causes the death of his little daughter. G. M. Anderson and Evelyn Selbie play the leads.

"The Kidnapped Bride." (Lubin. Split reel, Saturday, July 4.)—On the same reel with "It's a Shame." The two rejected suitors kidnap the bride of their favored rival, but they are foiled in the end. This comedy is a laugh throughout.

"Hidden Death." (Melies. Two reels. Saturday, July 4.)—A two-reel mystery story of unusual interest. The Countess of Nantil is the wife of a French nobleman who is loved by his secretary. He forgets his wife and returns the love of his subordinate. Later the Countess is found dead. The police are unable to find the murderer, but a very clever detective clears up the case.

"The Little Hobo." (Selig. Sat., July 4.)—A pretty drama in which the "Little Hobo," who is a wandering girl, is the means of saving the station master from strikers and averting a wreck. Leila Frost, Harold Vosburgh and Ralph Delmore head the cast.

"The Toll." (Vitagraph. Two reels. Sat., July 4.)—The main characters are James Morrison, Dorothy Kelly, George Cooper and Marie Weirman. Steele is saved from the blackhand through the efforts of Marta, the wife of their leader. Steele's wife is jealous of Marta and leaves bim. Later Marta saves Steele again, but in so doing loses her own life. All is put aright between the couple.

"It's a Shame." (Lubin. Split reel. Saturday, July 4.)—On the same reel with "The Kidnapped Bride." A humorous half reel in which the two husbands who remain out late at night suddenly reform and turn the tables on their wives. The principal characters are Irish.

"Her Spanish Cousins." (Edison. Mon., July 6.)—Humorous bits of comedy appear now and then in this reel, but aside from these the picture is quite dry. Hepzibah Perkins goes to Spain to see her Spanish cousins. She wins a husband on the trip, which is about all the picture contains. The cast consists of May Abbey, Ben Wilson, Mrs. Wm. Bechtel and William Bechtel.

"Eva, the Cigarette Girl." (Biograph. Split reel. Mon., July 6.)—On the same reel with "The Boiler-Maker's Day of Rest." A poor comedy, in which the villain captures the heroine, who is finally rescued by the hero. Snakes and the police force are introduced.

"The Boiler-Maker's Busy Day." (Biograph. Split reel. Mon., July 6.)—The boiler-maker tries to sleep, but is bothered by the agent, the ice man, and street musicians. A chase ends the picture and makes it laughable.

Hearst-Selig News Pictorial No. 37. (Selig. Mon., July 6.)—The havoc which the recent flood wrought in Paris and the ruins of sections of Salem, Mass., are the two events of world interest. The other topics are less important, but no less entertaining.

"The False and the True." (Vitagraph. Mon., July 6.)—James Morrison and Dorothy Kelly play the leads. Their work is not quite up to their usual standard. The story will appeal to all. Tom loves Betty and she returns his love until the arrival of Tom's brother, Dick, when she forsakes Tom. She is blinded by an explosion. Dick refuses to marry her and Tom takes his place and conceals his identity. Later she regains her sight and realizes that Tom is the better of the two.

"Reporter Jimmie Intervenes." (Selig. Two reels. Mon., July 6.)—The only fault that may be found with this picture is that it contains a trifle too much padding; otherwise it is almost perfect. Guy Oliver and Stella Razetto interpret the leading roles. Jimmie, a reporter, lays bare a gigantic trust. His experiences form a fine series of exciting events.

"A Night with a Million." (Essanay. Tues., July 7.)—A comedy which will cause everyone to laugh. Francis X. Bushman appears in most of the scenes, nearly always alone. The secretary of the stock broker has some valuable bonds left with him. He resolves to get them to his master. The experiences which he goes through before he at last reaches his destination are sidesplitting. The bonds turn out to be worthless.

"Algie's Sister." (Selig. Tues., July 7.)—Algie is sent out West to get a taste of rough life. He hires another man to impersonate his sister and, when leaving, exposes his trick. This picture set the whole house in roars of laughter.

UNIVERSAL PROGRAM

"The Lost Arrow." (Nestor. Wed., July 1.)—An Indian drama far better than the average which the lovers of this variety of story will appreciate. Its ending is pathetic. Two braves are rivals for an Indian maid. She kills herself.

"The One Best Bet." (Imp. Fri., July 17.)—Written, produced and played by King Baggot, and supported by Arline Pretty and Frank Smith. The story is a clever comedy that will "get across." His prospective father-in-law, although strongly opposed to gambling, is arrested at the race track for betting on the horses. King frees him and, on his promise of silence, wins the girl.

"Out of the Valley." (Victor. Mon., July 13.)—J. W. Kerrigan is the only star in this drama. He takes the part of an outlaw. When he is caught by the sheriff he pleads to be allowed to see his wife who is coming to meet him with the immigrant train. The train is attacked by Indians and he and the sheriff are the means of rescuing the people. After this experience be is allowed to go free.

"Plain Mary." (Rex. Sun., July 12.)—Lois Weber and Phillips Smalley play the leads. No one pays any attention to Mary until she wears good clothes then the whole town is after her. When she goes back to her old ways they all desert her except one, who wins her heart. The picture is a mixture of comedy and drama and will be appreciated by all.

"Willie Walrus and the Awful Confession." (Joker. Wed., July 15.)—William Wolbert, who plays the lead in these comedies, is a new kind of comedian. As the laughs that he causes are produced by himself alone. He hardly moves a muscle and it is just his queer actions that furnish the humor. This picture is a laugh throughout and all will enjoy it.

"Willie and the Parisians." (Eclair. Split reel. Sun., July 12.)—On the same reel with "Lily as a Little Mother." By numerous pranks Willie gets rid of the family's obtrusive city relatives. The picture is colored and deserves to be ranked with the better comedies.

"Lily as a Little Mother." (Eclair. Split reel. Sun., July 12.)—On the same reel with "Willie and the Parisians." This story will amuse the youngsters, especially the girls. Lily has a pet dog which she cares for like a child.

"The Fight in Lonely Gulch." (Frontier. Sun., July 12.)—A story that varies but little from other Frontier melodramas. Joe disappears at the same time the mail is robbed. Arthur is blamed, but Dolly's discovery of a clue frees him and Joe and his pals are captured.

"Snookies Flirtation." ((Sterling. Thur., July 9.)—Ford Sterling at his best. Much fun in a shoe store, in which every box and every pair of shoes is thrown somewhere, resulting in an awful mix up.

"Billy's Vacation." (Sterling. Mon., July 6.)—Featuring the clever baby, Billy Jacobs. Billy is in "dutch" with the cook, but gets his revenge. Pepper in the soup is the least of his tricks.

"The Triangle Marriage." (Universal Ike. Tues., July 7.)—A Universal Ike picture in which that character does not appear. Louise Glaum is the leading figure. Forcing her two unfavored suitors to marry each other, while in disguise, gives her a chance to marry the man she loves.

"A Ranch Romance." (Nestor. Wed., July 8.)—A Western with Murdoch McQuarrie, Lon Chaney and Agnes Vernon. The plot is conventional, but is enacted in a manner that makes it most interesting. There is an excellent fight scene between the two men. The story is melodramatic.

"Her Grave Mistake." (Nestor. Wed., July 15.)—Murdoch McQuarrie and Lon Chaney. The story is not at all original, but Mr. McQuarrie has a way of putting over anything he tries. He is one of the masters of make-up and facial expression.

MUTUAL PROGRAM

"The only Clue." (Majestic. Tues., July 7.)—Irene Hunt and Eugene Pallet head the cast. One of the best entertainers. The man who killed another in the defense of a woman is hunted down by a detective. But when the latter hears his story he refuses to arrest him.

"Did She Run." (Royal. Sat., July 4.)—A fine comedy in which the town gossip almost precipitates a quarrel between husband and wife. The police force enter and a chase results.

"Bill's Job." (Komic. Sun., July 5.)—One of the best comedies put out under the brand of Komic. "Tammany" Young, Tod Browning and Fay Tincher are the principals. Bill gets a job as office boy and immediately his employer is prosperous. None of the usual slapstick action appears, but the picture is one continual laugh.

"A Cooked Goose." (Thanhouser. Sun., July 5.)—The adventures of two hoboes and a goose form the amusement in this reel. The comedy could be better, but as it is most will enjoy it.

Our Mutual Girl, No. 25. (Reliance. Mon., July 6.)—Miss Jane Park draws Margaret's picture, which is later shown to James Wigham, editor of Town and Country. Ada, Margaret's protege, is married. Dunbar, the detective, is in love with Margaret, but has said nothing as yet.

"How Izzy Was Saved." (Reliance. Wed., July 8.)—Izzy's girl who has cast him off mistakes a tramp for Izzy, and thinking that he has fallen low in life, welcomes him, himself, back. An amusing comedy.

"Caught in Tights." (Keystone. Split reel. Mon., June 29.)—On the same reel with "Ten Million Honey Makers." A country rube becomes infatuated with a lady of the circus and his infatuation leads him into all manner of difficulties, which will draw a laugh from everybody.

"Ten Million Honey Makers." (Keystone. Split reel. Mon., June 29.)—On the same reel with "Caught in Tights." A number of interesting views of the bee industry are shown here.

"Blue Knot, King of Polo." (Wed., June 24.)—Ed. Coxen and George Field play the leads. A pretty scene is the spectacle of the polo game. The plot is not clearly apparent but the picture is interesting. Two brothers are rivals for the same girl. To get revenge one tries to injure the polo pony of the other. But his plan fails and the two are reconciled.

"Mabel's Married Life." (Keystone. Sat., June 20.)—The best part of this comedy is that in which Charles Chaplain, as the drunken husband, has a fight with the dummy which is placed in the door by his wife, Mabel. Although this is the best part, the rest of the picture is far above the average comedy. All will be aching from laughter when it is over.

"Fatty's Finish." (Keytone. Thurs., July 2.)—Roscoe Arbuckle takes the part of a flirt in this comedy. He tries to become acquainted with various young girls, but does not succeed. The result is a chase in which the police force are prominent. The reel keeps one in a continual laugh.

"The Leaven of Good." (Thanhouser. Sun., July 12.)—Nell seeks her long lost brother in New York. He is a crook. One of his gang reforms and marries Nell, and she becomes the cause of her brother's reformation. Mayre Hall, Irving Cummings and Tom Crugar play the leads.

"The City." (Kay-Bee. Two reels. Fri., July 17.)—Those who love fast action, thrilling events, and a story of intrigue, but who care little for the consistency of the plot, will admire this picture more than others. The farmer's son is employed as a casbier in a city bucket shop. The father comes to the city and invests his money with the son's firm. At that time the place is raided, the two escape, the son with his father's check. On their arrival home a reconciliation follows.

Exchange Managers

High class, experienced Exchange Managers are invited to correspond regarding twenty-six distributing offices which I am about to open in the principal exchange centres of the United States and Canada. Must be familiar with specific territories.

David Horsley

Centaur Film Co. Bayonne, N. J.

"LUCILLE LOVE: GIRL OF MYSTERY"

(Gold Seal—Two Reels)

REVIEWED BY A. DANSON MICHELL

THE thirteenth number of this popular fifteen-chapter serial is scheduled for release on July 7. Francis Ford, Grace Cunard, Harry Schum and Wilbur Higby retain their original parts, while a number of supers augment the cast. The present film features Miss Cunard as a dancer, as is shown in the accompanying cut, in which she overhears a conversation between the two plotters relative to herself. She dances with languorous grace, and the charm of her personality in this scene cannot fail to leave a lasting impression on the audience.

As the picture nears its end the feeling gains ground that the villain, Loubeque, and the fascinating heroine Lucille, will in the finale, come to a proper understanding and marry. This, despite the fact that Lucille has a lover, Lieutenant Gibson. Their slight squabble in this installment makes the theory seem probable.

There is a great deal of comedy intermixed with the more serious action. This is rather overdone in the first reel and gives the appearance of padding, although it is all of a laugh-producing nature.

Lucille, after vainly trying to escape the machinations of her tormenter, Loubeque, agrees apparently to return with him to San Francisco, and give up the fight. She does this after a realistic automobile smash-up in which she is injured, and goes to a large hotel in that city. Here she is pestered by bell boys demanding tips. This is registered in the form of a burlesque and is well done.

THE DISGUISED LUCILLE OVERHEARS THE PLOTTERS

Going to a cabaret show with Loubeque, she impersonates a dancer, taking the place of one of the regular performers, and in this role overhears the conversation between Loubeque and one of his accomplices. Gibson, her lover, finding her there, breaks off his engagement with the girl.

"THE EAGLE'S MATE"

(Famous Players—Five Reels)

REVIEWED BY A. DANSON MICHELL

A PICTURE would have to be poor, very poor, if Mary Pickford could not lift it. Her wonderful personality, her sweet temperament, on the screen shows out so clearly, is so well defined, that one is apt to forget the play for the nonce. She seems to wrap herself up in the part she takes and becomes identified with it, yet all the time she remains Mary Pickford.

When she has a vehicle, such as this, in which all the chances in the world are offered her, how really wonderful she can become! Her every movement shows grace and beauty and dramatic meaning.

"The Eagle's Mate," a striking drama, is full of tense situations. It is a very unusual drama, and had it been written especially for those that took part in it, the characterization could not have been improved. James Kirk-

FISHER ATTEMPTS TO FASTEN THE GUILT ON ANEMONE

wood, a splendid actor, plays opposite Miss Pickford. His work showed the strength needed for the part. Ida Waterman, Robert Broderick, Harry C. Browne, Helen Gilmore, Estelle Kibby, R. J. Henry and Russell Bassett complete the important characters.

The pictures were evidently made on the Pacific Coast. The scenery and settings are very beautiful. The director has utilized these to the best advantage. The camera work is beyond reproach. In numerous scenes distance work is registered in a capable manner.

There are several good battle scenes. One, a hand-to-hand encounter, is done in a very effective way. The other, a pistol fight on horseback gives opportunity to several to do some excellent horseback falls.

The Mornes, of Virginia, are a reckless clan of moonshiners. Mrs. Breckinridge, a rich Morne, sends Lancer Morne to college. Her niece, Anemone, does not know the relationship. The boy at college leaves, on hearing of his father's arrest, and after a fight frees him. Fisher Morne, a brutal cousin of Lancer, abducts her and forces Lancer to fight for her, which he does and wins.

Anemone marries Lancer against her will, but so he will be forced to protect her. He agrees not to speak to her until she gives the word. The clan are betrayed by Fisher, but save themselves through the aid of Anemone, who at last realizes she loves Lancer and wants to become a Morne in reality on "Eagle Rock."

WILL USE MOTION PICTURES TO ADVERTISE ST. LOUIS

(Special to The Motion Picture News.)

St. Louis, July 8.

The Business Men's League have completed the reel of motion pictures designed to advertise the city's resources, and the pictures have been booked in more than a hundred towns and cities in the St. Louis trade territory.

The films show leading citizens, business scenes along prominent streets, the wholesale districts, parks, the old courthouse, Eads Bridge, the automobile fire department in action, parts of exclusive residential sections, and the Railway Exchange Building, said to contain more floor space than any other office building in the world. The film was made by the St. Louis Motion Picture Company and is booked through the Universal Exchange, at Twenty-first and Locust streets.

Metal Carrying Cases

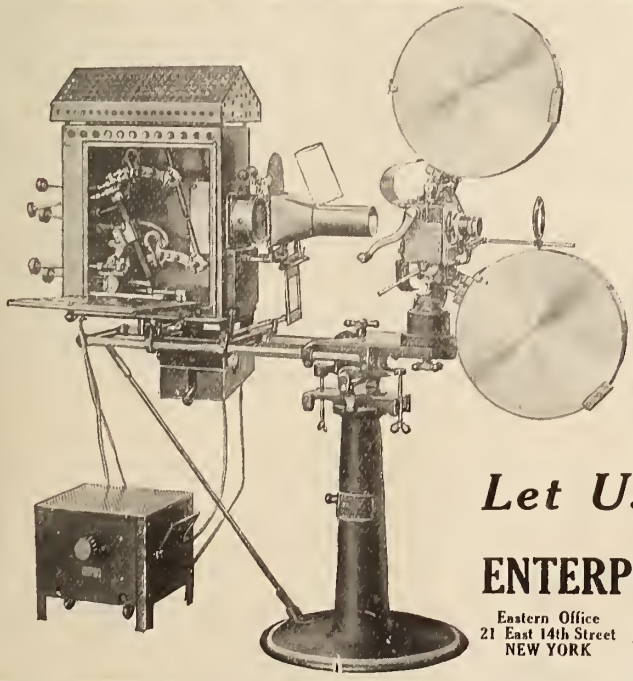
Approved Fibre Lined Metal Carrying Cases For Shipping Films. All Sizes For Any Number of Reels. The Strongest and Best on the Market

Sharlow Brothers Company

Manufacturers of Portable, Asbestos and Sheet Metal Motion Picture Booths, Metal Slide Carriers, Film Reels, Film Cans, Film Cabinets, Carrying Cases, Metal Re-Winding Tables, Racks and Shelves

440-442 WEST FORTY-SECOND ST.
439-441 WEST FORTY-FIRST ST.
NEW YORK CITY

The Centaur Film Co.



The Oldest Independent Film Manufacturer has the Largest Commercial Plant in America. The most up-to-date equipment and an organization second to none.

Printing and Developing in any Quantity
Guarantee Quality—Prices Interesting

THE CENTAUR FILM CO.

Factory and Studio BAYONNE, N. J.
Offices 1600 Broadway, N. Y

The MOTIOGRAPH 1914 Model is a Leader for Rock Steady Pictures, Long Life and small upkeep.

Mr. Exhibitor, you can not take a chance on a machine that is not made of the best material with parts hardened. Competition is too keen, every nickel and dime counts—you want a machine that is on the job at all times.

The Motiograph is a money saver as well as the Best picture Projector.

Let Us Prove It.

ENTERPRISE OPTICAL MFG. COMPANY

Eastern Office 21 East 14th Street NEW YORK
564 W. Randolph St., CHICAGO, ILL.
Western Office 833 Market Street SAN FRANCISCO

Film Quality

Quality in the film—quality from a technical photographic standpoint is as important to the Exhibitor as is interest in the story that the film tells.

There's one film that's recognized the world over as the standard of quality — that is always used by those whose effort it is to give the Exhibitors the very best goods and the very best service—Eastman film.

And it is identifiable. Look for "Eastman" on the perforated margin.

EASTMAN KODAK COMPANY,
ROCHESTER, N. Y.

HARVARD

Send your negative and be convinced that quality and punctuality is our motto

FILM

We print—develop—tint and tone
We furnish camera men for all occasions

CORPORATION

231-233 10th Ave. New York City
W. K. HEDWIG, President Tel. Chelsea 812 J. T. REARDON, Sec'y-Treas.

If you haven't had your

PHANTOSCOPE

yet, you shouldn't blame us Goodness knows, we are willing enough. Send for a Catalogue to-day.

PHANTOSCOPE MFG. CO.
700 Bond Building Washington, D. C.

OTHELLO

(George Kleine)

REVIEWED BY C. J. VERHALEN

AGAIN George Kleine brings forth a spectacular production adapted from the Shakesperian play of the same name. The possibilities of the camera, however, make it a more elegant and finished play from the scenic and costuming standpoint than is the stage version. The audience is also given here and there in the sub-titles, a few of the memorable lines which helped make this play so famous.

Five entire reels are required to complete the story, but they are five interesting reels full of the atmosphere of that period. The romantic atmosphere which prevails in these plays is maintained in this photoplay production. It seethes with action and sentiment. The plotting of the villain which, was so fondly indulged in by the author in so many of his plays, comes into action strongly in this production. The famed handkerchief of Desdemona is not forgotten in the filming of the play.

To pick out each individual scene and remark on its merits would be but a duplication of effort. All seem perfect. They are all built with the artistic care which has characterized the former George Kleine attractions. If there is anything missing it would take a ghost of the century in which the play was laid to find it.

Othello, the stalwart Moorish general, is played by a character who interprets the role with a finish that shows his familiarity with Shakesperian work. The same might also be said of the actress who plays Desdemona. All the way through a strong cast comes into play. In a few instances actors will be recognized that appeared in that other big George Kleine production, "The Last Days of Pompeii."

The women are exceptionally pretty and set off a splendid production in admirable manner.

The story in brief tells of the love of the Moorish general, Othello, for Desdemona. They are secretly married, much to the chagrin of her father, Branbantio, who has picked out a young nobleman for his son-in-law. The father complains to the Duke of Venice, but he refuses to take any steps against Othello because the latter is much needed at Cyprus to oppose the Turkish fleet.

Iago is appointed to look after Othello's wife while he is at war. Jealous of the captain of the guard, Iago plots his downfall. This he accomplishes fiendishly. Cassio, unsuspicious of what Iago is attempting, takes his advice and pleads with Desdemona to have him reinstated as captain. Iago draws Othello's attention to Cassio's seeming attention to his wife.

This kindles Othello's jealousy and suspicion. Iago finally secures the much prized handkerchief which Othello gave his wife, and surreptitiously places it where it will get in the possession of Cassio. Othello, finding the handkerchief in Cassio's possession, in a rage of anger returns to his home and kills his wife. Advised too late of the treachery of which he has been a victim, the Moor takes his own life, breathing his last at the feet of his dead Desdemona.

QUEBEC HAS PHOTOPLAY INSPECTOR

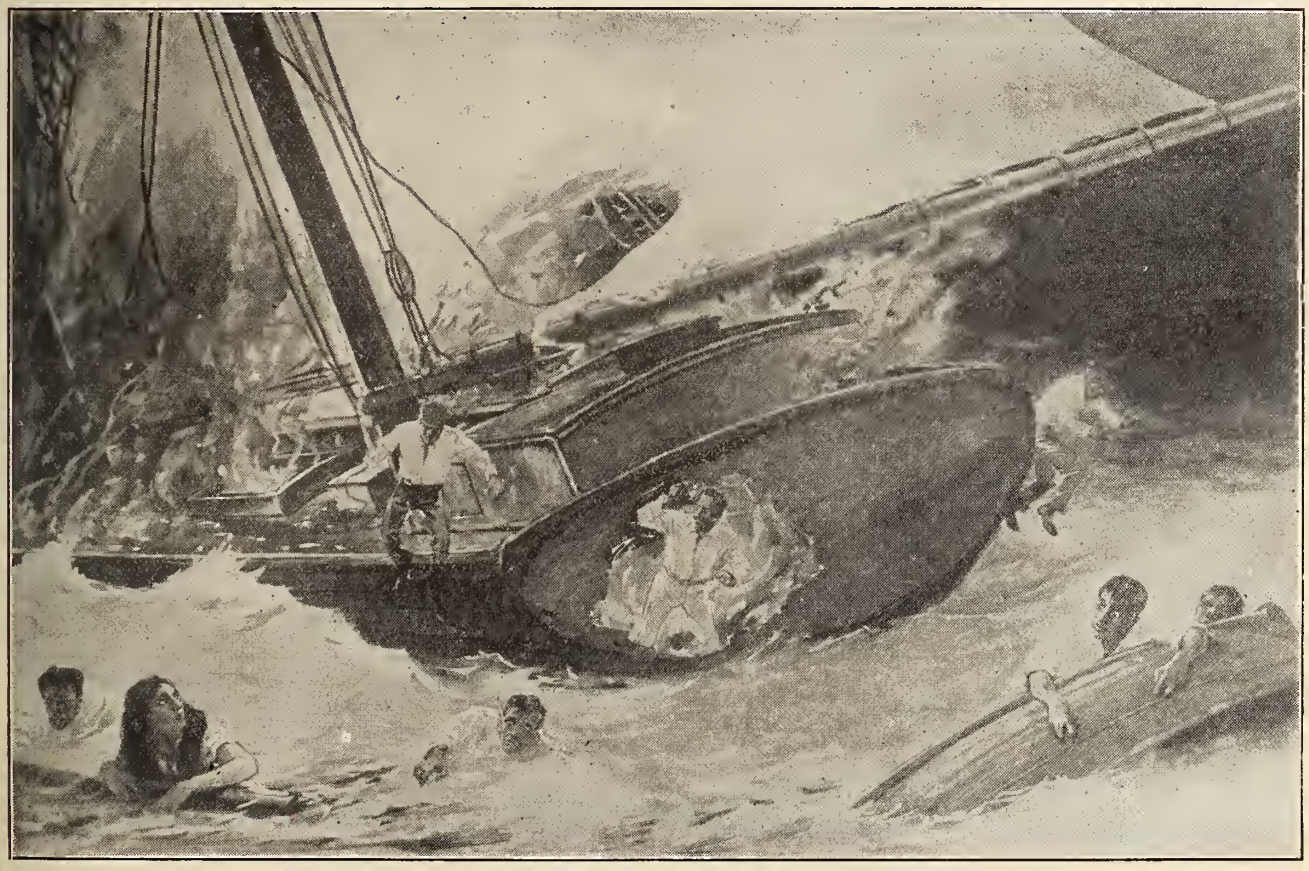
Special to THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS.

Montreal, P. Q., July 9.

The Quebec government has just oppointed Pierre Gravel, a former merchant of Montreal, to the position of inspector of motion picture theatres for the province of Quebec. The office, which is a new one, was created at the last session of the legislature, when the act governing the board of motion picture censors was considerably strengthened.

Mr. Gravel's duties will consist of visiting the various theatres and seeing that no pictures that have not been passed by the censors are shown.

THE STERLING CAMERA & FILM CO.



RELEASED JULY 15th

THE POPULAR AMERICAN STARS

MR. ARTHUR DONALDSON, MR. JAMES VINCENT and MISS VIOLET STUART

IN

"The Land of the Lost"

REPRODUCTION OF 9 SHEET

A Gripping Dramatic Production in Four Parts

SPLENDID ASSORTMENT OF PUBLICITY, INCLUDING 1, 3 AND 9 SHEETS

WIRE, WRITE OR CALL

STERLING CAMERA & FILM CO. 145 W. 45th STREET NEW YORK CITY

The Greatest Publishing Stunt In The Motion Picture World

The American Motion Picture Cyclopedic Directory

Suppose You Wanted to Know—

The names, addresses, and owners of motion picture theatres in one or more cities of the United States—

Or full detailed information as to any of the various film manufacturing concerns—

Or the names and addresses of the various exchanges—

Or the names and addresses of the various accessory people—

Or the names and addresses of all motion picture players in this country—

Or the manufacturers of commercial and educational films—

Or the laws and ordinances regulating the production of motion pictures throughout this country—

Or any other information relating to the motion picture industry.

Where would you find it?

Where would the information be available INSTANTLY?

Answer: In the American Motion Picture Directory, the standard cyclopedic digest of the motion picture world, and the only publication of its kind in the world.

No matter what you want to know regarding this great industry will be found between the covers of this directory, the most thorough, elaborate and valuable directory published in behalf of any industry in the United States.

It is no longer necessary to grope around in the dark as heretofore for information relative to the motion picture industry, because now every branch, every possible phase of this great industry, is summarized and epitomized in the American Motion Picture Directory—"the bible of the industry."

Information heretofore unavailable, or, if available, at great expense and delay, is now at your fingers' tips.

Everything that you might want to know about the motion picture industry will be found in this Cyclopedic Directory which we are now publishing at an enormous expense. It answers every question as to the industry itself and furnishes mailing lists, and data heretofore unavailable except at a large expense.

No industry on earth will have a better representation in a directory line than the motion picture industry when the first volume of this directory is completed. It will be to the motion picture industry what the Encyclopædia Britannica is to the student—the source of every available bit of reliable information relating to the subject under investigation.

It will be on the desk of every film manufacturer, producer, exhibitor and accessory man in the country, and also in all public libraries, leading book stores, municipal libraries, city attorneys' offices, and every reference library throughout the country. It is the epitome of the motion picture world, the only standard reference guide book of its kind in existence.

PARTIAL LIST OF CONTENTS

Names, address and owner of every moving picture theatre in America possible to secure from every source.

Names and addresses of every film manufacturer in the world, giving names of officers, capitalization, location of plants, names and addresses of the leading players, producers and publicity men, class of pictures specialized in, release dates, etc.

Names and addresses of all the Exchanges in America.

Names, home and telegraphic address together with biographical sketches of the leading picture players.

Complete list of all the manufacturers of moving picture accessories.

List of all the moving picture organizations, with the names and addresses of the officers, purposes, membership and location.

List of scenario bureaus and writers.

Laws and Censorship department, containing a digest of laws gathered from every possible source relating to the motion picture industry, especially relating to Censorship, copyright, exploitation of films, laws and ordinances regulating the exhibition of moving pictures and the conduct of theatres.

Educational moving pictures. A separate department giving a complete account of the development of educational moving pictures with the latest advances toward making them a part of our general educational instruction.

The History of the growth of moving pictures together with some information on film making.

A list of the leading films released during the past five years.

It sells for $5.00 a volume and is published semi-annually. Subscribe now. Pay for the book when delivered.

THE AMERICAN MOTION PICTURE DIRECTORY COMPANY

Schiller Building, CHICAGO

NEW YORK CHICAGO LOS ANGELES

What Do You Need?

LISTING IN THE BUYERS' GUIDE, FOR NAME AND ADDRESS, INCLUDING ONE YEAR'S SUBSCRIPTION TO THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS—$8.00 A YEAR, CASH IN ADVANCE. FREE TO ADVERTISERS USING $100.00 OR MORE WORTH OF DISPLAY SPACE DURING THE YEAR. ADDRESS ADVERTISING DEPARTMENT

ANNOUNCEMENT SLIDES

Niagara Slide Co., Lockport, N. Y.

ASBESTOS BOOTHS

Sharlow Bros., 442 W. 42nd St., New York.

COSTUMERS

Miller-Costumier, 236 South 11th St., Philadelphia, Pa.

DEVELOPING TANKS

A. J. Corcoran, Inc., 9½ John St., New York.

ELECTRIC LIGHTING SETS

The Chas. A. Strelinger Co., Box P-2, Detroit, Mich.

FILMS

(Manufacturers, Dealers and Renters)

American Film Mfg. Co., Chicago, Ill.
Thomas A. Edison, Inc., 275 Lakeside Ave., Orange, N. J.
Essanay Film Mfg. Co., First National Bank Bldg., Chicago, Ill.
General Film Co., 200 Fifth Ave., New York.
George Kleine, 166 N. State St., Chicago, Ill.
Lubin Mfg. Co., Philadelphia, Pa.
G. Melies, 204 E. 38th St., New York.
Mutual Film Corp., 71 W. 23rd St., New York.
New York Motion Picture Corp., Longacre Bldg., New York.
Pathé Freres, 1 Congress St., Jersey City, N. J.
Renfax Film Co., Inc., 110 W. 40th St., N. Y.
Selig Polyscope Co., Chicago, Ill.
Thanhouser Film Corp., New Rochelle N. Y.
Universal Film Mfg. Co., 1600 Broadway, N. Y.

FILM ACCESSORIES

Berlin Aniline Works, 213 Water St., N. Y.

FILM TITLES, PRINTING, DEVELOPING, ETC.

Commercial Motion Pictures Co., Inc., 220 W. 42d St., New York.
Centaur Film Co., 670-682 Ave. E, Bayonne, N. J.
Evans Film Mfg. Co., 412-22 W. 216th St., at Broadway, New York.
Gunhy Bros., Inc., 145 W. 45th St., New York.
Harvard Film Corporation, 231-233 Tenth Ave., New York.
Industrial Moving Picture Co., 223-233 W. Erie St., Chicago.
Standard Motion Picture Co., 5 S. Wabash Ave., Chicago.

FILM REELS

Lang Mfg. Works, Olean, N. Y.
Taylor-Shantz Company, 224 Mill St., Rochester, N. Y.

FURNITURE AND FURNISHING ON RENTAL

William Birns, 103-105 West 37th St., N. Y.

FEATURE FILMS

Aetna Film Co., Longacre Bldg., New York.
All Star Feature Corp., 220 W. 42nd St., N. Y.
Amhrosio American Co., 15 E. 26th St., N. Y.
Box Office Attraction Film Rental Co., 130 W. 46th St., New York.
A. Blinkhorn, 110 W. 40th St., New York.
California Motion Picture Corp., San Francisco, Cal.
Cosmofotofilm Co., 110 W. 40th St., New York.
Criterion Feature Film Mfg. Co., 110 W. 40th St., New York.
Direct-From-Broadway Features Co., 46 W. 24th St., New York.
Eclair Film Co., 126 W. 46th St., New York.
Eclectic Film Co., 110 W. 40th St., New York.
European Feature Film Co., 220 W. 42nd St., New York.
Features Ideal, 126 W. 46th St., New York.
Feature Photoplay Co., 220 W. 42nd St., N. Y.
Famous Players Film Co., 213-229 W. 26th St., New York.
Films Lloyds, Inc., 220 W. 42nd St., N. Y.
General Film Co., 200 Fifth Ave., New York.
General Feature Film Co., Powers Bldg., Chicago, Ill.
Gaumont Co., 110 W. 40th St., New York.
Gloria American Co., 110 W. 40th St., N. Y.
Greene's Feature Photo Plays, Inc., 110 W. 40th St., New York.
W. W. Hodkinson, 110 W. 40th St., New York.
Imperial Motion Picture Co. of N. Y., Inc., 1476 Broadway, N. Y.
Italian American Film Corp., 1482 Broadway, New York.
Inter-Continent Film Co., 110 W. 40th St., New York.
George Kleine Attractions, 166 N. State St., Chicago, Ill.
New York Office: 1476 Broadway.
Jesse L. Lasky Feature Play Co., Longacre Theatre, New York.
Lea-Bel Company, 912 Schiller Bldg., Chicago.
Leading Players Film Corp., 126 W. 46th St., New York.
Life Photo Film Corp., 220 W. 42d St., N. Y.
Mecca Feature Film Co., Inc., 126 W. 46th St., New York.
Mohawk Film Co., Times Bldg., New York.
Mundstuck Features, 909 Longacre Bldg., N. Y.
New York Film Co., 145 W. 45th St., N. Y.
Pan-American Film Co., 110 W. 40th St., N. Y.
Paramount Pictures Corp., 110 W. 40th St., New York
Pasquali American Co., 110 W. 40th St., N. Y.
Phoenix Feature Film Corp., 164 Federal St., Boston, Mass.
Photo Play Production Co., 220 W. 42nd St., New York.
Playgoers Film Co., Lyric Theatre, New York.
Popular Plays and Players Co., 1600 Broadway, New York.
Progress Film Co., 110 W. 40th St., New York.
Progressive Motion Picture Corp., Times Bldg., New York.
Ramo Films, Inc., Columhia Theatre Bldg., New York.
Rolands Feature Film Co., 145 W. 45th St., New York.
A. H. Sawyer, Inc., 1600 Broadway, New York.
Stellar Photoplay Co., 1476 Broadway, N. Y.
Sterling Camera & Film Co., 145 W. 45th St., New York.
Solax Co., Fort Lee, N. J.
Union Features, 126 W. 46th St., New York.
Unique Film Co., Inc., 110 W. 40th St., N. Y.
Universal Film Mfg. Co., 1600 Broadway, N. Y.
University Films, Inc., 110 W. 40th St., N. Y.
Edw. H. Wagner, Agt., Dania Biofilm Co., 38 Park Place, New York.
Wil-Kar Films, 1482 Broadway, New York.
World Film Corporation, 130 W. 46th St., New York.
Warner's Features, Inc., 130 W. 46th St., N. Y.

LABELS

Every Ready Roll Lahel Co., 203-7 W. 40th St., New York City.

LIGHTING PLANTS

Cushman Motor Works, Lincoln, Neh.

MOTION PICTURE MACHINES AND SUPPLIES

Amusement Supply Co., 160 E. North Fifth Ave., Chicago, Ill.
Calehuff Supply Co., 1301 Race St., Philadelphia, Pa.
Enterprise Optical Co., 568 W. Randolph St.
Ernemann, 114 Fifth Ave., New York. Chicago, Ill.
Lears Theatre Supply Co., Sam Lears, Prop., 509 Chestnut St., St. Louis, Mo.
Oliver Moving Picture Supply Co., 647 Euclid Ave., Cleveland, O.
Picture Theatre Equipment Co., 21 E. 14th St., New York.
Precision Machine Co., 317 E. 34th St., N. Y.
Nicholas Power Co., 90 Gold St., New York.
The Phantascope Mfg. Co., Washington, D. C.
Sweeley's Photo Supply House, 514-516 Erie Ave., Renova, Pa.
Williams, Brown & Earle, Inc., 916-918 Chestnut St., Philadelphia, Pa.

MOTION PICTURE APPARATUS

Burke & James, Inc., 240-258 E. Ontario St., Chicago, Ill.

MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS

Rudolph Wurlitzer Co., Cincinnati, O.
American Photoplayer Co., Berkeley, Calif.

NOVELTIES

Philip Hano, 806-810 Greenwich St., New York.

POSTER AND PICTURE FRAMES

Menger & Ring, 442 W. 42nd St., New York.

RAW FILM

Eastman Kodak Co., Rochester, N. Y.
Celluloses Planchon, Inc., 75 Fifth Ave., New York.
David Horsley, 1600 Broadway, N. Y.
Raw Film Supply Co., 15 E. 26th St., N. Y.

OPERA CHAIRS

The Hardesty Mfg. Co., Canal Dover, Ohio.
Steel Furniture Co., Grand Rapids, Mich.

PIPE ORGANS

Henry Pilcher's Sons, 914-920 Mason Ave., Louisville, Ky.
M. P. Moller, Hagerstown, Md.

PROJECTION LENSES

Bausch & Lomh Optical Co., 569 St. Paul St., Rochester, N. Y.

POSTERS

The Morgan Lithograph Co., Cleveland, Ohio.

REWINDERS AND GENERAL SUPPLIES

L. C. Smith Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

SCREENS

Atsco, Inc., 218 West 42nd St., New York.
Day & Night Screens, Inc., 291 Broadway, New York.

STEEL FILM EQUIPMENT FOR EXCHANGES AND MFRS.

Columhia Metal Box Co., 226-228 E. 144th St., New York.

THEATRE LOBBY FRAMES AND FIXTURES

Eagle Frame Co., 506 N. Carpenter St., Chicago, Ill.
Newman Mfg. Co., 715 Sycamore St., Cincinnati, O.

UNIFORMS

Fechheimer Bros., Union-made Uniforms, Cincinnati, O.

RIGHT OFF THE REEL

Harry Eytinge and Harry Linson, the Edison heavies, have agreed to run a mile for the title of "Champion fat man" of the Edison studio. As each carries 250 avoirdupois, there is no fear of the record being broken.

Through the courtesy of William H. Russell, millionaire, Anglewood Cliffs, the immense and beautiful estate on the Hudson helonging to Mr. Russell, was turned over to the Lawrence-Victor Company to he used for the staging of a two-reel romantic melodrama. Under the direction of Harry Solter, and headed hy Florence Lawrence and Matt Moore, the Victor players are at present located on the estate, working on the picture.

In the suhject "The Dream Ship," produced hy Harry Pollard, of the Beauty Company, are used many properties of inestimahle value. One rug alone is placed at a value of over $10,000.00. The chair used as a throne is one that was originally the property of a Spanish King. The scenes were taken on the Gillespie Mansion at Montecito, one of California's choicest exhihits of natural and artificial beauties.

Friends of Val Paul, of the McRae 101 Bison Company, just returned from Hawaii to the Hollywood studios, are offering the young Universal actor helated congratulations. It was known last year that Cupid had been husy using Paul's heart as a short range target. The night before the McRae Company was to sail to Hawaii the young actor proposed. Mrs. Paul was Mat Foster, known as the "queen of ragtime," and, four months later, Paul is more radiant than ever.

S. L. Rothapfel, manager of the Strand Theatre, New York, receives many husiness callers daily. Here are some of the names the callers seeking an interview have given him: Rothfeldt, Rockefeller, Rottenfeldt, Rowaple, Rothabe, Rottenaple, Rottefell, Rockywell, Rockable and Rottenabe.

The Pathé players who have been in Bermuda for the past few weeks working under the direction of Henry Vernot in the production of the big six-reel feature for the Eclectic Film Company called "Foul Play" have returned to the studio at Jersey City.

The company included Eleanor Woodruff, Harold Meltzer, Riley Hatch, Sheldon Lewis, and others. They report the most beautiful weather and hearty co-operation of the authorities at the Island which permitted them to secure some exceptionally rare sets for some of the scenes.

"A Harmony of Souls" is the title of the latest picture of Bob Leonard and Lloyd Ingraham. Among the features of this one-reel drama is an orchestra of twenty-five artists. In the story Leonard himself has to direct the orchestra.

GENERAL

MAIN OFFICE: 200 FIFTH

LIST OF

CITY	STATE	STREET ADDRESS
ALBANY	NEW YORK	737 BROADWAY
ATLANTA	GEORGIA	RHODES BUILDING
BALTIMORE	MARYLAND	36 SOUTH EUTAW STREET
BANGOR	MAINE	123 FRANKLIN STREET
BOSTON	MASSACHUSETTS	218 COMMERCIAL STREET
BUFFALO	NEW YORK	122 PEARL STREET
BUTTE	MONTANA	50 E. BROADWAY
CALGARY	ALTA., CANADA	85 McDOUGALL BLOCK
CHICAGO	ILLINOIS	429 S. WABASH AVENUE
CHICAGO	ILLINOIS	139 N. CLARK STREET
CHICAGO	ILLINOIS	19 S. WABASH AVENUE
CINCINNATI	OHIO	S. E. COR 7TH & WALNUT STREETS
CLEVELAND	OHIO	1022 SUPERIOR AVENUE, N. E.
COLUMBUS	OHIO	26 W. NAGHTEN STREET
DALLAS	TEXAS	2017 COMMERCE STREET
DENVER	COLORADO	1448 CHAMPA STREET
DETROIT	MICHIGAN	71 GRISWOLD STREET
INDIANAPOLIS	INDIANA	24 W. WASHINGTON STREET
KANSAS CITY	MISSOURI	921 WALNUT STREET
LOS ANGELES	CALIFORNIA	822 SO. BROADWAY
MEMPHIS	TENNESSEE	302 MULBERRY STREET
MILWAUKEE	WISCONSIN	220 W. WATER STREET
MINNEAPOLIS	MINNESOTA	909 HENNEPIN AVENUE
MONTREAL	CANADA	243 BLEURY STREET

FILM CO.

AVENUE, NEW YORK

BRANCHES

CITY	STATE	STREET ADDRESS
NEW ORLEANS	LOUISIANA	840 UNION STREET
NEW YORK CITY	NEW YORK	440 FOURTH AVENUE
NEW YORK CITY	NEW YORK	71 W. 23RD STREET
NEW YORK CITY	NEW YORK	260 WEST 42ND STREET
OKLAHOMA CITY	OKLAHOMA	211 WEST 2ND STREET
OMAHA	NEBRASKA	208 SOUTH 13TH STREET
PHILADELPHIA	PENNSYLVANIA	1308 VINE STREET
PITTSBURGH	PENNSYLVANIA	119 FOURTH AVENUE
PITTSBURGH	PENNSYLVANIA	436 FOURTH AVENUE
PORTLAND	OREGON	393-5 OAK STREET
ROCHESTER	NEW YORK	501 CENTRAL BUILDING
ST. JOHN	N. B., CANADA	122 GERMAIN STREET
ST. LOUIS	MISSOURI	3610 OLIVE STREET
SALT LAKE CITY	UTAH	260 FLORAL AVENUE
SAN FRANCISCO	CALIFORNIA	138 EDDY STREET
SEATTLE	WASHINGTON	819 THIRD AVENUE
SPOKANE	WASHINGTON	120 WALL STREET
SYRACUSE	NEW YORK	HIPPODROME BUILDING
TORONTO	CANADA	172 KING STREET, WEST
VANCOUVER	B. C., CANADA	440 PENDER STREET, WEST
WASHINGTON	D. C.	7TH & E STREETS, N. W.
WHEELING	WEST VIRGINIA	1141 EAST SIDE CHAPLINE STREET
WILKES-BARRE	PENNSYLVANIA	47 S. PENNSYLVANIA AVENUE
WINNIPEG	MAN., CANADA	220 PHOENIX BLOCK

Do You Want A Piano?

a projection machine, a screen, a ticket chopper, a lobby frame, a lot of new chairs, a box of carbons, a kit of operators' tools, a bottle of machine oil, or any one of a hundred and more other things used in your theatre?

You want the best that money will buy. Personal investigation requires time and discomfort. There is a very simple way to avoid this, and get every possible item of information about anything you want, at the price you want.

Fill in, sign and mail the form below, and give the approximate price you want to pay. Or, if you prefer, write us a short note, outlining in full just what information you want.

In a very short time you will have, at your home or theatre, all available information about the products in which you are interested. Then, at your leisure, you can compare merits and prices, and make your final selection.

There is no obligation nor cost attached. A two cent stamp to mail your inquiry is your only expense.

This is The Buyers' Service Department of The Motion Picture News. It is entirely free.

Fill in this form and mail it. We will send the information you want.

- -

The Buyers' Service Dept.,
The Motion Picture News,
220 W. 42nd St., N.Y. City.

Gentlemen: Please send to me immediately, without cost or obligation, complete information concerning.....

.....

.....

.....

Name.....

Theatre.....

Street Address.....

City.....State.....

EXCELSIOR STAGES "BADGER FIGHT"

The members of the Excelsior Film Company, Inc., while spending the Fourth of July at Lake Placid, N. Y., organized for the amusement of their friends who had accompanied them to that place for the holiday an entertainment known as a "badger fight."

Ten men who were not "in the know" were selected for star parts in the hoax. At a barn some distance from the studio where a contest between a bulldog and a badger was supposed to be arranged for visitors with sporting instincts, the victims made heavy wagers for the coming battle. While the bets were being laid a sheriff and his deputies, in the plot to fool the newcomers, made an armed descent upon the victims, and by clever "frisking" drew from the clothes of the astonished betters numerous revolvers.

Visions of seven years imprisonment for violation of the Sullivan law loomed up before the "goats," and were not dispelled until everybody in the secret had had a hearty laugh at their expense.

GETS BIG EXPOSITION CONTRACT

The Industrial Moving Picture Company, of Chicago, recently closed a contract with the Michigan commission of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition for showing comprehensive films at the fair, illustrating the industrial activities, nature resources and beauties of the state of Michigan.

The motion pictures will be run in the Michigan Building during the period the exposition in San Francisco will be open to the public.

As this is one of the biggest film deals put through for some time the officers of the Industrial Moving Picture Company feel elated over the achievement. Dozens of companies were bidding for the business.

POLICE MAKE OWN PICTURE

New Orleans, July 6.

Probably for the first time in history the police of this city are using motion pictures, not for the detection of crime, but for the purpose of advertising the annual festival for the benefit of the relief fund, which is to be held in a few weeks. The police paid a tribute to the value of the films by acting a farce comedy of their own authorship under the centuries-old trees of City Park.

The chief characters are the tallest, the smallest and the fattest policemen on the force. This film is being shown at the various local theatres and is proving a great advertisement for the festival.

LUBIN

LUBIN MASTERPIECES

Now ready and about to be released, "THE WOLF"—5 REELS—By EUGENE WALTER "THE HOUSE NEXT DOOR"—5 REELS—By J. HARTLEY MANNERS

IN PREPARATION AT GREAT EXPENSE!

"EAGLE'S NEST"—5 REELS—Now being produced in Colorado, with EDWIN ARDEN, the Author, in the leading role.

"THE FORTUNE HUNTER"—5 REELS—By WINCHELL SMITH With WILLIAM ELLIOTT, late star of the "Madame X" production, in the leading role.

FIVE RELEASES EACH WEEK

"HE WAS BAD"—Comedy Split Reel.....Tuesday, July 14th
Sam Johnson is very unfortunate and getting the worst of it all around, but he gets a job sharpening razors. Armed with about a score of the colored man's favorite playthings he runs amuck and quickly cleans up the town.

"TOUGH LUCK"—Comedy Split Reel.....Tuesday, July 14th
Boggs is certainly in tough luck. Everything goes wrong, but the climax comes when it is found that the cook has small-pox. The house is quarantined and no one can get in or out for weeks.

"CODES OF HONOR"—Two Reel Drama.....Wednesday, July 15th
A very powerful drama in which the Codes of Honor prevail against a terrible temptation.

"THE CROSS OF CRIME"—Two Reel Drama.....Thursday, July 16th
Sad consequences of adversity, temptation and the wages of sin. Retribution and compensation.

"THE LIE"—Drama.....Friday, July 17th
A good trapper story with excellent moral lesson sustaining truth. Backwoods atmosphere.

"SHE WANTED TO KNOW"—Comedy Split Reel.....Saturday, July 18th
Great comedy picture with funny situations caused by family jars.

"ALL FOR LOVE"—Comedy Split Reel.....Saturday, July 18th
A romance of the Rockies much burlesqued. Will induce roars of laughter.

A COMEDY Every Tuesday and Saturday	A TWO REEL FEATURE Every Wednesday and Thursday	A DRAMA Every Friday

LUBIN POSTERS—By Our Own Staff of Artists. One and Three Sheets with Single and Split Reels. One, Three and Six Sheets with all Multiple Reels.

LUBIN MANUFACTURING COMPANY

PHILADELPHIA, PA. CHICAGO OFFICE: 154 West Lake Street

LIFE PHOTO FILM CORP.

STUDIOS AND LABORATORY Grantwood, N. J.

LONDON OFFICE 7 Rupert Court, London, W.

EXECUTIVE OFFICES 220 W. 42nd St.

PRODUCERS.

"THE BANKER'S DAUGHTER" (5 Parts)

"THE GREYHOUND" (5 Parts)

"NORTHERN LIGHTS" (6 Parts)

Lay Awake to Catch Our Next Announcement.

A Challenge to the World!!

Lobby Photos

OF

ALICE JOYCE Series

ALSO

ALL KALEM Monday Releases

Six Beautiful Wyanoak Photo reproductions
11x14
Just fill one sheet frame

$1.00 per set

Send your order—
Your credit is good

BEGINNING

July 6—The Weakling
July 13—Diamond in the Rough

Wyanoak Means Quality

If your photographic reproduction is a Wyanoak, you know that it is the best.

We obtain results because we give every subject individual attention. Our success is the result of years of experimentation. You profit by it.

THE WYANOAK PUBLISHING CO.
136 W. 52nd St., New York City.

INCORPORATIONS

At Albany, N. Y.:

HARNU FILM CORPORATION, Manbattan. Motion pictures, operate theatres, amusement parks, and other purposes; $10,000. Philip Fett, Brooklyn; Thomas Wallace, Crawford, N. J.; Harry O. Coughlin.

BESIE THEATRE COMPANY, INC., New York. Motion pictures; $10,000. Paul E. Besie, of New York; Thos. J. Wilbur and Dana Bissell, of Harrisville, N. Y.

NATIONAL SPORTS FILM COMPANY, INC., Manhattan. General photographic business and motion pictures; $60,000. Arthur Dillenback, Jno. S. Eaton and Chester A. Slocum, of New York.

ROYAL OPERATING CORPORATION. Theatrical and motion pictures; $500. Phillip Stern, Ethel Pugh and William A. Dempsey, of New York.

EMERSON-CURRIER CINEMATOGRAPH CORPORATION, Manhattan. Motion pictures, supplies and theatricals; $50,000. William D. Emerson, George R. White and Bernard P. Currier, of New York.

RAE AMUSEMENT CORPORATION, New York. Motion picture shows and vaudeville; $2,000. Wm. Watts, Rae Goldereyer, Alfred C. Goldereyer and Sussman Goldereyer, of New York.

KNIGHT MOVING PICTURE CO., INC., Manhattan. Motion picture, theatrical, etc.; $23,000. Herman and Samuel L. Weiss, of New York; H. H. Prushanskin, of Philadelphia, and one other.

DYREDA ART FILM CORPORATION, motion pictures, Manhattan, $60,000. Ballas Flanagan, of Montclair, N. J.; Harry J. O'Neill, of Brooklyn, and Harry C. Schall, of Palisade, N. J.

BEIL FEATURES CORPORATION, films, cameras, $25,000. Sylvan Biscoff, Alma and J. D. Lipkins, 103 W. 114th street, New York.

INTERNATIONAL CALOPHONE CORPORATION, Manhattan, $10,000. M. W. Gigelman, 351 W. 55th street, New York; C. D. Taylor, N. L. Shafer, New York.

ELKAY FEATURE FILM MFG. CORPORATION. Motion pictures, $10,000, Manhattan. W. M. Lampel and Sam Lesser, of New York, and Dicran Simsarian, of West Hoboken.

THE EASTERN MOVIE HOLDING COMPANY, INC. Motion picture theatres, roof garden, etc., $12,000. Louis and Edw. Youngwitz and Nathan Groberg, of Brooklyn.

EAST END THEATRE, INC. Motion pictures, $1,000, Manhattan. Frank Valle, Victor Cianetto and Daniel J. McCleary, of New York.

CHEROKEE AMUSEMENT COMPANY. Motion pictures, $1,000. Manhattan. Frank Valle, Victor Gianetto and Daniel McCleary, of New York.

GERSTEN AMUSEMENT COMPANY, INC. Motion pictures, $2,400, Manhattan. Geo. B. Scanlon, Snitz Moore and Samuel H. Grossman, of New York.

OTKER HEIGHTS AMUSEMENT COMPANY. Amusement, motion pictures, etc., $10,000, Manhattan. Leah Morrison, Max Morrison, Lewis Finfer and one other, all of New York.

THE SKY PILOT COMPANY, INC. Theatrical, amusement and holding motion picture shows, $50,000, Manhattan. Joe Brennan, Frank Mandel and Thomas F. MacMahon, all of New York.

At Trenton, N. J.:

PRINCETON MOTION PICTURE CO., Englewood, $75,000. H. G. Fing, Englewood; H. A. Le Paugh, New York; L. D. Pfender, Cranford.

U. S. MOTION PICTURE CORPORATION, Asbury Park, $300,000. J. O. Walsh, F. B. Huston, New York; F. W. Hermann, Wilkes-Barre, Pa.

EASTON MOTION COMPANY, Englewood, motion pictures, $150,000. Harold G. Fink, Englewood; Harry A. La Paugh, New York; Louis D. Pfender, Cranford.

At Indianapolis, Ind.:

THE DELIGHT PICTURE HOUSE COMPANY, Indianapolis, $3,000, to operate moving picture shows. W. W. Connell, Jr., Indianapolis; A. M. Connell, B. Connell.

At Harrisburg, Pa.:

THE H. B. B. MOTION PICTURE MANUFACTURING COMPANY, Philadelphia, $10,000. Howard S. Wood, Fred S. Armitage and Lewis E. Beitler. Mr. Beitler was private secretary to Governor William A. Stone when the latter filled the executive chair. He subsequently served several terms as deputy secretary of the Commonwealth and has taken a prominent part in Republican politics in the state.

It was a costly lesson—why not profit by the experience of others and get Gaumont Films—you can make a good beginning by securing

"FANTOMAS" (No. 5)

The False Magistrate,
4 Reels
Bound to get the crowd.
Shipping date July 10th.

Gaumont Co.
110 West 40th St., N. Y.

FURNITURE & FURNISHINGS
On RENTAL
We equip your settings complete in accordance with your scenario.
WILLIAM BIRNS
103-105 West 37th St.
Phone: Greeley 6255.

LANG'S FILM REELS
THE BEST MADE
14 in. $1.50 10 in. $1.00
CATALOGUE
LANG MFG. WORKS, Olean, N. Y.

Lantern Slide Mat Co.
Manufacturers of
Lantern Slide Mats and Reel Bands

Prompt Service	Prices Right	Best Goods

627 Greenwich Street, New York
General Electric Company Building
Telephone: Spring 8558

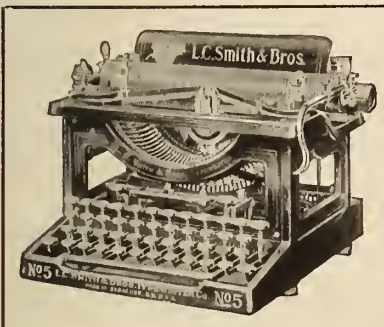
"Flying A" Feature Films

See Americans First

"A MAN'S WAY"

An Intense Two Part Society Drama Replete with Human Interest
One, Three and Six Sheet Attractive Lithographs
RELEASE MONDAY, JULY 20th, 1914

AMERICAN BEAUTY
Featuring MARGARITA FISCHER



"HER 'REALLY' MOTHER"

A Sociological Drama with Heart Interest and a Strong Moral Under direction of HARRY POLLARD RELEASE TUESDAY, JULY 21st, 1914

"BUSINESS vs. LOVE"

A Domestic Drama of Unusual Fascinating Power
Under direction of SYDNEY AYRES RELEASE WEDNESDAY, JULY 22nd, 1914

AMERICAN FILM MANUFACTURING CO.
CHICAGO

Write Your Slides on an L.C. Smith & Bros. Typewriter

DO YOU KNOW that you can throw your announcements on the screen in typewriting? It's no more trouble than to write on a card and it looks far better than the scrawling and illegible handwriting that is so often seen.

The L. C. Smith & Bros. Typewriter is especially adapted to writing these slides. Write for information.

L. C. SMITH & BROS. TYPEWRITER CO.

Home Office and Factory, Syracuse, N. Y. Branches in all principal cities.

RECORD OF CURRENT AND COMING RELEASES

EDITOR'S NOTE.—These lists of releases for this week and next are arranged in this form for the convenience of the operator and exhibitor. In the blank column a record may be kept of the date when a given subject will be shown at your house. Keep it in a convenient place for future reference.

GENERAL FILM PROGRAM
RELEASES OF THE WEEK

AT MY HOUSE

MONDAY, JULY 6TH, 1914.

BIOGRAPH. Eva, the Cigarette Girl, C., 563..... 15383
The Boiler-Maker's Day of Rest, C., 437.....
EDISON. Her Spanish Cousins, C., 1000 15395
KALEM. The Weakling. Third Alice Joyce Series, D., 2000... 15389
PATHE. The Heart and the Circulation of the Blood, E., 500. 15391
Modes of Travel in Japan, Manners and Customs, 500....
SELIG. Reporter Jimmie Intervenes, D., 2000..... 15392
SELIG. Hearst-Selig News Pictorial No. 37, N., 1000..... 15396
VITAGRAPH. The False and the True, D., 1000..... 15394

TUESDAY, JULY 7TH, 1914.

EDISON. Face to Face, D., 1000 15397
ESSANAY. A Night with a Million, C., 1000..... 15398
KALEM. Kaintucky Bill, D., 1000 15407
KLEINE. The Heirloom, D., 1800 15399
LUBIN. Fooling Fanny's Father, C., 400 15405
While Aunty Bounced, C., 600 .....
MELIES. A Discolored Romance, C., 1000 15406
PATHE. A Tiger Hunt (Indo-China), S., 500..... 15401
The Ice and Snow, S., 500..
VITAGRAPH. The Moonstone of Fez, D., 2000..... 15403
SELIG. Algie's Sister, C., 1000 15402

WEDNESDAY, JULY 8TH, 1914.

EDISON. Andy Has a Toothache, C., 1000..... 15408
ESSANAY. A Boarding House Scramble, C., 1000..... 15411
KALEM. A String of Pearl, D., 2000 15409
LUBIN. The Incompetent, D., 2000 15415
MELIES. The Hole in the Wall, D., 1000 15417
PATHE. Pathé's Weekly No. 44, N., 1000..... 15412
SELIG. Caryl of the Mountains, D., 1000 15414
VITAGRAPH. Doctor Smith's Baby, C., 1000..... 15413

THURSDAY, JULY 9TH, 1914

BIOGRAPH. A Romance of the Pueblo, D., 1020..... 15418
ESSANAY. Slippery Slim, Diplomat, C., 1000..... 15419
LUBIN. The Debt, D., 2000.... 15420
MELIES. Good Fortune's Tardy Smile, C., 1000..... 15422
MELIES. A Royal Survivor, D., 2000 15425
SELIG. Hearst-Selig News Pictorial No. 38, N., 1000..... 15424
VITAGRAPH. Prosecution, D., 1000 15423

FRIDAY, JULY 10, 1914.

EDISON. In the Shadow of Disgrace, D., 2000..... 15427
ESSANAY. Night Hawk, D., 2000 15429
KALEM. Rubo, the Interloper, C., 807 15431
In Old England, Top., 195..
LUBIN. The Tribunal of Conscience, D., 1000..... 15434
SELIG. Did She Cure Him? C., 1000 15432
VITAGRAPH. The Vases of Hymen, C., 1000..... 15433

SATURDAY, JULY 11TH, 1914.

BIOGRAPH. Her Primitive Model, D., 1000..... 15441
EDISON. Dolly at the Helm, D., 1000 15435

AT MY HOUSE

ESSANAY. Broncho Billy and the Sheriff, D., 1000..... 15436
KALEM. Lamo Dog's Treachery, D., 1000..... 15440
LUBIN. How He Lost His Trousers, C., 500..... 15437
Mandy's Chicken Dinner, C., 500 .....
MELIES. His Friend's Forgiveness, D., 2000..... 15443
SELIG. His Fight, D., 1000.... 15442
VITAGRAPH. Lillian's Dilemma, C., 2000..... 15438

GENERAL FILM PROGRAM
RELEASES OF NEXT WEEK

MONDAY, JULY 13TH, 1914.

BIOGRAPH. That Boy from the Poorhouse, D, 996..... 15445
EDISON. Qualifying for Lena, C, 1000..... 15452
ESSANAY. Sweedie the Swatter, C, 1000..... 15454
KALEM. A Diamond in the Rough. D, 2000..... 15446
PATHE. A Russian Boar Hunt, Hunt, 500..... 15448
The Wine Industry, Marsala, Ind., 500.....
SICILY——
SELIG. The Wilderness Mail, D, 2000..... 15449
SELIG. Hearst-Selig News Pictorial No. 39, N, 1000..... 15453
VITAGRAPH. The Soul of Luigi, D, 1000..... 15451

TUESDAY, July 14TH, 1914.

EDISON. The Two Doctors, D, 1000 15455
ESSANAY. At the Foot of the Hill, D, 1000..... 15456
KALEM. Accused, D, 1000..... 15465
KLEINE. The Rival Actresses, D, 2000..... 15457
LUBIN. He Was Bad, C, 400.. 15463
Tough Luck, C, 600.....
MELIES. Rags and Patriotism, C, 1000 15464
PATHE. Through the Bosnia and Dalmatia, T, 300..... 15459
The Tombs of the Ancient Japanese, Emperors, Annam, Indo-China, S, 350.....
Waterfalls at Aragonia, Spain, Spain, T, 300.....
SELIG. An Egyptian Princess, C, 1000..... 15460
VITAGRAPH. Fogg's Millions, D, 2000 15461

WEDNESDAY, JULY 15TH, 1914.

EDISON. The Ever-Gallant Mar-Marquis, C, 500..... 15400
An Up-to-Date Courtship, C, 500 .....
ESSANAY. The Fable of Napoleon and the Bumps, C, 1000.. 15469
KALEM. The Express Messenger, D, 2000..... 15467
LUBIN. Codes of Honor, D, 2000 15474
MELIES. Justly Punished, D, 1000 15476
PATHE. Pathé's Weekly No. 45-1914, N, 1000..... 15470
SELIG. His Last Appeal, D, 2000 15472
VITAGRAPH. The Arrival of Josie, C, 1000..... 15471

THURSDAY, JULY 16TH, 1914.

BIOGRAPH. The Prospectors, D, 1000..... 15477
ESSANAY. Snakeville's New Waitress, C, 1000..... 15478
LUBIN. The Cross of Crime, D, 2000 15479
MELIES. The Test of True Love, C, 1000..... 15481
A Sublime Deception, D 2000 15484
SELIG. Hearst-Selig News Pictorial No. 40, N, 1000..... 15483

AT MY HOUSE

VITAGRAPH. The Little Captain, C, 1000..... 15482

FRIDAY, JULY 17TH ,1914.

EDISON. Meg o' the Mountains, D, 2000..... 15486
Essanay. His Stolen Fortune, D, 2000 15488
KALEM. Wanted an Heir, C, 1000 15490
LUBIN. The Lie, D, 1000..... 15493
SELIG. Wiggs Takes the Rest Cure, C, 1000..... 15491
VITAGRAPH. Pigs Is Pigs, C, 1000 15492

SATURDAY, JULY 18TH, 1914.

BIOGRAPH. It Was Some Party, C, 653 15500
Some Decorators, C, 344....
EDISON. Across the Burning Trestle, D, 1000..... 15494
ESSANAY. Broncho Billy Puts One Over, D, 1000..... 15495
KALEM. The Fate of a Squaw, D, 1000..... 15499
LUBIN. She Wanted to Know, C, 400..... 15496
All for Love, C, 600.....
MELIES. The River's Secret, D, 2000..... 15502
VITAGRAPH. The Song of the Ghetto, D, 2000..... 15497

UNIVERSAL PROGRAM
RELEASES OF THE WEEK

MONDAY, JULY 6TH, 1914.

IMP. The Lady of the Island, D., 2000 .....
STERLING. Billy's Vacation, C.

TUESDAY, JULY 7TH, 1914.

CRYSTAL. Nearly a Stepmother. C. .....
GOLD SEAL. Lucille Love, The Girl of Mystery, No. 13, D., 2000 .....
UNIVERSAL IKE. Me, Him and I, C.....

WEDNESDAY, JULY 8TH, 1914.

ECLAIR. Duty, D., 2000.....
JOKER. Bess the Detectress or The Dog Watch, C.....
NESTOR. A Ranch Romance, D.

THURSDAY, JULY 9TH, 1914.

IMP. The Old Rag Doll, D....
REX. When Fate Disposes, D., 2000 .....
STERLING. Snookee's Flirtation, C. .....

FRIDAY, JULY 10TH, 1914.

NESTOR. The Great Universal Mystery, C. .....
POWERS. Passing the Love of Women, D. .....
VICTOR. A Beggar Prince of India, D., 3000.....

SATURDAY, JULY 11TH, 1914.

101 BISON. Prowlers of the Wild, D., 2000.....
JOKER. Love, Roses and Trousers, C. .....

SUNDAY, JULY 12TH, 1914.

ECLAIR. Willy and the Parisian and Lilly as a Little Mother, C., split reel.....
FRONTIER. The Fight in Linely Gulch, D.....
REX. Plain Mary, D.....

UNIVERSAL PROGRAM
RELEASES OF NEXT WEEK

MONDAY, JULY 13TH, 1914.

IMP. When the World Was Silent, D, 2000.....
STERLING. Almost Married, C
VICTOR. Out of the Valley, D

TUESDAY, JULY 14TH, 1914.

CRYSTAL. Vivian's Four Beaus and What Pearl's Pearls Did, C, Split Reel.....

RIGHT OFF THE REEL

Charles Ray says that playing Spanish roles with the temperature around one hundred is not all fun especially when one is wearing a velvet coat and nice long warm curls. He is playing in "The Silver Bell of San Juan Mission," under Director R. B. West, which is being produced at the Kay-Bee ranch at Santa Monica where Charlie motors every day.

Charles Bennett, who is doing such good work with the Keystone forces, is an ardent and excellent tennis player. In years gone by Bennett was an all round athlete and he lays his good health to the fact that he has never given up active sports, exercise without overdoing it is his motto. Bennett lives at Santa Monica and manages to get a game or two of tennis nearly every evening.

Grace Cunard's last act in the studios before departing for her Eastern holiday was a graceful one. She helped a little girl make-up and dress and even did her hair becomingly for her. Grace starts for New York Thursday to visit her people and expects to be gone about a month.

Dot Farley, leading woman with the Albuquerque Film Company, has written a scenario for a three-reel comedy, which is now being filmed. The title is "False Pride Has a Fall."

Francis Ford is going to take a thirty days' holiday in Portland, Maine, where he will visit his folks. He has had a strenuous time directing the "Lucille Love" series and acting in them.

Lule Warrenton, character woman with the McRea 101 Bison Company, just back from four months in Hawaii, is being joked concerning an occurrence in Honolulu. She bought a pair of shoes from a salesman whom she had known in "the States," but did not give him her name. The next day a package arrived addressed "Mother, McRea Company, Johnson Hotel."

Director Henry Otto, of the Balboa feature films, and company, headed by Jackie Saunders, have returned from spending a week in Fish Canyon, fifty miles northwest of Los Angeles. The company succeeded in penetrating the canyon eight miles beyond where burros could be used, and succeeded in making the first motion pictures of Second Bridal Veil Falls. These falls are said to be more beautiful than those of the Garden of the Gods in Colorado, and consist of four distinct cascades about two hundred feet deep.

Edna Maison will lead a company under the direction of Lloyd Ingraham, and will be supported by Ray Gallagher and others.

An express package containing thirty-two scenarios has been received at the Universal offices, at Hollywood, Cal. They were bound in book form, and have been promptly returned to the sender.

Capt. Wilbur Melville, manager of the Western Lubin studio, South Pasadena, Cal., has had his 120-foot launch completely overbauled, and is now ready for cruises with his company Volma Whitman and William Parsons will play leads in several marine pictures. Capt. Melville recently passed the examination and is now a registered navigator.

A. L. Runyan Advertising & Sales Co., Inc.
Successors to
ACME COMMERCIAL FILM CO.

Prices to The Trade
POSITIVE PRINTS .04½ Per Ft.
(In Quantities over 5000 feet)
Above price includes printing, developing, tinting toning and Raw Positive Stock.
Negative Film Developed .01 Per Ft.
Film Titles .08 " "
(Our Special Title Apparatus will match any perforation.) All work guaranteed.
General Offices
2624 Milwaukee Ave. Chicago
Phone Albany 3125

"American" Motion Picture Cameras
AT THE FRONT

Our famous Improved No. 2 Camera on the firing line at "Vera Cruz."

"AMERICAN" products are always with the Advance Guard. The world's most important motion pictures are taken with "AMERICAN" CAMERAS.

Agents for AGFA and GEVAERT Raw Motion Picture Film.

Send for Catalogue C.

American Cinematograph Co.
617-631 W. Jackson Blvd., Chicago, Ill.

WE will rebuild your old machine as good as new. If your machine needs repairing, we can do the work. We have every facility and use only genuine parts. All work guaranteed. We carry a complete line of new machines and supplies. Will sell for time or cash.

SEND FOR CATALOG TODAY.

AMUSEMENT SUPPLY COMPANY
160 No. Fifth Avenue - - - - - - - - - CHICAGO

Manufacturers of the Wonderful Rembusch Patented Glass MIRROR SCREEN and all other kinds of Curtains for Moving Picture Projection
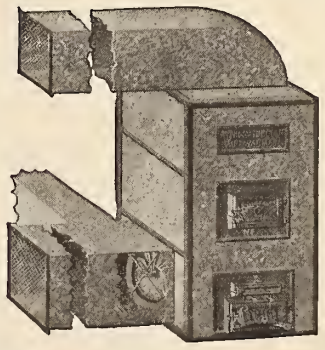
White Opaque
Glass Transparent Screens for Rear Projection
Goldcloth Fibre Screens
Mirrorcloth Fibre Screens
Seamless with Stretchers or Rollers
F. J. REMBUSCH, Pres.
Phone Seven-Eleven.

MIRROR SCREEN COMPANY
INCORPORATED
SHELBYVILLE, INDIANA



The first big Mirror Screen went into the Empire Theatre in Detroit Mich. It's in use yet and I will forfeit $1000.00 if you can beat it.
It is six years old—think six years old.

Nine different finishes For wide or narrow houses

Ventilation Cooling Heating

Heating and cooling problem revolutionized by Typhoon System.
You keep cool in front of a desk fan, not in back; apply this common sense and blow the air into your theatre.
A 48-inch Typhoon Multiblade Blower has sixteen blades, an ordinary exhaust fan has six; it is the blades that do the business.
A Typhoon Tubular Air Warmer will heat and ventilate at the same time.
The low price of effective apparatus will surprise you. Catalogue "N" gives information.

Typhoon Fan Co. 1544 Broadway New York City

RECORD OF CURRENT AND COMING RELEASES—Continued

AT MY HOUSE

GOLD SEAL. Lucille Love, the Girl of Mystery, Series No. 14, D.....
UNIVERSAL IKE. The New Cook, C.....

WEDNESDAY, JULY 15TH, 1914.

ECLAIR. Renunciation, D, 2000
JOKER. Willy Walrus and The Awful Confession, C.....
NESTOR. Her Grave Mistake, D .....

THURSDAY, JULY 16TH, 1914.

IMP. Universal Boy, Series No. 1, C.....
REX. The Soh Sister, D, 2000
STERLING. A Beach Romance, C .....

FRIDAY, JULY 17TH, 1914.

NESTOR. When Eddie Went to the Front, C.....
POWERS. The Severed Hand, D .....
VICTOR. The Panama Pacific Exposition Up to Date, E....

SATURDAY, JULY 18TH, 1914.

101 BISON. A Mexican Spy in America, D, 2000.....
JOKER. His Wife's Family, C

SUNDAY, JULY 19TH, 1914.

ECLAIR. Tango Versus Poker, C..... .....
FRONTIER. The Ranger's Reward, D.....
REX. Out of the Darkness, D..

MUTUAL PROGRAM

RELEASES OF THE WEEK

MONDAY, JULY 6TH, 1914.

AMERICAN. Cameo of the Yellowstone, D., 2000.....

AT MY HOUSE

KEYSTONE. Not Yet Announced .....
RELIANCE. Our Mutual Girl, No. 25 .....

TUESDAY, JULY 7TH, 1914.

BEAUTY. The Other Train, D.
MAJESTIC. The Only Clue....
THANHOUSER. Bevorah, D., 2000 .....

WEDNESDAY, JULY 8TH, 1914.

AMERICAN. Feast and Famine, D. .....
BRONCHO. The Final Reckoning, D., 2000.....
RELIANCE. How Izzy Was Saved, D. .....

THURSDAY, JULY 9TH, 1914.

DOMINO. The Curse of Humanity, D., 2000.....
KEYSTONE. Not Yet Announced .....
MUTUAL WEEKLY, No. 80..

FRIDAY, JULY 10TH, 1914.

KAY-BEE. The Feud of Beaver Creek, D., 2000.....
PRINCESS. The Girl of the Seasons, C. .....
RELIANCE. A Wife from the Country, D. .....

SATURDAY, JULY 11TH, 1914.

KEYSTONE. Not Yet Announced .....
RELIANCE. Blue Pete's Escape, D., 2000 .....
ROYAL. Mistakes Will Happen

SUNDAY, JULY 12TH, 1914.

KOMIC. Wrong All Around..
MAJESTIC. A City Beautiful, 2000 .....
THANHOUSER. The Leaven of Good .....

MUTUAL PROGRAM

RELEASES OF NEXT WEEK

AT MY HOUSE

MONDAY, JULY 13TH, 1914.

AMERICAN. The Lure of the Sawdust, D., 2000.....
KEYSTONE. Not Yet Decided.
RELIANCE. Our Mutual Girl, No. 26 .....

TUESDAY, JULY 14TH ,1914.

BEAUTY. The Joke on Jane, C.
MAJESTIC. The Old Derelict, D .....
THANHOUSER. The Substitute. D, 2000.....

WEDNESDAY, JULY 15TH, 1914.

AMERICAN. Youth and Art, D
BRONCHO. Shorty Turns Judge, D, 2000.....
RELIANCE. How Izzy Stuck to His Post.....

THURSDAY, JULY 16TH, 1914.

DOMINO. Star of the North, D, 2000.....
KEYSTONE. Not Yet Decided
MUTUAL WEEKLY. No. 81..

FRIDAY, JULY 17TH, 1914.

KAY-BEE. The City, D, 2000
PRINCESS. Not Yet Announced
THANHOUSER. A Gentleman for a Day, C.....

SATURDAY, JULY 18TH ,1914.

KEYSTONE. Not Yet Announced
RELIANCE. The Vengeance of Gold, D, 2000.....
ROYAL. The New Housekeeper

SUNDAY, JULY 19TH, 1914.

KOMIC. Bill No. 2.....
MAJESTIC. The Painted Lady, D, 2000.....
THANHOUSER. Harry's Waterloo, C .....

HEARD IN THE LOBBIES

George Grunewald, formerly connected with the Arcade Theatre, of Newark, has been made assistant manager of the new Garden Theatre, at 51-53 Broad Street, Elizaheth, N. J. Fred Ritz remains as manager.

With a view of making regular patrons for his house, F. J. Chadwick, manager of the Olympia Theatre, in Elizabeth avenue, near Spring Street, Elizaheth, N. J., is about to issue a weekly program for his house, in which daily changes of pictures will he announced. The cost of the program is being defrayed hy advertisements from four husiness establishments.

William J. Thompson has heen appointed superintendent of Proctor's Broad Street Theatre, Elizabeth, N. J., succeeding A. J. Pfeffer, who left to manage the Crescent Theatre at Carteret. Mr. Thompson has been connected with the Proctor interests here for a year.

The Empire Theatre, Albany, N. Y., which was instituted as a moving picture house a few weeks ago, has closed its doors. Lack of business is given as the reason.

Realizing the ahility of Mary Pickford as a drawing card, Manager Hatch, of Proctor's Leland, Albany, N. Y., has announced a Pickford Week. One of tbe clever little star's masterpieces will be presented eacb day.

While the Bijou Theatre, at South Clinton and Rusling avenues, Trenton, N. J., is undergoing repairs and being remodeled, Charles H. Hildinger, proprietor, is having an open air theatre constructed adjoining where entertainments will be given. Mr. Hildinger is regarded as one of the more enterprising men in the line of business in this section of the coutry. He was the originator of the five-cent playhouses in Trenton.

The B. & B. Tbeatre, one of the newest motion picture houses of Trenton, N. J., located at Morris and Chestnut avenues, is doing a prosperous business, under direction of John Bella and John Breza. Tbe proprietors are Italians and cater particularly to the Italian trade. However, a large number of persons of other nationalities patronize the house.

Alhert Willis has closed the Pastime Theatre, Lawrencehurg, Ky., and purchased an interest in the Lyric, which was recently acquired by Mrs. Hardie B. Ripy.

In order to give more people an opportunity to enjoy the pictures the motion picture show at Cook's Park, Evansville, Ind., has heen transferred from the park theatre to an open-air pavilion.

The new motion picture theatre at Harrodsburg, Ky., opened June 29 in the old Melha Theatre huilding and is under the management of P. Pie Williams. The Licensed Film Service has been secured.

W. L. Salyers has bought the Star Theatre, Carrollton, Ky., from Bradley Bros., and will continue the house as heretofore.

B. F. Keitb's Theatre, Louisville, Ky., wbich recently changed from vaudeville to an exclusively motion picture house, closed to-day for the summer. The decision to close the house until the heginning of the fall season some time in September was reached ahout the middle of the week. On account of the extremely hot weather prevailing here this summer the house, while not running at a loss, has not heen making money.

The Elite Theatre, Clarksville, Tenn., closed this week for the summer months. Tbe patronage, on account of the excessively and long-continued hot weather, has not heen profitable enough to justify its continuance.

Reports that the Gordon Hippodrome, the newest and largest theatre of Elizahetb, N. J., would he turned over to films for the summer, have been set at rest hy the posting of an announcement to the effect that the theatre may be rented for private entertainments and social functions during July and August. The building is leased hy Hurtig & Seamon, New York theatrical men, and it is said they will use it for burlesque in the fall. The house seats ahout 1,800.

Donald Crisp, actor and manager witb the Reliance stock company, is extremely versatile—his work as Bull McGee in "The Escape" and in an entirely different character in "Home, Sweet Home" shows. He plays anytbing from the juvenile to the villain.

In honor of the fiftieth birthday anniversary of James McConahey, manager of the Best and the American, Spokane, a birthday dinner was served July 1 at Natatorium Park. A hirthday cake carried fifty red candles. Twenty-four were present.

In "The Adventures of Our Mutual Girl," Andrew Carnegie, District-Attorney Whitman of New York, Billie Burke, Mrs. Harriet Stanton Blatch, Mrs. Inez Milholland-Boissevain, Walter Damrosch, John J. McGraw, Rev. Thomas Dixon, Mr. and Mrs. August Belmont, Mme. Luisa Tetrazzini, Jimmy Britt and Ysaye, the celebrated violinist, have been photographed. In no case has an actor impersonated the distinguished persons seen on the screen.

Other persons who have achieved fame as financiers, politicians, on tbe stage, in literature and art will appear from time to time.

R. Robichaux, cashier of the People's State Bank, of Gueydan, La., has just opened a moving picture theatre in the Singer huilding.

Joseph Bicoolosi, a prominent member of tbe New Orleans Italian colony, has just opened the Princess Theatre, at the corner of Carondelet and Washington streets. First-run moving pictures will be run, interspersed with a few vaudeville acts.

A few days ago a hahy was ahandoned in Natchez, Miss., and Manager E. M. Clark, of the Baker Grand Theatre, decided that it would be a good idea to award the child at one of the moving picture performances. There was some ohjection, hut the mayor permitted the award after Manager Clarke has assured the city that he would see to it that the child got a good home.

M. Gore has disposed of his motion picture theatre, located at Georgia and Ninth streets, Los Angeles, to E. K. Albright and G. J. Harpstrite. Both the new owners have bad previous experience in conducting motion picture theatres and already have put several changes in effect at the theatre. The former owner has been very successful during tbe two years he has been engaged in tbe motion picture theatre business.

He first purchased a five-cent show in a store-room on North Main street—the Mexican district of Los Angeles—and from that small heginning kept adding to his list of theatres until he owned five. Three of these were in the suhurhs, and each has a seating capacity of more than eight hundred. The other two are in the retail district.

Make Your Lobby Display Attractive

There is nothing more fascinating to the public than a bright brass frame to display your photos or posters.

We make Lobby and Theatre Fixtures and Brass Rails of every description.

Don't fail to visit our Showrooms

Write for Catalog.

The Newman Mfg. Co.

717 Sycamore St.
Cincinnati, Ohio

Branch Factories and Show Rooms:
101 Fourth Ave., New York, N. Y.
106-108 W. Lake St., Chicago, Ill.
Established 1882.

PAN-AMERICAN FILM MFG. CO.

High Grade Feature Films booked in all parts of the country.

Offices 9th Floor World's Tower Bldg., 110 West 40th St., New York. Bryant, 6578

"A Web of Fate"
"The Course of Jus
"The Unwritten Ju
"The Daughter of t

Your negative developed, printed and titled complete

5c per foot delivered within 12 hours

Titles 6c per foot

GUNBY BROS., Inc

145 West 45th Street New York City

THE ELEPHANT BRAND

Means Quality

WORLD FILM CORPORATION

130 West 46th St., New York

DO YOU KNOW THAT

New York boasts of 1,200 picture theatres.

Rio de Janeiro has a million dollar picture house.

Jesse L. Lasky is thirty-four years old.

400,000,000 people annually attend the motion picture theatres in the United States.

"The Squaw Man" was the first film in the Cannibal Islands.

St. Louis spends $7,500,000 annually seeing the pictures.

New York's Strand Theatre played to 70,000 people in one week with "The Only Son."

"Cahiria" required three years to complete.

Chicago has 678 photoplay theatres.

Fifteen first-class New York theatres are now photoplay houses.

Paramount Pictures Corporation has capital of $21,000,000.

Over $750,000,000 invested in motion pictures in America.

New York's biggest picture house cost $2,000,000 to construct.

"Brewster's Millions" seen by 12,000,000 in two months.

Seven thousand people are employed in New York picture houses.

HEARD IN THE LOBBIES

The Banner Theatre, 460 South Main street, Los Angeles, has been sold by Mrs. Alice Chatsey to R. M. Campbell, who takes possession at once. The theatre has a seating capacity of four hundred, and is using General service, consisting of five reels, with an admission fee of five cents. No change in the policy of the house has been announced by the new owner.

After closing his theatre a week for repairs, Harris Hickox, owner of the Vogue Theatre, Springfield, Ill., has opened up again, showing second release licensed pictures. He has discarded his Mutual service.

R. Gordon, formerly manager of the Globe Theatre, has leased the Casino, Woodland avenue and E. 46th street, Cleveland, O. The Globe has long been known as one of the most successful picture theatres in Cleveland and at one time was one of the Mark-Harris string. The Casino is being remodeled and decorated, and Mr. Gordon puts in Mutual service with the feature releases and good music.

A large force of workmen are engaged on the construction of the new motion picture theatre being fitted up by Tom Abernathy, owner of the Odeon, at Second avenue and 20th street, Birmingham, Ala. Mr. Abernathy expects to open the new place within the next month or so. It will be one of the best located motion picture theatres in the city and is the first new one to be put up here in the last year or more.

A. Alex Wall, of Birmingham, Ala., states that he has ordered canvas tents for the three airdomes he is building in the suburban sections of the city. The fronts of the theatres are all that will be made of wood. He expects to have them in operation within the next few weeks. One is to be located in Woodlawn, one in West End, and one on South Highlands.

Lafe Weinberg, of Galesburg, Ill., has begun the erection of a new theatre which will be devoted to motion pictures and vaudeville. The theatre will be 44 feet by 100 feet and will have a large entrance. The first floor will have a five-foot drop. Provisions will be made on the stage for a screen 16 by 20 feet. A pipe organ is to be installed in the theatre. The front of the building will be of enameled brick and terra cotta.

Harry Thornton, manager of the house, is supervising all the work and says that when the house is completed it will be one of the finest in central Illinois. The entire interior is to be redecorated, the stage enlarged, and new cement floors put in, both up and downstairs.

The seating capacity is to be enlarged and new seats installed. The lobby is to be done in marble and onyx, and the box-office will be in the center with entrances on either side. An extensive lighting system also will be installed.

Our Factory Is Yours!

Negative assemblers, projecting machines and an equipment second to none, with an organization of experienced people always at your SERVICE for DEVELOPING and PRINTING.

EVANS FILM MFG. CO.

Incorporated

416-22 WEST 216th STREET

Tel. 7652 Audubon at Broadway, New York

"NEW FILM FOR OLD"

Films Improved, Cleansed and Softened

Multicolor Film Improving Co., Inc.

15 EAST 26th STREET, NEW YORK

PHILADELPHIA BRANCH 1126 VINE STREET

ALBERT TEITFL PRESIDENT

RENTERS OF REAL FEATURES

European Feature Film Corp.

J. H. STEINMAN, Mgr.

220 West 42nd Street New York City

John Smith of Oshkosh

Tom Saunders of El Paso—Frank Hunt of Portland—James Martin of Bangor—Frank Collins of London—Dick Whipple of New York—and hundreds of other exhibitors are telling, in The News, about what they are doing to get business, how they reduce operating expenses, why they believe in higher rentals. The new ideas in the film business are found in The News. And fifty-two issues cost Two Dollars.

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING

Rates for advertising under this heading, 3 cents per word, cash with order. 50 cents minimum charge per insertion.

COMMERCIAL FILM EXCHANGES. Write us about buy, sell or exchange proposition. OMAHA FILM EXCHANGE, Omaha, Neb.

FILMS FOR SALE

Two Hundred (200) fine Commercial Reels at $5.00 each. Send us amount to cover express charges. Will ship subject to your examination. Address OMAHA FILM EXCHANGE, 14th & Douglas Sts., Omaha, Neb.

HEADQUARTERS FOR POWERS, MOTIOGRAPH, SIMPLEX AND EDISON MACHINES

PICTURE THEATRE EQUIPMENT CO.

THE BIGGEST MOTION PICTURE SUPPLY HOUSE IN AMERICA

21 EAST 14th STREET, NEW YORK CITY

CONDENSERS—BOOTHS—TICKET CHOPPERS—REELS—REEL CASES—BOOTH CABINETS

WE EQUIP MOTION PICTURE THEATRES COMPLETELY

RELEASE DATES FOR READY REFERENCE

RELEASE DAYS

GENERAL FILM PROGRAM

Monday—Biograph, Edison, Kalem, Pathé, Selig, Vitagraph.
Tuesday—Edison, Essanay, Geo. Kleine, Pathé, Lubin, Melies, Selig, Vitagraph.
Wednesday—Edison, Essanay, Kalem, Lubin, Melies, Selig, Pathé, Vitagraph.
Thursday—Biograph, Essanay, Lubin, Melies, Pathé, Selig, Vitagraph.
Friday—Edison, Essanay, Kalem, Selig, Pathé, Lubin, Vitagraph.
Saturday—Biograph, Edison, Essanay, Kalem, Lubin, Pathé, Vitagraph.

UNIVERSAL PROGRAM

Monday—Victor, Imp, Power.
Tuesday—Gold Seal, Crystal, Universal Ike.
Wednesday—Nestor, Joker, Eclair.
Thursday—Imp, Rex, Frontier, Sterling.
Friday—Nestor, Powers, Victor.
Saturday—Joker, Frontier, 101 Bison.
Sunday—Rex, Crystal, Eclair.

MUTUAL PROGRAM

Monday—American, Keystone, Reliance.
Tuesday—Beauty, Majestic, Thanhouser.
Wednesday—American, Broncho, Reliance.
Thursday—Domino, Keystone, Mutual.
Friday—Kay-Bee, Majestic, Princess.
Saturday—Keystone, Reliance, Royal.
Sunday—Majestic, Komic, Thanhouser.

AMERICAN

7— 1. Mother Love, D.....1000
7— 3. Mein Lieber Katrina Catches a Convict, C. 1000
7— 6. Cameo of the Yellowstone, D.....2000
7— 8. Feast and Famine, D.....1000
7—13. The Lure of the Sawdust, D.....2000
7—15. Youth and Art, D.....1000
7—20. A Man's Way, D.....2000
7—22. Business vs. Love, D.....1000

APOLLO

5— 3. The Cheese of Police.....

BEAUTY

6—23. The Tale of the Tailor, C.....1000
6—30. Via the Fire-Escape, D.....1000
7— 7. The Other Train, D.....1000
7—14. The Joke on Jane, C.....1000
7—21. Her "Really" Mother, D.....1000

BIOGRAPH

6—25. The Ragamuffin, D..... 999
6—27. A Spanish Omelet, C..... 435
Ribbons and Boxing Gloves, C.. 563
6—29. The Honor of the Law, D....1895
7— 2. The Goat, C..... 557
The Firemen's Social, C..... 443
7— 4. The Cracksman's Gratitude, D.... 999
7— 6. Eva, the Cigarette Girl, C..... 563
7— 9. A Romance of the Pueblo, D.....1020
7—11. Her Primitive Model, D.....1000
7—13. The Boy from the Poorhouse, D... 996
7—16. The Prospectors, D.....1000
7—18. It Was Some Party, C..... 653
Some Decorators, C..... 344

101 BISON

6—20. The Forbidden Room, D.....3000
6—27. The Old Cobbler, D.....2000
7— 4. The Hopes of Blind Alley, D....3000
7—11. Prowlers of the Wild, D.....2000
7—18. A Mexican Spy in America, D....2000

BRONCHO

6—24. Desert Thieves .....
7— 1. Shorty Gets Into Trouble.....
7— 8. The Final Reckoning.....

CRYSTAL

6— 2. Easy Money and A Midnight Supper .....Split reel
6— 8. His Lucky Day.....
Boxes and Boxes and Foolish Lovers, C..
6—23. In Wrong, C.....
6—30. The Girl in Pants and Her New Hat, C., split reel.....
7— 7. Nearly a Stepmother, C.....
7—14. Vivian's Four Beaux and What What Pearl's Pearls Did, C. Split Reel .....

DOMINO

6—11. A Relic of Old Japan.....
6—18. In the Southern Hills.....
6—25. Frontier Mother .....
7— 2. His Hour of Manhood.....
7— 9. The Curse of Humanity.....

DRAGON FEATURES

For June
The Black Ship.....3000

ECLAIR

6—21. The Blunderer's Mark, D.....
6—24. Dead Men's Tales, D.....3000
6—28. Prince Willy and Nutty and His Father, ...Split reel
7— 1. Snow Drift, D.....2000
7— 5. The Greatest of These, D.....
7— 8. Duty, D. 2000
7—12. Willy and the Parisian and Lilly as a Little Mother, C.....Split reel
7—15. Renunciation, D.....
7—19. Tango Versus Poker, C.....

EDISON

6—15. The Adventures of the Missing Legacy, C. 1000
6—16. The Gap, D.....1000
6—17. A Modern Samson, C..... 500
On the Steps, C..... 500
6—19. The Hand of Horror, D.....2000
6—20. In the Days of Slavery, D.....1000
6—22. The Basket Habit, C.....1000
6—23. A Foolish Agreement, D.....1000
6—24. The Mysterious Package, C..... 700
On the Ice, A Demonstration of Fancy Skating at Wegen, Switzerland, Sc. 300
6—26. The Man in the Street, D.....2000
6—27. Dolly Plays Detective, D.....1000
6—29. The Revengeful Servant Girl, C..1000
6—30. The Mystery of the Fadeless Tints, D. 1000
7— 1. Back to the Simple Life, C.....1000
7— 3. The Shattered Tree, D.....2000
7— 4. Molly, the Drummer Boy, D.....1000
7— 6. Her Spanish Cousins, C.....1000
7— 7. Face to Face, D.....1000
7— 8. Andy Has a Toothache, C.....1000
7—10. In the Shadow of Disgrace, D.....2000
7—11. Dolly at the Helm, D.....1000
7—13. Qualifying for Lena, C.....1000
7—14. The Two Doctors, D.....1000
7—15. The Ever Gallant Marquis, C..... 500
7—15. An Up-to-Date Courtship, C..... 500
7—17. Meg o' the Mountains, D.....2000
7—18. Across the Burning Trestle, D....1000

ESSANAY

6—27. Broncho Billy's Jealousy, D.....1000
6—30. The Darling Young Person, C....1000
7— 1. The Fable of "The Good Fairy," C. 1000
7— 2. Sophie Gets Stung, C.....1000
7— 3. Trinkets of Tragedy, D.....1000
7— 4. Broncho Billy's Punishment, D...1000
7— 7. A Night with a Million, C.....1000
7— 8. A Boarding House Scramble, C....1000
7— 9. Slippery Slim, Diplomat, C.....1000
7—10. Night Hawks, D.....2000
7—11. Broncho Billy and the Sheriff, D..1000
7—13. Sweedie the Swatter, C.....1000
7—14. At the Foot of the Hill, D.....1000
7—15. The Fable of "Napoleon and the Bumps," C.....1000
7—16. Snakeville's New Waitress, C.....1000
7—17. His Stolen Fortune, D.....2000
7—18. Broncho Billy Puts One Over, D..1000

FILMS LLOYD

5— 7. Cora, the Temptress.....3900

FRONTIER

6— 4. The Girl Next Door, C.....
6— 7. The Girl and the Hobo, D.....
6—14. His Dress Rehearsal.....
6—21. The Gunmen of Plumas, D.....
6—28. On the Verge, D.....
7— 5. The Broken Barriers, D.....
7—12. The Fight in Lonely Gulch, D.....
7—19. The Ranger's Reward.....

GOLD SEAL

6—22. Lucille Love, The Girl of Mystery Series No. 1, D.....2000
6—30. Lucille Love, The Girl of Mystery Series, No. 12, D.....2000
7— 7. Lucille Love, the Girl of Mystery, Series No. 13.....
7—14. Lucille Love, The Girl of Mystery, Series No. 14.....

GR. NO. SPEC.

5— 5. The Monomaniac.....3000

IMP

5—25. A Mexican Warrior.....
5—28. The Dawn of the New Day, C....
6— 1. His Last Chance, D.....2000
6— 8. The Man Who Lost But Won, C..2000
6—11. Across the Atlantic, D.....3000
6—15. —The Baited Trap, D.....2000
6—18. The Fatal Step, D.....
6—22. Papa's Darling, C.....
6—25. The Skull, D.....2000
6—29. Adventures of a Girl Reporter, D.2000
7— 2. The One Best Bet, C.....
7— 6. The Lady of the Island, D.....2000
7— 9. The Old Rag Doll, D.....
7—13. When the World Was Silent, D...2000
7—16. Universal Boy Series No. 1, C...

JOKER

6—27. Love and Electricity, C.....
7— 4. Captain Kids Priceless Treasure, C.
7— 8. Bess, the Detectress, or The Dog Watch, C. .....
7—11. Love Roses and Trousers, C.....
7—15. Willy Walrus and The Awful Confession, C.....
7—18. His Wife's Family, C.....

KALEM

6—24. Through the Flames, D.....2000
6—26. An Elopement in Rome, C..... 500
Labor Demonstration in Hyde Park, London, T..... 500
6—27. The Gypsy Gambler, D.....1000
6—29. The Flaw in the Alibi, D.....2000
6—30. The Fire Chief's Reward, D.....1000
7— 1. The Fatal Portrait, D.....2000
7— 3. Fleeing from the Fleas, C..... 500
Trooping the Colors, Top..... 500
7— 4. The Political Boss, D..... 500
7— 6. The Weakling, Third of the Alice Joyce Series, D.....1000
7— 7. Kaintucky Bill, D.....1000
7— 8. A String of Pearls, D.....2000
7—10. Rubo, the Interloper, C..... 807
In Old England, Top..... 195
7—11. Lamo Dog's Treachery, D.....1000
7—13. A Diamond in the Rough, D.....2000
7—14. Accused, D.....1000
7—15. The Express Messenger, D.....1000
7—17. Wanted an Heir, C.....1000
7—18. The Fate of a Squaw, D.....1000

KAY-BEE

6—12. From Out the Dregs.....
6—19. The Voice on the Phone.....1000
6—26. The Voice at the Phone. 2d part
7— 3. The Heart .....

---

cake carried fifty red candles. Twenty-four were present.

In "The Adventures of Our Mutual Girl," Andrew Carnegie, District-Attorney Whitman of New York, Billie Burke, Mrs. Harriet Stanton Blatch, Mrs. Inez Milholland-Boissevain, Walter Damrosch, John J. McGraw, Rev. Thomas Dixon, Mr. and Mrs. August Belmont, Mme. Luisa Tetrazzini, Jimmy Britt and Ysaye,

KLEINE

6— 9. The Trap Door Clue, D.....2100
6—16. One Woman's Way, D.....2000
6—23. A Midnigbt Guest, D.....1000
6—30. The Bondage of Evil, D.....2000
7— 7. The Heirloom, D.....2000
7—14. The Rival Actresses, D.....2000

KOMIC

6— 7. The Last Drink of Whiskey, C..
6—14. Hubby to the Rescue.....
6—21. The Deceiver .....
6—28. The Wild Girl.....
7— 5. Bill's Job .....
7—12. Wrong All Around.....

LUBIN

Brown's Big Butler, C..... 600
6—24. The Greater Treasure, D.....2000
6—25. The Candidate for Mayor, D....2000
6—26. A Practical Demonstration, D....1000
6—27. Who's Boss, C..... 400
His Sudden Recovery, C..... 600
6—30. The Walko Sisters, C.....1000
7— 1. The Living Fear, D.....2000
7— 2. The Shadow of Tragedy, D.....2000
7— 3. The Doom of Duty, D.....1000
7— 4. It's a Shame.....
7— 7. Fooling Fanny's Father, C..... 400
While Aunty Bounced, C..... 600
7— 8. The Incompetent, D.....2000
7— 9. The Debt, D.....2000
7—10. The Tribunal of Conscience, D....1000
7—11. How He Lost His Trousers, C.... 500
Mandy's Chicken Dinner, C..... 500
7—14. He Was Bad, C..... 400
Tough Luck, C..... 600
7—15. Codes of Honor, D.....2000
7—16. The Cross of Crime, D.....2000
7—17. The Lie, D.....1000
7—18. She Wanted to Know, C..... 400
All For Love, C..... 600

The ALBUQUERQUE FILM MFG. CO., Inc.

RELEASING THROUGH

Warner's Features, Inc.

FEATURING

Miss Dot Farley

IN FEATURE STORIES WRITTEN AND ACTED BY HER.

PRODUCED UNDER THE DIRECTION OF

GILBERT P. HAMILTON

Past Releases

"First Law of Nature"
"The Trail of the Law"
"A Web of Fate"
"The Course of Justice"
"The Unwritten Justice"
"The Daughter of the Tribe"

Ready for Release

"The Lust of the Red Man"
The greatest Indian Story ever produced.
"The Toll of the Warpath"
"The Price of Crime"
Undoubtedly the greatest three-reel subject of the year.
"False Pride Has a Fall"

OTHER GREAT PRODUCTIONS IN COURSE OF CONSTRUCTION AT THEIR

WESTERN STUDIO
406 Court St., Los Angeles, Calif.

J. SPAULDING & SONS CO.

MANUFACTURERS OF

Metal Fibre Lined Cases

Meet requirements of Interstate-Commerce Commission

These Cases must be used after October 1st, 1914

Our Six Factories Are At Your Service.

Orders placed will receive prompt attention. Write for prices and full information.

Address all communications to

A. B. HODGES
Mgr. Film Case Dept.
448 Broome St. New York City

SUPERIOR Photographic Quality in motion pictures can be best demonstrated by making a print on

"Agfa"

"The Distinctive Film"

and then making comparisons

Specify "AGFA" and watch results

Formulae Book, Samples, Etc., Gratis

"AGFA" non-flam film either in the raw or finished state can be shipped through the United States Mails.

Raw Film Supply Co.

Sole American Agents
15 East 26th St. New York City

"Safety First" with "Agfa" Non-Flam

RELEASE DATES FOR READY REFERENCE—Continued

MAJESTIC

6— 2. The Newer Woman.....
6— 7. The Intruder .....
6— 9. Her Birthday Present.....
6—14. The Rebellion of Kitty Bell.....
6—16. Their First Acquaintance.....
6—21. The Severed Thong.....
6—23. The Burden.....
6—26. The Idiot .....
6—28. The Tavern .....
6—30. Suffragette Battle in Nuttyville...
7— 5. The Angel of Contention.....
7— 7. The Only Clew.....
7—12. A City Beautiful.....

MELIES

6—17. At the Mercy of the Waves, D....1000
6—18. His Dream Fulfilled, C..... 500
Everybody's Doing It, C..... 500
6—18. Hidden Death, D.....2000
6—20. Pills and Pills, C.....2000
6—23. A Good Time Spoiled, C.....1000
6—24. Mother, D. 1000
6—25. A Shadow on the Wall, D.....2000
6—27. Gypsy Child, D.....2000
6—30. One Suit of Clothes, C.....1000
7— 1. The Monk's Sacrifice, D.....1000
7— 2. Womanly Curiosity, C.....1000
7— 2. The Prescription, D.....2000
7— 4. Hidden Death, D.....2000
7— 7. A Discolored Romance, C.....1000
7— 8. The Hole in the Wall, D.....1000
7— 9. Good Fortune's Tardy Smile, C...1000
7—11. His Friend's Forgiveness, D.....2000
7—14. Rags and Patriotism, C.....1000
7—15. Justly Punished, D.....1000
7—16. The Test of True Love, C.....1000
7—16. A Sublime Deception, D.....2000
7—18. The River's Secret, D.....2000

NESTOR

6—17. 'Cross the Mexican Line, D.....
6—19. Sophie of the Films, Series No. 3, C. .....
6—24. The Den of Thieves, D.....
6—26. Sophie of the Film, Series No. 4, C. .....
7— 1. The Lost Arrow, D.....
7— 3. Those College Days, C.....
7— 8. A Ranch Romance, D.....
7—10. The Great Universal Mystery, C..
7—15. Her Grave Mistake, D.....
7—17. When Eddie Went to the Front, C.

PATHE

6— 9. The Poison of Serpents, E..... 750
River Travel in Indo-China, T.... 250
6—10. Pathé's Weekly, No. 40, N.....1000
6—15. Whiffles, the Spotter, C..... 689
Cournailles, Brittany, T..... 400
6—16. Simple Experiments in Electricity, E. 594
Through the Bosphorus, T..... 400
6—17. Pathé's Weekly No. 41, 1914, N...1000
6—22. Max, The Magician, C..... 672
Historic St. Cloud, T..... 328
6—23. Glacier National Park, E..... 492
The Marmot, E..... 500
6—24. Pathé's Weekly, No. 42, N.....1000
6—29. A Visit to the Paris Zoo, Zoo.... 857
6—30. French Village in Senegal, West Africa, T. 541
7— 1. Pathé's Weekly, No. 43, 1914, N..1000
7— 6. The Heart and the Circulation of the Blood, E. 500
Mode of Travel in Japan (Manners and Customs) 500
7— 7. A Tiger Hunt (Indio-China), S... 500
The Ice and Snow, S..... 500
7— 8. Pathe's Weekly No. 44, 1914, N...1000
7—13. A Russian Boar Hunt, Hunt..... 500
The Wine Industry, Marsala, Sicily, Ind. 500
7—14. Through the Bosnia & Dalmatia, T. 300
The Tombs of the Ancient Japanese Emperors, Annam, Indo-China, S. 350
Water Falls at Aragonia Spain. T. 300
7—15. Pathé's Weekly No. 45, 1914, N...1000

POWERS

5—18. The Count's Infatuation, C.....
5—22. Sisters, D. 1000
5—25. Why They Grew Jealous and From Interlaken to Brientz.Split reel
5—29. The Feud, D.....2000
6— 5. Heart Springs, D.....
6— 8. The Undertow, D.....
6—12. The Masked Rider.....
6—19. The Plot that Failed.....
6—26. The Love Victorious, D.....2000
7— 2. Pearl of the Sea, D.....
7—10. Passing the Love of Women, D....
7—17. The Severed Hand, D.....3000

PRINCESS

6— 5. His Enemy .....
6—12. The Toy Shop .....
6—19. The Little Senorita.....
6—26. Professor Snaigh .....
7— 3. The Decoy .....
7—10. The Girl of the Seasons.....

REX

6—11. The Awakening, D.....
6—14. The Sherlock Boob, C.....
6—18. The Law Unto Himself, D.....2000
6—21. The Boob Detective, C.....
6—25. The Woman in Black, D.....
6—28. Lost by a Hair, C.....
7— 2. The House Discordant, D.....2000
7— 5. On the Rio Grande, D.....
7— 9. When Fate Disposes, D.....2000
7—12. Plain Mary, D.....
7—16. The Sob Sister, D.....2000
7—19. Out of the Darkness, D.....

RELIANCE

6—12. Dan Morgan's Way .....
6—13. The Horse Wrangler .....
6—15. Our Mutual Girl No. 22.....
6—17. The Peach Brand.....
6—20. The Stolen Code.....
6—22. Our Mutual Girl, No. 23.....
6—24. Izzy's Night Out.....
6—27. The Broken Banner.....
6—29. Our Mutual Girl, No. 24.....
7— 1. Izzy, the Detective.....
7— 4. The Weaker Strain.....
7— 8. How Izzy Was Saved.....
7—10. A Wife from the Country.....
7—11. Blue Pete's Escape.....
7—16. Our Mutual Girl No. 25.....

ROYAL

5—30. Bomhsky and the Bomb.....
6— 6. Tango Troubles .....
6—13. Handle With Care.....
6—20. Such a Business and The Busy Man
6—27. A Hasty Exit.....
7— 4. Did She Run?.....
7— 4. Mistakes will Happen.....

SELIG

6—10. The Doctor's Mistake, D.....1000
6—11. Hearst-Selig News Pictorial No. 30, N. 1000
6—12. Bombarded, C. 500
Doc Yak's Zoo, C..... 500
6—13. When the Night Call Came, D....1000
6—15. The Adventures of Kathlyn No. 13, D. 2000
6—15. Hearst-Selig News Pictorial No. 31, N. 1000
6—16. How Lone Wolf Died, D.....1000
6—17. Castles in the Air, D.....1000
6—18. Hearst-Selig News No. 32, N.....1000
6—19. Peter's Relations, C..... 500
Chicken, C. 500
6—20. The Girl at His Side .....
6—22. Me An' Bill, D.....2000
6—22. Hearst-Selig News Pictorial No. 33, N. 1000
6—23. The Servant Question, C..... 500
Doc Yak and The Limited Train, C. 500
6—24. Somehody's Sister, D.....1000
6—25. Hearst-Selig News Pictorial No. 34, N. 1000
6—26. The Captain's Chair, D.....1000
6—27. The Right to Happiness, D.....1000
6—29. The Leopard's Foundling, D.....2000
6—29. Hearst-Selig News Pictorial, No. 35, N. 1000
6—30. Hearts of Men, D.....1000
7— 1. The Empty Sleeve, D.....1000
7— 2. Hearst-Selig News Pictorial, No. 36, N. 1000
7— 3. Making Good with Her Family, C. 500
Doc Yak's Wishes, C..... 500
7— 4. The Little Hoho, D..... 500
7— 6. Reporter Jimmie Intervenes, D....2000
7— 7. Algie's Sister, C.....1000
7— 8. Caryl of the Mountains, D.....1000
7— 9. Hearst-Selig News Pictorial No. 38, N. 1000
7—10. Did She Cure Him? C.....1000
7—11. His Fight, D.....1000
7—13. The Wilderness Mail, D.....2000
7—13. Hearst-Selig News Pictorial No. 39, N. 1000
7—14. An Egyptian Princess, C.....1000
7—15. His Last Appeal, D.....2000
7—16. Hearst-Selig News Pictorial No. 40, N. 1000
7—17. Wiggs Takes the Rest Cure, C....1000
7—18. The Squatters, D.....1000

STERLING

7— 2. The Crash, C.....
7— 6. Billy's Vacation, C.....
7— 9. Snookee's Flirtation, C.....
7—13. Almost Married, C.....
7—16. A Beach Romance, C.....

THANHOUSER

5—25. The Henpecked Hod Carrier, C.. 882
5—25. The Purse and the Girl, D.....1003
5—28. The Golden Cross, D.....1909
6— 2. From the Shadows, D.....2000
6— 7. The Scruh Lady, C.....
6— 9. Rivalry .....
6—14. The Girl Across the Hall.....
6—16. Remorse .....
6—19. The Man Without Fear.....
6—21. The Outlaw's Nemesis.....
6—23. For Her Child.....
6—28. The Widow's Mite.....
6—30. The Harlow Handicap.....
7— 5. The Cooked Goose.....

UNIVERSAL IKE

6— 9. Universal Ike, Jr., is Kept from Being an Actor, C.....
Universal Ike, Jr., In a Case on the Doctor, C. .....
6—16. Universal Ike, Jr., Bearly Won Her, C. .....
6—30. Universal Ike, Jr., and The Vampire, C. .....
7— The Triangle Marriage, C.....
7—14. The New Cook, C.....

VICTOR

6—12. Enmeshed by Fate, D.....2000
6—15. The Sandhill Lovers, D.....
6—19. A Singular Cynic, C.....2000
6—22. The Silent Witness, D.....2000
6—26. The Slavey's Romance, D.....
6—29. A Twentieth Century Pirate, C..
7— 3. Her Ragged Knight, D.....2000
7— 6. At Mexico's Mercy, D.....
7—10. A Beggar Prince of India, D.....3000
7—13. Out of the Valley, D.....
7—17. The Panama Exposition Up To Date, E.....

VITAGRAPH

6— 3. Wanted, a House, C.....1000
6— 4. A False Move, C.....1000
6— 5. The Maid from Sweden, C.....1000
6— 6. Too Many Husbands, C.....2000
6— 8. Eve's Daughter, D.....1000
6— 9. The Right of Way, D.....2000
6—10. The Widow of Red Rock, C.....1000
6—11. The Power to Forgive, D.....1000
6—12. The Accomplished Mrs. Thompson, C. 1000
6—13. Our Fairy Play, C.....2000
6—15. A Wayward Daughter, C.....2000
6—17. The Ladies' War, C.....1000
6—18. Only a Sister, D.....1000
6—19. The Persistent Mr. Prince, C.....1000
6—20. Father's Flirtation, C.....2000
6—22. Maria's Sacrifice, D.....1000
6—23. The Passing of Diana, D.....2000
6—24. The "Bear" Facts, C.....1000
6—25. Happy-Go-Lucky, C. 1000
6—26. The Old Maid's Bahy, C.....1000
6—27. His Wife and His Work, D.....2000
6—29. The Gang, D.....1000
6—30. The Poor Folk's Boy, D.....2000
7— 1. The Circus and the Boy, C.....1000
7— 2. Two Stepchildren, D.....1000
7— 3. A Train of Incidents, C.....1000
7— 4. The Toll, D.....2000
7— 6. The False and the True, D.....1000
7— 7. The Moonstone of Fez, D.....2000
7— 8. Doctor Smith's Bahy, C.....1000
7— 9. Prosecution, D. 1000
7—10. The Vases of Hymen, C.....1000
7—11. Lillian's Dilemma, C.....2000
7—13. The Soul of Luigi, D.....1000
7—14. Fogg's Millions, D.....2000
7—15. The Arrival of Josie, C.....1000
7—16. The Little Captain, C.....1000
7—17. Pigs is Pigs. C.....1000
7—18. The Songs of the Ghetto, D.....2000

ANIMATED SONGS

Imperial Motion Picture Co., New York
Releases for May:

4. The Woman Thou Gavest Me.
5. My Melancholy Bahy.
6. How Easy It Is To Remember The Things You Would Like To Forget.
7. Tonight's My Last Night Single.
8. Going Up Ahead.
9. Two Floral Wreaths.
10. Rebecca of Sunnyhrook Farm.
11. Peg O' My Heart.
12. When I Carved Your Name On The Tree.
13. A Real Moving Picture From Life.
14. Down On The Farm In Harvest Time.

DEVELOPING AND PRINTING
Film Titles

Manufacturers of COMMERCIAL DOMESTIC
OR EDUCATIONAL Moving Pictures

All Work Guaranteed
Expert Workmanship
Prompt Deliveries
Prices Right

EXPERT CAMERA MEN
Furnished for All Occasions

Standard Motion Picture Co.

1621 Mallers Building

Telephone, Central 2853

5 So. Wabash Avenue

CHICAGO, ILL.

HEARD IN THE LOBBIES

How have the mighty fallen! The old Lexington, Ky., Opera House, upon whose stage every American or foreign actor and actress of note, with only two exceptions, have appeared, has been turned over—on Sundays, at least—to negroes for moving pictures. Recently, Charles Scott sold the Opera House to the Haggin interests, of New York, who own the $120,000 Ben Ali Theatre there, Scott being put in as manager of the Ben Ali. It is expected that before another year a new big building, probably housing a fine picture theatre, will be placed there. At least three companies are trying to secure sites for the installation of new movie theatres there, but rent property for such a nature is scarce.

Whitesburg, Letcher county, Ky., before the advent of the railroad, last year, a remote part of the mountains, in the heart of the feud section, is rabid over moving pictures. S. T. Frazier has started erecting a building in Whitesburg, the chief aim of which is to accommodate the traveling moving picture companies which go to that section, and will likely put in his own enterprise later. The building will cost about $10,000.

Manager Gaines, who operates the moving picture theatre at Irvine, Ky., and who recently gained some notice by securing the release on bond of the two city policemen—who had killed a prisoner—on the plea that he could not secure good order in his show-house unless the officers were at liberty, has come into the limelight again. This time he announces his theatre as "the coolest place in town," he having placed large cakes of ice in front of the electric fans daily lately. His house has been crowded at every performance.

The Kozy Model Theatre has just been completed at Paducah, Ky. Its color scheme is in ivory tints, pastel green walls and white facades. The woodwork is mahogany, the doors and windows bevel plate. A Radium Gold screen is used for the films, projected by two Simplex machines. The house advertised as being absolutely fireproof, and the booth is pronounced entirely safe, the structure being of asbestos and steel. Two immense exhausts and a lot of oscillators are used for ventilation.

Manager Edward Schwartz, of the St. Charles Theatre, Sixth and St. Charles streets, St. Louis, has handsomely framed life-size photographs of Rosemary Theby and G. M. Anderson, prominently displayed in the lobby of his theatre. These two stars are natives of St. Louis and lately figured in a full-page write-up in the "Sunday Globe-Democrat."

W. J. O'Sullivan, city building inspector of Louisville, Ky., has granted a permit for the erection of a motion picture theatre in Broadway, between Shelby and Logan streets, although, in his opinion, the court spaces for exits provided for in the plans for the structure are not as long as they should be. Certain concessions were made by the builders, however, according to Mr. O'Sullivan, that will offset to a certain degree his objections to the plans.

The theatre is to be erected by the Broadway Theatre Company on the site at present occupied by a motion picture amusement house owned by the company, but, in addition, will cover an adjoining lot.

A. F. Pfeffer, who has been superintendent of Proctor's Broad Street Theatre, Elizabeth, N. J., for the last year, has assumed the management of the Crescent Theatre at Chrome.

John Martensis has built a new building at Harlan, Ia., and started the Lyric Theatre. It cost $3,000.

Sol Harris, manager of the Gem, the Savoy, and the Royal theatres, was elected state president, and Mr. Carter, manager of the Crystal Theatre, was elected national vice-president at a meeting of the Arkansas Exhibitors League, which was held in Little Rock on May 25.

Ralph Pinkham, manager of Warners Features, Benoist Building, St. Louis, was called to Chicago on June 4 to attend a meeting of Western exchange managers. The meeting was held at the Western executive offices of Warners, 1322 Consumers Company Building.

CALEHUFF SUPPLY CO.
INC.

CHAS. A. CALEHUFF, Pres. and Mgr.
1301 Race Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

JOBBERS 4 POWERS, EDISON, MOTIOGRAPH AND SIMPLEX

Largest Leading SUPPLY HOUSE IN AMERICA

Mercury Arc Rectifier	Brass and Wood Frames
Flame Arc Lamps	Ticket Choppers
Automatic Ticket Registers	Asbestos State Booths
Exit Signs	Ft. Wayne Compensarcs
Slide Ink	Fire Extinguishers
Carrying Cases	Fire Boxes
Tickets	Carbons
Condensers	Cement
Pianos	Trap Drum Effects
Chairs
Wagner Converters
Spot Lights

MIRROR SCREENS

Prompt Shipments Backed By A Solid Guarantee.

A FEW SLIGHTLY USED MACHINES

NIAGARA SLIDES
are just what you need. Sample for 10c. and this advertisement. NIAGARA SLIDE COMPANY, Lockport, N. Y.

Kinematograph Weekly
$5.15 a Year

The Leading Motion Picture Publication of Great Britain and Colonies

Sample Copies* 10 *cents

For Advertising Rates Write

ASSOCIATED MOVING PICTURE PRESS

250A Kingston Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y.

LE COURRIER Cinematographique
28 Boulevard St. Denis, - Paris

Directeur: Charles LE FRAPER

Journal hebdomadaire français, le plus important de l'industrie cinematographique.

Envoie numéro spécimen, sur demande.
Abonnement 12 FR. 50

DEVELOPING AND PRINTING
carefully done for professionals and amateurs. The largest factory in the world devoted exclusively to Manufacturing Commercial Moving Pictures
Prices and factory description sent at your request
INDUSTRIAL MOVING PICTURE CO.
Watterson R. Rothacker, Gen. Mgr. 223-233 West Erie Street, Chicago

"It Saves Your Eyes"

Treat The Family Well

—if you are running a family picture house.

The only real success is that built on regular patronage. Make your audience glad to come back.

The only way to keep the family trade is to show your pictures on a

Radium Gold Fibre Screen

No more headaches. No more eye-strain. Just perfect pictures, natural colors, true to life.

Ask for ATSCO Easy Payment Plan!

Catalogue or Salesman sent on Request

ATSCO, Inc.

218 West 42d Street New York
and everywhere
Factories: St. Louis and East Orange, N. J.

Atsco makes Customers not Trades

THE GREATEST OF ALL

A MODERN PROBLEM PLAY OF SUCH INTENSE DRAMATIC INTEREST
OF SUCH SUSPENSE AND PUNCH
OF SUCH ORIGINALITY AND ACTION
THAT THE AVERAGE SERIAL OF THE PAST IS LIKE A NIGHTMARE

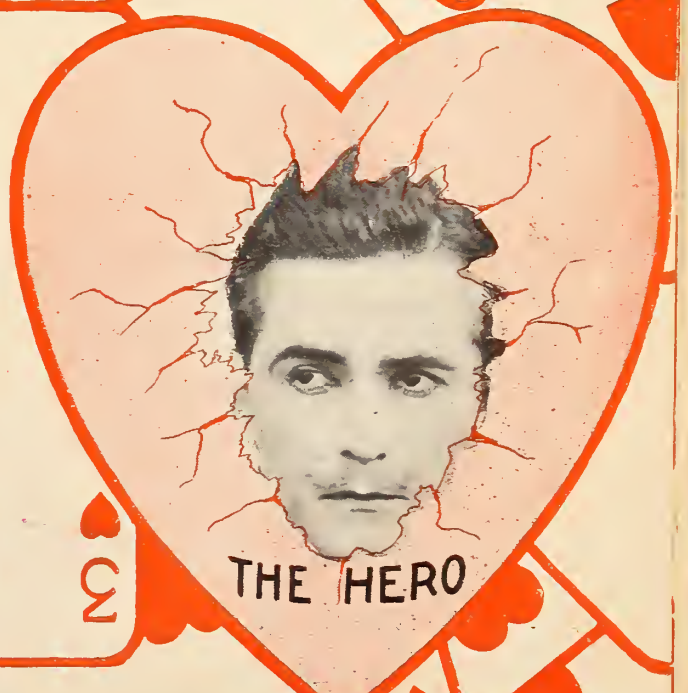
THAT'S THE

THE TREY O' HEARTS

by LOUIS JOSEPH VANCE

THE HEROINE

FOR FIFTEEN WEEKS YOU CAN PACK YOUR HOUSE WITH THIS GOLD SEAL DE LUXE BUT ARRANGE YOUR BOOKINGS EARLY FOR



THE AUTHOR

EVERY LEADING PAPER IN THE UNITED STATES AND CANADA WILL CARRY THE STORY – EVERYMAN WOMAN AND CHILD WILL LOOK FOR IT – IT WILL BE ON THE TIP OF THE TONGUE OF 70,000,000 PEOPLE

THE TREY O' HEARTS

STARTS AUGUST FOURTH

THE HERO

UNIVERSAL FILM MANUFACTURING CO.

CARL LAEMMLE, Pres.

1600 BROADWAY NEW YORK, N.Y.

EDISON

LADDIE

A New Version of the Celebrated Edison Drama. In Two Parts. 2,000 feet

The great tragedy in a mother's life is when her children grow up and leave her. Some fifteen years had elapsed since "Laddie" had left the old home for city life. Then, when the dear old mother was to be turned out of house and home to let a railroad have right of way through the property, she decided to surprise "Laddie" with her trip to his city office. "Laddie" appeared to be glad to see her, but the dear old mother felt his cold formality and went her way. Evidently "Laddie" was ashamed of his poor old mother. At length remorse for his conduct came over him and he sought her, only to find her at last frail and dying in a hospital, but barely in time to impress a kiss on her dying lips and receive a mother's farewell smile.

To be released Friday, July 24th

COMING EDISON RELEASES

THE ADVENTURE OF THE ABSENT-MINDED PROFESSOR

Seventh "Octavius-Amateur Detective" story
Comedy—1,000 feet.
To be released Monday, July 20th.

A MATTER OF MINUTES

Eighth "The Man Who Disappeared" story.
Drama—1,000 feet.
To be released Tuesday, July 21st.

A DEAL IN STATUARY

Comedy—500 feet.

HIS WIFE'S BURGLAR

Comedy—500 feet.
To be released Wednesday, July 22d.

THE LAST ASSIGNMENT

Twelfth of the "Dolly of the Dailies" series.
Drama—1,000 feet.
To be released Saturday, July 25th.

A CANINE RIVAL

Eighth of the "Wood B. Wedd" sentimental experiences. Comedy—1,000 feet.
To be released Monday, July 27th.

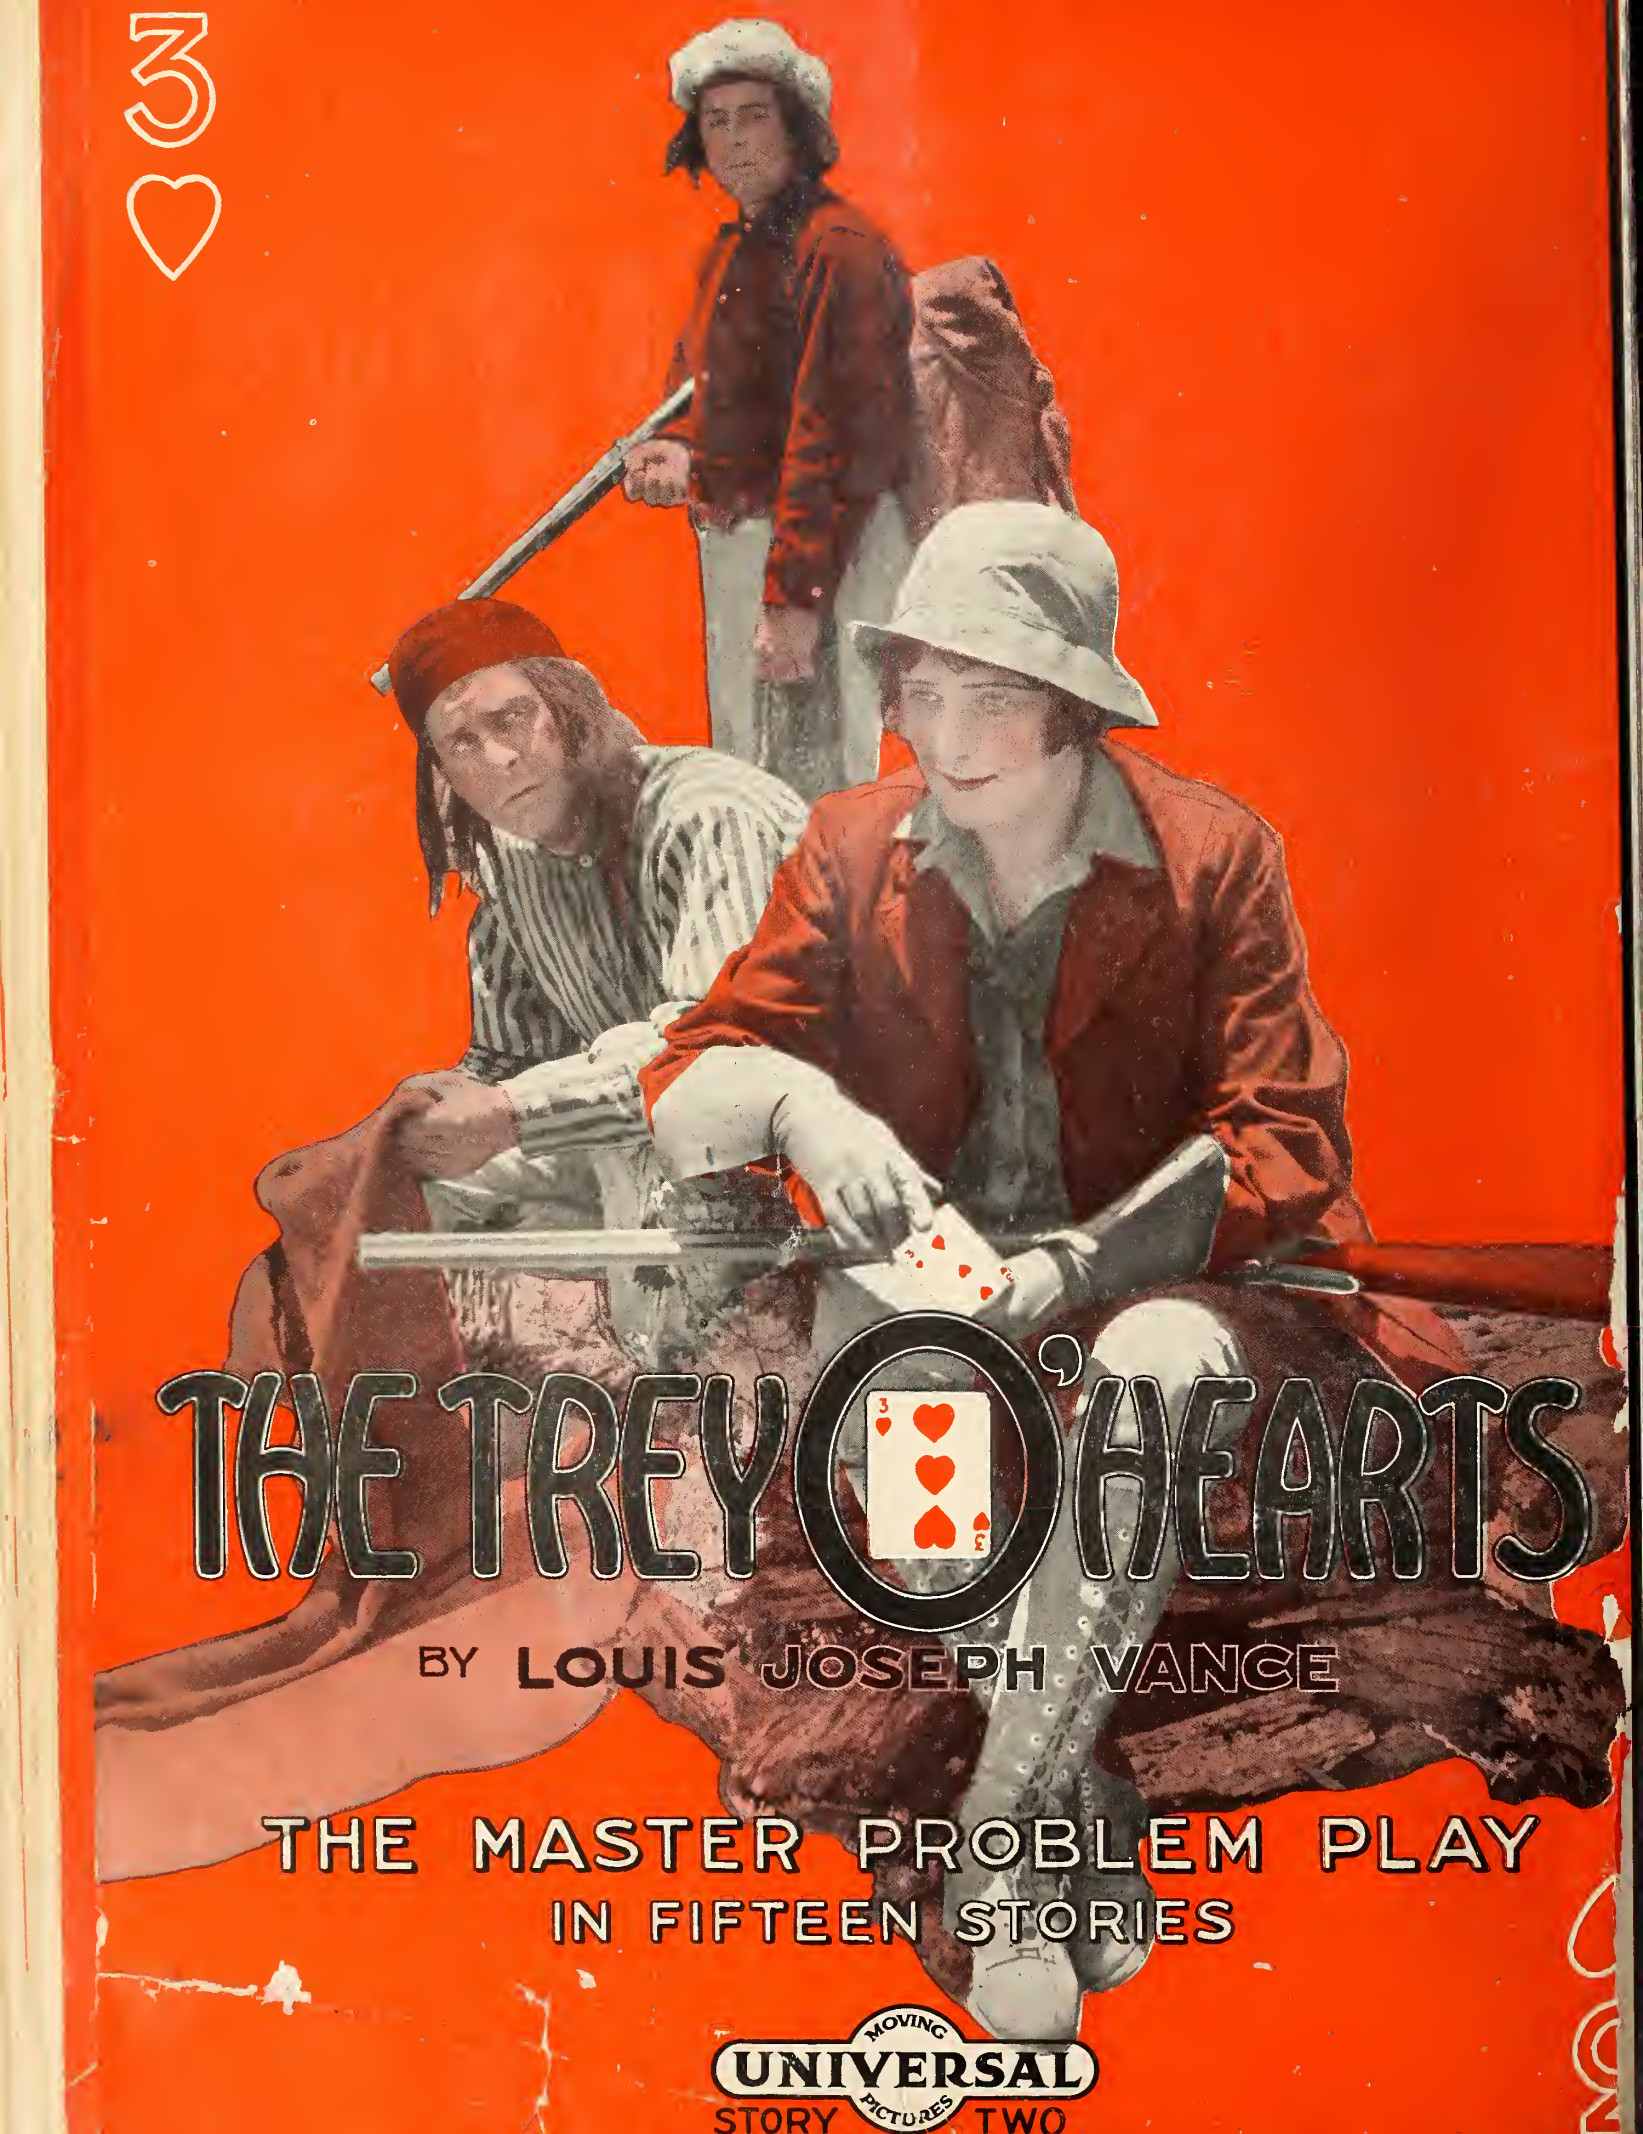
Order Edison Posters of the Morgan Lithograph Co., Cleveland, Ohio, direct.

Watch for Announcement of "MY FRIEND FROM INDIA," H. A. Du Souchet's famous comedy-drama, with Walter E. Perkins in the title role, to be released on August 15th through the Masterpiece Service of the General Film Company.

TRADE MARK
Thomas A Edison
Makers of the Edison Kinetoscope, Model "D"

THOMAS A. EDISON, Inc.
275 Lakeside Avenue Orange, N. J.

JULY 25, 1914 PRICE, 10 CENTS



The Motion Picture News

League and Association AMALGAMATE At Dayton

Issue NEW BUILDING CODE For Pennsylvania

The fastest moving picture journal

VOLUME X NUMBER 3

3
THE TREY O'HEARTS
BY LOUIS JOSEPH VANCE
THE MASTER PROBLEM PLAY
IN FIFTEEN STORIES
MOVING
UNIVERSAL PICTURES
STORY TWO

This Is The One Serial Film Which Has Lived up to Every Advance Notice

THE PERILS OF PAULINE

The acid test has been applied to The Perils of Pauline many hundreds of times and under the most adverse circumstances and every time this great serial has more than proved its worth. It has been the means in many cases of turning a losing season into a big money making one. We know because we have the letters in the office telling us of it. You are the one to suffer if you do not book it.

PAULINE PULLS PEOPLE—SHE'S A GOLD MINE

I LOVE THE NURSES

A One Reel Pathé Produced Screaming Comedy which is different from what you have been used to.

ECLECTIC FEATURE FILM EXCHANGES FOR YOUR USE

ATLANTA Rhodes Bldg. | BOSTON 3 Tremont Row | CHICAGO 5 So. Wabash Ave. | DALLAS Andrews Bldg. | LOS ANGELES 114 E. 7th St. | MINNEAPOLIS 4th & Hennepin Sts.
NEW YORK 115 E. 23rd St. | PITTSBURGH 715 Liberty Ave. | SAN FRANCISCO 67 Turk St. | ST. LOUIS 3210 Locust St. | SYRACUSE 214 E. Fayette St. | CINCINNATI 217 E. 5th St.
CLEVELAND 622 Prospect Av., S.E. | PORTLAND 392 Burnside Ave. | PHILADELPHIA 1235 Vine St. | WASHINGTON 7th & E Sts., N. W. | NEW ORLEANS 910 Gravier St.
SEATTLE 810 Third Ave. | OMAHA 1312 Farnam St. | DENVER Nassau Bldg. | KANSAS CITY 928 Main St.
SALT LAKE CITY: 68 South Main St.

THE ECLECTIC FILM COMPANY

110 West 40th Street New York City

"The Cream of American and European Studios"

Positively the Last

THE PATH

is the greatest-it I

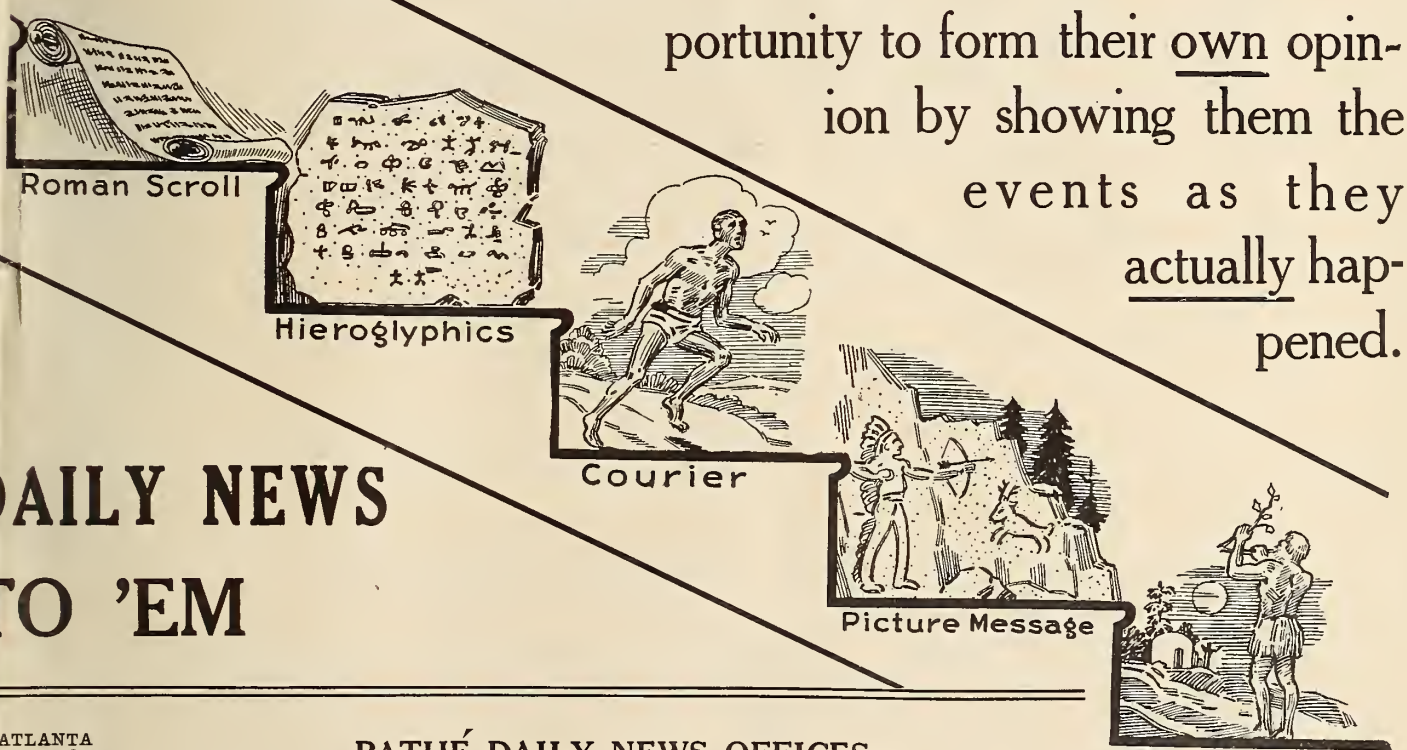
Every exhibitor in the country can get THE PATHÉ DAILY NEWS direct by mail every day from our branches--no delay--direct from us to your theater. The exhibitors who have already secured THE PATHÉ DAILY NEWS are more enthusiastic than we had expected. It has proved to be what everyone has been looking for and has created a widespread interest and an enormous increase in revenue which shows tha

The Public Wants to See THE PATHÉ

SHOW IT

For further particulars address your nearest branch, or

THE PATHÉ DAILY NEWS - - No. 1 Congress Stree
JERSEY CITY, N.



In writing to advertisers please mention "THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS"

STORY

tep in the Distribution of News!

É DAILY NEWS

most perfect---most prompt method of distributing "News when News" ever used by humanity since prehistoric man first conceived he sign language as a means of communicating his thoughts and actions. The same day the daily papers, with all their facilities for gathering news are telling people their opinion of events, THE PATHÉ DAILY NEWS will give your patrons an opportunity to form their own opinion by showing them the events as they actually happened.

DAILY NEWS TO 'EM

PATHÉ DAILY NEWS OFFICES:

ATLANTA Rhodes Bldg.
NEW YORK 115 E. 23rd St.
BOSTON Tremont Row
PITTSBURGH 25 Liberty Ave.
CHICAGO 5 So. Wabash Ave.
SAN FRANCISCO 67 Turk St.
DALLAS Andrews Bldg.
ST. LOUIS 3210 Locust St.
LOS ANGELES 114 E. 7th St.
SYRACUSE 214 E. Fayette St.
MINNEAPOLIS 4th & Hennepin Sts.
CINCINNATI 217 E. 5th St.
CLEVELAND 622 Prospect Av., S.E.
PORTLAND 392 Burnside Ave.
PHILADELPHIA 1235 Vine St.
WASHINGTON 7th & E. Sts., N. W.
NEW ORLEANS 910 Gravier St.
SEATTLE 810 Third Ave.
OMAHA 1312 Farnam St.
DENVER Nassau Bldg
KANSAS CITY 928 Main St.
SALT LAKE CITY 68 South Main St.

There is a thrilling touch, an artistic value to Eclectic features which give them that added something necessary to make them stand head and shoulders above the ordinary so-called features. Eclectic features make friends wherever shown.

5 PARTS

WHEN ROME RULED

5 PARTS

This is an exceptionally strong dramatic story of the trials of the early Christians in the land controlled by the priests of the gods worshipped by the Romans. The story has a different plot to any other and is rich in situations that will make your patrons sit up and take notice. Especially is this true where the lion jumps down from the rocks and carries off a live sheep from the herd. This is a Pathé made drama featuring some of the best Pathé artists in a very beautiful scenic and historical feature.

ECLECTIC FEATURE FILM EXCHANGES FOR YOUR USE

ATLANTA, Rhodes Bldg. | BOSTON, 3 Tremont Row | CHICAGO, 5 So. Wabash Ave. | DALLAS, Andrews Bldg. | LOS ANGELES, 114 E. 7th St. | MINNEAPOLIS, 4th & Hennepin Sts.

NEW YORK, 115 E. 23rd St. | PITTSBURGH, 715 Liberty Ave. | SAN FRANCISCO, 67 Turk St. | ST. LOUIS, 3210 Locust St. | SYRACUSE, 214 E. Fayette St. | CINCINNATI, 217 E. 5th St.

CLEVELAND, 622 Prospect Av., S. E. | PORTLAND, 392 Burnside Ave. | PHILADELPHIA, 1235 Vine St. | WASHINGTON, 7th and E Sts., N.W. | NEW ORLEANS, 910 Gravier St.

SEATTLE, 810 Third Ave. | OMAHA, 1312 Farnam St. | DENVER, Nassau Bldg. | KANSAS CITY, 928 Main St.

SALT LAKE CITY: 68 South Main St.

THE ECLECTIC FILM COMPANY

110 West 40th Street, New York City

"The Cream of American and European Studios"

"30 FAMOUS FEATURES A YEAR"

DANIEL FROHMAN
Presents
The Famous Drama of Love, Duty and the Law,

"THE SCALES OF JUSTICE"

By John Reinhart,
With
PAUL McALLISTER,
Supported By
JANE FEARNLEY

A serious drama, with terrific action, impelled by a mighty motive.

IN FIVE REELS - - RELEASED JULY 20th.

FAMOUS PLAYERS FILM COMPANY

ADOLPH ZUKOR, President
DANIEL FROHMAN, Managing Dir. EDWIN S. PORTER, Technical Dir.
Executive Offices, 213-229 W. 26th St., New York City.

KAY BEE FEATURES

KAY BEE

The Sheriff of Bisbee. - - Two Parts. July 24th.
The Eleventh Hour Reformation. Two Parts. July 31st.
Thos. H. Ince, Director General.

KAY BEE

DOMINO WINNERS

DOMINO

Jim Cameron's Wife. - Two Parts. - July 23rd.
The Curse of Caste. - Two Parts. - July 30th.
Thos. H. Ince, Director General.

DOMINO

BRONCHO HEADLINERS

BRONCHO

Shorty and the Aridville Terror. Two Parts. July 22nd.
The Long Feud. - - - Two Parts. July 29th.
Thos. H. Ince, Director General.

BRONCHO

KEYSTONE COMEDIES

KEYSTONE

Three Comedies a week.
Monday, Wednesday and Saturday release days.
Mack Sennett, Director General.

KEYSTONE

KEYSTONE COMEDIES

Photos

8 by 10 Photos of players mentioned below can be had by sending to the Publicity Department. 15 cents for one; 50 cents for sets of four; $1.00 for sets of eight

Mack Sennett
Mabel Normand
Charles Chaplin
Roscoe Arbuckle
John Keller
Harry G. Keenan
J. Frank Burke
Webster Campbell

Thos. H. Ince
Gertrude Claire
Barney Sherry
Richard Stanton
Gretchen Lederer
Margaret Thompson
Tsuru Aoki
Sessue Hayakawa
Roy Laidlaw
Clara Williams
Jay Hunt
Rhea Mitchell
Mildred Harris
Shorty Hamilton
Walter Edwards
Charles Ray
Walter Belasco
Frank Borzage
Thomas Chatterton
Leona Hutton
W. S. Hart

A set of 8 by 10 of "KEYSTONE MABEL" in four different poses, 50c.

New York Motion Picture Corporation

Longacre Building, 42nd Street and Broadway - - NEW YORK

JESSE L. LASKY

PRESENTS

THE POPULAR ROMANTIC ACTOR

MR. ROBERT EDESON

IN THE ROLE HE CREATED AND—

MADE FAMOUS IN HIS MOST ATTRACTIVE PLAY

5 PARTS

317 SCENES

THE CALL OF THE NORTH

BY GEORGE BROADHURST

FROM THE THRILLING NOVEL "THE CONJUROR'S HOUSE" BY STUART EDWARD WHITE

ATMOSPHERICALLY PERFECT TO THE MINUTEST DETAIL

RELEASED—AUGUST 10TH

JESSE L. LASKY FEATURE PLAY COMPANY

LONG ACRE THEATRE, W. 48TH STREET, N. Y. C.

JESSE L. LASKY, PRESIDENT

SAMUEL GOLDFISH, TREAS. & GEN'L MANAGER

CECIL B DEMILLE, DIRECTOR GENERAL

AM

GENERAL

MAIN OFFICE: 200 FIFTH

LIST OF

CITY	STATE	STREET ADDRESS
ALBANY	NEW YORK	737 BROADWAY
ATLANTA	GEORGIA	RHODES BUILDING
BALTIMORE	MARYLAND	36 SOUTH EUTAW STREET
BANGOR	MAINE	123 FRANKLIN STREET
BOSTON	MASSACHUSETTS	218 COMMERCIAL STREET
BUFFALO	NEW YORK	122 PEARL STREET
BUTTE	MONTANA	50 E. BROADWAY
CALGARY	ALTA., CANADA	85 McDOUGALL BLOCK
CHICAGO	ILLINOIS	429 S. WABASH AVENUE
CHICAGO	ILLINOIS	139 N. CLARK STREET
CHICAGO	ILLINOIS	19 S. WABASH AVENUE
CINCINNATI	OHIO	S. E. COR 7TH & WALNUT STREETS
CLEVELAND	OHIO	1022 SUPERIOR AVENUE, N. E.
COLUMBUS	OHIO	26 W. NAGHTEN STREET
DALLAS	TEXAS	2017 COMMERCE STREET
DENVER	COLORADO	1448 CHAMPA STREET
DETROIT	MICHIGAN	71 GRISWOLD STREET
INDIANAPOLIS	INDIANA	24 W. WASHINGTON STREET
KANSAS CITY	MISSOURI	921 WALNUT STREET
LOS ANGELES	CALIFORNIA	822 SO. BROADWAY
MEMPHIS	TENNESSEE	302 MULBERRY STREET
MILWAUKEE	WISCONSIN	220 W. WATER STREET
MINNEAPOLIS	MINNESOTA	909 HENNEPIN AVENUE
MONTREAL	CANADA	243 BLEURY STREET

FILM CO.

AVENUE, NEW YORK

BRANCHES

CITY	STATE	STREET ADDRESS
NEW ORLEANS	LOUISIANA	840 UNION STREET
NEW YORK CITY	NEW YORK	440 FOURTH AVENUE
NEW YORK CITY	NEW YORK	71 W. 23RD STREET
NEW YORK CITY	NEW YORK	260 WEST 42ND STREET
OKLAHOMA CITY	OKLAHOMA	211 WEST 2ND STREET
OMAHA	NEBRASKA	208 SOUTH 13TH STREET
PHILADELPHIA	PENNSYLVANIA	1308 VINE STREET
PITTSBURGH	PENNSYLVANIA	119 FOURTH AVENUE
PITTSBURGH	PENNSYLVANIA	436 FOURTH AVENUE
PORTLAND	OREGON	393-5 OAK STREET
ROCHESTER	NEW YORK	501 CENTRAL BUILDING
ST. JOHN	N. B., CANADA	122 GERMAIN STREET
ST. LOUIS	MISSOURI	3610 OLIVE STREET
SALT LAKE CITY	UTAH	260 FLORAL AVENUE
SAN FRANCISCO	CALIFORNIA	138 EDDY STREET
SEATTLE	WASHINGTON	819 THIRD AVENUE
SPOKANE	WASHINGTON	120 WALL STREET
SYRACUSE	NEW YORK	HIPPODROME BUILDING
TORONTO	CANADA	172 KING STREET, WEST
VANCOUVER	B. C., CANADA	440 PENDER STREET, WEST
WASHINGTON	D. C.	7TH & E STREETS, N. W.
WHEELING	WEST VIRGINIA	1141 EAST SIDE CHAPLINE STREET
WILKES-BARRE	PENNSYLVANIA	47 S. PENNSYLVANIA AVENUE
WINNIPEG	MAN., CANADA	220 PHOENIX BLOCK

Three of the season's greatest features

The infinite variety of Warner's releases makes for success on unusually broad lines. Below are described three new Warner's Features. Each one is entirely different in character from the others, yet all three have the big human appeal that sways audiences and builds business.

WARNER'S FEATURES

Natalie de Lontan in the great production UNDER FIRE IN MEXICO

A thrilling, stirring story of Mexican warfare, to the staccato accompaniment of hair-breadth escapes, dark conspiracies, wholesale massacres, daring rescues and the crash of battle. This great feature was produced by the U. S. Film Corporation, under the direction of J. Arthur Nelson.

WARNER'S FEATURES

Marion Leonard in the beautiful romance

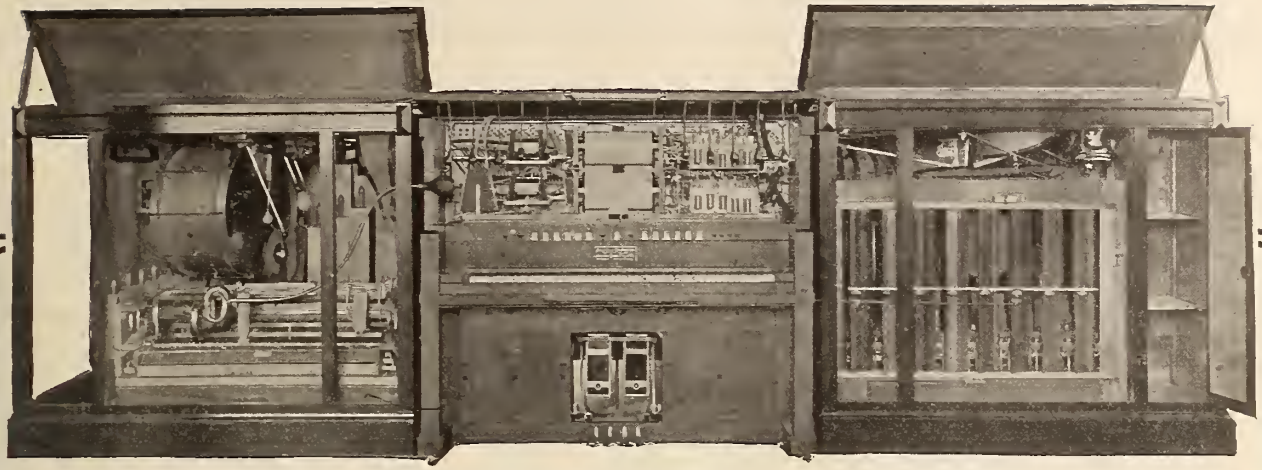
The ROMANY RYE

A beautiful gypsy, dainty, winsome and capricious, is the heroine. Around her centers the whole romantic story, and the love she awakens, and the tragedy she causes, will make any audience thrill. There is a young farmer in love with her, a jealous gypsy lover, a sweet old mother, and plenty of fighting and romancing.

WARNER'S FEATURE

Dot Farley in the thrilling story of Indian vengeance

The LUST of the RED MAN



An out-of-the-ordinary frontier picture that makes the red blood tingle and puts every nerve on the qui vive. It grips the interest from the first—and the grip tightens as the tale unfolds. An especially tense scene is the night vigil of John Brent and his wife in their lonely cabin with the Indians stealthily approaching.

Book these powerful features now! Write your nearest Warner's Exchange

WARNER'S FEATURES, Inc. 130-W-46th St., New York

STYLE 40—OPEN—SHOWING PIPES, TRAPS, SWELL BOX AND PIANO PARTS

The "Fotoplayer"

Reg. U. S. Patent Office

Designed and built expressly for Motion Picture Theatres.
Played manually or with 88-note Player Piano Roll
giving Instant Change of Musical Selections.

Player Piano, Reed Organ, Violin, Cornet, 'Cello and Flute Pipes, Drums, Cymbals, Bells, Wind Siren, Locomotive Whistle, Auto Horn, Horses' Hoofs, Castanets, Tambourines, Etc., Etc.

WRITE FOR PRICES AND TERMS

THE FOTOPLAYER READY TO PLAY—"THE INSTRUMENT THAT SUPPLIES THE UNSPOKEN WORDS IN THE PICTURE" Design Patented

American Photo Player Company

Agents Everywhere

62 WEST 45th STREET, NEW YORK CITY
FACTORIES AT BERKELEY, CALIFORNIA AND NEW YORK, N. Y.

We Ship Anywhere

Mr. Exchange Man!!

You will say the same after you have had your films cleaned, softened and renovated by

Film Redeveloping Co. of America

145 W. 45th STREET, NEW YORK

Phone, Bryant 6247

The "NEW PROCESS" does the work.

W. J. DELAMATER
General Mgr.

Mr. W. J. Delamater, Manager,
Film Redeveloping Co., of America,
New York, N. Y.

Bliss, Okla., July 11th, 1914.

Dear Sir:

We have just received the last lot shipment of film, which we shipped to you to be cleaned, and take great pleasure in informing you that the work is very satisfactory. We have had our cleaning and polishing done by several concerns in New York City with very little satisfaction, and your process seems to be the only method in eliminating the rain streaks and to thoroughly clean.

We are making shipment today by Wells Fargo Express, which you will please give your prompt attention, and rush to us as soon as possible.

Yours truly,
101 RANCH MOTION PICTURE DEPARTMENT.
Per (Signed) K. L. WILLIAMS.

THE GREYHOUND

FIVE PARTS

By PAUL ARMSTRONG and WILSON MIZNER

Scenario by LOUIS REEVES HARRISON, the Dean of Photo Playwrights

An unusual drama produced on a realistic and massive scale.

Reports from exhibitors show that this feature is bringing box office returns in excess of any five-part feature on the market to-day.

Read the criticisms.

State rights now selling—the best territory still unsold.

Beautiful Lithographs, Heralds, Lobby Display and other Advertising Matter. Wire territory interested in and we will wire our terms.

OUR NEXT PRODUCTION

Northern Lights

We produce only plays that have created a success on the legitimate stage.

Life Photo Film Corporation

Executive Offices, 220 West 42d St., New York
Studio and Laboratory - Grantwood, N. J.
European Office, 7, Rupert Court, London W.

A Spectacular Production

Spectacular—because no other film production equals it in size—46 reels.

Spectacular—because no other film production equals it in costliness—$1,000,000.00.

Spectacular—because no other film production equals it in stars, settings, photography and dramatic climaxes.

Spectacular—because no other film production is the motion picture version of a story by Harold MacGrath now appearing in 200 leading newspapers.

$10,000 for 100 Words!

THE MILLION DOLLAR MYSTERY

$10,000 for 100 Words!

By Harold MacGrath

Thanhouser's Million Dollar Motion Picture Production

The first five episodes of this startling production are now being shown at the better theatres throughout America. Each episode is in 2 reels—released each week for 23 weeks. The story is by Harold MacGrath—scenario by Lloyd Lonergan. The Thanhouser Film Corporation is the producer—Syndicate Film Corporation the distributor.

Some booking dates are still open—but you must act quickly. The Million Dollar Mystery is an independent release and may be obtained regardless of the regular program being used.

SYNDICATE FILM CORPORATION

71 W. 23rd Street, NEW YORK — 166 W. Washington Street, CHICAGO

or Syndicate Film Corporation representative at any Mutual Exchange in the United States and Canada

The Thanhouser Three-A-Week

Sunday, July 19th, "Harry's Waterloo." In which Harry Benham plays all the parts. A photographic masterpiece never before attempted.

Tuesday, July 21st, "The Pendulum of Fate." Two Reels. An intensely thrilling drama with Mayre Hall, Ethyle Cooke, David Thompson, Morris Foster and the Thanhouser Twins.

THANHOUSER FILM CORPORATION, New Rochelle, N. Y.

Head European Offices: Thanhouser Films, Ltd., London, W. C., England

Thanhouser releases will continue to be features of the Mutual Program

When You See It In "The News" It's NEWS

The MOTION PICTURE NEWS

The Fastest Growing Picture Journal

Tel. 7650 Bryant. No. 220 West Forty-Second Street New York City

"The Exhibitor's Medium of Communication with His Fellow Showman"

Volume X July 25, 1914 Number 3

"Psychological"

NOT a word in all modern slang is more widely used to-day or hailed with more hilarity than "psychological."

And no word better describes the so-called "summer slump" in the motion picture business.

* * *

PRESIDENT WILSON may have been mistaken when he pronounced the depression in the mercantile and industrial world to be purely "psychological."

But market conditions in the motion picture world prove that the "summer slump" bugaboo is largely, if not wholly, a creature of the manufacturer's imagination.

* * *

MANY a manufacturer would laugh at you if you asked him whether he believed in black cats, or was afraid of Friday.

But talk to him about business during the summer, and he will gravely assure you that "there ain't no such animal."

* * *

INSTEAD of making hay while the sun shines, he refuses to make hay BECAUSE the sun IS shining!

* * *

MEANWHILE, exhibitors all over the country, who have capacity crowds to handle just the same, and well-ventilated, well-aired houses to entertain them in, are clamoring for the pictures they know they must have to keep them.

The heat can't drive their people away. It only drives them into the theatres, where they are sure of being cool.

* * *

BUT the whirr of the electric fan at his elbow is louder than the plea of the far-off exhibitor to the man who believes there is nothing so dull as a summer month, and he remains deaf as only those can be who will not hear.

* * *

THE Film Trade Conditions Review of THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS, published July 11, is an excellent antidote for that summer depression feeling.

THE reader of that review cannot fail to draw two conclusions:

First: That, in many sections of the country widely separated from one another, business is booming along as merrily in July as in January.

Second: That, in those sections where "hard times," in any degree, have manifested themselves, the hot weather is NOT the cause. It will be found that these conditions existed months ago, and are due to circumstances that have no relation to the thermometer.

* * *

THE conditions that created those "hard times" the manufacturers, in many cases, can and should correct. They are partly to blame for their existence.

* * *

FROM some of the extreme southern cities of the United States, complaints of the effect of the heat upon the exhibitor's business are heard.

Even there, the note of optimism and satisfaction is so strong that the falling-off is only relative and, in fact, not a falling-off of attendance at all, but a day-to-day fluctuation, it must be concluded.

* * *

ANOTHER fact the summer "calamity-howlers" have overlooked is this:

The "legitimate" theatre has failed to survive as a factor in summer competition.

* * *

THE patrons of the legitimate houses are the ones who fill our summer-hotels and keep the roads alive with automobiles.

And the regular photoplay theatres have their following so closely linked to them that the best features the "legitimate" theatre had to offer could not bring about one deserter from the ranks.

* * *

THE exhibitors have the summer field to themselves.

The motion picture theatre is a "three-hundred-and-sixty-five-days-in-the-year" institution.

The exhibitors know it.

When will the rest of the industry realize it?

HOUSE "COOL AS AN ICE BOX," ALWAYS FULL

Special to The Motion Picture News.
Omaha, Neb., July 13.

A. K. Pay, who opened the Colonial Theatre in Sioux Falls, S. D., recently, has one of the best houses in that part of the country. It seats 1,000 people, and an unusual feature is that the regular price is ten cents, and boxes twenty cents.

He changes his program daily, showing four reels, and has two machines, so there is no wait to give the operator time to change reels.

"It was hot the day I was there," said Manager Fred Van Husan, of the Laemmle Film Service, of Omaha, who is furnishing him service, "but in Pay's place it was as cool as an ice house."

Pay displayed a growing tendency of exhibitors in this part of the country when he refused a lower priced service and wanted to pay a larger price for the same pictures and better service.

RAISING PRICES IN HOT WEATHER

Special to The Motion Picture News.
St. Louis, July 16.

When Joseph Rathheim took charge of the Hudson Theatre, at Eleventh street and Park avenue, St. Louis, he found an audience that had long been in the habit of paying only five cents to see a show. Mr. Rathheim wanted to give his patrons a better program, but he was in doubt as to how his efforts would be taken.

When the hot weather came, he opened the Hudson Airdome at Twelfth and Hickory streets, a block or so away from the theatre, with two feature nights a week at ten cents admission, as an experiment. The features took so well that he added other features from time to time, until now he gets ten cents five nights out of every week, and his audiences are increasing all the time.

SUMMER SUPERSTITION STRONG IN SYRACUSE

Special to The Motion Picture News
Syracuse, N. Y., July 16.

The prevailing impression among exhibitors during the summer months seems to be that "No matter what service is offered or what extra efforts are put forth, that it is useless to think of success in attempting to fill the house."

The local newspapers have been forced to withdraw the regular motion picture page because of practically no patronage.

The Eckel, Savoy and Crescent theatres use large portions of space occasionally, and in nearly every instance report splendid results. Still, the consistent and persistent advertising is frowned upon with the excuse that "No matter what you do this hot weather you can't get them in."

Thrillers Draw Summer Crowds

Waterbury Exhibitors Play for Success by Booking Sensational Films and Using Unique Advertising—"Million Dollar Mystery" Shows to Capacity

Special to The Motion Picture News.
Waterbury, Conn., July 16.

AT least three motion picture houses in this city are resorting to sensational features to attract their patrons. The Scenic, on Bank street, the Broadway, on East Main, and the Alhambra, at North Main and North streets, are the three in question.

Last week a sensational film depicting the lives of the New York gunmen was shown at all three houses, and in the lobbies were displayed all the paraphernalia generally associated with the operations of these underworld characters. For the latter part of the week, "Loepez the Bandit" was shown and an electric chair held the attention of spectators in the lobbies, with a demonstrator on hand.

The managers of the theatres reported the sensational features the best magnet yet to attract the public during the hot weather.

The manager of Poli's, Mr. Furlong, has originated a couple of new ideas at his house in order to secure the summer audiences. Mr. Furlong has a "Surprise Night" every Tuesday evening, and it is something entirely out of the ordinary. On Thursday evening he has a tango contest between the first and second performances.

The Princess Theatre, on Center street, exhibited the first two reels of "The Million Dollar Mystery" Thursday to capacity audiences. In the opinion of those who saw the reels a person witnessing them will be sure to see all future ones. The Princess has been using the Mutual program with good success.

E. Christy Erk.

Sidewalk Fan Blows Patrons Inside

The Wonderland, in Minneapolis, Gets S. R. O. Houses by Making Pedestrians Feel that the Theatre Is Cooler Than the Street.

Special to The Motion Picture News
Minneapolis, July 15.

A BIG electric fan whirling its breeze from a pedestal over the ticket booth out over the waiting patrons and even to the sidewalk in front of the Wonderland Theatre, 27 Washington avenue S, and a sign reading, "Smoke if You Wish," are drawing real capacity houses in hot weather for that theatre.

The fan gets them there while fifteen more fans about the walls and the smoking privilege brings them back. Hot, tired men will pass the theatre, feel the breeze from the fan, stop and look.

It is cool inside, and as the perspiring men walk in the doorman suggests that they remove their coats and make themselves at home. It is really enjoyable there, and in addition the house always shows an excellent line of films.

While C. E. Van Duzee has aimed to make this typically a man's theatre, men frequently take their wives. Wives who are used to tobacco smoke in their homes do not object to it in a theatre, and the comfort of the house appeals to them.

Wonderland is one of a line of five theatres conducted by Mr. Van Duzee, who has adopted a set of rules suitable to the various classes of patrons. Wonderland has played to excellent houses so far this summer and the fan promises to keep drawing them in.

R. G. Marshall.

Features Drive Away Heat in Rochester

The Gordon Theatre Draws Big Houses Despite the Warm Weather—"The Jungle" and "The Ring and the Man" Prove Winners

Special to The Motion Picture News.
Rochester, N. Y., July 16.

THE Gordon Theatre continues to draw good houses in spite of the warm weather. The management is booking many feature films. For this week Mary Pickford, in "The Eagle's Mate," is announced for the entire week, and good business is expected.

"The Jungle," Upton Sinclair's famous story, was also recently shown and later "The Ring and the Man," a romance of love and politics, by Cyrus Townsend Brady. Both proved good drawing cards.

It is announced that one house which devoted a few weeks, at least, to feature films in the spring, will not have pictures in the fall. The Shubert, at which it was expected the New York firm would put in its picture feature films, will go into burlesque in the fall, it is said. Whether the Shuberts will obtain another house in Rochester or not is not known.

There is a rumor that the Shuberts are the ones who want to buy the Victoria Motion Picture Theatre, on Clinton avenue south, in the heart of the theatre district.

Arthur R. Tucker.

Laying the Ghost of the "Summer Slump"

The Canvass of The Motion Picture News Shows Boom Conditions During the Hot Months Throughout the United States—So-Called Depression in Some Lines of Business Has Not Reached Film Drama—Correspondents' Reports Indicate General Maintenance of Prosperity

MIDSUMMER business has always been a mark for the croaker in all lines from shoe strings to palm-leaf fans, ice-cream soda and—motion pictures. Everyone is familiar with the cry, "This is the slow season. What can be expected of hot weather?"

So many people have heard such sentiments, they take it for granted that they are true. And because the majority of people had got in the habit of taking such croakings for granted no effort was made to controvert the fallacy that summer business is bad.

Contrary to the generally accepted views of those who have relied on the words of others instead of investigating the situation for themselves, business in the motion picture field this summer is booming. Of course it would be absurd to declare that the patronage of theatres throughout the country has maintained its winter level. But on the other hand, there has not been very much falling off from previous box-office receipts.

IT is one thing to make such a statement and another to prove it. THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS maintains that business can be kept up to the level of the best seasons by the introduction of live methods. Managers in the various cities who have not laid back on their oars at the beginning of the first signs of spring because it was the opening of the traditional "bad season" have been able to prove to their own satisfaction that patronage must not necessarily fall off at this time of the year.

What is the result? The houses have been kept practically full. The proof of this statement is found in the letters of THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS correspondents, whose reports, published two weeks ago, reflect actual conditions of the business in every part of the United States where there is a corporal's guard to turn out to see a film.

The tenor of these reports indicate a condition of patronage that has caused surprise among those who were sure—because they did not know—business was not up to the standard. The extracts which we reprint below show for themselves just what the facts are. The sentiments expressed justify the unqualified declaration that summer business, in the motion picture business at any rate, is in a flourishing condition.

READERS will be amazed to learn that in some sections of the country like New England, Pennsylvania, the Middle West and the Middle Central section, that hot weather has had no more effect in keeping people from attending their favorite theatres than a rainstorm will prevent a duck from swimming for fear of getting wet.

If patrons feel that the closed houses in their neighborhood are not as comfortable as they might be they do not refrain from seeing pictures during the hot spell, for the reason that there is always within easy distance a commodious airdome, where they can enjoy the cool evening breezes while seeing the latest releases.

Not only that, but people do not have to seek airdomes for comfort. Enterprising exhibitors have been introducing improved ventilating systems for keeping their houses cool. Probably this is the principal factor in the prevention of the slump in summer theatre patronage.

OF course, the general improvement of the pictures on the artistic side also had a great deal to do in creating a desire for high-class amusement at this season.

But the formation of the "summer picture habit" has been largely the result of scientific ventilation, which in many instances, has made it possible to cool the inside of a theatre to an amazing degree of comfort.

Once the public realized that a well-ventilated theatre was cooler than their own homes on hot summer nights, they soon began to seek relief in the local picture houses thus rendered comfortable.

With each succeeding year, following the increased installation of up-to-date ventilating systems, motion pictures will obtain the unique distinction among all lines of trade, business and amusement of having no "dull season."

The extracts from the reports of the correspondents reflecting the condition of summer business follow:

Harrisburg, Pa.

THE healthful condition of the motion picture business in Harrisburg is aptly indicated by a statement made by a prominent theatre manager who said that 15 per cent of the whole population of the city are regular attendants at the picture shows, and that the percentage is likely to be increased to 20 per cent of the city's 84,000 souls within the coming year.

Boston, Mass.

The summer business in New England is better than elsewhere, as the people remain in the cities more than in other parts of the country. The airdomes have increased in number in the last twelve months.

During the last month, there has been unusual activity in the amusement business here, caused by the opening of three open air places and of a new house with a roof garden annex. The newcomers are fighting for business and the men at the old stands are struggling to hold what they already have gained.

So great has been the success of the business in this city that, although there are now a dozen theatres, with an average seating capacity of from 600 to 700, including three or four that seat 1,000 or more, there are now five additional theatres that will seat about one thousand each, either under construction or about to be started.

There has been no very great amount of remodeling of motion picture theatres in the last year. No theatres have been compelled to discontinue business; in fact, the tendency has been in the direction of increasing the number in the city, as indicated by the fact that five new houses are under construction.

Jacksonville, Fla.

FEATURE productions, such as "One of Our Girls," Famous Players, and "Home, Sweet Home," D. W. Griffith, and other similar productions continue to draw the crowds despite the weather conditions.

It was further stated by Mr. Alsop that this low ebb in conditions in this section is an annual occurrence at this season and that, despite the fact that this summer has been an unusually severe one, the conditions are better, comparatively, than has heretofore been the case during the warm weather.

Detroit, Mich.

Now, the film men declare that for every theatre that has closed up in the past year two new ones have opened. About thirty new houses have opened during the year, so fifteen must have closed up. Not all the losers are out of business, however.

Minneapolis, Minn.

WHEN the motion picture theatres can get bigger crowds with the thermometer registering 90 degrees than the bathing beaches, film men and exhibitors should have little cause to worry.

That is just what has taken place in Minnesota during the early summer and, in a word, it shows where the motion picture stands in the state of 10,000 lakes.

"We can't kick," is the answer of the film men when asked how business is in city and country business.

The fact is, the FILM MEN ARE IN MOST CASES DOING AN UNUSUAL SUMMER BUSINESS. Some distributors who specialize are getting the usual summer bumps, but they know that there will be a come-back in September, and so they are joining in the chorus, "We can't kick."

There are seventy-six theatres showing films in Minneapolis, nearly sixty in St. Paul and a proportionate number in Duluth, with a theatre in every country town of any importance. The combined seating capacity in the three cities is 50,000. Those in the cities and larger towns are running almost the full winter program, while in the country districts they are holding up better than ever before.

THE months of May and June did not indicate the letting down of motion picture popularity as the same months did in prior years. The theatres are going after the business and they are geting it.

They are placing orders for first-class attractions, they are paying good money to get them and they are advertising them properly and making the most of the opportunity when they get a good attraction.

Outside the cities the motion picture has followed the summer "outer." The vacationist just couldn't get away if he wanted to, but there is no indication that he wanted to.

Some exhibitors in the lake towns, where a large part of the summer population is composed of cottages, have closed their regular theatres and opened tent houses at the lake side. These have all proven popular. Others have opened tent shows in addition to the regular theatre and have had success.

Chattanooga, Tenn.

A BRIGHT future faces the motion picture business in Chattanooga. Among exhibitors there prevails a spirit of optimism. There are now nine picture theatres in the city, catering only to white patrons, while five theatres in the principal colored section are being well patronized by members of this race.

Feature films are proving very popular, and it is the opinion of one exhibitor who has made a careful study of the situation that the future of the business will hinge on real features.

Birmingham, Ala.

WITH four, and possibly five, new theatres planned and the popularity of the picture theatre apparently steadily increasing, there can be nothing but a decided note of optimism in the film market for Birmingham in the near future.

Although at the present time there are fewer theatres than there were six or eight months ago, nevertheless the increase in number and quality of theatres over two years ago is more than double. The seating capacity of the motion picture theatres in this city now will approximate well over 7,000, not counting the vaudeville houses nor the negro theatres; and it is estimated that fully 50,000 people pass the box-offices every day.

Kansas City, Mo.

THE great Southwest speaks in no other terms to the motion picture than prosperity. The biggest wheat crop in Kansas and Missouri in ten years, cheering prospects for a huge corn crop, and a steady development in all the lines that make up the wealth of the surrounding states, predict a big year.

And, as the motion picture theatre quickly catches any drift toward either adversity or prosperity, business looks promising for at least the next eight or nine months, and in fact indefinitely.

This territory, however, has gone through several bad years, and in some respects the motion picture business has been dull. But the smaller towns outside of Kansas City in this territory have shown an increase in the number of theatres. The smaller towns now are installing picture shows and in the larger cities bigger and better showhouses are being constructed.

Billings, Mont.

Business in the better patronized houses is fully forty per cent better than a year ago. All houses report an increase.

The average price of admission is ten cents, with twenty-five cents the maximum. Exhibitors believe the latter figure is the most the public will pay at the present time, although predicting that the time will come when double that amount may be charged for big features.

Baltimore, Md.

Baltimore is by far a much more promising field for the feature man to-day than last year, or for any year since the picture business won popular favor.

Wilkes-Barre, Pa.

WHETHER industrial depression throughout the country is actual or psychological, this economic problem is not taking up much of the time of the motion picture exhibitors of Wilkes-Barre and the contiguous territory embraced in the Wyoming Valley. Exhibitors here have been too busy making money to worry about federal administrations and affairs of state.

At no time in the history of the industry has business been so prosperous. Motion pictures have just come through the melting pot, stronger and more powerful than before the test. In the city of Wilkes-Barre, with its 70,000 population, and a quarter of a million within a radius of ten miles, there is not a legitimate theatre doing business, and only one vaudeville house, and that a ten cent admission, with half its bill motion pictures.

This leaves the amusement harvest to be reaped by the proprietors of the silent dramas. And going to a well-known advertised cereal for an expression, "There's a Reason."

Omaha, Neb

IF unsettled conditions prevail in any part of the motion picture world, it is in the Middle West of the United States. Business here is reaching a capacity it has never known before. Exhibitors are just beginning to erect special structures for the exhibition of motion pictures and are beginning to move out of remodeled buildings.

All the Omaha exchanges report greatly increased sales of motion picture machines, indicating that business is going to be better than ever. The machines are going all over Nebraska, Iowa, South Dakota and Kansas from Omaha, a fact that should silence the calamity howlers.

Waterbury, Conn.

A PERIOD of success. The past several months have been more or less prosperous ones for the majority of the motion picture theatres in Waterbury and environs, all things considered. Of course, at this especial season of the year there is always a falling off in the attendance due to the arrival of the warm weather, but this year has been no worse than preceding ones, and owing to the rather cool spring and early summer the managers claim the decrease in attendance has not been as great as formerly.

(Continued on page 70)

"Hundred-in-the-Shade" Advertising

By Charles B. Taylor

Managers Can Keep Their Theatres Full in Summer by the Use of Liberal Newspaper Space—If You Do Not Advertise Your Competitor Who Does Will Get All the Business—"Advertise or Die!" Is the Situation the Exhibitor Must Face

WHY is it that the first thing that a manager thinks of cutting out when business is bad or on the slump, is advertising? The other day a local exhibitor said to me, "My business is falling off. I guess that I will cut down on my advertising for the summer months."

"Why admit that your business is bad?" I replied. "As soon as you cut down your advertising or cut it out altogether, patrons begin to talk. It is the best way to let them know that your house is a dead one. Never admit that you are a member of the 'Down and Out Club.'"

"My audiences are smaller this month than they should be," continued the manager, "and I will have to reduce expenses somewhere."

"That may be all well and good, but as soon as you cut your advertising, your audience is going to be still smaller. Patrons are not coming to your theatre, just because it is the —— theatre. There are too many other fine theatres advertising their features.

"Patrons do not know what you are showing and if they visit your house they are taking a chance as to the quality of the show. There are few mortals who take things for granted these days.

"IT is a grave mistake to ignore the advertising end of your business during the summer months.

"There are just as many people in the summer months as there are in the winter who want to see good motion pictures. And when they want to see them they go to the daily paper to see who is showing them. They read of such and such a film. Then they wonder who is going to show it in Buffalo, N. Y.

"Perhaps you are the exhibitor who has picked the feature. But they cannot and should not have to guess about it. The live-wire men are consistently advertising all summer, and when the first day of September comes, patrons know that they are still 'on the map.'"

The daily and Sunday newspapers in all the large cities are devoting pages of space to free publicity of motion picture plays and artists. This is done because the editors realize that a gigantic wave of popularity for the films is sweeping the country. In the sections devoted to the films the live managers are placing their ads, thereby deriving a double benefit.

Many of these pages are started, of course, in the hope that they will bring in business for the paper. And if they do not the space devoted every week becomes smaller. If exhibitors ignore this liberality of the press, it is possible that motion picture sections and pages will disappear.

BY maintaining these pages the paper creates more interest locally in motion picture photography. Patrons always like to know something about the production to be shown in the theatres they are accustomed to visit. If you get your ad on these pages you will have no difficulty in getting synopses run and perhaps a story about the unusual features of the film.

Attractive advertising, the kind that people will read, is absolutely essential to the success of a motion picture theatre drawing on a limited territory. If you do not advertise, your nearest competitor will, and before long you will notice that your former patrons are getting on the street-car and taking a ride to that theatre.

In Buffalo, where competition is at fever heat, exhibitors have got to do some unusual stunts to attract patrons. This is especially true in the summer. Most of them are doing the "unusual" with advertising.

There is one instance in Buffalo of a large motion picture theatre in the downtown section, where although the business is poor, the manager is hanging on like grim death to his advertising space in all the papers.

The consequence is that he is not doing poorer business as the summer advances, but on the contrary, is holding his own, while his competitors are losing sleep, are wondering what is the matter.

They think that patrons are going to come to their theatres without advertising. The result is proving disastrous for them.

THE preparation of copy for the purpose of motion picture publicity is a most important part of advertising of the film. Editors, as a rule, will not accept any old thing that comes to their desk.

The copy must be original and have some facts that will make interesting reading. Exhibitors who control large houses should, if possible, employ experienced newspaper men to represent them in the capacity of press representative. They will get better results from the start.

These men know how to prepare copy, what will be accepted and what will not, and will take a lot of detail off the manager's hands, who has all he can do to book his show. The latter remark is especially true of Buffalo. Booking is getting to be a "fine job" in the Queen City of the Lakes.

A year ago a press agent for a motion picture theatre was a thing unheard of. To-day every large theatre in Buffalo, devoted to the showing of films, has a publicity man who is handling copy for all their productions, but—and here is the rub—they all want to cut down their advertising and let the publicity man go during the summer.

THIS puts the publicity man and the manager "in wrong" and leaves a hole in the audience. The publicity man promises ads all summer; the editor takes his statement for granted and gives him good "write-ups." The manager was the source of the publicity man's statement.

The patrons look in the paper. They see no advertisement regarding the show, but a theatre a short distance away has an ad here. The result is that they "take the car."

IT is a wise manager who keeps boosting during the summer months, for even if his business is not what it should be—he will reap the harvest in the fall.

During the summer he will keep up interest in his theatre; and so when fall arrives, the name of his theatre will be on the tongues of all motion picture "fans."

And this fall promises to be a record-breaker for Buffalo.

Pictures were never more popular. Theatres are springing up all over the city; everybody is talking about the "film that he saw last night."

But if you admit that you are a "dead one" during the summer months by cutting down on your advertising, you are going to leave that impression in the fall. The manager should say to his stockholders (with apologies to Patrick Henry) "Give me advertising, or give me death."

George Kleine has just made arrangements to produce the popular Cohan and Harris success "Officer 666." The rights were obtained recently and negotiations completed with one of the big New York studios to produce the story in this country.

FEWER CLOSED THEATRES THIS SUMMER

Special to The Motion Picture News

Omaha, Neb., July 15.

A number of small town theatres through Nebraska, Iowa, Dakota and Kansas are closing for the summer season. Comparisons show only two-fifths as many are closing this summer as closed last year. This is attributed to the fact that more specially built houses, and houses better ventilated, are in operation.

Exchange men say fewer small town theatres are closing all over the country.

REMODELING THE CLUNE SHELL THEATRE

Special to The Motion Picture News

Los Angeles, July 13.

The Clune Shell Theatre, owned by the W. H. Clune Amusement Company, is closed to permit remodeling. A handsome new front will be added, together with new seats and projecting equipment. The theatre will probably reopen about August 1.

SEVENTH THEATRE FOR ST. JOHN

Special to The Motion Picture News

St. John, N. B., July 15.

St. John boasts another motion picture house, making seven for the city, distributed as follows: four in the city proper, one in North End, one in West End, and the new one in Fairville, an awakening suburb just on the outskirts of the town. It is known as the Gaiety, and is conducted by Arthur McCloskey, who has had considerable theatrical experience. It starts in rented quarters.

DROPS VAUDEVILLE FOR PICTURES

The National Theatre, Detroit's big vaudeville house, has dropped its vaudeville policy, and C. H. Hagedorn, manager of the National, is making arrangements to play future George Kleine attractions.

CLOSE HOUSES ON SUNDAY

Louisville, Ky., July 16.

The closing of motion picture theatres and soda fountains on Sunday has been ordered by the police judge at Hazard, Ky. The citizens of the town, in great majority, have registered a protest.

ROCKFORD, ILL., FILMED

Rockford is the latest Illinois city to have its picture taken. A Chicago commercial film company is to film all the principal points of interest in the city, and the pictures are to be shown there first at the Palm Theatre from July 27 to 31. After that they will be exhibited about the country.

St. John Ministers Uphold Exhibitors

Protest Against Severer Censorship and Urge Community Council to Obtain Co-operation of Managers—Marked Change in Clergy's Attitude.

Special to The Motion Picture News.

St. John, N. B., July 16.

A COMMUNITY Council has been formed by prominent citizens of St. John, to deal with matters pertaining to the general welfare and betterment of the citizens. At a recent meeting one of the matters under consideration was the censorship of motion pictures. Some were of the opinion that it was not sufficiently severe, that subjects were being shown which promoted evil and that there should be made an effort to check the presentation of photoplays depicting scenes of unusual violence, methods of criminals, passionate love scenes, and other matters which they believed should be kept out of view of the younger folks in the theatre patrons.

Wiser council seemed to prevail at the meeting, however, and as indicating the change of opinion brought about in St. John in later times, there was strong protest against any action being taken.

The general view of clergymen, editors, lawyers, and other members of the council was that the houses in St. John were particular in their choice of subjects, and that even if some feature which to certain minds might prove objectionable, were allowed to pass the censors, it would be debarred of the distasteful part before shown.

As a general rule it was said that the censors used good judgment in their passing on pictures, considering the large number they were compelled to view, and the limited time at their disposal; and the opinion was expressed that the managers of the respective houses had too much at stake to turn popular opinion against them by showing photoplays of the class of which reference had been made.

It was finally decided to enlist the sympathy of the different house-managers in the work of the Community Council, and with their co-operation, it was felt that there would be no reason to complain of the class of picture productions offered to the local public. The meeting conformed to this view and a committee was formed to confer with the managers with respect to the matter.

It may be said that this registers a marked change of mind with relation to picture shows in St. John. It is not so very long ago that from many pulpits there was bitter denunciation of picture plays for the most part, and different ordinary evils of life were attributed to their influence upon the young minds. Now, however, even those who were so opposed to the picture shows a short time ago, are found enlisted in the ranks of picture patrons, and in some of the mission schools photoplays are used as a means of attracting interest. This reflects creditably upon the judgment of the local censors and that of the managers of the local motion picture houses also.

Frank McCafferty.

May Treat "Country Store" as Lottery

Los Angeles Police Contemplating Strict Interpretation of the Law—Some Prizes Not Desirable

Special to The Motion Picture News

Los Angeles, Cal., July 13.

FOR months the Si Perkins country store has been a one-night feature at many of the suburban theatres in Los Angeles, and now it has developed into a feature considered a disgrace by many exhibitors. Everything from a box of tacks to a suit of ladies underwear, or from a day-old chicken to a six months' old calf, has been given away, and in two instances Billy goats have been the prize for the event.

For several weeks there has been a rumor that the police would stop this "added attraction" on the ground that it was a lottery, but no action has yet been taken. City and state laws are both very clear in defining what shall be considered a lottery, and many exhibitors are of the opinion that the continued practice of giving away prizes in this manner will have much to do toward bringing on more strict police regulation of theatres showing motion pictures.

The offerings as prizes for patrons who were willing to go upon the stage for the purpose of amusing the other members of the audience, consisting of more than eight hundred, who had paid ten and fifteen cents admission at one theatre the other night, were rabbits, chickens, and a number of mysterious packages, the manager afterwards stated, contained a number of "jokes," including articles not spoken of in drawing-rooms.

Exhibitors are awaiting with eagerness the rumored action of the authorities.

J. C. Jessen.

Playing to Capacity in Midsummer

George Rabbott, Given Two Months in Which to Fail by the Wiseacres, Shows How a Theatre in a Small Town Can Be Kept Full in the Hot Weather—Perfect Ventilation and a High-Class Program Get Results

IN the little suburb of Naugatuck, adjacent to Waterbury, Conn., there's a motion picture theatre with the appellation, the Alcazar, whose manager is hustling George Rabbott. Around this house and its manager the story that is to follow evolves.

A representative of THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS heard that Mr. Rabbott was packing his theatre every afternoon and evening, no matter how warm the weather, so he took a quiet trip down there the other evening to get the managers' own story of his success. Mr. Rabbott was found in the lobby of his theatre and the NEWS man, after introducing himself, began his probe.

"Oh, so you're a representative of THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS," Mr. Rabbott began. "Well, they sent me a copy of their magazine some time ago with a notice to the effect that I had taken up the management of the Alcazar. Mighty fine magazine for fellows like us, first rate, yes, sir, first rate.

"I suppose you are in search of a little story as regards my methods of filling my house these warm days and nights. It's pretty long, but if you can stand it, I guess I can.

"Do you see that light in there?" and here Mr. Rabbott took the NEWS representative by the arm and pointed to the picture on the screen at the time.

"Ain't that a beaut? The best in the valley. It's a Powers, you know. None better. I just naturally point out that light first thing to all my friends."

The representative was forced to admit that the light was a most powerful and eye-easing one.

"And that screen, genuine mirroroid."

HERE the NEWS representative interrupted by asking the question how many the house seated.

"Six hundred and twenty," Mr. Rabbott replied, "and it's as cool in there as human agency can make it It was built that way. I have two mammoth exhaust fans in there that can remove all the close air in exactly seven minutes. Why, when I start them going my patrons can feel the suction, it's so powerful. Some of them have told me that it is so cool inside that they come out to get warm.

"Then there are my ushers, three girls, and they are worth their weight in gold." Dressed in fancy but neat gowns, the fronts festooned with roses, the girls looked comely. "All that has helped in my success.

"My orchestra is a winner, too. I have a three-piece here afternoons and evenings and on Sunday nights it is augmented to five. Then I keep changing it and have found out that not a few of my patrons come just to hear the music. Would you believe it, when I first started my house the other theatres gave me two months to live. We put $30,000 into it, and even my intimate friends looked askance at the undertaking. But I knew that if a man puts his heart and soul into the enterprise he would succeed.

I SECURED the Mutual program and wouldn't change for love or money. In twenty-five days I catered to exactly 30,000 people, and one day had 1,800 paid admissions. And this in a town of 14,000. I ran the 'Perils of Pauline' and they will be standing out to that car track," pointing to the rails just outside the door.

"You see I didn't die. Instead, the houses that said I would, have all closed their doors. These theatres are the Orpheum, the Lyric and the Gem. The Gem tried to run opposition to me for a while on Sunday nights, but when they saw that I was getting 1,000 people and they had only 150 they stopped.

"And when they stopped I gave my patrons better service than ever. I advertise more extensively now than ever before. I want to show them that their faith in me is justified. I've got a big surprise coming for them next month and am already laying plans for a big fall campaign. The best class of people come to my house, and I know a large number of them personally.

"At present, I am arranging for an anniversary week next September, and will give my friends more for their money than they ever got before. I am spending a lot of money right along, but with the people back of me I am prepared to go the limit. That, my friend, is the secret of my success. Won't you step inside and just see one of my shows?"

The correspondent accepted the invitation and sat down. At the conclusion of the program he could well see how it was that Mr. Rabbott was making money and why the other theatres found it hard to keep pace with him.

THE pictures shown would delight both old and young, even the most fastidious. Two Renfax music films were also flashed on the screen. One had to do with a popular hit while the other consisted of selections of grand opera.

Such is the story of a manager who was given a couple of months to live, bucked by every theatre in his town, but showed that he had grit and the quality of "sticktoitiveness" and was able to give the public what they were looking for, and a great deal more. Naugatuck inhabitants can well feel proud of Mr. Rabbott and be assured that their confidence in him is not misplaced.

He gives them a program every day equal to that found in the largest of cities. When a manager does this what can the result be but unprecedented success? E. CHRISTY ERK.

THE HUDSON PLAYS TO HOT WEATHER CAPACITY

Special to THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS.
Albany, July 16.

The new Hudson Theatre, Albany's latest addition to the picture world, opened its doors, July 6, but was forced to close after the first day by Superintendent of Building Fulton, as there were one or two things that didn't comply with the law. After remaining closed a week, when the necessary alterations were made, the new theatre re-opened and is now turning the people away. It is, without a doubt, the best theatre in Albany.

The Standard system of ventilation is a great success. The roof is so constructed as to make possible the installation of this most perfect and modern method of ventilation, whereby a complete change of air is produced every minute, thus furnishing a minimum of thirty cubic feet of fresh air per minute for each occupant.

TWO HOUSES IN A SEASON

Special to THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS.
Waterbury, Conn., July 16.

A few months ago a theatre was an unheard of thing in Watertown, one of the many suburbs of Waterbury. Then the Dayton motion picture theatre made its appearance and was received with joy by all who delight in the pictures. Now another picture house is under construction and this, it is said, will be an open-air theatre. Another rumor current in Watertown has it that a third theatre is to be opened on Main street, not far from the new open-air house.

CHARLESTON WILL LICENSE OPERATORS

Special to The Motion Picture News

Charleston, S. C., July 16.

The City Council of Charleston has enacted an ordinance requiring operators of motion picture machines to undergo examination and be licensed. The City Electrician and the Chief of the Fire Department compose the Board of Examination, and operators are examined along the usual lines. An examination fee of $5 is charged, and operators are required to flash on the screen at the beginning of each performance a slide giving their name, the number of their license, the date of its issue, etc.

The council has also enacted an ordinance regulating the conduct of motion picture houses and requiring the buildings used for such to conform to certain regulations with respect to fire escapes, etc. The ordinance prohibits minors being placed in charge of a motion picture theatre unless an adult representative of the house is present at all times.

DECATUR WANTS MOTOR-DRIVEN MACHINES

Special to The Motion Picture News.

Springfield, Ill., July 16.

Owners, managers and operators of motion picture theatres at Decatur, Ill., have petitioned the city council to amend the electric ordinance so as to allow them to instal electric-driven picture machines.

At present the ordinance does not permit this and the operators must turn the machines by hand, although all up-to-date houses in other cities have motor-driven machines.

ISSUE PERMIT FOR NEW MARK THEATRE

(Special to The Motion Picture News.)

Buffalo, N. Y., July 16.

The Bureau of Buildings has issued a permit for the construction of the Palace Theatre by the Palace Theatre Company, Mitchell H. Mark, president, at 327 Main street.

This will be one of the largest motion picture theatres in Buffalo and will be located opposite Sheldon Square between North and South Division streets. The theatre will cost $80,000.

TWO NEW HOUSES OPEN IN THE SOUTH

Special to The Motion Picture News.

Charleston, S. C., July 16.

The Peerless, a new motion picture theatre, has been opened at Georgetown, S. C. Wilson Arnhalter is proprietor. The Lyric has just been opened at Sumter, S. C. The Ladies Philadelphia Orchestra, under the direction of Frank A. Girard, formerly of Atlantic City, has been engaged to furnish music for the new theatre.

Bridgeport (Conn.) Exhibitors "Get Together"

Raising of Prices to Ten-cent Standard One of the Objects—Amalgamation of Neighborhood and Downtown Houses Under Consideration

Special to The Motion Picture News.

Bridgeport, Conn., July 16.

TWENTY-FIVE owners and managers of motion picture theatres in this city held a preliminary meeting Tuesday in the Elite Theatre, Main and Charles street, for the purpose of forming a permanent association of theatre owners here.

One of the objects of the association is said to be to advance the general admission to ten cents, with a further increase for evening performances and matinees when feature films are shown. At present the general admission at what is known as "Neighborhood theatres" is five cents. Some of the larger theatres have a five-cent gallery price for matinee performances and the Plaza Theatre plays five reels of pictures and five acts of vaudeville for an afternoon gallery admission of five cents.

It is reported that those behind the movement contemplate some working agreement regarding competition and the possible amalgamation of a number of "Neighborhood theatres" under one management, and also a combination of several downtown theatres.

Another meeting was held in the Imperial Theatre on Sunday afternoon, July 11, at 2:30 o'clock. Manager William Skidmore, of the Imperial Theatre, sent an invitation to every motion picture theatre owner and manager in the city to attend, and it looks as if all managers will affiliate with the association.

Some time ago an effort was made to form a similar organization, but several managers of the largest houses could not be induced to join and the plan fell through. Within the past year there has been a gradual increase in admission prices at theatres here. Where a general admission of five cents prevailed one year ago, most theatres charge ten cents and some fifteen cents and more.

At present the Bijou, in Fairfield avenue and Palace Theatre in East Main street, two of the largest, and both conducted by Peter Dawe, are showing five reels for a general admission, matinee and evening for five cents. Mr. Dawe has expressed a willingness to increase his prices to ten cents after the organization is formed.

E. C. Booth.

Exhibitors' War With Fire Board Over

Elizabeth Manager Fined for Allowing Patrons to Stand in the Aisles—Attorney Says He Is Not Liable

Special to The Motion Picture News.

Elizabeth, N. J., July 16.

IT appears that the conflict between the Elizabeth Board of Fire Commissioners and the managers of local motion picture theatres and airdomes is over, for the present at least. It ended with the imposing of a fine of $50 on Dennis J. Shepherd, owner of the Open Air Theatre in East Jersey near First street, for allowing persons to stand during a performance.

Mr. Shepherd announced that he would fight the case to a finish, but in view of recent developments, it is doubtful if he will carry out his intention. The license for his place expires soon, and if he starts any action likely to antagonize the city authorities, they will probably refuse to renew it. Negotiations are also under way for the sale of the Open Air Theatre.

John R. Connolly, who represented the theatre owner in the court proceedings, was anxious to carry the case to the Supreme Court and get a ruling on the right of the Fire Board to supervise open air theatres. Mr. Connolly was willing to make the appeal at his own expense, he told a representative of The Motion Picture News. He believes that the Fire Board has no legal right to restrict open air theatres, asserting that no ordinance has ever been adopted giving the commissioners this power.

He says that under the existing law, theatre managers are not liable if persons stand in their places, but the spectators who stand may be arrested and fined. He declares that Fire Chief Gerstung, who was responsible for the complaint against Shepherd, was derelict in the performance of his duty. It was up to the chief to expel from the theatre any spectators who were obstructing passageways, Mr. Connolly says. Mr. Connolly regrets that the circumstances prevent him from taking the appeal. He says he feels certain that it would have been sustained by the Supreme Court establishing once for all the jurisdiction of the Fire Board.

It is conceded that there is need of organization among the local picture house managers. If they were banded together, they could take a united stand to prevent unjust prosecution by the city authorities, but under present conditions, the man who stands up for his rights has a hard, single-handed fight.

John W. Hawkins.

The Dayton Convention—and Beyond

By William A. Johnston

THE convention is over.

It was more than a success; and was history-making.

It met a crisis that threatened to disrupt and disintegrate—met it sanely, sturdily, broadly—and now we have that which was so earnestly hoped for but often despaired of—an united exhibitors' organization, strengthened anew and standing for principles that attract and demand the loyal membership of every exhibitor in this country and Canada.

This is no time for a discussion of how amalgamation was accomplished and what might have prevented it.

The future is bright enough and big enough to demand all attention; the past had best be forgotten.

But there are some things that should be said—in justice and for profit.

HATS off, first of all, to the seven "harmony" delegates, Messrs. Tugwell, Sweeney, Rembush, Tregger, Phillips, Bullock, Furness.

They were called "bolters" by the Dayton papers. Let us interpret this in the only correct way: They were bolters in that they drove home good and true the bolts of amalgamation.

They traveled thousands of miles and personally expended freely and largely of their means to attend a convention which at first was closed to them.

Their mission can no more be questioned than could their attitude at the convention be criticized. They came for harmony; they stood for harmony; and it was their dignity, sturdiness and breadth of principle that helped much to win the final result.

The future and greater league, born at Dayton, will always owe these seven men a debt of gratitude.

THE other great force that brought about amalgamation was the prevailing sentiment within the league itself.

There were good men and true present at this Dayton convention.

They had learned the value, the necessity of organization.

They are, individually, good business men, broad enough to be above petty jealousies and suspicion, and foresighted enough to see the future bigness of the exhibiting business and how it may be secured through co-operative effort.

THROUGHOUT the convention, and however its official conduct made the tide of harmony ebb and flow, the wish of almost every league member was for amalgamation.

You had only to talk to any delegate to find this out.

It is always the undercurrent that is strongest and most directing, and this sentiment was undeniably the undercurrent of the Dayton convention.

The result proved it.

It was only consistent with the dignity of the M. P. E. L. that it should assert its individuality.

This was done, but amalgamation was also made possible, thanks to the broadmindedness of the leaders of each faction.

DURING the middle of the week when, outwardly at least, amalgamation seemed hopeless the argument advanced against admitting the seven harmony delegates into the convention hall was that the constitution and by-laws of the M. P. E. L. made this impossible.

About the only answer to this situation is that something is wrong then with the M. P. E. L. constitution and by-laws.

In other words, they must be wrong if they stand in the way of the possibility of one harmonious organization, broad enough and helpful enough to draw to its standards every exhibitor in the country.

IT is folly to believe that the original constitution of any organization should be conceived in such all-seeing intelligence as to be perfect; or that subsequent by-laws should be added with the same unerring foresight.

It is barely possible, in fact, that the M. P. E. L. was originated in altogether a wrong spirit, perhaps along lines of a one-man-power organization.

Perhaps its rules of conduct, as to meetings, were largely designed for this end. If so, it is all wrong.

Possibly the criticism is unjust, but it is made with all good intentions.

The point is this:

The exhibitors' organization-to-be must be broad, or it will be nothing.

Anything, therefore, that tends to narrow it must be eliminated.

It must be democratic and non-partisan.

It must exist for the many, not for the few. If to achieve these all-important ends, new by-laws are necessary, then, by all means let there be new by-laws.

THE real work—and lots of it—is now before the united organization.

There are a few states where good organizations have been built up: but there are many where no real organizations exist. And, all in all, there are several thousand exhibitors who ought to be but are not members of the League.

There must be something to attract the membership besides the mere name and formality of an organization. Politics won't do it.

Genuine help must be extended—a sustained educational campaign, helpful conventions, protection against cut-throat competition and unjust legislation, and security from other evils within and without the exhibiting business.

This League can be made so advantageous to the individual that the exhibitor who is genuinely interested in his calling cannot afford to remain outside.

As for the power it can wield, there is no measuring it.

THE future looks very bright. To-day there is not a cloud on the horizon.

Out of the factionalism of the past year has been born a new organization, strengthened all around by the struggle it has gone through.

The strife has brought leaders to the surface. The new officers are representative to a man of the best elements and principles of the exhibiting business, while the new executive committee speaks for strength, union, energy, progressiveness, sound business, and non-partisanship.

Marion S. Pearce, of Baltimore; T. P. Finegan, of Texas; M. E. Cory, of California; Peter J. Jeup, of Michigan; W. R. Wilson, of Ohio; A. P. Tugwell, of California; Fulton Brylawski, of the District of Columbia; W. J. Sweeney, of Illinois; Charles H. Phillips, of Wisconsin.

THESE men are exhibitors, organizers in their own states, enthusiasts, sound business men.

They are above selfish politics; they stand for organization.

They deserve the confidence of every exhibitor.

The Motion Picture News believes they will have it and takes pleasure in lending to their future work its unqualified support.

Revolutionize Holding of Trade Expositions

Manufacturers and Jobbers Hold Convention of Their Own at Dayton and Appoint Committee to Put Annual Motion Picture Showing on New Basis—Will Be Run Under Joint Auspices of Producers, Jobbers and Exhibitors on Fifty Per Cent Basis for Exhibitors

THAT the next motion picture exposition will be held under the auspices of the manufacturers and dealers of the trade is now a certainty.

The lamentable failure of the affair at Dayton crystallized the dissatisfaction which had been coming to a head for months.

How this movement was started may be told as follows:

After a preliminary meeting on Tuesday evening, which was largely attended, the great majority of manufacturers and dealers exhibiting at Dayton met on Wednesday and formed The Motion Picture Manufacturer and Jobbers Exposition Committee, whose duty it will be to formulate some practical and satisfactory method of holding future expositions for this industry.

THE Tuesday meeting was the spontaneous outgrowth of universal dissatisfaction, not alone with the exposition situation at Dayton, but more particularly with the immediately preceding conventions at Toronto, Canada, and at Wilkes-Barre, Pa.

As soon as a few leaders had definitely announced this spirit of dissatisfaction, the sentiment of the meeting was practically unanimous.

Several representatives of large film companies stated that while their personal views were entirely in accord with the meeting and its aims, they could not speak the action of their respective companies. In several other speeches, it was pointed out that in other large business the most successful expositions were those managed by corporate companies owned by the trade and its allied branches.

The result of the Tuesday meeting was the appointment of a committee to draft resolutions, consisting of H. B. Coles, of the Precision Machine Company; F. J. Rembush, of the Mirror Screen Company, and Joe Brandt, of the Universal Film Manufacturing Company.

At the Wednesday meeting this committee presented the following resolutions which were adopted:

RESOLVED, Whereas, the Motion Picture Industry is now one of the foremost in the world, it is proper that an exposition of motion picture art be held annually or semi-annually.

To serve the best interests of all concerned it is deemed advisable that

(Continued on page 56)

VIEW OF THE UPPER AUDITORIUM, MEMORIAL HALL, DAYTON

LEAGUE AND ASSOCIATION REUNITED AT DAYTON; APPOINT COMMITTEE OF NINE

Consolidation Ends Bitter Fight Between Factions and Paves Way for Effective Action in the Solution of Grave Problems—Pass Resolution Condemning All Kinds of Censorship, Including the Supervision by the National Board—Banquet at the Algonquin

THE most important work of the Dayton convention was accomplished on Friday, July 10, when the amalgamation of the International Motion Picture Association and the Motion Picture Exhibitors League of America became an accomplished fact.

It was made possible by the League allowing the other organization, a representation of four men on its executive board, which as now constituted, consists of nine members.

The second matter of importance was the sweeping stand taken against censorship, state, federal, local or even supervision by the National Board of Censorship. The resolution condemning all these forms was passed during the Friday session, the resolution being presented through M. A. Corey, of California, chairman of the committee appointed the day before to consider this matter for presentation before the convention delegates.

The International Motion Picture Association members appointed to serve on the new board are:

JUDGE A. P. TUGWELL, of Los Angeles; William J. Sweeney, of Chicago; Charles H. Phillips, of Milwaukee, and Fulton Brylawski, of Washington, D. C.

Representatives of both bodies had been in session on Wednesday to consider feasible means for bringing the two organizations under one head. The International Association men declared that the members of the Association would agree to merge with the League, provided that the International Association could have a representation of four on the executive board, which should be increased from seven to nine.

The plan was presented to the convention the next day in the form of a resolution, and met with considerable opposition. After a hot fight the resolution was rejected by the League men. An amendment was passed which provided for the instruction of the president to select two from those of the association men who should apply for reinstatement, for service on the executive board.

The seven harmony delegates of the Association, however, refused to consider any such plan when the terms of the resolution became known to them, and it looked as if the consolidation became known to them, and it looked as if the consolidation of the two organizations was hopelessly lost.

THE Association man felt that the amendment meant a lessening of the dignity of the body they represented.

On Friday, the deadlock was broken. The Association men held a conference, at which it was decided to ask the League to reconsider the action of the previous session. They did not recede from their demand for a representation of four delegates, however, and made it clear to the League members that any other proposition would be impossible of acceptance on behalf of the large body they represented.

A general debate followed on the floor of the convention, and the arguments of the International Association men made a favorable impression on the League delegates from Ohio and Michigan, who saw that the chance of harmony would be lost if the deadlock continued.

MARION S. PEARCE
President of the Motion Picture Exhibitors League of America

The Ohio and Michigan delegates then took up the cudgels in behalf of the Association men and led in the fight for their demand for a representation of four on the League board.

FINALLY opposition on the part of the dissenting League delegates was overcome, and the Association proposal was confirmed. After the spirited fight ended, even those who had opposed the resolution were glad that the convention had acceded to the demands of the Association delegates.

A different feeling among the members was immediately discernible. All showed by their manner a universal feeling that the convention had at last accomplished something, and that the meeting had not been a fizzle. Men collected in knots after the session and discussed the prospects of harmony which is now in sight.

On every hand were heard expressions of satisfaction over the accomplishment of the peace party which had succeeded at last in bringing the warring factions together in harmonious relations.

The sentiment of the delegates found expression in the words of Sam Trigger, who exclaimed:

"Amalgamation means the formation of the biggest and most prosperous trade league in the world."

THE delegates saw in the consolidation of the two organizations the way paved for the solution of other problems which have confronted the members of the industry since its infancy.

Some of the delegates declared that with all the exhibitors in the two organizations now in a position to act in harmony on all questions, they will be able to accomplish something without experiencing any of the deplorable delay which had made concerted action since the severance of the two bodies some time ago impossible.

NATIONAL OFFICERS OF THE MOTION PICTURE EXHIBITORS' LEAGUE OF AMERICA
Left to right, T. P. Finnegan, First Vice President; Marion L. Pearce. President; Peter Jeup, Treasurer; M. E. Cory, Second Vice President; W. R. Wilson, Secretary.

At the time the censorship resolution was passed, another resolution pledging the moral support of the League to the humane and other social agencies that are opposing cruelty to animals as inflicted in the production of certain films, was adopted.

Exhibitors are asked by the terms of the resolution not to display pictures depicting cruelty to animals.

Thursday morning was devoted to the parade, plans for which had been in active preparation during the fore part of the week.

The line was formed at Memorial Hall at 10:30. A long string of gaily decorated automobiles, some almost covered with flags and colored bunting, wended its way behind a large band through the streets of the city.

The parade impressed the throng with its picturesque appearance. One of the features of the event was a flying squadron of riders, whose horses were elaborately caparisoned for the occasion.

At the conclusion of the parade, judges awarded numerous prizes. Mr. Rabery, of Dayton, received the prize for the tallest exhibitor attending the convention; for the fattest exhibitor, G. W. Hill, of Cincinnati; the shortest, S. B. Potter; the lightest, T. P. Finnegan, Jr., of Dallas, Texas; and the oldest, J. J. Reider, of Jackson, Mich.

Many of the visiting exhibitors went out to see the Soldiers Home, in the afternoon, while others made a trip to Lakeside Park, the amusement resort of the city.

A large crowd assembled here to meet the Essanay players, who had come on from Chicago in the morning. The representatives of the company were Gerda Holmes, Jack Travers, and Wallace Beery. This was not their first greeting for the day on the part of numerous admirers, as they had been already warmly received at Memorial Hall in the morning.

AT the Friday session it was decided to leave the selection of the next convention city to the discretion of the executive committee. There was no intimation as to the city likely to be picked out for the convention of 1915, though a few tentative suggestions were made by a few members in informal discussion of league matters after the adjournment of the convention. Judge Tugwell thought that Los Angeles or San Francisco might find favor, at least with exhibitors west of the Mississippi.

A banquet was held on the roof of the Algonquin Hotel, Friday night. The attendance was small, there being only seventy-five exhibitors present. This was due to the fact that many of the visitors were obliged to return home on account of the pressure of business affairs in their respective cities.

Those who did attend, however, made up in enthusiasm for the lack of numbers. The roof was tastefully and appropriately decorated for the occasion, and the visitors sat down to a spread that did credit to the committee having this part of the week's entertainment in charge.

EXHIBITORS AND THEIR WIVES ON THE STEPS OF THE CONVENTION BUILDING, DAYTON

Governor James M. Cox, of Ohio, was the principal speaker. He spoke of the universal harmony which now seemed to prevail among the reunited associations, sentiments which made a strong appeal to the members of both organizations, who had agreed to bury the hatchet and henceforth sit down in peace.

THE governor touched on another matter which, however, was not so acceptable to the listeners. This was censorship. He declared that state and local censorship was necessary for the uplift of the industry, using in substance the arguments which the retiring president, M. A. Neff, had advanced on all possible occasions during his regime.

The governor's remarks were answered by Joe Farnham, of the All-Star Company, who confuted them with facts and logic. Outburst of applause greeted his remarks.

Governor Cox, however, with the adroitness of the skilled politician, sauvely retracted his own views. His second address was a credit to his ability to trim his sails to every veering wind rather than any real conversion to his opponent's opinions.

At the Friday session of the convention the seven harmony delegates representing the International Motion Picture Association were granted the privilege of the floor, and addressed the assembly.

JUDGE TUGWELL made a stirring speech in favor of amalgamation, and his remarks were greeted with rounds of applause. He thought that with consolidation assured, the future of the organization would bring forth untold benefits to not only members of the Association and League but every man connected with the industry.

He declared that this forward movement now in order would see the promotion of harmonious relations far reaching in the general welfare of the business.

In the days of convention week following the plan, discussed on Tuesday, for holding the next exposition under the auspices of manufacturers instead of exhibitors, considerable variance of opinion found expression.

Some of the exhibitors were in favor of the move, feeling that an exhibition under the sole management of manufacturers might bring about an enlargement of the scope of the work attempted at previous expositions.

THE exhibitors in favor of this proposed move also expressed the view that the proposition designed to interest manufacturers not represented at the Dayton convention would undoubtedly prove the means of making the next trade exposition larger and better than any in the history of the motion picture business.

Details of this proposal to have manufacturers manage future conventions appear on another page.

Visitors left Dayton feeling that the intention of the Association to discourage the use of premiums for promoting patronage was another move in the right direction; and the resolution urging exhibitors to charge ten cents admission whenever practicable was another matter which made a strong appeal. The recommendation which had been made for all exhibitors to make their programs uniform for the purpose of avoiding ruthless and ruinous competition occupied the attention of the returning delegates.

The work of perfecting the amalgamation of the two organizations, so that harmonious and effective progress toward the ends the exhibitors have in view, will go forward at once.

It is expected that steps will be taken before long to push the National Board of Trade idea further, which on account of the other immediate matters before the convention was relegated for future consideration.

A GROUP OF OFFICERS AND DELEGATES AT MEMORIAL HALL, DAYTON

Conventionalities

Side Lights on Exposition Personalities—Some of the Well-Known Men of the Industry Who Were Seen on the Floor—The Trials of a Speech-Maker—Joe Farnham's Name Spelled Three Different Ways in Dailies Reporting His Address

FOR the first time in all his film experience Joe Brandt was not the human dynamo he always is at a convention. He did not get out a Universal daily. Joe was in active evidence, however. He made some rattling speeches before the exhibitors and manufacturers, and was generally in the center of every convention group.

Also in prominence as a speaker was Joe Farnham, the All-Star representative. There was no mistaking Joe's presence, but the local papers did miscall his name—as Joe Farnheim, of New York; Joe Foreman, of Chicago; and Joe For'em, of Indianapolis. His speech at the banquet, in which he made Governor Cox backwater on censorship, was the hit of the convention.

Harry Reisenbach, representing Lasky Features, pulled down the publicity laurels of the convention—in fact, of this or any previous convention. His prize beauty contest kept the Lasky name and fame on the first page of the Dayton "Herald" throughout the entire convention, and for a week following.

GEORGE H. WILEY IN ACTION AT DAYTON

Judge Tugwell, of Los Angeles, Cal., one of the International delegates at Dayton, has traveled over 14,000 miles since June 1, to be present at the New York and Dayton conventions. For genuine exhibitor and organization interest this makes the record.

PROMINENT Oklahoma exhibitors present were: Tom H. Boland, Empress Theatre, Oklahoma City, and L. W. Brophy, president Yale Theatre Company, Muskogee.

In the Illinois delegation were G. M. Luttrell, of Jacksonville, Ill., president of the Illinois State Branch No. 2; W. W. Watts, of Springfield, treasurer; and Thomas W. Leonard, of Johnson City, first vice-president. Included in the Illinois delegation are: C. J. Law, of Paine, Ill., and Edward Kunz, Springfield, delegates, and D. Robinson, Peoria, national vice-president.

The Famous Players' booth excited much favorable comment for its artistic and interesting exhibit. Beautiful enlargements of photos and paintings of Famous Players' stars had been specially prepared by the Afrida Studios, New York. William Burlock was in charge.

P. S. Lewis, of New York, who is with the Warner Feature Film Company branch at Lexington, Ky., had a booth at the exposition. Warner's features are shown at the Ada Mead Theatre in Lexington, managed by J. Orrin Donovan, a Dayton man who was formerly manager of the Colonial Theatre. Donovan was in that city attending the exposition events.

Mrs. Virginia E. Yard, a delegate from Wellston, Ohio, owns a theatre with a seating capacity of 1,000.

Four years ago Mrs. Yard took charge of one theatre in Wellston. Her husband had operated it up to the time of his death. During summer and between dates with road attractions, she runs it as a motion picture house.

ALMOST interesting exhibit was the huge, solid brass frame made on special order by George W. Armstrong, president of the Theatre Specialty Manufacturing Company, of Cleveland. It stood at the entrance of the hall and excited much comment for its workmanship and attractive appearance.

The Bartola Musical Instrument Company deserves untold credit for its enterprice. Its separate entertainment, run on the Kaiserhof roof garden, was an exposition all in itself. No convention event was more steadily attended or more enjoyed. The Bartola toy balloons were in evidence everywhere.

A crowd of enthusiastic Pearce boosters at the convention included: Dr. W. A. Herbst, president of the District of Columbia League; H. M. Crandall, J. P. Morgan, Maurice Davis, Fulton Brylawski and John Payette.

Fulton Brylawski, of Washington, D. C., was strong for harmony and for holding out the olive brance to the International League.

An active and enthusiastic exhibitor present was Mrs. Thorpe, of Richmond, Ind. A photo and description of her new $40,000 theatre will shortly appear in these pages.

The Mott-LeGaige Animated Advertising Company did a rushing business at the exposition. Representative Harry Levey sold state rights for Ohio to the Columbus Theatre Equipment Company, and for Michigan to George Weeks, of the Universal Film Exchange, Detroit.

C. L. HULL, who had charge of the Selig display, made his thoroughgoing showman experience count during the convention. The Dayton papers carried full-page advertisements of "The Spoilers," and the city was posted from end to end with handsome lithos.

Al Lichtman stopped at Dayton on his way to St. Louis, and greeted his many friends among exhibitors and manufacturers alike.

New York exhibitors prominent at the convention were William Hilkemeier, Grant W. Anson, Adolph Weiss, R. L. McNabb and S. H. Trigger.

Clyde A. Morrison, general manager of the American Motion Picture Directory Company, of Chicago, was one of the most active and successful workers present. His fat bunch of advertising contracts and his long rolls of subscriptions appear sufficient to seal the Directory's success. . The opinion generally expressed is that such a book is a necessity within and without the entire trade.

Thomas T. Wiley, the able representative of the Novelty Slide Company, played a prominent part both in the manufacturers' meetings and with his display on the exposition floor. The latter was most varied and interesting. Novelty slides were very much to the fore.

BRINGING on the Essanay players, Gerda Holmes, Richard Travers and Wallace Berry, was by no means the only thing V. R. Day did to make prominent the exposition and the Essanay name. The local papers carried Essanay advertising and much Essanay press matter, and as for V. R. Day, he was everywhere.

E. H. Burns, of the Peerless Film Exchange, Chicago, drove to Dayton in his car and consumed a good deal of gasoline entertaining throughout the convention. He reports excellent business throughout his territory.

The hot weather in Dayton gave to Ernst Glantzberg an excellent opportunity. His Typhoon fans cooled and ventilated the entire exposition hall, besides making one of the sightliest and largest exhibits. The big twelve-foot Typhoon fan attracted general attention.

E. E. Fulton, who has the rare knack of never forgetting a face and name, was about greeting his many friends. Mr. Fulton's big supply house in Chicago is one of the best expressions of the picture industry and its growth.

H. J., or "Baron" Hoffman, manager of the Ernemann Photo-Kino Works, was an active exhibitor and entertainer. The Imperator projection machine excited much interest, as did also his display of cameras and accessories.

The Nicholas Power booth, one of the largest in the accessory division, was well looked after by Herbert Griffen, B. Bohannon and F. Sweet, the well-known traveling representatives.

O. F. Spahr, general manager of the Enterprise Optical Company, reported excellent business in 1914 model Motiographs, also the probable closing of an important quantity order.

W. C. Kunzman was present, representing the motion picture department of the National Carbon Company, of Cleveland.

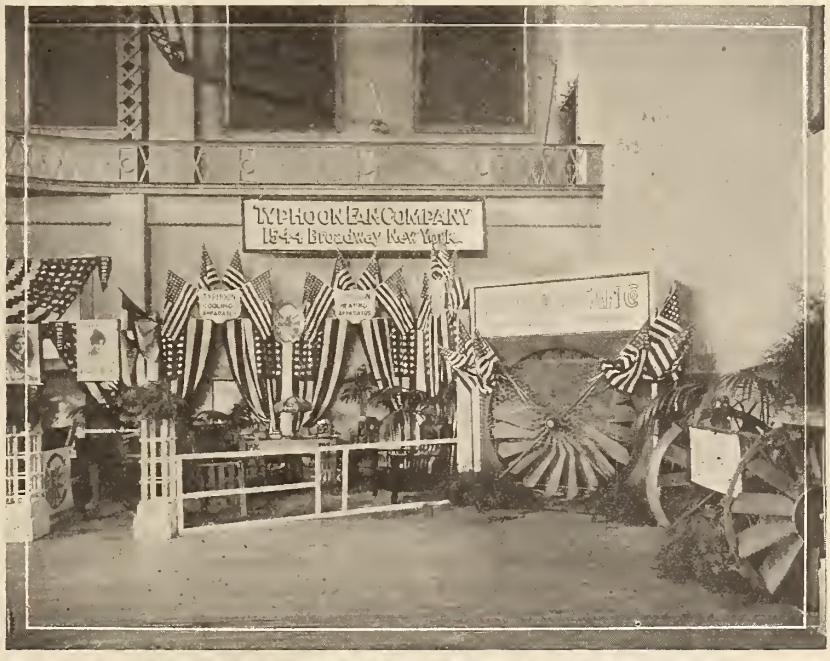
F. O. Nielsen, proprietor of the Parkway Theatre, Chicago, and one of the leading state rights buyers in the country, made his genial presence felt throughout the convention.

Among the Washington, D. C., motion picture men who enjoyed the Dayton convention were Dr. William P. Herbst, president of the District of Columbia Exhibitors League; Harry Crandall, president of the Crandall Amusement Company and secretary of the local Screen Club; Joe Morgan, manager of the Princess; and Morris Davis, manager of the M Street Theatre.

George Blair, of the Eastman Company was, as usual, quietly but omnipresently in evidence, with his urbane and good-fellowship ways.

The Rudolph Wurlitzer Company, not only occupied the center of the stage at the exposition, but all the stage. The $10,000 Hope-Jones Unit Orchestra was the big exhibit at the convention, and furnished the only music in the main hall. In addition there were six kinds of smaller Wurlitzer instruments.

S. B. Kramer, F. E. Hammer and H. Charnas looked actively and ably after the interests of Warner's Features. Some current features were shown.



The new Rex Film Renovator machine was shown in action, cleaning films to the top notch of newness. This machine has sold almost on sight since recently put on the market. R. D. Hanish and W. C. Moore were in charge.

Sales Manager H. B. Coles and Traveling Representative D. F. Cowan had charge of the Simplex booth, in which were displayed Simplex 1914 models and some new attachments such as aluminum pedestals, etc.

John Pelzer, at the Pathé booth, distributed handsome celluloid covered memo books and photo cards. This booth was also shared by the Eclair Film Company. W. R. Scales, of Chicago, assisted.

Sidney Newman had charge of the Newman Manufacturing Company booth, with a complete display of brass railings, frames and ticket choppers. The Newman Company is always prominent at conventions.

The Morgan Lithograph Company was represented by Miss L. Bruce, of Cleveland, throughout the Exposition.

THE TYPHOON FAN COMPANY'S EXHIBIT AT THE EXPOSITION

Atsco, Inc., reports a very nice volume of business. They had several of their cleverest salesmen on the job, headed by Robert T. Kane, president, and they succeeded in closing the following large orders and numerous smaller ones:

The Marion Photo Play, Marion, Ohio: Complete equipment consisting of two Simplex machines, one Radium Gold Fibre screen, one motor generator set, a brass lobby display, and one ticket chopper, etc.

Picture Theatre, Knightstown, Ind.: One Radium Gold Fibre Screen, one Simplex machine, one Compensarc, and other articles of theatre equipment which totalled to a considerable figure.

Lyric Theatre, Dayton, Ohio: One Radium Gold Fibre screen and one Drumona musical instrument to augment its musical features.

Victoria Theatre, Dayton, Ohio: Full equipment consisting of one Radium Gold Fibre screen and two Simplex machines.

(Continued on page 59)

SPOKANE WANTS SPOKANE-MADE PICTURES

Special to The Motion Picture News

Spokane, Wash., July 14.

Spokane-made pictures are coming into demand in the local houses and increasing numbers are being turned out to supply the call.

James McConahey, manager of the American and of the Best, who is an experienced photographer, has added news pictures to his regular bills. In addition, a monthly baby contest, which he conducts at the American, includes a provision that motion pictures of the leading contestants shall be taken and exhibited on the screen.

The Southern Sun Film Company, a new concern which has established headquarters and studio here, has completed its first reel, a news film. The Southern Sun's first posed picture, a two-reel film, is said to be nearly ready for exhibition. It is called "When Betty Marries."

Betty Thorpe, formerly a Spokane newspaper woman, is heading the feminine end of the cast. Elvo Deffenbaugh has the male lead.

"FLY-SWATTING" HELPS BUSINESS

Kansas City, Mo., July 16.

The "swat the fly" movement recently took hold of Arkansas City, Kan. And when it came E. H. Hill, manager of the Rex Theatre there, saw a chance for some worth-while advertising. So he posted notices of an afternoon matinee especially for boys and girls. The admission price was to be one hundred dead flies for each child.

Boys and girls trampled over one another in their efforts to have their flies counted first on the day of the matinee and it was, of course, a busy one for the fly swatters. The number of flies presented at the doors was 25,000.

Mr. Hill is planning a continuance of the experiment—both for the sake of the health of the town and the free advertising that is in the scheme.

SUES OMAHA LEAGUE HEAD FOR $10,000

Special to The Motion Picture News

Omaha, Neb., July 15.

Because he reported to the Social Service Board, which regulates motion picture houses with the co-operation of the exhibitors themselves, that Joseph Koehlburg, proprietor of the Palm Theatre at 1320 Douglas street, was using too sensational pictures, Samuel Goldberg, president of the local branch of the M. P. E. L. A., has been sued for $10,000.

Mr. Koehlburg alleges he was harmed $10,000 worth by the objections raised by the board after Mr. Goldberg had reported him. The case will come up for trial in September.

I. M. P. A. Harmony Delegates Submit Report

Inform Members of the Means by Which Consolidation Was Brought About—Predict Membership of Ten Thousand—Board of Trade in Sight

THE seven harmony delegates of the International Motion Picture Association, elected at the New York convention last month for the purpose of attending the session of the Motion Picture Exhibitors League of America in Dayton, with a view to healing the breach between the severed organizations, have, now that their work is successfully accomplished, submitted a report to the members of the Association, outlining the scope of their efforts while representing the body in Dayton.

It follows:

To the Members of the International Motion Picture Association.

Pursuant to a resolution passed at the New York Convention, the members of your committee elected with full power to bring about an amalgamation of the two national organizations, met at the Dayton Convention of the M. P. E. L. of America, on Monday, July 6, and proceeded with the business in hand, with the following members present:

Samuel H. Trigger, N. Y., chairman; F. J. Rembusch, Indiana; Sam Bullock, Ohio; Judge Tugwell, California; Fred J. Herrington, Pennsylvania; and William J. Sweeney, Illinois.

Chas. H. Phillips, president of the I. M. P. A., ex-officio of the committee, made up the full committee of seven—Delegate Thomas Furniss, of Minnesota, being delayed in transit.

A proposition was made at the first joint committee meeting with the M. P. E. L. of A. committee in the form of a resolution presented by Delegate Bullock that this committee cannot amalgamate with any organization under the terms of the resolution by which we were elected, unless the said organization is opposed to all forms of legalized censorship.

The second resolution by Delegate Herrington provided "That it be to the best interests of all concerned that we recommend that the only method of amalgamation possible will be by the elimination of the officers of both the organizations; and the control of the amalgamated forces should be vested in a national executive board comprising the membership of the executive boards of both organizations."

The above resolution opened the way for consideration of amalgamation plans by the convention body, and after several days earnest effort by the committee with counter propositions from the convention it was decided to "stand pat" for four representations upon the executive board of the M. P. E. L. of A. and recommend a cessation of hostilities between the two bodies.

This proposition was rejected and accompanied by an offer of two representatives to be appointed by the incoming president. This proposition was in turn promptly rejected by your committee and at a final meeting on Thursday, previous to the departure of delegates Herrington and Furniss, it was agreed to "stand pat" for four representatives or no amalgamation. This was finally agreed to by the convention body on Friday, and our committee nominations for the new executive board of the M. P. E. L. of A. were accepted by unanimous acclimation by the convention. They are as follows:

Charles H. Phillips, Wisconsin; Wm. J. Sweeney, Illinois; Judge Tugwell, California; and Fulton Brylawski, Washington, D. C.

Messrs. Herrington and Furniss stated before leaving that they had no desire to serve, but agreed to a "stand pat" for four "propositions." Chairman Trigger said New York did not seek any honors.

The committee succeeded in having the convention endorse the principle measures passed at the I. M. P. A. convention including the National Board of Censorship resolutions, and every member of the new executive board of nine is a staunch supporter of the New York National Board.

The result of the work of your committee and the convention body at Dayton means that the object for which we have fought so long has been accomplished. "Principles, not Individuals" is our future watchword. From now on we get a new deal in everything. It is no longer "Let's get together." We are together, and such being the case, legalized censorship is doomed; a national board of trade is in sight and a membership of ten thousand united exhibitors is quite possible by the time the next annual convention is held. Let every friend of the cause put his shoulder to the wheel. There is no longer any excuse or reason for remaining out of the parent body, or unattached. Let us again unite, co-operate and fight against the common enemy.

Sam Bullock,
Secretary of Committe on Amalgamation.

BAN ON THE COUNTRY STORE

Special to The Motion Picture News.

Syracuse, N. Y., July 16.

Police Censor Edward Smith has received orders from Chief of Police Martin Cadin to the effect that arrests will follow the attempt to use coupon tickets and give away prizes.

The country store has, therefore, passed into oblivion in Syracuse, but in its stead exhibitors have introduced the "voting contest."

The Happy Hour Theatre just ended a voting contest in which Manager Fitzer gave away a Maxwell touring car and a runabout to the successful contestants.

NEW PENNSYLVANIA BUILDING CODE IS READY

Rules Are Immediately Effective—Theatres Over One Story in Height Must Be Fireproof—Standing-Room Provisions—Obstructions in Lobbies Forbidden—Electricity Must Be Used for Lighting—Portable Booths Prohibited—Will Submit Code to Legislature this Winter

Special to THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS

Harrisburg, Pa., July 16.

RADICAL restrictions for the construction of all future motion picture theatres in Pennsylvania, it is announced by Professor John Price Jackson, head of the Department of Labor and Industry, were adopted by the State Industrial Board at a meeting here Wednesday, July 8.

The Industrial Board is a commission created by an Act of the Legislature and appointed by Governor John K. Tener, with authority to make rules and regulations for the government of the construction of motion picture theatres, as well as industrial enterprises, and to prescribe means of enforcing such provisions.

The adoption of the rules for the construction of motion picture theatres had been awaited with intense interest by prospective builders, and it removed much doubt that stood in the way of a great deal of theatre construction work, for theatres are being built now at the rate of 1,000 to 1,200 a year in Pennsylvania. The builders had been eager to get specific instructions as to what the Industrial Board requires.

THE rules adopted are immediately effective. They cover twenty closely printed pages and are selected from recommendations made by a committee of twenty men representing various film companies, theatre owners and kindred interests throughout the state. The rules are not all of them necessarily mandatory, but more in the nature of recommendations to builders, outlining as they do what the Board's ideas are regarding safe theatre construction.

They will be placed in the hands of theatre men throughout the state and the latter will have an opportunity to raise any objections they may see fit between now and the date of the next meeting of the Industrial Board, soon to be announced, at which the Board will prepare a more concise code, which will probably be made mandatory by enactment in the session of the legislature to be held in the winter.

Some of the most important features of the rules adopted and which, though characterized as "recommendations," will hardly be ignored by builders, have been culled by the correspondent of THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS from the long list, and stripped of their technical verbiage. It is pointed out by Commissioner Jackson that these rules apply to all theatres to be erected hereafter, and not to theatres already in existence save when the latter are altered or remodeled at a cost of half of the original expense of construction exclusive of the cost of foundations.

THE rules provide that no theatre of other than fire-proof construction may be more than one story in height. In no motion picture theatre will balconies be allowed. Steps and stairways are prohibited in all cases except when they lead to an office, smoking-room, check-room or retiring-room. In this connection the rules say:

"Differences in levels shall be overcome by inclines having a rise of not more than one foot in ten."

Mirrors are absolutely banned in any part of the theatre, save the lobby, and there they must be not larger than 300 square inches. No architectural feature to give the appearance of a doorway, windows, corridors, hallway or passageway, where none exists, is permitted.

It is further prescribed that "the floor level of the highest row of seats shall not be more than five feet above the sidewalk level and the floor level of the lowest row of seats shall be not more than six feet below the level of the same sidewalk."

Standing room is not to be absolutely barred in the motion picture theatres in Pennsylvania. A rule says:

"No person except the necessary attendants shall be allowed to stand in or occupy any aisle, corridor, hallway, passageway or exit while such building is open to the public; but a space may be reserved back of the last row of seats in which not more than twenty percent of the total seating capacity will be permitted to stand, provided that there shall be at least three square feet of floor area for each person standing. Such space, however, shall be separated from main aisles by approved railings and shall be directly accessible to at least two nearby exits."

ANOTHER regulation prescribes that "the principal entrance corridor shall be unobstructed by booths, easels or obstructions or impediments of any kind, except that ticket booths will be permitted provided they do not obstruct or reduce the required exit space.

Pictures or lithographs may be hung on the walls of the principal entrance corridor, provided that they do not project more than six inches into the corridor and that they do not project into the required width of the entrance corridor. In addition unframed lithographs may be suspended from above, provided that the lower edges do not come within seven feet of the floor.

A platform will be permitted in lieu of a stage of not more than eight feet in depth, but no movable scenery can be employed in such a case.

It is specified that all fuses and switches shall be enclosed in boxes surrounded by two thicknesses of fire-proof material. All electrical equipment shall be installed subject to the approval of the Department of Labor and Industry. No lights of any kind save electricity may be employed in a theatre, and all wiring shall be carried in properly grounded conduits.

AN interesting regulation is that every part of a theatre "shall be lighted during all exhibitions and until the entire audience has left the premises so that a person with normal eyesight shall be able to read Snellem's Standard Test Type (40) at a distance of 20 feet, and type (30) at a distance of 10 feet; normal eyesight meaning ability to read type (20) at a distance of 20 feet in daylight. Theatre men are wondering whether this means the lights cannot be turned out during the display of a picture. Cards showing types 20, 30 and 40 shall be displayed in the principal corridor or hallway, together with a copy of this regulation."

Portable motion picture machine booths will not be permitted in any theatres in Pennsylvania. Specific regulations are made governing the number of exits, fire prevention devices and so forth, and detailed technical instructions are given for the guidance of architects in planning practically all features of theatre construction. Only hot water or steam heating systems will be permitted and there are specific instructions as to width of aisles, numbers of exits and arrangement of courts on the lot on which a theatre is built.

One provision which is practically certain to be made mandatory is: "Before work shall be commenced on the erection of any motion picture theatre, the owner shall submit to the Department of Labor and Industry at Harrisburg, two complete sets of plans from architect's drawings, and such plans shall be approved by the department before such work shall be commenced. Where all information as to the character of the work and materials is not indicated on the plans, separate specifications shall accompany the plans.

"All plans not accompanied by details drawn to a scale of at least three-eighths shall be drawn to a scale of at least one-eighth of an inch, and shall show accurately and clearly the location and dimensions of the building and of the lot upon which it is situated, and the location and dimensions of all the exits, aisles, passageways and standing space; the length and width of each part of the building; all elevations showing inclines and floor pitch; the arrangement of the seats showing the number of rows and the number of seats in a row, together with the dimensions of the seats and distance between rows; also the dimensions of floor beams and wall supports." All radiators and projections in side walls shall be clearly indicated, and also the location and construction of the heating plant, motion picture machine booth, lighting apparatus and electric wiring, and all fire equipment.

"WHEN any theatre shall have been completed and ready for occupancy, before it may be opened to the public it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, lessee or proprietor to first file with the department of Harrisburg an affidavit stating that such theatre has been erected in accordance with the plans as approved by the department."

The Industrial Board consists of: George S. Comstock, Mechanicsburg; James C. Cronin, Philadelphia; John P. Wood, Philadelphia; Mrs. Samuel Semple, Titusville; John Price Jackson, chairman, and Louis A. Irwin, acting secretary.

The members of the committee who made the recommendations on which the new rules are based, are: Edgar A. Wiemer, president, Pennsylvania State Building Code Commission, Lebanon; Edwin Clark, chief, Bureau of Building Inspection, Philadelphia; S. A. Dies, chief, Bureau of Building Inspection, Pittsburgh; W. Clarence Beatty, 347 Fifth avenue, Pittsburgh; L. W. Rittenhouse, president, Pittsburgh Exhibitors League Protective Association, Pittsburgh; James Delves, secretary, Motion Picture Exhibitors Association, Pittsburgh; George W. Bennethum, Inter-State Film Company, Reading; Samuel F. Wheeler, Philadelphia Exhibitors League Protective Association, Philadelphia; M. H. Hite, Pennsylvania Federation of Labor, Harrisburg; W. T. Stewart, American Seating Company, Philadelphia; C. Harry Kain, architect, Harrisburg; William H. Hoffman, The Hoffman Company, architects, Philadelphia; J. S. Mallory, fire marshal, Philadelphia; J. William Morgan, deputy state fire marshal, Harrisburg; Wm. Walter Johnston, supervising expert, Pennsylvania State Building Code Commission, Lebanon; R. M. Pennock, mechanical engineer, Department of Labor and Industry, Harrisburg; J. H. Walker, civil engineer, department of Labor and Industry, Harrisburg; Lew R. Palmer, chairman, chief inspector, Department of Labor and Industry, Harrisburg.

V. H. BERGHAUS, JR.

Edison Wrecks Trains for Thriller

WHEN Charles Brabin, the Edison director, set out for Long Island a few days ago with his three cameramen and a group of Edison players to film a train wreck scene for a multiple release, "The President's Special," his one thought was of the enormous and unprofitable expense that would be incurred if his plans should in any way become frustrated. But Brabin was relieved of all worry after a beautiful take had been made of one of the most thrilling train wrecks ever reproduced on film.

THE WRECK FOR "THE PRESIDENT'S SPECIAL," EDISON MULTIPLE

The engineers, jumping into prepared beds along the tracks while the two trains were speeding at the rate of forty miles an hour toward each other, the collision and the splintered fragments flying in all directions, were all gotten by the cameramen. Fortunately, no one was injured, not even Gertrude McCoy, who shot down the side of a mountain in her automobile and along an unleveled road at breakneck speed in a race with the train in a vain effort to avert the collision. When the machine struck a bump in the road it bounded six feet in the air and upon reaching the ground was heading straight for a tree. With her indomitable nerve and presence of mind Miss McCoy clung to the wheel and steered the machine back on the road to continue the race.

Miss McCoy is reputed to be a daring autoist, and manages her car through congested sections of the city with skill.

Rochester Expects Harmony With Neff Out

W. A. Hubbard, Mentioned for Secretaryship at Dayton, Considers Organization Prospects Bright—His City Stayed with the Parent Association

Special to THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS.

Rochester, N. Y., July 15.

W. A. HUBBARD, one of the representatives of Rochester at the national gathering of motion picture men, has returned to his home well pleased at many of the things accomplished at the recent Dayton convention.

Mr. Hubbard was mentioned for the office of secretary, after the man who was elected to that place declined to serve, but pressure was brought to bear on the man honored with that office, and he, at length, gave his consent to accept the nomination for the office.

The election of a candidate, to whom those opposed to M. A. Neff can have no objection, is expected to work wonders toward bringing all the factions together, so that they can work in harmony for the good of the business.

Raising the suspension on those who left the New York state body is expected to bring these men back into line.

"It remains to be seen what can be accomplished," said Mr. Hubbard, "but I think the prospects are bright for a year of harmony, in view of the action of the convention."

Rochester is one of the cities of the state whose motion picture men all remained with the parent organization, and who refused to side with the bolters. Anything that may tend to bring the two factions together will be welcomed by them, and they look for much good to come from the action of the convention in electing a new set of officers.

ARTHUR R. TUCKER.

MONTANA EXHIBITORS HOLD FIRST CONVENTION

Drop "Theatrical" from Official Title, Change Name to "Montana Exhibitors League" and Will Apply for Admission to National Body—Last Year's Officers Re-elected—Will Treat with Film Exchanges on Questions of Rebating

Special to THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS

Butte, Mont., July 15.

LAST year's officers were re-elected at the first annual convention of the Montana Theatrical and Exhibitors League. They are as follows: President, Philip Levy, of the Ansonia Amusement Company, Butte; vice-president, A. Heinecke, of the Bijou Theatre, Lewistown; secretary treasurer, C. W. Eckhardt, of the Lyric Theatre, Butte; directors at large, Frank N. Jones, Star Theatre, Billings; E. P. White, Alcazar Theatre, Livingston; H. E. Rehfield, Miles Theatre, Miles City, and H. O. Clark, Alcazar Theatre, Great Falls.

President Levy offered his resigna tion, but it was refused and he was unanimously re-elected.

Mr. Eckhardt, who has been acting secretary during the convention in the absence of William Cutts, the first secretary-treasurer, was confirmed in office.

The convention closed with a banquet given Monday night, July 8, by Mr. Levy and W. S. Woody, manager of the General Film Company in this state, at the Silver Bow Club to the exhibitors and their wives.

THE name of the league was changed. It will in future be known as the Montana Exhibitors League.

The word "Theatrical" was dropped from the old name because it had prevented affiliation with the Motion Picture Exhibitors League of America, the national body.

Mr. Levy will make application for a charter without delay to President Pearce, of Baltimore, Md.

Later Mr. Levy will appoint a committee to consult the coming state legislature on laws to govern exhibitors and protect the public. A field man to bring all exhibitors in the state into the league will be appointed.

Co-operation with film exchanges to secure rebates on the cost of the regular service during the showing of feature subjects was decided on.

FOLLOWING the banquet the visitors were entertained at the Empress, the Ansonia and the American theatres. The banquet opened at 7 o'clock, and was purely informal.

The two-day convention, which is the first annual in Montana, opened at 2 o'clock, July 7, when Philip Levy, incumbent president, made his annual address. In the course of it Mr. Levy said:

"I bid you all a hearty welcome to our city, and, on behalf of the citizens of this community, extend to you during your visit a cordial invitation to enjoy the freedom of the city of Butte.

"In extending this welcome to you I cannot help but make a few suggestions which I trust may be of some assistance and guidance to you in your deliberations.

"Our organization is about to celebrate its first annual convention. While we are only in existence since October last, we haven't had time to accomplish very much; however, I think a great deal of good has been done which is evident by the proper spirit which you have shown.

"In passing, I think it is but fitting to observe that, since our last meeting, our secretary and treasurer, William Cutts, has left the city and is now a resident of Spokane. I trust his residence there is only temporary, as he was a faithful worker while here and aided considerably in endeavoring to fulfil all objects for which our league was organized. Let us hope that he will be with us again, but, in the meantime, it is incumbent upon us to elect a new secretary and treasurer, as well as a new president, as I do not feel that I am in any position to again serve you in that capacity.

"I BELIEVE at this time we should take some steps for the election of men to the legislature and to the various municipal bodies in the state who will aid in securing the passage of laws looking to the betterment of conditions generally as regards moving picture shows.

"There is much legislation which should be enacted which will affect both the moving picture exhibitor and the public, and will result in the betterment of conditions generally if enacted. Without discussing the matter of those laws, I sincerely trust you will take some action along those lines at this time.

"Another thing which I think should be considered at this time is the question of less confusion, less conflict, and more harmony among the various exhibitors in the state. This is a matter which should and can be easily remedied. All that is necessary is for each of us to indulge in the 'give-and-take' spirit.

MONTANA LEAGUE AND STATE ASSOCIATION MEN AT BUTTE CONVENTION

From left to right: G. H. Howard, of Big Timber, Mont.; Philip Levy, president of State League; C. W. Eckhardt, secretary-treasurer; A. Heinecke, vice-president; Lewis E. Freeman, Great Falls.

"Forget all ideas of trying to outdo your competitors; forget all ideas of trying to make the public believe that you are the only exhibitor in the community who is showing moving pictures well worth the money and proceed upon the theory that your competitor is giving 'value received' the same as you are, and that you are all engaged in trying to uplift the moving picture business, as well as trying to give something to the public which will add to their amusement. Make this your motto: 'Be a competitor, but not a fighter, with you fellow-exhibitors.'

"In extending this welcome to you it was not and is not my intention to make a speech, but these observations occurred to me while extending to you this welcome, and I deem them of sufficient interest to make these few suggestions at this time. Again I assure you that the freedom of the city is yours and that it is with the greatest degree of pleasure that I welcome you."

PLACING THE BLAME

Special to The Motion Picture News.

Syracuse, July 16.

In many quarters it has become a habit to attribute a fire in the neighborhood of a motion picture theatre to the ignition of films. But if a thorough investigation were conducted in the majority of such cases, no doubt the people always so ready to lay the blame on picture theatres would find that the accidents were frequently due to other causes.

Edward Smith, the local police censor of motion pictures, while passing the big Crescent Theatre building, on South Salina street, noticed smoke pouring from the windows of a tailoring place on the second floor front.

Running upstairs, he got a small boy, lifted him over the transom, and instructed him to open the door.

Someone had left the current turned on in an electric flatiron and the table caught fire.

SHOW FIRST RUNS OF SERIALS

Special to The Motion Picture News.

Syracuse, N. Y., July 16.

The Savoy Theatre is showing all of the big serials and first-run at that, with the exception of the "Million Dollar Mystery" which is showing at the Eckel Theatre first.

Harold MacGrath, author of the series, attended the first showing of the "Million Dollar Mystery" at the Savoy and it was necessary to use force in order to handle the crowds.

Los Angeles Censor Wants Federal Board

Chairman of Municipal Board Advocates Federal Control—Thinks Men and Women Should be Appointed Through Civil Service

Special to The Motion Picture News

Los Angeles, July 13.

CENSORSHIP of all films by a national board under supervision of the federal government is urged as the necessity of the present time and the future by Mrs. E. K. Foster, who has been chairman of the Los Angeles municipal board of censors, since its organization three years ago.

"Place sufficient power in the hands of one disinterested body of men and women appointed by civil service and with recommendations as to their fitness, and the question of censorship will be solved," are the views of this censor.

The conditions of the present day, because of no head, causes unnecessary expense and duplication of work which could be reduced to a mere nothing if cared for by a federal board, Mrs. Foster believes.

"In Los Angeles is a body of seven who take turns about viewing films, and then all get together and look over and discuss what should be eliminated," the Los Angeles chairman said concerning the work of the censor board. "Elimination of all that is bad, in our opinions, we recommend. If the exchange people refuse we can then take the matter up with the city prosecutor who has the power, under the ordinance, to order the section taken out. In very few cases has the prosecutor been called upon, as we have at all times tried to work in harmony with the film men and they have always been very courteous and obliging.

"But it takes a lot of time to look over on the average of twenty reels of pictures each day, and some of the members have suffered from eye strain, and all for the sake of insuring the public that they will see no immoral, sordid, or horrible films. With the exception of the secretary, who receives seventy-five dollars per month which must include cost of stationery, postage, and other minor expenses, the members of the board serve without pay. Another disagreeable feature is that exhibitors, film exchange men, and the public do not look at all matters pertaining to the work in the same light, and consequently the censor board rooms have proven a clearing house for objections of all.

"This censorship work is a thankless task, necessary because of the absence of a state or federal body with power for the rightful supervision of motion pictures."

Mrs. Foster and Judge A. P. Tugwell, president of the Southern California Motion Picture Men's Association, and national vice-president of the International Motion Picture Association, are the only members of the board who have served since its organization. Judge Tugwell is interested in a local film exchange.

The other members are: Miss Florence Moore, secretary; Mrs. P. G. Hubert, and Mrs. Mary N. Whipple, prominent in matters pertaining to civic improvement, education, and women's clubs; E. T. Jorgensen, whose duties as reporter on an afternoon newspaper prevent him from attending meetings; and E. T. Parsons, a retired business man who cannot serve regularly because of defective sight.

J. G. Jessen.

Union Musicians Cause Trouble in Elizabeth

Fred Ritz, Jr., Engages Two, and Hires a Non-Union Piano Player When One Fails to Appear— Laborites Object

Special to The Motion Picture News.

Elizabeth, N. J., July 16.

FRED RITZ, Jr., manager of the Roof Garden Theatre, at 51-53 Broad street, has been experiencing some trouble with the musicians' union. Recently Mr. Ritz engaged a union orchestra to entertain the audiences in the garden on the roof of his theatre, but it was found that the orchestra was not appreciated as much as the piano alone, so it was eliminated. Then the manager tried to get two union piano players.

One was hired and he promised to get another, but at the eleventh hour the second man failed to show up and a hurry call for another player was sent to New York. The result was that a woman was engaged and she was not a member of the union. The union ordered the male player to quit and he obeyed orders. Then a non-union man was hired to succeed him. Now, further action on the part of the union is being awaited.

Mr. Ritz says he is perfectly willing to hire union players but if these can't be secured, he is not going to cut out music from his program altogether just to oblige organized labor interests. John M. Hawkins.

FILM NEWS FROM FOREIGN PARTS

American Cowboy Pictures Popular with Spanish Audiences—No Educational Subjects Except in Conjunction with College Lectures—Admission Fee Low in Malaga—Local Exhibitors Rent All Films —Same Condition Prevails in Basel, Switzerland—The Swiss Like Indian and Wild West Plots

WITH the fullness and accuracy which characterize the investigations conducted by the United States government, the subject of the motion picture industry abroad has lately been under the scrutiny of American consuls in Europe. Three men, representatives of the trained commercial observers employed in our consular service, stationed at Madrid and Malaga, Spain, and Basel, Switzerland, respectively, have made a thorough investigation of the situation in their localities and forwarded reports to the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, Washington, D. C.

The information, comprising data carefully obtained by men whose duty it is to give home manufacturers and reporters accurate accounts of trade conditions abroad, appears in the current issue of the "Daily Consular Reports," published by the United States government. The motion picture articles follow:

MOTION picture theatres in the Madrid district usually have a seating capacity of 600 to 700, although there are two in this city which seat 1,000. In addition, when the regular theatres of Madrid have any week or period of time for which no plays are booked, they fill in with a special motion picture show, says Consul F. T. F. Dumont, Madrid, Spain.

We are told by the managers of motion picture theatres that they endeavor to show from 3,000 to 3,500 meters (9,800 to 11,500 feet) at each performance when but two a day are given. This amount of films may be made up of several plays or may be one play in several acts.

If there are but two sessions per day the afternoon performance begins at 5 to 5:30 and the evening at 10 to 11:30; otherwise a continuous performance beginning at 5:30 in the afternoon and running with slight intermissions to 1 a. m. is given.

In a several-film program, about 1,000 meters of film is new each day. Scenes from the new films are shown on billboards outside the theatre and along the streets in order to draw patronage, but always on colored posters.

Favored Subjects—Local Producers

The films most in favor are those made up from historical novels or incidents, such as "Quo Vadis?" "The Three Musketeers," "Spartacus," etc., following which come war, cowboy (American), detective, and intrigue films, then scenic, comic, educational, chases, etc.

The reading matter and announcements must always be in Spanish. Many makes of films from Europe and the United States are in use, but the French and Italian predominate. The only American films in great favor are those showing Far-West scenes with cowboys and particularly Indians.

Spanish children, who form half of the audiences, are extremely fond of Indian scenes. Other American films such as comic, drama, etc., are considered crude in gestures and actions compared with similar films from European manufacturers. Films showing weekly current events all over the world usually have one or two American scenes.

Educational films are little used. At the great universities occasional exhibitions are given by some lecturer, but none at the public schools.

There are no trade papers devoted to motion picture interests, and but two manufacturers of films in this consular district, which comprises nearly half of Spain. Of the two, Pathé Frères take Spanish scenes of all kinds, while the Union Cinematografica takes bullfights only.

Prices—Customs Duty

Most of the films shown are second hand, and prices for these are fixed by agreement according to the condition of the film. As to new films, the usual price for one 400 meters (1,300 feet) or less in length is 1 cent per meter (3.28 feet) the first three days and one-half of this amount after that time. For films over 400 meters in length, 3 or 4 cents (according to importance) the first three days, 2 cents per meter the next three, and after that time 1.6, 1.4 or 1.2 cents per meter according to agreement. The price for seats in the theatres is very low even for films like "Quo Vadis?" etc.

We are informed by the director of the Spanish customs that films either old or new are dutiable at 2 pesetas per kilo (about $0.175 per pound) net weight, while motion picture machines are dutiable as follows: The table at 0.50 pesetas per kilo or $0.0438 per pound, net weight; the optical part or parts at 10 pesetas per kilo, or $0.875 per pound, net weight; the balance of the machine at 3 pesetas per kilo or $0.263 per pound, net weight.

Films should be packed in tin boxes to arrive in good condition. No drawback is allowed on films re-exported.

Low Admission Fee at Malaga

THERE are three permanent motion picture theatres established in Malaga providing a combined total seating capacity for about 1,400 people, a new cinematograph theatre under construction which is expected to be opened in a month, and three theatres which are occasionally used for motion picture shows, says Vice-Consul Thomas R. Geary, Malaga, Spain. All these use electricity.

Performances commence at 8 o'clock every night, including Sunday, and last until about midnight. Matinee performances are given on Sundays and holidays and are well attended. The standard prices for the best seats in the Malaga theatres is 30 centimos (about 6 cents); general admissions are 15 centimos (3 cents), while soldiers and children are admitted for 10 centimos (about 2 cents).

Higher prices are charged when colored films of great length or high artistic merit are exhibited. Among the films of this class recently shown, and which proved very popular, may be mentioned "Quo Vadis?" Spartacus," and "Antony and Cleopatra."

The films which have become most popular here of late are those which represent plays of a romantic or melodramatic nature. Local performances generally consist of three, four, or five short films of a varied nature followed by one or two longer romantic or melodramatic plays.

Some of the latter are shown in parts and continue for weeks or even months. From 1,800 to 2,000 meters (5,900 to 6,560 feet) of rented film are shown at each performance and approximately one-half of the program is changed daily; at one theatre a complete new program is a daily feature. The language reading on the films is always in Spanish.

Films are Uncensored

In the order of popularity the kinds of film shown at Malaga are historical, tragic, intrigue, war, love, spectacular, magic, comic, scenic, and manners and customs.

The Pathé Weekly Gazette is one of the most popular regular films shown here. Presentations of robberies, deeds of violence, and conflict between criminals and the police are frequently shown, there being no board of censors in this district. Educational and industrial films are exhibited from time to time and are reported to be fairly popular.

Films are seldom developed locally, as there is a lack of facilities for doing the work. Operators are sent by the larger producing companies to take pictures for local theatres whenever anything of special interest occurs.

Bullfight films, showing well-known toreadores, are among the most popular films depicting events of national or local interest. As the local theatre owners can not afford to purchase films outright all their reels are rented from French, Italian, German, or the few Spanish houses engaged in film production. The owners of the local theatres state that their weekly program costs from $160 to $180.

Films of French manufacture are more in evidence than any other make, and among these Pathé, Gaumont, and Nordisk are considered the best.

The Italian films exhibited here are produced by Pasquali and Aqulla Selig. American films produced by the Edison Company, the American Vitagraph, the Biograph, and American Kinema are frequently seen and very well received, although they can not be shown as often as theatre owners would like on account of the heavy expense involved in getting them.

Practically all Films Rented

BASEL, a city of 145,000 population, has eight motion picture theatres, all private enterprises, according to Consul Philip E. Holland, Basel, Switzerland. The daily programs consist of 5,250 to 5,900 feet of films, the performance opening at 2:30 p. m. and closing at 10:30 p. m., with changes weekly either on Thursday or Saturday. Machines and lights are operated by electricity.

Practically all films shown in Basel are rented from agencies in Zurich, Geneva, or Berlin. As most of the theatres are conducted by men who own like theatres in other cities rental contracts for films are usually made to run for several weeks.

Some of those owning several theatres occasionally buy films for their own use and afterwards sell or rent them to smaller concerns. The larger picture theatres are also agents for, or dealers in, complete motion picture outfits.

The best patronized films are those with detective plots or American Indian and Wild West themes. These are usually American films. Others come in favor in the following order: magic, scenic, comic, and love and intrigue. While the Swiss enjoys to the fullest extent the tragic in music he likes the melodramatic in motion pictures least of all. No American films are received direct, but are obtained through European agencies. The film language should be in German.

Weekly Rental Charges

Makes of films now being shown are Gaumont, Pathé, Eclipse, Pasquali, Bioscope, Edison, Imp, Eiko, Meester, and Projektion. Rental prices for films vary. For the better grade of films 4 cents a foot is paid for the first week, with a declining scale to one-fourth of 1 cent a foot for the last week.

The average lease for a film is for 10 weeks, 15 weeks being the maximum. In some cases where there is a demand for special features as much as 10 to 15 cents a foot is paid per week for films.

There are a few private owners of motion picture cameras in Basel, who occasionally take special local features such as carnivals, pageants, festivals, sports, etc.

Motion pictures have not been generally introduced into schools and other educational institutions except in cases of medical and geographical demonstrations. A cantonal law is being prepared restricting the admittance of children to motion picture theatres.

Some Swiss Cantons have already enacted restrictive measures. One theatre in Basel censors its own films and does not permit children to see pictures indiscriminately.

Motion picture cameras are sold in Basel only by the managers of the theatres who act as agents.

Lists of names of theatres and of renting agencies that accompanied the foregoing reports may be had from the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce and its branch offices in Washington, D. C.

"Evangeline" Pageant Should Tempt Film Men

Direct Descendents of the Acadians Will Take Part in the Production a Year Hence—Will Have Nova Scotia Local Color.

Special to The Motion Picture News.

New Orleans, July 15.

A SPLENDID opportunity for some motion picture concern to make a film of the story of "Evangeline" at little expense is to be offered at a great celebration to be held at Lafayette, La., next year to commemorate the one hundred and sixtieth anniversary of the expulsion of the Acadians from Nova Scotia by the English. The celebration will be held in the latter part of May or the early part of June, 1915, in connection with the closing exercises of the Louisiana Industrial Institute.

At a meeting of the leading Acadians of the parish—which corresponds to a county in other states—and of other parishes through Louisiana, there has been organized the Acadian Pageant Company, which will have control of the festival. The company has been capitalized at $1,200 and 400 shares will be sold at $3 each to pay the preliminary expenses of the pageants.

The following men compose the board of directors: E. L. Gilchrist, Dr. E. L. Stephens, Judge William Campbell, Major P. L. DeCluet, Julian Mouton, C. O. Mouton, C. M. Parkerson, Dave Pelletier, J. P Colomb, Dr. F. E. Girard, Dr. R. D. Voorhies, Florent Sontag, Dr. N. P. Moss, B. F. Martin, T. M. Boissat, R H. Broussard, J. Sosthene Martin, Louis Chopin, A. A. McBride, F. G. Mouton, R. C. Creig, Judge R. W. Elliot, George Crouchet, Dr. H. L. Ducrocq, and Jerome Mouton.

The board elected the following officers: President, Dr. E. L. Stephens; vice-president, P. L. DeCluet; secretary-treasurer, J. J. Fournet.

An artist has already been sent to Nova Scotia to study carefully the scenes so that the local color of the pageant will be produced correctly. It is the aim of the men interested to employ only direct descendants of the Acadians in the pageants, and so far as possible the various characters will be represented by those in direct line. The production being by amateurs, it is not expected that the cost of production will be great, beyond the employment of a director.

THOSE who have not read Longfellow's great poem for a long time have probably forgotten that the story is a true one and that Evangeline and the Acadians did seek refuge in the then French Louisiana, after the English had defeated the French and they were driven from their Acadian homes. The southern center of Louisiana was settled by them and three of the parishes, Evangeline, Acadia and Terrebonne (good land) and dozens of towns have the names they brought with them.

It is proposed that this series of pageants shall picture the life of the people from their days in Acadia through the dramatic events of their expulsion, their journey through the wilderness and down the Mississippi to Louisiana and portray their loyalty and courage in the face of disaster and their final success. Evangeline will of course be the central figure and the story will have all of its dramatic features.

R. E. Pritchard.

The Exhibitors' Forum

THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS assumes no responsibility for any opinion or assertion made in the columns below, nor does the publication of a letter mean that the statements it contains are endorsed by the NEWS. All letters must be signed. No attention will be paid to anonymous communications.

President Pearce Replies

Maryland State Branch No. 36 of the Motion Picture Exhibitors League of America

Baltimore, Md., July 13.

Editor, THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS,
New York City.

Dear Sir:—It has just been my pleasure to read (in your editorial column of the issue of July 18) your comments on the recent election in Dayton, Ohio, and especially to note the good wishes, and offers of unstinted support of THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS for the new officers of the league.

I want you to know that the spirit and attitude expressed in these paragraphs are appreciated to the fullest degree, by each and every one of the newly elected officers, and I want to thank you for myself, and in their behalf.

You surely struck the keynote of the situation when you say that what "we should have, is the undivided, whole-souled co-operation of every exhibitor" and by the same token, wish to express our sincere thanks for your proffered assistance along the lines indicated by you.

With best wishes, I remain,

Yours truly,

MARION S. PEARCE,

President Motion Picture Exhibitors League of America.

High Time for Organization

THE following letter, which has been forwarded to us through the courtesy of Samuel Trigger, is printed as an evidence of the necessity of exhibitor organization, the one thing which is able to cope with just such emergencies.

The exhibitor needs such service badly. We believe the new national organization and the new kind of state organization to be, will be fully able to render such assistance as this incident demands:

Mr. Samuel Trigger,
New York City.

Dear Sir:—You no doubt will be surprised on receipt of this letter, but we are in trouble and we need your assistance.

We have been open Sundays in Binghamton for the past ten months, and now the mayor has notified us to close up Sundays on the advice of his corporation counsel. We have decided to fight the authorities and are determined to keep open. We are willing to do all we can as a unit, hut don't you think that the league ought to be willing to come along and help us fight this hattle, as you know if we win this, it will mean a victory for the exhibitors of the whole state; and if we lose it will mean a loss to all the exhibitors of the state.

Kindly advise on receipt of this letter what your league will he willing to do; as this is your opportunity to show the actual henefit of the league. Kindly advise me if you would care to come down to Binghamton or would you want me to come down to see you and what can he done in regard to this matter.

Please do not delay in answering as this Sunday we will be forced to close up, and we have to get right in the harness and try to do what we can to stop them from interfering with our husiness.

Very truly yours,

NED KORNBLITE.

The Symphony Theatre Company of Binghamton, N. Y.

Proud to be a Leaguer Now

Editor, The Motion Picture News,
New York City.

Dear Sir:—Up to now, I have been one of the most lukewarm exhibitors in the Motion Picture Exhibitors League of America, and even proud of my indifference to an organization I thought could do no one in it any good.

To-day I am equally proud to say that I am all enthusiasm over the future of the league, now that we are one united and truly national organization once more. We are strong where we were weak, and able to carry our wishes and desires into effect, and provide for our needs as exhibitors, instead of passing resolutions that weren't worth the paper they were written on, so far as bringing the desired result about went.

Three cheers for the men who made it possible to evolve harmony out of discord and order out of chaos.

Three cheers for the "harmony apostles!" three cheers for the league executive committee!

And three cheers for ex-President Neff! He may have been forced to retire as he did, but all honor to him for yielding with good grace when the moment of necessity came, instead of carrying the fight on, and possibly shattering the league to a thousand bits.

Another year should see us powerful, prosperous and pushing forward to big things. I believe we can now look the censorship bugaboo in the face and send it packing.

We are now a body that the manufacturers will respect and the public as well.

Once more, I say I am proud to-day to be an exhibitor and a member of the Motion Picture Exhibitors League of America.

Truly yours,

A DOUBTING THOMAS.

Rochester License Examinations Severe

Nearly Fifty Per Cent of the Applicants Fail to Pass Tests for Operating Projection Machines—Other Tests to Be Held

Special to THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS
Rochester, N. Y., July 16.

THAT the requirements for obtaining a license to operate motion picture machines in this city are strict, and that many of those who have been operating machines are unable to meet them, is shown by the report of the new commission, recently appointed by Mayor H. H. Edgerton to examine applicants. About fifty per cent of those who tried the first examination failed.

The ratings have been sent out by Fire Marshal Wheeler, who conducted the examination. Thirty-three candidates tried the first test held by the commission, and of that number but seventeen succeeded in passing.

Those who failed will be given other opportunities to try the examination and to obtain licenses.

So far as is known, the commission has not required anyone formerly operating a machine to give up his position because of a failure to pass the examination. After one or two more tests have been held, and the candidates given every opportunity to obtain licenses, it is likely that those who have found it impossible to pass the examination satisfactorily will be barred from operating machines.

ARTHUR R. TUCKER.

INCREASES CAPITAL STOCK

The Eagle Feature Film Company, which has just been reorganized has increased its capital stock from $3,000 to $32,000.

The following officers were elected: Chas. H. Stremer, president; Chas. J. Swan, treasurer, and G. R. Linderman, secretary.

THANHOUSER SERIAL A HIT IN CAPITAL

Special to The Motion Picture News

Washington, D. C., July 16.

"The Million Dollar Mystery" is making a big hit in Washington. The story is running in the "Times," and so great was the demand for the initial installments that the papers were exhausted long before the demand for copies could be supplied.

In order to satisfy the motion picture fans, The "Times" generously printed thousands of copies of the first two installments, which were given free to those applying at the office of the paper or at any newsstand. This was done to give the Washington public as much chance as possible to win that $10,000 prize.

Gardner Mack, the motion picture editor of the "Times," is adding stimulation and encouragement in his editorials. It was only a few weeks ago that some of the Thanhouser players were in Washington taking some scenes of "The Million Dollar Mystery." The picture and the prize have certainly caught the fans of Washington.

WILL HANDLE "CABIRIA" IN AUSTRALIA

J. D. Williams, recently appointed general American representative of the Hugh D. McIntosh enterprises, has closed a deal by which his company will handle "Cabiria" in Australia.

This is a rather auspicious beginning for Mr. Williams. "Quo Vadis?" is said to have cleared more than $100,000 for its Australian promoter.

The new McIntosh offices in the Strand Building are at present the scene of great activity among film men. At present plans are under way for creating an international film circuit which will take in the biggest film men of this country, Canada, England, the Continent, and Australia.

KLEINE WITHDRAWAL RUMOR UNFOUNDED

The withdrawal from the General Film Company of George Kleine, reported from Washington, D. C., two weeks ago and since circulated throughout the trade with the rapidity characteristic of mere rumor, has no foundation in fact.

Instead of contemplating any such move, Mr. Kleine is planning to release all his productions through the General Film exchanges.

RAY WINS RECOGNITION

Charles Ray, of the N. Y. M. P. Company, is winning recognition for his varied delineations of character. He has been playing leads ever since he went into pictures.

Goldfish Predicts Passing of the Features

Declares that in Europe as Well as America Small Exhibitors will be Compelled to Use Diversified Program

"FEATURES will cease to exist. Productions are the thing of the future."

That, and other sentiments prophesying radical changes in the film market, were recently expressed by Samuel Goldfish, of the Jesse L. Lasky Film Company, upon his return from a business trip through Europe.

Abroad Mr. Goldfish worked to successful completion plans for a new and more sound comercial system of film distribution among European exhibitors. The chief feature of this new method of marketing films abroad consists of renting the prints through foreign agencies representing the American firm, instead of selling the films outright.

"This radical departure," Mr. Goldfish explained, "is made with a view to the best interests of the business generally. Heretofore, manufacturers have been content to dispose of prints outright to European buyers. That ended their responsibility. We propose to share the full burden of care in the exhibition of all our productions.

"The European market in many respects is similar to that in the United States. There is a surplus of so-called features. What Europe needs are productions. Exhibitors there constantly pay for alleged features, of from three to five and six reels in length, telling a story that could easily be depicted in one reel, or two at the most.

"The time is close at hand when the exhibitor with the small theatre will find himself in financial straits.

"The general trend of the market, from present indications, will eventually compel the exhibitor with the small theatre to confine himself almost exclusively to a diversified program of one and two reel subjects. This will give him a big advantage over the feature houses. The class of people preferring diversity in entertainment will patronize him. Those seeking a certain uniformity in a show will go to the big theatres presenting the bigger productions. This same evolution was experienced in both the vaudeville and legitimate fields some years ago. We now have vaudeville at two dollars a seat, with 'big time' acts, and a parallel show at ten and fifteen cents.

"European film conditions in many respects reflect the trend of the American market. There is the same gluttonous calibre of 'fly-by-nights,' who book anything and everything in any theatre they can, caring nothing for the welfare of the exhibitor; the same lack of solid commercial judgment; the same competition between large and small theatres, and just as keen and hard-fought as here.

"Art and quality will finally triumph in this, as in other businesses. After the final struggle between quantity and quality, the survivors—the real business men—will make faster progress and enjoy greater prosperity than ever before."

Milwaukee Fans Balk at Quarter Admission

Features Not Popular at Advanced Prices—Hard Fight to Keep the Orpheum Opened

Special to The Motion Picture News

Milwaukee, July 14.

THE Saxe Brothers have at last given up their losing fight to establish a twenty-five-cent picture house in Milwaukee. Sunday sees their Orpheum Theatre, which since spring has been housing some of the biggest feature-film attractions, go back to continuous vaudeville at ten cents.

Though heavily advertised and boosted in every possible way, the feature films did not seem to go, and though the house had a wonderfully successful opening in "The Drug Terror," which held them out to the street all week, succeeding weeks did not hold up, and it looks very much as though the oft-repeated prediction that Milwaukee would not pay "two bits" for its pictures has come true.

This passing of the Orpheum as a feature house, following close upon the heels of the Davidson, is rather a blow to the feature men, who figured on reaping a rich harvest in Milwaukee this year.

One thing the experiment at the Orpheum Theatre did demonstrate very forcibly, and that was that Milwaukee does not take to the big spectacular productions any longer.

J. W. Martin.

INSTALL POWERS MACHINES

The Crescent Theatre, on Salina street, Kansas City, has just installed two Powers 6-A motor-drive machines.

LIVE WIRE EXHIBITORS

EDITOR'S NOTE.—It is the desire of "The Motion Picture News" to include under this heading novel advertising ideas, successful schemes in the management, decoration and equipment of the theatre—everything, in fact, done by the exhibitor to stimulate his trade. We invite every exhibitor to write us about any new enterprise he has; also to come to us for advice or information along any line. Address: Editor, "The Motion Picture News," 220 West Forty-second Street, New York City.

CLEVER LOBBY DISPLAY

THE Crescent Theatre, Syracuse, N. Y., is running the big Kalem masterpiece, "The Boer War," and Manager John Breslin conceived a clever lobby display which has attracted the attention of large crowds on the main street all day.

From a local decorating and flag company he borrowed about fifty flags of different nations, which he strung from the border of the marquise and which give a very pleasing effect as they blow back and forth.

In the very front of the lobby is stationed a mammoth big Gatling gun of the very latest type, loaned by the local militia, and around it on both sides and in the rear are stacked Mauser rifles, flags, canteens and other war implements.

Everybody stops, looks at the death-dealing instruments and then turn toward the posters to see just what it all means.

LIVE WIRE OPERATORS

THE dictagraph has been put to many novel uses since it was first brought into fame by a certain well-known detective, but probably none as unusual as that to which Operators Frank Paradise and George Essmay, of the Alhambra Theatre, Milwaukee, Wis., have put it. The Alhambra Theatre is Milwaukee's largest playhouse and the "coop" is located away up in the back of the top balcony, so far from the stage that it is impossible for the boys at the machines to hear what the fifteen-piece orchestra is playing.

All the music at the Alhambra is carefully selected to fit the particular scene that is being shown on the screen.

It was found, however, that the music lost much of its effectiveness if the film was run through the machine a bit faster or slower than the music, as all of the figures on the screen would be out of time. This proved an unsurmountable difficulty until the dictagraph was hit upon. Now, with one end on the stage and the other clamped over the operator's head, the pictures parade on and off the screen in perfect accord with the music.

SNATCHING VICTORY FROM DEFEAT

MANAGER NEWBURG, of the Forest Park Theatre, New York City, tells an interesting story of business building. The Forest Park Theatre opened up about six months ago at 1118 Jamaica avenue, under the ownership of J. Linker, J. Herlin, and J. Weber.

"At first," said Mr. Newburg, "we did a good business; but very quickly the receipts began to drop off until we found ourselves barely making expenses. Our seating capacity is 600 and we were showing to a monotonously large proportion of empty seats.

"Competition was heavy. We were surrounded by motion picture theatres, some of them much larger than ours. We simply couldn't overcome their lead on us.

"After nearly five months had passed without improvement the proprietors began to feel discouraged. One night Jaques Spiegel dropped in, and suggested to Mr. Linker that something might be done by raising the standard of our program. Mr. Linker was skeptical, but finally decided to give the service offered by Warner's Features a trial.

"We accordingly arranged to exhibit a number of Warner's Features. We made good use of the helps furnished with each feature—heralds, lobby displays, slides, lithographs.

TYPICAL POSTER DISPLAY AT THE FOREST PARK THEATRE, NEW YORK and so forth—showing them conspicuously and letting our public know what we had. From the first day we played to a constantly increasing attendance. Now, six weeks later, instead of having empty seats, we are turning patrons away. Our house is crowded to capacity at almost every performance.

"Our box-office figures, show that our business has increased 70 per cent since we booked Warner's Features."

LOCAL FILM CROWDS HOUSE

A MASTER stroke for getting business was executed recently by J. A. Ludington, manager of the Rex Theatre, at 921 Main street, Boise, Idaho, when he put on several films of local pictures in addition to the regular program. The pictures marked important events in the history of the city this spring, the first dealing with the dedication of Lincoln Hall at the Soldiers Home; the second Easter Sunday at the First Methodist church; third, the high school field day and track meet, and last the May Day festival at Cody Park, in which 1,200 children took part.

Advertising the event as a special attraction in the newspapers and on a tiny goat team which is driven about the streets giving the attractions at the Rex, certainly brought out the crowd, and for the three nights the local pictures were exhibited the theatre was crowded to its limit every performance. Each event had special interest to a special class, and so good were the pictures that they lined up their friends and took them on the second and even the third night, as many times the same faces were seen at the performances.

Mr. Luddington had contracted for all the local pictures made by C. E. Harvey, the Boise photographer, who recently engaged in the motion picture photography and whose pictures are to be shown at the Panama-Pacific Exposition in the Idaho building.

NEW SUBURBAN THEATRE FOR MILWAUKEE

Special to The Motion Picture News

Milwaukee, Wis., July 16

Dr. Oscar Strauss is planning the erection of a motion picture theatre at the corner of Third and Center streets. The house, which will seat 850, will be one of the most elaborate of the outskirt houses, it is said. The front will be finished in ornamental marble and terra cotta trimmings, with ornamental windows and stained glass marquise over the front entrance. Martin Tulgren & Sons are the architects.

Famous Players Will Produce Jones Dramas

Company Has Arranged to Bring Out Four of His Greatest Successes—American Concern Given Preference Over European Manufacturers.

SIR HENRY ARTHUR JONES, the celebrated English playwright, who arrived from London a few days ago, presumably for the purpose of making a study of dramatic conditions in America, recently visited the studios of the Famous Players Film Company, which will shortly release in feature film a number of Sir Henry's more noted successes.

The distinguished dramatist, who singled out the Famous Players from a number of other film producing concerns for the privilege of filming his works, took a keen interest in the activities at the West Twenty-sixth street studio, and became enthusiastic over a scene in the course of production from "Behind the Scenes," a play of theatrical life by Margaret Mayo, in the film version of which Mary Pickford will play the leading role.

He was taken through the various departments of the studio and factory, and expressed amazement at the wonderful manner in which the intricate mechanical agencies were correlated with the artistic branch of the hugh plant.

Sir Henry has for the past year been besieged by the leading producers of the world for the film rights of his famous successes. As under similar conditions in the cases of Charles Frohman and Henry W. Savage, the Famous Players finally succeeded, on the strength of the pretentious standard of its program, in securing these works.

It is a notable fact that an American concern should have obtained these plays of England's foremost dramatist, in the face of competing offers from the greatest foreign film producers.

SIR HENRY ARTHUR JONES AND DANIEL FROHMAN DISCUSSING THE FUTURE OF PHOTOPLAY

Among the plays by Henry Arthur Jones that will be produced in motion pictures by the Famous Players Film Company are "The Masquerader," "Saints and Sinners," "The Dancing Girl," and the most celebrated of all his works, "The Silver King," which has just been given a command performance before the King of England, and the film version of which is now being produced in that country under the direction of Edwin S. Porter and Hugh Ford.

TRENTON OPERATORS BALKED

Special to The Motion Picture News

Trenton, N. J., July 16

The strike of the operators here is almost at a standstill, because the leaders of the movement have been unable to close down the small houses. The leading theatres have complied with requests of the organization under the promise that the smaller theatres would be obliged to abide by the same ruling of paying $18 a week. But the leaders have been unable to force the issue with the smaller places.

The
Motion Picture News
MOVING PICTURE NEWS EXHIBITORS' TIMES
Published Every Week by
EXHIBITORS' TIMES, Inc.
220 West 42nd Street, New York City
Telephone Bryant 7650
Chicago Office.....604 Schiller Building
WM. A. JOHNSTON.....President
HENRY F. SEWALL.....Vice-President
E. KENDALL GILLETT.....Secretary
WENTWORTH TUCKER.....Treasurer

WM. A. JOHNSTON.....Editor
LESLEY MASON.....Managing Editor
WILLIAM RESSMAN ANDREWS.....News Editor
R. M. VANDIVERT.....Advertising Manager
E. J. HUDSON.....Circulation Manager
E. KENDALL GILLETT..... Business Manager
C. J. VERHALEN.....Chicago Manager

This publication is owned and published by Exhibitors' Times, incorporated under the laws of the State of New York. The offices and principal place of business are at 220 West 42nd Street, New York City. The address of the officers is the office of the publication.
Entered as Second-Class matter at the New York Post-Office.

Subscription $2.00 per year, postpaid in the United States, Mexico, Hawaii, Porto Rico and the Philippine Islands. Canada $3.00, Foreign $4.00 per year.
ADVERTISING RATES on application.

Copy for next issue must reach us by Wednesday 11 a. m.
For Releases see Pages 74, 76, 78, 80
For Buyers Guide See Page 71

Cuts and copy are received subject to the approval of the publishers and advertisements are inserted absolutely without condition expressed or implied as to what appears in the text portion of the paper.

Vol. X July 25, 1914 No. 3

An Important Movement

THE several meetings at Dayton, out of which grew the Motion Picture Manufacturers and Jobbers Exposition Committee, must not be misunderstood, nor should the movement be taken lightly.

Elsewhere in this issue the facts are given and the growth of the idea is explained.

The action was spontaneous.

Open dissatisfaction with the Dayton Exposition, coming, as it did, right after the Toronto fizzle, simply brought to the surface a feeling that had existed for at least two years; namely, the exposition and conventions, as they are now held, are extremely unprofitable for, and unduly burdensome upon, the man who pays for floor space.

* * *

EVERY one must admit that the manufacturer has been optimistic. Every state convention and national exposition has been overpromoted thus far.

The organizers were unintentionally over-confident—undoubtedly.

But the result was that the space-buyer overprinted and over-prepared himself generally, and in the end found he had paid the freight—and got very little in the way of delivery.

THE only answer is that something is decidedly wrong with the present method of holding expositions.

It should be stated here that the dissatisfaction expressed by the manufacturers deals rather with the state convention and not with the two big New York expositions.

The last New York exposition was very ably handled by those New York exhibitors, who gave freely of their time and energy and got practically nothing material in return.

They state frankly that some mistakes were made.

They have learned by the past and are now fully fitted to hold a successful business show.

And there was something to the good-natured remarks of an exhibitor at Dayton, when he said to the manufacturers:

"Now, gentlemen, you mustn't be poor losers. We're all in the show business. We exhibitors have to take chances, too."

* * *

BUT why take chances when it is unnecessary? Expositions as they are now run are of profit neither to exhibitor or manufacturer.

If these is any chance for profit, the outsider gets it.

Other industries are holding expositions of profit and satisfaction to all concerned—to retailers, jobbers and manufacturer. Why not in this industry?

* * *

THIS is how the manufacturers and dealers feel. They know that they must co-operate with the exhibitor.

They feel that they can co-operate and that they can secure space much cheaper and at the same time make a handsome profit out of the show for the exhibitors' organization.

* * *

ONLY one criticism was leveled at this movement at Dayton and that was inconsequential—namely that the meeting was not representative of the big film manufacturers. This is absurd.

It was fully representative of the manufacturers present at Dayton—a national exposition; and at any rate it was only held forth as a nucleus of a movement. Judging from the determination expressed by those present, it will be made general. Why not?

* * *

THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS believes that the ultimate solution of such difficulties will be through a National Board of Trade. But at least this step at Dayton is an important move toward sane and business-like co-operation.

A Regretted Departure

MERRITT CRAWFORD, who has been managing editor of this publication for several months, and whose able and faithful work has been visible in these pages, leaves us for new fields.

With him go our best wishes, our sincere appreciation and regrets which, we are proud to say, are mutually felt.

EGAN LEAVES ECLAIR TO JOIN RAMO

John S. Egan, manager of the Kineclair and educational departments for the Eclair Film Company, Inc., leaves Eclair Monday, July 20, to take up the duties of a new position as manager with the Ramo Film Exchanges in Montreal and Quebec.

JOHN S. EGAN

Mr. Egan has established an enviable reputation for himself while with the Eclair company, and he has had much to do with getting their Kineclair Home Projector in salable shape and has established Eclair educational films on a solid basis of popularity in America.

Mr. Egan will make his headquarters for Ramo films in Montreal and will have under his wing both that office and the exchange at Quebec, and it is expected through his energy and proven ability that Ramo productions will go through with a rush in the Canadian territory. The new Ramo exchange manager is a brother of Mrs. Agnes Egan Cobb.

WHISKEY MANUFACTURE IN PICTURES

Produced by the Industrial Moving Picture Company, Chicago, under the direction of J. Law Siple, the firm of E. H. Taylor, Jr. and Sons, of Frankfort, Kentucky, is dramatizing a play in connection with its exhibition of the Old Taylor plant.

As it is a well-known fact that Col. E. H. Taylor never does things by halves, it is expected that this film will attract considerable attention, as E. H. Taylor, Jr. and Sons are recognized throughout the country as extensive advertisers.

Horsley Prepares "Il Trovatore" for Screen

Making Special Sets for Elaborate Production—J. E. Pinto, Well Known Scenic Artist, Has Charge of Their Construction

THE announcement made in last week's issue of David Horsley's plan to produce seven one-reel comedies a week, to be released through twenty-nine special exchanges, was only a partial explanation of the activities of the Centaur studio at Bayonne, N. J., since the first of the year.

This work has been in charge of J. E. Pinto, the Italian scenic artist and sculptor, whose productions at the Scala, Milan, San Carlos, Naples, and later for certain Italian film concerns, have made him famous the world over. In some of these scenes, notably the Battle of Pelilla, as many as 600 people and 180 horses were used.

SCENE FROM "IL TROVATORE," NOW BEING PRODUCED IN SIX REELS BY THE CENTAUR FILM COMPANY

It now develops that a pretentious six-reel production of "Il Trovatore" has been in process of manufacture. The scenario of "Il Trovatore" is founded upon the original drama, "Leonora of Savilla," by Gatteres, and upon the famous Verdi opera, the libretto of which was written by Cammanaro. It was written by Charles Simone, under whose sole direction the picture is being made.

Perhaps the most notable among the many features of the production will be the elaborate and ponderous "interior-exteriors." It has long been one of David Horsley's ideas that more striking effects and a more accurate and concentrated unfolding of the plot can be obtained from skilfully planned artificial sets than from remote "natural" scenes and buildings. It is difficult, and often impossible, to get the proper arrangements of ready-made entrances, exits, backgrounds and sub-sets.

With this in mind, the Centaur studio and workshops have been busy since the first of the year building substantial castles, churches, convents, battlements, etc., and constructing accurate properties and costumes of the period, the early Sixteenth Century.

The cast of "Il Trovatore" consists of Jean Thrall, Agnes Mapes, Morgia Litton, Georgette Leland, Julia Hurley, Carolyn French, Lorma Russell, Grace Renard, Charles Trici, Frank Holland, Fred Loomis, George Bancroft, M. E. Hannafy and others. The picture is expected to be ready for release on August 1.

FRONTIER DAY CELEBRATION ON THE SCREEN

A company of Eclair players left the Western studio at Tucson, Ariz., on Friday, July 3, for Prescott, Ariz., to attend what is known as "Frontier Day Celebration," which is held each year during this month. This event annually draws thousands of people from all parts of California, Arizona and Texas. Among the Eclair players who journeyed to Prescott were Mildred Bright, Edna Payne, Joe Ryan, Herbert A. Myles and Hal Wilson. They took a complete motion picture of the doings during Frontier Day Celebration.

INVENTIONS
Trade Marks Patents

Conducted By
M. H. SCHOENBAUM

All inquiries pertaining to this department will be answered by Mr. Schoenbaum, either directly or through the columns of THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS.—Editor.
Address "Patent Editor," THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS, New York City.

Latest PATENT AND TRADE-MARK News

Patents and Trade-Marks Registered or Allowed Recently:

United States: Patents

1,101,629. Arc-Control Mechanism for Projectors. John L. Hall.

1,101,760. Mechanism for Exhibiting Illustrations, etc. Henry Seeman.

1,101,916. Motion Picture Machine, Harry L. Fischer.

1,101,948. Stereoscope. John J. Murphy.

1,102,028. Process of Making Colored Photographs. Rudolph Fischer.

1,102,030. Fire-Extinguishing Device. H. Fleming and T. Fleming.

1,102,172. Method for Taking Kinematographic Pictures. Carlo Sciamengo.

United States: Trade Marks

71,407. "Cineocolor" Moving Picture Machines, Kinetoscopes, Cameras, films, etc. Frederick W. Hochstetter.

France: Patents

469,575. Film. K. Windauer.

469,596. Film Manipulating Device. C. Bardou.

469,600. Tripods. E. Held and Werchnow.

469,775. Film Cooler. Aktiebolaget Ingeniors Filma. Fritz Egnell.

18969-438,374. Optical Device. Carl Zeiss.

18949-442,395. Safety Door. Rodrigues Gauthier et Cie.

469,880. Printing Process. A. Roth.

469,836. Focusing Device. T. Markwardt.

469,943. Color Cinematography. L. Boudreaux and L. Semat.

469,968. Optical Compensation in Cinematographs. Carl Zeiss.

470,028. Projection Apparatus. Ernemann.

470,038. Protecting Screen or Shutter. C. D. Weakly and A. A. Hughes.

470,057. Cinematograph. The Fenning Film.

470,085. Cinematograph. L. Kamm.

470,102. Cooler. Gaumont.

470,138. Cinematograph. H. Weinstock.

469,925. Plastic Products.

470,176. Color Cinematography. F. W. Donisthorpe.

18980—458,040. Color Cinematography. M. Audibert.

France: Trade Marks

491. "Lumina." Combined with a drawing. Cinematographic Films. Mazet and Georgerens.

155,999. "Odéon" Films, Cinematographic Apparatus, etc. Félix Jacobi.

156,038. "Film André Antoine" Films. Félix Jacobi.

156,039. "Film Antoine" Films. Félix Jacobi.

156,040. "Film Théatre Libre" Films. Félix Jacobi.

Great Britain: Patents

5437. Cinematographs. W. C. Vinten.

5440. Cinematographs. J. Campbell.

5535. Cinematographs. W. C. Vinten.

5538. Theatrical Appliances. L. McCormick.

5551. Film. J. Blondel.

5602. Toning, Intensifying. R. Fischer.

Germany: Patents

274,028. Cinematography. Huebner Bleistein Patents Company.

275,683. Color Cinematography. T. A. Mills.

275,551. Color Cinematography. J. E. Thornton.

274,192. Cinematography. Albert Sanders.

Trade Notes

New Trade Magazine

A new publication will shortly appear in Torino, Italy, under the name of "La Tecnica Cinematographica." It will be devoted mainly to questions of a technical character interesting the exhibitor and others in the trade.

Russian Customs Duty

Films are considered in Russia as manufactured articles of celluloid, and are therefore taxed 0.70 kopek a pound; in other words, about 20 cents per hundred feet, which amount is rather cheap if we consider that Russian film would have to pay about five times as much when entering the United States.

Change of Policy in French Trade Press

The French trade papers have recently adopted a double system of reviewing films. Besides the usual reviews, an expert analyzes every film, in the most simple language, but his plain words mean a great deal to the producer and also to the exhibitor.

The "Courrier" has among its staff one of the most interesting reviewers in the trade, Mr. E. Floury, who has been himself on the job for years, and who naturally knows what he is talking about. His criticism bears on all angles of the film production which are of practical interest.

Film Industry in Egypt

A new company has been organized in Alexandria by M. M. Ariz and Dorès for the production of films which will appear under the trademark "Oriental Film."

We invite the company in question to investigate, as the words oriental and film have already been employed as a trade-mark by Pathé Frères. I am told that it is a hard matter to find new words, and that in certain European countries people who are apt to invent new words belong to the National Academy and are considered Immortals.

German Film Companies Increase Capital

The "Projektions A. G. Union" of Berlin, which recently absorbed the Vitascope, is making efforts to increase its capital to 700,000 marks.

The "Deutsche Bioscope" raised the capital of the company from 340,000 to 550,000 marks. Mr. Lippmann, of Charlottenburg, is entrusted with the responsible direction of the company.

Interesting Educational Film

The Agricultural Department of Dusseldorf (Germany) which supervises more than fifty local schools, has placed an order with a German film company for a film which is to represent all types of agricultural machines employed for the last hundred years. The film will have to be ready before the opening of the exhibition, which will take place at Dusseldorf in 1915, when the film in question will be shown for the first time.

No Military Scenes for Germany

A German exhibitor of Wurzburg has been imprisoned for showing a film representing a military scene. The film had nothing immoral. It is said that the action was taken in accordance with the new German law, which considers the exhibitor who shows soldiers on the screen a military spy. The film has been confiscated.

No Religious Films in Germany

The Prefect of Police, Mr. von Jagow, of Berlin, having prevented the projection of a well-established and sincere religious film, the producers appealed to the Supreme Court in the hope of having the Prefect's decision reversed. The judges have unfortunately confirmed the Prefect's action, basing their decision on the fact that in 1913 a certain ruling decided that the only authority in similar cases was the Department of the Police.

Fifteen Theatres Closed in Germany

Fifteen theatres, all belonging to the "U. T." have closed doors. It is said that several others will do the same thing. Business seems extremely dull in Germany, and manufacturers as well as film producers and exchanges have suffered as much as the exhibitor.

Animated Weekly Is Forging Ahead

IN the past few months the "Universal Animated Weekly" has been developed to a high degree of thoroughness and efficiency.

A considerable amount of credit for this is due to Jack Cohn, editor and manager of the "Animated," with offices at the company's New York Imp studios. While Mr. Cohn is comparatively a young man, he is one of the oldest in the film game.

The above is a photograph of Mr. Cohn and his cameramen working in and around the East. Reading from left to right they are: Eugene Cugnet, cameraman; John Cohn, editor; W. R. Goodwyn, who has just returned from Mexico after six months' service with Carranza; U. K. Whipple, head cameraman; Joseph Rucker, who has just returned from Vera Cruz after passage down there on a U. S. battleship and witnessing and securing pictures of the first encounter with the Mexicans; Edmund Starring, for many years connected with European weeklies and now a star "animated" cameraman.

THE "REPORTERS" OF THE ANIMATED WEEKLY

Community Theatres Still Open to Children

Head of Omaha Social Service Board Declines to Ask for Ordinance Excluding Young People After Dark—Victory for Exhibitors

Special to THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS.

Omaha, Neb., July 15.

AN attempt to prevent children attending motion picture shows alone at night in Omaha was a failure before it started. Another attempt, while possible, is not expected soon.

T. F. Sturgess, head of the Social Service Board of Omaha, a civic betterment organization which includes the regulation of motion picture theatres among its duties, was asked to use his influence to get an ordinance passed which will forbid children attending the theatres alone at night. He has declined to ask for such an ordinance.

Although he runs a downtown theatre, where a child is seldom among the night spectators, Samuel Goldberg, president of the local branch of the M. P. E. L. A., has taken up the fight in behalf of the community exhibitors. In a long private discussion with Mr. Sturgess he used the following arguments:

"When I came to this downtown theatre I saw dozens of boys about the streets. I'll venture to say the reason they are not loafing about my place and about the street now is that they are either at home or at the community houses. Instead of being in mischief, associating with all kinds of characters, and learning harmful things instead of good, they are in the theatre 'around the corner' from their homes, being entertained, keeping out of trouble,

"When parents want to leave their children of school age while they go out some evening, they can let them go to the community theatre and then call for them when they return, confident the children have been in no harm, have been learning worth while, and have been entertained.

"I'll venture to say very few children ever start for a motion picture show and then go somewhere else. I'm a pretty good judge of the natures of children, and I know how they like to see motion pictures."

G. P. LEAVITT.

How Exhibitors Advertise

ADVERTISING THAT PAYS

THE Princess Theatre, Windsor, Ont., just across the border from Detroit, is alive to every opportunity for business-getting. C. Lou Flash is manager of the house. He carries a daily ad in the Windsor "Record," usually two columns by five inches deep, sometimes more. In this ad he announces the program for the day, featuring the stars in the display lines where they are popular and the title of the play where it is a sensation or the star is little known.

A recent advertisement contained this announcement: "Lucille Love, the Girl of Mystery," who is to appear in the famous series had the pleasure of greeting 700 patrons of the Princess Theatre last night. Miss Love will present the ladies with carnations to-day."

Mr. Flash clipped his ad from a number of copies of the newspaper and pinned it to the paper in front of his house. He also twined a lot of carnations about his display and carried on the front a stenciled announcement in letters two inches high, "Carnations to the ladies to-day."

Another stenciled announcement read, "Free Photo of Ford Sterling To-night." And pinned along the Ford Sterling paper were a dozen or more post-card pictures of this star. Before the evening was over, the supply inside was exhausted and Mr. Flash had to take down those in his display for distribution. Below the Sterling announcement was another, "To-morrow J. Warren Kerrigan."

Mr. Flash distributes pictures as he gets them. Sometimes he will give a set of four to each patron of the house on a given evening. Another device for house distribution is this little card reading

"LUCILLE LOVE"
The Girl of Mystery
At Princess Theatre, June 22, 1914.

A BELIEVER IN BIG POSTERS

TOM CORBY, manager of the Gayety Theatre, Cincinnati, burlesque house which is being devoted to motion pictures during the summer, has been showing three-day features at ten cents to large audiences. Mr. Corby in his advertising has used the largest posters ever seen in a theatre in this city.

The house has played "Daughters of Men" and "The Gamblers." The posters, depicting the principal scenes in each of these pictures, have covered the side walls of the lobby.

EXTENDING HIS SPHERE OF INFLUENCE

A FEW months ago F. E. Hook, of Detroit, Mich., took over Your Theatre, corner of Forest and Mt. Elliot avenues, to protect himself in a business deal. He found he had a loser on his hands and set out to make it a winner.

Now Mr. Hook is an insurance man, not a showman, but he applied systematic methods to his new venture and set out to find what the people of that section of the city wanted. Mr. Hook has associated with him in the theatre venture H. F. Falk, who is connected with the Photo-Show Repair and Supply Company, 305 Equity Building, Detroit.

They secured a mailing list of 5,000 names all included within an area of seven blocks in each direction from the theatre. A circular letter was sent to each of the names on this list, and enclosed with the letter was a complimentary ticket to the theatre. On each ticket were lined up the types of photodrama shown, comedy, Western, society, educational, etc.

Each ticket-holder was asked to visit the theatre and present the complimentary ticket with a check mark opposite the type of production preferred, and his name and address on the ticket. Now a strange thing is that but 680 of these 5,000 tickets were used, and most of those returned came from the furthermost limits of the territory the theatre draws from. However, they gave an indication of the class of production wanted by the people one would think hardest for the house to hold.

A program was built up accordingly. The preferences shown were in the following order: Comedy, Western or sensational, society.

Each week the theatre gets out 1,000 little folder programs. Instead of dismissing the program with the mere announcement of the title and the star, Mr. Hook writes from one to three or four catchy lines about each play for the entire week. A little more space is given to a big feature.

In addition to these programs, 4,000 handbills, 9x12 are distributed about the neighborhood. These give more briefly the program and dwell more on the feature of the week. Program and handbill carry two or three little notes about the theatre in addition to the program titles.

A voting contest for a toy automobile was conducted by the theatre, but Mr. Hook did not deem this a success because the auto was not what he expected it to be from the agent's description.

"If we had put the $42 it cost us into a diamond ring we would have had all the girls working for it and packed the house every night," he said.

The basis of the auto contest was this: For each $1 worth of tickets sold the boy received 100 votes. The contest closed July 2, and the boy who received the most votes got the car.

Mr. Hook has a seating of 850. The house is tastily decorated, and he is about to install an air-cooling and ventilating device. When this is in, the ceiling will be trellised to represent an arbor.

Your Theatre doesn't hesitate to buy a feature when it looks like a winner, and runs from two to three a week.

"We are giving them the best we can get," he says. "The people are learning this and we have them coming our way."

A TRIPLE PLAY IN NOVELTY ADVERTISING

ATHENS GEORGE, proprietor of the Victoria, 223 Market street, Harrisburg, Pa., has just ended an automobile and diamond ring contest as a means of bringing in new business.

Mr. George offered an automobile and two rings to the three persons selling the largest numbers of books of tickets of admittance to his theatre, each book containing twenty tickets "good until used," and each book costing one dollar. The contestants all received a commission on their sales. The contest continued for three weeks and resulted in the sale of several thousand books.

Mr. George says that the large amount of money he paid for the prizes made the contest hardly a paying proposition so far as immediate returns were concerned. He believes, however, that by reason of the large number of persons induced to buy tickets who never before patronized his theatre but who are likely now to continue to visit the Victoria even after their first ticket books are used up, he ultimately will reap returns far in excess of the original outlay for this form of advertising.

H. O. BODINE READY FOR EXTENDED EUROPEAN TRIP

H. Oliver Bodine became interested in photography twelve years ago, doing special photographic work for national publications and large corporations in the Middle West.

For three years located and built up one of the largest photo supply businesses in the country out in Racine, Wis., a city of 40,000. He was three years in charge of the advertising and sales of the Wollensak Optical Company at Rochester, N. Y., manufacturers of photographic lenses and shutters, and has been in charge of sales and advertising of the Raw Film Supply Company for the past six months.

H. O. BODINE

He is thoroughly posted on photographic chemistry, and has a large acquaintance in the photographic trades. He is the author of many articles on the various branches of photography. He leaves shortly for an extended trip through Europe, taking up while there the technical end of the motion picture industry. Upon his return to the United States he will be thoroughly posted on all branches of the business, technical and practical.

NEW WARNER SINGLE REEL COMEDIES

Warner's Features, Inc., is about to add to its program special single-reel comedies.

The present plan is to release three comedies a week. These features will be selected with special care, only those that measure up to a high standard of quality being accepted.

Several well-known studios are now at work on the first productions. Early announcements of the initial releases will be made.

Roskam Studies Foreign Film Situation

4,000 Feet the Maximum Length European Exhibitors Will Purchase—Europeans Keen on Picking Flaws in Pictures

EDWARD M. ROSKAM, president of the Life Photo Film Corporation, on his return from an European trip recently declared that American manufacturers have invaded the English film market.

He says that the offices of the majority of film manufacturers and feature film buyers are small and unpretentious looking, although the amount of business transacted is enormous. While in the British capital he met the heads of the following companies: Walturdaw, Ruffles, Cines, Gaumont, Pathé, Hepworth, Motograph, Chas. Urban Trading Company, J. Frank Brockliss, Mr. Jury, and Mr. Smith, of the Vitagraph Company

Mr. Jury related an unusual experience with an American representative, who threatened to open up his own exchanges and theatres and put Jury, as well as the other film exchanges in Great Britain, out of business if the English film men refused to use this firm's productions.

The same man stated that it was ridiculous for the foreign trade to demand that five, six and seven eight-reel subjects be cut down to three or at the very most four thousand feet. This, however, was not the sort of "invasion" that impressed Mr. Roskam.

Although he received numerous cash offers for the Great Britain and continental rights on "The Banker's Daughter," "The Greyhound" and "Northern Lights," he did not accept any one of them. But he closed with the American and Continental Film Company, of 7 Rupert Court, London, for the exclusive European agency of all his other productions.

Englishmen and Frenchmen are particularly keen in picking out inconsistencies and defects that would at times escape the eye or judgment of the American critic, according to Mr. Roskam.

He spent four weeks studying the foreign market to become conversant with the kind of productions England and the continent want. The length of a subject depends upon the story, but 4,000 feet is the maximum length that they will buy.

The Life Photo Film Corporation has entered into a contract with the American and Continental Film Company, whereby the English firm will secure suitable American subjects which will be sold and distributed through the American and Continental Film Company.

A low estimate of the amount of prints that can be sold in England and on the continent is twenty-four at the rate of eight cents a foot for sixteen and six cents a foot for the balance of the prints, which are sold in Germany, Italy and South Africa.

Upon Mr. Roskam's return he was more than surprised to find that the studios and laboratory at 102 West 101st street were no more. The fire department was not all to blame, however, as the building had been condemned over two years ago. Twenty-four hours after the eviction all the firm's machinery, studio equipment and negatives were safely stored in its new building at Grantwood, N. J. The laboratories will be running to full capacity by August 1, and construction on the new 60x75 foot studio adjoining the laboratory has already been started.

Operators Walk Out at Shreveport

Boys "Cripple" Amusement Places When "Second Man in Booth" Is Taken Away—Agreements Reached Within a Few Hours.

Special to THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS.

Shreveport, La., July 16.

AN agreement reached by representatives of the employers and the union a few hours after it occurred to end the strike of several members of the operators' local I. A. T. S. E., No. 222 who walked out of the theatres where they were employed, at 7 p. m., a few nights ago.

The walk-out resulted in the closing for the night of the Gem, Palace and Queen Theatres, all controlled by the Saenger Amusement Company, but the Majestic, Crystal and Rex Theatres were not affected by the walk-out as they met all of the demands of the union.

Following the walk-out the Hippodrome, Dreamland and Saenger theatres secured other licensed operators and continued their performances.

The "boys" struck after having "the second man in the booth" taken away, following the installation of motors to drive machines. The union and the managers only came to a settlement in this respect following the walk-out.

With a temporary agreement reached they resumed their duties at noon the next day. No further difficulties are anticipated by either side of the controversy.

H. A. PETERMAN, JR.

"THE LAND OF THE LOST"

(Sterling Camera and Film Company—Four Reels)
REVIEWED BY PETER MILNE

NOT one slow moment in the entire four reels; fine acting from beginning to end; replete with thrilling incidents, and, above all, excellent photography. In other words, a picture that is worthy to be classed with the best, and one that any audience will enjoy. It would be hard to find a picture that is more beautifully photographed. Not one glaring white scene appears. The whole film is tinted with a pretty brown color, pleasing to look upon, and, moreover, it does not strain the eyes.

THE STRUGGLE BETWEEN GILBERT AND THE BARON

Thrills follow one another in such rapid succession that the excitement and interest of the audience are always kept at the highest point. An excellent fire scene appears, in which a yacht is seen burning. The party on board are all forced to take to the water, and only three live to tell the tale. These three, hero, heroine and heavy, are cast on a desert island, and the later part of the picture shows their lives on this island.

Baron De Coverly, a role interpreted by Arthur Donaldson, tries in countless ways and manners to end the life of Gilbert (James Vincent). While this gentleman is crossing a canyon hand over hand by means of a rope, the baron cuts the rope and Gilbert is precipitated to the rocks many feet below. His fall is most realistic, and this act of the Baron's causes all to sympathize with Gilbert throughout the picture. Naturally, one is supposed to sympathize with the hero in all stories, but in some the producer has neglected to make the hero gain the spectators' sympathy. Here he has, and this constitutes one of the picture's many merits.

Miss Violet Stuart gives a fine characterization of Miriam Bradley, the girl whom the two men are at odds about. Roy Sheldon, as the hermit whom the survivors find on the island, plays a part which calls for a great deal of hard acting, but Mr. Sheldon carries his part off well, as do the rest of the cast.

In the last scene it is obvious that the island is not uninhabited, but this fact may not be noticed by all, and if it is, the fault is not glaring enough to be severely criticised. As a whole, the picture is an excellent offering.

"THE MILLION DOLLAR MYSTERY"

(Thanhouser—Two Reels)
REVIEWED BY A. DANSON MICHELL

REELS seven and eight, making the fourth episode in the Thanhouser serial. It is entitled "The Top Floor Flat," and vividly describes poor Florence's adventures in the grip of the Black Hundred, and her miraculous escape from their clutches.

The last instalment depicted principally the work of Florence's friend Norton, the reporter, and his round-up of the dock thieves by a clever coup. Florence had very little to do with this, and only appeared once or twice. But in these two reels Norton has very little to say, the action being principally carried forward by Florence and the conspirators.

The mystery grows deeper and deeper as the story proceeds. Just who has the million dollars? There are a great many people all over the world who are asking that question. As a clever publicity stunt the Thanhouser Company has engaged the services of an eminent detective who has written an article telling how he would proceed to unravel such a mystery.

Florence receives a letter from the conspirators, asking if she could meet her father to go with him to such a house at a stated time. Not knowing that it is a hoax she does not confide her errand to anyone. Arriving at the rendezvous she enters the house and flat. One of the gang disguised as her father meets her and shows her over the place. While they are talking she sees over her shoulder in the mirror she has been tricked and immediately sets to work to escape.

FLO IN THE CONSPIRATORS' DEN

A large snake is introduced, adding a thrill to the scene. She is locked in a room and the gang meditate what they will do. While they are talking Florence starts to make her escape, but is cornered. Breaking a window to draw their attention she conceals herself in the large clock, and while they are looking out of the window she escapes from the building, leaving them cursing and swearing behind.

"THE SILENT BELL"

(Pasquali-American—Three Reels)
REVIEWED BY LESLEY MASON

THIS picture is, by what may seem a paradox, capable of appealing at once to the most highly cultured element and to the lowliest element in the community. One might almost say that an audience of college graduates would relish it as keenly as a house full of unlettered but patriotic countrymen of Garibaldi.

"The Silent Bell" is laid in the days when all good Italians were conspiring, at the risk of their lives, to free Italy from the Austrian yoke—when the nobles made common cause with the bourgeoise for freedom. The struggle for Italian independence is not so remote that there is not a goodly sprinkling of people who recollect the scenes and events of that period. And those who are too young to have watched those events have imbibed the spirit of them from history and literature.

PRINCE PAUL IS SAVED

Any "highbrow," young or old, who professed to know and agree with what the Brownings and the Rosettis and Mazzini and their contemporaries thought about Italy's declaration of independence, will have more than a casual interest in this picture. Pride in his or her own intellectual attainments would not permit the aforesaid "highbrow" to be indifferent. And that "The Silent Bell" would meet with a hilarious, even uproarious reception in any theatre that catered to the Italian communities of many of our American cities, is a foregone conclusion.

The betrayal of Prince Paul, the aristocratic leader of a group of liberty-loving Italian gentlemen, and his friends, by a French secretary who is hopelessly in love with the Princess, and the Prince's deliverance by the timely signing of the peace treaty after his little son had made a brave but vain attempt to thwart his father's executioners, is the theme of the play.

There is little that is startling or original in the plot or its development, but much that is dramatic, interesting and beautiful. As in "Curfew Must Not Ring To-Night," the little boy climbs to the bell-tower and hangs upon the bell-tongue to prevent its sounding his father's death-knell.

It seems improbable so carefully nurtured a boy as the young Prince should at that age have boldness and wit enough to contrive and execute such a scheme. Had a street gamin whom the Prince befriended performed the deed—the counterpart of Gavroche in "Les Miserables," for instance—it might have enhanced the realism of the drama.

The balance of the story, however, together with the acting and the natural and architectural backgrounds, makes too fine a feature to quarrel with over such a detail.

There is a real Princess, too, in the cast—which should alone "be worth the price of admission," in the words of the old circus flier. Princess Ruspoli is as thorough an actress as she is an aristocrat, take note! Better still, the gendarmerie look and act like real soldiers, not supers dressed for the part.

"LUCILLE LOVE: GIRL OF MYSTERY"

(Gold Seal—Two Reels)
REVIEWED BY A. DANSON MICHELL

THE fourteenth instalment, and as the picture nears completion the interest is naturally enlarged. Just who will win out, or whether a compromise will be effected is very much in the dark, and there are only two reels left to clear up the whole affair.

The action in this instalment is, perhaps, the best of the whole series. Throughout the 2,000 feet it is kept up, the padding which was so noticeable in No. 13 is entirely eliminated, leaving a very desirable picture.

Another mystery was created in this instalment that will need clearing up in the finale. The butler, who has caused considerable trouble to Loubeque, is caught in that person's room. After a fight, he is subdued and apparently shot by Loubeque in cold blood. This is so out of keeping with the character of the villain Loubeque that we are doubtful whether a shot was even fired. Loubeque is seen with a revolver in his hand and smoke in the room giving the impression that the gun has been discharged.

Lieutenant Hadley, Loubeque's accomplice, sends a message to him, as agreed, by carrier pigeon. The bird, however, is caught by Lucille who reads the message, and alters the time set for the meeting. In the meantime, the butler, finding that Loubeque, is not in his room, secretes himself there, with the intention of revenging himself.

LOUBEQUE OVERCOMES THE BUTLER

On coming into his room Loubeque notices that some one is in the room, and by holding a mirror in his hand watches the actions of the visitor. Just as he is about to perpetrate bodily harm on Loubeque he is held off at the point of an automatic revolver. Telephoning to the hotel office two detectives are sent up.

Before they arrive, however, Loubeque, for some unknown reason drags the man into Lucille's room, next door, and throws him on the floor. It is here after a struggle that the shot is supposedly fired. On the arrival of the hotel sleuths they discover Lucille in Loubeque's room and arrest her.

A humorous scene transpires in the police station. Lucille talks so much that the police cannot ask any questions. She is freed, however, upon receipt of a letter from Loubeque establishing her innocence.

SPECIAL FILM REVIEWS

"Night Hawks." (Essanay. Two reels. Friday, July 10.)—This is a melodrama of the popular crook variety. It is based upon the corrupt practices of a gang of political desperadoes and the attempts of a high-minded and honest district attorney to put an end to their evil doings. The picture does not attempt to present the inside, subtle workings of a great political machine, but it does give an idea of the bribery and the blackjack methods done under cover of darkness, which once might have kept a boss in power.

But for the present, there is too much fisticuff and flashing of pistols to be true to life, because no boss nowadays could remain long in power who depended upon such crude methods. But, relieved by the gallantry and daring of a young society man who rescues the daughter of the district attorney, first from the clutches of the gangsters, and at the same time aids the father by securing the evidence that will convict them of murder, it makes an absorbing picture. The generous impulses of the young man receive their fitting reward in the love of the plucky daughter.

Francis X. Bushman and Ruth Stonehouse play opposite each other, and a fine young couple they make. John H. Cossar makes a dignified and imposing district attorney. Rapley Holmes carries out the impression of a political chieftain made by the newspaper cartoons. M. C. Von Betz and Royal Douglas are typical ward heelers, and Lillian Drew is a fascinating adventuress and worthy co-schemer with the boss.

"The Angel of Contention." (Majestic. Two reels. Sunday, July 5.)—An excellent drama, Dorothy Gish, George Siegeman and R. A. Walsh play the leading parts. The "Angel" of the Western town is beloved by all. But a stranger succeeds in winning her even after she had accepted the sheriff. Later her husband is wrongly accused of murder. She denies the accusation and the men recall the many acts of kindness that she had performed for them and accept her at her word. The drama will be enjoyed by everyone.

"The Lights o' London." (World Film Corporation. Five parts.)—Made by the Barker company in London, following closely the famous story of George R. Sims. The first two reels are inclined to be slow for melodrama, but the last three contain much that will thrill. The atmosphere is very good as is the photography.

The plot deals with the squire's son, who is disowned, and goes to London with his future wife. Later he is accused of killing his father and jailed. He escapes, and after some time rectifies the mistake and the villain is punished.

"The Day of Reckoning." (U. S. Motion Picture Corporation. Three reels.)—A great amount of time is covered by this picture, which for this reason is most entertaining. The story starts with the Civil War and a few realistic battle scenes are shown. After this twenty years are passed over and the scene of action changes to the Wild West, at the time that it was just becoming settled. The action is rapid and absorbing from start to finish, and every scene is full of melodrama.

The plot, although somewhat complicated and a trifle hard to follow, is of a nature that appeals to all lovers of the melodramatic picture, with which class this offering will be a great success. John is told by his scheming brother that his wife is unfaithful to him. For this reason he takes his brother's place when the latter is drafted for the Union Army. His wife has a child and soon after its birth dies. Jim goes West with her and becomes a prosperous ranchman. Twenty years later John reaches the West and meets his daughter and makes himself known to her. Jim is accidentally killed and the father and daughter are happy together.

"Blue Pete's Escape." (Reliance. Two reels. Saturday, July 11.)—One of the best two-reelers released under the Reliance brand. The picture is an adaptation from George Randolph Chester's short story that appeared in Munsey's magazine. The work of a competent author is plainly visible as well as the work of an accomplished producer. Sam De Grasse, Billie West and Walter Long are the principals of the cast. Not once is the interest lost. Great attention has been paid to the minor details, which no doubt is the reason for some of the picture's charm.

A detective poses as Blue Pete in order to capture a gang of ruffians and robbers. He is greatly aided by his sweetheart, and at last succeeds in bringing the band to justice.

"A City Beautiful." (Majestic. Two reels. Sunday, July 12.)—The picture could be classed with the best of educationals. A number of views of Los Angeles are shown. Judging from the picture it certainly lives up to its appellation, "A City Beautiful." Besides these views a number of pictures are shown of the busy Majestic studio. Views of a studio will never fail to attract attention, and one learns a lot of how such a place is run from witnessing this film. The picture also contains a strong human interest story. Wallace Reid and Dorothy Gish are the two principals.

SCENE FROM "A MAN'S WAY" (AMERICAN, TWO REELS, JULY 20)

"Trinkets of Tragedy." (Essanay Two reels. Friday, July 3.)—A well-told detective story, far better than the average. Francis X. Bushman appears in his now quite familiar role of detective. A well-known cast enacts the picture, including E. H. Calvert, Charles Hitchcock, Bryant Washburn, Ruth Stonehouse, Rapley Holmes and M. C. Von Betz.

The rich art collector is in love with the daughter of the proprietor of a curio shop. He is killed by an enemy and his daughter is accused of the murder, but a detective is set to work on the case and clears up the mystery.

"Under Fire in Mexico." (U. S. Film Corporation. Three reels. Monday, July 20.)—A picture that will cause all true Americans to rise up and cheer. The scenes are laid in Mexico. The Americans are terribly oppressed by the Mexican commandant, and finally, after an enormous amount of atrocities have been committed, Jack, an American, succeeds in reaching the United States troops, who come to the rescue with flying colors.

The picture contains a large amount of shooting, and the action is rapid and absorbing all the time. Some of the escapes seem almost impossible, but this does not detract from the interest of the story.

"Mother Love." (Marion Leonard. Six reels. Monday. June 15.)—A drama of Warner's Features brand released in two parts of three reels each featuring Marion Leonard. At the outset the picture gives promise of being of a sort that is fully worthy of the brand and of the number of reels. But as the plot of the story is based on what seems to be a ridiculous idea, the rest of the story is somewhat disappointing.

The staid, to all appearances, deacon of the small country town is led to believe that his wife has disreputable friends. His conclusions are drawn from the clothes which they wear. It might have been better to make the woman's friends really of questionable character, as this conclusion seems foolish. Ever after that he is continually persecuting his wife in a most terrible manner. After she has been forced to leave her home, he pretends that her child is dead. She returns home, discovers the deception, and denounces her husband before the whole town. He dies from the accusation and she returns to the city to live with her friends.

"Deborah or a Jewish Maiden's Wrongs." (Thanhouser. Two reels. Tuesday, July 7.)—The story takes place at the time that the Jews of Austria suffered terrible persecution from the hands of the Christians. Joseph, a Christian, is led to believe that Deborah, his Jewish love, is false. He denounces her, but later, when he is married, learns the truth. Maude Fealy plays the lead. The subject of the picture is not one to be treated lightly and all will be pleased with it.

"The Renunciation." Eclair-Universal. Two reels. Wednesday, July 15.)—Photographically this picture far surpasses the average, both in tinting and clearness of the film. The scenes, the majority of which are laid in the forests and the beautiful grounds of the monastery, are fully worthy of the excellent photography, which makes the picture about perfect in these two lines.

The story that runs through the picture contains the elements of one of the best, but in producing it, a little too much has been left to the imagination, and between some scenes there seems to be no connection.

John, after he has lost his heart to a flirt, determines to enter a monastery and forget her. He does this and is living happily when another woman appears on the scene. The two fall in love and he leaves the monastery. There are numerous smaller plots all bearing on this, the main story.

"The Severed Hand." (Powers. Three reels. July 17.)—The story is conventional in many ways, possessing a melodramatic plot that will be appreciated in certain audiences, but will make but little impression in others. Cleo Madison plays the lead.

Nan becomes a member of the rector's family after his nephew had saved her from her father. Her father is killed by the Severed Hand Society, but the rector and his family blame Nan for the deed, causing her to fly with members of the gang. Years later she becomes a wealthy woman, and in stealing some papers again meets the nephew, whom she loves. On recognition reconciliation follows.

SCENE FROM "THE RENUNCIATION"
For the coming Eclair two-part Western, featuring Bob Frazer and Edna Payne. Released July 15.

PARSONS WILL HANDLE PATHE POSTERS

P. A. Parsons, for some time identified with the advertising department of Pathé as the head of that branch of the business, will hereafter devote himself exclusively to the poster department of the big firm.

Mr. Parsons has heretofore been handling both in a measure, but the poster department has lately acquired such a scope that it demanded the exclusive attention of one expert, and Mr. Parsons resolved to confine himself entirely to that end of the business.

He will be missed from the advertising chair of Pathé by the many who have enjoyed the cordial relations which Mr. Parsons knows how to maintain with all who have occasion to deal with him.

PICTURE MACHINE FIRM FAILS

The American Moving Picture Machine Company, of 101 Beekman street, New York City, has filed bankruptcy schedules showing liabilities of $292,665, of which $155,254 are secured, and nominal assets of $94,249, consisting of stock, $29,800; machinery, $48,839; patents, $10,000; accounts, $4,095; claims, $958; cash in bank, $382; office fixtures, $100, and notes, $75.

Among the creditors are Morison Bros., $143,004, secured; Andrew P. Morison, president of the company, $77,016; George Bancroft, $10,000, secured; U. S. Moving Picture Machine Agency, $10,182, and R. L. Moffat, $5,000.

Live News of the Week

W. D. Ward, manager of the Detroit exchange of the Mutual Film Corporation for the past year, and with that exchange since its formation, has resigned his position. Mr. Ward is not ready to announce his future line of activity but he is considering several propositions and will probably continue in the business. It could not be learned who will be Mr. Ward's successor.

Archer MacMacken, for four years with the Essanay company at their Chicago studio, has taken charge of the scenario department of the Albuquerque Film Company, and will assist G. P. Hamilton, director.

Grace McHugh, who was recently drowned while appearing before the camera, was the leading lady of the Colorado Motion Picture Company. The last picture which she appeared in, "Across the Border," was completed when the producer thought that the scene in which Miss McHugh forded the swift Arkansas River needed to be retaken.

GRACE McHUGH

While in the middle of the river Miss McHugh was carried off her horse and swept down the stream. The cameraman swam to her rescue. He reached her in safety and both gained what was thought to be a sand bar but which turned out to be quicksand.

Before anyone reached them both had perished.

Christy Mathewson, Big Six of the New York Giants and the world's most famous baseball pitcher, has signed with the Universal to appear exclusively in a series of comedies and dramas expected to give an intimate study of Matty. The pictures will carry out logical stories, rated to amuse and grip, with Big Six playing the lead. It is said that Matty will write some of the scenarios.

Harry Pollard will begin the production of "A Mid-Summer Love Tangle" written especially for the Beauty brand by Isobel M. Reynolds, of New York. The major part of the work will devolve upon Margarita Fischer.

MARGARITA FISCHER

J. Warren Kerrigan will shortly be seen in the role of a prosecuting attorney in the story entitled, "Weights and Measures." Vera Sisson and George Periolat play principal parts in the production. Jacques Jaccard is the director.

The Pathé Daily News became at once popular on its introduction in the national capital. Several of the theatres use the service.

The General Film Company announces that the release date for George Kleine's big feature "Vendetta," from the novel by Marie Corelli, has been set for Tuesday, September 1.

Among those sailing Saturday, July 11, for Europe on the "Kaiserin Augusta Victoria" is Gene Gauntier, the star of the G. G. brand of Feature

GENE GAUNTIER

Films (Warner's releases). Miss Gauntier's trip is taken upon advice of her physician, and her destination is Lykorna, Sweden, the beautiful summer home of Mlle. Marguerite Gauntier, her talented sister and prima donna at the Royal Opera, Stockholm.

During her absence the studio will release a number of comedies featuring Jack J. Clark, supported by a selected cast of comedy players.

Philip Dwyer, well known on the legitimate stage for his portrayal of various animals, is now appearing in the role of the dog Tige for Edison in the "Buster Brown" series.

William Bechtel is back in harness at the Edison studio after a four weeks' stay at Mt. Clemens, Michigan, where he was recovering from a severe attack of rheumatic trouble.

Harry Eytinge, the Edison heavy, is planning a large celebration for the opening of his new summer home at Rye Beach.

Charles A. Burcham, cashier at the Laemmle exchange in Omaha, is on his vacation.

The Princess Ruspoli, the Roman society leader, has signed a contract with Pasquali and Company, of Italy, to take the leading part in a startling war drama, "The Silent Bell," which the Pasquali American Company is soon to release in this country.

PRINCESS RUSPOLI

Her action has created a fervor of speculation in Roman society circles and the drama is eagerly awaited by all her friends in Rome and Paris.

A. F. Dittman, owner of the Dittman Theatre, Brownsville, Tex., was a called at the office of THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS on his way home from the Dayton convention.

Mr. Dittman voices the demands of exhibitors in general on two important points. Regarding conventions he says he is perfectly willing to make the long journey from Texas, provided the conventions are of real business value and not political meetings only. He prefers San Francisco for 1915.

As an exhibitor he wants more good comedies of the Keystone quality and good features, but he wants them in one service which will be complete for his purposes.

Al Lichtman, of the Alco Company, made a trip to St. Louis, Detroit and Cleveland for the purpose of perfecting plans for his new concern, after taking in the Dayton convention.

Dolly Simmonitti is playing the lead in "Gypsy Love," the recent release of the G. W. Feature Film Company.

The popularity of the California Rodeo has led the G. W. Feature Film Company to maintain its faith in Cowboy pictures. The Rodeo release has drawn crowds everywhere.

Manager Fred Van Husan, of the Laemmle exchange in Omaha, has arranged to take the entire output of the Universal service. It is out of the ordinary for such arrangements to be made during what is called the "dull season," he says.

Charlotte Burton will assume the leading role in "Lodgings for a Night," the one-reel subject now being produced by Tom Ricketts. Winifred Greenwood was cast for the lead, but owing to the accident she met with recently, will not appear in the production.

Don A. Meany has resigned as head of the publicity department of the Essanay, after two years of successful press exploitation for that company. He will be succeeded by Victor Eubank, formerly connected with the Associated Press.

DON A. MEANY

Out of the ninety-six releases featuring the well-known Broncho Billy series, ninety of them were advertised by Mr. Meany. The popularity of Alkali Ike dolls, and the song entitled "Broncho Billy," is the result of his live-wire publicity methods.

Ernest Shipman has disposed of all his interests in the Pan-American Film Company and resigned as general manager of that firm.

Hugh D. McIntosh has been appointed exclusive representative of the Atsco Inc. for Australia. The James McEnnery Syndicate represents Atsco in England and on the Continent.

Arthur. Rosenbach, sales manager of the Excelsior Feature Film Company, Inc., reports that he is closing several desirable deals on "The Toll of Mammon" in four parts, featuring Octavia Handworth.

Barry O'Moore has about terminated his contract with the Edison company. He expects to retire to his farm at Shandakin, Ulster County,

BARRY O'MOORE

New York, after August 1, for a long needed rest, on the completion of the last three "Octavius" pictures.

Albert W. Hale has become associated with the Kalem Santa Monica studio as producing director, and will exercise general supervision over all the films at that branch of the company.

The engagement is announced of Benjamin N. Judell, manager of the Minneapolis Mutual office, and Clara Borchovitz, of that city.

Le Roy B. Reinert has purchased the Savoy Theatre in Reading, Pa., and will show licensed films and special features.

A. E. Siegel has sold his interest in the Poem-O-Graph Company to N. P. Fleischer, who will be located in Cleveland in the future. Mr. Siegel will retain his office at 516 Columbia Building, the same city.

Winfield R. Sheehan, general manager of the Box Office Attractions, was in Syracuse, N. Y., recently to assist Chas. Briggs in arranging for the opening of a big exchange in the new Eckel Theatre building.

F. F. Proctor has contracted to use all the local films taken by the company recently former in Albany.

Carlyle Blackwell, the photoplay star, in resigning from the Famous Players Company will manufacture his own films.

About three months ago Mr. Blackwell left the Kalem Company, with whom he had associated for over three years, to go with the Famous Players. He appeared in "The Spit-Fire," which was brought out by that company.

Mr. Blackwell intends to produce a three-reel feature once a month with himself in the leading role. The subjects will be the works of famous authors. He has extensive plans in connection with his newly formed producing company which will be announced shortly.

CARLYLE BLACKWELL

Mr. Blackwell's productions will be released through the newly formed Alco Film Company, of which Al Lichtman, former sales manager of the Famous Players, is president and general manager.

Sol Lesser is in New York conferring with the manufacturers of some of the famous productions for exhibition rights in the eleven western states in which he has booking offices. Mr. Lesser reports conditions on the Coast as being such that only the fittest can survive. The Coast exhibitors have developed keen appraising abilities and with them the day of picture ten per cent and paper ninety per cent is past.

Mr. Lesser will continue his policy of keeping a New York office with George D. MacIntyre in charge, with instructions to buy only those features which will stand up on their merits with the thermometer at blood heat.

"The Black Triangle," first of the Webb Detective Series, was his first purchase.

C. J. Marley, who has been in the contract departments of local film exchanges for the past three years, has resigned from the California Film Exchange, Inc., which has exclusive booking of the Universal program and features, and he is now with the General Film Company.

King Baggot, leading man for the Imp Universal Company, and president of the Screen Club, was presented with a ten-pound baby boy recently by his wife. Mr. Baggot was married in December, 1912.

At what is said to be the highest price ever paid for limited territory on a motion picture on a pure rental basis, exhibition rights of "Cabiria," the Itala Films' Torino masterpiece, have been sold by Harry R. Raver to Frank Rogers, of Knoxville, Tenn., for fourteen Southern states. The price is in excess of $50,000. The states are Virginia, West Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Kentucky, Tennessee, Georgia, Florida, Mississippi, Louisiana, Alabama, Texas, Oklahoma and Arkansas.

A. Danson Michell, connected with THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS editorial staff for some time, has resigned to take charge of the publicity department of the Excelsior Feature Film Company, Inc.

Among the party of Eclair players who recently arrived in Tucson, Ariz., where the Eclair Film Company, Inc., has erected a new studio, was Robert W. Frazer. It is the intention of the company to feature Mr. Frazer in a series of realistic Westerns.

This Eclair player needs no introduction to photoplay fans, as he has been playing leads before the camera for the last three years. His motion picture career has been interrupted two or three times by calls from the legitimate stage, during which period he played the lead in "The Million" and more recently was with the Cecil Spooner Stock Company. It is taken for granted, however, that he is now a screen devotee for good.

"WHAT A WONDERFUL LOVE THAT WOULD BE!"
Scene from one of Imperial Moving Picture Company's Animated Songs for July.

Revolutionize Holding of Expositions

(Continued from page 26)

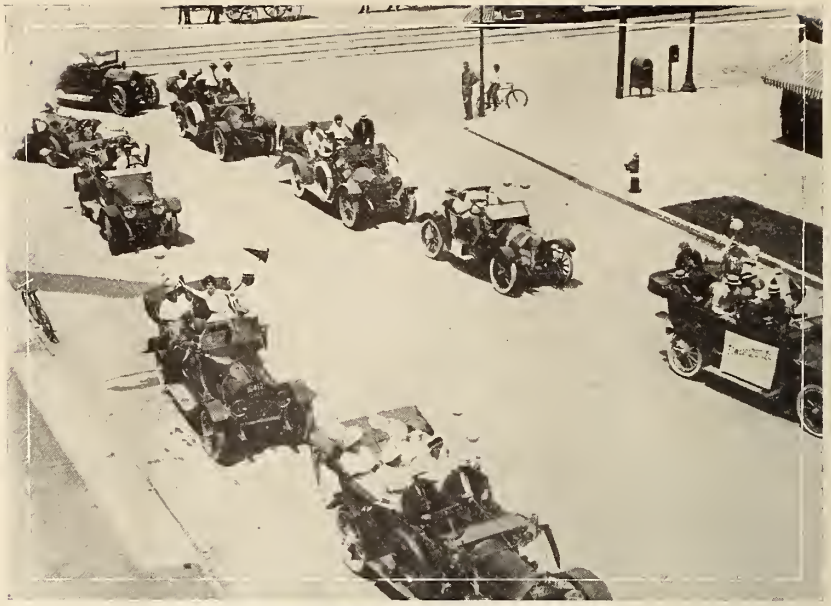
this exposition shall be conducted under the joint auspices of exhibitors, manufacturers and jobbers.

In view of the above it is resolved by the various representatives of the manufacturers, distributors and jobbers at the Dayton convention that—



An organization be formed for the purpose of conducting an annual or semi-annual exposition of motion picture art.

At such exposition organization shall be composed of the various manufacturers, distributors, jobbers and representatives of all allied lines of trade to the motion picture industry, as a whole, and also of the motion picture exhibitors, either as a national body or individual.

That in the perfection of the plans for such an organization and in order to bring about the successful promotion of an annual or semi-annual exposition, we desire the co-operation of any and all exhibitors collectively or individually; granting to them the fullest rights and privileges in the promotion and conducting of these expositions.

That a corporation shall be formed for the purpose of conducting these expositions, incorporated at a nominal figure and each manufacture or jobber or distributor shall be entitled to purchase not more than one share of the stock, the balance being deposited as treasury stock.

That such exposition company desires the exhibitions to hold the national conventions or meetings at the place selected for such exposition, and that the profits from a block of the treasury stock of not more than 50 per cent shall be devoted to the reception and entertainment of the exhibitors at such conventions. Further, that a portion of the net profits or a block of treasury stock of not more than 50 per cent shall be given to the national leagues or associations.

THE AUTOMOBILE PARADE AT DAYTON

THE following committee was appointed with Frank J. Rembush as permanent chairman, A. H. Byrd as secretary, and Wm. A. Johnston, treasurer; F. J. Rembush, Mirror Screen Company; E. E. Fulton, Chicago; H. B. Coles, Precision Machine Company; Ernest Glantzberg, Typhoon Fan Company; Joe Brandt, Universal Film Manufacturing Company; A. H. Byrd, Wyanoak Publishing Company; Robert Kane, Atsco, Inc.; W. S. Maxey, Bartola Musical Instrument Company; Wm. A. Johnston, THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS.

After some discussion the name decided upon was the Motion Picture Manufacturers and Jobbers Exposition Committee. An assessment of $10 each was levied upon the manufacturers for committee expenses.

The need of exhibitor co-operation was strongly urged by several, and as a result it was decided to hold another meeting the same evening, inviting the seven delegates of the I. M. P. E. L. and the following committee of the M. P. E. L.; L. H. Ramsey, Kentucky; Carter, Arkansas; W. W. Watts, Illinois; T. P. Finnegan, Texas; W. R. Wilson, Ohio; Marion Pearce, Maryland; Peter Jeup, Michigan; M. E. Cory, California, and Fulton Brylawski, Washington, D. C.

At this meeting a spirited discussion arose which ended, however, in more or less harmony. Among the manufacturers and dealers present were: E. E. Fulton, Chicago; H. B. Coles, New York; Ernest Glantzberg, of the Typhoon Fan Company, New York; Joe Brandt, of the Universal Film Company, New York; A. H. Byrd, of the Wyanoak Publishing Company; F. J. Rembush, Shelbyville, Ind.; Robert Kane, of the Atsco Company, New York.

GROUP OF WOMEN AT THE EXPOSITION

Left to right: Miss Charlotte Knecht, of Dayton; Mrs. J. E. Ward, Wellston; Miss S. M. Breen, Cincinnati; Mrs. H. E. Cook, Baltimore; Mrs. E. H. Painter.

In and Out of Los Angeles Studios

Special to THE MOTION PCIUTRE NEWS.
Los Angeles, July 13.

PERHAPS in no other city are the film exchanges so located to the advantage of the exhibitor as in Los Angeles, where many are hunched on what is termed "Film Row," and none are more than two blocks from this location. The first to open on Olive street, hetween Seventh and Eighth streets, was the California.

Then one by one came the Mutual, the World Film Corporation, Golden Gate, and now the Los Angeles branch of the Union Film and Supply Company, of San Francisco, is moving from the Pacific Electric Building to the room adjoining the World Film Corporation. Just around the corner in one direction from the row is the Warner office, and in the opposite direction the General, Eclectic, and Progressive. The Kleine office is located in the Majestic Theatre building, ahout three hlocks distance.

"From tbe Seeding to the Serving," will prohably be the title for a series of pictures heing made for the Southern California Panama-Pacific commission. Frank Morris, formerly of the Pathé Weekly staff, has charge of the photography, and ahout 50,000 feet of film will be made for exbibition at the San Francisco and San Diego expositions.

New Animal Comedy

The E-r Jungle Film Company, a very recent organization, of Los Angeles, has completed its first feature picture of three reels, "Frightened into Sohriety." The company is composed of S. Edwards, owner of a wild animal museum in Los Angeles, and John Rounan, also of that city. Paul Matchette is director for the company and will look after the animal comedies, in which thirty-six varieties of monkeys, snakes, and water fowls will he used.

In the future tbe Selig Poloscope Company will make all pictures at the Los Angeles studios, and the principal effects of the Chicago studio, recently closed, have heen forwarded to the Selig property in Los Angeles.

Reginald Barker and a company of New York motion picture players, including W. S. Hart who was specially engaged, have returned from a trip to the Grand Canyon, where a feature picture was filmed.

Installs Artificial Interior Lighting

J. J. Rohhins, president of the Robbins Photoplay Company, with a studio at Twenty-ninth street and Central avenue, Los Angeles, has returned from New York where he contracted for three subjects to he delivered weekly, commencing August 1. The releases will consist of one, two and three ree's each. Mr. Rohbins was formerly with Essanay at the Chicago and also Niles, Cal., studio. The studio here is the first one on the coast to install artificial lighting for all interior settings.

David Hartford, for many years connected with Oliver Morosco in directing, has heen in charge of one of the Robbins companies and will take the players to Catalina Islands where several suhjects will be made. Mr. Hartford will remain with the Robhins company until the latter part of July, when he will go to Chicago to assist in staging "The Bird of Paradise" at the Cort Theatre for Mr. Morosco.

London Back in Los Angeles

Mr. and Mrs. Jack London have arrived in Los Angeles for a brief stay, while on their way to their home at Glen Ellen, from Vera Cruz, where Mr. London secured material for a numher of magazine articles and photoplay scenarios. While here he was entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Hobart Bosworth, of the motion picture firm of Bosworth, Inc., and Monday evening for the first time witnessed the picture "The Valley of the Moon," shown for the first time in California, at the Tally Broadway Theatre.

Mr. London assisted Director Bosworth in the selection of the exterior scenes for the picture, and one, that of the "Valley of the Moon," was taken from Mr. London's home, which overlooks the valley.

Memhers of the Western Lubin company, with a studio at South Pasadena, Cal., are spending a week in the vicinity of New Hall, Cal., where a Western drama is being filmed.

Takes Stock Company Into Films

Capt. Wilbert Melville, managing director of the Western Luhin studio, has made an attempt to form a monopoly of former writers. Mr. Melville was for years Washington correspondent for the American Press Association, and now associated with him he has Paul Powell, former political writer and city editor of the Los Angeles "Express"; W. M. Dunhar, former city editor of various metropolitan newspapers; and his latest addition is Robert A. Rinehart, formerly of the New York "Sun."

E. H. Roth, owner of the Portola and other theatres in San Francisco, recently spent several days in Los Angeles, visiting studios and theatres in search of new business-getting methods and films.

The latest addition to the motion picture industry of Los Angeles is the Circulating and Comedy Motion Picture Company, composed of Elmer E. Smith, of San Francisco, president; Arthur Haynes, vice-president; N. B. Taylor, secretary and treasurer, and Robert Fargo, producer and manager; all of Los Angeles. Mr. Fargo has heen manager of the Century Theatre, of Los Angeles, and closed the stock company engagement there Saturday, June 27, when he took the company, beaded hy Jules Mandel, into motion pictures. The company will manufacture educational pictures and comedies only. Quarters have been leased at the Zodiac studio, Hill and Court streets, Los Angeles.

Peggy, the mascot at the Jesse Lasky studio at Hollywood, spoiled a scene when the "Man on the Box" was being filmed, hy rushing in and getting a hold with her teeth in the rear of Richard La Reno, who was playing the role of chef. He had just dashed all the cooking utensils from a kitchen cabinet to the floor, when angered at an order, which caused Peggy to pull off the stunt. As long as La Reno retained the make-up the dog had to he held. The scene was retaken.

Thrills Not in the Script

A regular circus, complete even to red lemonade, pop corn and peanuts, was staged and filmed hy the Sterling Company during the past week under the direction of George Nichols. When completed it will consist of two reels of farce comedy.

By an accident Porter Strong, of the R-B Film Corporation Comedy Company, was run over hy an automohile. According to the script, there was to he an explosion, the hood of the machine flying off. Strong, who was standing in the machine, should fall forward onto the radiator; and the machine start forward. Everything worked out correctly, except the fall by Strong, who went on over and could not get out of the way of the machine. The fly-wheel caught on Strong's clothing, and for a moment—while the auto was passing over him—members of the company thought it would be necessary to pick him up in a market basket. Aside from hruises he was not injured.

Burton King, managing director of the Usona Film Company, with studio at Glenda'e, Cal., has departed for New York City, where he will spend a vacation of three weeks.

Leaves Brady for Lasky

Mrs. Lewis McCord, who played on Orpheum time for a numher of years, together with her hushand, has been contracted for pictures with the Jesse Lasky company, and is delighted with her new work. To accept the offer of Director Cecil de Mille, of the Lasky company, Mrs. McCord gave up an excellent engagement with W. H. Brady.

The players of the R-B Film Corporation, recently organized, are busy producing comedies under the direction of Harry Revier. Belford Forrest, formerly of the Glendale Kalem company, and Carrie Clark Ward are playing leads. It is the intention of the director to organize another company the first of the coming month for the filming of three, four and five reel features. Two subjects, "When Women Rule," in two reels, and "Only a Dream," have heen completed. This new company will release through Pathé.

Harry B. Warner and Miss Rita Stanwood, are recent arrivals from New York City, and will play leads in the Jesse Lasky production of "The Ghost Breaker." hy Paul Dickie and Charles Goddard. The film will he made under the direction of Oscar Apfel.

The impromptu cafateria installed at the new Universal ranch to provide food for the hundreds of extra people used in the "Damon and Pythias" Feature, heing filmed under the direction of Otis Turner, for speed is a marvel, as 720 were served in forty minutes, the other day when 1,800 people were used in tbe picture, or at the rate of 20 per minute.

Majestic Director Eddie Dillon is now filming the third of the series of "Bill tbe Copy Boy," from the stories by Paul West. "Tammany" Young continues before the camera in the title role with all the kiddishness of his younger days, when he was the original "Bill" in the New York "World" office.

Two hundred and fifty members of the Uniform Rank, Knights of Pythias, and 200 memhers of the California National Guard and naval reserves, took part in the filming of the Universal picture, "Damon and Pythias."

Replacing Lubin Films

As the result of the Lubin fire recently, in which a numher of negative films of the Majestic Motion Picture Company were destroyed, tbe actors, actresses and directors at tbe Los Angeles studio are working every minute during sunlight, in order to remake the pictures and keep up witb their releases. Director Donald Crisp is reproducing "The Tavern of Tragedy," a two-reel feature with F. A. Turner in the role of the tavern-keeper, and supported by Miss Dorothy Gish and Vester Pegg. Another picture heing made is that of "The Idiot," from a prize scenario, selected by Director-General D. W. Griffith, of the Majestic. Rohert Harron is featured in the title role of the latter picture.

Managing Director Marshal Neilan, of the Hollywood Kalem studio, accompanied by Miss Ruth Roland, Chance Ward, Loyd Hamilton and others, is spending a week making Roman interior and Western scenes in the vicinity of Santa Barhara, Cal., 130 miles north of Los Angeles. During the absence of the company John Brennon is taking a vacation.

One of the Reliance companies, under direction of F. A. Kelsey, is this week filming "McCarn Plays Fate," from the story hy Henry Oyen, wbicb appeared in the "Magazine of Adventure." The scenario is hy Russell Smith. Miss Irene Hunt is heing featured.

Beranger in Bad Accident

G. A. Beranger, assistant to D. W. Griffitb, of the Majestic Company, at the Hollywood, Cal., studio, is heing termed the hero by all members of the company, as the result of an accident, while riding his new Indian motorcycle, on the speedway at Venice, Cal., with a side-car attached, in which were three girls of the company. To prevent the side car from being hit hy an auto, Beranger ran into an automohile on his left. His foot was hadly mashed and a piece of the pedal penetrated the instep fully one inch.

"The Second Mrs. Tanqueray" was staged at the Little Theatre, in Los Angeles, on the evenings of June 29, 30 and July 1, by Constance Crawley, and Arthur Maud, of the Loftus Feature Film Company, of Los Angeles, and a company of English players, who are spending the summer at mountain resorts. Max Figman and Lolita Rohertson, who are with the Jesse Lasky players, will he the next attraction at the theatre.

Members of the Alhuquerque Film Company, photoplayers, under the direction of Gilbert P. Hamilton, are filming a fisherman picture at Catalina Islands. The scenario is hy Dot Farley, leading woman of the company.

The western studio of the Famous Players Company is soon to hc built on a site in Hollywood, purchased by Adolph Zukor and Edwin S. Porter, of the company, when they were in California in April.

Los Angeles is the first city to have a traffic policewoman, and Miss Peggy Hart, of Pathé Frères comedy company, has the distinction of being that woman. For almost an hour Miss Hart, playing lead in a picture, stood in the center of congested Spring street, at the corner of Fourth, and by the single or double hlasts of the whistle directed cars, autos, vans and pedestrians. When a film jag attempted to flirt with her she towed him to a patrol hox and held him until the gasoline goat arrived.

Actress Has Narrow Escape

In the filming of "Even Unto Death," at Catalina Islands, this week, Miss Dot Farley, leading woman of the Albuquerque Film Company, was washed off a large rock by a big swell at an unexpected moment, and when the motor boat captain near by at the time refused to drive his craft among the seal rocks, fearing it would be dashed to pieces, Director Gilbert P. Hamilton jumped in and rescued the popular picture star. Miss Farley was unconscious for some time after being rescued, and by members of the company it is considered marvelous that she was rescued because of the whirlpools between the rocks and the strong undertow.

Twice Mr. Hamilton was sucked down in whirlpools, and both times was battered against rocks. As a result his legs were badly bruised and cut in a number of places.

The accident happened about one-third of a mile from the rock covered shore, where the water is fully three hundred feet deep. No pictures were secured, for the eamera man was too excited to grind the camera.

Robert Thurman, of the Balboa Feature Film Company, was fined $65 for driving his Mercer at the rate of 65 miles per hour, and the next day was taxed the maximum—$50 and cost—for a similar offence in Los Angeles.

Production at the Loftus Feature Film Company studio in Hollywood has been suspended until a new laboratory shall be completed.

Abeles Scheduled for "Ready Money"

J. Murdock MacQuarrie, who is playing the lead in the series of pictures from the Francois Villon stories which appeared in the Century Magazine, has come to the conclusion that the men who of yore wore mail and armour were some athletes, for he has found the wearing of real mail and papier mache armour, covered with light tin, a most arduous task; even for a few minutes at a time.

The suit worn by Mr. MacQuarrie weighs eighty pounds, and he estimates that if made of steel it would weigh twice as much. The first of the series, "The Romance of the Rose," of three reels, includes the first two stories of the series, and has been completed.

The other stories to be filmed in two reels each are "The Higher Law," "Monsier Blue Beard," and "The Ninety Black Foes of Bishop Ballou." For these pictures a very interesting village covering five acres has been built at the new Universal ranch. For the buildings old wood cuts and early descriptions of scenes in Paris and of the French Bastile before the French revolution were used to secure the correct settings.

Edward Abeles, who appeared in the Lasky film of "Brewster's Millions," is now on his way to Los Angeles, from the East, and will play the lead in the motion picture of "Ready Money," to be made by the Jesse Lasky company.

A Japanese Producing Firm

The Japanese-American Film Company, with offices in Los Angeles, and distributing exchanges in Japan, have taken up the production of comedies and dramas in which Americanized Japanese will play all parts. Heretofore the company has been making only educational pictures of industries in Southern California, but have taken up the making of photoplays because of the demand in Japan for "Japanese actors who impersonate correctly the Japanese."

Frank Shaw, formerly an assistant director at the Selig studio, will have charge of the directing. For the past week the company has been making exteriors at Casa Verduga, Cal., and interiors at one of the local commercial studios.

Three seals have been added to the Universal zoo, the first to come to Los Angeles motion picture makers. The three were captured near Santa Barbara.

Balboa's Fox Steals Chickens

Calls for police to aid in the capture of chicken thieves have been turned in during the past few days in large numbers, at Long Beach, and the thief—the fox of the Balboa Feature Films studio—is still at large. When the door was left unfastened a few evenings ago, the fox made his escape, together with a coyote.

For a day or two the police of the beach city thought some "culled" population had been making a raid, until one of the chicken fanciers saw the fox disappearing down an alley with his thoroughbred Orpington. The coyote returned to his cage after two days wandering.

D. D. Horkheimer, of the Balboa Amusement Company, Long Beach, is in London, to spend a week with the company's selling agent.

Changing Reels With Chaney

The present "psyehological depression" has been the subject of much discussion, but the thing of most interest at this time, speaking from the operators point of view, is the present "physiologieal depression."

The health of the public has been well taken care of insofar as the motion picture theatre is concerned, but the health and welfare of the operator has been a subjeet of very little consideration.

It is true that there are a few operating rooms in the city, but the great majority are not deserving of such a name, and are really dignified when anyone refers to them as "eoops."

A coop is generally considered a place to keep chickens in, but no self-respecting chicken would be caught in some of the so-called operating rooms of this city.

As a matter of fact, if an animal of any kind were compelled to exist under the same conditions that the average New York operator is obliged to endure, there would be a hue and cry raised by the S. P. C. A. that could be heard to high heaven.

The public, of course, does not know, and probably would not be interested, in the life and lot of the motion picture operator, for if it were generally known there would be no operators' schools in business.

It is not generally known, for instance, that there are hundreds of operators in this city who are chronic sufferers from many different diseases and complaints that are the direct result of being confined in an operating room from seven to ten hours daily, without one minute of intermission.

Is there any other trade or craft that you can mention, where the victim eannot get time enough to eat?

Is there any wonder that so many operators are dyspeptics when they practically live on sandwiches from one year's end to the other?

Is there any other occupation you can name where, if a man leaves a machine under his care for even so much as five minutes he not only loses his position, but his license as well? And if for any reason he was compelled to stop the show two or three times in one day, he would lose his job, anyhow?

Now, just for instance, can you name any other trade on earth wherc a man is married to a machine?

MANHATTAN MEANDERINGS

Brothers Ben Turner and George Burns, at the Strand, are making quite a reputation for themselves, owing to the fact that the Strand is noted for the excellence of the projection shown there.

The new Empire Theatre at 161st street and Westchester avenue, is expected to open in the next few days, and I understand that Brothers Eddie Fitz Gerald and M. Klapholz are to work there.

Brother Fitz Gerald deserves this position owing to the fact that his work for the George Kleine Company was favorably known wherever "Quo Vadis?" was shown, by the company he happened to be playing with.

In fact, I had the pleasure of working "Quo Vadis?" with Brother Fitz, and I know him for a first-class operator and a "bully" good pal.

Brother Bill Foley is at present engaged at the offiee of the Titan Feature Company and from all accounts is satisfied with his job. He must be a wonder if he is satisfied, for I never knew of Bill being satisfied before.

I am informed by Brother Spellbring of Washington, D. C., that the Baltimore boys are scheduled to play another game of baseball against the Washington team on July 26, at Washington.

I certainly hope that it is not stopped in the fourth inning this time. I understand that the sheriff was more or less interested in their last game at Baltimore. How about it boys?

Brother Spell says that his team was the personification of respeetability, but I have heard nothing from Baltimore.

Brother Thomas Costello is working for the Photo Play Productions Company, or at least, is getting paid for it, and from all accounts their first feature is going big.

Of course, everybody knows that "The Littlest Rebel" ought to go good, and it is doing so under the able management of Frank Tichenor. Every one knows the "Big Fellow."

FILM FLASHES FROM VARIOUS PARTS

I have received a lot of news notes from Philadelphia, and they were all written in red.

I have always maintained that Philadelphia was a swift town if you knew the ropes, and this proves that I was right, for everywhere I have ever been red meant speed. Even on the Renfax synchronizer.

Brother William Hurley left town for the road several days ago, and opens in Cleveland with the Rainey pictures. We will all miss Bill, but hope he has a long run.

I met Brother Joe McAree on Broadway the other day on his return from a long season with the Lyman H. Howe Company. He expects to be leaving again in a short time. A Lyman Howe job is all right for anyone who has a true appreciation of hard work.

It is funny how many old-timers you meet in a day's walk around town, and all appear to be doing well. Very few of them are operating, however.

Some are in the feature game, while some are managing theatres. Well, you can't keep a squirrel on the ground.

Brother Morris Rotker is the latest victim of "the marriage game," having been married a short time ago to a Yorkville Belle, so I am informed. The wedding was attended by several notables in the film world, among them his employer.

Well, here is hoping for the best luck in the world for the happy bride and groom, and may they never find a ground on their circuit.

Brother Fred Stoffregen has again returned to his old love, and is once more grinding them out at Proctor's Fifth Avenue Theatre.

Received a letter from Richmond, Va., not long ago, and while it contained no news of any kind, I was very glad to hear that my old friend Louis Traferi was doing well. Also to hear that Brother W. Ware was still holding down a job at the old stand.

Good luck boys, and may your shadows never grow shorter, but why don't you write to a fellow onee in a while?

Heard in the Lobbies

The New Regent Theatre, Syracuse, N. Y., is about completed, and when Syracuse University opens in the fall it will find the magnificent photoplay house in full operation with the latest and last word in pictures.

The buildings on the sitc of the New Strand Theatre have just been razed and the bids will soon be opened for the building of the biggest theatre in Syracuse.

Edward Hayes, of the exclusive department of the General Film Company at Buffalo, is in Syracuse, N. Y., and has booked all of the big special productions for showing at the Crescent Theatre, which went into pictures last week. Mr. Hayes states that the General Film exclusive department has arranged to release all of the old numbers of Mary Pickford pictures and that they will total about eighty reels.

The following theatres in Syracuse have closed for the summer: The Olympic, on Oxford street; the Princess, on North Salina street, and the Playhouse, on Westcott street, as well as the Colonial, on Montgomery street.

Walter Peters has sold the Mound City Theatre, corner of Copername and Second streets, Gretna, New Orleans, to N. J. Zimmer and Robert Evans. This theatre in the Jefferson parish suburb of New Orleans, does good business as a ten-cent admission house, and the new management plans a number of improvements.

The contents of the Algiers Theatre, located on Patterson street near Vallette, Algiers, La., has been sold at auction to satisfy a judgment of John Kleinkepmer against H. W. Levy. Mr. Kleinkepmer, who owns the property, bought the equipment over several other bidders for $825.

Charles Stheale, former owner of the Cozy, at Merrill, Wisconsin, has disposed of that house and taken over the Columbia Theatre at Kenosha. Mr. Stheale expects to introduce a number of new features into his new house and is planning an aggressive campaign to build up the business.

Bradley Bros., the owners of a string of moving picture shows in the small towns near Warsaw, Ky., have leased and are remodeling a large business building there, in which they will open a new motion picture theatre.

Conventionalities

(Continued from page 31)

A. E. Thorp, Richmond, Va.: One Drumona (musical instrument).

Fred M. Tynes, Portsmouth, Ohio: Complete equipment.

This firm also closed with the National Cash Register for a number of Radium Gold Fibre screens, and succeeded in signing up for screens for the Soldiers Home. The one at Dayton is the largest in the country.

The Drumona, invented by Samuel Lapin, attracted much attention and favorable comment.

THE busiest man at exposition and convention alike was Frank J. Rembush, manufacturer of the Mirror Screen, exhibitor owning four theatres, chairman of the new exposition committee, etc., etc. He was always in the thick of every rumpus with his ready smile, clean logic and his declaration, "Let's thrash this out, gentlemen. Remember, you can't make me mad!"

A. M. Beatty, of the Maggard-Bradley Company, Morehead, Ky., was present, representing the Cosmograph.

The Enterprise Optical Manufacturing Company, of Chicago, was on the job every minute during the recent Dayton convention. O. F. Spahr, general manager, and A. F. Sass, demonstrator, were on a visiting tour of the Dayton theatres. Two motor-driven 1914 model Motiographs were installed in the Midget Theatre, one of Dayton's most popular theatres.

Mr. Nielson, who is one of the best known exhibitors of Chicago, and whose theatre, the Parkway, at Clark street and Diversey boulevard, is recognized as being one of the best appointed in the city, has purchased the rights of the "Spoilers" for five states.

The booth of the Peerless Film Exchange, 201 West Randolph street, Chicago, which was a gathering place for a number of well-known men in the trade during convention week, was in charge of E. H. Brient. The Peerless firm has bought the state rights on "Atlantis" for Illinois, Indiana, Iowa and Kentucky.

"WHEN THE WORLD WAS SILENT"

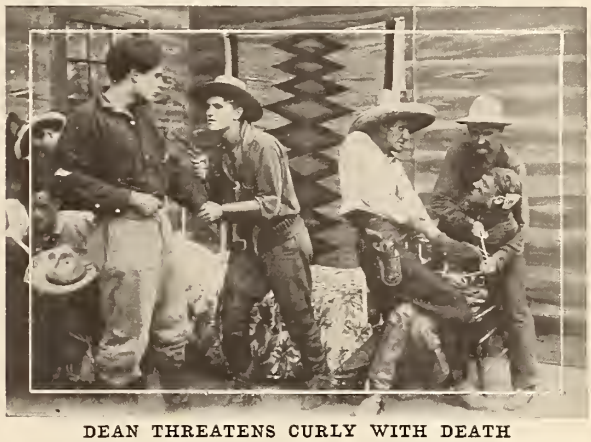
(Imp—Three Reels)
REVIEWED BY PETER MILNE

FULL worthy of three reels, better than many of greater length, and quite equal to any of the same extent, is the verdict that may be pronounced with the heartiest sincerity on this production. It is very seldom that one has the good fortune to witness such a delightful dramatic offering. It outdoes all in regard to unconventionality, which constitutes one of its many commendable characteristics. In some pictures in trying to get away from the usual lines, the producer neglects to make the story clear, but not so in this; the story is truly wonderful, and those who love dramatic situations, a fine love story, with nothing sensational will find in this picture their ideal.

William Shay and Leah Baird head the cast, and are ably assisted by William Welsh, Arline Pretty and Hobart Henly. Jealousy causes Blanche to ruin the hearing of Fielding a great musician. The doctor declares that the unfortunate man is beyond medical aid. His fiancée forsakes him. He marries Blanche, who has relented her terrible act. Later the truth is learned and Fielding commands Blanche to leave him. They are separated for a number of years, but finally are reunited.

AMERICAN FIRMS FIGHT GERMAN FILM TAX

ALL the American motion picture film companies operating in Berlin have joined in a strike against the Berlin censor.



The cause of the difficulty is the tax at the rate of 1¼ cents a meter of film which is charged for censoring. The film companies have agreed not to have their films censored

"ACROSS THE BORDER"

(Colorado M. P. Company—Warner's Features—Three Reels)
REVIEWED BY PETER MILNE

IT is clear that great pains were taken in the producing of this excellent Western drama. Careful attention has been paid to every scene, and for this reason the picture can take its place with the foremost pictures of its kind. Whether one cares for the Western or not, he cannot but appreciate this picture. Its many thrilling scenes are enough to arouse even the most satiated fan.

Warner's Features controls the picture, and in their projection room, where the censors and reviewers witnessed the production, it was acclaimed without one dissenting voice "the best yet."

DEAN THREATENS CURLY WITH DEATH

One scene in particular may be singled out from all the rest. Curly Smith, the ranger, is fleeing from the Mexicans. He is on a horse, and as he comes to the top of the hill and starts to descend the other side, the animal slips, throws Curly many feet, and then rolls on down the hill. Probably the horse had to be shot, and it wouldn't be surprising if Edmond Cobb, who played Curly, was severely bruised.

Another scene which deserves more than passing notice is that in which Curly is tied to the ground by the villainous Dean, with a rattlesnake about six inches from his face. We are informed that when the leather thongs which bind the snake are wet, they will stretch and it will be able to reach his face. Fortunately, Anita discovers the villainous trick and shoots the snake.

As in all releases of this brand, the riding—even that of the meanest super—is enough to cause exclamations of admiration. Playing opposite Mr. Cobb is the late Grace McHugh, who lost her life in the retaking of one scene. Ted Hardcastle plays the heavy lead, and is assisted by Arthur S. Lewis. The rest of the cast consists of Charles Reeves, who appears in a dual role, Lieutenant C. V. Simpson, Victor Frith, Charles Williamson, R. D. Blevins, Jack Donahoo, Ray Reeves and Old Keogh.

The action and absorbing story almost cause one to forget the commendable photography. In many scenes five or six ridges of mountains are plainly visible. A large part of the action transpires many feet from the camera, but the figures are always plainly discernible. The film was exposed in the brightest sunlight, which accounts for the clearness of the distant views.

The story: Curly Smith, the ranger, is told to watch out for the men who are smuggling ammunition into Mexico. He discovers the offenders, and in tracking them to their camp is captured. Dean, the American smuggler, desires to kill him but is prevented by Anita, the daughter of a Mexican. Later she aids in his escape by riding for the United States troops, who arrive and bring about his rescue. Curly and Anita are married. The date of release is set for August 17.

INTERESTING FILM REVIEWS

PRODUCTIONS FROM ALL PROGRAMS

GENERAL FILM PROGRAM

"The Heart and Circulation of the Blood." (Pathé. Mon., July 6.)—From the standpoint of a layman this picture is very interesting. It shows the blood under a powerful microscope and the action of the heart of a turtle and an ox. On the same reel with "Modes of Travel in Japan."

"Modes of Travel in Japan." (Pathé. Mon., July 6.)—On the same reel as "The Heart and Circulation of the Blood." Rickshaws, palanquins and the old-fashioned methods of hauling up rivers are shown and compared with more modern equipages.

"A Tiger Hunt." (Pathé. Tues., July 7.)—The scenes in this educational release were taken in Indo-China. A good picture of the killing of one of these ferocious beasts. On the same reel as "The Ice and Snow."

"The Ice and Snow." (Pathé. Tues., July 7.)—Why ice melts in water, why it floats and why it becomes hard, etc., are vividly described. A good picture.

Pathé's Weekly No. 44. (Pathé. Wed., July 8.)—A magnificent picture of the Salem fire is shown in this reel, part of which was taken at night. A picture of the race on the Hudson when Columbia defeated her powerful rivals leads the reel. A number of minor events are interesting.

"Through Bosnia and Dalmatia (Southern Austria). (Pathé. Split reel. Mon., July 13.)—On the same reel with "The Tombs of the Ancient Japanese Emperors, Annam," and "Waterfalls at Argonia, Spain." A number of entertaining views of this Austrian town, which one belonged to Turkey, are shown.

"The Tombs of the Ancient Japanese Emperors, Annam." (Pathé. Split reel. Mon., July 13.)—On the same reel with "Through Bosnia and Dalmatia" and "Waterfalls at Argonia, Spain." A pretty picture of these ancient tombs. A fine scenic.

"Waterfalls at Argonia, Spain." (Pathé. Split reel. Mon., July 13.)—On the same reel with "The Tombs of the Ancient Japanese Emperors, Annam," and "Through Bosnia and Dalmatia." Waterfalls never fail to make a most beautiful scenic and this picture is no exception to the rule. It would be hard to find a prettier picture.

"A Russian Boar Hunt." (Pathé. Split reel. Tues., July 14.)—On the same reel with "The Wine Industry, Marsala, Sicily." The Russians are shown pursuing the deer and boar. Some excellent views of the beasts swimming have been obtained.

"The Wine Industry, Marsala, Sicily." (Pathé. Split reel. Tues., July 14.)—On the same reel with "A Russian Boar Hunt." Gathering the grapes is first shown, then the processes which they undergo before becoming wine, which includes the crushing of the grapes by treading on them.

"Slippery Slim—Diplomat." (Essanay. Thurs., July 9.)—Another one of Essanay's rollicking Western comedies with Victor Potel and Margaret Joselin in the leading roles. Slim is postmaster and holds up a letter from Sophie, inviting all the boys to a birthday party. He goes himself and wins her. Next day the boys get the letter and come that night only to find that Slim has married Sophie.

"Hearst-Selig News Pictorial," No. 38. (Selig. Thurs., July 9.)—An excellent view of the William J. Gaynor, New York's newest and best fireboat is shown here. Perhaps the styles in summer bathing suits for women and the pleasant views of the beaches that go along with them are the next in line in regard to interest. A large number of minor events are shown.

"He Was Bad." Lubin reel. Tues., July 14.)—A comedy of negro character, performed with understanding by John and Mattie Edwards. They are two excellent fun-makers and given such typical negro scenes as a crap game, a free-for-all fight, and a preparation for a colored ball, there cannot but be plenty of mirth. It is on the same reel with "Tough Luck."

"Tough Luck." (Lubin. Split reel. Tues., July 14.)—The trouble and confusion which a cook causes who has been taken down with the smallpox is shown in this film. Mr. Boggs starts the day with a grouch and ends by finding his house filled with his wife's guests and quarantined for four weeks. This would be enough to cause the death of any man through sheer desperation, but Boggs manages to live through it all, to the infinite amusement of all who see the picture. It is shown on the same reel with "He Was Bad."

"Fogg's Millions." (Vitagraph. Two reels. Tues., July 14.)—The adventuress has not been very often seen in motion pictures compared with her frequent appearances on the stage. But in this picture she comes into her own as a trouble-maker. She breaks up the engagement of a young heiress and man-about-town by setting her traps for the wealthy grandfather. After the latter's death she marries the young man, who was her former lover. But her first husband steps in to mar what seemed to the couple a bed of roses. Admirably acted and presented with finished detail.

"At the Foot of the Hill." (Essanay. Tues., July 14.)—An old veteran, living with his daughter and her husband, lives too much back in the days of '61-65 to suit them. Hurt and mortified, the old man feels that he has passed his days of usefulness, but proves that he is still a hero when he rescues his two little grandchildren from the flames. Then life opens with new light to all the family. The old grandfather is intensely human and easily wins smypathy.

"An Egyptian Princess." (Selig. Tues., July 14.)—To the surprise of all, an old crank of a chemist, searching for the elixir of life, really seems to have brought an old mummy to life, and the complications that this causes can easily be imagined, especially when the chemist has a jealous wife, and there is a handsome young artist living in the house, to whose studio the re-animated mummy flees. But she is only a modern Egyptian dancer who got into the mummy-case. The idea is a clever one and it is developed with skill.

"That Boy From the Poorhouse." (Biograph. Mon., July 13.)—When a boy gets into the country in the summertime, of course he does not want to chop wood and hoe corn. This little lad didn't like to work for the old farmer who took him from the poorhouse any more than any other boy would. This got him into serious difficulties until he found a friend in the neighborhood, a banker's son, whom he saved from drowning; and the banker then took him into his family.

"The Soul of Luigi." (Vitagraph. Mon., July 13.)—An intensely dramatic story and effectively acted by James Morrison as Luigi and Dorothy Kelly as Nedda, his wife. It is the always touching portrayal of a man's soul dying through lost affection and then being regained through love. Nedda deserted Luigi and he became a miser. Finally his heart was kindled with love for the daughter of his wife and new life opened to him.

Hearst-Selig News Pictorial, No. 39. (Selig. Mon., July 13.—This issue contains some uncommonly interesting views of current events. The Royal Ascot races are pictured with society present in full force; also the rescue boat sent out in search of the Stefansson Arctic party, with photographs of the Norwegian's three vessels caught in a sea of ice; the sane Fourth of July celebration in New York; and the opening of the bathing beaches in California, with beauty and bathing suits parading in automobiles.

"Accused." (Kalem. Tues., July 14.)—A pretty love story is told in this reel. The picture contains several new twists which are quite refreshing. Bert believes that the father of his fiancee is a thief, but it develops that he is innocent. Irene Boyle and Robert Ellis are the principals.

"A Diamond in the Rough." (Kalem. Two reels. Mon., July 13.)—Guy Coombs and Anna Nilsson plays the leads. A little too much is left to the imagination by the producer of this drama and some of the acting (not that of the principals), is poor. Valeria marries Jack, a self-made man, and immediately after the wedding takes a dislike to him. After quite a while she learns to love him.

"The Express Messenger." (Kalem. Two reels. Wed., July 15.)—One of the Kalem railroad stories that deserves to be ranked with the best. In the last reel there is an exciting chase. The train robbers are escaping from the police, but finally are caught. Some fierce hand-to-hand fighting ensues. Two of the combatants fall through a skylight. This last scene is a thriller. Helen Holmes is featured, but plays a small part. The rest of the cast is composed of G. A. Williams, M. K. Wilson, Leo D. Maloney, William Brunton and Edward Lewis.

"The Fate of a Squaw." (Kalem. Sat., July 18.)—An Indian story of average interest. An Indian girl loves a white man. When he is knocked senseless by one of the band, he thinks he loves her. But when his mind is restored he returns to his former love. The Indian girl is sold to the leader of another band. Mona Darkfeather and Charles Bartlett play the leads.

"Wanted—An Heir." (Kalem. Fri., July 17.)—Ruth Roland is the principal character. If it were not for a few humorous parts in the comedy, the picture would pass as one of the best dramas. An old millionaire doesn't know which of his relatives deserves his fortune. Most of them are snobs, but he discovers one, a girl, that is worthy and bestows his millions on her.

"The Ever Gallant Marquis." (Edison. Split reel. Wed., July 15.)—On the same reel with "An Up-To-Day Courtship." Harry Beaumont plays the lead. French ideas don't go in America and the Marquis is forced into a duel. He thinks he has killed his opponent and flees. The comedy will amuse all.

"An Up-To-Date Courtship." (Edison. Split reel. Wed., July 15.)—On the same reel with "The Ever-Gallant Marquis." Two hayseeds are rivals in love. One gets a carriage and takes the girl for a ride. The other gets a motorcycle and replaces his rival. The other retaliates with an automobile which blows up. Neither is accepted.

"Meg o' the Mountains." (Edison. Two reels. Fri., July 17.)—A novel picture, but one that is somewhat difficult to understand. Only the older people will appreciate it. The photography is dark in places. Meg has been wronged by a rich country squire. She comes near ruining another man's character because her memory is poor. But the right culprit is discovered. Meg dies in the end. Mabel Trunnelle, Herbert Prior, Anne Leonard, Bigelow Cooper and Yale Benner are the main characters.

"Broncho Billy and the Sheriff." (Essanay. Sat., July 11.)—This is a Western drama of a cowardly sheriff, a resourceful cowboy and a pretty girl. The sheriff tries to make himself a hero by bribing a half-breed outlaw to allow him to capture him, but fails when the cowboy steps in and upsets the scheme. But the girl has already married the sheriff and the deputy loses what he most desired. It makes a fairly interesting picture when played by such capable artists as G. M. Anderson, Carl Stockdale, True Boardman and Marguerite Clayton.

UNIVERSAL PROGRAM

"Love and Lunch." (Sterling. Two reels. Thurs., July 23.)—This comedy, although side-splitting in parts, is not as good as some of the Sterling one-reelers. Ford Sterling plays the lead. He has to work to win his girl and gets a job as waiter behind a one-man lunch counter. Jealousy causes him to become very rambunctious and the lunch wagon starts to roll down hill. In the end it goes over a cliff.

"A Beach Romance." (Sterling. Thurs., July 16.)—Billie Jacobs supported by the other Sterling juvenile players appear in this comedy. Children will be more apt to enjoy it than older people. Billy and another are rivals for the same girl, but in the final scene affairs turn out in a favorable manner for both.

"Almost Married." (Sterling. Mon., July 13.)—The abundance of slapstick work that appears in this one reel is enough to cause any audience to roll off their seats with laughter. A man is almost married to the wrong girl, but is saved in time.

"The Ranger's Reward." (Frontier. Sun., July 19.)—An unconventional and absorbing drama. Joe Franz appears in the leading role. Jim is assigned to catch an outlaw and not to return to the town until he has done it. He gets his man, who tries to play upon his sympathies, but is unsuccessful. He turns him over to the sheriff. He is rewarded by the hand of the girl he had long desired.

"An Old Rag Doll." (Imp. Thurs., July 9.)—The temporary loss of his children who were frightened by his unruly temper, results in the reformation of the husband of the family. Leah Baird and William Shay play the leads in this drama, which all will enjoy.

"Getting Vivian Married." (Crystal. Tues., July 21.)—Neither of her parents favors Vivian's suitor, and she decides to elope with Charlie, but is caught and at last marries one of her father's friends. Charles De Forrest and Vivian Prescott appear. There is a lot of slapstick work which keeps one in a continual laugh.

"Value Received." (Victor. Two reels. Mon., July 20.)—A J. Warren Kerrigan drama which is sure to get across anywbere. A splendid finale is registered. The picture is clean throughout and has many very commendable moral points. The De Vere players arrive in town and Jack sees the girl, the wife of the manager. The latter beats her and Jack rescues her, bringing her to her own home for recuperation. The husband is killed later by the father of a girl he had ruined.

"The Polo Champions." (Joker. Sat., July 25.)—Written by Captain Leslie T. Peacocke of the Universal scenario staff. One of the very best burlesques yet seen. Tbe picture, although slapstick, has a fine sense of humor throughout. Of its class the best tbat Capt. Peacocke has produced. As a laugh producer it is a wonder.

"When Death Rode the Engine." (Eclair-Universal. Sun., July 26)—The outlaw seeks revenge on the sheriff and locks up his wife; he then sets fire to the house. She is rescued and the sheriff pursues the outlaw. He jumps on an engine and the sheriff takes another. When they near each other the sheriff jumps to the other engine wbile at full speed. The two men fight and fall off, then roll down an embankment and into a stream. The sheriff finally kills his opponent. This is a story that will keep one on edge every minute.

"An Awkward Cinderella." (Rex. Sun., July 26.)—Robert Leonard and Ella Hall play the leads. Most of the picture is comedy of the best variety. The story is tbe same as the original, only Cinderella is a servant. Everyone will be amused by the picture.

"The Sob Sister." (Rex. Two reels. Thurs., July 16.)—Tbe much heralded newspaper story played by Anna Little and Herbert Rawlinson. A number of very interesting views of the interior of the composing room of a large daily paper are shown. The sporting editor and the "sob sister" are in love with each other. The daughter of the editor runs away from school and meets with an unscrupulous man who attempts to ruin her. She is saved at the last moment by the sporting editor. The editor declares he wants the story used, but on finding out it is his own daughter, he kills the "scoop."

"Vivian's Four Beaus." (Crystal. Split reel. Tues., July 14.)—Vivian Prescott and Charlie De Forest. Three of her beaus have wigs, so naturally Vivian is suspicious of the fourth. His hair is pulled pretty hard. On the same reel with "What Pearl's Pearls Did."

"What Pearl's Pearls Did." (Crystal. Split reel. Tues., July 14.)—Pearls are mistaken for pills with disastrous results. A burlesque on a doctor's consultation. Pearl White and Chester Barnett play the leads. Same reel with "Vivian's Four Beaus."

"The Universal Kid." (Imp. July 16.)—The first of the series entitled "A Day in His Life." His life in the studio is shown, after which he telephones to go to the ball game where he meets McGraw and plays ball with the mascot of the New York Giants. Coming down Broadway he meets Annette Kellermann.

"When Eddie Went to the Front." (Nestor. Fri., July 17.)—One of Al Christie's clever comedies. The cub reporter is sent to Mexico to cover the war. He finds, however, that the Mexican is rather fond of large knives, and although the girls seem very pretty and nice, he prefers the society column.

"At the Foot of the Stairs." (Rex. Thurs., July 23.)—Robert Leonard plays the lead in this drama. The maid installed in the house to rob it brings about the reconciliation of husband and wife. Some of the action takes place in the dark, which lends a mystifying atmosphere. The plot is old, but will appeal to any audience.

"The Gateway of Regret." (Imp. Thurs., July 23.)—The picture is quite suggestive, and some, especially the women, will be displeased with it. Numerous plots add to its value. Gwendolene's mother is in a forbidden business. The girl becomes an actress and the leading man is in love with her. When he learns her connections he denounces her, but later returns.

MUTUAL PROGRAM

"Star of the North." (Domino. Two reels. July 16.)—An average Western. Black Cattle wants the hand of Star of the North and buys her from her father. She escapes from him, has an experience with a drunken white man and then returns to her true lover.

"The Sheriff of Bisbee." (Kay-Bee. Two reels. Fri., July 24.)—A novel drama, the locale of which is the West. The old sheriff is recalled, as he cares too much for his whiskey. The new sheriff offers a reward for the capture of a certain man. The old sheriff captures him, but hearing his sad story lets him go. Later he is reinstated.

"The Feud at Beaver Creek." (Kay-Bee. Two reels. Fri., July 10.)—An entertaining drama in which a long-standing feud between two families is ended by a little child. Plenty of shooting, riding and brawls occur, which stamp the picture as a true melodrama. It will be received well by those who admire this kind of a story.

"A Gentleman for a Day." (Thanhouser. Friday. July 17.)—A poor boy dreams he's rich, but on waking up prefers his own life. The contrasts between the lives of the rich and the poor are striking. Children will enjoy this comedy-drama more than grown-ups.

"Wrong All Around." (Komic. Sun., July 12.)—The mother-in-law is to visit her daughter for the purpose of chastising her wicked husband. She gets in the wrong house and attacks the wrong man. Finally matters are straightened out. This comedy is not as good as the usual Komics. Tod Browing appears as the husband and Fay Tincher as his wife.

"Youth and Art." American. Wed., July 15.)—A film picturizing Browning's poem of that name. It is rather veiled, and those who have not read the poem will hardly appreciate it. Ed Coxen and Winifred Greenwood appear in the leading roles. The picture opens with the young artist, who has attained fame and wealth. He is painting the picture of a woman he used to know when he was poor and she was poor. She is now married to a rich nobleman. She thinks of what might have been if she had married the artist.

"Love and Salt Water." (Keystone. Split reel. Sat., July 11.)—On the same reel with "The World's Oldest Living Things." One of two rivals thinks he has killed the other and a large number of comical events follow. A great deal of slapstick work appears, wbich is exceedingly humorous.

"The World's Oldest Living Things." (Keystone. Split reel. Sat., July 11.)—On the same reel with "Love and Salt Water." The giant California red wood trees form the subject of this half-reel.

"Mistakes Will Happen." (Royal. Sat., July 11.)—A number of events somewhat disconnected, but very sidesplitting occur in this reel, which furnishes amusement for all, young and old. Sam leaves a glass of milk containing, what he thinks rat poison, on the kitchen table. A hungry tramp drinks the milk and after loads of trouble it developes that sugar was in the glass instead of poison.

"A Girl of the Seasons." (Princess. Fri., July 10.)—The girl has a different beau for each season. At the end of a year they all come to propose, and she introduces them to her husband. Some very beautiful scenes appear in this reel. The picture is a new kind of comedy.

"Our Mutual Girl, No. 26." (Reliance. Mon., July 13.)—Practically all of this reel is devoted to Penrhyn Stanlaws, who draws Margaret's picture. Kid Joseph, the man who married Ada, denounces Dunbar in the presence of Margaret, but her faith in him remains unshaken.

"A Wife from the Country." (Reliance. Fri., July 10.)—A dissolute young man is given a large sum of money to marry a girl of his father's choice. He does this and falls in love with her later. She is the means of reforming him. Years later she finds his father's note asking him to marry her with the promise of the money. She thinks for a time that he doesn't love her, but he convinces her to the contrary. This is a pleasant drama, but it contains nothing unusual.

"A Joke on Jane." (Beauty. Tues., July 14.)—Hubby tries to play a joke on his frivolous wife, but he turns out to be the "goat," and his joke ends seriously. He avows never to try to fool her again. Margarita Fischer and Harry Pollard play opposite in this highly pleasing comedy-drama.

"The Defaulter." (Domino. Two reels. Thurs., July 23.)—A picture that will bold one with its lightning action and absorbing situations. Jim is a good-for-nothing, he loses his job and then robs his former employer. He deserts his wife and leaves for the West where he becomes a common crook. His wife is married happily to another man. Jim returns and attempts to rob the house in which his wife resides. She shoots him, discovers who it is, but says nothing to her husband.

"Love and Bullets." (Keystone. Sat., July 4.)—Not as good as most of the Keystones. A man is lovesick and seeks advice from a trouble mender who causes a lot of trouble without mending it. Plenty of slapstick action appears.

"A Rowboat Romance." (Keystone. Mon., July 6.)—The unwelcome and the welcome suitor form the story, told in a sidesplitting manner in one reel. The enmity of the two men leads to a general mix up in the water, and the right comes out victorious.

"How Izzy Stuck to His Post." (Reliance. Wednesday, July 15.)—Izzy is a grocer's clerk in this picture. He sits on a chair covered with glue and is unable to get up. A burglar tries to rob the store, but is caught by Izzy, so his misfortune turned out to be his good luck. Max Davidson continues in the role of Izzy. This adventure is far better and funnier than the preceding ones.

"The Old Derelict." (Majestic. Tues., July 14.)—The old father, who has wandered away from his daughter, sinks lower and lower. Many years later he meets his daughter's child. He saves him from an explosion, but is unable to get out of the way himself. He dies unidentified. Francelial Billington, Elmer Clifton and F. A. Turner play the leading parts.

Paramount

Daniel Frohman, Charles Frohman and Henry W. Savage
In association exclusively with

MARY PICKFORD.

Famous Players Film Co.

David Belasco
In association exclusively with

DUSTIN FARNUM.

Jesse L. Lasky Feature Play Co.

Jack London's Film Stories
Made by

HOBART BOSWORTH

Bosworth, Inc.

The Productions of these three foremost

Paramount Pictures

Distributors, 110 West 40th St.,

Program

Releases for First Three Months:

DATE	MAKER	PLAY	STAR
Monday, Aug. 31	Famous Players	"Lost Paradise"	H. B. Warner
SEPTEMBER
Thursday, Sept. 3	Bosworth	"Odyssey of the North"	Bosworth
Monday, 7	Lasky	"Virginian"	Dustin Farnum
Thursday, 10	Famous Players	"Unwelcome Mrs. Hatch"	Henrietta Crosman
Monday, 14	Bosworth	"Burning Daylight"	Bosworth
Thursday, 17	Lasky	"Bobby Burnit"	Edward Abeles
Monday, 21	Famous Players	"Such a Little Queen"	Mary Pickford
Thursday, 24	Bosworth	"Pursuit of Phantom"	Bosworth
Monday, 28	* * * * *
OCTOBER
Thursday, Oct. 1	* * * * *
Monday, 5	Famous Players	"Marta of the Lowlands"	Bertha Kalich
Thursday, 8	* * * * *
Monday, 12	Lasky	"The Rose of the Ring"	Charles Richmond
Thursday, 15	Famous Players	"Aristocracy"	Star to be announced later
Monday, 19	Bosworth	"The Hypocrite"	Smalleys
Thursday, 22	Lasky	"The Battle"	Star to be announced later
Monday, 26	Famous Players	"County Chairman"	Maclyn Arbuckle
Thursday, 29	* * * * *
NOVEMBER
Monday, Nov. 2	Famous Players	"Behind the Scenes"	Mary Pickford
Thursday, 5	* * * * *
Monday, 9	Famous Players	"Strictly Business"	John Barrymore
Thursday, 12	* * * * *
Monday, 16	Lasky	"Rose of the Rancho"	David Belasco's Famous Success
Thursday, 19	* * * * *
Monday, 23	Bosworth	"Chechako" or "Smoke Bellew"	Bosworth
Thursday, 26	Lasky	"Texas"	Star to be announced later
Monday, 30	Famous Players	"Wildflower"	Margaret Clark

 This space being reserved for selections of equal quality from productions of the open markets of the world.

manufacturers distributed exclusively through

Corporation

New York City

"HELD FOR RANSOM"

(The I. S. P. Company—Four Reels)
REVIEWED BY J. BURROUGHS NOELL

A CONFLICT of wits between crooks and detectives has always held the attention of readers. Such a thrilling subject makes good material for the cameraman and scenario writer. There must necessarily be plenty of action, because it is action, not character or brilliant dialogue, that constitutes the backbone of a thriller. Hence it is not hard to understand why a detective plot lends itself so readily to the photographer's art. Furthermore,

THE CROOKS TAKE TO THE MOTORBOAT

this action is constantly leading the chief personages into all sorts of unusual and strange places, and here is always a chance to give freshness, variety and novelty to a film.

This new feature of the I. S. P. Company, released July 16, makes ample use of the opportunities afforded by this sort of material.

The story, in brief, records the effort of a keen and resourceful detective, appropriately named Byrnes, to capture a gang of almost equally sharp and ingenious crooks, headed by Barney Lee, who has kidnapped the daughter of a millionaire. The ruses adopted by the detective to learn the secrets of the gang, the captures, escapes, counter captures and recaptures, culminating in a nerve-racking chase up the Eiffel Tower and the drop of the gang leader from the dizzy heights of that eminence, make a picture full of suspense and excitement.

The films were made in France, and are replete with views of the beautiful landscapes to be seen only in that sun-kissed land. But the characters have been Americanized for audiences here. Even in a drama where action is the important thing and fine points of acting and facial expression might be overlooked with some excuse, there is close attention to every detail of playing. The foreign performers never for an instant forget their parts and never allow themselves to become careless in their delineation.

The producer has hit upon entirely new material so far as our knowledge goes, in utilizing the Eiffel Tower in the pursuit of a criminal. The pictures of the tower and of the surrounding country are capital, and add this to the death-defying climb, which ended in death for the criminal, and there is a most gripping spectacle placed before you.

IMPOSE NEW CONDITIONS ON EXHIBITORS

Special to The Motion Picture News.

Springfield, Ill., July 15.

THE city commissioners have before them for passage an ordinance compelling owners of motion picture theatres in residence districts to secure the consent of property owners for 400 feet on all sides before they will be permitted to open their theatres.

The action follows several complaints from residents in outlying districts where open-air picture theatres were opened early in the season. There is no particular complaint against the pictures themselves, but residents are not in favor of hearing the music of mechanical pianos all evening.

"LUCILLE LOVE: THE GIRL OF MYSTERY"

(Gold Seal—Fifteenth Instalment)
REVIEWED BY PETER MILNE

"LUCILLE LOVE, the Girl of Mystery," has had her say and she will be a thing of the past, when one has looked upon these last two reels of this popular serial. The last instalment forms a stirring finish to the twenty-eight reels that preceded it, and when the last scene disappears from the spectator's vision, he will go away wishing that there were more to come, and hoping that the next Universal "to be continued" picture will reach the high standard set by this one.

The last chapter doesn't lose any of the thrills that marked its predecessors; the lightning action is continued up to the very last moment. Hugo Loubeque, the leading villain of the story, is vanquished, and one cannot help a slight feeling of pity for the energetic heavy whose wonderful mind conceived so many contrivances to do away with Lucille. But then, the heroine won out as all heroines do, and all wished that she would be the victor. Owing to the producing of the picture one was in doubt which would come out on top. It was a fifty-fifty chance which caused the story to be all the more exciting.

At the start of the first reel Lucille is in Hugo's home, amusing herself as well as the audience, by pressing a series of stops and watching different panels slide back, floors sink down, etc. Hugo enters, the precious papers in his hand, and leans nonchalantly against a small table. Lucille presses a button and the table and the floor drop down, throwing Hugo into the cellar. She seizes the papers and disappears. Next she is seen in Washington where all is put aright and her father's good name restored. She then returns to San Francisco and to her lover, Lieutenant Gibson.

THOMPSON IS FOUND DEAD

This young man has been having a hot encounter with Hugo in the latter's house. Swords were used and a regular duel was under way until the detectives entered. Hugo escapes by pressing a few buttons which cause the room to sink down.

If these adventures have done nothing else, they have served to give Francis Ford, Grace Cunard and Ernest Shields, the three leading players, a reputation from coast to coast. But the pictures have done much more, they have entertained hundreds of audiences, helped to establish the serial pictures on a firm basis, and have caused the name Universal to rise considerably in popularity.

"THE LITTLE GRAY LADY"

(Famous Players—Four Reels)

REVIEWED BY WILLIAM RESSMAN ANDREWS

WHILE the acting of Channing Pollock's success, with Jane Gray, the creator of the Little Gray Lady in the original speaking-stage production, in the cast, is superb in the camera presentation, the picture is somewhat difficult to follow from lack of sufficient subtitles.

While the ideal film drama may be one needing no such tags to catch the threads of a plot, the time has not yet come when the average picture fan grasps all the details through pantomime.

The film is full of "punches," however, and contains numerous scenes in which the acting reaches the acme of histrionic ability. With a few more subtitles it will not fail to please lovers of the "legitimate" who want to see Jane Gray in the silent drama, without any unnecessary tax on the attention.

CARLYLE IS ACCUSED OF THEFT

Numerous scenes of Washington, D. C., are reproduced in the photoplay by photography of a high order.

Part of the action takes place in the Treasury Department, where the hero—whose weaknesses make him anything but heroic—has obtained a Civil Service position. The uninitiated get glimpses of departmental routine in the inspection branch of the Treasury. It is while in the performance of his duties here that Carlyle forgets the sweet face of his fiancée, Anna Grey, in the fascination for Ruth, a young lady who not only likes the expensive things of life, but forms her appraisal of men by their ability to indulge her taste for high living.

Carlyle soon gets into debt and is pressed by his creditors. To relieve himself of their importunities he raises money by pasting together pieces of mutilated bills obtained while performing his duties as inspector.

It is not long before the Secret Service men get on his tracks and he is in danger of arrest and imprisonment. But the pleadings of Anna Grey, "the little gray lady," the patient and loyal sweetheart, with the detective saves the weak culprit.

Friends arrange to send him and the girl to a South American plantation, where he begins life anew.

SEVERAL ST. LOUIS THEATRES USE BIG FEATURES

Special to The Motion Picture News.

St. Louis, July 15.

THE policy of changing a program of five one and two-reel subjects to a five or more reel feature has been adopted by two down-town theatres, The Gem, 16 South Sixth street, and the Broadway, Broadway and St. Charles street. The popularity of the large feature is on the increase in St. Louis, and many of the neighborhood theatres and airdomes have one, two and three feature nights a week.

LOCAL FIRM FORMED IN ALBANY

Albany, N. Y., July 16.

FOR the purpose of making motion pictures of local and vicinity events and showing a film of these events weekly in a local theatre, a company has been formed in this city with Howard Curtis, M. J. Sweeney as the moving spirits. That the new venture will be a success there is no doubt, as there are plenty of events taking place at different times in Albany that the Albanians would like to see screened. The first film made by the new company was the jubilee procession of Bishop Burke's. The picture made a big hit at Proctor's.

"JOHN BARLEYCORN"

(Bosworth, Inc.—Six Reels)

REVIEWED BY WILLIAM RESSMAN ANDREWS

WITHOUT plot in the general acceptation of the term, this film version of Jack London's reminiscences, so astounding in the De Quincey-like frankness of their revelations, deserves and probably will receive the serious attention and approval of all audiences.

Incidents best suited to an impressive picturization of the high lights in this remarkable human document have been staged with gripping realism.

From the time the author suffers the pitiful contact with drink in the frightful experience of intoxication at the tender age of five to his later battles with a habit refusing to be easily broken, the spectator sees visualized in a wonderful panorama the constant struggle for mastery and self-respect of a strong nature with a subtle and uncompromising foe.

John Barleycorn is the personification of liquor and its misuse, and the pictures illustrating the drab and brutal moments of the narrative drive home a strong lesson for temperance.

It must not be supposed, however, from this statement that the producers intended to put on a film entitling them to honorary membership in the W. C. T. U.! The temperance lesson merely happens to be in the scenes, selected wholly for their dramatic possibilities.

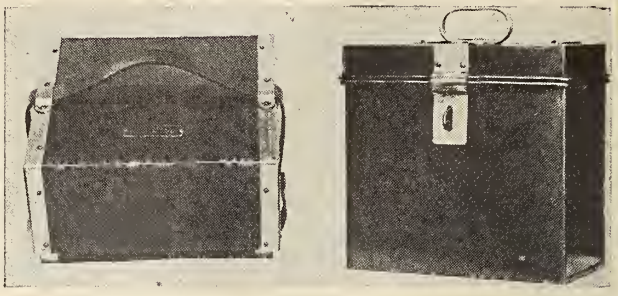
LONDON'S SECOND ENCOUNTER WITH "JOHN BARLEYCORN"

"John Barleycorn" is meant primarily for entertainment—to display for less robust natures by the aid of the camera the unusual adventures of a dynamic personality. It has more genuine thrills than many a so-called "thriller."

And the film has the extraordinary quality of reaching all tastes—a matter of considerable importance to exhibitors. It will appeal to "highbrow" audiences, critical of subject and the manner in which it has been handled, as well as pleasing those who "just want to see a picture."

For some unknown reason the producers have neglected to put out any paper—at any rate, here in the East. A liberal use of heralds and one-sheets, if graphically representative of the film itself, might not be amiss. But perhaps it is thought that the picture will advertise itself without them. And very likely they are right.

Film Quality



Quality in the film—quality from a technical photographic standpoint is as important to the Exhibitor as is interest in the story that the film tells.

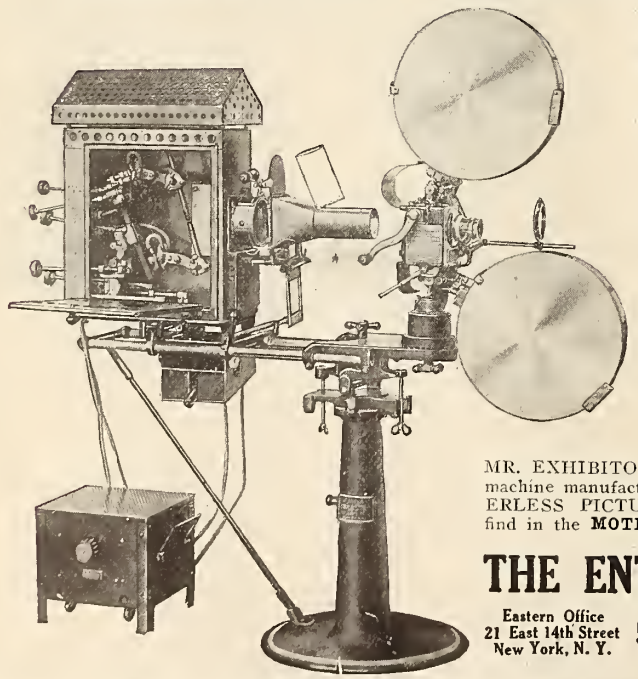
There's one film that's recognized the world over as the standard of quality — that is always used by those whose effort it is to give the Exhibitors the very best goods and the very best service—Eastman film.

And it is identifiable. Look for "Eastman" on the perforated margin.

EASTMAN KODAK COMPANY,
ROCHESTER, N. Y.

Metal Carrying Cases

Approved Fibre Lined Metal Carrying Cases For Shipping Films. All Sizes For Any Number of Reels. The Strongest and Best on the Market



Sharlow Brothers Company

Manufacturers of Portable, Asbestos and Sheet Metal Motion Picture Booths, Metal Slide Carriers, Film Reels, Film Cans, Film Cabinets, Carrying Cases, Metal Re-Winding Tables, Racks and Shelves

440-442 WEST FORTY-SECOND ST.
439-441 WEST FORTY-FIRST ST.
NEW YORK CITY

THE MOTIOGRAPH

$250.00 $250.00 $250.00

Is the Greatest Motion Picture Machine value per dollar ever made in this country

A few of the reasons why you should use the MOTIOGRAPH:

1. ROCK STEADY PICTURES
2. SHARP AND FLICKERLESS PICTURES
3. Extra Heavy Arc Lamp
4. Brighter Light
5. Absolutely Fire-Proof
6. Hardened and ground star and cam
7. No wearing out of parts
8. Low cost of up-keep
9. All parts made in MOTIOGRAPH Factory
10. Every part guaranteed
11. Its simplicity
12. A money saver in up-keep as well as first cost

MR. EXHIBITOR:—It is your duty as a successful Exhibitor to buy the BEST machine manufactured, which should give ROCK STEADY, SHARP and FLICKERLESS PICTURES, with SMALL up-keep. All of these qualities you will find in the MOTIOGRAPH.

THE ENTERPRISE OPTICAL MFG. CO.

Eastern Office
21 East 14th Street
New York, N. Y.

564 W. Randolph St., CHICAGO, ILL.

Western Office
833 Market Street
San Francisco, Cal.

FOR RENT

A Centrally Located

Motion Picture Studio

Located in Heart of N. Y. City—12 minutes from Times Square—Ground Floor—Separate Building

FOR A LIMITED PERIOD

Stage Space, 50 x 90 Feet—7 Large Sets Can Be Put Up At One Time—Good Stock Scenery, Etc.

Lighting Equipment Pronounced Second to None

By the COOPER HEWITT CO.

Address, J. J. COLEMAN, Studio M'g'r 517-19 W. 54th St., N. Y. City

PHONE, 6498 COLUMBUS

The Centaur Film Co.

The Oldest Independent Film Manufacturer has the Largest Commercial Plant in America. The most up-to-date equipment and an organization second to none.

Printing and Developing in any Quantity

Guarantee Quality—Prices Interesting

THE CENTAUR FILM CO.

Factory and Studio BAYONNE, N. J.

Offices 1600 Broadway, N. Y

It Pays To Use The Best

The brightness of your entrance or the names of your films may attract the passer-by, but a permanent clientele depends on the way your pictures are thrown upon the screen.

Bausch and Lomb Projection Lenses

pay, because they insure absolutely clear, clean-cut, brilliant screen images. The kind that mean an increase in patronage and profits.

Equip your machine with the best—Bausch & Lomb objectives and condensers. Always supplied with Edison and Nicholas Power Machines, and procurable through any film exchange.

Write for our free booklet. You will find it of interest and value.

Bausch & Lomb Optical Co.

569 ST. PAUL STREET ROCHESTER, N.Y.

FREE "POSTAGE" STAMPS

A new craze is sweeping the country. It has not reached every section yet, but judging by the way it has caught on in cities where it has made its appearance, it will soon embrace every city, town and hamlet.

It is the collecting of "postage stamps" bearing the latest portraits of American motion picture actors and actresses. Of course, these stamps are not actually good for postage, but otherwise they represent postage stamps. Uncle Sam will not permit an exact copy of the designs used by the United States

In some cities nearly all motion picture theatres are handing them out free, with the compliments of proprietors, to all patrons who ask for them. They have proved such a popular novelty that they are fast superseding the giving away of postal cards bearing the photoplayers' portraits and other souvenirs that have heretofore been in vogue. As stamps of different players are given on different days, it ensures a big attendance, as the fans do not want to miss the day that a stamp of their particular favorite is being distributed.

Your FREE sample set of 100 valuable stamps is ready for you, Mr. Exhibitor. Also a free stamp album.

Simply mail the coupon.

This same set is being bought by the public at one dollar.

It has cost thousands of dollars to make the steel engraved stamp dies from which these sets have been struck off.

Therefore you will appreciate receiving the valuable sample set which enables you to actually see how rich looking these beautifully colored stamps are. They have gummed backs and are of the color of real postage stamps.

Seeing is believing, and after seeing these stamps you will believe the above clippings from newspapers and trade papers which tell how the public are crowding motion picture houses, that give away only ONE of these stamps with each admission.

The Famous Star Series stamps are the only stamps obtainable bearing the latest portraits of all the most popular photoplayers, both licensed and independent. There are one hundred different stamps in this series. As every stamp bears a different portrait of a famous star, "fans" come day after day for a hundred days to get each different stamp in the series in order to complete their collection. The "fans" by showing these stamps to their friends will attract hundreds of new

FREE
"POSTAGE" STAMPS

The portraits on the stamps are sufficiently large and clear to be easily recognized, as the stamps are nearly three times as large as actual postage stamps, and the portraits are perfect reproductions of photographs. It is impossible in a newspaper illustration to show how really attractive they are.

A collection of these stamps will soon be of undoubted cash value, as new designs are constantly being made and the first ones will in time grow very scarce. All those who have collected postage stamps know that some series which are no longer used bring fabulous prices, as high as a thousand dollars having often been paid for an old, cancelled postage stamp by some enthusiastic collector who needed it to complete his collection and who had neglected to secure it in the days when it could have been had for the asking.

patrons. Other exhibitors have found this to be true. You will bless the day you sent for a free sample set. Or are you going to neglect this opportunity and allow your competitors to be the first to make money out of the stamp craze in your neighborhood? It is impossible to show in black and white on this page, the beauty, clearness and rich brilliancy of color of the actual stamps.

Your valuable sample set is ready for you and will be sent by return mail.

Arthur Leslie

P. S. I also wish to hear from supply houses, exchanges and others in those cities where the stamps are not already a popular craze, who wish to be the first to handle these money getting stamps in their territory. Don't wait until the Fall when the market will be flooded with stamps. Get in on the ground floor. Action. Action. Don't let procrastination or the hot weather rob you of opportunity. Surprisingly liberal terms.

Tear out and mail NOW

VALUABLE COUPON

Arthur Leslie
1505 Broadway
New York.

For this Coupon and 5 two cent stamps (which I enclose to cover cost of handling and mailing) send me free a complete set of 100 different portrait "postage" stamps and a stamp album.

.....
Exhibitor's Name

.....
Name of Theatre

.....
Street address

.....
City and State

Fill In and MAIL THIS MINUTE

The ALBUQUERQUE FILM MFG. CO., Inc.

RELEASING THROUGH

Warner's Features, Inc.

FEATURING

Miss Dot Farley

IN FEATURE STORIES WRITTEN AND ACTED BY HER.

PRODUCED UNDER THE DIRECTION OF

GILBERT P. HAMILTON

Past Releases

"First Law of Nature"
"The Trail of the Law"
"A Web of Fate"
"The Course of Justice"
"The Unwritten Justice"
"The Daughter of the Tribe"

Ready for Release

"The Lust of the Red Man"
The greatest Indian Story ever produced.
"The Toll of the Warpath"
"The Price of Crime"
Undoubtedly the greatest three-reel subject of the year.
"False Pride Has a Fall"

OTHER GREAT PRODUCTIONS IN COURSE OF CONSTRUCTION AT THEIR

WESTERN STUDIO
406 Court St., Los Angeles, Calif.

Laying the Ghost of the "Summer Slump"

(Continued from page 20)

Milwaukee, Wis.

THOUGH competition is as heavy as in most towns, there is still room for more exhibitors as the business grows. There is little chance of any amalgamation of either the large or small theatres, as most of the exhibitors are perfectly contented with things as they are.

The exchange men and exhibitors work hand in hand, and though the rental has been increased about twenty-five per cent during the past year and indications point to another increase of about twenty per cent in the next year, the rentals are far from excessive. The exchange men are very sanguine about the future, and, all in all, things present a very rosy appearance in this city.

Beloit, Wis.

While the rentals have increased in Beloit somewhat during the past year, the managers are not particularly disturbed. Not one of the five theatres in Beloit is a losing proposition; not even remotely so. And no theatres are changing hands without good and sufficient reasons. There are no sales of houses here because the business does not pay.

Canton, O.

Indications of the prosperity of the film houses here is shown by the number of improvements made in the last few months. Several different theatres have been remodeled and enlarged until the average seating capacity is now approximately 750. One new theatre is in course of construction which will seat over 1,200, and the Orpheum Theatre, now seating 800, is to be enlarged in the fall.

New Haven, Conn.

Under ordinary circumstances, New Haven is one of the most fruitful of the motion picture fields, and could even accommodate as many as thirty-five or forty houses. In the past, before the introduction of the feature programs, when theatres all over had programs similar in length and character no matter what the price, proprietors have done well, and in most instances have made improvements from time to time that have been in line with the movements to "elevate the moving pictures."

St. Louis, Mo.

Film business all along the line shows a good healthy growth. There is now and then a short period of depression that causes the easily discouraged and timid exhibitor to prophesy dire things for the trade, but in the main business is good, and there is every indication that the future holds progress and a steady upward climb.

New Orleans, La.

However, through the state generally the films enjoy a lucrative Sunday business. As a general rule, the towns in both states that have had the most phenomenal growth in the past two or three years owe their prosperity to the lumber business, and the theatres in those places owe their patronage to the laboring element. In these places there is little or no business done except at night, and retiring hours are so early that the theatre manager must be satisfied with getting most of his patronage with one performance.

There is not a great deal of building in prospect for the coming months. During the past year there has been a distinct tendency of the regular theatres to abandon their bookings and substitute films.

What Do You Need?

LISTING IN THE BUYERS' GUIDE, FOR NAME AND ADDRESS, INCLUDING ONE YEAR'S SUBSCRIPTION TO THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS—$8.00 A YEAR, CASH IN ADVANCE. FREE TO ADVERTISERS USING $100.00 OR MORE WORTH OF DISPLAY SPACE DURING THE YEAR. ADDRESS ADVERTISING DEPARTMENT

ANNOUNCEMENT SLIDES

Niagara Slide Co., Lockport, N. Y.

ASBESTOS BOOTHS

Sharlow Bros., 442 W. 42nd St., New York.

COSTUMERS

Miller-Costumier, 236 South 11th St., Philadelphia, Pa.

DEVELOPING TANKS

A. J. Corcoran, Inc., 9½ John St., New York.

ELECTRIC LIGHTING SETS

The Chas. A. Strelinger Co., Box P-2, Detroit, Mich.

FILMS

(Manufacturers, Dealers and Renters)

American Film Mfg. Co., Chicago, Ill.
Thomas A. Edison, Inc., 275 Lakeside Ave., Orange, N. J.
Essanay Film Mfg. Co., First National Bank Bldg., Chicago, Ill.
General Film Co., 200 Fifth Ave., New York.
George Kleine, 166 N. State St., Chicago, Ill.
Lubin Mfg. Co., Philadelphia, Pa.
G. Melies, 204 E. 38th St., New York.
Mutual Film Corp., 71 W. 23rd St., New York.
New York Motion Picture Corp., Longacre Bldg., New York.
Pathé Freres, 1 Congress St., Jersey City, N. J.
Renfax Film Co., Inc., 110 W. 40th St., N. Y.
Selig Polyscope Co., Chicago, Ill.
Thanhouser Film Corp., New Rochelle N. Y.
Universal Film Mfg. Co., 1600 Broadway, N. Y.

FILM ACCESSORIES

Berlin Aniline Works, 213 Water St., N. Y.

FILM TITLES, PRINTING, DEVELOPING, ETC.

Commercial Motion Pictures Co., Inc., 220 W. 42d St., New York.
Centaur Film Co., 670-682 Ave. E, Bayonne, N. J.
Evans Film Mfg. Co., 412-22 W. 216th St., at Broadway, New York.
Gunby Bros., Inc., 145 W. 45th St., New York.
Harvard Film Corporation, 231-233 Tenth Ave., New York.
Industrial Moving Picture Co., 223-233 W. Erie St., Chicago.
Standard Motion Picture Co., 5 S. Wahash Ave., Chicago.

FILM REELS

Lang Mfg. Works, Olean, N. Y.
Taylor-Shantz Company, 224 Mill St., Rochester, N. Y.

FURNITURE AND FURNISHING ON RENTAL

William Birns, 103-105 West 37th St., N. Y.

FEATURE FILMS

Aetna Film Co., Longacre Bldg., New York.
The Albuquerque Film Mfg. Co., Inc., 406 Court St., Los Angeles, Calif.
All Star Feature Corp., 220 W. 42nd St., N. Y.
Ambrosio American Co., 15 E. 26th St., N. Y.
Bosworth, Inc., 648 Olive St., Los Angeles, Cal.
Box Office Attraction Film Rental Co., 130 W. 46th St., New York.
A. Blinkhorn, 110 W. 40th St., New York.
California Motion Picture Corp., San Francisco, Cal.
Cosmofotofilm Co., 110 W. 40th St., New York.
Direct-From-Broadway Features Co., 46 W. 24th St., New York.
Eclair Film Co., 126 W. 46th St., New York.
Eclectic Film Co., 110 W. 40th St., New York.
European Feature Film Co., 220 W. 42nd St., New York.
Features Ideal, 126 W. 46th St., New York.
Feature Photoplay Co., 220 W. 42nd St., N. Y.
Famous Players Film Co., 213-229 W. 26th St., New York.
Films Lloyds, Inc., 220 W. 42nd St., N. Y.
General Film Co., 200 Fifth Ave., New York.
General Feature Film Co., Powers Bldg., Chicago, Ill.
Gaumont Co., 110 W. 40th St. New York.
Gloria American Co., 110 W. 40th St., N. Y.
Greene's Feature Photo Plays, Inc., 110 W. 40th St., New York.
W. W. Hodkinson, 110 W. 40th St., New York.
Imperial Motion Picture Co. of N. Y., Inc., 1476 Broadway, N. Y.
Italian American Film Corp., 1482 Broadway, New York.
Inter-Continent Film Co., 110 W. 40th St., New York.
George Kleine Attractions, 166 N. State St., Chicago, Ill.
New York Office: 1476 Broadway.
Jesse L. Lasky Feature Play Co., Longacre Theatre, New York.
Lea-Bel Company, 912 Schiller Bldg., Chicago.
Leading Players Film Corp., 126 W. 46th St., New York.
Life Photo Film Corp., 220 W. 42d St., N. Y.
Mecca Feature Film Co., Inc., 126 W. 46th St., New York.
Mohawk Film Co., Times Bldg., New York.
Mundstuck Features, 909 Longacre Bldg., N. Y.
Pan-American Film Co., 110 W. 40th St., N. Y.
Paramount Pictures Corp., 110 W. 40th St., New York
Pasquali American Co., 110 W. 40th St., N. Y.
Phoenix Feature Film Corp., 164 Federal St., Boston, Mass.
Photo Play Production Co., 220 W. 42nd St., New York.
Playgoers Film Co., Lyric Theatre, New York.
Popular Plays and Players Co., 1600 Broadway, New York.
Progress Film Co., 110 W. 40th St., New York.
Progressive Motion Picture Corp., Times Bldg., New York.
Ramo Films, Inc., Columbia Theatre Bldg., New York.
Rolands Feature Film Co., 145 W. 45th St., New York.
A. H. Sawyer, Inc., 1600 Broadway, New York.
Stellar Photoplay Co., 1476 Broadway, N. Y.
Sterling Camera & Film Co., 145 W. 45th St., New York.
Solax Co., Fort Lee, N. J.
Union Features, 126 W. 46th St., New York.
Unique Film Co., Inc., 110 W. 40th St., N. Y.
Universal Film Mfg. Co., 1600 Broadway, N. Y.
University Films, Inc., 110 W. 40th St., N. Y.
Edw. H. Wagner, Agt., Dania Biofilm Co., 38 Park Place, New York.
World Film Corporation, 130 W. 46th St., New York.
Warner's Features, Inc., 130 W. 46th St., N. Y.

LANTERN SLIDE MATS AND REEL BANDS

Lantern Slide Mat Co., 627 Greenwich St., N. Y.

LABELS

Every Ready Roll Label Co., 203-7 W. 40th St., New York City.

LIGHTING PLANTS

Cushman Motor Works, Lincoln, Neb.

LOBBY PHOTOS

The Wyanoak Pub. Co., 136 52nd St., N. Y.

MOTION PICTURE MACHINES AND SUPPLIES

Amusement Supply Co., 160 E. North Fifth Ave., Chicago, Ill.
Calehuff Supply Co., 1301 Race St., Philadelphia, Pa.
Enterprise Optical Co., 568 W. Randolph St., Chicago, Ill.
Ernemann, 114 Fifth Ave., New York.
Lears Theatre Supply Co., Sam Lears, Prop., 509 Chestnut St., St. Louis, Mo.
Oliver Moving Picture Supply Co., 647 Euclid Ave., Cleveland, O.
Picture Theatre Equipment Co., 21 E. 14th St., New York.
Precision Machine Co., 317 E. 34th St., N. Y.
Nicholas Power Co., 90 Gold St., New York.
The Phantascope Mfg. Co., Washington, D. C.
Sweeley's Photo Supply House, 514-516 Erie Ave., Renova, Pa.
Williams, Brown & Earle, Inc., 916-918 Chestnut St., Philadelphia, Pa.

MOTION PICTURE APPARATUS

Burke & James, Inc., 240-258 E. Ontario St., Chicago, Ill.

MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS

Rudolph Wurlitzer Co., Cincinnati, O.
American Photoplayer Co., Berkeley, Calif.

NOVELTIES

Philip Hano, 806-810 Greenwich St., New York.

POSTER AND PICTURE FRAMES

Menger & Ring, 442 W. 42nd St., New York

RAW FILM

Eastman Kodak Co., Rochester, N. Y.
Celluloses Planchon, Inc., 75 Fifth Ave., New York.
David Horsley, 1600 Broadway, N. Y.
Raw Film Supply Co., 15 E. 26th St., N. Y.

OPERA CHAIRS

The Hardesty Mfg. Co., Canal Dover, Ohio.
Steel Furniture Co., Grand Rapids, Mich.

PIPE ORGANS

Henry Pilcher's Sons, 914-920 Mason Ave., Louisville, Ky.
M. P. Moller, Hagerstown, Md.

PROJECTION LENSES

Bausch & Lomb Optical Co., 569 St. Paul St., Rochester, N. Y.

POSTERS

The Morgan Lithograph Co., Cleveland, Ohio.

REWINDERS AND GENERAL SUPPLIES

L. C. Smith Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

SCREENS

Atsco, Inc., 218 West 42nd St., New York.
Day & Night Screens, Inc., 291 Broadway, New York.
Mirror Screen Co., Inc., Shelbyville, Ind.

STEEL FILM EQUIPMENT FOR EXCHANGES AND MFRS.

Columbia Metal Box Co., 226-228 E. 144th St., New York.

THEATRE LOBBY FRAMES AND FIXTURES

Eagle Frame Co., 506 N. Ca.penter St., Chicago, Ill.
Newman Mfg. Co., 715 Sycamore St., Cincinnati, O.

UNIFORMS

Fechheimer Bros., Union-made Uniforms, Cincinnati, O.

VENTILATION, COOLING AND HEATING

Typhoon Fan Co., 1544 Broadway, N. Y.

RIGHT OFF THE REEL

Thomas Santschi and Bessie Eyton, of Western Selig studio at Los Angeles, and a company are at the Catalina Islands for a three weeks stay. They will make marine pictures.

Manager Isadore Bernstein, of the Western Universal studios, is wearing a fine straw helmet, one of the souvenirs brought from Hawaii by the McRea 101 Bison Company, which has just completed a successful picture making trip.

The camels at the animal farm at Universal City (Calif.) were sheared recently—principally as a sanitary precaution, and the resulting camels' hair was sold for three hundred and fifty dollars.

In the Industrial parade, representing all the industries of Southern California, which took place a few days ago in Los Angeles and which was reviewed by the Mayor, city officials and prominent men of the state, the Universal occupied the place of honor; the company's representation led the march. While more than one hundred industries were represented, those having the parade in charge felt that the Universal was the leading industry of the section. Several scenes were taken of the parade and will be incorporated in the Animated Weekly.

Jack Lystone, new director of Joker comedies, with Bess Meredyth as leading woman, and Ernest Shields as leading man, is now producing a slapstick entitled "The Third Party" at the West Coast studios.

Robert Brower, of Edison, has had the pleasure of riding in the Pullman "Federal," which is the private car that Colonel Roosevelt used in all his travels.

William Clifford, leading man of the Henry McRae 101 Bison Company, which has been in the Hawaiian Islands for the past four months, has arrived home. At four o'clock on June 28 Bill was presented with a bouncing baby daughter, weight nine pounds. Everybody fine and Bill proud as a peacock.

Ethel Clayton, of the Lubin Company, received a notification from the Onyx Club, who have branches throughout the southwest, that she was awarded second prize in their Photoplay Favorite contest. She received twenty-five thousand votes. This makes the fourth club contest in which the Lubin leading lady has competed and in all four she received first or second prize.

For the staging of "When the Heart Calls," a two-reel Imp drama, Herbert Brenon, director, needed certain styles of exterior settings. Informed that Stamford, Connecticut, or the country thereabouts, could furnish what was wanted, Herbert gathered his players and took them up there.

"GYPSY LOVE"

(The G. W. Feature Film Corp.—Five Reels)

REVIEWED BY J. BURROUGHS NOELL

THE romance and glamour associated with gypsy life make an untiring and undiminishing appeal to all ages and conditions of readers and theatre-goers. There is something mysterious about these elemental, nomadic people that has always aroused the curiosity and interest of everyone.

This picture, which is released July 20, presents a portrait of gypsy life, its strange, wild character. But we see that in spite of its roving, almost primitive characteristic, it is not without its affecting incidents, its unselfish, sweet sacrifices, and that it is not all mean and base and sordid.

IN THE CAMP OF THE GYPSIES

Some love letters cause all the trouble in this picture. These are given over to the mayor's wife for safekeeping by another woman, a part of whose liaison with a handsome young fellow these formed. This affair is merely suggested, and not too much of it is given to offend the most Puritan sensibilities. But the mayor believes that they are his wife's love letters, and in revulsion of feeling, hands his little girl over to the gypsies.

When the horrible mistake is revealed, the daughter cannot be found. She grows to blooming young womanhood, beloved by a young gypsy named Erik. Sold to a heartless, voluptuous baron, she escapes, with Erik's aid, and the two join an acrobatic troupe. The mayor has been searching high and low for Dolly, and comes across the gypsy band again. But the chieftain palms off another girl, Azucena, for Dolly. She keeps up the pretense for a while but finally confesses. With her aid, the troupe is located, Dolly is restored to her parents, and brings into the family her gypsy husband, Erik, who is accepted as a son-in-law.

The acting throughout the five reels of this picture is excellent. Make-up, facial play and gestures are not overdone, as is often the case before the camera; but the work is restrained and at the same time free and easy. The playing of Miss Dolly Simmonditti as Dolly, Miss Emma Le Bar as Azucena, Edgar Sloan as Erik, Allan De Lature as the Mayor, and Joel La Rue as the Chieftain, is especially to be commended. But it is hardly fair to pick out individual players for praise, because the whole cast is extremely well-balanced.

The play is well calculated to entertain and amuse. Details are treated with care, and accuracy seems to characterize the entire production.

"SHORTY AND THE ARIDVILLE TERROR"

(Broncho—Two Reels)

REVIEWED BY PETER MILNE

UP to this experience of Shorty, each of the two reels has been half drama and half comedy. This picture affords a change from the previous scenes, and the drama is left out entirely. Two reels full of laughs is what this offering holds out to the exhibitor. One would have to be exceedingly pessimistic if he failed to laugh at some of the sidesplitting action that the picture contains.

The Aridville Terror is a true bad man of the Nick Carter style. He rides through the town, shooting off two pistols at once, and spreading terror among the inhabitants and laughter among the audience. Shorty had been flirting with the dentist's wife, and she administered a severe punishment on him by extracting one of his teeth. Shorty tells the Terror about the lovely woman, and he meets the same fate. The picture ends with a wild chase in which the whole town participates.

WILL SHOW MOTION PICTURES IN RAILROAD CARS

A NEW idea in the exhibition of motion pictures has come to light in Springfield, Ill., in the incorporation of the Jones Brothers Railroad Moving Picture Shows. The company is capitalized at $2,500, and is to own, operate and control railroad cars for the purpose of exhibiting motion pictures therein. The incorporators are Edward B. Jones, Anna M. Jones and Ralph C. Jones.

Edward B. Jones, who heads the new company, has secured a copyright on his idea and proposes to offer the latest novelty in the exhibiting of motion pictures.

The first car of the new company will start out within six weeks, and it is proposed to exhibit in all the smaller communities, particularly those wherein there are no regular picture theatres.

TOO FEW "QUALITY" FEATURES; HOUSE CLOSES

Special to THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS

PYhiladelphia, July 16.

THE Regent Theatre, Market street near Seventeenth, PYhiladelphia, closed its doors on June 27 for two weeks, and reopened on July 11, with Mary PiYckford in "The Eagle's Mate." The reason which was given to the public was that it desired to renovate the theatre, and to install new comforts for its patrons and additions to the wonderful organ "with the human voice."

It is said, however, in "the trade," that the proprietor was unable to get enough new shows of the quality and calibre which this house uses. As a matter of fact, no one except Famous Players is releasing any very big stuff at the present time.

HARVARD
Send your negative and be convinced that quality and punctuality is our motto
FILM
We print—develop—tint and tone
We furnish camera men for all occasions
CORPORATION
231-233 10th Ave. New York City
W. K. HEDWIG, President Tel. Chelsea 812 J. T. REARDON, Sec'y-Treas.

State Rights For Sale Bookings Made

We wish to announce that we have some good States unsold on

"Evangeline" AND "Gypsy Love"

EVANGELINE is in five parts; 200 scenes; a film classic based upon Longfellow's Immortal Historic Love Story

GYPSY LOVE is in five part; 200 scenes; a Romantic Love Tale beautifully told

Bookings in New York, Western Pennsylvania, Ohio, Delaware, Maryland, District of Columbia, Virginia, and West Virginia. Call, Telephone, Wire or Write

G. W. Feature Film Co. or American & European Film Co.
145 West 45th Street Telephone, 6247 Bryant New York City

See Americans First "Flying A" Feature Films

"THE BROKEN BARRIER"

A Two Act Society Drama

Featuring ED. COXEN and WINNIFRED GREENWOOD

Under direction of THOS. RICKETTS. Release Monday, July 27th, 1914

AMERICAN "BEAUTY"

"A MID-SUMMER LOVE TANGLE"

Refined comedy featuring MARGARITA FISCHER and HARRY POLLARD

Release Tuesday, July 28th, 1914

"DOES IT END RIGHT?"

Featuring WM. GARWOOD and VIVIAN RICH in a dramatic gem.

Under direction of SYDNEY AYRES Release Wednesday, July 29, 1914

"ALL ON ACCOUNT OF A JUG"

Featuring GEORGE FIELD and IDA LEWIS in a screaming comedy

Under direction of THOS. RICKETTS Release Friday, July 31st, 1914

AMERICAN FILM MANUFACTURING CO.

CHICAGO

RECORD OF CURRENT AND COMING RELEASES

EDITOR'S NOTE.—These lists of releases for this week and next are arranged in this form for the convenience of the operator and exhibitor. In the blank column a record may be kept of the date when a given subject will be shown at your house. Keep it in a convenient place for future reference.

GENERAL FILM PROGRAM
RELEASES OF THE WEEK

AT MY HOUSE

MONDAY, JULY 13TH, 1914.

BIOGRAPH. That Boy from the Poorhouse, D, 996..... 15445
EDISON. Qualifying for Lena, C, 1000..... 15452
ESSANAY. Sweedie the Swatter, C, 1000..... 15454
KALEM. A Diamond in the Rough, D, 2000..... 15446
PATHE. A Russian Boar Hunt, Hunt, 500..... 15448
The Wine Industry, Marsala, Ind., 500.....
SICILY———
SELIG. The Wilderness Mail, D, 2000..... 15449
SELIG. Hearst-Selig News Pictorial No. 39, N, 1000..... 15453
VITAGRAPH. The Soul of Luigi, D, 1000..... 15451

TUESDAY, July 14TH, 1914.

EDISON. The Two Doctors, D, 1000..... 15455
ESSANAY. At the Foot of the Hill, D, 1000..... 15456
KALEM. Accused, D, 1000..... 15465
KLEINE. The Rival Actresses, D, 2000..... 15457
LUBIN. He Was Bad, C, 400.. 15463
Tough Luck, C, 600.....
MELIES. Rags and Patriotism, C. 1000..... 15464
PATHE. Through the Bosnia and Dalmatia, T, 300..... 15459
The Tombs of the Ancient Japanese, Emperors, Annam, Indo-China, S, 350.....
Waterfalls at Aragonia. Spain Spain, T, 300.....
SELIG. An Egyptian Princess, C, 1000..... 15460
VITAGRAPH. Fogg's Millions, D, 2000 15461

WEDNESDAY, JULY 15TH, 1914.

EDISON. The Ever-Gallant Mar-Marquis, C, 500..... 15400
An Up-to-Date Courtship, C, 500 .....
ESSANAY. The Fable of Napoleon and the Bumps, C, 1000.. 15469
KALEM. The Express Messenger, D, 2000..... 15467
LUBIN. Codes of Honor, D, 2000 15474
MELIES. Justly Punished, D, 1000 15476
PATHE. Pathé's Weekly No. 45-1914, N, 1000..... 15470
SELIG. His Last Appeal, D, 2000 15472
VITAGRAPH. The Arrival of Josie, C, 1000..... 15471

THURSDAY, JULY 16TH, 1914.

BIOGRAPH. The Prospectors, D, 1000..... 15477
ESSANAY. Snakeville's New Waitress, C, 1000..... 15478
LUBIN. The Cross of Crime, D, 2000 15479
MELIES. The Test of True Love, C, 1000..... 15481
A Sublime Deception, D 2000 15484
SELIG. Hearst-Selig News Pictorial No. 40, N. 1000..... 15483
VITAGRAPH. The Little Captain, C, 1000..... 15482

FRIDAY, JULY 17TH, 1914.

EDISON. Meg o' the Mountains, D, 2000..... 15486
Essanay. His Stolen Fortune, D, 2000 15488
KALEM. Wanted an Heir, C, 1000 15490
LUBIN. The Lie, D, 1000..... 15493
SELIG. Wiggs Takes the Rest Cure, C, 1000..... 15491
VITAGRAPH. Pigs Is Pigs, C, 1000 15492

AT MY HOUSE

SATURDAY, JULY 18TH, 1914.

BIOGRAPH. It Was Some Party, C, 653 15500
Some Decorators, C, 344....
EDISON. Across the Burning Trestle, D, 1000..... 15494
ESSANAY. Broncho Billy Puts One Over, D, 1000..... 15495
KALEM. The Fate of a Squaw, D, 1000..... 15499
LUBIN. She Wanted to Know, C, 400..... 15496
All for Love, C, 600.....
MELIES. The River's Secret, D, 2000..... 15502
VITAGRAPH. The Song of the Ghetto, D, 2000..... 15497

GENERAL FILM PROGRAM
RELEASES OF NEXT WEEK

MONDAY, JULY 20TH, 1914.

BIOGRAPH. The World and the Woman, D., 998..... 15504
EDISON. The Adventures of the Absent-Minded Professor, C., 1000 15511
ESSANAY. Money Talks, C., 1000 15513
KALEM. In Wolf's Clothing, D., 2000 15505
PATHE. The Crayfish, E., 500. 15507
In French Guinea, T., 500.
SELIG. A Woman Laughs, D., 2000 15508
SELIG. Hearst-Selig News Pictorial, No. 41, N., 1000..... 15512
VITAGRAPH. Love, the Clairvoyant, D., 1000..... 15510

TUESDAY, JULY 21ST, 1914.

EDISON. A Matter of Minutes, D., 1000 15514
ESSANAY. Mrs. Billington's First Case, C., 1000..... 15515
KALEM. The Beast, D., 1000.. 15524
KLEINE. The Stronger Tie, D., 1800 15516
LUBIN. Temper and Temperature, C., 400..... 15522
Worms Will Turn, C., 600.
PATHE. A Badger Hunt, Hunt., 600 15518
Life in Japan, Customs, 400
SELIG. The Lure of the Ladies, C., 1000 15519
VITAGRAPH. Bread Upon the Waters, D., 2000..... 15520

WEDNESDAY, JULY 22ND, 1914

EDISON. A Deal in Statuary, C., 550 15525
His Wife's Burglar, C., 500
ESSANAY. The Fable of Higher Education That Was Too High for the Old Man, C., 1000.... 15528
KALEM. The Rival Railroad's Plot, D., 2000..... 15526
LUBIN. Who Seeks Revenge, D., 2000 15532
MELIES. His Sense of Duty, D., 1000 15534
PATHE. Pathe's Weekly, No. 46, 1914, N., 1000..... 15529
SELIG. The Sealed Package, D., 1000 15531
VITAGRAPH. Buddy's Downfall, C., 1000..... 15530

THURSDAY, JULY 23RD, 1914.

BIOGRAPH. The Snow Busters, C., 404 15535
The Cheeseville Cops, C., 594
ESSANAY. Slippery Slim's Inheritance, C., 1000..... 15536
LUBIN. The False Shadow, D., 2000 15537
MELIES. Wanted a Sweetheart, C., 1000 15539
MELIES. Why Preachers Leave Home, C., 2000..... 15542
SELIG. Hearst-Selig News Pictorial, No. 42, N., 1000..... 15541

AT MY HOUSE

VITAGRAPH. The Apple, D., 1000 15540

FRIDAY, JULY 24TH, 1914.

EDISON. Laddie, D., 2000.. 15544
ESSANAY. A Letter From Home., D., 2000..... 15546
KALEM. The Bingville Fire Department, C., 2000..... 15548
LUBIN. A Traitor to His Country, D., 1000..... 15551
SELIG. The Substitute Heir, C., 1000 15549
VITAGRAPH. The Winning Trick, C., 1000..... 15550

SATURDAY, JULY 25TH, 1914.

BIOGRAPH. The Little Widow, D., 1009..... 15558
EDISON. The Last Assignment, D., 1000 15552
ESSANAY. Broncho Billy and the Gambler, D., 1000 15553
KALEM. Defying the Chief, D., 1000 15557
LUBIN. A Matter of Record, C., 1000 15554
MELIES. Black Pearls, D., 2000 15560
SELIG. Footprints, C., 1000... 15559
VITAGRAPH. Romantic Josie, C., 2000 15555

UNIVERSAL PROGRAM
RELEASES OF THE WEEK

MONDAY, JULY 13TH, 1914.

IMP. When the World Was Silent, D, 2000.....
STERLING. Almost Married, C
VICTOR. Out of the Valley, D

TUESDAY, JULY 14TH, 1914.

CRYSTAL. Vivian's Four Beaus and What Pearl's Pearls Did, C, Split Reel.....
GOLD SEAL. Lucille Love, the Girl of Mystery, Series No. 14, D.....
UNIVERSAL IKE. The New Cook, C.....

WEDNESDAY, JULY 15TH, 1914.

ECLAIR. Renunciation, D, 2000
JOKER. Willy Walrus and The Awful Confession, C.....
NESTOR. Her Grave Mistake, D .....

THURSDAY, JULY 16TH, 1914.

IMP. Universal Boy, Series No. 1, C.....
REX. The Sob Sister, D, 2000
STERLING. A Beach Romance, C .....

FRIDAY, JULY 17TH, 1914.

NESTOR. When Eddie Went to the Front, C.....
POWERS. The Severed Hand, D .....
VICTOR. The Panama Pacific Exposition Up to Date, E....

SATURDAY, JULY 18TH, 1914.

101 BISON. A Mexican Spy in America, D, 2000.....
JOKER. His Wife's Family, C

SUNDAY, JULY 19TH, 1914.

ECLAIR. Tango Versus Poker, C.....
FRONTIER. The Ranger's Reward, D.....
REX. Out of the Darkness, D..

UNIVERSAL PROGRAM
RELEASES OF NEXT WEEK

MONDAY, JULY 20TH, 1914.

IMP. In the Sultan's Garden, D.
STERLING. The Circus, C.....
VICTOR. Value Received, D., 2000 .....

TUESDAY, JULY 21ST, 1914.

CRYSTAL. Getting Vivian Married, C.....

Attract Your Audience by an Attractive Lobby!

Send for a set of six WYANOAK high Art reproductions 11x14 of all

KALEM Monday Releases

OR

ALICE JOYCE Series

$1.00 Cost $1.00

WE have just completed a photo gelatine reproduction of

Mary Pickford

This is one of the most startling attractive pictures this favorite has ever enjoyed.

Beginning July 18th we will fill single orders, size 30 x 40

In Sepia - $3.00
Hand Colored 5.00

Only the best is the best and after all we make the BEST.

THE WYANOAK PUBLISHING CO.
136 W. 52nd St., New York City.

KING BAGGOT A RINGER FOR THE GOVERNOR

It is said that every man has a double, and film players are no exception to the general observation. Many amusing misunderstandings are caused by the resemblance of two people, and the likeness of King Baggot to Governor Walsh, of Massachusetts, was recently the cause of such an incident due to mistaken identity.

The governor, who was paying a visit to a Boston public school, asked if any of the pupils knew his name, and one of the small fry, bursting with importance born of the cocksureness of extreme youth, triumphantly exclaimed:

"Sure, you're King Baggot, the motion picture guy."

"POMPEII" HAS RUN IN CHICAGO

George Kleine's "The Last Days of Pompeii" has played 150 theatres out of a total of possibly 750 in the city limits of Chicago.

"Pompeii" was widely advertised. Ordinarily that destroys a picture's booking possibilities for a radius of a mile and a half. Yet in the case of "Pompeii" this rule did not apply. For instance, in what is known as the Wilson Avenue District in Chicago, "Pompeii" played the De Luxe, Montrose, Clark, Picture Palace, Argyle and Kenmore Theatres, all within less than a mile, and in some cases only two blocks removed from each other.

LASKY AND THE FAMOUS PLAYERS IN ENGLAND

The British parallel to the Paramount Pictures Corporation, the distributing firm formed by Famous Players, Bosworth, Inc., and the Jesse Lasky Feature Play Company, is J. D. Walker's World's Films, Ltd., of 112 Shaftesbury avenue, London, W.

This firm will henceforth control the Famous Players and Lasky pictures for the United Kingdom. The name of Bosworth, Inc., is not mentioned in the announcements which have just appeared in the British trade press.

BUYS NEW YORK AND JERSEY RIGHTS

The M. and W. Feature Film Company, Inc., 145 West Forty-fifth street, New York, has purchased from the Excelsior Feature Film Company, Inc., the rights for Greater New York and northern New Jersey of the "Toll of Mammon," a forceful American-made masterpiece, featuring Octavia Handworth.

Does not always come in gilt-edge packages.

A package containing Gaumont Films, no matter whether surrounded by silks or tatters—always bring the exhibitor a full house.

THE CURSE OF THE SCARABEE RUBY

3 REELS.

Another Gaumont Triumph

Shipping Day, July 25th.

GAUMONT

FOR SALE—Process to take out scratches from old film, also waterproof process, or man wanted with capital to take half interest. Samples submitted. S. E. HARTMANN, 2022 Regent Place, Brooklyn, N. Y.

THE ELEPHANT BRAND
Means Quality
WORLD FILM CORPORATION
130 West 46th St., New York

A. L. Runyan Advertising & Sales Co., Inc.
Successors to
ACME COMMERCIAL FILM CO.

Prices to The Trade
POSITIVE PRINTS .04½ Per Ft.
(In Quantities over 5000 feet)
Above price includes printing, developing, tinting toning and Raw Positive Stock.
Negative Film Developed .01 Per Ft.
Film Titles .06 " "
(Our Special Title Apparatus will match any perforation.) All work guaranteed.
General Offices
2624 Milwaukee Ave. Chicago
Phone Albany 3125

RECORD OF CURRENT AND COMING RELEASES—Continued

AT MY HOUSE

GOLD SEAL. Lucille Love, The Girl of Mystery, No. 15, D., 2000 .....
UNIVERSAL IKE. Universal Ike, Jr., in Cupid's Victory, C.

WEDNESDAY, JULY 22ND, 1914.

ECLAIR. Allah 3311, D., 3000.
JOKER. Jimmy Kelly and the Kidnappers .....
D .....
NESTOR. By the Sun's Rays,

THURSDAY, JULY 23RD, 1914.

IMP. The Gateway of Regret, D .....
REX. At the Foot of the Stairs, D .....
STERLING. Love and Lunch, C., 2000 .....

FRIDAY, JULY 24TH, 1914.

NESTOR. All at Sea, C.....
POWERS. Kate Waters of the Secret Service, D., 2000.....
VICTOR. Irene's Busy Week, C .....

SATURDAY, JULY 25TH, 1914.

101 BISON. Olana of the South Sea, D .....
JOKER. The Polo Champions, C .....

SUNDAY, JULY 26TH, 1914.

ECLAIR. When Death Rode the Engine, D .....
FRONTIER. When Memory Recalls, D .....
REX. An Awkard Cinderella, C.

MUTUAL PROGRAM

RELEASES OF THE WEEK

MONDAY, JULY 13TH, 1914.

AMERICAN. The Lure of the Sawdust, D., 2000.....

AT MY HOUSE

KEYSTONE. Not Yet Decided.
RELIANCE. Our Mutual Girl, No. 26 .....

TUESDAY, JULY 14TH ,1914.

BEAUTY. The Joke on Jane, C.
MAJESTIC. The Old Derelict, D .....
THANHOUSER. The Substitute. D, 2000.....

WEDNESDAY, JULY 15TH, 1914.

AMERICAN. Youth and Art, D
BRONCHO. Shorty Turns Judge, D, 2000.....
RELIANCE. How Izzy Stuck to His Post.....

THURSDAY, JULY 16TH, 1914.

DOMINO. Star of the North, D, 2000.....
KEYSTONE. Not Yet Decided
MUTUAL WEEKLY. No. 81..

FRIDAY, JULY 17TH, 1914.

KAY-BEE. The City, D, 2000
PRINCESS. Not Yet Announced
THANHOUSER. A Gentleman for a Day, C.....

SATURDAY, JULY 18TH, 1914.

KEYSTONE. Not Yet Announced
RELIANCE. The Vengeance of Gold, D, 2000.....
ROYAL. The New Housekeeper

SUNDAY, JULY 19TH, 1914.

KOMIC. Bill No. 2.....
MAJESTIC. The Painted Lady, D, 2000.....
THANHOUSER. Harry's Waterloo, C .....

MUTUAL PROGRAM

RELEASES OF NEXT WEEK

MONDAY, JULY 20TH, 1914.

AMERICAN. A Man's Way, D., 2000 .....

AT MY HOUSE

KEYSTONE. Not Decided....
RELIANCE. Our Mutual Girl, No. 27 .....

TUESDAY, JULY 21ST, 1914.

BEAUTY. Her "Really" Mother, D .....
MAJESTIC. A Red Man's Heart, D .....
THANHOUSER. Not Yet Announced .....

WEDNESDAY, JULY 22ND, 1914.

AMERICAN. Business vs. Love, D .....
BRONCHO. Shorty and the Aridville Terror, C, 2000....
RELIANCE. Izzy and the Diamond, C .....

THURSDAY, JULY 23RD, 1914.

DOMINO. The Defaulter, D., 2000 .....
KEYSTONE. Not Yet Announced.
MPTUAL WEEKLY. No. 82...

FRIDAY, JULY 24TH, 1914.

KAY-BEE. The Sheriff of Bisbee, D., 2000 .....
MAJESTIC. Lest We Forget, D .....
ROYAL. Not Yet Announced.

SATURDAY, JULY 25TH, 1914.

KOMIC. Not Yet Announced.
RELIANCE. The Saving of Young Anderson, D., 2000....
THANHOUSER. Not Yet Announced.

SUNDAY, JULY 26TH, 1914.

KOMIC. Leave it to Smiley, C.
MAJESTIC. The Mystery of the Hindoo Image.....
THANHOUSER. From Wash to Washington, C .....

HEARD IN THE LOBBIES

Rapid progress is being made on the construction hy the P. Mion Amusement Company of the Strand, Atlanta, Ga. The theatre will have hoth a main auditorium and a halcony and will run the depth of an entire hlock. It has not been announced just when the new theatre will he ready for occupancy.

The new motion picture thcatre at Lavonia, Ga., managed hy Sam Fisher, has heen named hy a committee of judges the Amusu as the hest of a hundred proposed names. Mr. Fisher's name contest was one which attracted interest through the entire territory from which his theatre will draw its patronage, and was highly successful.

The Palace Theatre, on Cherry street, at Macon, Ga., came near heing the scene of a disastrous fire recently. The blaze was discovered in time to prevent any damage except the hurning of a few musical instruments.

The Colonial, which was opened in Charleston, S. C., last Novemher by Joseph and Isaac Marx, has closed its doors. Whether an attempt will be made to re-open the house for the winter season, the management does not know at this time. Poor patronage is assigned as the cause for the closing down of the theatre. In Charleston large numbers of people leave ahout this time for the mountains. The manager is hopeful that with the return of racing in the fall he will be warranted in re-opening the theatre.

The University of Utah is located at the hase of a mountain on the side of which has been constructed a mammoth concrete letter "U," which can he seen for miles. In the month of June it has been customary for all the students to climh the mountain and with pails of whitewash give the letter a good old-fashioned scruhhing. One of the weekly cameramen heard of the stunt and was on hand to film the amusing event.

In the early part of June the management of the Wieting Opera House, Syracuse, N. Y., made a trip of inspection through Pennsylvania and New York gathering the latest idcas in picturedom with a view of opening this old "legit" house for that purpose. As a result, an organ was installed, the stage fitted in a manner similar to the arrangement at the Strand in New York, and the theatre made inviting in many ways. But it closed its doors a few weeks later.

The Academy, Buffalo, N. Y., is showing features exclusively during the summer months. Such films as "Pierre of the Plains," "The Jungle," "Sealed Orders" and other large productions heing among the attractions.

Among the late attractions at the Strand, Buffalo, N. Y., are "The Master Mind," "The Wrath of the Gods," "The Ring and the Man," "The House of Temperly," "One of Our Girls" and "A Woman's Triumph." Manager Harold Edel was in New York recently hooking everything in sight in the way of features.

The Lomo Theatre at Meridian, Miss., recently sold at auction, has been reopened. The new owner, J. E. Ward, of Jackson, Miss., has made arrangements to show the same pictures as the Plaza and Tudor Theatres at New Orleans show. S. P. Kimball will be the new memher of the theatre and an orchestra, headed hy R. L. Rohertson, has been secured. Mr. Ward has purchased two new moving picture machines and installed them, and will remodel the entire interior of the building. A new ventilating and roofing system is to be installed.

The Majestic is the name of a new motion picture theatre opened up at Darlington, S. C., hy Louis M. Norment. The equipment and furnishings are new and of the latest type. There are 240 folding opera chairs in the house, and the indirect system of lighting is used. Mirroroid screen is used and the latest Powers 6-A projecting machine, with motor drive.

The Pearl Theatre, Albany, N. Y., owned by the Gardner Brothers, is closed for the summer for the purpose of making extensive alterations. Messrs. Gardner declare that when the theatre re-opens the patrons will he surprised at the changes made. The Colonial Theatre is also closed for the summer.

J. R. Mitchell has just opened a new 350-seat theatre at 2136 Sunset Boulevard, Los Angeles. The front is very attractive and the theatre very commodious in every way. A four-reel program of Universal pictures is being shown for five cents.

INCORPORATIONS

At Indianapolis, Ind.:

AMERICAN THEATRE, INC. To operate theatres, etc.; $50,000; Terre Haute. Maurice Less, Terre Haute, Ind.; L. Less, S. Uffenheimer.

At Lansing, Mich.:

ESPERANTO FILM MANUFACTURING COMPANY. $75,000; Detroit. Alex W. Seal, J. A. Servis, Herhert Armstrong.

At Springfield, Ill.:

THE INDUSTRIALOGUE COMPANY. To manufacture and deal in all kinds of moving picture machines, etc.; $10,000; Chicago. Leo J. Doyle, LeRoy Hackett and John T. Evans.

THE COMMUNITY SERVICE AND FILM BUREAU. To deal in films for moving pictures; $2,500; Chicago. Leo J. Doyle, LeRoy Hackett and John T. Evans.

PHOTOPLAY PRODUCTION COMPANY. Manufacture moving picture films, etc.; $25,000; Chicago. A. M. Gollos, G. N. Gollos, G. H. Baird.

CHICAGO HERALD MOVIES, MISCELLANEOUS. Moving picture business; $2,000. Francis E. Matthews, Harold F. Brown, Harry P. Wayman.

STANDARD AMUSEMENT COMPANY, Connellsville, Pa., capital $10,000, to engage in the theatre business, including motion pictures. The incorporators are: John M. Robinson, D. F. Hurley and S. A. Coughanour, all of Connellsville.

At Albany, N. Y.:

G. P. AMUSEMENT COMPANY, INC. Theatrical and motion pictures, $4,000. Sophia and Louis Goldstein and Louis Phillips, of New York.

WALTER MILLER FEATURE FILM COMPANY, INC. Motion pictures, $5,000, Manhattan. Walter Miller and Robert L. Noah, of New York, and William F. J. Sigg, of Jersey City.

MOTION PICTURE EXPLOITATION CO. $100,000. W. E. Edmondson, E. L. Dougherty, T. H. Bennett, Hotel Marseilles.

WILSON SEES "CABIRIA"

Washington, D. C., July 16.

The lawn of the White House became a motion picture theatre when "Cabiria" was recently given a private showing to President and Mrs. Wilson and an invited gathering. In the hands of Tom Moore were placed the staging and erection of the temporary screen. Owing to his Orpheum Theatre being closed for the making of a new entrance, Mr. Moore was able to transfer the entire stage setting used in that theatre to the lawn south of the White House.

"Cabiria" is an eleven-reel production, but everyone had a favorable word to say of it, while President Wilson and the officials of the administration personally praised it. At the conclusion of the exhibit, a supper was served.

In addition to the President and Mrs. Wilson and the members and guests of their household, the officials present were the Vice-President and Mrs. Marshall, the Secretary of State and Mrs. Bryan, the Secretary of the Treasury and Mrs. McAdoo, the Secretary of the Navy and Mrs. Daniels, the Attorney-General, the Postmaster-General and Mrs. Burleson, the Misses Burleson, the Secretary of the Interior and Mrs. Lane, the Secretary of Commerce and Mrs. Redfield, Miss Redfield, the Secretary of Agriculture, the Secretary of Labor and Miss Agnes Hart Wilson, the Secretary to the President and Mrs. Tumulty, Mr. Joseph R. Wilson, Miss Alice Wilson, with a number of personal friends.

ELABORATE RELIGIOUS SUBJECT COMPLETED

News comes from Rome that the big party of Cines players which went to the Holy Land last October has returned after nine months' work in completing an elaborate study of Christ's life in Palestine.

Practically all of the famous Cines Players under Director Guazzoni, who made "Quo Vadis?" and "Antony and Cleopatra," engaged in the manufacture of the big subject.

ANIMATED SONGS

¶ Motion pictures that move to the rhythm of the songs. They do not require costly mechanism. Motion pictures full of life and action that accompany the human voice. The song story is visualized—not with the old fashioned conventional slides—but with life-like motion pictures, containing continuity and all of the necessary conditions found in first-class film playlets. In fact, each song film is a photoplay in miniature.

If They Are Good Enough for—
KEITH'S, PROCTOR'S, LOEW'S, BROADWAY, NEW YORK, HERALD SQUARE, CIRCLE, HURTIG & SEAMON'S, MINER'S
Theatres in New York; and—
MVICKER'S, CROWN, OAK PARK, WINDSOR, MARLOWE, PLAZA, MONROE, CENTURY, LINCOLN, CRYSTAL
Theatres in Chicago—Are They Good Enough For YOU?
You Furnish the Singer—We Furnish the Song. VOCALISTS WANTED.
IMPERIAL MOTION PICTURE CO. OF NEW YORK, Inc., 1476 BROADWAY, N. Y.

DEVELOPING AND PRINTING
carefully done for professionals and amateurs. The largest factory in the world devoted exclusively to Manufacturing Commercial Moving Pictures
Prices and factory description sent at your request
INDUSTRIAL MOVING PICTURE CO.
Watterson R. Rothacker, Gen. Mgr. 223-233 West Erie Street, Chicago

"American" Motion Picture Cameras AT THE FRONT

Our famous Improved No. 2 Camera on the firing line at "Vera Cruz."

"AMERICAN" products are always with the Advance Guard. The world's most important motion pictures are taken with "AMERICAN" CAMERAS.

Agents for AGFA and GEVAERT Raw Motion Picture Film.

Send for Catalogue C.

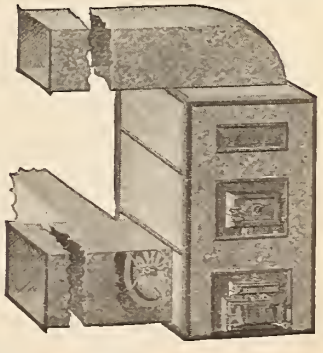
American Cinematograph Co.
617-631 W. Jackson Blvd., Chicago, Ill.

WE will rebuild your old machine as good as new. If your machine needs repairing, we can do the work. We have every facility and use only genuine parts. All work guaranteed. We carry a complete line of new machines and supplies. Will sell for time or cash.

SEND FOR CATALOG TODAY.

AMUSEMENT SUPPLY COMPANY
160 No. Fifth Avenue - - - - - - - - - CHICAGO

Ventilation Cooling Heating



Heating and cooling problem revolutionized by Typhoon System.

You keep cool in front of a desk fan, not in back; apply this common sense and blow the air into your theatre.

A 48-inch Typhoon Multiblade Blower has sixteen blades, an ordinary exhaust fan has six; it is the blades that do the business.

A Typhoon Tubular Air Warmer will heat and ventilate at the same time.

The low price of effective apparatus will surprise you. Catalogue "N" gives information.

Typhoon Fan Co. 1544 Broadway New York City

RELEASE DATES FOR READY REFERENCE

RELEASE DAYS

GENERAL FILM PROGRAM

Monday—Biograph, Edison, Kalem, Pathé, Selig, Vitagraph.
Tuesday—Edison, Essanay, Geo. Kleine, Pathé, Luhin, Melies, Selig, Vitagraph.
Wednesday—Edison, Essanay, Kalem, Luhin, Melies, Selig, Pathé, Vitagraph.
Thursday—Biograph, Essanay, Luhin, Melies, Pathé, Selig, Vitagraph.
Friday—Edison, Essanay, Kalem, Selig, Pathé, Luhin, Vitagraph.
Saturday—Biograph, Edison, Essanay, Kalem, Luhin, Pathé, Vitagraph.

UNIVERSAL PROGRAM

Monday—Victor, Imp, Power.
Tuesday—Gold Seal, Crystal, Universal Ike.
Wednesday—Nestor, Joker, Eclair.
Thursday—Imp, Rex, Frontier, Sterling.
Friday—Nestor, Powers, Victor.
Saturday—Joker, Frontier, 101 Bison.
Sunday—Rex, Crystal, Eclair.

MUTUAL PROGRAM

Monday—American, Keystone, Reliance.
Tuesday—Beauty, Majestic, Thanhouser.
Wednesday—American, Broncho, Reliance
Thursday—Domino, Keystone, Mutual.
Friday—Kay-Bee, Majestic, Princess.
Saturday—Keystone, Reliance, Royal.
Sunday—Majestic, Komic, Thanhouser.

AMERICAN

7— 3. Mein Lieber Katrina Catches a Convict, C. 1000
7— 6. Cameo of the Yellowstone, D.....2000
7— 8. Feast and Famine, D.....1000
7—13. The Lure of the Sawdust, D.....2000
7—15. Youth and Art, D.....1000
7—20. A Man's Way, D.....2000
7—22. Business vs. Love, D.....1000
7—27. The Broken Barrier, D.....2000

APOLLO

5— 3. The Cheese of Police.....

BEAUTY

6—30. Via the Fire-Escape, D.....1000
7— 7. The Other Train, D.....1000
7—14. The Joke on Jane, C.....1000
7—21. Her "Really" Mother. D.....1000
7—28. A Mid-summer Love Tangle, D...1000

BIOGRAPH

6—29. The Honor of the Law, D....1895
7— 2. The Goat, C..... 557
The Firemen's Social, C..... 443
7— 4. The Cracksman's Gratitude, D.... 999
7— 6. Eva, the Cigarette Girl, C..... 563
7— 9. A Romance of the Pueblo, D.....1020
7—11. Her Primitive Model, D.....1000
7—13. The Boy from the Poorhouse, D... 996
7—16. The Prospectors, D.....1000
7—18. It Was Some Party, C..... 653
Some Decorators C..... 344
7—20. The World and The Woman..... 998
7—25. The Little Widow.....1009

101 BISON

6—20. The Forbidden Room, D.....3000
6—27. The Old Cobbler, D.....2000
7— 4. The Hopes of Blind Alley, D....3000
7—11. Prowlers of the Wild, D.....2000
7—18. A Mexican Spy in America, D....2000

BRONCHO

6—24. Desert Thieves .....
7— 1. Shorty Gets Into Trouble.....
7— 8. The Final Reckoning.....

CRYSTAL

6— 8. His Lucky Day.....
Boxes and Boxes and Foolish Lovers, C..
6—23. In Wrong, C.....
6—30. The Girl in Pants and Her New Hat, C., split reel.....
7— 7. Nearly a Stepmother, C.....
7—14. Vivian's Four Beaux and What What Pearl's Pearls Did, C. Split Reel .....
7—21. Getting Vivian Married, C.....

DOMINO

6—11. A Relic of Old Japan.....
6—18. In the Southern Hills.....
6—25. Frontier Mother .....
7— 2. His Hour of Manhood.....
7— 9. The Curse of Humanity.....
7—23. The Defaulter, D.....2000

DRAGON FEATURES

For June
The Black Ship.....3000

ECLAIR

6—28. Prince Willy and Nutty and His Father, ...Split reel
7— 1. Snow Drift, D.....2000
7— 5. The Greatest of These, D.....
7— 8. Duty, D. 2000
7—12. Willy and the Parisian and Lilly as a Little Mother, C.....Split reel
7—15. Renunciation, D.....
7—19. Tango Versus Poker, C.....
7—22. Allah 3311, D.....3000
7—26. When Death Rode the Engine, D..

EDISON

6—20. In the Days of Slavery, D.....1000
6—22. The Basket Hahit, C.....1000
6—23. A Foolish Agreement, D.....1000
6—24. The Mysterious Package, C..... 700
On the Ice, A Demonstration of Fancy Skating at Wegen, Switzerland, Sc. 300
6—26. The Man in the Street, D.....2000
6—27. Dolly Plays Detective, D.....1000
6—29. The Revengeful Servant Girl, C..1000
6—30. The Mystery of the Fadeless Tints, D. 1000
7— 1. Back to the Simple Life, C.....1000
7— 3. The Shattered Tree, D.....2000
7— 4. Molly, the Drummer Boy, D.....1000
7— 6. Her Spanish Cousins, C.....1000
7— 7. Face to Face, D.....1000
7— 8. Andy Has a Toothache, C.....1000
7—10. In the Shadow of Disgrace, D.....2000
7—11. Dolly at the Helm, D.....1000
7—13. Qualifying for Lena, C.....1000
7—14. The Two Doctors, D.....1000
7—15. The Ever Gallant Marquis, C..... 500
7—15. An Up-to-Date Courtship, C..... 500
7—17. Meg o' the Mountains, D.....2000
7—18. Across the Burning Trestle, D....1000
7—20. The Adventure of the Absent-Minded Professor, D.....1000
7—21. A Matter of Minutes, D.....1000
7—22. A Deal in Statuary, C..... 550
7—24. Laddie, D. 2000
7—25. The Last Assignment, D.....1000

ESSANAY

7— 8. A Boarding House Scramble, C....1000
7— 9. Slippery Slim, Diplomat, C.....1000
7—10. Night Hawks, D.....2000
7—11. Broncho Billy and the Sheriff, D..1000
7—13. Sweedie the Swatter, C.....1000
7—14. At the Foot of the Hill, D.....1000
7—15. The Fahle of "Napoleon and the Bumps," C.....1000
7—16. Snakeville's New Waitress, C.....1000
7—17. His Stolen Fortune, D.....2000
7—18. Broncho Billy Puts One Over, D..1000
7—20. Money Talks, C.....1000
7—21. Mrs. Billington's First Case, C....1000
7—22. The Fahle of "Higher Education That Was Too High for the Old Man," C. 1000
7—23. Slippery Slim's Inheritance, C....1000
7—24. A Letter from Home, D.....2000
7—25. Broncho Billy and the Gamhler, D.1000

FILMS LLOYD

5— 7. Cora, the Temptress.....3900

FRONTIER

6— 7. The Girl and the Hoho, D.....
6—14. His Dress Rehearsal.....
6—21. The Gunmen of Plumas, D.....
6—28. On the Verge, D.....
7— 5. The Broken Barriers, D.....
7—12. The Fight in Lonely Gulch, D.....
7—19. The Ranger's Reward.....
7—26. When Memory Recalls, D.....

GOLD SEAL

6—30. Lucille Love, The Girl of Mystery Series, No. 12, D.....2000
7— 7. Lucille Love, the Girl of Mystery, Series No. 13.....
7—14. Lucille Love. The Girl of Mystery, Series No. 14.....
7—21. Lucille Love, The Girl of Mystery, No. 15 .....

GR. NO. SPEC.

5— 5. The Monomaniac.....3000

IMP

6— 1. His Last Chance, D.....2000
6— 8. The Man Who Lost But Won, C..2000
6—11. Across the Atlantic, D.....3000
6—15. —The Baited Trap, D.....2000
6—18. The Fatal Step, D.....
6—22. Papa's Darling, C.....
6—25. The Skull, D.....2000
6—29. Adventures of a Girl Reporter, D.2000
7— 2. The One Best Bet, C.....
7— 6. The Lady of the Island, D.....2000
7— 9. The Old Rag Doll, D.....
7—13. When the World Was Silent, D...2000
7—16. Universal Boy Series No. 1, C...
7—20. In the Sultans Garden, D.....
7—23. The Gateway to Regret, D.....

JOKER

7— 8. Bess, the Detectress, or The Dog Watch, C. .....
7—11. Love Roses and Trousers, C.....
7—15. Willy Walrus and The Awful Confession, C.....
7—18. His Wife's Family, C.....
7—22. Jimmy Kelly and the Kidnappers, C.
7—25. The Polo Champions, C.....

KALEM

6—29. The Flaw in the Alibi, D.....2000
6—30. The Fire Chief's Reward, D.....1000
7— 1. The Fatal Portrait, D.....2000
7— 3. Fleeing from the Fleas, C..... 500
Trooping the Colors, Top..... 500
7— 4. The Political Boss, D..... 500
7— 6. The Weakling, Third of the Alice Joyce Series, D.....1000
7— 7. Kaintucky Bill, D.....1000
7— 8. A String of Pearls, D.....2000
7—10. Ruho, the Interloper, C..... 807
In Old England, Top..... 195
7—11. Lamo Dog's Treachery, D.....1000
7—13. A Diamond in the Rough, D.....2000
7—14. Accused, D.....1000
7—15. The Express Messenger, D.....1000
7—17. Wanted an Heir, C.....1000
7—18. The Fate of a Squaw, D.....1000
7—20. In Wolf's Clothing, D.....2000
7—21. The Beast, D.....1000
7—22. The Rival Railroad's Plot, D.....2000
7—24. The Bingville Fire Department, C.1000
7—25. Defying the Chief, D.....1000

KAY-BEE

6—26. The Voice at the Phone, 2d part
7— 3. The Heart of a Crook.....
7—10. The Feud of Beaver Creek.....
7—17. The City 2000
7—24. The Sheriff of Bishee.....2000

KEYSTONE

6—18. A Missing Bride.....
6—20. Mahel's Married Life.....
6—22. The Eavesdropper .....
6—25. Fatty and the Heiress.....
7— 2. Fatty's Finish .....
7— 4. Love and Bullets.....
7— 6. Row-Boat Romance.....
7—11. Love and Salt Water, Split reel
World's Oldest Living Thing.....

KLEINE

6—16. One Woman's Way, D.....2000
6—23. A Midnight Guest, D.....1000
6—30. The Bondage of Evil, D.....2000
7— 7. The Heirloom, D.....2000
7—14. The Rival Actresses, D.....2000
7—21. The Stronger Tie, D.....2000

KOMIC

6—28. The Wild Girl.....
7— 5. Bill's Joh .....
7—12. Wrong All Around.....
7—19. How Bill Squared it for His Boss
7—26. Leave it to Smiley.....
7—28. The Wild Girl.....

LUBIN

6—30. The Walko Sisters, C.....1000
7— 1. The Living Fear, D.....2000
7— 2. The Shadow of Tragedy, D.....2000
7— 3. The Doom of Duty, D.....1000
7— 4. It's a Shame.....
7— 7. Fooling Fanny's Father, C..... 400
While Aunty Bounced, C..... 600
7— 8. The Incompetent, D.....2000
7— 9. The Debt, D.....2000
7—10. The Trihunal of Conscience, D....1000
7—11. How He Lost His Trousers, C.... 500
Mandy's Chicken Dinner, C..... 500
7—14. He Was Bad. C..... 400
Tough Luck, C..... 600
7—15. Codes of Honor, D.....2000
7—16. The Cross of Crime, D.....2000
7—17. The Lie, D.....1000
7—18. She Wanted to Know, C..... 400
All For Love, C..... 600
7—21. Temper and Temperature, C..... 400
Worms Will Turn, C..... 600
7—22. Who Seeks Revenge, D.....1000
7—23. The False Shadow, D.....2000
7—24. A Traitor to His Country, D.....1000

CALEHUFF SUPPLY CO.

INC.

CHAS. A. CALEHUFF, Pres. and Mgr.
1301 Race Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

JOBBERS 4 POWERS, EDISON, MOTIOGRAPH AND SIMPLEX

Largest Leading SUPPLY HOUSE IN AMERICA

Mercury Arc Rectifier	Brass and Wood Frames
Flame Arc Lamps	Ticket Choppers
Automatic Ticket Registers	Asbestos State Booths
Exit Signs	Ft. Wayne Compensarcs
Slide Ink	Fire Extinguishers
Carrying Cases	Fire Boxes
Tickets	Carbons
Condensers	Cement
Pianos	Trap Drum Effects
Chairs
Wagner Converters
Spot Lights

MIRROR SCREENS

Prompt Shipments Backed By A Solid Guarantee.

A FEW SLIGHTLY USED MACHINES

LE COURRIER
Cinematographique

28 Boulevard St. Denis, - Paris

Directeur: Charles LE FRAPER

Journal hebdomadaire français, le plus important de l'industrie cinematographique.

Envoie numéro spécimen, sur demande.
Abonnement 12 FR. 50

Lantern Slide Mat Co.

Manufacturers of

Lantern Slide Mats and Reel Bands

Prompt Service — Prices Right — Best Goods

627 Greenwich Street, New York
General Electric Company Building

Telephone: Spring 8558

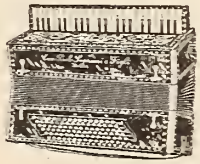
TO SHOW "57 VARIETIES" IN FILMS

The Industrial Moving Picture Company, of which Watterson R. Rothacker is general manager, recently closed with the H. J. Heinz Company, of Pittsburgh, one of the largest contracts for motion picture advertising ever placed since the application of pictures to commercial conditions.

This contract when finished will involve at least 10,000 feet, and the picture will be used in conjunction with lectures by the H. J. Heinz Company, in order that their advertising will be in direct connection with their merchandising.

The Industrial Moving Picture Company has already taken over 2,000 feet on the contract. The scenes show strawberry picking, tomato culture and every detail of strawberry canning at the Heinz plant in Pittsburgh. When complete, this series will illustrate the stupendous operations of the Heinz company.

MAKES RECORD FOR ONE DAY BOX-OFFICE RECEIPTS



The Strand Theatre, New York City, recently finished running "Germania," the Leading Players' Film Corporation release, picturized by the Savoia Film Company. The success of this picture in New York's biggest motion picture house indicates that the feature will in all probability make a strong appeal wherever shown.

On the first day of its opening at the Strand "Germania" broke all house records for a single day's performance, and according to Manager S. L. Rothapfel, it has made a high-water mark in box-office receipts for any motion picture feature in one day.

"TRILBY" SHOWN IN LONDON

"Trilby," with Sir Herbert Beerbohm Tree in the role of "Svengali," was exhibited to the trade in London on July 8, at the West End Cinema, Coventry street. A large cast of well-known British actors support the great tragedian. The picture is produced by the London Film Company, which releases in America through the Cosmosfotofilm. Their first production was "The House of Temperley."

GREAT PIANO ACCORDEON

Every Professional appearing in vaudeville knows by now that a well played Accordeon (with piano keyboard) turn "Stops the Show" (as it was expressed by one of our professional customers). Every musical act employing the ordinary piano can insure instantaneous approval to the turn by the introduction of this—the Greatest Musical Novelty appearing before the American public in many years. Write us at once for catalog and full particulars, professional discounts and favorable terms of payment.

LYON & HEALY 21-41 E. Adams St., CHICAGO

STERLING Motion Picture CAMERA

Price No. 2.....$350
Including Instruction.

This is a practical Professional Camera fitted with Zeiss Tessar Lens, patent adjustable dissolving shutter and aperture plate operated from outside of camera case, equipped with 4-500 ft. magazine.

STERLING CAMERA & FILM CO.
145 W. 45th St., New York City, N. Y.
Bryant 8064

Watch for Release Date on

THE LITTLEST REBEL

Should A Woman Tell?

A splendid big feature is proving the biggest hot weather attraction on the market. It played to big success for months on Broadway. For bookings write now to

G. & G. FEATURE FILM CO., Inc.
37 S. Wabash Ave. Chicago, Ill.

YOUNG MAN formerly member of National Film Rain Flame Proofing Co., wants position taking care of films. Can show the goods. D. HARTMANN, 2555 Church Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y.

FILM TITLES PRINTING AND DEVELOPING

Give Us a Trial Prices Right — All Work Guaranteed Prompt Service

If you have any event that you want photographed we can furnish an expert camera man

STANDARD MOTION PICTURE CO.
Telephone, Randolph 839 5 S. Wabash Ave., Chicago

NIAGARA SLIDES

are just what you need. Sample for 10c. and this advertisement. NIAGARA SLIDE COMPANY, Lockport, N. Y.

Manufacturers of the Wonderful Rembusch Patented Glass MIRROR SCREEN and all other kinds of

Curtains for Moving Picture Projection
White Opaque
Glass Transparent Screens for Rear Projection
Goldcloth Fibre Screens
Mirrorcloth Fibre Screens
Seamless with Stretchers or Rollers

F. J. REMBUSCH, Pres.
Phone Seven-Eleven.

MIRROR SCREEN COMPANY

INCORPORATED

SHELBYVILLE, INDIANA

Ask Prior Bros., of Greensboro, N. C., what they think of their Glass Mirror Screen. They wired us, so elated were they.

"Great—the only perfect screen and business getter."

Nine different finishes. For wide or narrow houses.

RELEASE DATES FOR READY REFERENCE—Continued

MAJESTIC

6—16. Their First Acquaintance.....
6—21. The Severed Thong.....
6—23. The Burden.....
6—26. The Idiot .....
6—28. The Tavern .....
6—30. Suffragette Battle in Nuttyville...
7— 5. The Angel of Contention.....
7— 7. The Only Clew.....
7—12. A City Beautiful.....
7—19. The Painted Lady.....
7—21. A Red Man's Heart.....
7—24. Lest We Forget.....

MELIES

6—23. A Good Time Spoiled, C.....1000
6—24. Mother, D. 1000
6—25. A Shadow on the Wall, D.....2000
6—27. Gypsy Child, D.....2000
6—30. One Suit of Clothes, C.....1000
7— 1. The Monk's Sacrifice, D.....1000
7— 2. Womanly Curiosity, C.....1000
7— 2. The Prescription, D.....2000
7— 4. Hidden Death, D.....2000
7— 7. A Discolored Romance, C.....1000
7— 8. The Hole in the Wall, D.....1000
7— 9. Good Fortune's Tardy Smile, C...1000
7—11. His Friend's Forgiveness, D.....2000
7—14. Rags and Patriotism, C.....1000
7—15. Justly Punished, D.....1000
7—16. The Test of True Love, C.....1000
7—16. A Sublime Deception, D.....2000
7—18. The River's Secret, D.....2000
7—22. His Sense of Duty, D.....1000
7—23. Wanted A Sweetheart, C.....1000
7—23. Why Preachers Leave Home, C..2000
7—25. Black Pearls, D.....2000

NESTOR

6—19. Sophie of the Films, Series No. 3, C. .....
6—26. Sophie of the Film, Series No. 4, C. .....
7— 1. The Lost Arrow, D.....
7— 3. Those College Days, C.....
7— 8. A Ranch Romance, D.....
7—10. The Great Universal Mystery, C..
7—15. Her Grave Mistake, D.....
7—17. When Eddie Went to the Front, C.
7—22. By the Sun's Rays, D.....
7—24. All at Sea, C.....

PASQUALI AMERICAN

6—29. A Mexican Mine Fraud,.....5000
6—29. The Chimney Sweeps.....5000
7—14. The Silent Bell.....3000

PATHE

6—22. Max, The Magician, C..... 672
Historic St. Cloud, T..... 328
6—23. Glacier National Park, E..... 492
The Marmot, E..... 500
6—24. Pathé's Weekly, No. 42, N.....1000
6—29. A Visit to the Paris Zoo, Zoo.... 857
6—30. French Village in Senegal, West Africa, T. 541
7— 1. Pathé's Weekly, No. 43, 1914, N..1000
7— 6. The Heart and the Circulation of the Blood, E. 500
Mode of Travel in Japan (Manners and Customs) 500
7— 7. A Tiger Hunt (Indio-China), S... 500
The Ice and Snow, S..... 500
7— 8. Pathe's Weekly No. 44, 1914, N...1000
7—13. A Russian Boar Hunt, Hunt..... 500
The Wine Industry, Marsala, Sicily, Ind. 500
7—14. Through the Bosnia & Dalmatia, T. 300
The Tombs of the Ancient Japanese Emperors, Annam, Indo-China, S. 350
Water Falls at Aragonia. Spain. T. 300
7—15. Pathé's Weekly No. 45, 1914, N...1000
7—20. The Crayfish, E..... 500
In French Guinea, T..... 500
7—21. A Badger Hunt, Hunt..... 600
Life in Japan, Customs..... 400
7—22. Pathé's Weekly, No. 46, 1914, N..1000

POWERS

6— 5. Heart Springs, D.....
6— 8. The Undertow, D.....
6—12. The Masked Rider.....
6—19. The Plot that Failed.....
6—26. The Love Victorious, D.....2000
7— 3. Pearl of the Sea, D.....
7—10. Passing the Love of Women, D....
7—17. The Severed Hand, D.....3000
7—24. Kate Waters of the Secret Service, D. 2000

PRINCESS

6— 5. His Enemy .....
6—12. The Toy Shop .....
6—19. The Little Senorita.....
6—26. Professor Snaigh .....
7— 3. The Decoy .....
7—10. The Girl of the Seasons.....

REX

6—18. The Law Unto Himself, D.....2000
6—21. The Boob Detective, C.....
6—25. The Woman in Black, D.....
6—28. Lost by a Hair, C.....
7— 2. The House Discordant, D.....2000
7— 5. On the Rio Grande, D.....
7— 9. When Fate Disposes, D.....2000
7—12. Plain Mary, D.....
7—16. The Sob Sister, D.....2000
7—19. Out of the Darkness, D.....
7—23. At the Foot of the Stairs, D.....
7—26. An Awkward Cinderella, C.....

RELIANCE

6—15. Our Mutual Girl No. 22.....
6—17. The Peach Brand.....
6—20. The Stolen Code.....
6—22. Our Mutual Girl, No. 23.....
6—24. Izzy's Night Out.....
6—27. The Broken Banner.....
6—29. Our Mutual Girl, No. 24.....
7— 1. Izzy, the Detective.....
7— 4. The Weaker Strain.....
7— 8. How Izzy Was Saved.....
7—20. Our Mutual Girl, No. 27.....
7—22. Izzy and the Diamond.....
7—25. The Saving of Young Anderson..

ROYAL

6—13. Handle With Care.....
6—20. Such a Business and The Busy Man
6—27. A Hasty Exit.....
7— 4. Did She Run?.....
7— 4. Mistakes will Happen.....
7—11. Mistakes Will Happen.....

SELIG

6—18. Hearst-Selig News No. 32, N.....1000
6—19. Peter's Relations, C..... 500
Chicken, C. 500
6—20. The Girl at His Side .....
6—22. Me An' Bill, D.....2000
6—22. Hearst-Selig News Pictorial No. 33, N. 1000
6—23. The Servant Question, C..... 500
Doc Yak and The Limited Train, C. 500
6—24. Somebody's Sister, D.....1000
6—25. Hearst-Selig News Pictorial No. 34, N. 1000
6—26. The Captain's Chair, D.....1000
6—27. The Right to Happiness, D.....1000
6—29. The Leopard's Foundling, D.....2000
6—29. Hearst-Selig News Pictorial, No. 35, N. 1000
6—30. Hearts of Men, D.....1000
7— 1. The Empty Sleeve, D.....1000
7— 2. Hearst-Selig News Pictorial, No. 36, N. 1000
7— 3. Making Good with Her Family, C. 500
Doc Yak's Wishes, C..... 500
7— 4. The Little Hobo, D..... 500
7— 6. Reporter Jimmie Intervenes, D....2000
7— 7. Algie's Sister, C.....1000
7— 8. Caryl of the Mountains, D.....1000
7— 9. Hearst-Selig News Pictorial No. 38, N. 1000
7—10. Did She Cure Him? C.....1000
7—11. His Fight, D.....1000
7—13. The Wilderness Mail, D.....2000
7—13. Hearst-Selig News Pictorial No. 39, N.....1000
7—14. An Egyptian Princess, C.....1000
7—15. His Last Appeal, D.....2000
7—16. Hearst-Selig News Pictorial No. 40, N.....1000
7—17. Wiggs Takes the Rest Cure, C....1000
7—18. The Squatters, D.....1000
7—20. A Woman Laughs, D.....2000
7—21. The Lure of the Ladies, C.....1000
7—22. The Sealed Package, D.....1000
7—23. Hearst-Selig News Pictorial, No. 42, N. 1000
7—24. The Substitute Heir, C.....1000
7—25. Footprints, C. 1000

STERLING

7—13. Almost Married, C.....
7—16. A Beach Romance, C.....
7—20. The Circus, C.....
7—23. Love & Lunch, C.....2000

THANHOUSER

5—28. The Golden Cross, D.....1909
6— 2. From the Shadows, D.....2000
6— 7. The Scrub Lady, C.....
6— 9. Rivalry .....
6—14. The Girl Across the Hall.....
6—16. Remorse .....
6—19. The Man Without Fear.....
6—21. The Outlaw's Nemesis.....
6—23. For Her Child.....
6—28. The Widow's Mite.....
6—30. The Harlow Handicap.....
7— 5. The Cooked Goose.....
7— 7. Deborah .....
7—17. The Leaven of Good.....

UNIVERSAL IKE

6—16. Universal Ike, Jr., Bearly Won Her, C. .....
6—30. Universal Ike, Jr., and The Vampire, C. .....
7— The Triangle Marriage, C.....
7—14. The New Cook, C.....
7—21. Universal Ike, Jr., in Cupid's Victory, C. .....

VICTOR

6—22. The Silent Witness, D.....2000
6—26. The Slavey's Romance, D.....
6—29. A Twentieth Century Pirate, C..
7— 3. Her Ragged Knight, D.....2000
7— 6. At Mexico's Mercy, D.....
7—10. A Beggar Prince of India, D.....3000
7—13. Out of the Valley, D.....
7—17. The Panama Exposition Up To Date. E.....
7—20. Value Received, D.....2000
7—24. Irene's Busy Week, C.....

VITAGRAPH

6—11. The Power to Forgive, D.....1000
6—12. The Accomplished Mrs. Thompson, C. 1000
6—13. Our Fairy Play, C.....2000
6—15. A Wayward Daughter, C.....2000
6—17. The Ladies' War, C.....1000
6—18. Only a Sister, D.....1000
6—19. The Persistent Mr. Prince, C.....1000
6—20. Father's Flirtation, C.....2000
6—22. Maria's Sacrifice, D.....1000
6—23. The Passing of Diana, D.....2000
6—24. The "Bear" Facts, C.....1000
6—25. Happy-Go-Lucky, C. 1000
6—26. The Old Maid's Baby, C.....1000
6—27. His Wife and His Work, D.....2000
6—29. The Gang, D.....1000
6—30. The Poor Folk's Boy, D.....2000
7— 1. The Circus and the Boy, C.....1000
7— 2. Two Stepchildren, D.....1000
7— 3. A Train of Incidents, C.....1000
7— 4. The Toll, D.....2000
7— 6. The False and the True, D.....1000
7— 7. The Moonstone of Fez, D.....2000
7— 8. Doctor Smith's Baby, C.....1000
7— 9. Prosecution, D. 1000
7—10. The Vases of Hymen, C.....1000
7—11. Lillian's Dilemma, C.....2000
7—13. The Soul of Luigi. D.....1000
7—14. Fogg's Millions, D.....2000
7—15. The Arrival of Josie. C.....1000
7—16. The Little Captain, C.....1000
7—17. Pigs is Pigs. C.....1000
7—18. The Songs of the Ghetto, D.....2000
7—20. Love, the Clairvoyant, D.....1000
7—21. Bread Upon the Waters, D.....2000
7—22. Buddy's Downfall, C.....1000
7—23. The Apple, D.....1000
7—24. The Winning Trick, C.....1000
7—25. Romantic Josie, C.....2000

ANIMATED SONGS

Releases for June and July:

Two Floral Wreaths.
Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm.
Peg O' My Heart.
When I Carved Your Name On The Tree.
A Real Moving Picture From Life.
Down On The Farm In Harvest Time.
The Marriage Game.
In The Town Where I Was Born.
You Can Tango, You Can Trot, Dear, But Be Sure And Hesitate.
When It's Apple Blossom Time In Normandy.
A Fool There Was.
Take Me Back To Frisco Town.
Shadows.
Father Came Home With The Milkman In The Morning.
Dear Old Girl.
What A Wonderful Love That Would Be.

Make Your Lobby Display Attractive

There is nothing more fascinating to the public than a bright brass frame to display your photos or posters.

We make Lobby and Theatre Fixtures and Brass Rails of every description.

Don't fail to visit our Showrooms

Write for Catalog.

The Newman Mfg. Co.

717 Sycamore St. Cincinnati, Ohio

Branch Factories and Show Rooms:
101 Fourth Ave., New York, N. Y. 106-108 W. Lake St., Chicago, Ill.
Established 1882.

RENTERS OF REAL FEATURES

European Feature Film Corp.

J. H. STEINMAN, Mgr.
220 West 42nd Street New York City

LANG'S FILM REELS
THE BEST MADE
14 in. $1.50 10 in. $1.00
CATALOGUE
LANG MFG. WORKS, Olean, N. Y.

BE UP TO DATE
INSTALL CORCORAN TANKS
Get No. 6 Price List
A. J. CORCORAN, Inc.
9½ John Street New York

Your negative developed, printed and titled complete
5c per foot delivered within 12 hours
Titles 6c per foot
GUNBY BROS., Inc.
145 West 45th Street New York City

HEARD IN THE LOBBIES

The Carroll Theatre, Waterbury, Conn., bas discontinued its matinee performances for the summer months. The evening shows are being fairly well attended.

The Lyric Theatre, on South Main street, Watertown, is open but three nights a week, Sunday, Wednesday, and Saturday. This is the summer schedule. There are no matinee performances.

The Alhambra Theatre is another house that has continued its matinee performances.

The Colonial Theatre on South Main street, Waterbury, Conn., the "House of Features," closed its doors recently. The following notice embellished the entrance: "Commencing to-day we close our theatre during the warm weather. Together with closing the theatre the management has arranged to renovate and add new improvements, and when ready to open up The Colonial will be second to none in the city."

Waterbury, Conn., has an open-air motion picture house. It is located on North Leonard street, Brooklyn, one of the city's "suburbs," and has been in operation about three weeks. The promoters claim that thus far it has been a paying proposition, and they say the prospects for it continuing so look bright indeed.

Motion picture photographers took pictures of the first Municipal Day in Syracuse, N. Y. The films will be exploited by the Syracuse Chamber of Commerce and later shown in the New York State building at the Panama Exposition.

A three-reel picture of "Syracuse in Motion" was recently shown at the Eckel Theatre, Syracuse, N. Y., and capacity business was the rule.

The Larned Theatre, Syracuse, N. Y., located in the down-town section, has closed its doors and no announcement bas been made as to the future of the bouse.

The Crescent Theatre, Syracuse, N. Y., heretofore playing little-time vaudeville, has opened with pictures and is doing a fine business.

"A Million Bid" and other high-class attractions have been holding the boards and playing to good business.

The Majestic Theatre, Syracuse, N. Y., has been remodeled throughout and is open with vaudeville and pictures.

Tbe future destiny of tbe Broad Street Tbeatre, at Soutb Broad and Livingston Streets, Trenton, N. J., has at last been settled by tbe signing of a lease of the house by Max Spiegel, of New York City. The theatre will be run on the Columbia Burlesque Wheel for three days a week and feature pictures for the last tbree days.

Striking macbinists of Trenton, N. J., were tendered a benefit for tbree days in the Broad Street Theatre for tbree days at wbich they realized a good sum. Motion pictures were given. Tbe theatre will again be turned over to the strikers this week when pictures and labor addresses will be the feature.

At present there are about 500 striking machinists in the city and the performances given in their benefit was well attended, this being a union town.

"New Film For Old"

MULTICOLOR

Films Improved, Cleansed and Softened

Multicolor Film Improving Co., Inc.
15 EAST 26th STREET, NEW YORK
PHILADELPHIA BRANCH 1126 Vine Street
ALBERT TEITFL President

Our Factory Is Yours!

Negative assemblers, projecting machines and an equipment second to none, with an organization of experienced people always at your SERVICE for DEVELOPING and PRINTING.

EVANS FILM MFG. CO.
Incorporated
416-22 WEST 216th STREET
Tel. 7652 Audubon at Broadway, New York

Kinematograph Weekly

$5.15 a Year

The Leading Motion Picture Publication of Great Britain and Colonies

Sample Copies 10 cents

For Advertising Rates Write

ASSOCIATED MOVING PICTURE PRESS
250A KingstonAve., Brooklyn, N. Y.

FURNITURE & FURNISHINGS
On RENTAL
We equip your settings complete in accordance with your scenario.
WILLIAM BIRNS
103-105 West 37th St.
Phone: Greeley 6265.

John Smith of Oshkosh

Tom Saunders of El Paso—Frank Hunt of Portland—James Martin of Bangor—Frank Collins of London—Dick Whipple of New York—and hundreds of other exhibitors are telling, in The News, about what they are doing to get business, how they reduce operating expenses, why they believe in higher rentals. The new ideas in the film business are found in The News.

And fifty-two issues cost Two Dollars.

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING

Rates for advertising under this heading, 3 cents per word, cash with order. 50 cents minimum charge per insertion.

FOR SALE, Cbeap—Black Top Tent 20 x 60—18 foot centre—10 foot wall—double lined throughout. J. A. PAWLEY, Scenic Theatre, Saginaw, Micb.

HEADQUARTERS FOR POWERS, MOTIOGRAPH, SIMPLEX AND EDISON MACHINES

PICTURE THEATRE EQUIPMENT CO.

THE BIGGEST MOTION PICTURE SUPPLY HOUSE IN AMERICA

21 EAST 14th STREET, NEW YORK CITY

CONDENSERS—BOOTHS—TICKET CHOPPERS—REELS—REEL CASES—BOOTH CABINETS

WE EQUIP MOTION PICTURE THEATRES COMPLETELY

LUBIN

LUBIN MASTERPIECES

"THE WOLF"— 6 REELS By EUGENE WALTER (Now obtainable through the GENERAL FILM MASTERPIECE SERVICE)

To be released soon "THE HOUSE NEXT DOOR"— 5 REELS——By J. HARTLEY MANNERS

NOW IN PREPARATION "EAGLE'S NEST"— 5 REELS——By EDWIN ARDEN

Now being produced in Colorado, with EDWIN ARDEN, Broadway's popular actor, in the leading role.

FIVE RELEASES EACH WEEK

"TEMPER AND TEMPERATURE"—Split Reel Comedy.....Tuesday, July 21st
Very funny mother-in-law story with sorrowful experiences for the poor, henpecked husband.

"WORMS WILL TURN"—Split Reel Comedy.....Tuesday, July 21st
Fierce engagement between a bunch of hobos and the rural police in which the tramps bravely win out.

"WHO SEEKS REVENGE"—Two Reel Drama.....Wednesday, July 22nd
A dramatic story of the frontier. An Indian raid on the army post, in which two mothers are killed and the infants changed.

"THE FALSE SHADOW"—Two Reel Drama.....Thursday, July 23rd
A drama based on the theory of eugenics. A dishonest physician examines a rival's blood and falsely pronounces it diseased.

"A TRAITOR TO HIS COUNTRY"—Drama.....Friday, July 24th
Very exciting incident, with military and insurgent atmosphere. A story of hearts and arms.

"A MATTER OF RECORD"—Comedy.....Saturday, July 25th
Very funny domestic comedy in which the dictaphone plays a star role. A huge twenty minutes' scream.

A COMEDY Every Tuesday and Saturday	A TWO REEL FEATURE Every Wednesday and Thursday	A DRAMA Every Friday

LUBIN POSTERS
By Our Staff of Artists—One and Three Sheets with Single and Split Reels. One, Three and Six Sheets with all Multiple Reels.

LUBIN MANUFACTURING COMPANY
PHILADELPHIA, PA. CHICAGO OFFICE: 154 West Lake Street

Write Your Slides on an L.C. Smith & Bros. Typewriter

DO YOU KNOW that you can throw your announcements on the screen in typewriting? It's no more trouble than to write on a card and it looks far better than the scrawling and illegible handwriting that is so often seen.

The L. C. Smith & Bros. Typewriter is especially adapted to writing these slides. Write for information.

L. C. SMITH & BROS. TYPEWRITER CO.

Home Office and Factory, Syracuse, N. Y. Branches in all principal cities.

WEATHER
Always Fair

Every City Daily

Everywhere, Everyday 1914

WEATHE.
Always Fa

UNIVERSAL MOVING PICTURES

Every Paper—everywhere will carry the story of

THE TREY O' HEARTS

By Louis Joseph Vance

70 Million People will see it — Will your Theatre be one to accommodate the Crowd?

The Nearest Universal Exchange will book you Now!!

"Use the Brains God Gave You"

Universal Film Manufacturing Co.

Carl Laemmle, Pres.

1600 Broadway New York

TO BE RELEASED
IN AUGUST

The Brightest of
All Stars in a
Five Act
Motion Picture

"The Nightingale"

An Original Photo-Play
By
Augustus Thomas

ETHEL BARRYMORE

ALL STAR FEATURE CORPORATION
EXECUTIVE OFFICES
220 WEST 42nd STREET, N. Y. CITY, U. S. A.

AUGUST 1, 1914 PRICE, 10 CENTS

The Motion Picture News

Pennsylvania and Ohio CENSORS ATTACK "JOHN BARLEYCORN"

THE NEW LEAGUE HEAD At Close Range:

An Interview WITH PRESIDENT PEARCE

The fastest moving picture journal

VOLUME X NUMBER 4

THE TREY O' HEARTS

BY LOUIS JOSEPH VANCE

THE MASTER PROBLEM PLAY
IN FIFTEEN STORIES

UNIVERSAL MOVING PICTURES
STORY TWO

Is Pauline Working for You?

The Perils of Pauline

The remarkable thing about this most remarkable of all remarkable films is that Pauline's Perils get more perilous as they go along.

A hot pace was set in the early episodes. The reason this serial keeps drawing more people all the time, is that Pauline not only keeps up with the original pace—but she goes way beyond it.

Pauline Pulls People—She's a Gold Mine

THIS IS THE LIFE—WHISKERS

One reel American Pathé made comedies.
Quick moving, fast, furious action.

Both these reels are patron-pullers—they are the sort that bring people back the next week for more of the same kind.

ECLECTIC FEATURE FILM EXCHANGES FOR YOUR USE

ATLANTA Rhodes Bldg.	BOSTON 3 Tremont Row	CHICAGO 5 So. Wabash Ave.	DALLAS Andrews Bldg.	LOS ANGELES 114 E. 7th St.	MINNEAPOLIS 4th & Hennepin Sts.
NEW YORK 115 E. 23rd St.	PITTSBURGH 715 Liberty Ave.	SAN FRANCISCO 67 Turk St.	ST. LOUIS 3210 Locust St.	SYRACUSE 214 E. Fayette St.	CINCINNATI 217 E. 5th St.
CLEVELAND 622 Prospect Av., S.E.	PORTLAND 392 Burnside Ave.	PHILADELPHIA 1235 Vine St.	WASHINGTON 7th & E Sts., N. W.	NEW ORLEANS 910 Gravier St.
SEATTLE 810 Third Ave.	OMAHA 1312 Farnam St.		DENVER Nassau Bldg.	KANSAS CITY 928 Main St.

SALT LAKE CITY: 68 South Main St.

THE ECLECTIC FILM COMPANY

110 West 40th Street — New York City

"The Cream of American and European Studios"

THE CORSAIR

Path': made, 4 parts. Featuring Crane Wilbur in the leading role, supported by Edward Jose and an all star cast.

Based on Lord Byron's great story of the same name. Full of mystery and sunshine of the Mediterranean and the magnetic influence of a beautiful slave girl for whom men gladly risk their lives and lose them. Action, action —corsairs, harems, battles, raids, escapes and treasure caves, a truly Arabian Night's adventure, while through it all there runs the influence of the irresistible Greek girl Medora. A plot of exceptional strength, a setting of alluring Orientalism, and a story which breathes with the first screening and fairly pants at the climax.

When a Woman Loves

In this film are introduced some new players. Among them is an actress in the leading part who is an exceptional "find". She will take your patrons' hearts by storm—she will, without doubt, be one of the greatest actresses ever offered to the moving picture public. Look for her—she is in "When a Woman Loves".

THE ECLECTIC FILM COMPANY

110 West 40th Street, New York City

"The Cream of American and European Studios"

THE BOUNDARY RIDER

FEATURING
THURLOW BERGEN IN THE LEADING ROLE

A DRAMATIC five part attraction of the Revenue service and the North woods. An exciting story with a new sort of hero, a former broker's clerk whose employer becomes involved with opium smugglers and is killed. Suspicion falls on the clerk who is obliged to flee to Canada where he joins the force of fearless boundary riders. From the lawless opium smugglers of New York to the wild, free life of the northern boundary riders this film is an accurate depiction of inside facts and has more thrill per foot than any detective play in recent years.

The Eclectic Film Company has put over another big scoop. We have secured all future issues of

COLONEL HEEZA LIAR

The famous series of American cartoon comedies by F. R. Bray. Everybody knows the Colonel. In the first Eclectic release the Peerless Prevaricator gets several barrels of fun out of the "River of Doubt."

ECLECTIC FEATURE FILM EXCHANGES FOR YOUR USE

ATLANTA Rhodes Bldg.	BOSTON 3 Tremont Row	CHICAGO 5 So. Wabash Ave.	DALLAS Andrews Bldg.	LOS ANGELES 114 E. 7th St.	MINNEAPOLIS 4th & Hennepin Sts.
NEW YORK 115 E. 23rd St.	PITTSBURGH 715 Liberty Ave.	SAN FRANCISCO 67 Turk St.	ST. LOUIS 3210 Locust St.	SYRACUSE 214 E. Fayette St.	CINCINNATI 217 E. 5th St.
CLEVELAND 622 Prospect Av., S. E.	PORTLAND 392 Burnside Ave.	PHILADELPHIA 1235 Vine St.	WASHINGTON 7th and E Sts., N.W.		NEW ORLEANS 910 Gravier St.
SEATTLE 810 Third Ave.	OMAHA 1312 Farnam St.		DENVER Nassau Bldg.		KANSAS CITY 928 Main St.

SALT LAKE CITY: 68 South Main St.

THE ECLECTIC FILM COMPANY

110 West 40th Street — New York City

"The Cream of American and European Studios"

"30 FAMOUS FEATURES A YEAR"

DANIEL FROHMAN
Presents
The Famous Emotional Drama,

"THE SCALES OF JUSTICE,"

A Terrific Arraignment of Circumstantial Evidence,

By John Reinhart

With

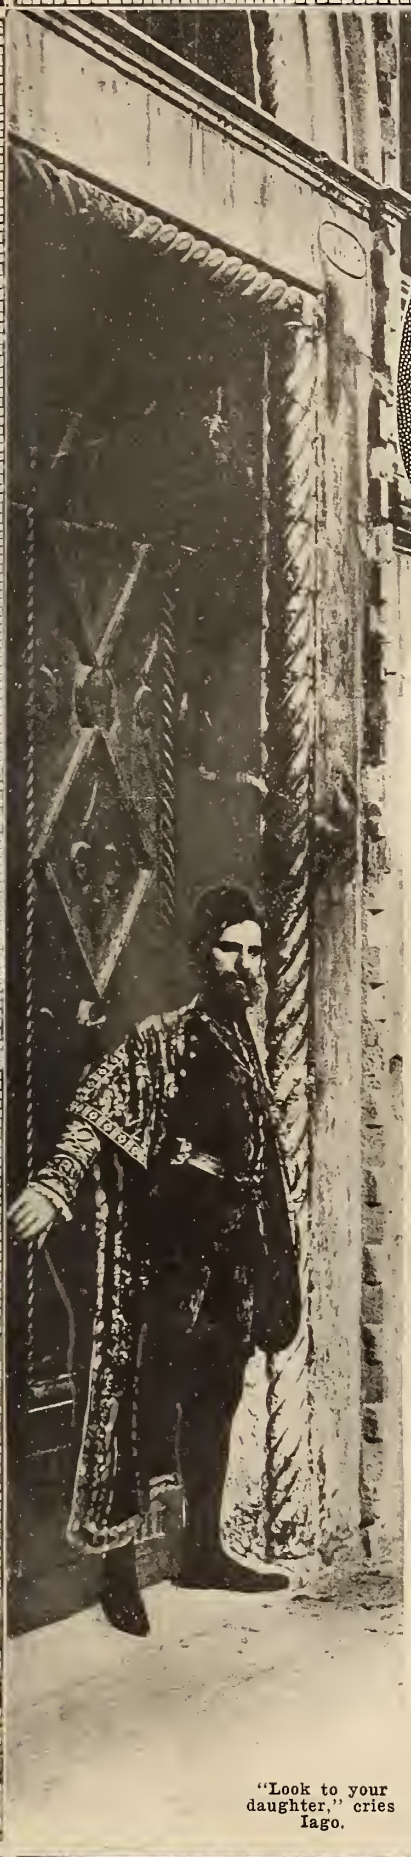
PAUL McALLISTER

Supported By

JANE FEARNLEY

IN FIVE REELS - - RELEASED JULY 20th.

FAMOUS PLAYERS FILM COMPANY



ADOLPH ZUKOR, President
DANIEL FROHMAN, Managing Dir. EDWIN S. PORTER, Technical Dir.
Executive Offices, 213-229 W. 26th St., New York City.

"30 FAMOUS FEATURES A YEAR"

"30 FAMOUS FEATURES A YEAR"

"30 FAMOUS FEATURES A YEAR"

"30 FAMOUS FEATURES A YEAR"

"Look to your daughter," cries Iago.

Othello

Special Feature Department
GENERAL FILM CO.

OR

THE MOOR OF VENICE

FIVE PARTS

THE DIVINE SHAKESPEAREAN DRAMA

MADE AT VENICE, ITALY!!

By the Photo Drama Company. THE SUPER FILM—By All Odds The Most Pretentious, Beautiful and Accurately-Screened Version of Shakespearean Stories!

MADE AT VENICE, ITALY! That's a Tremendous Advertising Feature in Itself! VENICE! rendezvous of the modern tourist—a very fountain-head of Romance and Adventure! The waterways of Historic Venice with their tales, ten centuries old, of Passionate Loves and Fierce Vendettas—the indolent, dreamy sweep of these Gondola-ridden highways are scenes of the quaintest stories in any language?

FOR THE MAKING OF OTHELLO the city Fathers Declared a Half-Holiday—Canals Were Closed to Modern Commerce Leaving Only the Aged Palaces, the Gayly-Costumed Players and the Clicking Cameras of the Photo Drama Company.

In OTHELLO we offer a real masterpiece—it is the first of Shakespeare's stories filmed in its proper environment, as the Master would have wished.

FOR RELEASE THROUGH

GENERAL FILM COMPANY

WEEK OF JULY 6th

Complete line of Lithographs, Press Stories, etc.

GEORGE KLEINE

166 N. STATE ST. CHICAGO

Ambition! Brains! Determination!

These three things will make any enterprise a success. We claim to possess these qualifications and are anxious to get in touch with Exhibitors who possess the same, so that we can build up together a business that is founded on the one word "Co-operation".

Under our system we will supply the exhibitor one attraction a week that will prove its quality by the number of dollars that it will bring into his box office.

We scour the earth for your attractions, and pledge ourselves that we will never release anything that is not up to the highest standard in quality.

If you have the ambition to own your own exchange and protect your theatre with a program obtained from the world's quality mart—write immediately for our exchange proposition.

To the Independent Producer

If you can produce as good a film as the best or better than the majority we can market them for you. We don't care about their length. Length don't make a feature.

They have to be good in drawing and pleasing power and then they will be good in financial power.

We don't care if they are 1,000 or 12,000 feet long, as long as their pleasing power is long enough to reach into the pockets of the public.

It will pay you to communicate with us immediately and arrange for a permanent market for your productions.

FIRST RELEASE
SEPTEMBER 1st

ALCO FILM CO. INC
FILM DISTRIBUTORS

Heidelberg Bldg. Times Square
New York
AL. LICHTMAN, Pres. and Gen. Mgr.

CARLYLE BLACKWELL
in
"The Key to Yesterday"

JESSE L. LASKY
PRESENTS
AMERICA'S FORMOST ROMANTIC ACTOR
MR. ROBERT EDESON

IN THE MOST PERFECTLY PRODUCED DRAMATIC CLASSIC OF THE DECADE
The CALL OF THE NORTH
By GEORGE BROADHURST
FROM THE NOVEL
"CONJUROR'S HOUSE"
BY STUART EDWARD WHITE
5 ACTS 317 SCENES
AS PERFECT IN EVERY DETAIL AS MAN CAN MAKE RELEASED AUG 10

JESSE L. LASKY FEATURE PLAY COMPANY
LONG ACRE THEATRE W. 48TH STREET
JESSE L. LASKY, PRESIDENT — N. Y. C. — SAMUEL GOLDFISH, TREAS. & GEN'L MANAGER
CECIL B. DEMILLE, DIRECTOR GENERAL
AM

EDISON

THE LIVING DEAD

NINTH STORY IN "THE MAN WHO DISAPPEARED" SERIES

A Drama by Richard Washburn Child

When John Perriton and Mary Wales fled to Albany to escape the detective who sought to arrest Perriton on a supposed murder charge, they planned to escape across the border to Montreal. Finding this futile they took the river boat back to New York and supposed they were safe, till at supper the detective spied them and ordered Perriton locked up in his stateroom. How he escaped through the partition into Mary's room adjoining and then jumped overboard and finally landed in New York safe and sound, is an exciting episode.

Released August 4th—1000 feet

COMING EDISON RELEASES

Saturday,	August 1st—Farmer Rodney's Daughter.	Drama.	1000 feet.
Monday,	August 3rd—A Tango Spree.	Comedy.	1000 feet.
Wednesday,	August 5th—A Change of Business.	Comedy.	500 feet.
Wednesday,	August 5th—Faint Heart Ne'er Won Fair Lady.	Comedy.	500 feet.
Friday,	August 7th—The President's Special. A new version of the celebrated Edison drama. In Two Parts.		2000 feet.
Saturday,	August 8th—One Touch of Nature.	Comedy.	1000 feet.

Watch for announcement of

"MY FRIEND FROM INDIA"

H. A. Du Souchet's famous comedy-drama with Walter E. Perkins in the title role. To be released on August 15th through the masterpiece service of the General Film Company.

Order Edison posters of the Morgan Lithograph Co., Cleveland, Ohio, direct.

TRADE MARK
Thomas A Edison
Makers of the Edison Kinetoscope, Model "D"

THOMAS A. EDISON, Inc.

275 Lakeside Avenue Orange, N. J.

Essanay

GEORGE ADE'S

New Fables in Slang are the Funniest Series ever Produced

IN PHOTOPLAYS

The Essanay Company is receiving thousands of letters praising the Comedies

Do Not Fail to Book Them Released Every Wednesday

"BRONCHO BILLY"

Featuring G. M. ANDERSON

THE WORLD'S GREATEST PHOTOPLAY ACTOR, CONTINUES TO BE THE FAVORITE OF THE FILM FANS

Released Every Saturday

"ONE WONDERFUL NIGHT"

(IN FOUR ACTS)

Featuring FRANCIS X. BUSHMAN

Is exciting more comment than any photoplay that has appeared in years. It is a thrilling story from start to finish and will help you to break all your records.

Released JULY 31st

through the General Film Company's Feature Department

Essanay Film Manufacturing Company

521 First National Bank Building, Chicago

Factory and Studio, 1333 Argyle St., Chicago, Ill.

BRANCH OFFICES IN

LONDON PARIS BERLIN BARCELONA

KAY BEE FEATURES

KAY BEE

The Eleventh Hour Reformation. Two Parts. July 31st.
The Gangsters and the Girl. - Two Parts. Aug. 7th.
Thos. H. Ince, Director General.

KAY BEE

DOMINO WINNERS

DOMINO

The Curse of Caste. - Two Parts. - July 30th.
The Thunderbolt. - - Two Parts. - Aug. 6th.
Thos. H. Ince, Director General.

DOMINO

BRONCHO HEADLINERS

BRONCHO

The Long Feud. - - - Two Parts. July 29th.
Jim Regan's Last Raid. - - Two Parts. Aug. 5th.
Thos. H. Ince, Director General.

BRONCHO

KEYSTONE COMEDIES

KEYSTONE

Three Comedies a week.
Monday, Wednesday and Saturday release days.
Mack Sennett, Director General.

KEYSTONE

KEYSTONE COMEDIES

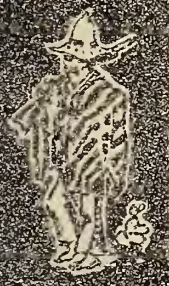
Photos

8 by 10 Photos of players mentioned below can be had by sending to the Publicity Department. 15 cents for one; 50 cents for sets of four; $1.00 for sets of eight

Mack Sennett
Mabel Normand
Charles Chaplin
Roscoe Arbuckle
John Keller
Harry G. Keenan
J. Frank Burke
Webster Campbell

Thos. H. Ince
Gertrude Claire
Barney Sherry
Richard Stanton
Gretchen Lederer
Margaret Thompson
Tsuru Aoki
Sessue Hayakawa
Roy Laidlaw
Clara Williams
Jay Hunt
Rhea Mitchell
Mildred Harris
Shorty Hamilton
Walter Edwards
Charles Ray
Walter Belasco
Frank Borzage
Thomas Chatterton
Leona Hutton
W. S. Hart
Enid Markey

A set of 8 by 10 of "KEYSTONE MABEL" in four different poses, 50c.



New York Motion Picture Corporation

Longacre Building, 42nd Street and Broadway NEW YORK

A TRIO OF STAR FEATURES

Each producing company which releases through Warner's Features, Inc., has a specialty of its own. Its players are stars in that specialty. The result is the superb acting, the stirring realism, the splendid photography and the wide variety of Warner's releases.

UNDER FIRE IN MEXICO

Produced by the U. S. Film Corporation, operating on the Mexican border, under the direction of J. Arthur Nelson. A powerful story of guerilla cruelty and American heroism. It will thrill the heart of every American patriot.

The TOLL of the WARPATH

Produced by the Albuquerque Film Manufacturing Co., operating in New Mexico—the Indian country. A red-blood tale of the old frontier—a tale of treacherous redskins, dashing troopers, fighting cowboys, a beautiful heroine, and rival lovers.

LIFE'S CROSSROADS

Secured through George W. Lederer. A strong dramatic production, depicting the intrigues, the tragedies and the romance of modern society.

Book these powerful features now. Write to your nearest Warner's exchange.

WARNER'S FEATURES, INC. 130 W 46th St. New York

GENERAL

MAIN OFFICE: 200 FIFTH

LIST OF

CITY	STATE	STREET ADDRESS
ALBANY	NEW YORK	737 BROADWAY
ATLANTA	GEORGIA	RHODES BUILDING
BALTIMORE	MARYLAND	36 SOUTH EUTAW STREET
BANGOR	MAINE	123 FRANKLIN STREET
BOSTON	MASSACHUSETTS	218 COMMERCIAL STREET
BUFFALO	NEW YORK	122 PEARL STREET
BUTTE	MONTANA	50 E. BROADWAY
CALGARY	ALTA., CANADA	85 McDOUGALL BLOCK
CHICAGO	ILLINOIS	429 S. WABASH AVENUE
CHICAGO	ILLINOIS	139 N. CLARK STREET
CHICAGO	ILLINOIS	19 S. WABASH AVENUE
CINCINNATI	OHIO	S. E. COR 7TH & WALNUT STREETS
CLEVELAND	OHIO	1022 SUPERIOR AVENUE, N. E.
COLUMBUS	OHIO	26 W. NAGHTEN STREET
DALLAS	TEXAS	2017 COMMERCE STREET
DENVER	COLORADO	1448 CHAMPA STREET
DETROIT	MICHIGAN	71 GRISWOLD STREET
INDIANAPOLIS	INDIANA	24 W. WASHINGTON STREET
KANSAS CITY	MISSOURI	921 WALNUT STREET
LOS ANGELES	CALIFORNIA	822 SO. BROADWAY
MEMPHIS	TENNESSEE	302 MULBERRY STREET
MILWAUKEE	WISCONSIN	220 W. WATER STREET
MINNEAPOLIS	MINNESOTA	909 HENNEPIN AVENUE
MONTREAL	CANADA	243 BLEURY STREET

FILM CO.

AVENUE, NEW YORK

BRANCHES

CITY	STATE	STREET ADDRESS
NEW ORLEANS	LOUISIANA	840 UNION STREET
NEW YORK CITY	NEW YORK	440 FOURTH AVENUE
NEW YORK CITY	NEW YORK	71 W. 23RD STREET
NEW YORK CITY	NEW YORK	260 WEST 42ND STREET
OKLAHOMA CITY	OKLAHOMA	211 WEST 2ND STREET
OMAHA	NEBRASKA	208 SOUTH 13TH STREET
PHILADELPHIA	PENNSYLVANIA	1308 VINE STREET
PITTSBURGH	PENNSYLVANIA	119 FOURTH AVENUE
PITTSBURGH	PENNSYLVANIA	436 FOURTH AVENUE
PORTLAND	OREGON	393-5 OAK STREET
ROCHESTER	NEW YORK	501 CENTRAL BUILDING
ST. JOHN	N. B., CANADA	122 GERMAIN STREET
ST. LOUIS	MISSOURI	3610 OLIVE STREET
SALT LAKE CITY	UTAH	260 FLORAL AVENUE
SAN FRANCISCO	CALIFORNIA	138 EDDY STREET
SEATTLE	WASHINGTON	819 THIRD AVENUE
SPOKANE	WASHINGTON	120 WALL STREET
SYRACUSE	NEW YORK	HIPPODROME BUILDING
TORONTO	CANADA	172 KING STREET, WEST
VANCOUVER	B. C., CANADA	440 PENDER STREET, WEST
WASHINGTON	D. C.	7TH & E STREETS, N. W.
WHEELING	WEST VIRGINIA	1141 EAST SIDE CHAPLINE STREET
WILKES-BARRE	PENNSYLVANIA	47 S. PENNSYLVANIA AVENUE
WINNIPEG	MAN., CANADA	220 PHOENIX BLOCK

Flo LaBadie as the heroine in "The Million Dollar Mystery."

Intensely Dramatic

Every episode—every scene—of The Million Dollar Mystery throbs with human emotion. The intensely dramatic situations cleverly portrayed by beautiful Florence LaBadie are exceptional examples of the motion picture art

THE MILLION DOLLAR MYSTERY

By Harold MacGrath

Thanhouser's Million Dollar Motion Picture Production

The most exciting thrills in this stupendous production are still to come. Under-water pictures, Flo La Badie's dive off an ocean liner, a fire at sea, the dash of an automobile over a cliff—these are a few of the thrills coming. Remember, $10,000 will be paid for the best 100-word solution of The Million Dollar Mystery.

2-reel episodes of The Million Dollar Mystery are now being released every week. The Million Dollar Mystery is an independent release and may be obtained regardless of the regular program being used.

SYNDICATE FILM CORPORATION

71 W. 23rd Street, NEW YORK 166 W. Washington Street, CHICAGO

or Syndicate Film Corporation Representative at Any Mutual Exchange in the United States and Canada.

The Thanhouser Three-a-Week

36

Tuesday, July 28, "The Messenger of Death"—two reels. A thrilling story of adventure in the Indian civil service. Very capably portrayed by Charles Mather, Mignon Anderson, Irving Cummings, Ed. Fray, John Lehnberg and Eugene Moore, Jr.

Sunday, August 2, "The Butterfly Bug." A mirth-provoking one-reel comedy bringing out the exceptional talents of Harry Blakemore, Fan Bourke, Helen Badgley, Doris Farrington and Renie Farrington.

THANHOUSER FILM CORPORATION, New Rochelle, N. Y.

Head European Offices: Thanhouser Films, Ltd., London, W. C., England

Thanhouser's releases will continue to be features of the Mutual Program

When You See It In "The News" It's NEWS

The MOTION PICTURE NEWS

The Fastest Growing Picture Journal

Tel. 7650 Bryant. No. 220 West Forty-Second Street New York City

"The Exhibitor's Medium of Communication with His Fellow Showman"

Volume X August 1, 1914 Number 4

A Reprint With a Reason

BELOW is reprinted an advertising editorial which appeared recently on this page.

The Atlanta "Sunday American" thought well enough of this editorial to republish it in double column measure in the centre of its motion picture page.

Also, to characterize it as "About the best article on advertising published in some time."

IF the article is "best," it is because it tells the truth.

In reprinting it, we ask each advertiser, in all good nature, if the "truth" doesn't hit home.

Isn't it wise to buy low on a rising market—when you have ample opportunity to know that you are buying low and that the marked is rising?

AND isn't it generally true that inertia prevails with the advertiser when he selects his mediums—that he takes the superficial say-so, the prevailing belief, and does not really analyze, investigate and think?

This article evidently is worth reading again.

Buying Space

THE advertising manager of one of New York's finest department stores gave to me the other day the names of the dailies which he considered his best "pullers"—his best advertising mediums, in other words.

He goes to great length to check up the mediums he uses. Naturally, for his advertising outlay runs into the hundred thousands. Selection of mediums is a very important matter—his most important problem, in fact. He uses various and devious methods of checking results.

"How about the ———?" I asked, naming a daily which for more than a year has made rapid strides in all-round improvement. To-day, in everything that makes a good newspaper—news and its arrangement, editorials, cartoons, features—it is considered by a good many judges to be the best paper published in New York.

The advertising manager smiled indulgently and sophistically, the very same kind of a smile that drives to desperation the conscientious publisher.

"Why," said he with parrot-like precision, "its readers are high-class, but nonpurchasers." "Good heavens!" I exclaimed. "I heard that dictum twelve years ago. Don't you know how the paper has changed—how it has popularized itself?"

"Oh, yes; to be sure. To be sure," he hastened. "It's coming right along. It's a splendid paper. We're watching it, you know. But"—the same smile—"it hasn't arrived yet."

"It hasn't arrived yet!"

When will it arrive? Not, in this advertising manager's estimation, until its rates are so high as to make it almost prohibitive. You can buy space in this newspaper to-day—third page, preferred position—at twenty-three cents a line. The same position in one other paper—one of the three best "pullers"—costs one dollar and twenty cents a line.

There is no question whatever that the twenty-three-cent rate in the growing paper is the best "buy." But our friend the advertising manager won't even give the new paper a chance to prove it.

There is too much parrot-like gossip and too little real thinking and investigation in the advertising world.

Some one paper achieves and holds advertising prominence. it gives a certain measure of results which are immediately adopted as standard. The word goes forth: 'The Gazette' has got the circulation." This saying becomes standard.

Advertising managers hear and accept it. No investigation of circulation may be made. No account may be taken of the price charged. In most instances it is impossible to check results.

And so it goes. The paper gets advertising very largely through the inertia of the advertiser.

At the same time another paper is building fast—and sure—like the instance of the New York daily referred to.

In these modern days it is perfectly possible for a publication to achieve in one year what it has taken another publication five years to accomplish.

Of course, it must have ample resources. It must be able to advertise itself more in one year than the other publication did in five years. And it must back up the advertising by editorial excellence and service to its readers and advertisers.

But if it has this excellence and you know that the right effort and resources are back of it, you are buying cleverly when you take advantage of its moderate advertising rate, for the simple reason that you are buying on a rising market.

You need only [illegible] with a yearly contract. Such a paper, with such a start, is bound to acquire circulation in excess of its rate before the expiration of a year.

W. A. J.—In The Motion Picture News.

NEW HOUSE IN LOS ANGELES

Special to The Motion Picture News

Los Angeles, Cal., July 21.

LOS ANGELES is to have another downtown motion picture theatre, to be opened in August. It is located in the three-story building at 610 South Broadway. The owners will be Joseph Rittigstein and C. H. DuBois, who were at one time part owners of the Liberty Theatre, on Main and Third streets.

The new house is to be known as the Symphony, and according to Mr. Rittigstein, will fulfill the name. A mammoth pipe organ is now being built to order for the theatre, there will be an orchestra of ten pieces and singers, and the program will be made up of feature films.

The equipment will consist of the best that can be secured, and the interior decorating will be in charge of C. Clawson, who recently came here from Paris.

BOOM ATTENDANCE IN HOT WEATHER

Special to The Motion Picture News

Louisville, Ky., July 23.

"Quo Vadis?" is being shown at the National Theatre this week on a return engagement.

"Many ministers, priests and prominent business men, persons who do not usually take a great interest in motion pictures, are coming to see this film," says Manager Goldberg, "and this week, at least, the depressing effect of the excessive hot wave has not been felt at the National. Not only has every performance been to a full house, but we are forced on Saturdays to give two extra shows in order to accommodate the crowds attracted."

TOWN NOW WELCOMES FILMS

Special to The Motion Picture News

East Hampton, N. Y., July 22.

After the third attempt to establish a motion picture theatre in this place, one has now been opened, with all indications of becoming a successful enterprise. The pulpit and public both opposed the opening of the first picture house, but now sentiment has changed, and those who were the most violent in their opposition are now the most ardent supporters of film plays here.

BOOMING BUSINESS WITH BABY SHOWS

Napoleonville, La., July 23.

Napoleonville has gone wild on the subject of baby competitions, and the nickel theatre, the only moving picture house in the world operated by a church society, is booming patronage in the hot summer months by showing them on the screen and offering prizes to the children securing the most votes.

Exchanges to Compromise Censor Suits?

Rumors of Dicker with Pennsylvania Attorney-General to Let the Censorship Bill Stand—Exhibitors League of Philadelphia Would Take up Fight.

Special to The Motion Picture News

Philadelphia, July 23.

RUMORS have been going the rounds in Philadelphia for the past week that the Mutual and Universal exchanges were willing to abandon their suits against the Pennsylvania Board of Censors of motion pictures. The first intimation that there was anything wrong was given at the meeting of the Philadelphia local of the Exhibitors League at their regular Friday meeting. One of the members stated the reports as they had come to him and the members agreed that if the suits were compromised, it meant that the league would have to start all over again. This would mean a hardship, for there has already been a considerable contribution to the present fight.

When interviewed, the Interstate Films Company, the local distributors for the Universal, admitted that a compromise had been proposed, but would give no details as to terms.

It is definitely known, however, that the proposition is to charge for one print only of a film released in Pennsylvania and pass all duplicates free, provided the same eliminations are made as ordered in the original. While this would mean a considerable saving to the exchanges which use more than one copy of a given subject, exhibitors say it is sidestepping the issue entirely and regard it as unfair to all the elements which have contributed money to support the censorship fight.

The Mutual takes the attitude "that half a loaf is better than none," but referred all requests for information back to the Interstate.

The suits in question were brought by the Mutual Film Corporation of Pennsylvania and the Interstate Films Company, Inc., the Mutual Film Corporation of New York, Buffalo branch, and the Overlook Theatre, of Philadelphia, against J. Louis Breitinger, chief censor, and Mrs. E. C. Niver, assistant censor. George Q. Horwitz represented the plaintiffs and Attorney-General John C. Bell and staff represented the censors who are also state officials.

It is worthy of note in passing that, while the Overbrook Theatre represents the exhibitors' end of the suits, it is owned and controlled by the officials of the Interstate, and therefore would naturally take the same stand as the exchanges. Exhibitors hope that there will be no compromise.

If the suit cannot be won on its merits, then take the fight up to the halls of the legislature at Harrisburg in the fall and have the obnoxious bill repealed, they urge.

Julian M. Solomon, Jr.

Sunday Opening War Culminates in Police Raid

Third Interference with Ocean City Amusement Men within a Year—Exhibitors Will Not Fight Antagonistic Element

Special to The Motion Picture News

Ocean City, N. J., July 23.

MAYOR HARRY H. HEADLEY, accompanied by his Chief of Police and a squad of men, recently entered the Idyle Theatre, located on the Boardwalk, and stopped the motion picture show then in progress. He also ordered the proprietor and his assistants arrested.

The action of the mayor meets with approval here, as the sentiment of the resort is very conservative. This is the third year that the boardwalk amusement men have attempted to force the wide-open Sunday, but in each case have failed because the resort was founded by those who object to the anti-Sabbath observance of other shore cities.

Mayor Headley has notified the picture men of Ocean City that if they opened up he will personally head his police force to compel observance of the law.

The mayor, after entering the Idyle, addressed the audience, which had filled the house to see "Jeanne D'Arc," and requested them to pass out quietly, as the show had been stopped. There was no disturbance.

The police then closed the doors and arrested Lewis Westcott, E. Warren Smith, C. Walter Preston and F. B. Roy, employees of the house. They were held in the local bastille for a hearing. They were later released on giving bail for an appearance.

The mayor, after closing the theatre, refused to make any other comment than that he had taken a solemn oath to compel an observance of the law, and he intended doing so, especially those sections which were in keeping with the traditions of Ocean City.

It is doubtful if the amusement interests will make another trial at the open Sunday this season.

PENNSYLVANIA AND OHIO CENSORS ATTACK "JOHN BARLEYCORN" FILM

J. Louis Breitinger, Head of Keystone State Censor Board and Lawyer for Liquor Interests, Demands Radical Eliminations—Exchange Prepares to Carry Case to Court; May Show Film Publicly in Defiance of Censors—Picture's Appearance on Eve of "Wet-or-Dry" Election in Ohio Dismays Politicians

Special to THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS

Philadelphia, July 23.

A TYPICAL disregard of the rights of individuals to conduct business without interference by politicians, whose real motives in the move are being carefully concealed from the public, has manifested itself in the first open fight between the manufacturers of films and J. Louis Breitinger, chief motion picture censor of Pennsylvania, precipitated yesterday when he refused to approve the Jack London picture, "John Barleycorn." The picture was scheduled for release July 13, and had been booked at the Stanley Theatre for the 15.

William E. Smith, head of the Famous Players Exchange, which is handling all Bosworth films in Philadelphia, made application to the censors two weeks in advance of the release date, as is required. The film itself was submitted over a week before time for release.

When Smith went to censor headquarters to obtain the film he learned that Mr. Breitinger had not yet given it his O. K. He wanted many cuts made and particularly wished 500 to 1,000 feet added to show the domestic felicity of Barleycorn after his reformation. To make the cuts requested would spoil the value of the film as a story and to add the necessary footage would put matter into the story that was not originally there, as well as cost the producers a large amount of money.

Absurd "Cuts" Demanded

After reading a large list of cuts Mr. Smith requested a copy of the list and received the reply that his memory should be good enough. A copy of the list was refused, but the following are those which were ordered so far as his memory serves:

"Cut to a flash only, the scene in the first reel about the little lad drinking from the pail of beer.

"Cut out the extended drinking of the lad at the Italian banquet, together with the caption about fear of Italians.

"Cut out some of the drinking scene with the Queen of the Pirates.

"Cut out some of the drinking in the saloons.

"Cut out the caption about no deal being consummated without the aid of John Barleycorn.

"Cut out some of the drinking scene on the return to the yacht.

"Reduce the Japanese drinking scene and the fight with the Japanese in the small boat.

One of the Scenes the Censor Ordered Cut to a Flash

A CAROUSAL IN JAPAN
As Shown in "John Barleycorn"

"Reduce the saloon drinking scene after the sailors are paid off.

"Extend domestic scene, at the end, showing the man's true reformation."

Smith Calls Censor Bluff

The film was taken from the censor's office and a private exhibition was given at the Central Y. M. C. A. to which leading temperance advocates, ministers and members of the W. C. T. U. were invited. Mr. Smith was threatened with arrest if he showed the picture without the censorial approval, but it proved to be only a bluff. He has not been disturbed at this writing, thirty hours after the showing of the film.

The film met with the entire approval of the assembled dignitaries and was given hearty applause at its conclusion. The one expression heard on every tongue was "What could the censor be thinking about to stop this film."

Every newspaper in the city has taken up the cudgels in favor of the films and against the censors, as they realize that if the law permitting a censorship of films is allowed to stand that they will be next in line for a dose of the same medicine. Not only have the news columns given the affair much space, but the "Evening Bulletin" to-day prints the following editorial on the subject.

"TOO FINICAL CENSORSHIP"

"Refusal to approve a film drama based on Jack London's "John Barleycorn" precipitates the first actual contest of the critical authority exercised by the State Board of Motion Picture Censors. It will be as well if the case shall be fought to a final conclusion, because, unless that shall be done, the issue will inevitably arise again and again, so long as the limitations of the censorial discretion remain vague and undefined by judicial interpretation of the act creating the board.

"The objections to the film are not clearly stated, in fact, have been scarcely indicated by Mr. Breitinger, the chief censor, but, judged from his suggested changes, they are that the story of intemperance as told in the pictorial reproduction of Jack London's autobiography, is too horrifying and should be softened down and given more of emphasis in its pleasant closing, as if to make its final word an assurance that all comes out right in the end.

"But no story of intemperance which is true to life, subordinates its horror and its suffering and its degredation, nor gains anything by magnifying the joys or reformation if it dulls or shades in any way the contrast with the actualities of the drunkard's life. . . . And Jack London, in his story, tells the truth, as too many an unfortunate can bear witness.

"If the ban of disapproval is to be placed on a production because some feature of it lacerates the sensibilities of an individual or group of individuals, without regard to the general effect upon the welfare of the community, then the experiment of censorship might as well be given up forthwith as an absolute and utter failure, for it will certainly stir up such public resentment as to be overwhelmed."

Breitinger's Liquor Affiliations

The "Evening Bulletin" has the largest circulation of any daily paper in Philadelphia and has always ranged itself on the side of the films, and in previous editorials has proven its friendship for the industry. Several of the other papers which favor local option have attacked Mr. Breitinger personally because of his connection with the liquor interests.

He has on some half dozen occasions presented applications of local saloons to the Court of Quarter Sessions for renewal of licenses.

The firm of Breitinger and Breitinger, of which he is a member, is known and recognized as one which handles this class of business.

It is the prevailing opinion of exhibitors that censors when appointed should be required to give up all other lines of business so that there would be no conflicting personal interests to conflict with the interests represented in film dramas. And they declare that there should never be any censors except the public itself.

Will Show "Barleycorn" Anyway

Mr. Smith now plans to go further and test the authority of the censors in court. He intends to hire the largest theatre in the city, and will show "John Barleycorn" without the approval of the censor board. If they arrest him and attempt to stop the showing of the film he will apply to the courts for an injunction to restrain Mr. Breitinger from interfering with his rights.

Episode in First Reel That Made Breitinger Blush

FARMER FINDS YOUNG LONDON HELPLESS IN DRUNKEN STUPOR

Counsel is being sought and ex-Judge James Gay Gordon, one of the most prominent attorneys in this city, will be asked to handle the case. Judge Gordon was out of the city to-day so that it could not be learned definitely whether or not he will accept the case.

It is thought though that he will handle it as he is strongly opposed to the liquor interests.

B. H. Pierce, of the New York office of Bosworth, Inc., is in Philadelphia to help Mr. Smith in his fight for fair play. F. A. Garbutt, vice-president of the Bosworth firm, when informed of the situation by wire replied, "Fight the thing to a finish. Will come on if necessary."

Another point demanding the attention of film men is that, while the judges who have the censorship cases under consideration, have not as yet rendered a decision, they will no doubt realize that unless they take some action at once they may have another case on their hands. The widespread public sentiment against censorship will probably induce them to make a prompt decision in the matter of the Mutual and Universal cases.

Suspects Liquor Interests

"Of course, we understand well enough what interests object to this film. In California we were offered $25,000 to suppress the film until after the November election," declared Mr. Smith. "But the film went on in California, and it will go on here as sure as there is justice in the land.

"We told Mr. Breitinger that he could not possibly have any reason for suppressing this film, as it has been approved as a strong temperance argument by ministers and church workers all through the land. We offered to submit all the written church indorsements to him. But he waived them aside with the remark that he did not care a rap for them because all those ministers, church workers and temperance people 'are biased, anyway, against the other side.'

"This 'other side' that Mr. Breitinger talks about is, of course, the rum side, and that seems to be the only side Mr. Breitinger is considering."

When Mr. Breitinger returned to town yesterday, he denied published statements that his withholding of approval was because of the fact that he is attorney for liquor interests, and said that during his temporary absence the impression had been given out that the board of censorship had definitely passed upon the film.

"The film has neither been approved nor rejected by the board," said he. "The false impression created in connection with the film indicates that the parties interested desire to create a fictitious sentiment for advertising purposes.

"Application for censorship was made and the film examined. Certain eliminations and changes were suggested, which were taken up with the local representative, who was to ascertain from the manufacturer or producer whether such changes would be satisfactory.

"This film was examined by the board, as are all other films, and in accordance with the rules which provide for such examination, under which, if eliminations or changes are suggested, the applicant or his representative is informed immediately.

Another Scene too Strong for the Liquor Attorney

LONDON HELPLESSLY INTOXICATED AT THE AGE OF EIGHT

Breitinger's Denial

"The suggestion that I am opposed to the production of this film because of an alleged identification with liquor interests is ridiculous. I am not and have never been connected with the liquor interests in any way. I am a total abstainer. The suggestions which I made for changes in the 'John Barleycorn' film were based upon my personal belief that too much space was devoted in the play to the drunken scenes, and too little attention paid to drawing a moral lesson.

"The film has six reels, of which more than five depict scenes of drunkenness which do not show that the victim of drink is any less respected by his family or associates on account of his acts. Instead of two hours of scenes of drunkenness and ten minutes devoted to pictures of his reformation, the moral lesson should be emphasized throughout."

Mr. Breitinger stated that the final decision of the censorship board would probably be announced later on in the week.

"JOHN BARLEYCORN" THROWS OHIO POLITICAL "FAT IN FIRE"

Special to The Motion Picture News

Columbus, Ohio, July 23.

TEMPERANCE folk have clashed with the Ohio Motion Picture Censor Board over "John Barleycorn," the filmization of Jack London's story of the same name, said to picture that author's struggle with liquor.

(Continued on page 64)

Producers Submit to Keystone Censors

Fifteen Hundred Films Already Seen by Pennsylvania Board, at Cost to Manufacturers of Nearly $4,000—Exchange Men and Exhibitors Eagerly Await Court Decision—Censors Now Propose to Regulate Size of Posters—May Ban All but One-Sheets

Special to The Motion Picture News

Harrisburg, Pa., July 23.

THE period has expired in which the new Pennsylvania State Board of Censors agreed with the motion picture interests of the state to waive enforcement of the law permitting the board to impose fines for failure of exhibitors to show the board's stamp of approval on all films displayed in public.

This agreement was reached after it became known that certain of the motion picture manufacturers had banded together to test the constitutionality of the law in the court, and was designed to act as a truce pending a decision from the court.

Since the period of the truce has expired, however, and no decision has yet been forthcoming from the court in Philadelphia, where the legal issue was raised, it was asserted in the board's headquarters here to-day that film manufacturers, even those that are parties to the pending test case, are now paying the license fees of $2.50 for each film offered for inspection rather than run the risk of being adjudged ultimately to have run afoul of the law and to be liable for the heavy fines prescribed by the act.

SOME idea of the expense that this law imposes on the manufacturers can be gleaned when it is known up to date that 700 subjects, or from 1,200 to 1,500 films, have been passed upon and approved by the board. This, at $2.50 a film, has cost the manufacturers from $3,000 to $3,750, exclusive of the fees paid for films that may have been rejected and exclusive of the expense of displaying the pictures for approval, an expense which is also imposed on the manufacturers under the law.

While there is no information available in the headquarters of the censors as to when a decision is likely to be handed down, the film manufacturers and exhibitors alike are "watching and waiting" eagerly for the ruling that will show them where they will ultimately stand with regard to these additional expenses.

A good many of the exhibitors are saying that if the court decision goes against the motion picture interests and thus makes these additional expenses a permanent proposition, the manufacturers will shift the additional financial burden onto the shoulders of the exhibitors in the form of higher rentals for films.

Whether or not the manufacturers propose to do anything of the kind, it is likely that if the law finally is approved by the court, at least some of the exhibitors will take this as an excuse or a pretext for increasing the price of admittance to ten cents in houses that are now charging only five, as the tendency toward ten-cent shows appears to be growing in Pennsylvania.

IT was learned in the headquarters of the censors to-day that the board has abandoned its original plan to have projecting rooms for the display of films that are offered for approval in more than one city of the state.

A projecting-room has been established in the building at the Southeast corner of Thirteenth and Vine streets, Philadelphia, where all the films will be examined except in emergencies.

Occasionally, with respect to local films, the board may hold examinations in private theatres in this city or even in other cities of the state, but the only official and permanent projecting-room will be the Philadelphia one.

The headquarters office of the board of censors, however, will continue to be in this city, as the capital of the state.

V. H. Berghaus, Jr.

CENSORS RULE ON TITLES AND POSTERS AS WELL AS FILMS

Special to The Motion Picture News

Philadelphia, July 23.

THE Pennsylvania Board of Censors of motion pictures have taken upon themselves the authority for censoring titles of films and threaten to censor the size of posters in the near future.

The latest comedy enacted by the board is entitled "Making a Baseball Title for an Innocent Film." When the Mutual Film Corporation submitted their Komic release of June 28, entitled "The White Slave Catchers," the film was passed without a cut, but with broad smiles on the part of the censors. BUT—and hereby hangs the tale—they strenuously objected to the title. The Mutual was requested to change the title to eliminate the words "White Slave."

During the progress of the negotiations it was necessary to substitute another release to fill the vacant space. After being informed that not only every sub-title but the posters as well carried the same caption the censors graciously allowed the two offensive words to be covered over and now the mutilated film and posters advertise "The Catchers," and we might quote the old familiar in a new dress, " a censored poster is not always what it seems."

BUT to get down to serious matters, the Pennsylvania censors are expected daily to issue an edict forbidding the showing of anything larger than a one-sheet poster.

This, while apparently a thing beyond their jurisdiction, will be the greatest step forward that the business has seen in many a day. It will mean the elimination of a lot of lurid rags and banners which often misrepresent the show within, and will put the picture business on a basis where the pictures themselves will have to pull to draw patrons.

At present, many of the better class of patrons and possible patrons turn in disgust from a picture theatre whose perfectly legitimate and clean show is advertised like a circus side show.

The best advertisement that a film can have in front of the house itself is photographs. The patron will believe what the camera tells him rather than what some scatterbrained lithograph artist wishes to imply. The big paper is right and proper for regular billboard work, if it truly depicts scenes from the film, but many a beautiful house front has been disfigured by the use of large posters and banners which cover the good looks entirely.

A SHINING example of this is a house recently remodeled on Market street, Philadelphia. A new front of real marble was put in at large cost, and the passerby can not distinguish from the store show dump because every inch of lobby space is covered by glaring posters. Posters are strung across the entrance and flap in the wind like the hideous banner of old. This house gets five cents for five or six reels of pictures and does a good business.

Compare it with another house but a block away which also has a marble-trimmed lobby. This house runs but three reels for five cents, giving first-run licensed service, and only uses one and three sheets displayed in neat frames. This house is usually doing capacity business. And it gets the better class of patron.

From the exchange man's point of view, the proposed edict will be viewed with much favor. It means less handling of paper, and what usually proves a deficit account on every show is brought back to the right side of the ledger. The only firm which claims that their poster business is profitable is willing to see the big sheets eliminated for the good of the business in general.

JULIAN M. SOLOMON, JR.

FILES INJUNCTION AGAINST FILM MEN

A copyright injunction suit has been filed in the United States District Court of New York to restrain the Broadway Picture Production Company and the Eagle Feature Film Company from producing a photoplay entitled "The Trail of the Lonesome Pine," which is said to be patterned after the novel of that name written by John Fox, Jr.

The plaintiffs are Mr. Fox, the author of the book; Charles Scribner's Sons, the publishers, and Klaw & Erlanger, who produced a dramatized version of the novel by arrangement with Fox.

In making a rough estimate of the damage to the plaintiffs through the production of the photoplay the complaint says that John Fox, Jr., has made many thousands of dollars and is continuing to receive large sums in royalties through the sale of his book.

NEW PICTURE HOUSE FOR NEWARK

A motion picture theatre, with a seating capacity of 700, is to be erected at 686-688 Summer avenue, Newark, N. J., by William Pearson. It is to be a one-story brick structure covering a ground area of 42x120 feet and costing approximately $18,000.

The entire building is to be of fireproof construction. The exterior will be of tapestry brick and limestone, copper being employed for the cornices. A decorative treatment in ornamental plaster is to be used in the auditorium lobby, the Ionic order being followed throughout.

GEORGIA THEATRES COMBINE

Special to THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS

Atlanta, Ga., July 23.

The Grand and the Elton motion picture theatres of La Grange, Ga., which have operated there for several years under separate management, have combined under the direction of W. H. and C. E. Market, formerly proprietors of the Grand.

W. H. Market will be in active charge of both theatres, and expects soon to change the name of the Elton.

Waterbury Summer Business Flourishes

The Scenic, Fox's and the Colonial, Closed for Some Time, Reopen with Large Attendance of Motion Picture Enthusiasts

Special to THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS.

Waterbury, Conn., July 23.

THE silent drama witnessed a great "revival" in Waterbury recently, when three of the city's most popular motion picture theatres, which had been closed, reopened and were greeted with large and appreciative audiences. The theatres are: the Scenic, Fox's and the Colonial.

Fox's combination vaudeville and motion picture house had been closed for several weeks following a disagreement between the owner of the theatre, Attorney O'Neill, and the lessee, William Fox, and it is doubtful if Mr. Fox will ever operate the house again. A New York syndicate opened the theatre early in the month with motion pictures exclusively. It is understood, however, that Mr. Zanft, a representative of William Fox, is an interested party.

The Scenic Theatre, which reopened on the same day as Fox's, was purchased a few weeks ago by Robert Molzon. The Scenic has been completely renovated and in its new decorations and equipment one would scarcely recognize it. The walls have been given a new coat of paint and are adorned with lyrical figures, while the lobby has undergone a complete transformation.

CARPETS of four thicknesses have been laid and convey a sense of homelike comfort.

Ray Averill, formerly manager of Poli's vaudeville house here, has been engaged by Mr. Molzon as manager of the Scenic, and the first thing Mr. Averill did when he took up the reins was to start a campaign of newspaper advertising, and write his own daily readers.

On the opening day the management had a thirty-piece military band parade the streets with a decorated automobile as the piece de resistance.

The Scenic will show "The Perils of Pauline" every week. The Pathé Daily News is another feature that has been secured, and Mr. Averill plans to book the best features available. He says the word Scenic is synonymous with Success, and already the house is "pulling" as never before. Every Saturday afternoon a Western reel will be shown for the pleasure and entertainment of the youngsters who accompany their mothers to the theatre.

"I FIND," said Mr. Averill, "that by running a Wild West reel every Saturday afternoon the youngsters all beg to be taken to the theatre, and in nine cases out of ten their parents acquiesce."

On the opening day five thousand carnations were given away at the Scenic, and the floral embellishments in the lobby changed it into a veritable garden.

The Colonial Theatre opened its doors Sunday evening, July 11, after a suspension of several weeks. Manager Sheehan has given his theatre a thorough renovation, and a new ventilating system has been installed. The feature play of the opening night was "Nero, the Mad Emperor." The Colonial has long been known as the "House of Features."

E. C. ERK.

St. Louis Daily Launches News Pictorial

The "Evening Star" Shows Interesting Events in Its First Reel—Includes Big Fireworks Display—First of Its Kind Made

Special to THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS.

St. Louis, July 22.

A NEW local current events film has just been launched by the St. Louis "Star," an evening newspaper. Mr. Watts, of the circulation department, is manager in charge of the production.

A. Witmann, manager of the Paris Airdome, Morganford Road and Juniata streets, secured the first release, which was made on July 11, for his place of amusement.

The first reel was well received, and contained interesting scenes taken in the various parks where safe and sane Independence celebrations were held, pictures of the fireworks display at the Federal League Park, which are said to be the first films of fireworks ever made, scenes in the Montessori School, and bits of life near Tenth and Carr streets, a poor neighborhood, which was taken to show that the children of this district have only the streets for a playground.

EXCHANGE AUDITOR WEDS

The announcement of the wedding on June 24 of N. Paul Stoughton, auditor of exchange for the Universal, and Viola Van Loan, formerly an assistant secretary to J. C. Graham, has been received by Mr. Stoughton's many friends at the West Coast studios. The marriage ceremony took place at Riverside, Ill.

New League Head at Close Range

Harmony Has Been President Pearce's Motto Throughout His Career—Credit for the Reunion, However, He Gives Freely to the Exhibitors at Large—Vital Propositions Will Soon Be Taken Up by Executive Board—Predicts Universal Prosperity by January 1

Special to The Motion Picture News

Baltimore, July 23.

AFTER a talk with Marion S. Pearce, new president of the Motion Picture Exhibitors League of America, one is bound to feel that his first name should have been Harmony.

Mr. Pearce's entire business career has been based almost entirely upon harmony. He insists on harmony among his vast staff of employees, and since the inception of the Maryland branch of the Motion Picture Exhibitors League, his one aim has been to bring harmony among the ranks of the members.

He has succeeded too, for there is no organization of motion picture men where there is more harmony than among the members of the motion picture interests of the Terrapin state.

Mr. Pearce had another opportunity to bring his great forte to bear when the split occurred in the national organization. No sooner had the new organization been formed, when the new league head appeared in the foremost ranks of those who made every effort to patch up the difference and to bring members of the new organization back to the fold.

With his election as president of the league, he and the members of his executive committee have practically affected the amalgamation of the two organizations and accomplished the purpose for which he so earnestly worked in conjunction with other prominent men who had the interests of the industry at heart.

Yet with it all, Mr. Pearce is an extremely modest man, and claims any credit for the work he has done and simply says that the big feat has been accomplished through consistent co-operation by a body of earnest men. These men are largely represented on the executive board of the exhibitors league.

IN speaking of the work in the past and present, Mr. Pearce said:

"The amalgamation of the Motion Picture Exhibitors League and the International Motion Picture Exhibitors Association has been assured.

"This matter was really closed at the Dayton convention and I earnestly believe that with our executive board more good will be accomplished by the league than ever before.

"When I say "I," I mean that the executive board of the league has this feeling.

"I wish it to be clearly understood that when I speak of a proposition, it is not as an individual, but simply as a mouthpiece of the executives of the organization which honored me by electing me its president. During my administration, the forces of the league are to be conducted by the executive board and all matters of any moment are to be presented to and acted upon by them. This is sure to bring about the most desirable state of affairs.

"THE executive board, as was arranged at the Dayton convention, is to have four members representing the International association, and the leading men of the latter, working hand in hand with those of the league is sure to result in legislation agreeable to the best interests of all parties concerned.

"Of course, the method by which the members of the International association are to come into the Exhibitors League of America will be through the regular channels, viz.: They will enter the state leagues in their state.

"The states where there are no state branches of the league, new ones are to be formed. It is the belief of the executive board that the entire membership of the International association is thoroughly satisfied and that, in spirit at the present time, there is but one exhibitors' organization. It is really only a matter of time to complete the formalities before the spiritual will become material.

"THE members of the league have been so intent upon affecting harmony among the exhibitors that the executive board has not had the opportunity as yet to take up many propositions which we all feel are of vital interest to the motion picture exhibitors of this country.

"This will be done, however, as it is so arranged that at very short notice, all the members of the executive board can be reached in a very short time and matters presented to them, thrashed out and definite action taken.

"The amalgamation of the exhibitors, it is felt by the executive board, has already had the effect of straightening out many points in the relations between the manufacturer and the exhibitor.

"This was plainly shown at the Dayton convention when the manufacturers seemed to realize that their position was made much easier by having one organization to deal with in the future instead of two.

"There are, of course, many matters of importance to be discussed between the manufacturers and film men and the exhibitor. Just what these matters are, we, the members of the executive board, feel are not to be publicly discussed until they have been thoroughly thrashed out and more definitely formulated.

"There is not the slightest doubt, however, that the result of the one organization's plan worked at the Dayton convention will simplify many motion picture questions. It certainly has a tendency to centralize effort and there is no question that a large amount of substantial work will be done during the coming few months, through which the exhibitor as well as the manufacturer and film men will be largely benefitted.

"MOTION picture exhibitors throughout the country are just at present, of course, passing through a most trying period.

"There is no question, however, that it will not be very long before there is a decided change in the tide.

"Indications are for a wide, general improvement in business, and the business of the motion picture men will keep pace with the times. This is particularly [illegible], when it is taken into consideration that the continued increase in the popularity in motion picture with the public and the demand for better class of productions is becoming stronger and stronger.

"As an entirety, the business from the exhibitor standpoint, is very satisfactory and I believe that by January the first, very few of us will have any room for complaint."

A. F. Gillaspey.

LEASES BRONX HOUSE

Sydney S. Cohen has leased for George F. Johnson the Empire Theatre property, at the northeast corner of 161st street, Westchester avenue and Hewitt place, Borough of the Bronx, New York City, taking in the entire triangular block surrounded by these streets, 223 feet on Westchester avenue, 256 feet on Hewitt place and 214 on 161st street, for a term of tewnty-one years at an aggregate net rental of approximately $400,000. The lessees are the Sydco Photoplay Corporation, Albert J. Norton, president.

EDNA GOODRICH WILL ACT FOR LASKY

Edna Goodrich, the famous beauty, who recently starred in the beautiful production of "Evangeline" which enjoyed a short run at the Park Theatre, New York, has been engaged by the Jesse L. Lasky Feature Play

EDNA GOODRICH

Company, Inc., for appearance early in September in one of the Belasco successes.

It has not been definitely decided just what picture Miss Goodrich will appear in, but it may be "The Heart of Maryland" or "Darling of the Gods."

Miss Goodrich will come over from London and go to Hollywood, Calif., for appearance before the camera, after which she will immediately return to London, where she is announced to appear in a big English production, in December.

KENTUCKY USES FILM PLAN FOR EXPOSITION

Special to THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS.

Frankfort, Ky., July 22

A motion picture exhibit is the unique plan adopted by the Kentucky State Commission for raising funds for the erection of a Kentucky building at the Panama-Pacific Exposition and at the same time advertise the resources of the state. Those who wish to be represented in the motion picture show in the Kentucky building will be charged according to the number of feet of film they use. F. S. Hendrick, of the Washington "Post" staff, will make the pictures. He also has secured similar contracts in Alabama, Georgia and Tennessee. The belief is expressed that the state would realize $60,000 out of the venture.

Spiking the Delusion of "Summer Dullness"

Three Large Companies in the Field Find this June and July the Biggest Months in Their History

THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS continues to receive from all branches of the industry reports indicating the maintenance of prosperous conditions in the motion picture field during the summer months.

In many instances, it is learned that business has not only held its own with the cooler seasons, but there has been an actual increase of receipts over those periods during the last few weeks.

This is not all, however. It has been stated by the representatives of certain manufacturers that the volume of business flowing into their offices gives grounds for the supposition that the so-called "dull spell" this year will loom up as a banner season.

One of the largest producing companies in the motion picture field has found that the dull(?) period established a record for the biggest receipts in its history.

William Wright, of the Kalem Company, states that the months of June and July have shown the best business Kalem has ever had.

The Box Office Attractions Company declares that their volume of business has increased twelve per cent in the last two months.

The W. L. Sherry Feature Film Company also makes a gratifying report on conditions indicating anything but a slump. The firm states that in June and July it has had the best feature business since its existence.

These records of important firms, taken in connection with the increasing successes of other representative concerns in the industry during the present hot spell, should help lay the ghost of "summer dullness" far below the ground.

Exhibitors Will Carry Sunday War to Court

Attorney for Binghamton Manager Expects to Make Application for Injunction Which He Hopes Will Prevent Further Interference

Special to THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS

Binghamton, N. Y., July 23.

EVERY motion-picture playhouse in this city was closed a Sunday or two ago, with the exception of the Symphony Theatre, owned and controlled by Messrs. Kornblite and Cohn, who also operate the Star Theatre.

The rest of the houses all closed voluntarily upon recent order issued by Mayor Ely, leaving the Symphony to invite action by the city.

The production of "Creation," a motion picture of religious character at the Stone Opera House, conducted by the International Bible Students' Association, was not molested.

The first skirmish in the war was fought at the Symphony when a detail of police was directed by Chief Goodrich to make the attack.

After the performance began, two plain clothes men purchased tickets, and after witnessing the show, came out and protested to the uniformed officers that the law was being violated.

Manager Cohn, the ticket seller and operators were then notified that the show must stop at once and the audience was asked to leave the theatre.

The action of the police gives Harry C. Walker, the attorney for the exhibitors, basis for an application of injunction which, if made permanent, will prevent further interference on the part of the police against Sunday shows.

Sunday is one of the ten-cent show days in this city and also the best business day in the week. The outcome will be watched with interest, as it may stir things to action in other cities of the state where Sunday is not tabooed by the police.

W. H. MACK.

CAMERA MAN TAKES CHANCES IN STORM

St. Louis, Mo., July 22.

When the Steamer "Majestic" was wrecked in the Mississippi River, near the intake tower of the water works of St. Louis, a short time ago, D. Blauvelt, a Pathé camera man, and Russell T. Edwards, motion picture editor of the St. Louis "Times," chartered a twelve-foot motor boat and took some big chances of getting drowned in their determination to get some pictures of the wreck.

The current formed in the passage between the water works and the sunken steamer was very dangerous, but the intrepid newsgatherers were not daunted. They got some thrilling pictures.

BUYS HARTFORD THEATRE

Hartford, Conn., July 22.

The Atlas Theatres Company, of New York City, has acquired the Star Theatre, in this city, and immediately closed it for improvements.

It seats 2,000, and was finished this spring. It will be re-opened about August 1 as a model motion picture house, renamed the Atlas.

CAPITAL EXHIBITORS DEFY THE MERCURY

Despite the Hot Wave, the Photoplay Houses Are Packing 'Em in With Good Pictures and Judicious Advertising Methods—Lower Prices or Longer Programs Used to Neutralize the Heat—Novelties That Pull Business

Special to THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS
Washington, D. C., July 23.

WASHINGTON has been suffering an exceptionally hot wave, which is naturally felt by the exhibitor. People are seeking the cool in the out-of-town amusements, and even in long car rides, rather than the shows of the city. Even the air-domes hold more inducement for the pleasure-seekers at this particular time.

And yet, with various schemes, the theatre manager is holding his own.

The cut-rates for the summer are chiefly of two kinds—reduction in the prices of admission and increase in the length of the show maintaining the regular schedule of admission.

Chief among the houses of the former class is Moore's Garden, which is a ten and twenty cent show in the winter with twenty-five cents for box seats.

At present the admission is five and ten cents, offering the same program with big features that has made this house popular.

An excellent system of ventilation with many fans, aided by the high ceiling and large open stage, make the Garden a very comfortable place to enjoy the pictures.

CRANDALL'S Theatre has retained its usual price of ten cents, but has added another feature to the daily program. This seems to have satisfied the public and a goodly attendance has been the rule, even during the heat.

Both Mr. Crandall, the proprietor, and his house manager, Guy Barrett, are ever seeking the comfort of patrons. With a seating capacity of 500, broad aisles, and plenty of room in the seats, good ventilation, soft lighting, convenient ice water, a ladies' retiring room, and courteous ushers, Crandall's Theatre has every reason to demand patronage.

The house also shelters the only gold screen in the city which gives clear pictures. As Mr. Barrett has risen to his present position from an operator, he is a stickler on good projection, and whenever he notices that it is not given even for a moment, he is in the booth himself finding out the reason why.

The electrical decoration on this theatre is attractive, a crescent in which stands a clown juggling "Joy."

The Maryland has lengthened its daily bill during the hot weather. Mr. Johnson is offering five reels for five cents. The program always includes one feature, and all pictures are the first time shown in this city.

UNDER the management of J. J. Noonan, the Virginia Theatre is offering a hot weather boost which is quite pretentious. The tickets are issued with numbered coupons to be retained by the patrons who are thus entitled to various prizes which are listed in the lobby of the theatre.

The first prize is a ticket to Atlantic City and the tenth or last is a season pass to the Virginia. Among the other prizes are trips to Chesapeake Beach and other near-by water resorts, tickets to the stock companies now in the city, and to other amusements and pleasure resorts.

It looks as if this will cause some lively running for these rewards. There will be several series of these contests during the present season.

The Virginia has added a cool-weather feature in the form of serving small ice cream cones free to patrons. This will make Mr. Noonan stand in well with the youngsters, who will insist that their parents and big brothers and sisters see the show at the Virginia. Children usually have their way in these things.

This theatre is showing a good program of features with several single reels. The Virginia has the distinction of having a complete mirrored lobby, which is made more brilliant when the night lights are reflected from every angle.

The Lyric, under the management of V. P. Whitaker, has the "cut-rate" to a minimum. For a five-cent show he is giving his patrons seven reels, with a change of program daily. And these are new pictures and features, too.

A specialty of serials is made in the offering of "Our Mutual Girl," "Lucille Love," and "The Million Dollar Mystery," while the Keystone comedies are also featured.

The Lyric is a comfortable theatre with a seating capacity of five hundred, located in the residential section of the city.

THE initial presentation in this city of "The Stain" at Moore's Garden Theatre, drew exceptionally large audiences. The chief cause of this was doubtless due to the fact that Thurlow Burgen, who takes the lead in this photoplay, was a Washington boy and only last summer played a lengthy engagement as leading man with Poli's stock company, permanently located here.

As this was his "bow" as a photoplayer in his home city, his friends turned out to do him homage. Mr. Moore was wise enough to remind the public of this fact when billing "The Stain."

Be it said to Mr. Burgen's credit that his work in this photoplay possessed the artistic finish and attention to details that characterized his stage acting, a criticism that can not always be given to the "legitimate" on entering the motion picture field.

The trial scene could scarcely have been more intense if the rich, stirring words of the actor had filled the Garden.

"A Million Bid" caused something of a stampede at the Savoy Park recently when several hundred were turned away disappointed. The fact that this was a "repeater" by request, with no additional plays and a ten-cent show, in no way lessened the enthusiasm for this entertaining and exciting photodrama.

Manager Edgar Tracy reports a capacity of 2,500 for the two shows that this theatre offers in the evening, as it is in the resident section and opens at 7:30.

These figures were eclipsed at the first showing of "A Million Bid" at the Savoy Theatre when 3,000 was the capacity. This same play met with equal popularity when it ran for four days at Crandall's, when first released.

As a "cut-rate" inducement, the Parkway Theatre is offering dancing to its patrons. This is a dime house, which has a feature program that is always good. A novelty is met here in the form of a ladies' orchestra.

THEODORE FRANKLIN.

WILL ALTER BROADWAY THEATRE

Plans have been filed for extensive alterations, costing $30,000, to the Broadway Theatre, southwest corner of Broadway and Forty-first street. New floors, new exit doors, dressing-rooms, and steel work on the stage are some of the contemplated changes.

KLEINE RELEASES ANOTHER MULTIPLE

"The Secret of the Ring," a splendid three-reel release, is scheduled for the General Film Company August 10, by George Kleine. This is one of the best three-reelers yet made by Cines.

Trade Events in Western Pennsylvania

Police Censorship an Increasingly Dangerous Menace to Pittsburgh Exhibitors' Business—Drastic Building Code Puts Damper on Theatre Openings—Doings of the Equipment Men and Exchange Managers—Some Large Contracts Landed by Smoky City Men

Special to The Motion Picture News

Pittsburgh, Pa., July 23.

THE Pittsburgh motion-picture men, both exhibitors and exchange managers, are getting into line to fight for their rights regarding censorship and new building laws which, it seems, are being made for the destruction of the motion-picture business in this section, especially in Pittsburgh.

The police censorship here is getting worse right along.

Since the new administration has taken charge of the city's affairs, they have made it a hard proposition for any of the exhibitors to run a show that meets with the ideas of the police officials.

The state censorship is, at the worst, all that should be required, but the police officials seem to think that they should take a hand in the pie and are watching the motion-picture business with a jealous eye. In fact, they are paying so much attention to the films that crime is running riot here.

THE new building code makes it hard to find places for the operation of a theatre. By the time the aisle space is taken from the width of the ordinary building, it leaves little, if any, room for seats. This is having a tendency to hold down the opening of a number of theatres.

J. R. Newman, manager of the equipment department of the Ludwig Hommel Company, has returned to the city from the Dayton, O., convention and has been praising the displays of the various manufacturers of motion-picture equipment. While at the convention Mr. Newman secured a number of orders, and says the trip was both a profitable and enjoyable one for his firm and himself.

Frank R. Guckert, who for a long time has been connected with the Feature Film and Calcium Light Company, of Pittsburgh, has gone into business for himself at 107 Fourth avenue, Pittsburgh. Frank is well known to the trade in this city as one of the best repairmen of this section, and his business right from the start was phenomenal.

He is a repairer of projection machines, and the operators have the utmost confidence in his work.

Thomas Thompson, manager of the Columbia Theatre in Fifth avenue, has left the city and is combining business with pleasure in New York, where he will look after some important business for his theatre. After it is completed, he expects to spend a week or ten days at Cambridge Springs. Later he will go on a fishing trip to Conneaut Lake.

J. FRANK HATCH, the film and carnival manager, has moved his offices from Baltimore to Pittsburgh, and is handling all of his business from the local office. He is planning a number of gigantic shows for the coming fall in this section.

A number of the motion-picture houses of this section have laid plans for the enlargement of their theatres before the cool weather. Some of the improvements are well under way, and building permits for a number of others have been issued.

A. S. Davis, of the Independent Film Company, is interested in oil in West Virginia. He spent two days in Huntingdon, West Virginia, attending a meeting of the officials of the company and has just returned to Pittsburgh.

Paul Qualtrough, of the poster department of the General Film Company, with offices in New York, spent Monday in Pittsburgh. He arrived in the morning and left in the evening for the East.

M. A. Sybert, of the Park Theatre, of Moundsville, W. Va., spent a day in Pittsburgh upon his return from the Dayton convention.

A NUMBER of improvements have been made to the plant of the Independent Film Exchange. A. S. Davis is manager, and among the improvements he has added a big gold sign. Davis is still holding to his "chatter" about there being no money in the film renting business.

The Kalem Theatre at Washington, Pa., has added a large organ to its equipment. The instrument was sent to them from a Pittsburgh concern, and is said to be giving the utmost satisfaction.

D. C. France, of the Feature Film and Calcium Light Company, took a flying trip through Ohio and West Virginia this week.

He reports that he secured a number of contracts for some of his specialties, and a number of features will be sent to that section from the Pittsburgh office. Most of the specials are Universals.

THE Alhambra Theatre in East Liberty, one of the largest theatres in that section of Pittsburgh, packed his house last week. He exhibited "The Spy" for the entire week, and filled the theatre at each performance. He is loud in his praise of the picture.

F. G. Galbraith, road man of the Feature Film Company, went to Cambria county last week and landed one of the largest contracts for equipment that has come from that section since the motion-picture business was started in that section.

His contract calls for the entire equipment of the theatre from chairs to projection machine.

G. L. McCoy, Jr.

Business Booms in Omaha Exchange Territory

Nebraska, Iowa, Kansas and Dakotas Report Steady Improvement Through July—Effect of Heat Only Temporary

Special to The Motion Picture News.

Omaha, Neb., July 22.

VERY few motion picture theatres in Omaha's territory—Nebraska, Iowa, Kansas and the Dakotas—have closed because it is summertime. Compared with former years, the situation this summer is remarkable.

Exchange men say the "summer slump" has hardly been noticeable, while the number of theatres to start in the spring has been unusual.

A number of theatres in the smaller towns, and a few in the cities, have cut down the length of their programs.

That they have not closed for the summer months is a decided indication that the motion picture business in this part of the country, at least, is permanent.

"Our business has been getting better right along during July," said one exhibitor.

"The slump is noticeable during the first week or two of hot weather. Then the people, becoming used to the heat, become normal again, and the normal person attends the motion picture shows."

STERLING HEAD COMES EAST

Fred J. Balshofer, president and general manager of the Sterling Motion Picture Company, recently left Los Angeles for New York City, on a business trip of two weeks.

"REEL" FELLOWS ORGANIZE IN PHILADELPHIA

Promote Harmony and Bring Members of the Motion Picture Industry in the Quaker City in Closer Business and Social Relations—Prospect of Large Membership — Permanent Officer Will Be Chosen at Next Meeting—Exchange "Map" Changing

Special to THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS.

Philadelphia, July 23.

THE newest member of motion picture social clubs was born on Sunday, July 19, at 2 p. m., when the "Reel" Fellows of Philadelphia came into being.

The invitations to the event read as follows:

THE "REEL" FELLOWS OF PHILADELPHIA

Dear Sir:

You are cordially invited to attend a private exhibition and demonstration on Sunday, July 19, at the Ridge Avenue Theatre, 1734 Ridge avenue, at 2 p. m., where several first-run features de luxe (emphasis on the de luxe) will be shown; and to hear several renowned speakers who are today the shining lights of filmdom; also several notable vaudeville performers who will make you sit up and take notice.

We respectfully beg to state that we, the committee, are very careful what we eat, drink and smoke; so you can rest assured of surviving this very notable event.

Yours obediently,

The Committee.

Please bring this card with you.

No admittance without it.

Many Philadelphia film notables awoke to find these cards in their morning's mail on Friday and Saturday. On Sunday afternoon they responded with a right good will, and there were over one hundred on deck by the time the reels were ready for showing.

THE collation consisted of sandwiches, pickles, olives, cheese and various other good things to eat, washed down by that amber liquid that comes in "brown bottles." This was served both before and during the entertainment and proved to be a perfect "social solvent."

The films were two de luxe reels on the opening and the wind-up, with comedies and vaudeville sketches in between. The comments of appreciation for both films and performers were loud and sincere. Just before the final reel was run a slide was flashed on the screen extending the good wishes and greeting of THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS to the "Reel" Fellows of Philadelphia, and received a nice "hand."

At the conclusion of the show the gathering was called to order and Simon Libros, of the National Feature Film, was appointed temporary chairman, and Jay Emmanuel, manager of the Ridge Avenue Theatre, temporary secretary. The temporary committee on membership, composed of the following: William Heenan, Electric Theatre Supply Company; Ben Zerr, exhibitor, Reading, Pa.; Julian M. Solomon, Jr., Motion Picture News; Dave Sablosky, exhibitor, Philadelphia and Wilmington, Del., and Steve Talbot, proceeded to take the names of those present who desired to join the new organization.

Mr. Libros, in a short speech, briefly stated that the intention of the club was the promotion of good fellowship, and that it was to be a purely social organization. He then announced the names of the membership committee.

Ben Zerr, of Reading, also added a few words of good cheer and welcomed a social body which would promote a better feeling among all branches of the art.

ABOUT fifty names were submitted to the committee for its consideration. The joyful gathering then broke up and the membership committee adjourned until 4 p. m. Monday, at Mr. Libros' office.

On Monday the first business transacted was the outlining of qualifications for membership. Until permanent by-laws are adopted the following classes of persons connected with the motion picture art have been decided upon as eligible: manufacturers, actors, photoplay authors, newspapermen, exchange owners and bookers, managers of picture theatres. Honorary members will be those who have given signal service to the club in some manner.

In addition to the list of those taken on Sunday, invitations will be sent to several hundred others who are eligible, and as soon as sufficient replies are received, a business meeting will be called by the chairman and permanent officers will be elected.

Several suggestions were made as to dues, initiation fees, etc., but it was decided not to take any action on these matters at the present time but to let the business meeting make the final decision.

The campaign to secure members will be by means of a circular letter with tentative application for membership attached. In this letter will be set forth strongly the fact that the Reel Fellows is to be a body whose main and sole idea is "to promote good fellowship" among its members. As soon as permanent officers are elected, a regular meeting place will be selected, and it is hoped that ultimately the Reel Fellows will own their own home.

THE change in Philadelphia's film map goes merrily on with the march of time. The property at 1321 Vine street has been torn down and a new building of two stories is being erected for the new Paramount Pictures Corporation.

The Famous Players Exchange, now further up the street, will occupy the new building. The property at No. 1333 has been vacated by the Eastern Booking Offices, the Cosmos Film Company, and the Renfax Musicals, to make way for another new building, which will house the Philadelphia branch of the Box Office Attractions Company.

The Eastern Booking Offices have crossed Thirteenth street and are at No. 1237. Cosmos and Renfax have moved the other way, to No. 1339.

The National Feature Film Company has been incorporated in New York under the name of the Picture Play House Film Company, Inc., and will have branch offices in New York, Philadelphia, and Montreal, Can. This firm, while backed by the Pasquali American Company, will continue to handle both foreign and American productions and will release two a week in the fall.

George J. Beihoff, formerly manager of the Pittsburgh, Indianapolis and Cleveland branch offices of the World Film Corporation, is now in charge of the Philadelphia office. He has boosted business over fifty per cent since his arrival, and his most recent scoop was putting over "The World, the Flesh and the Devil" for ten days on Market street and for a week in Wilmington.

JULIAN M. SOLOMON, JR.

SECOND THEATRE IN GEORGIA TOWN

Special to THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS

Atlanta, Ga., July 23.

The Fitzgerald Amusement Company is completing a new motion picture theatre on South Grant street, Fitzgerald, Ga., which will be opened probably within two weeks. This gives Fitzgerald two motion-picture houses.

Do News Weeklies Neglect Canada?

St. John, New Brunswick, Complains That No One of the Animated Journals Gives to Canadian Affairs, Canadian Industries and Canadian Scenery the Space They Deserve—Market for Such Pictures Undoubtedly Exists, but Seems to Be Overlooked

A QUESTION of interest to managers of Canadian picture houses not only at present, but for some time past, is "Why is not more attention given to news matters in the weekly pictorial issues concerning events in Canada?"

From a box-office standpoint it is quite an important matter, while from the viewpoint of increased popularity for the picture houses great interest also attaches, but despite complaints of managers there has been no improvement.

With every well-conducted picture house there is quite a definite policy as to variety in the pictures shown.

For instance, there are certain days on which two-reel or three-part subjects are featured; other named days on which are shown serial photoplays and other days news-weeklies are presented.

This is a policy well followed in St. John, and the patrons of local houses have become accustomed to the routine, knowing when to expect each distinct class of film.

BUT it is the news weekly with which this article is intended to deal. Each week in many cities and towns through Canada from one thousand to five and sometimes more thousand feet of news film are displayed.

It is taken largely because it is realized that patrons appreciate a change from the usual run of fiction and because many of the events chronicled in the films are of popular interest.

But much to their disappointment, week after week, the "Blank-blank Famous News-Weekly, Chronicling the Latest Events from All Quarters of the Globe," fails to include any subject related to Canadian affairs.

It cannot be because there is a dearth of matter in Canada.

Every-day events are happening throughout the broad expanse of country stretching from the Atlantic to the Pacific which would be of interest on canvas not only to the thousands of picture patrons in the Dominion, but in the United States, in England, and in many other countries where the "news-weeklies" are shown.

Once in a very long while there is a short view of something Canadian, but it is all too short.

TAKE, for instance, the recent disaster in the St. Lawrence River, with the loss of so many lives, when the steamer "Empress of Ireland" was sent below the waters.

Here would afford material for some "news photos" of interest not only in this country, but throughout the entire world. How much of it was put on canvas? All that has been seen in St. John was a church service in Montreal held some days after the disaster.

The first member of the British royal family to be governor-general of Canada, His Royal Highness the Duke of Connaught, and his wife, the Duchess, are about to depart from Canada, his term having expired. Would not this afford a news-bit of interest?

The first cardinal ever appointed for Canada, Cardinal Begin, and his arrival after his consecration in Rome, surely would provide good news matter.

The gigantic government works now under construction in St. John, with upwards of fifteen millions of dollars being expended, certainly ought to be worth while, and these are only a few subjects which suggest themselves.

Then there are instructive bits such as lumbering, fishing, the lime business, not to speak of scenic marvels.

MANAGERS and people cannot see why it should be so that the weeklies or dailies issued in the film should be all-American, or almost entirely so. Would it not help the motion-picture business in Canada were this hint taken?

I think the time is ripe for the issue of at least a "half-and-half" news photo, that is, with Canadian events given a fair share of attention and space, for publishers across the line should remember that they are catering to business in the Dominion as well as in the States, and there probably would be an increase to them as well as to managers in this country were a little more attention given to events on this side of the border.

FRANK I. MCCAFFERTY.

Managers Line Up to Fight Censorship

Bridgeport Organization Will Watch Legislature for Indications of Any Intention to Force Undesirable Scrutiny of Pictures

Special to THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS

Bridgeport, Conn., July 23.

MOTION picture theatre managers of this city have formed an organization one of the objects of which is to prevent legislation which will create a state board of censors. Charles Brody, manager of the Elite Theatre, in Main street, was chosen president pro tem. at a preliminary meeting held July 12, in the Imperial Theatre, in Stratford avenue. About twenty-five owners or managers of picture theatres attended the meeting.

There are more than forty managers of motion picture theatres in Bridgeport, including the airdomes. Another meeting was held in the Imperial Theatre on Tuesday morning, July 21, when permanent officers were chosen and a permanent organization effected.

Several pastors' associations in the larger cities of the state, including Bridgeport, have recently declared in favor of a state board of censors for all motion picture films. The Bridgeport managers are opposed to any censorship other than that now exercised by the National Board and the local authorities.

It is planned to have a representative at Hartford when the state assembly meets in January, to oppose the passage of legislation of this character and any legislation regarding theatres which is unnecessary or unwarranted.

AN effort to fix a minimum admission of ten cents met with little support at the last meeting and was laid on the table, to be considered further at the next meeting, when it is expected there will be a larger attendance. The managers present at the last meeting voted down a proposition to endeavor to secure legislation to permit motion picture shows on Sunday.

Motion picture theatres are allowed to give Sunday shows in Waterbury and New Britain, and until about two years ago Sunday shows were allowed in Hartford, the capital city.

About a year ago several managers of motion picture theatres decided to test the law which forbids Sunday shows, and they all agreed to open on a certain Sunday.

Prosecuting Attorney A. L. DeLaney, learning of the agreement, declared he would issue warrants for those who gave shows. After talking the matter over a second time, the managers decided to keep their theatres closed Sundays. At the last meeting the managers who spoke against Sunday opening declared they found work enough on six days at present.

It is expected that when a permanent organization is effected minimum evening admission price of ten cents will be agreed on by all managers.

EDMOND C. BOOTH.

State Censorship Lost Cause in Ohio

Report of the Special Committee, Appointed Early in the Year by the Cleveland Photoplay Exhibitors Board of Trade, Shows That Only Five Managers Favor Film Supervision Out of the Hundreds Canvassed, Though M. A. Neff Declared the Majority Wanted It

Special to THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS

Cleveland, O., July 22.

THE final report of the special anti-censorship committee of the Cleveland Photoplay Exhibitors Board of Trade, of Cleveland, Ohio, has been submitted to the members of that organization by the chairman of the committee, Sam Bullock.

The report covers the activities of the organization in its thorough canvass of motion picture managers throughout the state of Ohio for the purpose of getting a consensus of their views regarding the question of legalized censorship. The results of this investigation show conclusively that the question is practically a dead issue, and that the bugbear of political interference with the private business transactions of an industry whose members are fully able to manage their own affairs with the best interests of the public as well as their own at heart, has been laid for all time.

The report, the tenor of which shows a disposition to be more than fair to the opponents of the Board of Trade and its purpose in conducting the investigation, states that doubters have been invited to inspect the signatures of the ballots which were sent out to exhibitors early in the year and were returned expressing their sentiments of the Ohio Censorship Law.

THE methods employed by the organization in the investigation, show by the report a desire to conduct everything in the open. Inspection of the letters received from exhibitors and the postmarks on each envelope were not the only means by which the Board of Trade has demonstrated its sincerity of purpose. Absolute fairness was shown in an admission of an action which the opponents of the organization endeavored to misconstrue into evidence of a special purpose secretly instigated by men outside of the exhibiting body. This was the accusation that the committee was in the pay of the exchanges.

The report of the committee, based on documents and statistics open to inspection in the offices of the secretary, 725 Columbia Building, Cleveland, shows that out of hundreds receiving ballots only five exhibitors voted in favor of legalized censorship.

The report follows:

Final Report of Special Anti-Censorship Committee to the Members of the Cleveland Photoplay Board of Trade

Gentlemen:

The object for which we were appointed last April was to endeavor to find out as near as possible the sentiment of Ohio motion picture exhibitors regarding the question of censorship—legal or otherwise—and especially their attitude towards the Ohio State Censor Law.

Every opportunity has been afforded Ohio exhibitors to express themselves without the slightest attempt being made to influence them in their decisions. Three bulletins of information have been sent to every motion picture theatre upon the selected commercial mailing lists of Ohio exhibitors.

TWO forms of ballots were sent out. The first propounded eleven questions, two of which were intended to test the sentiment of exhibitors regarding their knowledge of the method of the National Board of Censorship of New York.

We found by this ballot that while the average exhibitor is apparently lacking in a knewledge of details as to their methods, he is perfectly satisfied with the results they accomplish. According to our returns there are not over a dozen exhibitors in Ohio dissatisfied with the work of the National Board.

Ten refused to answer the two direct questions for lack of information and so stated.

Three, including Mr. W. R. Wilson, Schiller Theatre, Columbus, were emphatic in their criticism of the National Board. (Mr. Wilson has since been appointed by Governor Cox a member of the Ohio State Board of Censors.)

The second form of ballot sent out was simplified. It propounded only one question, "Are you in favor of the repeal of the Ohio Censor Law?"

Every hamlet, village, town and city in Ohio responded and five votes are the sum total in favor of the present law. Every opportunity has been offered to the advocates of legalized censorship to inspect the signatures and postmarked returns.

THE registered exhibitors at the June, 1914, convention in New York City were urged from the platform to inspect the returns and an equal opportunity was offered at Dayton in order to prove that the advocates of legalized censorship are so few in numbers that they should be regarded only as an insignificant minority.

A great many of those answering wrote letters telling how they had solicited the opinion of their patrons upon the censorship question. These letters were shown to the members of the press, both at the New York and Dayton conventions.

Nothing has been concelaed. Everything has been open and above board.

The insinuations that "Cleveland alone is disgruntled over the Ohio Censor Law" has been answered by exhibitors from all over Ohio. The verdict is in, and it is practically unanimous against legalized censorship. It is the first time that an organized, systematic effort has been made to reach the exhibitors of any state and they have responded emphatically.

The Cleveland Photoplay Board of Trade has set the example for other organizations to find out the true conditions in other states.

In conclusion, we beg to report that to all our requests for financial aid made to film exchanges, manufacturers and the trade, not a dollar was received except a personal donation of $100 from Mr. C. G. Thompson, of this city.

WE would not mention this but for the fact that printed statements have been issued intimating that your committee is being paid by film exchanges for doing this work.

We shall feel amply repaid as exhibitors if the censorship "snake" is "spiked" by the repeal of the Ohio state law.

The prospect is extremely bright. The Dayton Convention last week endorsed the action of the International Motion Picture Convention upon the censorship question. Exhibitors are once more united under the banner of the present body, the Motion Picture Exhibitors League of America. The object (censorship) which was the chief cause of the "bolt" at the New York Convention, July, 1913, will now be met and fought to a finish by one, big, united organization. Legalized Censorship is doomed.

Fraternally submitted by committee, Cleveland Photoplay Exhibitors Board of Trade: Sam Bullock, chairman; S. E. Morris, W. J. Slim, Emery N. Downs, Frank Kenney, treas., Sam Lustig, secretary.

ALL IN A DAY'S WORK

Florence La Badie, the heroine of "The Million Dollar Mystery," has added a new deed of daring to her already long list. Miss La Badie leaped into the water last week from the deck of the "George Washington," as that leviathan of the deep steamed past Sandy Hook.

FLORENCE LA BADIE

Passengers on the deck of the big liner were appraised of the girl's intention and a tremendous salvo of cheers greeted her as she unhesitatingly climbed up on the railing and threw herself overboard.

TAKE UP COLLECTION ON SUNDAYS

Special to THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS

Patchogue, Long Island, July 23.

Two motion picture men, George T. Holms, proprietor of the Star, and Nathan Goldstein, manager of another theatre, were asked by a deputation of clergymen here to close their houses on Sunday, threatening the exhibitors with boycott by the church people if the request were ignored.

The managers explained that they expected to give a religious educational performance, and the Rev. Jacob Probst, one of the churchmen deputed to wait upon the exhibitors, declared that in such a case no admission fee should be charged. He also declared that if they meant what they said the managers should depend upon the amount received in taking up a collection afterwards.

Goldstein and Holms not only agreed, but volunteered to close during the time the churches were open.

Famous Players Directors Return From Europe

Historical Landmarks of the Eternal City Will Be Seen as Backgrounds to the Film of the Same Name

EDWIN S. Porter, technical director of the Famous Players Film Company, and Hugh Ford, who has recently abandoned the legitimate stage and joined the producing staff of that company, recently returned from a four months' trip to Europe.

Their first picture was "The Eternal City," in which Pauline Frederic will be starred. The scenes which they secured in Rome will mark a new era in dramatic picturization.

DIRECTORS PORTER AND FORD TAKING A SCENE FOR "THE ETERNAL CITY" IN ROME

For the first time in the history of motion pictures they succeeded in filming the Vatican, the Coliseum, and in fact every historical and beautiful spot in the Imperial City. It is the first time that the authorities of Rome have given permission for the ancient city to be put upon the screen. and the importance of this achievement, both from a commercial as well as from an artistic and historical standpoint, cannot be overestimated.

Messrs. Porter and Ford also succeeded in arranging to use thousands of the soldiery as well as hundreds of railway officials, government officials and, in fact, succeeded in immortalizing with absolutely perfect detail every phase of Hall Caine's wonderful story, in its outdoor aspects.

They found, however, in spite of general belief to the contrary, that it was impossible to obtain a studio of the magnitude necessary to properly reproduce the interior scenes, and after searching not only Italy, but Paris and London as well, they came back to America where the spacious studio of the Famous Players Film Company on West Twenty-sixth street, New York, was used for the production.

There was one point, however, that the American directors agreed upon to be far superior abroad. It was in the cheapness as well as the intelligence of the supernumeraries.

"The Italian extra people seemed to have far more appreciation of what the picture and scene meant and of what they were supposed to be expressing," said Mr. Porter, "while their rate of pay is so low that it is possible to use far greater numbers in making spectacular scenes than could be employed without bankrupting an American producer."

1,500 AT "DAMON—PYTHIAS" REHEARSAL

Special to THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS.

Los Angeles, July 21.

A dress rehearsal run of the four-reel feature, "Damon and Pythias," produced under the direction of Otis Turner, of the Hollywood Universal studio, through the courtesy of W. H. Clune, of Clune's Auditorium, was witnessed recently by leading members of the Los Angeles motion picture colony, consisting of 250 Los Angeles Knights of Pythias, who took part in the production, film exchange managers and exhibitors and their families, numbering in all about 1,500. The picture was shown after the last regular performance at the theatre.

This was one of the largest and most critical audiences ever assembled to witness the first projection of a picture.

Among Buffalo Exhibitors

Directing an Orchestra by Telephone Proves a Success at the Strand—Engage Professor of Music for Syracuse Theatre—Industrial Firms Take Advertising by Films—Motion Pictures Promote Use of Libraries, Records Show—Allendale Will Have Organ

Special to THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS
Buffalo, N. Y., July 23.

MANAGER HAROLD EDEL, of the Strand Theatre, has installed a unique arrangement of telephones in his orchestra pit.

The equipment consists of a large horn at the director's stand and a smaller receiving piece at each stand in the orchestra. The director, when he wants a change of music or wants to draw attention to a certain part in the score just talks into the horn, thereby talking to all the men at once.

In this way the eyes of the musicians are never off their music. They do not have to keep looking at the pictures for cues, and a much better rendition of music programs seems to be possible.

The old method of calling out cues and changes, and the switching on and off of electric lights was not satisfactory as they detracted the attention of the audience from the pictures.

The Strand Theatre is the first to install this new system.

HARRY VIBBARD, professor of music and head of the University of Syracuse music department, has been engaged by the Regent Theatre, Syracuse, controlled by Buffalo men, to give organ recitals at that theatre upon its opening, August 1.

Mr. Vibbard is a pupil of Widor and Guilmant, and one of the foremost organists of the country. He will accompany one picture each evening on the Regent organ. The Regent will be situated at the corner of Genesee and Irving streets, three blocks from the University. The theatre will be under the supervision of Harold Edel, manager of the Strand, Buffalo.

Manager Claude Weil, of the Premier Theatre, has returned to town after a vacation. Mr. Weil reports that business at the Premier has been very satisfactory despite the extremely warm weather. The Premier is located at the corner of Main and Leroy in Buffalo Central Park district.

MANAGER Harold Edel presented a Mary Pickford week at the Strand Theatre last week, and hopes to do the biggest business in the history of this theatre. He showed a Mary Pickford film each day, "Tess of the Storm Country," "Caprice," "Heart's Adrift," "In the Bishop's Carriage" and "The Good Little Devil." Mr. Edel advertised this event largely in the Buffalo newspapers and arranged a very attractive lobby display.

He had the large oil painting of Mary Pickford, which was on exhibition at the New York exposition lately, in the lobby. Hazel Dawn in "One of Our Girls," "The Wrath of the Gods," "Heart's of Oak" and "The House of Temperly" are among coming Strand attractions.

Buffalo has had a week of exceptionally warm weather and managers are reporting bad business. Of course the first thing that they think of is "cutting down on advertising."

Why? So business will get worse?

MANY local industrial organizations are having motion pictures taken of their plant and products. Motion picture advertising is becoming very popular with the larger and more progressive firms.

The cost of a film is low compared with other forms of publicity, and is at least 90 per cent good circulation, maybe more. The children see the films at the theatres.

Children are good people to whom to advertise. Make an impression on their minds and you have made an impression on their parents, but all classes go to the picture houses, so it's all good.

The Pierce Automobile Company are having films made, the Larkin Company have a camera man at work, and many others are getting in line with this new and "better" way of presenting their goods to the public.

LITERARY Buffalo is not decreasing on account of motion pictures, for according to a recent publication of figures showing the number of books drawn at the Buffalo Public Library, there has been a large increase in books drawn this year over the year preceding. It is thought that pictures have had something to do with this increase.

People like to know something about a feature before they see it, and so many of them go to the library and refresh their memories by reading the book. The big features are announced far enough ahead of their coming, so that this can be done.

Henry W. Marcus, former manager of the Lyric Theatre, and also known throughout the vaudeville world as former director of Shea's Theatre orchestra, has been offered the position of musical director of a large musical comedy company in the fall.

Local patrons are beginning to ask about "Cabiria" and whether it will be shown in Buffalo.

This brings up the old question.

Can any of Buffalo's exhibitors afford to bring this attraction to Buffalo and demand the prices which they must get in order to make any money?

For past experience has shown that Buffalonians will not pay high prices for motion picture productions. "Spartacus" and "Quo Vadis?" both "fell down" at 25 and 50 cent prices.

PATRONS of the beautiful Allendale Theatre in this city will be delighted to know that a large three-manual organ is about to be installed in that theatre. An organ is about the only modern piece of equipment that the Allendale has lacked, and with its completion will be one of the ideal theatres of Buffalo. It is expected that the organ will be ready in a month.

MANAGER George W. Erdmann, of the Elmwood Theatre, received a petition from about fifty patrons asking that he book certain feature films. The petition was signed by some very prominent residents in the Elmwood district. Manager Erdmann will book as many of those listed as he thinks will be suitable to conditions in his territory.

Among those films asked for were "Home, Sweet Home" and "The Escape," the two "Griffith directed" releases.

John Miller, a local newspaper man, has gone into the motion-picture business. He is interested in the Lyric Theatre, and last Tuesday bought out the interest of one of the large stockholders in the new Regent Theatre for approximately $2,000. Mr. Miller is a member of the Buffalo "Times" advertising staff.

Joseph Schuchert, Buffalo's big motion-picture investor, is spending his vacation at Crystal Beach. Mr. Schuchert and several other local men are interested in a new theatre for which ground was broken at Genesee and Pratt streets last Monday.

The new theatre will have a seating capacity of 800. It will have an organ, large orchestra and a modern equipment in every respect. It will be opened November 1.

Buffalo exhibitors have been suffering from the recent intense heat both physically and financially. The open-air exhibitors at the beaches and other outdoor resorts have, however, reaped a fortune. This has been the hottest week of the summer season in many years.

Manager Edward Hayes, of the special feature department of the local branch of the General Film Company, gave a private exhibition of "One Wonderful Night," featuring Francis X. Bushman at the Strand Theatre the other night, which was attended by a large number of the local exhibitors. Manager Edel has booked this feature for four days in August.

Harry Bryan, president of the All Star Feature Rental Corporation, of New York City, was in town for three days. Mr. Bryan is on a ten-days' tour through the state in the interest of the All Star features and the appointment of representatives in Albany, Syracuse and Buffalo.

It is rumored that the Strand, Allendale and Elmwood, will book All Star productions in the future. Ethel Barrymore will now come to Buffalo in her new photoplay.

THE construction is well under way on the Palace Theatre, which is being erected by the Mitchel H. Mark Realty Company, on Main street. This theatre will be built after the style of the Strand in New York, and will be the most beautiful in Buffalo and western New York.

The Regent Theatre (Syracuse) management have issued invitations for the opening of their beautiful theatre on Saturday, August 22. A large delegation of Buffalonians will attend this opening, as all Buffalo men are interested in the house.

The Regent will be operated by the University Theatres, Inc., of which Harold Edel is president. Ethel Barrymore will be the opening attraction. Harry L. Vibbard, of the music department of the University of Syracuse, will give a recital on the Regent organ.

Manager George W. Erdmann has clothed his usher staff in white uniforms for the summer. They present a very natty appearance these summer evenings. The Elmwood is now issuing a bulletin every week of current attractions "done up" in a most attractive manner. The Allendale is also issuing a similar publication.

THE Teck Theatre, one of Buffalo's large legitimate houses, is going "to try it again." Rainey's Hunt pictures will open at the Teck on Monday, July 20.

Arguments of two different theatre companies who are fighting to decide which shall have the right to the first run of "The Million Dollar Mystery" was argued in special term of Supreme Court here last week.

An injunction is sought by the Columbia Theatre Company, of Warren, Pa., to restrain the Temple Theatre Company and the Syndicate Film Company from showing the above serial as a "first night" production. The Columbia Company claims to have a contract which gives it "first run" rights. The validity of this contract is questioned by the Temple Theatre Company. This forms the basis of the argument.

Chauncey J. Hamlin and Lyman K. Bass were the attorneys who took the matter before the court. The fight is a warm one. The managers say that they will fight the contract to the last notch. Decision was reserved.

The Buffalo Express has obtained the Buffalo rights to "The Trey o' Hearts," the Universal serial picture. This paper will publish a chapter every Sunday.

The Strand Theatre is being repainted and has had a large blue and white flag made for the top of the theatre. The lobby display for Mary Pickford week was one of the most attractive the strand has shown.

C. B. TAYLOR.

Ohio Censors Balk at Limiting Kisses

"No Arbitrary Rule," Says Vestal—Ax for "Un-American" Films with Foreign Morals—Some Scenes That Have Been Banned

Special to THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS
Columbus, O., July 23.

HOW long may a movie kiss last in Ohio?

Censor Harry E. Vestal can't say. He won't make a definite regulation, as they've done in Philadelphia.

"There's no arbitrary rule that governs censorship operations," says Vestal. "A thing that may get by us in a historical film will be knocked out of a burglar scene one minute later. There are many kinds of kisses and the board watches the attendant contortions as well as the ceremony itself. If it's a man kissing his mother tenderly before going into battle, we don't mind how long it lasts. Then again, if it's a young man kissing his best girl—well—you know we have to use our discretion."

They've put poor old "Sappho" under the ban in Ohio. It's been played by every stock company since it was written, and the book's been read in secret by every growing girl, but it didn't fit in with the "uplift" ideas of the Ohio board.

"Un-American films displaying a moral code not American will always get the ax," Vestal explains.

Here's a list of scenes the censors have looked upon, frowned at, and eliminated:

Man being murdered, and his death; daughter choking mother; taking of poison by woman; serpent being placed in cell with imprisoned woman; plague victims and their death agonies; suicide and death scene; girl being undressed while in prison; blackmailing by woman; making of counterfeit money; man striking woman with chair; man doping wine and giving it to young girl; thieves blowing safe open; Paris Apache dance; man with lacerated, bleeding tongue; girl in bathing pool, almost nude; thugs placing their victim on railroad track; barroom scene, showing man hit on head with beer glass; child carrying beer from saloon; man and woman in Paris dungeon, and sewer being turned in on them; woman giving rat poison on bread to baby.

The censors have notified all film men that they will not enforce the penal sections of the movie censor law until announced, giving them time to have their film censored. The board was delayed owing to the suit pending in Supreme Court to test the constitutionality of the law.

Contractors Shy at $500-a-Day Forfeiture

Trenton House Will Not Close for Improvements as a Consequence—Theatre Has Been Open Six Years Without a Break

Special to THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS

Trenton, N. J., July 23.

CONTRARY to reports, the State Street Theatre, on East State street, opposite the post office, the largest motion picture and vaudeville house in the city, will not close down this summer. Milton Hirshfeld, of New York City, lessee, and Herman Wahn, manager, were unable to receive assurances from the contractors that it would be necessary to make the $50,000 improvement desired within a specified time. It was the intention of the builders to tear out three stories and modernize the entire structure, including enlarging of the stage and the construction of a handsome and costly front and modern entrances and lobbies.

The plans were completed by Architect William Thines, of this city, and every arrangement made to begin operations at once. As the contractors would not be bound by a $500-a-day forfeiture after August 3, to complete operations, the entire work was called off, it being feared a longer delay would prove detrimental to the theatre, which now enjoys the unique distinction of being open continuously for six years.

Under present plans the theatre will continue running feature pictures of four and six reels.

J. G. PRESTON.

FILM NEWS FROM FOREIGN PARTS

From Three to Six Performances a Day Given in Turin—Exhibitors Buy Direct From Manufacturers—Consul States That This City Is One of the Most Important World Film Centers—British Purchasers Do Not Hesitate to Clip Padding From Features

AMERICAN consular agents, watching industries abroad for markets responsive to products made in this country, have lately had their attention directed to motion pictures, and the possibilities in store for our manufacturers and producers who supply foreign exhibitors with pictures of American origin.

The motion picture field has become so large, its ramifications penetrating practically every center of any size in all countries, and in numerous instances furnishing the chief source of entertainment to the inhabitants, that the consular representatives have deemed it necessary to forward detailed reports to Washington, D. C., for the use of American manufacturers.

The facts narrated in these papers, published from time to time in the "Daily Consular Reports," are not confined in interest to the American exporter of films, but will prove absorbing reading to the exhibitor who desires to keep track of his business throughout the world.

In the city of Turin, Department of Piedmont, Italy, population 440,000, there are 76 motion-picture theatres, which may be divided into three groups, writes Consul Perry. Theatres of class one, 2 in number, accommodate about 1,000 persons each; of class two, 9 in number, 500 each; and of class three, 65 in number, 300 each.

From three to six performances per day are given, the first beginning at 3 p. m., and the last at 10 p. m., the average duration of each being about 45 minutes. The program is changed two or three times per week, except in the case of special spectacular films, which are sometimes shown for a fortnight or more. Electricity is used in all theatres.

The manager of each theatre deals either direct with the manufacturer of the film which he wishes to produce —and there are eight manufacturers located here—or with the agent of the manufacturer.

Turin a Film Center

Turin is one of the most important film centers of the world, and practically all manufacturers are represented here, either by direct agencies or exchange bureaus. Paris and Rome, with their important film production, are only a few hours distant.

The class of film most popular for this locality is the sentimental or romantic, involving a love theme, or the picturesque Indian or cowboy film, and all reading matter, must, of course, be in Italian. Films of nearly every make in the world are shown here, although very naturally those made in Turin predominate. American films are known in this market, but have not a large sale.

No prejudice exists against them, and it is simply a question of desirable subject matter and a satisfactory price.

The rental paid for a single film depends largely on its value and length, and as to whether it is a first, second, or subsequent run. A rough approximation of the rental charges per day would be: For the first appearance of a new film, $19.30 to $28.95; for the second appearance of a new film, $9.65 to $11.58; for subsequent appearances, $5.79 to $7.72. The purchase price of new films varies greatly, but on the average may be said to be about $0.053 per foot, and of second-hand films from $0.0118 to $0.0206 per foot.

The duty on cinematograph films imported into Italy amounts to about $0.07 per pound. There are no special requirements for packing except that the parcel should be packed to withstand a sea voyage. The climate of Turin is dry and temperate.

Educational Motion Pictures

As previously mentioned, there are eight film manufacturers located in Turin; in the rest of Italy there are nine at present—four at Rome, two at Milan, one each at Naples, Catania, and Velletri. Two additional companies are contemplated at Turin and one each at Rome, Naples, and Genoa, so that in six months' time there should be 22 manufacturers in all Italy, with 10 located in Turin.

Several articles have been written in an effort to introduce the use of the cinematograph into public schools and other educational institutions, but up to the present time very little has been actually accomplished.

The only organization that has made any use of this means of demonstration has been the Consorzio Nazionale per Biblioteche e Proiezioni Luminose, 10 Via Davide Bertolotti, Turin.

In all the cities of the Venice consular district there are regularly established motion-picture houses, says Vice-Consul Leon Böhm de Sauvanne. In Venice, with 167,035 inhabitants, there are at present 11 such theatres, although only three years ago there were more than 20. Other cities of importance in this district are: Verona, with over 100,000 inhabitants; Padua, 100,000; Ferrara, 95,000; Vicenza, 55,000; Udine, 50,000; Treviso, 50,000; Belluno, 20,000; Mestre, 15,000, and Rovigo, 13,000 inhabitants.

Admissions in Venice

The average entrance price to a better-class cinema is, according to location of seat, 30 to 60 centesimi (6 to 12 cents); to second-rate theatres, 10 to 40 centesimi (2 to 8 cents). Local picture houses can seat from 100 to 500 spectators. They give daily shows beginning about 4 p. m., and continuing until midnight.

The program, which repeats itself, consists generally of three reels with an intermission of a few minutes between each. During this interval new spectators are admitted, while others leave. The first number on the program is usually a scene from nature or life (landscape, cities, costumes, curiosities) or scientific subject. The second and principal film represents a romance or drama, and sometimes historical or detective stories. The third picture is comical, with intrigues, chases, amusing falls, etc.

Tragic subjects and war and hunting scenes are popular, but thrilling subjects, with sensational and emotional subjects, sell best. If American picpictures have these qualities, and if they can compete with local prices, they will find a ready market. The summer months, from June to September, are unfavorable for the sale of films; the best season is from December to April. Some of the most successful films shown during the last six months in Venice and throughout Italy were "Quo Vadis?", "Last Days of Pompeii," "Spartacus," "Antony and Cleopatra," "Hamlet," "Les Miserables," etc.

These films were 1,500 to 3,500 meters (4,920 to 11,480 feet) long; some of them were shown in regular theatres of the city. It is not possible to ascertain the price paid for these films, but it was reported that for "Quo Vadis?" as high as 2,000 lire ($386) was paid for one week.

A set of three films, such as is used in most of the local cinemas, measures about 1,000 meters (3,280 feet), gives a one-hour performance, and can be hired for $1.93 to $2.90 a day. Picture houses change their program almost daily; the average may be two days per film. However, if a picture is very successful, it is sometimes shown three or four days. The better-class houses have somewhat longer programs, the three films measuring 1,500 to 3,000 meters (4,920 to 9,840 feet), and their cost is correspondingly higher.

Few Colored Films

Colored films are rarely shown. At times part of the film is shaded red or blue to give fire or night effects. The reading on films should be Italian. Electricity is used throughout this district for lighting and reflecting purposes.

The machines are turned by hand. Films for export are usually packed in round boxes made to fit the reels and marked "fragile."

Motion-film manufacturers have greatly increased in number in Italy during the last five years. The principal producing center is Turin, but motion picture are also made at Rome, Naples, Milan, Savona, Catania, etc.; besides there is a considerable sale of foreign films in Italy. Competition has become so keen that there are practically no prices regulating the sale or rental of films.

They can be rented as above stated, at a daily rate of $1.93 to $2.90 per 1,000 meters. New films may be purchased for 0.80 to 1.25 lire per meter ($0.155 to $0.241 per 3.28 feet). Good second-hand films can be bought for 0.40 to 1 lira ($0.0772 to $0.193) per meter.

Agencies, jobbers having subagents in the smaller cities, and traveling salesmen are established at Milan, Turin, Rome, Naples, Floren and Venice. Some of the motion-picture houses of this city rent their films direct from the manufacturer and sometimes they rent them through traveling salesmen. The latter, provided with half a dozen reels, call on the local trade and show pictures to the renting firms in their own theatres.

Competition—Publications—Advertising

The offerings of films being so large, their sale depends mainly on the skill and tact of the salesman. Some of the principal manufacturers of films have depositary sales agents in this city, and have contracts with picture houses by which these are bound to purchase or rent a certain number of films during a given time. Other firms handling films have direct interest in motion-picture houses.

They generally sell also outfits for taking the pictures as well as complete installations for theatres. The machines best known in this district are of French manufacture (Pathé and Gaumont), but some German machines (Ernemann and S. A. Ice) are also sold and the machines of one Italian firm (Eureka of Milan). No American machines are sold—only American films, and these to a very small extent.

Several periodicals, papers, and magazines devoted to motion pictures are published in Italy, though none in this consular district. These publications give full and accurate information as to trade conditions and the motion-picture industry in this country, and manufacturers, agents and jobbers advertise largely in them.

Motion-picture shows are always accompanied by music. The better theatres sometimes have 10 or more musicians, while the smaller ones employ a pianist. Many cinemas, in addition to film programs, have regular variety shows consisting of musical, dancing, and acrobatic acts. The principal houses advertise in daily newspapers and by means of large colored street posters as well as by handing their programs to passers-by.

Film Contest—Co-operative Propaganda

A local newspaper ("Gazzetta di Venezia") recently contained the following item:

"The Venetian Commission of Propaganda of the National Bank of Foresight or Providence (insuring against accident, losses, old age, and invalidity of labor) has opened a competition to all national motion-picture manufacturers. The subject of the film must be 'Providence.' The competitors are at liberty to develop the subject according to their own ideas.

"The prize to the winning competitor will be 1,000 lire ($193). The film should measure not less than 400 meters (1,310 feet). It will remain the property of the author, but he must bind himself to have it shown three times, during the following six months, in the principal motion-picture houses of Italy."

The Agrarian Co-operative (Mutual) Association of Rome (Mutualitá Agraria) has organized, by means of motion pictures, a very thorough propaganda of agricultural co-operation. Free shows, beginning October 1, 1914, will be given in all the principal agricultural centers of Italy and will depict scenes that demonstrate the advantages of mutual co-operative assistance which will insure against losses connected with agriculture, etc.

So far motion pictures have not been introduced into schools or educational institutions of this vicinity; some schools and colleges make arrangements with cinemas to give special shows for scholars on certain days.

F. C. Gunning, assistant director of the Sid Olcott Company, starring Valentine Grant and releasing its pictures through Warner's Features, who has been abroad with the company and is now in Ireland supervising the erection of a studio at Beaufort, County Kerry, for the production of new pictures with Irish backgrounds, has been observing the British motion picture field and comparing it with conditions in America.

Mr. Gunning has embodied his views in terse form and forwarded them to THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS for the benefit of exhibitors and manufacturers in this country. He says:

Feature Market Unsettled

"There is a decided difference of opinion to be found in England as to the future of the feature. The situation is not unlike that in New York at the present time. On one side, you will find men who say that the public is just becoming accustomed to the large features and will ask for them soon, while on the other hand, you find the man who says they will never have big five and six reel features in England and the continent.

"One thing is certain. At the present time the actual buyer insists on subjects of 3,500 feet or less, and when a man says he has a bigger production than that he has great difficulty in getting the 'viewers' to even look at it. Several Americans with long features have run against that snag very recently. The common talk over on this side is that the European manufacturers who are producing unusually long features are making them for the American market principally.

Cut Padding in Features

"In one way, the London buyer does things better than the average American distributer when handling big subjects. He uses the scissors relentlessly on the padded feature. As one prominent buyer remarked, 'A feature is good over here in any reasonable length if it is a feature of quality and not padded.'

"Just now there are a number of 'buyers' who are opening branches for the handling of 'exclusives,' which is the same as an American state right exchange. This system is comparatively new over here and seems to be increasing very rapidly.

Lithos Inferior to American

"On the whole, the lithographs seen at the average London house are decidedly inferior to those seen in America, and there is quite an extensive use in consequence of American posters with the necessary crosslining to cover changes in length or title. In most of the theatres American subjects seem to be featured over all others.

'Friend Levine, the live little publicity man of the Universal over here, has been engineering a trip over England of a chorus girl dressed as 'Lucille Love.' She wears a mask all the time and is introduced as the heroine of the Universal series. It is also announced that she is 'looking for a husband'—Grace Cunard please write—but, anyway, the big U is certainly getting a lot of publicity from the idea. The trip is being made with a camera man in a big touring car and crowds meet the party at every village and town.

Topical Views in London

'London is certainly a great field for the topical news film man. There are several dailies issued and it seems that there is some big event scheduled for every day. Either the King and Queen are doing something in the way of a celebration, or a visit to a factory, or there is a sporting event. Practically all of the theatres run topicals on every program. It must be considered, however, that in England none of the

(Continued on page 58)

LIVE WIRE EXHIBITORS

EDITOR'S NOTE.—It is the desire of "The Motion Picture News" to include under this heading novel advertising ideas, successful schemes in the management, decoration and equipment of the theatre—everything, in fact, done by the exhibitor to stimulate his trade. We invite every exhibitor to write us about any new enterprise he has; also to come to us for advice or information along any line. Address: Editor, "The Motion Picture News," 220 West Forty-second Street, New York City.

A WEATHER-PROOF HOUSE

BY means of motor-operated roof leaves, the Princess Theatre, Meriden, Miss., can be quickly converted into an open-air auditorium, or at the approach of a sudden shower the covering can be almost instantly rolled back into place while the performance goes on uninterruptedly, according to the "Electrical World."

The opening in the roof is equipped with movable leaves which travel on small rails and are operated by cables passing over a double drum, gear-driven by a 3-hp. motor. The two closed cable loops are wrapped on the drum in opposite directions and each operates one leaf. The control rope, which moves simultaneously with the main leaves, has dogs mounted at the limits of its travel.

These dogs operate a reversing switch, which stops the motor and connects it ready for starting in the opposite direction. About one minute is required to open or close the roof, moving both leaves through their entire travel.

The construction of the joints about the opening is such that the roof is thoroughly weather-proof. Motor, gears and switches are housed in roof boxes. The proprietor of the show-house is well pleased with the innovation, which affords him all the advantage of an open-air theatre with protection during inclement weather.

PREPARING THE WAY FOR A FEATURE

MANAGER AL SARDINO, of the Savoy Theatre, Syracuse, N. Y., is working up interest in the coming Universal series, "The Trey O' Hearts," in a novel manner.

On every one of the velvet curtains in the foyer and rear of the theatres a common playing card, the Trey of Hearts, is fastened. Frequently a slide reproduction of the Trey of Hearts is flashed upon the screen and the result has been wonderful.

Fully a hundred people a day stop at the door on the way going out and inquire as to the meaning of this strange proceeding. The doorman has been fully posted and gladly tells of the coming series.

HE TOOK THE HINT

MANAGER JACK BRESLIN, of the Crescent Theatre, Syracuse, N. Y., has been reading THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS. He admits that he gathered a novel advertising idea from the article appearing in a recent issue showing how the Strand, in Buffalo, boosted "Brewster's Millions."

He secured fifty money bags from a local bank and on each bag appeared in red ink, "Bag contains $—." These bags were hung around the entire border of the marquee of the theatre and no mention was made of what they stood for.

For the past week everybody has stopped and asked questions, and the congenial Jack very enthusiastically talked and explained about the five-reel Melies production, "The Curse of Greed," which the theatre is showing for the first three days of this week.

Curiosity and interest were awakened in this manner.

FREE COUPONS GET CROWDS

A METHOD successfully used by Harry Billings, who is running pictures at the Majestic Theatre, the Orpheum circuit house in Milwaukee, Wis., during the summer, to fill his house and at the same time gain for him considerable free advertising in the news columns, has been holding theatre parties at his house.

The "Free Press" runs a coupon on Sunday, entitling the holder to free admission at the Majestic Theatre on one of the first five days of the week. The paper naturally features the theatre party very heavily, both on the day preceding the issuing of the coupon and the five days on which the party is held.

Not only does the theatre reap the benefit of much free advertising that could not be secured in any other way, but it brings to the theatre many people who would not be attracted to the house by the usual advertising methods; and on top of this the house is kept filled, on even the hottest afternoons. Naturally this causes all sorts of comment from the picture fans, who never stop to consider the reason that the house is filled, but, like sheep, go where the crowd goes.

KEEPING COOL AT 100° IN THE SHADE

THE problem of keeping a theatre cool with the thermometer over the 100 mark has been successfully solved by Manager H. D. Bowers, of the New Majestic, at Jackson, Miss.

Under the floor of the theatre is a concrete basement which is kept flooded with water to a depth of eight or ten inches. In this water two tons of ice are placed daily, the first 1,000 pounds at 1:30 o'clock in the afternoon and the second 1,000 pounds at 5:30 p. m. In the rear of the building is a monster fan. This fan is directed on the cooled water, and keeps the fresh, cold air stirring continuously, the air coming up through ventilators in the flooring.

While his house has been built especially adapted to such an arrangement, Mr. Bowers thinks the plan of keeping the theatre cool could be adopted more or less successfully by nearly every photoplay house.

While costing him a bit for ice, Mr. Bowers finds that money spent in this manner in keeping the house cool comes back multiplied many times.

The New Majestic has been comfortably filled in the afternoons and crowded nearly every night during the month of June, when all weather records of Mississippi were smashed, the thermometer for a good part of the month ranging between 100 and 103 in the shade.

FRESH AIR PUBLICITY

Sam E. Miller, proprietor of the Lyric motion picture theatre at Sumter, S. C., is calling the attention of people of that town to facilities which he has installed for insuring an abundant supply of pure, fresh air in the theatre at all times. He has installed a suction fan, run by a ten horse power electric motor, in the rear.

WHY NOT DO LIKEWISE?

MANAGER EMMETT CORNELL, of the Eckel Theatre, Syracuse, N. Y., is fixing up a private exhibition room, where he can look over feature offerings at his leisure without interfering with the regular show or remaining at the theatre until midnight

Publicity by Pages

By Charles B. Taylor

It's Advertising that is Bought and Paid For, Needless to Say, but the Scale on which this Buffalo Manager Has Gone Into Newspaper Advertising is Astonishing Buffalonians, and Bringing Him Business

ABOUT two months ago the Buffalo "News," recognizing the widespread popularity which the motion picture was enjoying, inaugurated a four-page film drama section for the Sunday edition. The first number met with instantaneous favor, and after receiving many letters commending the innovation, the paper decided to make this a permanent feature.

On the front page of the first issue appeared the first of the "Dolly of the Dailies" stories, starring Mary Fuller. The scenario was furnished by the publicity department of the Edison company, and an arrangement was made with several local school teachers to novelize the scenario by Acton Davies.

This proved a great success, and every other week an installment has appeared, written by some local instructor. Manager Harold Edel, of the Strand Theatre, Buffalo, saw an opportunity for some unique advertising. So he arranged to show the "Dolly of the Dailies" stories simultaneously with the story of the "Sunday News."

An announcement of this arrangement was displayed on slides in his theatre and a contract made with the publication for space at the bottom of page 2 for a large ad every other week, as long as the "Dolly" films were issued, telling readers to see the story in motion picture form at the Strand.

OF course there are a few in Buffalo who may not read this particular newspaper, so Manager Edel had eight to ten thousand motion picture sections sent to the Strand, and the ushers gave them out to the patrons as they left the theatre.

At the same time, a display slide was thrown on the screen, reading as follows: "Are you reading the 'Dolly of the Dailies' stories now running serially in the Buffalo "Sunday News," written by leading Buffalo school teachers? Get a copy from the usher as you leave the theatre."

This was all very fine, but somehow Manager Edel got to thinking, "What are they going to use on the Sundays intervening between 'Dolly of the Dailies'? I wonder if I could not do the same thing with my big features as I am doing with 'Dolly'?"

There was a consultation with the press representative, and it was planned to make arrangements for the front page for fifty-two Sundays.

The arrangements terminated successfully with the result that Manager Edel has the front page indefinitely. This is the only instance in the entire country where a motion picture theatre gets a whole front page with a carry-over on page 2.

It is certainly an "unusual" stunt. As the paper is published on Sunday and the features usually play at the Strand for four days following its publication, its value is self-evident.

Of course Manager Edel uses a larger advertisement on his regular features than on Dolly. On the Dolly serials he uses sixteen inches, and on his features twenty-four inches, across the entire bottom of the page.

EACH page is artistically laid out, and the story is written by the press representative. It gives a comprehensive review of the coming film as well as the story in brief, all of which is fully illustrated with scenes from the film.

This may give many wide-awake managers throughout the country an idea, capable of development into something similar to the above in advertising.

Many papers throughout the country are using one or two pages of motion picture news, and with the growing popularity of the motion picture and the consequent growth of this kind of advertising, these sections will probably be enlarged.

In the case of the Buffalo "Sunday News" the motion picture section has been the means of greatly increasing the circulation as well as the advertising. One solid page is always taken up with advertising. Exhibitors are fighting for space, and there are rumors in the air of publishing an eight-page section, if the advertising warrants the expansion.

Of course, the first man that comes is the first man served. This was the case with Manager Edel. He saw the opportunity and took advantage of it. The result made many local managers open their eyes. Try the plan in your city.

As Manager Edel says in commenting on the plan: "My patrons have approved quite enthusiastically of it to me at times. After reading these articles they are better acquainted with what they are going to see, and thus appreciate it far more than if they came in and viewed the picture, knowing nothing of the story."

Do you get an inspiration from this, exhibitors? That is what the tale is for.

Get busy!

Itala Wins Cabiria Injunction Suit

Brodkin's Action to Stop Picture's Exhibition in New York and Northern New Jersey Falls Through—The Court's Decision.

JUSTICE Greenbaum in the Supreme Court, special term, in New York City, recently denied Morris Brodkin's motion for an injunction to prohibit the exhibition of the motion picture "Cabiria" within the states of New York and northern New Jersey.

The motion was made in an action in which Morris Brodkin is plaintiff, and Harry R. Raver, Carlo Sciamengo and Itala Film Company, of America, are defendants. Messrs. Graham and Stevenson were attorneys for defendants, and Louis Werner was attorney for plaintiff.

The decision of the Court in part is as follows:

"The contention of the defendants is strongly fortified by numerous affidavits of persons of extensive experience in the motion picture business and by the character of the business conducted by the plaintiff at the time that the contract was entered into. The plaintiff admits that 'the composition "Cabiria" is one of the most expensive and remarkable compositions for motion pictures ever produced.'

"It is thus fairly arguable that such a production was not intended by the parties to come within the designation of 'regular releases.' Indeed, no force can be given to such words if it were held to include such a presentation as 'Cabiria' is admitted to be. Without intending by the foregoing to indicate any view upon the ultimate merits of the controversy, I am of opinion that upon the papers presented, the right of the plaintiff to the relief sought is not sufficiently clear to justify the granting of an injunction."

The Exhibitors' Forum

THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS assumes no responsibility for any opinion or assertion made in the columns below, nor does the publication of a letter mean that the statements it contains are endorsed by the NEWS. All letters must be signed. No attention will be paid to anonymous communications.

The Inauguration of the New Era

FOLLOWING the amalgamation of the International Motion Picture Association and the Motion Picture Exhibitors League of America at the Dayton Convention, the new joint executive committee, elected to represent the reunited exhibitors, has sent this letter to all exhibitors of Cleveland.

The letter speaks for itself. Its contents should be taken to heart and their significance realized by every exhibitor from Maine to California. The spirit that is invoked in this letter should be manifested by exhibitors everywhere. "The King is dead! Long live the King!"

"An Injury to One Is the Concern of All"
Cleveland Photoplay Exhibitors Board of Trade
Secretary's Office: 725 Columbia Bldg. Cleveland, Ohio.

July 15, 1914.

Dear Fellow-Exhibitor:

This is to notify you that there is now only one exhibitors' organization in America. We have again merged our Association with the old original parent body, the Motion Picture Exhibitors League of America.

This was done at the recent Dayton Convention, held July 6 to 11, 1914.

Our executive officers, chosen at the International Convention in New York City, July 8 to 13, 1914, were given full power to make the terms of amalgamation.

The following representatives were chosen to act, and have recommended the merger:

Sam H. Trigger, New York, chairman of committee; C. H. Phillips, president of the International M. P. Association, Milwaukee, Wis.; Judge Tugwell, vice-president, Los Angeles, Cal.; William J. Sweeney, treasurer, Chicago, Ill.; F. J. Rembusch, Shelbyville, Ind.; F. J. Herrington, Pittsburgh, Pa.; Thomas Furniss, Duluth, Minn.; Sam Bullock, Cleveland, O., secretary of committee.

All dissension is now done away with.

The cause of our previous dissension has been removed.

There is no longer any reason for remaining independent or unattached.

We all rejoin the Motion Picture Exhibitors League of America without payment of back dues or initiation fees.

Don't fail to attend our next meeting Wednesday, July 22, at 11 a. m., and register under the old banner.

No exhibitor can afford to stay outside the ranks now.

Mr. M. A. Pearce, of Baltimore, the newly elected national president of the Motion Picture Exhibitors League of America, is a practical exhibitor, a pronounced anti-censor-ite, and a gentleman in whom our representatives have the greatest confidence.

The International Motion Picture Association automatically passed out of existence by the action of the above eight executive board members.

(Signed) SAM BULLOCK,
Member of National Executive Board, International Motion Picture Association.

An Exhibitor's Generosity

IN a letter recently received from a film exchange in the western part of the Dominion, an instance is recorded of managerial generosity toward a worthy cause reminiscent of the traditions of the old line "legitimate" theatrical men, whose hands were always in their pockets for the purpose of giving aid to the unfortunate.

The Famous Players Film Service of Canada

Calgary, July 8.

Editor, THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS,
New York City.

Dear Sir:—We would like to give you an instance of the generosity and good fellowship of Western exhibitors.

Some time ago there was an accident at the Hillcrest Mine, at Hillcrest, Alberta. In this accident 197 miners were killed. These miners were, for the most part, heads of large families. The whole country was bowed in grief, and substantial tokens of sympathy were sent by the whole country.

Mr. Cyril Beaumont, manager of the Rex Theatre, Coleman, Alberta, arranged with ourselves for the Famous Players production "Monte Cristo." He raised his price to twenty-five cents for these performances only, and he ran this film two days. He played to capacity business, turning the gross proceeds over to a committee who used this for the alleviation of the suffering widows and orphans. The committee in charge of the distribution of the funds gave Mr. Beaumont a vote of thanks. Mr. Beaumont feels well repaid for the trouble and expense, considering the gladness he put in the homes of the suffering widows and orphans.

The Famous Players Film Service, with the head office in Calgary, also showed their generosity in giving Mr. Beaumont advertising free from charge.

Trusting this item may be of some use to you, we are

Yours very truly,
The Famous Players Film Service,
H. J. ALLEN, Manager.

A Protest Against Padding

THE following letter not only expresses the individual opinion of the writer, but it reflects the prevailing sentiment of the public in Rochester, N. Y., a motion picture center whose attitude is typical of the feeling in many communities.

Manufacturers will be interested to learn what the average picture fan in such a representative city thinks of films whose subjects might be treated with more condensation.

Rochester, N. Y., July 22.

Editor, THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS,
New York City.

Dear Sir:—Are manufacturers of films putting too much padding in their pictures these days, in the effort to obtain extra reel features?

To the casual observer it would appear that many a story that now requires two and three reels to tell, could have been told to much better advantage in one.

Like the successful short story, the film story must be concise, and to the point, and with as few breaks as possible. Since the craze for extra reel pictures has come in, we have seen many reels that are positively tiresome, because of the senseless repetition of scenes absolutely unnecessary in telling the story.

If folks feel tired after seeing a motion picture, it is a sure sign that the plot has gone too much into detail, and that too much not relevant to the story has been shown.

Of course one of the big advantages of the motion picture over dramatic presentations is that much more detail, and much more action, may be shown on the film than on the stage, but that is no sign that repetition of the same scene time after time is needed. Once an audience has seen one of the scenes of a play, it should be shown again only when some action takes place that will forward the story, and bring it nearer its climax.

It is a point which manufacturers and producers would do well to ponder. Do not try to make a one-reel story do for a three-reel picture. Every reel should have plenty of "meat" in it.

Very truly yours,
UP-STATE.

WILL OPERATE BOTH HOUSES

Special to THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS
Cleveland, O., July 23.

Samuel A. Morris, owner of the Home Theatre, Superior avenue and East 105th street, announces that he is to continue that house, although taking over the management of the new Kohl Theatre on East 105th street, near his own location. The announcement was made several days ago that the building now occupied by the Home Theatre would be remodeled for other purposes. The published announcement of this rumor caused Mr. Morris to ask THE NEWS correspondent to give publicity to his denial.

Mr. Morris confirms the report that he and L. H. Wilk have taken a lease for a term of years of the new theatre being built by Mr. Kohl on East 105th street. Mr. Morris will give some of his time to the new playhouse but he will continue the Home, which has been one of the most successful picture theatres in Cleveland since he took over its management several years ago.

DON'T LIKE FREE PICTURES

Special to THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS
Rochester, N. Y., July 23.

Rochester has a free motion picture show this week. A photodrama of "Creation" is being shown at Fitzhugh Hall twice daily, the enterprise being financed by the International Bible Students' Association. Two performances are given at 3 and 8 p. m.

The Bible students are showing the pictures to curb the tendency which they see toward skepticism and infidelity. Recognizing the power of motion pictures to mould public opinion, the students decided to try to do some good by showing these pictures. So far the free pictures have not attracted large crowds, even though they are being given free.

"Local Color" Galore in "The Call of the North"

WHEN "The Call of the North," which will be released by the Jesse L. Lasky Feature Play Company, August 10, went into rehearsals, Stuart Edward White, author of "Conjuror's House," from which the play was taken, spent four weeks in Canada, engaging Indians and various northern woods types. Fifteen Big Tiger Indians were secured. A certain type of canoe peculiar to the Tiger Tribe was located at Ahitiba, Canada, far north of Winnipeg. This, the Indians and a number of spruce trees were transported to Hollywood, Cal., where the first stages of the photoplay were set.

A huge oil painting of Lord Strathcoma, pioneer hunter and trapper and an important official of the Hudson Bay Trading Company, was obtained at Toronto from P. L. MacFarlane, government gold inspector for the Dominion government. This painting was reproduced and is displayed throughout the photoplay.

Twenty Silver Fox and eighteen Black Fox furs, the property of Carl Fisher, the multi-millionaire light and power man of Los Angeles, grace the interior of the Hudson Bay Post at "Conjuror's House," where the latter scenes are staged. The company traveled to Moose Factory, Canada, for the final score of scenes.

PICARD GIVES NED STEWART HIS KNIFE
Scene from "The Call of the North" (Lasky Feature)

S. L. Rothapfel, of the Strand Theatre, New York, who has booked "The Call of the North" for week beginning August 10, says it is one of the most finished productions he has ever witnessed, and contemplates giving a special performance for the Explorers Club, the Arctic Club, Camp Fire Club and other outdoor organizations.

The final four reels of this five-part play are exteriors, two of which were taken at an elevation of 8,800 feet above sea level.

New Los Angeles Theatre Opens in August

Los Angeles, July 21.

THE Empire, with a seating capacity of 850, located at the corner of Pico and Hoover streets, in a choice residential neighborhood, is the new theatre of the Columbia Amusement Company, which will be opened about August 1.

S. H. Freedlander is president and general manager of the company, and will personally manage this theatre. It is the intention of the company to make this the finest theatre west of Chicago, for its size. Two thousand lights are being placed on the front, and the only Wurlitzer Hope-Jones Unit Orchestra to come to the west coast will be installed soon.

Multiple reel feature films will be used entirely and, the house being located on two excellent boulevards, it is believed a big patronage from auto parties can be secured.

The Columbia Company have plans for theatres in nearby cities, and one is now being built at Pomona.

INVENTIONS Trade Marks Patents

Conducted By
M. H. SCHOENBAUM

All inquiries pertaining to this department will be answered by Mr. Schoenbaum, either directly or through the columns of THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS.—Editor.
Address "Patent Editor," THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS, New York City.

Latest PATENT AND TRADE-MARK News

Patents and Trade-Marks Registered or Allowed Recently:

United States: Patents

1,102,237. Films. Emile Bronnert.
1,102,261. Moving Picture Camera. J. A. Golden.
1,102,595. Composite Dramatic Production. H. Knight.
1,102,767. Kinetoscope Shutter-Setting Device. Jean A. Le Roy.
1,102,878. Colored Kinematographic Film. Silvio Cocanari.
1,102,933. Moving Picture Machine. J. E. Leonard.
1,102,988. Moving Picture Machine. John E. Leonard.

Great Britain: Patents

6,035. Cellulose Ethers. L. Lilienfeld.
6,061. Color Kinematography. Tiverton.
6,121. Photography. G. F. Prout.
6,328. Lenses. C. Zeiss.

France: Patents

470,384. Films. Fabriek van Chemische Producten.
470,244. Color Cinematography. L. Boudreaux and L. Semat.
470,267. Films. La Cellophane.
470,379. Shutter. W. E. Dunmore.

France: Trade-Marks

156,738. "Fantasio" Films and Apparatus. G. Lévy.
23,500. "Nordisk Film Co" Films and Apparatus.

Belgium: Patents

265,775. Safety Device. A. Mallet.
265,825. Color Cinematography. R. G. Bradshaw and J. C. Lyell.
265.721. Booths. R. Hinke.
265,715. Printers. H. M. Pilkington.

Trade Notes

Curious Trade-Marks Issued in Germany

The German manufacturers specialize in words for trade-marks which will, no doubt, cause confusion. Thus the Ica Aktiengesellschaft of Dresden obtained protection for the word "Monopol," and the Maltheser maschinenbau of Berlin has simply monopolized the two letters M.M.

An Interesting Invention

The United States Patent 1,102,767, recently issued, seems to cover a most interesting idea. Contrary to the greater number of inventions, which necessitate more or less modifications of the machines to which they are applied, the device covered by the patent in question is adjustable to any existing machine using a shutter in front of the lens. There is no doubt that the invention will also be applied to cameras.

Owing to its simplicity, it is possible that the device will soon be adopted by all those who are anxious to make motion pictures look as natural as life.

Rome Threatens Cinematography

At a recent meeting of the Vatican, motion pictures were discussed. Certain members of the Holy Congregation suggested that films be considered similar to other publications. The question has been submitted to the Pope for a decision.

Parisian Theatre Closes for Summer

The "Hippodrome Gaumont-Palace" of Paris closed for the summer on July 8. The house was packed the last evening and the profits of the show were distributed among the employees. One of the films of the program was "Quo Vadis?"

American Owns Two Paris Theatres

The two Parisian motion picture theatres, "Victoria Cinema" and "Alexandra Cinema," will be under the management of Fernand Akoun, brother of the owner of the Parisian Luna.

Help for Exhibitors

In order to encourage the exhibitor to wait for better times, Gaumont has issued in France a series of films which are rented at reduced rates. The funny part of it is that Gaumont has never been, and will probably never be, the cause of the present situation, and that the films actually rented at reduced prices are just as interesting as the films heretofore furnished. Who will first follow the example given on the other side of the ocean?

Paris Convention and Exposition

According to a letter recently sent to this department, there is something going on in Paris in favor of a cinematographic exposition and convention. The project has not yet passed the talking stage, but there is no doubt that we shall have a surprise.

Germany and Non-Flam

The German officials are just now investigating, and people who know say that shortly non-flam will have to be used exclusively.

1913 a Bad Year

The "Projektions A. G. Union," the well-known German association, has not paid any dividend for 1913, while in 1912 the shareholders received twenty per cent. The facts explain themselves, if we consider that the profits of the company amounted to 206,000 marks in 1912, while those of last year dropped to 12,400 marks.

Austrian Exhibitors at Work

The managers of Austrian motion picture theatres have decided to increase admission prices on the first of September next.

Bad Business in Switzerland

The "Elektrische Lichtbühne A. G." of Zurich, which in 1911 and 1912 paid 15 per cent dividend, could not pay any this year, and had to reduce the capital of the company from 900,000 to 180,000 francs.

Calcutta and Bombay Differ in Taste

According to the "Cinema" of Paris, the natives of Bombay, India, have a preference for serious and educational films, while Calcutta people only like comical and farce scenes.

TWO WEST VIRGINIA THEATRES

Bellaire, W. Va., is to have a new motion picture theatre, located in the building formerly occupied by the Christian Church, recently purchased by the Watson Paint & Glass Company, for transformation into a business block and theatre.

It will be managed by J. W. Heatherington, one of the oldest citizens in Bellaire, who is familiar with the wants of motion picture theatre patrons.

The management has asked that citizens select a name for the theatre. All may enter the contest, and an expensive prize will be given the one who submits the name which is accepted.

A new and up-to-date motion picture theatre will soon be started in Tiltonville, a town near Bellaire. The house will be managed by one who is familiar with the amusements the people of that town and the surrounding villages want.

MUTUAL WILL RELEASE ANIMAL PICTURE

The Domino Company will release a two-reel drama, "The Romance of the Sawdust Ring," August 13, the first wild animal picture ever released on the Mutual program.

The original script of this photoplay called for a five-reel feature, but Thos. H. Ince, managing director of the Domino Company, took only the meat of the script, and "boiled it down" into a really powerful two-part picture.

RAISE ICE FUNDS IN PICTURE THEATRE

Special to THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS.

Trenton, N. J., July 23.

The Venetian Garden's Open-Air Theatre, at Washington and Anderson streets, is being used for religious purposes in order to raise funds for the Free Ice Fund, conducted each year by the Trenton Evening "Times," the afternoon paper of Trenton, for the poor of the city. Henry D. Kehr, Jr., proprietor of the theatre, has arranged for a number of religious views, which will be thrown upon the screen at each Sunday evening performance for several weeks to come. The pictures will be shown in the very near future.

The Rev. S. Norris Craven, assistant rector of Trinity Episcopal Church, the fashionable house of worship of that denomination in this city, will be the speaker, and John O. Gretton, contractor and member of the Mercer County Board of Freeholders, will be the soloist.

Christie Uses World's Fair Grounds for Setting

AL CHRISTIE, with his Nestor Comedy Company, recently went to the World's Fair Grounds, San Diego, Cal. Through the medium of the pictorial weeklies, the public has been somewhat acquainted with the progress made on the grounds and buildings, but up to a week or so ago, no manufacturer had availed himself of the use of the site as a setting for a photoplay.

The Fair Grounds as they are now and the unfinished buildings were used as a background for a comedy by his company, headed by Miss Victoria Forde, Edward Lyons and Lee Moran. On the train for San Diego Mr. Christie conceived and wrote a comedy which will be released shortly by the Universal as "Maggie's Honest Lover."

The story of the comedy itself will be preceded by a panoramic view of the Exposition Grounds and San Diego, taken from the tower of the California State Building.

AL E. CHRISTIE DIRECTING A SCENE IN THE FAIR GROUNDS AT SAN DIEGO

The production of the comedy took four days in all. Finishing, the company returned on boat to San Francisco. Scenes were developed and printed at the Universal Hollywood studios, Los Angeles, and the sample negative was forwarded immediately to the New York home offices, where it was projected in the company's private projection room.

Educational Firm Formed in Milwaukee

Special to THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS.

Milwaukee, Wis., July 22.

The Educational Photofilm Company is the name of a new concern which has been recently organized in this city to handle educational films exclusively and to supply schools, churches, societies, etc., with films and machines.

It is announced that the company will for the present confine itself exclusively to Michigan and Wisconsin. The company has secured offices in the Merrill Building, and has the agency for the Kineclair, the Eclair Film Company's new machine, in the two states.

The backers of the new company are very optimistic about the future and say that all indications point to wonderful business in this new field. Their greatest trouble, however, at the present, is to secure a satisfactory supply of real educational subjects.

1,400-SEAT AIRDOME OPENS

Special to THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS

Trenton, N. J., July 23.

An airdome, with a seating capacity of 1,400, opened last week on South Montgomery street, near State and just around the corner from the State Street Theatre, the largest motion picture and vaudeville theatre in the city. S. M. Shelton, of Bordentown, experienced in the motion picture business, is the proprietor. The admission fee will be five cents.

Directory of New Theatres

EDITOR'S NOTE.—The information contained in the "Directory of New Theatres" is gathered by the field representatives of "The Motion Picture News" and the facts and figures in each instance have been verified by them and are authentic. They may be relied upon by members of the trade.

$150,000 THEATRE FOR DETROIT

THE new Majestic Theatre, to be erected on Woodward avenue, between Willis and Alexandrine avenues, in Detroit, Mich., at a cost of over $150,000, will be one of the largest ground-floor theatres in the world, it is said.

The new theatre will present high-class vaudeville and exclusive feature photoplays, the pictures being changed every day. Arrangements have already been concluded for the presentation of various motion picture classics, immediately after their production. Detailed announcements of the program will be made at a later date.

The building will be two stories in height and will be constructed of steel and terra-cotta.

There will be no balconies, but the orchestra floor will have a seating capacity of 1,850. Thirty auto boxes, seating 230, will bring the capacity of the house well over the two thousand mark. In addition to the seating capacity, the lobby will hold 800 persons.

The theatre will be equipped with a large stage that will make possible the presentation of elaborate spectacular productions. There will be 18 star dressing-rooms. In the rear there will be an electrical fountain with musical attachment. This fountain, together with an orchestra of twenty pieces and a $10,000 pipe organ, will complete the musical features of the new playhouse.

The new theatre will have rest-rooms and retiring-rooms with attendants in charge. Male ushers will be employed. A score of exits will make it possible to empty the entire house in less than two minutes. The washed-air system of ventilation, with some new improvements, will be installed. The indirect system of lighting will be used, and the chandeliers will be fitted with prism glass pendants.

Circling the building there will be an elaborate arrangement of shrubbery and boulevard lights.

The officers are: President, A. Arthur Caille; vice-president, Frank W. Westbrook; secretary and general manager, Harry Goldstein.

$63,000 MEMPHIS HOUSE

A CONTRACT for the construction of a modern motion picture theatre on a site just south of the Hotel Gayoso, Memphis, Tenn., was recently awarded by Hanker & Cairns, architects, to the James Alexander Construction Company. The theatre will cost $63,000, and will be the finest in the South.

The theatre will be leased for a period of ten years to the Majestic Amusement Company, which operates a chain of motion picture houses on Main street. It will be called the Majestic, but its number has not been determined.

The lower floor and balcony will have a combined seating capacity of 1,100. Boxes will be built around the face of the balcony and at each side of the stage. The theatre will have an indirect lighting system and will be equipped with heating and cooling plants. In summer time the entire north side will be open.

A large lobby will be provided and a glass marquee will extend over the sidewalk in front. The offices of the Majestic Amusement Company will be located on the second floor of the theatre.

$200,000 OGDEN THEATRE

Accepting the bid of William A. Larkins at $76,805, the directors of the Alhambra Theatrical Company at Ogden, Utah, have awarded the general contract for the new Alhambra motion picture theatre to be built on Hudson avenue. This bid includes only the concrete and brick work, the contracts for the structural steel, plumbing and heating, decorating and furnishing to be awarded separately. It is expected that the total cost of the new theatre will exceed $200,000

NEW EVANSVILLE HOUSE

Dr. Edward Cluthe, owner of the big salt pool at Evansville, Ind., is building a motion picture theatre that will be as large as any in the city, devoted exclusively to motion pictures.

The theatre will be equipped with a smoking gallery for men, a nursery for babies with attendants to care for them, a lobby furnished like a hotel, and other features to appeal to picture devotees.

NEW MILWAUKEE THEATRE IN FALL

A $20,000 photoplay house, seating 1,200, and one of the largest of the outskirt houses, is now in the course of erection at the corner of Ninth street and Lincoln avenue, in Milwaukee, Wis. The house, which is to be known as the Koscioszko, is being erected and will be managed by Joseph Schwartz.

It is expected that the theatre will open September 1 with a Universal program. Mr. Schwartz is also making extensive improvements on his Park Theatre, at the corner of Third and Mitchell streets.

LATEST QUAKER CITY THEATRE WILL COST $75,000

PLANS are under way for the erection of a motion picture house on Chestnut street, Fortieth street, Philadelphia, which will cost $75,000.

This will be the first use of that section of Chestnut street for other than residential purposes, the vicinity having long been known as one of the most exclusive dwelling sections of the city.

When the lot was purchased three years ago it was planned to build an apartment house, but now it has been decided to construct instead, one of the most finely appointed picture houses in the city.

SEPTEMBER OPENING IN CANTON, OHIO

The Bockius Realty Company, Canton, Ohio, has in course of construction on Market avenue, South, a motion picture theatre which, when completed, will be one of the largest playhouses of the kind in northwestern Ohio.

The new theatre will be called the Valentine. It will be managed by Ed Bockius, president of the Realty Company. The house will seat over 900 people. It will be thoroughly modern and contain a number of new features not found in other houses in that section. It will open in September as a film house. The price of admission will not be under ten cents and may be more.

STYLE LIKE NEIGHBORHOOD ARCHITECTURE

The first motion picture theatre to be erected in the residence district of La Crosse will be built on Jackson street, near West avenue, La Crosse, Wis., for Frank J. McWilliams, manager of the Casino Theatre.

Plans have been completed for a classy theatre to be constructed at the rear of the drug store at Jackson street and West avenue. The house will have a south frontage, facing the Jackson street playgrounds.

The building will be built to conform to the architecture of the residence section in which it is to be located. It will be set back from the street, and the front yard will be adorned with shrubbery and grass plats.

The theatre will have a seating capacity of 450. A perfect heating and ventilating system will be installed.

Only the best class of motion pictures, of the kind which Mr. McWilliams has always shown in his theatres, will be displayed in the new house. Work on the building, it is understood, will commence shortly.

$40,000 THEATRE IN ST. LOUIS

A THREE-STORY $40,000 motion picture theatre and office building is to replace the present three-story building at 117 North Sixth street, St. Louis.

The wreckers will start work in three weeks and the new building will be ready for occupancy October 15.

The seating capacity of the fireproof theatre will be 800 persons. Re-enforced concrete with brick curtain walls will be used in the general construction. The front will be terra-cotta, Venetian art and stained glass in original designs.

An artistically carved monastery Sienna marble stairway will lead from the lobby to the smoking balcony and mezzanine floor. The interior wall decorations will be treated with oil and lead, ornamented in hand-painted designs in art nouveau style. The interior woodwork will be weathered oak.

The lot has a frontage of 28 feet and a depth of about 140 feet. The location, which is one door south of the "Globe-Democrat" Building, is in the heart of the hotel and theatre district. Sixth street, between Olive and Walnut streets, has inherited large night crowds through the theatres along and just off it.

J. J. Robbins, of the Robbins Feature Photoplay Company, is now on a trip to London, where he will arrange for a foreign release for the films.

Alco Will Form "Big Time" Film Circuit

New Concern Intends to Establish Chain Consisting of One Large Theatre in Each Town of Over 200,000 Population

AL LICHTMAN, formerly sales manager of the Famous Players, who recently resigned to form a company of his own, the Alco Film Company, is about to launch a plan for facilitating the distribution of pictures.

The method which Mr. Lichtman intends to inaugurate is to organize a circuit of the largest picture theatres throughout the country, one in each of the larger cities.

These theatres will book one meritorious feature film a week, obtained from any reputable source, through the Alco Film Company, for which the theatre will pay the highest justified price, in return for which the Alco Film Company will give these respective theatres throughout the country exclusive privileges in their cities for a certain period. This policy, according to Mr. Lichtman, will enable the theatre to charge a higher price of admission without fear that after pursuing a complete advertising campaign for the picture, a competing exhibitor may obtain the same film within a short time thereafter, and reap the profits of the other's enterprise.

To effect this security, after the week's run the film will not be shown in the city for a term of six months, during which time the film will play the smaller towns throughout the country, distributed from the Alco exchanges, which will be established at an early date in the principal cities of the United States.

This organization promises to distribute only the highest grade productions, and the length of film will not determine its eligibility, for Mr. Lichtman believes that the word "feature" is a misnomer as applied to a number of films exploited under that title. A one-reel production, he says, may have as large a drawing and pleasing power as the production of eight reels, and will be so presented and exploited by the Alco Film Company.

This plan does not limit itself to the products of any certain manufacturer, but will enable the Alco Company to obtain its productions from the markets of the world. In brief, any corporation or individual who has a good production can find a good market through the Alco Company. Any exhibitor will be welcomed into the organization, provided he has a theatre seating at least 1,000 people, located in a city of a population of 200,000 or over.

Sherry Finds Business Good on New York Trip

State Exhibitors, Wanting Quality Films, Pay More for Pictures without Complaint—Public Shows Willingness to Meet Higher Admission Price

Special to THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS

Rochester, N. Y., July 23.

THAT conditions in the motion picture business are all that could be desired, is the statement of William L. Sherry, of New York. He is making a trip through the state, and he says he finds signs of prosperity on every hand. The exhibitors are willing to pay more than ever for their films, in order to get a better quality, and the increase in admission prices, which is gradually becoming effective all over the state, is regarded by him as another sign of prosperity.

While in Rochester Mr. Sherry conferred with J. J. Raymond, manager of the Gordon Theatre, relative to placing the Paramount service there. The deal was not closed definitely, though the Gordon's manager is favorably disposed toward the service.

Mr. Sherry is firm in the belief that the production of features will be the big end of the film business from now on. The adaptation of books and popular stage successes into screen plays has hit the popular fancy, he says, and people are willing to pay more to see them than the ordinary single and double reel releases.

Mr. Sherry reports big sales of the features handled by him, indicating that the motion picture business is anything but falling off in attendance.

"Everybody predicted that the summer would witness a big slump because of the hot weather, but June was our biggest month," said Mr. Sherry.

"Prices generally are too low in the film houses. In New York all the big theatres charge from twenty-five to fifty cents, while up state, where identically the same pictures are shown, prices are much lower."

ARTHUR R. TUCKER.

A CANDID COMPLIMENT

THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS,
New York City.

Gentlemen:—THE NEWS is a dandy, and brim full of useful information.

GEO. G. MORGAN,
Cecilton, Md.

The
Motion Picture News
MOVING PICTURE NEWS EXHIBITORS' TIMES
Published Every Week by
EXHIBITORS' TIMES, Inc.
220 West 42nd Street, New York City
Telephone Bryant 7650

Chicago Office.....604 Schiller Building
WM. A. JOHNSTON.....President
HENRY F. SEWALL.....Vice-President
E. KENDALL GILLETT.....Secretary
WENTWORTH TUCKER.....Treasurer

WM. A. JOHNSTON.....Editor
LESLEY MASON.....Managing Editor
WILLIAM RESSMAN ANDREWS.....News Editor
R. M. VANDIVERT.....Advertising Manager
E. J. HUDSON.....Circulation Manager
E. KENDALL GILLETT.....Business Manager
C. J. VERHALEN.....Chicago Manager

This publication is owned and published by Exhibitors' Times, incorporated under the laws of the State of New York. The offices and principal place of business are at 220 West 42nd Street, New York City. The address of the officers is the office of the publication.

Entered as Second-Class matter at the New York Post-Office.

Subscription $2.00 per year, postpaid in the United States, Mexico, Hawaii, Porto Rico and the Philippine Islands. Canada $3.00, Foreign $4.00 per year.

ADVERTISING RATES on application.

Copy for next issue must reach us by Wednesday 11 a. m.
For Releases see Pages 74, 76, 78, 80
For Buyers Guide see Page 71

Cuts and copy are received subject to the approval of the publishers and advertisements are inserted absolutely without condition expressed or implied as to what appears in the text portion of the paper.

Vol. X August 1, 1914 No. 4

The Victories at Dayton

WE have received a number of letters, and directly many friendly criticisms to the following effect:

"Why don't you shout over your victories at Dayton?"

It is true that everything was accomplished at Dayton for which this publication has steadfastly and earnestly fought, namely:

(1) Amalgamation of the two exhibitors' organizations.

(2) Action against legalized censorship.

(3) Progress toward the creation of a National Trade Board to unify, develop and secure the entire industry of the motion picture.

Moreover, it was THE NEWS which first advocated these policies editorially and which practically alone gave them prominent publicity following out, as has been fully evident, a well-conceived plan to lead each with all possible force right up to the action of the two conventions.

* * * *

WE are not overmodest. That truly is not the function of a publication. It is herewith promised that THE NEWS will not miss any opportunity to boom its worth.

But we have not "shouted" for just good, common-sensible reasons.

THE NEWS by no means originated these policies.

Like all good policies, they originated themselves out of a necessity.

All along the prevailing sentiment of the exhibitors, almost to a man, has been for amalgamation and against legalized censorship, and all along those leaders who had at heart, not their own private ends, but the good of the business have fought energetically for these ends.

* * * *

ALL that THE NEWS did, and could do, was to crystallize and make public this sentiment; we were in a position to know it, and we believed in it.

THE NEWS helped.

We have simply lived up to our slogan "the exhibitors' medium of communication with his fellow-showman" and so been the mouthpiece of the progressive spirit of the exhibitor body.

The exhibitors and their leaders in convention assembled scored the "victories."

* * * *

MOREOVER this is no time to "shout" over amalgamation. It is rather time to work for the new league.

President M. A. Pearce, in an interview in this issue, takes the broad-gauge view of the future that would be expected of him.

He says that the future policies of the league and its work of organization will be shaped by the executive board, and that this board has his fullest confidence. THE NEWS is pleased to subscribe as fully to this opinion and to lend every effort to aid these gentlemen in the big and important work before them.

* * * *

A BIG step was taken at Dayton when the anti-censorship resolution were passed.

Practically every exhibitor at the convention was against state censorship; practically every exhibitor, too, was quite content with the work of the National Board of Censorship.

But the battle against official censorship is by no means won.

There is one certain way of winning it and that is through trade organization. An exhibitors' organization can be made so comprehensive and so well unified that outside interference with the censorship matter will become unnecessary.

That is to say, a big national exhibitors' league will be able to control the irresponsible exhibitor and so be certain that no pictures will be shown that may incite a public demand for censorship.

This can be done through cooperation with the National Board of Censorship.

* * * *

OR better still, a National Board of Trade, acting for the welfare of the entire industry and equally representative of the interests of exhibitor, exchange and manufacturer, can also, through cooperation with the National Board of Censorship, prohibit the irresponsible manufacturer from releasing pictures that deserve radical censorship.

Exhibitor organization and eventually a National Board of Trade must exist in order to solve satisfactorily the problem of this industry.

BUYS ANOTHER THEATRE

Waterbury, Conn., July 23.

Robert Molzon, proprietor of the Lyric Theatre, on South Main street, has purchased the Scenic Theatre, on Bank street. Recently the theatre was run by Berg & Berg, of New York, but these two men had a misunderstanding a short time ago with the result that a receiver was appointed, L. D. Garvey, then manager of Fox's Theatre, being placed in charge. Mr. Molzon intends to make the Scenic the most up-to-date motion picture house in the state. He is to make extensive alterations, giving more room and more ventilation.

Mr. Molzon was proprietor of the Scenic when it first opened, and when it enjoyed unusual popularity. Later, he leased the theatre and it has been run under a lease ever since. In addition to now being the owner of two motion picture houses in this city, Mr. Molzon conducts the Bank Hotel. He is one of the most prominent citizens of Waterbury.

TUCSON, ECLAIR'S PRINCIPAL STUDIO

It has been announced by the general manager of the Eclair Film Company, Inc., that the entire producing force engaged in the making of American-Eclair films will soon be moved to the spacious and modern studio erected by the company at Tucson, Arizona.

The Eclair studios at Fort Lee, N. J., will be closed temporarily. This move was necessitated by the fire which completely destroyed the laboratories of the Eclair company last March and caused the company to start the erection of a complete new factory and studio building.

Until this work is finished, American-Eclair films released on the Universal program will be produced at the western studio in Tucson.

"SO SAY THEY ALL OF THEM"

THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS,
New York City.

Gentlemen:—THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS is great.

Yours truly,
C. R. P.,
Crystal Theatre,
Pasco, Wash.

Gentlemen:—I cannot well miss a single copy of such a valuable magazine.

Yours respectfully,
A. E. IRELAN,
The Majestic Theatre,
Bessemer, Mich.

Departure in Posters For Villon Series

MURDOCK MACQUARRIE AS FRANCOIS VILLON

Director Charles Giblyn has the production well under way of the second feature of the Francois Villon series. The second installment of this series is entitled "The Higher Law," and it reflects the spectacular period of French history during the reign of Louis XI. Murdock MacQuarrie plays the title role and is supported by such actors as Pauline Bush and Lon Chancy.

Posters, which mark a distinct departure from the conventional photoplay posters are an achievement of the Universal's poster department in getting out paper for the Villon series, the first of which will be released August 15. The spirit and atmosphere of these photoplays, which are adapted from the original stories in "Century Magazine" is of the Louis XI period.

Alleged Fake Studio Scheme Catches Many

Promoter Advertises Positions for Stock Buyers in Rochester Concern and Gets in the Hands of the Police

Special to THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS

Rochester, N. Y., July 23.

AN alleged fake motion picture studio has been uncovered in this city through complaints to the police of folks who have been induced to invest money, only to see the enterprise go up in smoke.

Frank Nelson, 30 years of age, was the promoter of the studio, it is said. He came to this city several months ago, and announced that he would establish a studio here and make motion pictures. He advertised for actors and actresses, and was soon swamped with applications.

To applicants he explained that only those who invested in the corporation, "which would be capitalized at $100,000," would be given positions, and the salaries he mentioned made some of the would-be actors and actresses dizzy. Many invested, paying small sums down on their investments, and continuing their payments on the instalment plan. The officers of the company, which was known as the Flower City Motion Picture Company, were last located at 203-204 Carter Building, State and Church streets.

Harry McIntyre, of 5 Utica Place, is the complainant against Nelson, charging grand larceny in the second degree for securing $100 on the inducements held out.

Nelson left town suddenly, and the police secured many of his books and papers. Later a woman who had invested $10 with him, Mrs. Mary Lind, of 41 Chestnut street, this city, ran across Nelson on the street while visiting in Toronto, and demanded payment of the debt. Nelson left her unceremoniously, and jumped on a street car, but Mrs. Lind communicated the information that Nelson was in Toronto to the Rochester police, who, in turn, took it up with the Toronto police with the result that Nelson was apprehended. An effort will be made to have him brought back here for trial, the police say.

ARTHUR R. TUCKER.

Advertising Without a Scream

By James D. Martin

H. D. Graham Promotes the Butterfly Attractions as if He Were Conducting a "Legitimate" House—Avoids Terms Formerly Associated with Cheap Houses by the Public—Employees' Politeness an Asset

THIS is the story of a manager who suddenly found himself in charge of a big downtown photoplay house on one of the principal thoroughfares in the city of Milwaukee. The house which had been playing the best line of attractions had not been managed any better or any worse than a lot of other houses in the same town, but somehow it had not been making money.

This manager, H. D. Graham, found himself confronted with the problem of making the house pay, without expending any additional money, and with exactly the same attractions and the same outfit.

His first move upon taking charge of the theatre was to impress upon the attaches, operators and musicians that it was up to them to make the house go, and they would be looked to for results. After making sure that the patrons of the house would find pictures, atmosphere, music and service the very best available, he turned his attentions to finding some means of telling the people what he had. He began with making the front of the house attractive.

ELIMINATING all but a few very conspicuous frames he put one big banner across the entrance of the theatre. Upon this he had painted in a very artistic, though novel style, the name of the film feature for the day. As this was practically the only sign of any importance on the whole front, it stood out conspicuously, despite the fact that all vivid color schemes were strictly taboo.

On the walls of the lobby were the photographs of scenes from the various photoplays. At no time, however, is any attraction advertised more than a few days in advance, as Manager Graham claims that too much advance matter tends to confuse rather than enlighten patrons.

The result is that the front and lobby of the Butterfly Theatre is most artistic though not an inch of advertising space has been sacrificed.

After the lobby and the theatre had been taken care of the matter of newspaper advertising was taken up. A press agent was secured and a campaign outlined by Mr. Graham. It was in this that Manager Graham proved his originality. He ordered all copy and press matter run in the papers was to be gotten out in strict theatrical fashion and without any more matter in the advertisements than was absolutely necessary.

EXTERIOR OF THE BUTTERFLY THEATRE, MILWAUKEE, WISCONSIN

All such words as film, picture house, motion pictures, "movies" and the like were ordered kept out of any advance notice or advertisement of the Butterfly and such words as photoplay, photodrama, four act, photoplay theatre and the like substituted.

BUT one, and at the most, two attractions a week were to be played up exactly as though they were road shows, booked at the house, though the word photoplay or drama was to be utilized in some place in the text, so that no one would be deceived into thinking that it was a straight dramatic attraction. For instance, when "The Soldier of Fortune" was presented the newspaper advertisements read:

BUTTERFLY
Wednesday and Thursday
DUSTIN FARNUM
in
"The Soldier of Fortune"
A photodramatization of the well-known novel.

Then as a last and what many people looked upon as a fatal step, he raised the price of admission from five to ten cents. Unlike the man in the story, Mr. Graham did not find that business increased immediately. Instead, it dropped off the first week or so. But after this period, business started creeping up and up, until today it excels even Mr. Graham's fondest dreams, and is still on the increase.

A visit with the quiet, unassuming, almost boyish young man who had made The Butterfly a success in a little less than eight months, was far from being a disappointment. Seated in his office he talked most interestingly on his policies and ideas.

"THE trouble with so many of the managers of the photoplay theatres," he said, "is that they are in a rut, and despite the fact that theirs is a twentieth century business, they stick to the obsolete methods of twenty and thirty years ago which were appropriate for the circus. On top of this, they insist upon talking about motion pictures, reels, etc., terms that were dragged into disrepute with the public a number of years ago by many of the old store shows.

"I HAVE tried to steer clear of all this, and I boost all my attractions that are worthy of it, as I would if I was managing a two-dollar legitimate house. The result is that I not only appeal to the photoplay fan, but I reach the theatre-goer who perhaps refused to attend a motion picture show because he thought it was beneath him, but who now becomes interested when he sees some star like Dustin Farnum billed to appear in a photodrama.

"But all advertising is valueless unless you can please your patrons after you get them into the theatre. Pleasing them does not merely mean giving them meritorious productions to look at, but to see that they buy their ticket from a smiling, attentive cashier, that it is taken from them by a door-man who is awake and good natured, and that they are escorted to their seats by a well bred, neatly uniformed usher.

"Personally, I do not think that the exhibitors have kept up with the producers, and I think that it is up to all of us to wake up and get busy for the benefit of the industry.

NEW BOOK OUT ON SCENARIO WRITING

"The Motion Picture Story" is the title of the latest work from the pen of William Lord Wright, formerly of The Motion Picture News staff; now editor of the Photoplaywright Department of the Dramatic Mirror. The book is valuable to beginners and also others interested in photoplay authorship, and it covers the ground thoroughly.

Model scenarios from three of the best writers are reproduced and the text is written in such a manner that the contents are both entertaining and instructive. The book consists of over 200 pages, is attractively bound in red cloth and gilt. Price $1.80 postpaid. The Cloud Publishing Company, Chicago, Ill.

The drying-room at the Hollywood laboratory has also been enlarged and a new eleven-foot drying drum installed.

FIRST FULLER UNIVERSAL FILM

Mary Fuller's enactment of the lead in "The Heart of the Night Wind" will be her first picture with the Universal Film Company. Accompanied by her director, Walter Edwin, together with Charles Ogle, Ed Mortimer and an enlarged company, Miss Fuller left New York recently for Shohola, Pike County, Pa., where, amid some of the most beautiful settings in America, this play and several others, including "Hearts o' the Hills" by Hal Reid, will be produced.

"The Heart of the Night Wind," in three reels, is from the book by Vingie I. E. Roe and was adapted to picture form by Captain Leslie T. Peacocke, of the Universal scenario department.

BRADY NOVELS FOR VITAGRAPH

The Vitagraph Company has some big things in preparation. It has purchased from the Rev. Cyrus Townsend Brady, LL.D., the picture rights of five of his best-known novels.

These are "The Island of Regeneration," "Hearts in the Highway," "The Sword Hand of Napoleon," "Britton of the Seventh" and "The Little Angel of Canyon Creek."

Show Submarine Films at Smithsonian

Prominent Scientists and Educators Witness Views Taken with the Williamson Brothers' Invention—Shark Killed in One Picture

Special to The Motion Picture News

Washington, D. C., July 23.

BEFORE a record-breaking attendance at the auditorium of the U. S. National Museum, the first public exhibition of submarine motion pictures secured by the use of the Williamson tube recently occurred in the nation's capital.

The invitations were issued by the Smithsonian Institution and the guests represented scientists and educators of the National Government and local societies, officials, and those interested in the progress that this country is making in all lines. All enjoyed the exposition of this latest method of knowing just what is happening under the sea, and many expressed surprise at the picture.

There were frequent demonstrations of admiration. The views were excellently supplemented by an address by Dr. F. N. Glover, who assisted much in giving the audience a better understanding of the working of the Williamson invention, the difficulties that were overcome, the persons entering the screen and native life in the Bahama Islands. His personal touches of the Williamson brothers offered an interesting sidelight on the undaunted spirit and filial devotion of these two inventors.

The construction of the tube delighted the mechanical minds, and the views of actual life in the sea pleased the scientist. The harbor men and steamship officials saw uses for this tube in the locating of wreckage and for the security and safety of piles and wharves. Obstructions of rocks and reefs may also be known and avoided by vessels. The student and investigator of marine life, of coral and aquatic plants realized in this device a boon to their studies that had been problematical in the past. Even to the casual observer the motion pictures offered wonderful entertainment.

Perhaps the most wonderful views were those of the sharks, especially the knifing of one of the man-eaters by George Williamson and later the death of the shark. That these pictures were taken from twenty to 100 feet below the surface was hardly realized by the audience.

These films were shown through the courtesy of the Submarine Film Corporation, and from the large numbers who were disappointed in not seeing this demonstration on account of the limited number of invitations and the capacity of the auditorium, there is ample opportunity for another enthusiastic reception with a return engagement.

Theodore Franklin.

Handsome Theatre for Pasadena

New House in California City will Seat 900 and Cost $26,000—Individual Ventilators Under Seats—Rest Rooms a Feature

Special to The Motion Picture News

Pasadena, Cal., July 21.

A brick motion picture theatre will be erected at 340 East Colorado street by Frank Dale, and will be let to H. H. Hinds, at a price of $26,000. This does not include the ornamental front, plumbing, heating, painting or decorative work. The entire cost will be far in excess of this sum.

The theatre will have an artistic terracotta front. Everything about the house will be in accordance with the very latest in construction.

One especially good feature will be the ventilating, heating and cooling system. Air will be taken through a large shaft extending from the roof to the basement, where it will be "washed" and heated in cold weather and vice versa in hot weather. About 200 individual ventilators will be provided under the seats in different parts of the house, and there also will be a large ventilator in each corner of the auditorium. Air will be changed every twelve minutes.

Nine hundred opera chairs, none less than twenty inches wide, will be placed in the auditorium. As a rule, motion picture theatres have seats only seventeen or eighteen inches wide. Interior decorations and finish will be in ivory, green and gold. The entrance will be in Mexican onyx.

Another pleasing feature will be the rest-rooms, done in tile and mirrors. Mr. Dale has not decided whether to lease the theatre or to put in a manager. The theatre will be named "The Strand."

TO FILM TENNESSEE FOR PANAMA EXPOSITION

Chattanooga, Tenn., July 21.

Charles C. Randolph, representative of the National Film Company, was in Chattanooga this week, conferring with Ross S. Faxon, chairman of the Tennessee Exposition Committee, regarding the showing of motion pictures, depicting the industries and wonderful scenic and historical points of this city at the Panama Exposition.

Ten thousand feet of film of industries and scenic points in Tennessee will be made by the company, which Mr. Randolph represents.

How Exhibitors Advertise

PATRONS WANT ADVANCE NOTICES BY MAIL

Ralph DeBruler, manager of the Montgomery, Atlanta, Ga., has put his theatre to the acid test during the past two weeks by asking his patrons how many are sufficiently interested in what the Montgomery is going to do to ask for advance notices of films to be produced at that theatre.

The highly gratifying result is that approximately 400 persons have turned in signed requests that they be mailed a copy of the Montgomery program each week.

Mr. DeBruler has added further interest to his theatre by leading his new programs off with the catch line, "Keep this program—you may be lucky." This line, running across the top of each page, refers to a number stamped on each program. On Monday of each week one of these numbers is flashed on the screen, and the holder of the lucky numerals is entitled to a pass good for a week.

Mr. DeBruler's first test of continued public interest was the posting of a lobby display of Mary Pickford pictures with the information that a set of Pickford postcards would be mailed to anyone requesting them. This proved so popular that when Mr. DeBruler began getting out his weekly programs he tacked the following blank on the last page with the splendid result noted above:

CUT THIS OUT

YOUR NAME AND ADDRESS ON THIS CARD

LEFT WITH THE GENTLEMEN AT THE DOOR

Will Bring You Our Regular Weekly Program and Advance Bulletins of Some of the Special Features We Will Present in the Very Near Future

M .....

Street .....

A "MUTUAL BENEFIT" IDEA

"SURELY you enjoy the motion pictures. Won't you please buy a ticket for the Gem Theatre?"

A stranger in Nanticoke would be greatly surprised if a charming young woman, or a stalwart young man, stepped up to him on the street and addressed him with the foregoing questions. But such is the case. It is a novel stunt of the Gem motion picture theatre at Nanticoke, Penn.

The Superba Club, composed of prominent members of Nanticoke's younger set, announced a campaign for funds to be used in making extensive alterations to the club house. Various plans were suggested by the members, but it took the manager of the Gem Theatre to hit upon a scheme that would benefit the club and also be a good thing for his house.

He agreed to run benefit shows at any time the club desired, the proceeds of the days agreed upon to be shared by the Gem management with the Superba Club.

The club members, their wives and sweethearts immediately armed themselves with tickets for the Gem on the nights mentioned, and are stationed at various points busily engaged in securing patrons for the benefit performances.

It has proved a good "ad" for the Gem and the company's progressiveness has met with the favor of the public. The percentage basis, minus the expenses, will prove a good financial item for the Gem.

POLL PATRONS' VIEWS

WHAT kind of films do my patrons want?

A question box, placed prominently in the lobby, has solved this question for Manager J. A. Maddox of the Majestic Theatre, in Columbus, Ohio.

Maddox resigned from the board of state motion picture censors to take over the Majestic when it was completed the first of the year. He had previously managed the Colonial Theatre, which had a reputation for a judicious selection of motion pictures.

The question box revealed that the Majestic patrons liked historical films telling an interesting story, the news pictorials, and the "famous player" pictures.

The fickle public seems to have temporarily lost interest in John Bunny and Flora Finch, and the strictly educational pictures were never popular. They may have an educational value but they must tell a story. Clean, snappy stories are also popular.

Motion picture exhibitors generally say that J. Warren Kerrigan and Francis X. Bushman are the favorite picture actors here. Mary Pickford, Alice Joyce, Florence Lawrence, Grace Cunard and Mary Fuller are the most popular actresses.

JOHN GENTNER'S WAY

JOHN H. GENTNER, proprietor of the Retina Theatre, Twentieth and Market streets, St. Louis, has a neat and attractive booklet of twenty-eight pages, with a two-color cover ornamented with a fine picture of the American flag, which he distributes among his patrons.

The booklet contains the Declaration of Independence, the list of the original signers, the articles of federation, a page of historical notes, and President Lincoln's address at Gettysburg. The booklet is not an advertising medium, and contains nothing but the historical matter and a dignified announcement of the Retina on the back page.

Mr. Gentner is a great believer in the educational value of motion pictures, and makes a special feature of scientific and educational subjects in his theatre, and his plan of distributing the booklet is just a furtherance of his ideas along those lines. The books are fine advertising for the Retina, and are much sought after.

FREE COUPONS FOR WOMEN

All the old familiar methods are being used by the management of the Roof Garden Theatre at 51-53 Broad street, Elizabeth, N. J., to make the public acquainted with the house and build up patronage. The theatre has been running nearly two months but it has been playing to poor business.

Recently coupons were printed in the daily papers. Each coupon if presented by a woman on a certain day entitled her to free admission. The scheme was tried out for only one day, and besides helping to make the house more popular it served as a gauge of the advertising value of the two local newspapers.

NEAT PROGRAM FOLDER

The Tallygram, is a neat four-page folder program, issued by the Tally Broadway Theatre, Los Angeles. In addition to giving cast and story of the picture shown, it also makes announcements for two weeks in advance, and gives items of interest concerning the players of the companies of the Paramount Pictures Corporation, whose films the house uses exclusively.

"ONE WONDERFUL NIGHT"

(Essanay)

REVIEWED BY C. J. VERHALEN

NOT only has the Essanay Company built a creditable picture from the novel written by Louis Tracy which ran serially in the "Ladies' World," but they have built a photoplay that will stand out as something extraordinary in the staging of picture productions.

ONE WONDERFUL NIGHT

This is the long heralded picture which has been promoted by the "Ladies' World" by means of their hero contest which was won by popular vote by Francis X. Bushman, leading man of the Essanay.

While his acting has always been notable it stands out even stronger in this four-reel production. It shows him practically at his best. Credit also must be given E. H. Calvert who produced this film. He has brought out the situations in a very convincing manner. His indoor settings and outdoor scenes are in harmony with the story. All through he has built a worth while photoplay.

A strong supporting cast was supplied which included Beverly Bayne, as Lady Hermoine; Bryant Washburn, as Howard Devar; Helen Dunbar, as Mrs. Horace P. Curtis; E. H. Celvert, as Steingall; Lillian Drew, as Marcelle; Thos. Commeford, as Earl of Valletort; Rapley Holmes, as Count Vassilan; Harry Mainhall, as Clancy; Howard Watrous, as Henry R. Hunter; Leo White, as Jean de Courtois; John H. Cossar, as Mr. Horace P. Curtis; Edward Babille, as Antoine Lamotte; Chas. Hitchcock, as Gregor Martiny; M. C. Von Betz, as Ferdinand Rossi; Robert Bolder, as Mr. Schmidt, and Francis X. Bushman, as John D. Curtis.

Mingled with the exciting moments there are many touches of humor which lend a pleasing variety to the picture. There is a snap and action about it which makes it interesting throughout. The story follows out the novel version faithfully. An exceptionally thrilling scene is where the escaping automobile is accidentally run over a sheer hill.

Many situations and scenes as well as exciting actions are crowded into one night. John Curtis, returning to America, registers at one of the leading hotels. As he leaves the hostelry he sees two thugs overpowering a young chap. He is the only witness. As he walks down the street later he finds that he is wearing the murdered man's overcoat, in the inside pocket of which he finds a marriage license with the names of Lady Hermoine and Count de Courtois on it. He reasons that it was the count who was killed and goes to advise Lady Hermoine of the murder. She explains to him that the count was nothing to her, but she was going to marry him merely to protect herself from a foreign nobleman of her father's choice. From this point, adventure after adventure follows until finally the real culprits are captured. In the meantime, however, to protect Lady Hermoine, Curtis marries her. The father becomes enraged when he hears of it, but everything ends happily.

"THE CORSAIR"

(Eclectic Film Company—Four Reels)

REVIEWED BY J. BURROUGHS NOELL

CRANE WILBUR is a romantic actor of fine stage presence. His manner is pleasing, especially in love scenes, but he is not suited physically nor temperamentally to play the part of a wild, fierce, half-barbaric pirate chief. And the sort of lover that you would expect of a Corsair, especially Lord Byron's Corsair, is not exactly in Mr. Wilbur's line. He lacks the fire, the impetuosity and violent passion. He may make a very acceptable society lover or a Beau Brummel, but he certainly cannot exactly strike the Byronic attitude.

As may have been already gathered, the four reels of this picture attempt to unfold the story of Byron's Corsair. There is plenty of action to satisfy the most impatient for rapidity of movement. Raids by pirates, attacks upon the Sultan's harem in the dead of night, escapes from an underground dungeon, race of swift galleys over the waters, and the final death of the buccaneer traitor, caught by his own trick in the treasure cavern with the sea's flood rising about him—all these make four reels of intense dramatic effectiveness. The atmosphere of Oriental splendor and magnificence is presented with faithful realism, perhaps with too great realism to please the prudishly inclined. For those who are anxious to see the inside of a harem, this is the chance of a lifetime.

It is Medora, the slave girl, who moves all beholders to love, including the Corsair, his lieutenant, and the Sultan, and the consequent jealousy and treachery are the springs of the action. Anna Rose plays this part and her handsome appearance gives foundation to the impression which she makes on these rivals for her love. Of course, the Corsair is the favored one. He rescues her from the clutches of the Sultan, and she becomes the queen of the pirate band.

MEDORA RELEASES THE CORSAIR

ROCHESTER WILL HAVE THREE-CENT THEATRE

Special to THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS.

Rochester, N. Y., July 23.

ROCHESTER has a three-cent picture house, the Bijou, on State street, opposite Andrews. The venture is comparatively new as yet, and it is not known how the house will make out under this policy.

The location is in a tenement-house section, and it is figured that the extremely low price will draw much trade.

"THE TREY O' HEARTS"

(Gold Seal—First Chapter)
REVIEWED BY PETER MILNE

SERIALS like Tennyson's "Brook" may come and go, but the present order must assuredly change if this, the Universal's latest recurrent story, does not go on forever, or at the least for some time to come. It is so different from most of the subjects treated on the screen that nothing but success will follow in its footsteps. The first chapter is in three reels, the first of which is a prologue. At the start of the second reel, the main story gets under way with such startling rapidity, that before one knows it the third reel has passed.

THE PANIC IN THE MARKET

Louis Joseph Vance, the author of "The Fortune Teller," "The Brass Bowl" and "The Black Bag," is the man who is responsible for the thrilling story, which eighty dailies in the United States and Canada will run. It seems that Mr. Vance has one of the most imaginative minds among present-day authors, for to conceive the vast number of exciting incidents that take place in the first three thousand feet of the story, extraordinary fancy is probably he most essential requisite.

But in praising the author the producer must not be neglected. Francis Ford did excellently with the "Lucille Love" stories, but from all appearances Wilfred Lucas bids fair to outdo him. Altogether, perhaps, the two are are not comparable, so different are the subjects dealt with. The novel was made ready for the screen by Bess Meredyth.

Cleo Madison and George Larkin play the heroine and hero of the story. Miss Madison appears in the dual rôle of twin sisters entirely different in character. Mr. Larkin's mission seems to be to furnish the best and largest thrillers ever. Edward Sloman plays the father of Rose and Judith Twine, an abhorrent villain. No one will admire Mr. Twine, but all will admire Mr. Sloman. Ray Hanford as Marrophat, Twine's agent and the assistant heavy of the play, has an important part and carries it off well.

The picture was made in California, but if the looker-on were not told so he would never suspect it. A great deal of the action transpires in Maine, and one would most certainly think it was the Maine woods themselves.

An outline of the prologue and the first two reels follows: Wellington Law, although married, is in love with Mrs. Twine. Her husband ruins Law through the stock market. Law in a rage runs over Twine in his car. This scene is cleverly produced. Twine is paralyzed for life. As a sign of revenge he sends a three of hearts to Law, who is found dead in the morning.

Ten years pass, and Law's son, Alan, is a grown man. Twine plans to take his life. Cards bearing the three of hearts are placed before Law wherever he walks. He meets Rose Twine and the two fall in love. Judith Twine is commissioned by her father to kill Law, and she sets out for Maine and the southern part of Canada to accomplish her purpose, but she, too, falls in love with him after attempting to take his life.

There is a fine forest fire scene in the picture, in which the frightened animals are shown. The scene in which Law saves Judith from death by snatching her out of the canoe which is nearing the falls is a real thriller.

The first chapter is called "The Flower o' the Flames," and is scheduled for release August 4.

"THE RAT"

(Balboa—Box Office Attractions—Two Reels)
REVIEWED BY J. BURROUGHS NOELL

THIS is a picture of the underworld without the distasteful and disagreeable features so often present in pictures of this kind. It shows that even in the lives of the degraded there is often strong affection and feelings of gratitude, that the people of the slums are not always governed by sordid and base motives, but that sometimes tough and depraved characters are capable of the sincerest and most generous sentiments and acts.

The Rat is just such a character. He is the leader of a lawless gang, but when his heart is touched in the right place, he displays the manliness of a true hero by risking his own life to save the life of the girl who once helped him.

She is a slum-worker, the daughter of the prosecuting attorney, and has been shanghaied by another gang, for the leaders of which her father had been making it hot. In the end, all comes out right when The Rat's gang with the aid of the police overcomes its rivals and restores her to her father. The Rat's girl helps materially and lends a strong touch of human interest to the picture. With the money which is given them, they go off to Coney Island and eat popcorn and ride on the scenics to their hearts' content.

THE CLIMAX OF THE DANCE

The life of this part of our cities' population is depicted with admirable naturalism. Each of the leading characters, Henry King, Robert Grey and Charley Dudley, have caught the spirit of the East Side, and reproduced it with great effectiveness in their characterizations and details that could not be objected to in the least. The part of the girl beloved by The Rat, is played with conviction.

W. R. WILSON APPOINTED TO OHIO CENSOR BOARD

Special to THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS.

Columbus, O., July 23.

THE state industrial commission has named W. R. Wilson, of Columbus, a member of the state board of motion-picture censors. He takes the place of J. A. Maddox, resigned.

"WHEN ROME RULED"

(Eclectic Film Company—Five Reels)
REVIEWED BY J. BURROUGHS NOELL

THE historical background of this picture is accurately presented. The early persecution of the Christians not only in Rome but in the tributary provinces, is made the moving force of an absorbing story of love, intrigue, conspiracy, treachery and bloodshed.

The acting, aided by realistic settings, faithfully reproduce the life of those troubled and exciting times. Perhaps some defects of plot construction might be pointed out if one should become extremely critical; condensation would have helped in several places where the action undeniably lags; but on the whole, the events are presented in a straight-forward thread of action that generally holds the spectator's breathless interest.

NYDIA IS CARRIED TO THE ARENA

The most dependable features of the entire five reels, those that will be sure to be received with zest by every audience, are the wild, fierce lions which are photographed on two different occasions about to devour the heroine, but are prevented each time by the bravery of the hero. This is undoubtedly resorting to melodramatic methods of the crudest sort, but what difference does it make if the audience finds great joy in the sensations produced?

The story itself contains nothing new; the originality lies in presenting the kind of thing we have been reading for years, visually to our eyes. This is far more thrilling than simply reading about Christian maidens being given over to savage beasts for the delectation of the Roman populace, and being rescued at just the right moment by a young and handsome Roman youth of noble birth, who has been smitten with love for the fair unfortunate, and gives up all—family, wealth, brilliant prospects—to marry her, the only demand on her part being that he become a Christian.

The photography was evidently made under difficulties, for it must not be an easy thing to poke the camera into the face of a roaring lion. Yet the illusion is maintained almost perfectly, so that it seems that there is nothing to keep the lions from the victim. Other settings are in keeping with our ideas of Roman luxury and elegance even in the provinces in the time of the Empire.

"AFTER THE BALL"

(Photo-drama M. P. Company—Six Reels)
REVIEWED BY J. BURROUGHS NOELL

pocket o
of HERBERT KELCEY and Effie Shannon have often demsc-1 onstrated their abilities before the footlights, and now in this photo-drama they prove that they are equally at home before the camera.

It is essentially a picture of society life, a film dramatization of the sentimental, tear-bringing song by Charles K. Harris, which was popular all over this country a dozen years ago. But there are many incidents and scenes just the reverse of sentimental. There is a bold jump from High Bridge into the Harlem River, a leap from a speeding motor cycle onto a flying train, and another jump from a train crossing a trestle over the river, all worthy of a circus dare-devil.

In keeping with the idea of the song, the story of John Dale's love affair is recounted to his little niece. John Dale, of course, is played by Herbert Kelcey. Effie Shannon is the girl whom he loved, and whose heart he broke all through a mistake. He found her kissing her brother and would accept no explanations, but went at once off to Europe, while she pined away for love of him. His travels through various lands give the photographer a chance to show his skill in reproducing strange and unusual scenes, and these lend variety to a film that cannot by any means be charged with monotony. In the print shown the photography in one or two places is a bit bleared, and these spots could be taken out without damage but with improvement to the play.

"THE MILLION DOLLAR MYSTERY"

(Thanhouser—Fifth Episode)
REVIEWED BY PETER MILNE

CHIEF among the thrills that appear in this startling episode of "The Million Dollar Mystery" is a chase on the water. The faithful butler is carrying a box, heavily bound with iron bands, and marked Stanley Hargreaves, supposed by all to contain the million dollars. The butler is in a motorboat, intent on carrying the box to a desolate island and there burying it. The conspirators follow in a high-power boat, and are easily overtaking the butler. He sees he has no chance to escape, so throws the box and its precious contents overboard.

At this point the spectator is given a treat and sees something that is not very often filmed. After the box has left the hands of the butler one sees it sinking and finally settling on the sandy bottom of the sea. This is one of the scenes that the producers journeyed to Bermuda to take, and shows to what extent and trouble they went to afford the spectator a chance to see a novel incident realistically staged. This scene, only a few feet long, is so effective that it is well worth the trouble necessary for its production.

After this the boat of the conspirators catches fire, they are forced to take to the water, and then the boat explodes. That it is a real explosion is obvious. Indeed, so far everything in this serial seemed exceptionally realistic. This is only one of the many episodes that have created widespread interest in the story. This instalment is appropriately called "At the Bottom of the Sea."

The photography of these two reels is of the best, and it is evident that careful attention was given to the lighting effects. The excellent acting of all the characters continues, and the mystery seems to be growing deeper and deeper each week, as does the interest the public is showing in this serial.

LASKY COMPANIES SEE "THE CALL OF THE NORTH"

(Special to THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS.)

Los Angeles, Cal., July 20.

THE first audience to see the latest Jesse Lasky feature, "The Call of the North" from the story by Stewart Edward White on the screen, was composed of members of the three Lasky producing companies at the Hollywood studio.

The following day the first positive and negative were shipped to the New York office. The story of the California author is closely followed in the film version, which is a very beautiful and interesting production. The photography is excellent and scores of natural scenes, taken in and about Bear Lake Valley, California, gives the subject a distinct beauty.

Live News of the Week

G. J. Trask, of Cincinnati, has succeeded Manager Ward of the Detroit Mutual Film Exchange. Mr. Ward will engage in the feature film business on the fifth floor of 97 Woodward avenue.

Mr. Trask is an experienced film man. He opened the Cincinnati office of the Mutual company, and was in charge two years. He was for a time with the Majestic, a Mutual house in Chicago. Before coming to Detroit he was district representative of the World Feature Film Corporation for Cincinnati, Indianapolis, Detroit and Cleveland.

L. W. Bailey, Detroit representative of THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS, announces the arrival of a daughter at his home, born July 15.

John E. Ince, of the Lubin company, in addition to his duties as producer and leading man, is at the head of a newly formed company the purpose of which is to control a chain of picture theatres throughout the state of Pennsylvania. It is expected that the company will devote one house to one brand of film exclusively. The plans for the new theatres are nearing completion and scouts are on the lookout for appropriate locations. The theatres will be modern in every particular and it has been decided that the admission will be ten and twenty cents.

JOHN E. INCE

Mme. Keeny Lipzin, the Jewish Sarah Bernhardt, supported by an exclusive American cast, including Harold Vosburgh, Franklin George, Virginia Bates, Julia DeKelety, is working on a five-reel release for the Golden Feature Company, under the direction of Sidny Golden, at the Gene Gauntier studio.

Lolita Robertson, as Betty, the colonel's daughter, in the Lasky production, "The Man on the Box," is scoring a success as a motion picture star equal to her reputation on the legitimate stage. Her addition to the Lasky ranks is considered a fortunate move on the part of the company.

LOLITA ROBERTSON

M. V. Schoenherr has resigned his position as manager of the Casino Feature Film Corporation, of Detroit, and the Casino houses, of which there are eight. Mr. Schoenherr has been with Mr. Kunsky, president of the Casino company, since he has been engaged in the motion picture business in Detroit, having been manager of the first house of Kunsky, the Casino, opened seven years ago. Mr. Schoenherr will take a deserved vacation and then proposes to purchase and operate a theatre for himself. He is succeeded in his position by Harry Goldberg.

The Kleine Optical Company has experienced a rush of orders during the past two weeks due to the sudden activity on the part of Middle West churches in installing projectors.

A four-reel film version of the famous novel, "The Opened Shutters," by Clara Louise Burnham, the distinguished authoress, will be produced at once by Director Otis Turner at the Universal Pacific Coast studios. The scenario for this powerful story was written by Lois Weber, Mrs. Phillips Smalley, and such noted motion picture stars as Herbert Rawlinson, Frank Lloyd, William Worthington and Anna Little will appear in the cast.

HERBERT RAWLINSON

Some eighteen branch managers of Southern exchange offices met at the Piedmont Hotel, Atlanta, recently in the first of a series of social meetings they plan to hold weekly. From time to time the managers expect to have as their guests prominent exhibitors and exchange men who will speak on topics of interest to the trade.

George Kleine made a flying trip to New York last week in connection with important affairs of his New York office. Mr. Kleine is preparing to launch a surprise in the form of a multiple reel release which he claims will make former mighty subjects tame by comparison.

Valentine Grant, starring in the Sid Olcott Company, is in Ireland, where Mr. Olcott is erecting an outdoor studio at Beaufort, County Kerry. The accompanying illustration shows Miss Grant with two British regulars, who were on the boat with the company the day it crossed from London to Queenstown.

VALENTINE GRANT AND HER ESCORT

W. S. Hart and his broncho support have gone to the Grand Canyon, Ariz., where Director Barker will put on several scenes in the "Two Gun Men." There are twenty members of the company in this Western feature.

The Kalem Company has finished an old-time Mississippi River picture in three reels entitled "The Arkansas Traveler," which will be released the last week of August. The company has also completed a three-reel feature called "The Beaufoot Boy," with Margarite Courtot in the lead. It will be released the first week in September.

Bert Angeles, formerly director of the Brooklyn studio of the Vitagraph and later with the Historical Feature Film Company, of which he was director general for some time, putting on a series of big features, is now negotiating with several firms for the purpose of supervising their productions.

Winfield R. Sheehan, the active manager of Box Attractions, has extended his trip West through to the Pacific Coast, and will not return to New York for six or eight weeks. While in Long Beach, California, Mr. Sheehan expects to perfect arrangements for an additional output of Balboa features to meet the increased business of the Box Office Attractions.

Walter McNamara, of the Walter McNamara Feature Film Company, on his return to New York City from a seven months' European tour, started taking pictures on his first day home. His recent European pictures are said to be superior to any work he has turned out since beginning to supply the trade.

In a volume published recently, entitled, "The Motion Picture Story," by William Lord Wright, motion picture editor of the Dramatic "Mirror," a compliment is paid to James Dayton, scenario editor of the Universal West Coast studios, when the writer opines that the Dayton method of script writing is the last word in that department of the motion picture industry. The subject of the form of Universal scripts is given considerable space in the volume and a number of scripts are printed in every detail.

A. M. Gollos, president of the Photoplay Productions Releasing Company, of Chicago, is one of the progressive men in the industry who does not believe in the legend of "summer dullness," and finds by the manner in which the exhibitors are respond.ng to his efforts to market the films brought out by his company that the weather at this season has no bad effect on sales.

A. M. GOLLOS

Thomas H. Ince and Mack Sennet, of the New York Moton Picture Company, Keystone and Inceville studios, left Los Angeles for New York City July 22, to spend a month in planning future productions, and assist in completing the big comedy feature of six reels featuring Marie Dressler.

Jesse Dandy, who played the title role in the original "Prince of Pilsen" company, has joined the New York Motion Picture Keystone studios and w ll p'ay in comedy.

At the studio of the New York Motion Picture Company, in the canyon near Santa Monica, Cal., Director Hunt is producing an Indian play with a Japanese star in the chief role. Tsuru Aoki and Sessue Hayakaway, her leading man, are the principals.

The accompanying illustration catches Thomas A. Edison in a moment of relaxation. The camera was snapped as he threw the ball for the game between his employes of the studio and the laboratory, played at the third annual field day recently held in Newark.

THOMAS A. EDISON AS A PATRON OF BASEBALL

Little Katherine Lee, the five-year-old motion picture actress, who plays the baby mermaid in "Neptune's Daughter" at the Globe Theatre, New York City, gave an ice-cream party on the stage after the matinee performance on Wednesday, last week, to which she invited all the children who played in the different motion picture companies of the Universal. The master of ceremonies for the occasion was Herbert Brenon, the director of the film.

Arthur Mackley, the Reliance director, and his wife recently entertained the members of the Photoplay Authors' League and several other friends at their home in Los Angeles.

Frank E. Woods, manager of the scenario department of the R. & M. studios, was recently persuaded to forecast the development of the film for 1915. He said that the program of several short photoplays, with a two or three-reel subject for variety, rapidly is returning to favor.

At a private exhibition of "The Divine Appeal; or, the Lion Tamer's Revenge," released by Union Features, 126 West Forty-sixth street, New York, and shown in the projection-room of the Union Film and Supply Company, the latter firm secured many attractive bookings, and have since received many inquiries for open dates in its territory.

The Independent Film Exchange, with offices at Boise, Portland, Seattle, San Francisco, Honolulu and Manila, has added another branch, located in the L. A. Investment Building, Los Angeles. Messrs. H. Hunter and G. Speck, formerly of the San Francisco office, are in charge of the Los Angeles branch.

The forthcoming feature release by the Pathé company, that is bound to cause comment, is the five-part film, "The Taint," now in the making. It is said to be one of the strongest ever handled by the Pathé company. The new picture will serve to introduce a new screen star, Ruby Hoffman. Frank Powell, who is directing the new feature, is responsible for Miss Hoffman's entry into the motion picture world.

RUBY HOFFMAN

The Edison Company has had the exclusive right to the filming of the various events which took place on June 26 and 27, during the police carnival at the old Brighton Beach race course, New York. Every important action of such officials as Governor Glynn, Mayor Mitchel and Police Commissioner Woods was taken by the Edison cameramen.

The film, which will shortly be released, demonstrates the grave dangers with which our police are constantly confronted in pusuit of duty. The motorcycle and horse races will also tend to make the film interesting.

"Big Ben" Abrams, formerly of Warner's, Philadelphia, is opening offices in Atlanta to handle photodrama films. He is expected soon to give out definite plans for the operation of the local office.

George Kleine, of the George Kleine Attractions, announces that his New York office, at 220 West Forty-second street, New York, will hereafter send out the regular Tuesday two-reel release that formerly went through the General Film Company. This, however, only concerns New York. This release, outside of New York, will go through the General Film as heretofore.

John S. Eagan has been appointed auditor of the Ramo Canadian offices. After familiarizing himself with the trade and meeting the exhibitors in Montreal, under the guidance of Frank W. Foster, Canadian manager, he will make his headquarters at the Toronto office at 11 Richmond street West, as manager. The statement made last week to the effect that Mr. Eagan was to become the manager of the Montreal office is an error.

The First Christian Church of Ashland, Kentucky, has installed a Power's Cameragraph No. 6 with a dissolving view attachment. This machine was sold by the Picture Theatre Equipment Company, of New York City. The Presbyterian Church of Ashland, Kentucky, has also purchased a Power's Cameragraph No. 6 with a dissolving view attachment from the Picture Theatre Equipment Company, of New York City. The United States Receiving Ship "Hancock" has likewise installed a Power's Cameragraph No. 6-A motion picture projection machine.

Director West, of the New York Motion Picture Company, recently made some excellent animal pictures at Los Angeles, with Gladys Brockwell in the lead. She is the only woman in the cast.

Victoria Forde, who plays the lead in "Maggie's Honest Lover," produced by Al Christie's Nestor Company, is one of the youngest stars in the silent drama. During her seventeen years she has played many important parts.

VICTORIA FORDE AND STELLA ADAMS

The comedy in which this clever young woman appears is the first photoplay filmed in the World's Fair Grounds, in San Diego, Cal.

Lloyd Ingraham, who for the past six months has been co-directing Rex dramas with Robert Leonard, has been appointed to the directorship of Powers dramas. Edna Maison, who has done such excellent work for the Universal in the past, will be Mr. Ingraham's leading woman and Ray Gallagher will be his leading man.

Mr. Ingraham's first picture is entitled "The Divorcee," a society comedy.

In a Lubin play, "Three Men and a Woman," a raft is thrown from a yacht and two men fight desperately for its possession. It will only hold two and a woman and one of the men are already in possession when the second man attempts to get aboard.

Kempton Green, Earl Metcalf and Anna Luther play the leading roles.

EARL METCALFE AND KEMP GREEN IN FIGHT ON RAFT IN "THREE MEN AND A WOMAN" (Lubin)

Manager Chatkins, of the Warner's Feature Film Company, has been promoted to the managership of the Chicago branch and his assistant, Bert Gibbons, stepped into the place

In honor of the event Mr. Gibbons invited all of the local exhibitors to a mammoth beefsteak dinner given at Bartel's brewery, Syracuse, N. Y.

Harry Spingler, who played the Count de Carrojac in the "Banker's Daughter," the first release of the Life Photo Film Corporation, is an actor of experience on the speaking stage as well as on the screen, and is becoming a familiar figure in the Life Photo releases.

HARRY SPINGLER

Julius Stern, manager of the New York Imp studios, has just returned from a Western business trip. Seen at the Imp studio, he declares that he has unearthed some interesting facts which he will make use of in the future production of Imp films. A week ago he left New York for the primary purpose of visiting his circuit of theatres.

R. S. Shrader, manager of the Central Film Service Company, at Louisville, Ky., has resigned to become manager of the World Film Corporation's office at Indianapolis. This office covers Indiana and Kentucky and is featuring the Shubert films. He will be succeeded at Louisville by A. C. Farrell, sales manager at the home office of the Central Film Company at Indianapolis.

On Monday, July 13, the Vitagraph Theatre, New York City, offered its patrons another complete change of program. Two new feature pictures are being given, Richard Henry Savage's six-part drama of Russian life, "My Official Wife," in which Clara Kimball Young is supported by an all-star cast of Vitagraph players, and the three-part comedy, "Uncle Bill," farce from the pen of Marguerite Bertsch.

"Cabiria" will be seen in Cleveland this summer. Contracts recently signed by Werba and Luescher, representing Harry R. Raver and the Itala Film Company, and E. F. Albee for the Keith's Hippodrome in that city, for an indefinite engagement beginning July 27. A chorus of sixty and an orchestra of forty will be engaged.

F. J. Goldsoll, of Paris, who has several theatres in Europe, and was formerly associated with A. H. Woods, of New York, as well as with Cines, of Rome, has just been appointed commercial director general of the Societa Anonima Ambrosio, of Turin. Mr. Goldsoll has engaged M. Casserini, formerly with the Maison Gloria, of Turin, considered one of the greatest "metteur en scene" in the world.

Herman Gertler, who has been in charge of the projecting and film cutting departments of the Warner's Features, Incorporated, home office since the formation of that firm last September, has taken a similar position with the World Film Corporation. Mr. Gertler's friends, who are numerous, wish him all kinds of success in his new place.

H. B. Warner, star of the "Alias Jimmie Valentine" New York company, is working during sunlight —which means from daylight to dark every day—under the direction of Oscar Apfel, in filming "The Ghost Breaker," the play by Paul Dickey and Charles Goddard, and is being supported by a strong company. This is Mr. Warner's first work in motion pictures.

H. B. WARNER

"The Toll of Mammon," the four-part Excelsior Feature Film Company, Inc., release which received favorable criticism from the trade press, was recently reviewed by several medical men. Their remarks regarding the moral of the picture were most satisfactory to Sales Manager Arthur Rosenbach.

THE POKER GAME IN "THE GREYHOUND"
(Five-Part Life Photo Feature)

EXHIBITORS SNAP UP "THE TREY O' HEARTS"

Special to The Motion Picture News.

Omaha, Neb., July 22.

THE Trey o' Hearts," handled by the Laemmle Film Service Company in the Omaha territory for the Universal people, is proving a big seller all over Nebraska, Iowa, Kansas and the Dakotas, according to Manager Fred Van Husan of the service.

Exhibitors are snapping it up all about here, he says. It is a fifteen-week serial, with two reels to each week.

"THE SCALES OF JUSTICE"

(Famous Players—Five Reels)
(REVIEWED BY PETER MILNE)

IT is the production of such pictures as this that has given the Famous Players a reputation that any concern might be proud of. "The Scales of Justice" is a picture that any audience will enjoy seeing, due to its fine acting, the logically developed plot and excellent photography.

With such stars as Paul McAllister and Jane Fearnley playing the leading parts in the picture, and supported by an equally competent cast, consisting of Harold Lockwood as Frank Dexter, Hal Clarendon as Walter Elliott, and Daniel Jarrett as Bill Crump, with Mark Price, Catherine Lee, Mary Blackburn and Beatrice Moreland filling out the less prominent but no less important parts, the success of the picture is doubly assured.

A young and honest district-attorney, after a great struggle, decides to prosecute the woman he loves, but then very happily finds at the last moment that she is innocent of a horrible crime. The story of a struggle between love and duty has been told a number of times on the screen and in books, but even though the theme is old it will never fail to please, more especially when it is developed by a cast of finished players under the direction of a competent stage manager.

The exteriors of this picture were taken at Newburgh, N. Y., and are exceptionally well photographed, as are the interiors. In some scenes the Hudson River may be seen in the background, which lends a picturesque effect. The interiors were selected with discrimination and correspond in every way to the action of the characters.

There is perhaps one point in the picture that might be improved upon by the addition of a few subtitles. Edith is accused on circumstantial evidence of the murder of her grandfather, but it is quite a time before the average spectator realizes the nature of the accusation, although finally it is made quite clear. This is a small point, and is the only fault in the entire picture, and for this reason may quite easily be overlooked; in fact, it will hardly be noticed by the less critical.

"CHASING A MILLION; OR, AROUND THE WORLD IN EIGHTY WAYS"

(Leading Players Film Corp.—Three Reels)
REVIEWED BY PETER MILNE

THREE diverting comedians appear in this exceptionally clever comedy produced by the French Eclair Company, and put out under the brand of "The Leading Players Film Corporation." As far as is known this is the first comic picture released under this brand. It is to be hoped that more will follow, providing that they are as entertaining as is this.

Sarah Duhamel appears as Piggy, M. P. Bertho as Cremo and M. L. Bataille as Nutty. These three set out to find the only existing copy of "The Lyre," and to win the prize of a million dollars, and before they return with the precious manuscript only to be disappointed regarding the reward, such a number of humorous events have been outlined that the spectator is kept in a continual state of laughter.

They fall out of airships; encounter a barbarous tribe who intend serving all three as delicacies; have quite an experience with a Rajah who rules over the kingdom of Yeahbo; to say nothing of their numerous joy rides in all varieties of vehicles. One very funny scene is that in which Cremo tries to take a ride in a Japanese rickshaw. Before he is through the rickshaw and he are slightly bruised and damaged.

The subtitles of the picture are written in such a manner that they create almost as many laughs as the actions of the characters themselves. They add greatly to the humor of the picture, and as there are quite a number of them it is well that they are humorous.

PLUNKETT IN THE RAJAH'S COURT

Even in a comedy such as this, the producer has not neglected to photograph some beautiful scenes. These form an admirable background for the story, and will please the eye of the most critically artistic. The photography and the light are both good. In fact, it is seldom that one sees such a satisfactory comedy, not in one respect alone but in all.

PREDICT RISE OF PRICES IN ALBANY

Special to The Motion Picture News

Albany, N. Y. July 23.

A GOOD example of "It pays to advertise" is Manager Hatch, of Proctor's Leland. He is about the livest wire, in the theatrical line, that has ever struck Albany. He advertises, and advertises extensively with a result that he is packing them in. He is not backwards in giving credit to the advertising for his success.

It is a short time before the theatres will have to raise the price of admission. Five cents and even ten cents is too small, and the fans will appreciate the pictures a great deal more if they are compelled to pay more to see them.

"A ROYAL IMPOSTOR"

(Eclectic Film Comedy—Five Reels)
REVIEWED BY J. BURROUGHS NOELL

MOTION pictures in sepia, blue and purple tints have become so common that they have ceased to bring forth comments of praise, but hand-colored pictures with all the wonderful shades and colors as they appear to an artist's eyes in everything about him, although hardly noticed by the ordinary layman, are just rare enough to meet with instant approval wherever they are shown. The beautiful tones of this picture will delight not only the most discriminating audiences, but those also who don't bother their heads much about such things.

THE PRINCE MEETS VALERIE

The Eclectic natural color process has been used and the effect is truly—the hackneyed word must be used—wonderful. The story revolves around the brilliant court life in a small German principality, and the pomp and circumstance of military trappings, the gay uniforms, the splendor of a small court, and the lavishness and sumptuousness of princely palaces give the hand-colorer his chance to distinguish himself.

He reproduces these gay scenes without making them seem gaudy and meretricious; they retain their natural elegance and good taste in his pictures. But these artificial colors are not the only kind of colors that he brings before our eyes; the finer work of Nature tries his hand with a harder test; but shrubs, trees, fields, cottages, woodland roads, and shady dells are colored in even more finished and artistic manner.

The richness and artistry, however, of these five reels are not their only merits. They present an entertaining story of love under difficulties that finally works its own ruin.

It all comes about through the exact likeness of the Prince and his riding-master. The riding-master, having killed the Prince for his insults to his sweetheart, takes his place as the head of the kingdom. The masquerade succeeds until the sweetheart denounces the supposed Prince, and he loses his life through the innocent mistake of the young girl.

The double part of Prince and riding-master is acted with fineness of detail, made all the more trying because the actor has to play a part within a part. Settings, uniforms and properties are chosen with great care and effectiveness.

ECLECTIC GIVES PRIVATE VIEWS IN OMAHA

Special to THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS

Omaha, Neb., July 22.

MANAGER F. A. Pearson, of the Eclectic exchange here, has started the plan of showing all his new feature films to exhibitors in private exhibitions as soon as they arrive. In a little room near Thirteenth and Farnam streets he has the machine and screen, and several dozen exhibitors gather there several afternoons each week.

"THE WOLF"

(Lubin—Six Reels)
REVIEWED BY PETER MILNE

THERE is no other character so loathsome and despicable, nor one that is looked down upon with more contempt than a person like The Wolf, the central figure of this drama. He will gain no sympathy from any audience, even when he meets death, if the verdict of a crowded house in New York may be taken as a criterion. This one point alone would almost stamp the picture as a success, but its other merits are manifold.

The photography and lighting throughout the picture are excellent, and the scenes laid in the north and taken in the winter with the snow lying deep on the ground are superb. It is seldom that the public applaud at any one particular scene in a picture, and when they do it is certain that the applauded scene is one of the best.

When Jule and Baptiste set out to look for McDonald they are both seated in a northern sled drawn by a dozen dogs. They may be seen far in the distance across a snow-white plain. Beyond them several ridges of mountains rear their summits against the darkening yellow sky. It was this scene, that contains nothing sensational, and had but a small bearing on the plot, which brought down the heartiest applause of the New York house. The whole picture is an artistic gem.

The story is the work of Eugene Walter, whose plays are well known among the patrons of the legitimate theatre. As a writer for the screen he seems to possess just as much talent. Barry O'Neil produced the picture, and it is to him that the final credit is due.

A strong cast enacts the picture, each one of which is deserving of great praise. Bernard Siegel as Baptiste Le Grand is a typical religious French-Canadian, and one to be admired. Ruth Bryant as Annette, his sweetheart, is a part well played. George Spencer as Jules Beaubien, is the other hero of the story. Ferdinand Tidmarsh does well as The Wolf, and Gaston Bell, as his assistant in business but not in crime, is well cast. The rest of the cast consists of Richard Wangemann, Clara Lambert, Charles Brandt, Edwin Tilton, Martin Heissy and Ethel Clayton, who plays the part of Jules' sweetheart.

IN THE ALASKAN CABIN

McDonald, an engineer, while surveying in the North meets and betrays Annette who is loved by Baptiste. Later she dies. Baptiste and Annette's half brother, who has come to search for her, swears to avenge her death. Their search for McDonald is long, but finally they find him and he meets death at the hand of Jules before he has done more harm. Jules and McDonald fight it out in the dim woods. Guns are first used and then they take to knives, and finally Jules comes out the victor. The scene is most impressive and is followed by a beautiful finale.

SPECIAL FILM REVIEWS

"The Tribunal of Conscience." (Lubin. Two reels. Friday, July 10.)—Here is a drama without the customary love element. But in real heart interest it surpasses the drama with the ordinary love motif. In this picture it might be called a love motif of another kind, the love of a father for a spendthrift, wayward boy, in whom, since the death of his wife, his life has been wrapped up and his fondest hopes have been centered. But it seems that he is doomed to disappointment.

The son proves not so bad, after all, and a scheme which the faithful valet proposes brings him to his senses and makes a man of him. The father pretends to be a suicide, leaving debts instead of property. The boy goes down and down, but finally takes a grip on himself and goes to work. His father buys an interest in the construction company for which he works and he is rapidly advanced.

When he goes to his old home and finds his father waiting to greet him with pride, the scene is extremely touching and gives us added faith in human nature. Father, son and valet are played by W. H. Ryno, Raymond Gallagher, and Paul Parr Smith, respectively, and each actor has succeeded capitally in his conception of the role he enacts.

"Whiskers." (Eclectic.)—An innocent exchange causes all the difficulties for the persons concerned in this picture, and all the merriment for us more fortunate beings who simply look on.

Willie loves Maizie dearly, and Mazie returns the love with all her heart. Billy loves Myrtle with all the manly devotion of which he is capable, and Myrtle loves him as only woman can love man. Each treasures the other's photograph. But when the couples go for a day's outing, the young men make an exchange of coats and the tell-tale photographs turn everything topsy-turvy.

"The Wilderness Mail." (Selig. Two reels. Mon., July 13.)—This is a love story of red-blooded, elemental human beings living in the great Canadian Northwest, untamed and unsoftened by the enervating restraints of civilization. The Canadian Northwest, with its everlasting snow, offers a splendid opportunity to the motion picture photographer for scenes of wild nature untraversed except by dog and sled trails, and provides the scenario writer with stirring events that come only in the lives of these strong-bodied, self-reliant and high-spirited people.

This story, especially, will please all lovers of dramatic and thrilling action. The setting still retains the glamour of romance and wonder, and this will increase the pleasure. Two lithe, fine-appearing young giants love the same girl, the daughter of an old trapper. A jealous and cruel step-sister causes the trouble. One of the young men is the mail carrier and the other is given a message that must reach the settlement ahead of the mail. The mail-carrier is killed by an outlaw, the other is arrested by the Northwest Mounted Police, and is not released until the girl captures the outlaw and proves that he is guilty of the murder. Walter Oakman and Bessie Eyton in the leading parts succeed admirably in their conceptions of Northern character.

"The Toll of the Warpath." (Albuquerque. Three reels. Mon., July 27.)—The old yet absorbing story of the mistreated Indians and the United States troops with the American cowboy playing an important part. The scenario was written by Dot Farley, who also stars in the picture, produced by Gilbert P. Hamilton. It will delight all those who like Western drama, painting the Indian in black colors, and causing the spectator to feel no sympathy for him or his misfortunes.

The Indian massacre is realistic enough to cause shudders.

The plot is quite new and will be received well. A lieutenant in the United States army marries Bess, the daughter of a ranchman. Shortly afterward he is believed to have been killed by Indians, but in reality is only severely wounded, and picked up by a friendly half-breed. For a time his mind is blank. But when he regains his memory, he returns to find that his wife is married. The two husbands agree to fight it out, but are attacked by Indians, the lieutenant being killed.

"His Brother's Wife." (Gene Gauntier. Three reels.)—By far one of the best of Warner's releases and one of the most worthy put out under the brand of Gene Gauntier. Playing opposite Miss Gauntier is Jack J. Clark, the producer of the picture.

The story is one of strong human interest and one that every audience in the country will appreciate, although it will appeal more highly to the more serious minded. The scenes are almost all interiors. Moore marries Shirley, the girl for whom he is guardian. He neglects her for a former love, who does all she can to bring about the separation of the other two. She is all but triumphant, but through the efforts of Moore's brother, he returns to his wife, who had remained faithful to him through it all.

BESS HEARS OF THE LIEUTENANT'S DEATH
Scene from "The Toll of the Warpath" (Albuquerque. Three Reels, July 27)

FILM NEWS FROM FOREIGN PARTS

(Continued from page 34)

houses change oftener than twice a week for their regular program, with a third change on Sunday, if they are allowed to keep open in their locality on Sunday.

"The new camera, the Aeroscope, is being used by a number of topical news men with great results. The camera requires no tripod or crank, the operator simply holding it against his chest and pressing a button. It is operated with compressed air, a gyroscope holding it level and steady. I saw one man's stuff, taken under trying conditions, and it was certainly splendid."

5,000 IN A WARNER FILM

Special to THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS

Eagle Pass, Tex., July 23.

The five thousand Mexican federal prisoners held here under guard of United States troops were caught in the films recently.

The Mexicans took part in a production to be released by Warner's Feature, Inc., entitled "Under Fire in Mexico." The prisoners were lined up for a thrilling charge, and showed wonderful feats of horsemanship. Battle flags fluttered and sabres flashed in the bright southern sunlight, as the troopers made a thrilling charge over a nearby stream It seemed like real war while the spectators were under the spell of the sight.

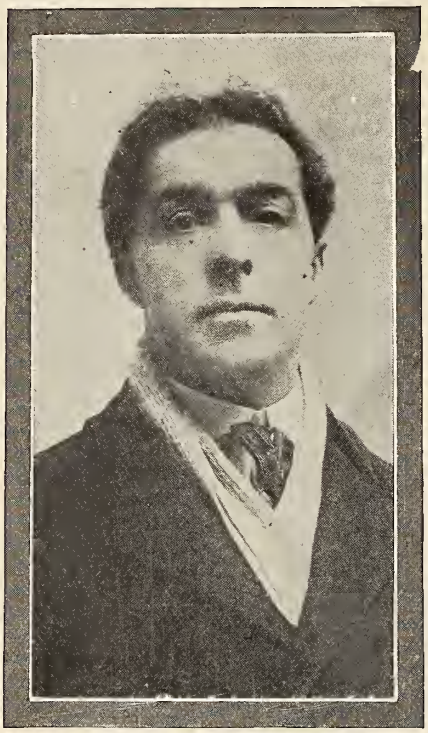
J. Arthur Nelson, president of the Colorado Motion Picture Corporation, congratulated the participants on their successful work in the production.

GEORGE KLEINE MIXED PROGRAM

The La Salle Theatre, Chicago, has opened with a mixed program of George Kleine attractions. The theatre is playing "The Club of the Black Mask" and "The African Diamond Conspiracy." The whole program is about eight reels in length.

BEST OF ITS KIND

THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS,
New York City.



Gentlemen:—Find enclosed $1.00 for six months to THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS, best thing of the kind published.

Very truly yours,
W. A. BRUNNELL,
Decatur, Texas.

All-Star Signs Faversham for Films

Actor Will Begin Rehearsals in "The World," August 5, at the Yonkers Studio of The Company

THROUGH his personal representative, Mr. Gallagher, William Faversham, the "legitimate" star, has cabled his acceptance of an offer made for his debut in motion pictures with the All-Star Feature Corporation, under the direction of Augustus Thomas, director general for that concern.

WILLIAM FAVERSHAM

The subject chosen for a vehicle in which he is to be seen is "The World," a spectacular drama which has enjoyed, in years gone by, considerable success as a theatrical attraction.

The value of this appearance in motion pictures, it would seem, is greater than anything before offered to those wide-awake picture showmen of the world who appreciate the value of a name such as is offered in this coming production, both as to star and play.

The name of Faversham is almost a household word, and the theatrical career of this man is a most remarkable one. His first stage appearance was in 1885 in England, and a short time after that he came to America, where he appeared in "The Prince and the Pauper," and as Valentine Day in "Featherbrain" in 1889, and in 1892 as Prince Haldenwald in "Aristocracy" under the direction of Charles Frohman.

He has been seen, among other successes, in "Lord and Lady Algy," "Brother Officers," "The Younger Son," "Diplomacy," and as Romeo with Maude Adams in "Romeo and Juliet."

His first appearance as a star was made in 1901 at the Criterion Theatre as Don Caesar in "A Royal Rival."

Mr. Faversham will perhaps be well remembered by the three most successful seasons, 1905 to 1907, when he toured the United States playing the role of Jim Carson in "The Squaw Man."

About November of 1910, he became known as a Shakesperian star and he has appeared since that time in many prominent roles, chief among which is his appearance as Marc Antony in "Julius Cæsar."

Mr. Faversham sails from England on the 29th, aboard the "Olympic," and will arrive in America about August 5. On his arrival he will immediately begin work on the production of "The World" at the Yonkers studios of the All-Star Feature Corporation.

Ad Film Makers May Organize

With a view to bettering trade conditions, and correcting other unwholesome conditions, a call for a meeting of industrial advertising film manufacturers to take up these matters has been issued.

This call is signed by H. J. Elkin, manager of the Industrial Department of Pathé Frères, Arthur N. Smallwood of the Smallwood Film Corporation, and J. M. Torr, editor of Moving Picture "Publicity," and asks the attendance of all manufacturers of industrial films at a meeting to be held August 15, at the Hotel Shelbourne, Brighton Beach, New York.

Matters of importance to all those interested in bettering conditions will be discussed. One of the topics to be considered will be the formation of a National Association of Ad Film Manufacturers. The attendance of all those interested is urgently requested. Replies should be sent to Arthur N. Smallwood, 175 Fifth avenue, New York.

MORE EXCELSIOR SALES

"The Toll of Mammon," a four-part Excelsior Feature Film Company, Inc., production has been sold to the Electric Theatre Supply Company, of Philadelphia, for Eastern Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, District of Columbia and Southern Maryland.

In and Out of Los Angeles Studios

Special to THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS

DAVE BERSHON, manager of the Los Angeles end of the California Film Exchange, Inc., recently spent a week in San Francisco.

Sol Lesser, president and general manager of the Golgate Film Exchange, spent several days recently at the Los Angeles Exehange while on his way to New York City.

E. H. Duffy, who has been special representative of the World Film Corporation, engaged in establishing exchanges, will resign his position within the next few days, with the completion of his work at the Los Angeles branch, and go to El Paso, Tex., where he will take charge of an exchange, handling independent features.

M. Rosenberg has been transferred from the Portland, Ore., branch of the All-Star Feature Corporation to the Los Angeles branch, which is conducted in connection with the Golden Gate Film Exchange.

Oliver V. Traggarh, president of the Union Feature Film Company, was in Los Angeles for a few days while en route to New York City from San Francisco.

Richard Walton Tully is a recent arrival at the Jesse Lasky Hollywood Studio, having come here from New York City, to assist the Lasky forces in the production for the screen of his California play, "The Rose of the Rancho."

Keystone and Sterling Give Dinner

Ford Sterling and Roscoe Arbuckle were hosts at a dinner given the members of the Keystone and Sterling companies at Baron Long's Vernon Country Club. The course dinner began at seven o'clock and with a dance between each course the members of the companies made merry for several hours. The tango prize was awarded Charles Murray, and a vote of thanks given Jerry O'Connell, who had charge of the arrangements for the hosts.

Hal Clements, formerly of the Kalem studio at Santa Monica, and Donald McDonald, recently with the Universal, are now directors at the J. J. Robbins Photoplay Company plant at Central avenue and Twenty-ninth street, Los Angeles.

"The Valley of the Moon," one of the recent Bosworth, Inc., releases of Jack London's stories, is destined to bring record business to the theatre that exhibits the feature at Merchantville, a suburb of Philadelphia, for in this the mayor, A. K. Bennett, known more popularly as the millionaire pugilist, plays a leading part in one of the fight scenes, according to Jack Conway, lead in the six-reel picture.

Mr. Bennett was in Los Angeles during the early months of this year, and was riding past the Vernon arena when the extra people for the fight scene were passing in. He thought there was a fight on, and went in, crowding his way to the front row. In the cheering the mayor proved a leader, but could not understand why the rounds were so short.

In passing out with the others a man at the gate handed Mr. Bennett a one-dollar bill, which he refused to take, until the man next in line nudged him with his elbow. Afterwards the Pennsylvania officer was told he had taken part in a motion picture.

G. A. Beranger, assistant to Director D. W. Griffith, of the Majestic Motion Picture Company, has discovered a new use for face powder, in the making of pictures. White flowers used in pictures for Mr. Griffith's sets are now all made up by the use of No. 10½ powder, which takes away the brilliant white.

Photoplayers Hold Mass Meeting

The members of the Photoplayers, now numbering more than 450 in good standing, held a mass-meeting in the Little Theatre, Los Angeles, Sunday, July 19, for the reorganization of the club, and the adoption or rejection of several important by-laws.

Many changes are being made at the studio of the Jese Lasky Company over at Hollywood in order to accommodate the additional companies of actors now working there. The stage will be increased to 60 x 200, two tiers of dressing-rooms will he built, and a large carpenter shop and prop storage-room will be added.

A Los Angeles newspaper, in summing up the work of the municipal free employment bureau, which has furnished 16,542 men for various jobs since its opening early this year, gives among the various work secured the following pertaining to the industry:

Fourteen per cent motion pictures, $1 per day and sandwich; 1 per cent motion pictures, one to three days, $2.50 and one meal a day.

Supt. Charles B. Riatt, of the Los Angeles municipal playgrounds, has announced that arrangements have been made to add motion pictures to the playground amusements for children, and that once each month a program will be given at each of the six municipal grounds.

"It is not the intention of this department of the city to enter into competition with the motion picture theatres," Supt. Riatt said in speaking of this new feature, "but on the other hand we know of scores ond scores of little tots who never go inside a theatre, and we are aiming to give them an evening of pleasure. Educational pictures only will be used."

Sterling Shows Pugilist Studio

Leach Cross, pugilist, who is to meet Joe Rivers at the Vernon Arena July 28th, in company with his family paid a visit to the Sterling Motion Picture Company studio this week, and a film was made showing Ford Sterling escorting the fighter through the home of Dutch comedy. A 200-foot picture was made and will be used on a split reel.

David Kirkland directed a burlesque single-reel comedy with Ford Sterling in the lead. Costumes and settings were appropriate for a picture of the days of chivalry, but Sterling was there with the German beard. No title has been given.

Up-to-date Nature "Fakes"

Nature faking in motion picture studios has been advanced another step at the Universal, where a fox terrier and a collie act as mothers to lion cubs. The fox terrier mother is now permitted to see her children but once or twice a day, as she has passed the state of usefulness, the cubs being about two months old. The collie, however, is still serving warm meals at all hours as her adopted little ones are but a week old.

The fox terrier was secured two months ago, when Flora, the largest lioness of the zoo gave birth to four cubs, and killed one accidentally because of the smallness of the cage. Fearing the real mother would roll onto others and kill them, the manager sought a wet-nurse dog. The fox terrier, about the size of the smallest cub, was the only one that could be found, and for a month she proved a mother in more ways than one.

Since being relieved of the duties as mother, the terrier has frequently visited her foster little ones. Now they are twice her size, but she is permitted in the cage for a romp with them. When the cubs play too rough she chases them back into the corner of the cage and proves herself mistress of every situation. Whenever she passes the cage the young lions recognize her and in many ways have displayed their belief that she is their mother.

The collie was secured after Queen, the large lioness that recently clawed Dr. W. H. Kirby, had, in a manner similar to that of Flora, killed one of her three cubs. She fondles and cares for the small lions in the same manner she would her own puppies and is proving herself an excellent mother.

Frank Wiltermood, who has been taking a vacation for the past two months, is again at his duties as manager of the scenario department of the Balboa Feature Films, at Long Beach.

Henry Otto, for so long with the Balboa Feature Films in the capacity of director, is now with the Flying "A" Company at Santa Barbara.

Percy Peters has left the Balboa and is now with the Thomas H. Nash Animal Feature Company.

Jackie Saunders Back at Work

Miss Jackie Saunders, whose current release, "The Will o' the Wisp." has received such favorable comment, is now able to return to the studio of the Balboa Amusement Company, after an absence of two weeks made necessary because of poisoning.

"It was that horrible trip up Fish Canyon; where we climbed up straight rocks that almost caused me the loss of my beauty," the popular actress said with a sly wink, "for it was then that I was poisoned. You should have seen me last week when my face was puffed out of shape—it was a cartoon. I thought I would have to go in for comedy."

COMING WEST COAST PRODUCTIONS

The Fred A. Kelsey Reliance Company has just completed a Western picture, "The Wagon of Death," in which a supposed nitro-glycerine car was destroyed by twenty pounds of black powder when the driver says that he could not control the horses and there was danger of killing the heroine. There is some excellent horsemanship displayed by Fred, Ed and Bob Burns, formerly with the Buffalo Bill show.

Jack O'Brian, of the Majestic, has just completed filming the story, "The Second Mrs. Roebuck," which appeared in a popular magazine. The scenario was prepared by Wallace Reed, who played the lead. Miss Mary Alden and Blanche Sweet were both in the cast.

Robert Edeson is being featured in the second Stewart Edward White story picture, "Where the Trail Divides," being produced by Cecil de Mille, of the Jesse Lasky Company. He is supported by Theodore Roberts, star of a score or more Broadway productions, including "The Right of Way"; "The Barrier," by Rex Beach"; "The County Chairman," who is a native son of California, the son of a pioneer who came to this state in 1849, and who did his first work on the stage in San Francisco in 1880.

At Work on "Broken Barrier"

Director William C. Cabanne has completed the second film of "The Broken Barrier," a two-reel melodrama featuring Dorothy Gish and Irene Hunt, the original negative of which, together with three other reels of negative, was destroyed in the Lubin fire in June before prints had been made. Mr. Cabanne will next film "Moonshine Molly" from the magazine story by H. R. Durant, in which Mae Marsh and Robert Harron will play the lead.

"Frenchy," a Western story by George Pattullo, which appeared recently in the "Saturday Evening Post," is to be filmed under the direction of Donald Crisp, with Vester Pegg in the title role.

Mr. Pegg holds the world' championship for "bulling a steer," having secured the gold medal at the round-up at Cheyenne last year. He will ride Suicide, the outlaw broncho owned by Jesse McGraw, and known to cowboys all over the West for his fierceness and ability to throw his rider. Mr. Crisp expects to produce a picture with a punch in every foot.

The film recently made for the Los Angeles Retail Dry Goods Merchants' Association, under the direction of salesmanagers and department heads, for an instruction course for salespeople in retail stores, is now completed and is being shown in this city each evening at the Arrow Theatre, on the third floor in the Hamburger Department Store.

Clerks from each store will see the picture, which will be accompanied by lectures by G. M. Wessells, instructor in salesmanship in the Los Angeles Polytechnic High School, and sales managers. The motion picture shows both the right and wrong way for salcs people to display goods and wait on customers in all departments. Following the use of the picture here it will be rented to stores in other cities.

Larkin's Dangerous Stunt

Mr. Larkin is one of the few persons who do not know their age or their real name. When five years old he was abandoned by his parents, who were circus acrobats, and taken care of for a number of years by the owner of the show whose name he now bears.

George became an acrobat, working on the tumblers' pad and the trapeze. In the second series of the serial his early training made it possible for him to hang by his knees and rescue the heroine from being dashed to death in the rapids of a mountain stream near Bear Lake, Cal.

The Operator's Exchange

THIRD TEST FOR LICENSE

Special to THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS

Rochester, N. Y., July 23.

The third test of candidates for licenses as motion picture operators in this city will be held July 28, according to an announcement just made by Fire Marshal Wheeler. The examinations include written papers as well as oral questions and a practical test to demonstrate the knowledge of the applicant for the position.

Application blanks must be filled out by the applicants. They are quite exhaustive in their scope, and calculated to bring out the extent of the experience of each applicant. On a previous examination sixteen out of thirty-three candidates failed to pass. Those who have tried the examination before do not need to file new applications.

ARTHUR R. TUCKER.

AMERICAN STANDARD REORGANIZES

The American Standard Motion Picture Machine Company, which went into bankruptcy recently, is preparing to resume operations, and will be able shortly to fill orders for 1914 machines and to make repairs on all earlier models. The factory has been moved from 101 Beekman street, Manhattan, to 168 Southern Boulevard, near 135th street, the Bronx.

STRIKE BLOWS OVER

Special to THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS

Evansville, Ind., July 23.

The operators employed by Philip Skora in his three theatres have returned to work, following a strike occasioned by Skora's son, who insisted on operating a machine despite the fact that the union refused him admission.

R. H. GORE.

ERIC MORRISON'S FATHER DEAD

The father of Eric Morrison, connected with the American Standard Motion Picture Machine Company, died on July 19. Mr. Morrison was well known and his death will be regretted by a large circle of friends.

AROUND THE METROPOLIS

On Friday, July 17, I had the pleasure of attending the opening of the Powpit Amusement Company's new Powell Theatre. This house is located at the corner of Powell street and Pitkin avenue in the Brownsville section of Brooklyn, and is easily the most up-to-date theatre in that vicinity.

Brother Louis Alter is employed as operator, and with two of Power's latest type machines, equipped with motors and all the latest improvements, you may depend upon Brother Alter to produce results.

The theatre is under the able management of Max Stanley, who has been employed in the same capacity at several other theatres in this neighborhood, and with him at the helm, I can see no reason why this theatre should not attain a brilliant success.

Operators and Salaries

In looking back over several years of experience as an operator, in various theatres throughout the country, I have about come to the conclusion that the primary reason for dissatisfaction on the part of the operator is due to the fact, that no matter how long and faithfully he may work for any one employer, he can never hope to better his condition financially, so far as that particular ecployer is concerned.

He is engaged at the start at the prevailing scale of wages, and if he ever gets a raise in salary, it is only the exception that proves the rule.

Of course this is largely because the employer usually sells the place before the operator has been there for any length of time. Of the nine hundred or more theatres at present in this city I have no doubt that at least seventy-five per cent have changed hands from one to six times within the last two years, if they have been open that long.

The prevailing rate of wages for operators in New York City at the present time in $22.00 per week for an eight hour day. The average price for a suit of clothes is about $15.00. If you want a little better than the average suit you MUST pay more than the average price.

IT IS THE SAME WITH THE OPERATOR.

W. D. Chaney.

It affords me great pleasure to inform all the friends of Brother Earl Rossman that he is now managing the New York Theatre at Forty-fifth street and Broadway. Brother Rossman was formerly a newspaper man, and was at one time associated with William Dunwoodie, of the Lehigh Valley Railroad.

Brother W. J. Taylor is still working for Frank Petters at the Osceola Theatre, and making a record for length of service. He has been employed by Mr. Petters for about four years.

Brother Theodore Crawford (better known as Slim) is also employed by Mr. Petters and working at the Port Morris Casino. This theatre is almost directly across the street from the Osceola, but in spite of this fact both houses are playing to almost capacity, which only goes to show that after all good projection is quite a factor when it comes to doing business.

Brother Jack Winnick has gone to Hohoken, N. J., to play a four-day date with "Cabiria."

Brother Sam Friedman will take his place in the meantime at the Knickerbocker, where "Cabiria" is still playing to phenomenal business.

Brothers Al Polen and Sol Abrams will have closed at the Globe by the time this issue appears in print, as I understand the Annette Kellermann pictures of "Neptune's Daughter" are going to pull out at the end of this week. This picture has enjoyed a satisfactory success, and achieved a run second only to that of "Quo Vadis?" at the Astor Theatre last season.

PHILADELPHIA FLIERS

Operators and stage employees on tour are informed that the Philadelphia Local No. 307 M. P. M. O. U. of the I. A. T. S. E. is now located at its own headquarters at 1233-35 Vine street, right in the midst of the exchange district, where the needs of the operator are easily obtained.

Everything that an operator needs, either to satisfy himself or his employer, is at his call. The boys have three large rooms and they have all that you would look for in them,—telephone and telegraph service, pool table, projection room and writing desks and always that "ever-ready-to-assist-you" feeling that the Philadelphia operators have the reputation of having.

William Royal, alias Willie Dare-Devil, of the Philadelphia operators' union, has issued a challenge to meet any one of the members of the local in a five-mile motorcycle race. This looks good as Bill has just returned from a long trip up the state and they all say that Bill is some bear with the "Gasoline Broncho."

Edward Abrams, of the Point Breeze Theatre, has at last fallen for the happy thought of being a married man. The last report is that Eddie was seen in one of the department stores looking over house furnishings.

There are so many exchanges here that have projection rooms for the Pennsylvania Board of Censors, and each one its own censor, that the operators have a song called "Every Little Film Has a Censor All Its Own."

While Freddie LaMar, of the Philadelphia Motion Picture Supply Company, is enjoying the sad sea breezes down at the shore, his position is being held down by William J. Symns. Both are members of Local 307.

William Hamilton, of Local 307, is now in Wildwood, N. J., exploiting his mechanical fortune-telling machine and from reports he is doing well.

Within the last year the ranks of the operators have lost several of their good men who are now connected with different film exchanges in the town, but they still are telling the exhibitors the difference between crank-turners and good operators.

Do you remember the time that Tony used to grind them out? Well, he is now with the Italian-American Film Company. How long has it been since Camphell was doing a six and nine-hour grind? We now have the pleasure of introducing Mr. Campbell, of the Hepworth Company.

Murray did some of those no-limit "grinds," too, but now he is with the United Features.

And I almost forgot Old Preston Lombard, the pride of Market street, is now Mr. Lombard of American Features. And they say that he operators can't do it..

Sidney Stanley is now in charge of the projection room at the Globe Theatre, Philadelphia's newest theatre. He is a 307 man.

HEARD IN THE LOBBIES

Bristow & McCullough, proprietors of motion picture theatres in the city of Anderson, S. C., a town of 15,000 people, have opened up a branch of their business in North Anderson, a suburhan town of several thousand inhabitants. They report having succeeded in booking some unusually fine pictures and are expecting to do a profitahle business.

Wayne H. Hadcock, formerly treasurer of the Remington Clothing Company of Watertown, N. Y., has secured a controlling interest in both the Victoria and the Bijou motion picture theatres of that city, previously owned hy Joseph Hinds. Mr. Hadcock took possession of the two places Monday. Both will be managed along much the same lines as has prevailed. The transaction is one of the most important that has occurred since the motion picture business became the important factor that it is in the entertainment of Watertown's thousands.

Peter Dahl, of Delaware street, former postmaster of Tonawanda, N. Y., has purchased the Star Theatre on Nineteenth street, Niagara Falls, and is conducting a motion picture show there. The theatre is one of the largest motion picture shows in Niagara Falls.

INTERESTING FILM REVIEWS

PRODUCTIONS FROM ALL PROGRAMS

GENERAL FILM PROGRAM

"The Moonstone of Fez." (Vitagraph. Two reels. Tues., July 7.)—Maurice Costello and Constance Talmadge play the leads. One of the best of the Vitagraph's two reelers. Mrs. Osborne is stricken with the black plague in a Paris hotel, and dies in the night. In the morning the proprietor denies to her daughter that the woman had ever been in the hotel. Van Norden, a chance acquaintance of the girl, learns the truth. The hotel keeper wished to hush the matter up so as not to start a panic among his guests.

"Fooling Fanny's Father." (Lubin. Split reel. Tues., July 7.)—On the same reel with "While Auntie Bounced." Father thinks he has completed an invention to restore youth. His daughter's sweetheart plays a joke on him, by substituting a midget for himself after he has been enclosed in the closet. A fair comedy.

"While Auntie Bounced." (Lubin. Split reel. Tues., July 7.)—On the same reel with "Fooling Fanny's Father." Auntie's niece is married while she bounces on a circus net. Much better than the ordinary comedy.

"Doctor Smith's Baby." (Vitagraph. Wed., July 8.)—If it were not for Maurice Costello in this picture it would be a failure as a comedy. There are two Doctor Smiths in the same house and a baby goes to the wrong one by mistake. It causes a great disturbance before matters are cleared up.

"A Boarding House Scramble." (Essanay. Wed., July 8.)—Two of the boarders art rivals for the hand of the landlady. Their rivalry leads them into an egg and dish fight, in which one of them is covered with eggs. Everyone in the house where this picture was shown enpoyed a hearty laugh.

"The Vases of Hymen." (Vitagraph. Fri., July 10.)—Another of those enjoyable comedies featuring John Bunny and Flora Finch. Each buys one of a pair of costly vases, then yearns for the other's. Meanwhile they fall in love and exchange the costly vases, which come together again only when the couple pair off in matrimony.

"Did She Cure Him?" (Selig. Fri., July 10.)—Presents the efforts of a wife to overcome hubby's craving for drink. The remedy she adopts is stuffing him with fruit until his colic spasms make him submit to anything, even to signing a pledge. It is a good farce and acted with keen relish for the fun in the situations by John Lancaster and Lyllian Brown Leighton as the husband and wife.

"Rube, the Interloper." (Kalem. Split reel. Fri., July 10.)—The unconquerable curiosity of a keyhole maniac and the strategem of two young actresses to rid themselves of the nuisance are shown in this reel, which also contains "In Old England." A small army of ludicrous policemen are introduced, and at once the spectator realizes that "the policeman's lot is not a 'appy one." The cast includes John E. Brennan, Ruth Boland, Jeanette Hoffman and Marshal Neilan.

"In Old England." (Kalem. Split reel. Fri., July 10.)—On the same reel with "Rube, the Interloper." It is a series of well-taken pictures of important English sporting events that will prove interesting both to the sport lover and to the general public. The Rugby football game between the teams of Scotland and Ireland, the cross-country run of the southern counties, and the royal Ascot races where fashion appears in all its glory, are among the events photographed.

"A Romance of the Pueblo." (Biograph. Thurs., July 9.)—The events that transpire in this drama are slightly disconnected. Two important plots run through the picture and the connection between the two is not clear. A Pueblo brave loves an Apache maid and through the counciling of an American and his wife the different tribes allow their marriage. Later the wife of the American is captured by a tribe of Pueblos. The Apache maid aids in her escape.

"His Fight." (Selig. Sat., July 11.)—A strong, tense drama wherein a young physician is called upon to save the life of the man who has robbed him of his wife. The unusually dramatic possibilities of this situation are brought out with full force by Wheeler Oakman as the physician, Eugenie Besserer as the woman and Jack F. McDonald as the patient.

"Lillian's Dilemma." (Vitagraph. Two reels. Sat., July 11.)—It doesn't take a wide stretch of the imagination to conceive what amusing consequences ensue when a young and bewitching girl steals into a boy's school in male attire and leaves her own feminine garments for some young mischief-maker to masquerade in. And when the bald-headed master has a weakness for pretty girls and at the same time is handicapped by a jealous and prying wife, the complications become harder to unravel. But they are unravelled in this picture with the wedding of the girl, which is played by Lillian Walker, and her brother's chum, played by Wallie Van.

"A Discolored Romance." (Melies. Tues., July 7.)—Joe and Dave are both in love with the same girl. Each one decides to play a joke on the other. Joe blackens Dave's face with shoe polish while he is asleep and Dave does the same to Joe. Both are thrown out of Marion's house and she marries the man of her father's choice.

"The Hole in the Wall." (Melies. Wed., July 8.)—Rather a disconnected drama. One can find no reason why the butler is brought in the picture at all. Atkin presents his fiancee with a precious jewel. He mistreats the dog of the house and is thrown out. Later a reconciliation follows.

"A Royal Survivor." (Melies. Two reels. Thurs., July 9.)—A stranger is wrecked and thrown up on the shore. A fisherman finds him and cares for him; he is really of the royal family. He falls in love with the fisherman's daughter, Annie. When he returns to his people he is lonesome without Annie. He returns, renounces his right to the throne and marries her. A most pleasant drama.

"The Season of Buds." (Biograph. Fri., July 17.)—This is a reissue of a picture starring Mary Pickford. which appeared for the first time three or four years ago. It is interesting to see how much this charming actress, with her winsome personality and sweet girlish ways, makes of a rather trite and commonplace plot; and at the same time it is astonishing to notice how much she has progressed in her art since those days.

"The Song of the Ghetto." (Vitagraph. Two reels. Sat., July 18.)—A characteristic portrayal of the fickleness and whimsicalities of the artistic temperament. Acted superbly by William Humphrey, as the celebrated tenor; Antonio Moreno, the struggling composer; Eulalie Jensen, the fascinating, but reckless, singer, and Carolyn Birch, the girl left behind in Italy. Stage mountings are well in keeping with the demands of the piece.

"It Was Some Party." (Biograph. Split reel. Sat., July 18.)—The old time game of stripped poker with its limitless potentialities for fun-making is used in this picture, which is on the same reel with "Some Decorators." The game not only made "some party," but it makes some picture, too.

"Some Decorators." (Biograph. Split reel. Sat., July 18.)—Once again we are given a picture that caters to that popular but declining taste for knocking, beating, breaking of china and heads, and ends with a most impossible chase up chimneys, over house-tops, fences, ditches, and into a river. But all this "bull in the china shop" and hare and hounds business brings the laughs, so what more could be asked. Shown with "It Was Some Party."

"She Wanted to Know." (Lubin. Split reel. Sat., July 18.)—In which an inquisitive wife gets badly stung for her useless curiosity and diligence. The letter which hubby received and which caused all the row turned out to be a harmless little coal bill for 35 dollars. "All for Love" is also on this reel.

"Snakeville's New Waitress." (Essanay. Thurs., July 16.)—An exhilarating farce, the scene of which is a rude boarding and lodging house in the Western country. After several minutes of side-splitting laughter, the audience finds that Slippery Slim gets the best of the landlord in a scramble for the favor of the new waitres.

"The Little Captain." (Vitagraph. Thurs., July 16.)—A somewhat tedious recital of the make-believe soldiery of a dear little boy. Much of it is too far-fetched for even the most credulous of audiences. No escaped convict is going to fool around with a little boy when he knows that pursuers are on his trail.

Hearst-Selig News Pictorial, No. 40. (Selig. Thurs., July 16.)—This week's issue contains some extremely interesting views. Perhaps the photograph of Colonel Roosevelt at Progressive headquarters will excite the most interest, because this is the latest picture of the ex-President and gives his admirers a chance to see him after his recent illness.

"The Prospectors." (Biograph. Thurs., July 16.)—Treachery and love are presented in this Western picture. The plot is without distinction but will probably find favor with melodrama devotees. It is full of wholesale killings.

"Pigs Is Pigs." (Vitagraph. Fri., July 18.)—A clever reproduction on the screen of Ellis Parker Butler's uproariously funny sketch, which was so popular when it appeared several years ago. It is practically certain that it will be equally well liked as a motion picture, especially since John Bunny is the expressman.

"Wiggs Takes the Rest Cure." (Selig. Fri., July 18.)—This typical comedy by W. E. Wing traces a tired business man's vain attempts to gain perfect rest for a month's recuperation. How he is baffled every place he goes makes good fun, at the same time the obstacles overcome make him of herculean strength, ready to whip everything in sight.

"The Lie." (Lubin. Fri., July 18.)—An improbable sort of picture of a little boy's inability to tell a lie in order to get his trapper father into trouble with the game warden. It is laid in the cold, snowy North, the sight of which only emphasizes the awful heat of these summer days.

"The World and the Woman." (Biograph. Mon., July 20.)—That love will always overcome obstacles and find a way is illustrated in this picture. A woman, put on trial for the killing of her husband, is acquitted. There yet remains the stain of suspicion to live down. In the end a letter turns up in her glove which she has not worn for some time. It clears away all doubt of her innocence and opens the path for her heart's satisfaction.

"Love, the Clairvoyant." (Vitagraph. Mon., July 20.)—A couple's happiness, as so often is the case, is entirely destroyed through a mistake. The wife, by disguising herself as a clairvoyant at a charity ball, lets her husband see the error of his ways in misjudging her. Played by a capable company, which makes the best of several good dramatic moments.

"All for Love." (Lubin. Split reel. Sat., July 18.)—A Romaine Fielding comedy with this clever comedian taking a leading part. By having the camera run extra fast, we are given some mirth-provoking movements by the actors. The reel is completed with "She Wanted to Know."

"In Wolf's Clothing." (Kalem. Two reels. Mon., July 20.)—This is the fourth feature of the Alice Joyes Series. The plot of the story is weak and improbable, and the task of the actors is indeed difficult to make the characters seem convincing. The acting of Alice Joyes, and her supporters, Tom Moore, Robert Walker, Harry Millarde, Henry Hallam and Helen Lindroth overcomes, however, these deficiencies to a certain extent.

"Broncho Billy Puts One Over." (Essanay. Sat., July 18.)—Showing how Broncho Billy succeeds in marrying the girl of his heart, and gets the better of her irate father. A trumped-up charge of horse stealing against Broncho is soon shattered when the horse turns out to be his wife's, and a man cannot he charged with stealing his wife's horse.

"The Arrival of Josie." (Vitagraph. Wed., July 15.)—The old familiar hut always laughable comic situation growing out of the arrival of a caricature of a stout, unsophisticated German girl in New York. Josie Sadler plays the girl in an exaggerated spirit of comedy.

"His Last Appeal." (Selig. Two reels. Wed., July 15.)—A capable cast makes up in some measure for the deficiencies of this plot, dealing with the life of a young man who has served a prison term, gets a fresh start, and in the end saves his innocent friend from the death-chair hy forging the Governor's signature. Suspense is aroused by the crude expedient of contrasted scenes, the outcome of one depending upon the other. But the outcome is already known to everyone in the audience. Suspense without surprise is fatal.

"Codes of Honor." (Lubin. Two reels. Wed., July 15.)—Again the story of a reformed life after a prison term, and the action of a hlackmailer. In this particular film it is a woman who has started life anew, raising up a child, and marrying a wealthy hanker. It is remarkahle how well persons released from prison seem to get along in motion pictures. Nevertheless, there is a strong conflict of emotions which gives the players a chance to express their art hy more than stage business.

"The Cross of Crime." (Luhin. Two reels. Thurs., July 16.)—Another of those stories in which a man after serving a prison term goes to a new country, hecomes successful and wealthy after a lapse of years, and then is hounded to his death hy an old associate. In spite of the evident improbahilities of the plot, the actors manage to make it an ahsorhing presentation of a well used theme.

"The Crayfish." (Pathé. Split reel. Mon., July 20.)—On the same reel with "In French Guinea." A worthy educational taken under the supervision of Dr. Commandon in France. This half reel shows the habits of crayfish.

"In French Guinea." (Pathé. Split reel. Mon., July 20.)—On the same reel with "The Crayfish." Part of this picture was taken from the very front of an engine, and due to this a fine stereoptic effect has heen ohtained. The falls of the Santa add to the scenic value.

"A Badger Hunt." (Pathé. Split reel. Tues., July 21.)—On the same reel with "Life in Japan." The fox terriers are shown here hunting down the hadger. After quite a time they succeed in capturing him. All will enjoy this picture unless they mind seeing a suffering animal.

"Life in Japan." (Pathé. Split reel. Tues., July 21.)—On the same reel with "A Badger Hunt." The impressive ceremony which takes place once a year in Kioto, Japan, at which the Emperor or a representative attends, is portrayed in this half reel.

"The Last Assignment." (Edison. Sat., July 25.)—The last of the "Dolly of the Dailies," and a fitting finale to its many predecessors. Dolly returns to her home town and is received royally hy the mayor and the populace. She gives her father a check for three thousand with which he saves his bank from failure. James Malone, the managing editor of The Comet, is unahle to get along without Dolly, so he resigns his position and comes out after her. The picture closes with Dolly in Malone's arms.

"The Adventure of the Absent-Minded Professor." (Edison. Mon., July 20.)—One of the Octavius series. As usual Octavius detects the criminal, hut entirely hy mistake. The picture will furnish a lot of fun for young and old. Barry O'Moore continues his fine work as Octavius.

"Caryl of the Mountains." (Selig. Wed., July 18.)—The cast: Kathlyn Williams, Thomas Santschi, Roy Watson and Harry Lonsdale. An ahsorbing drama in which Jim, a timher cruiser, prevents the father of a mountain maiden from joining the moonshiners' gang, and later marries the girl.

UNIVERSAL PROGRAM

"The Man of Her Choice." (Powers. Fri., Aug. 7.)—Francis Ford and Grace Cunard, used to playing shipwrecked roles, are cast on a desert island. Not much acting appears in the picture as it shows mainly how to suhsist when cast ashore. The fiancee of the rich man learns to love his hutler hetter than him, himself, when she discovers what a lot he can do.

"Tango Versus Poker." (Eclair. Sun., July 19.)—An antiquated comedy but amusing. The wife goes out for a tango lesson and the hushand holds a poker session. Both are found out and the hushand gets the worst of it.

"By the Sun's Rays." (Nestor. July 22.)—An old plot, hut the novel manner in which it is worked makes it interesting. Detective Murdock is sent to apprehend handits operating in the West, which he does after a numher of exciting experiences. The handits signal to each other by mirror, whence the title. The picture will appeal more to the lovers of the Western, than to others.

"Universal Boy Series, No. 2." (Imp. Thurs., July 30.)—A highly entertaining reel. Matty, the hoy, in company with his aunt visits Brighton Beach, meets Barney Oldfield, the great auto racer and Lincoln Beachy, the aviator. These two gentlemen are shown in action. He then attends the reception at Oyster Bay in honor of the return of Theodore Roosevelt. After this he meets Oscar Hammerstein who agrees to give him a try-out. He is seen impersonating Ford Sterling, King Baggot in "Ahsinthe," and Gertrude Hoffman. Very clever impersonations.

"When Romance Came to Anne." (Imp-Two Reels. Mon., July 27.)—A farmer bachelor, a character played by William Morse, marries Anne simply hecause he needs a wife. She was formerly a drudge and cared nothing ahout her looks. After the marriage she hegins to make herself appear pretty. Her hushand does not notice her until others do, and then he falls in love with her. Gwendolyn Pates plays the wife. This is a very pleasant drama worked out in an unusual manner. Bits of humor appear throughout the two reels which add to its attractiveness.

"When Memory Recalls." (Frontier. Sun., July 26.)—Joe Franz plays the heavy lead and Dolly Larkin appears in the principal feminine role. Joe enters a ranchman's house intending to rob him. He finds his wife and when the ranchman enters poses as her lover. The wife is deserted hy her husband due to the outlaw's words, and loses her memory. At the sight of Joe, who is robhing another house, her memory is restored. Joe confesses that he lied. This picture is alive with action and commands the closest attention from start to finish.

"Their Parents' Kids." (Crystal. Split reel. Tues., July 28.)—On the same reel with "Charlie's Toothache." A widower and a widow love each other, hut neither wish to let the other know that they have grown children. They dress them up as youngsters. The scheme works for a time hut they tire of heing young and a double wedding ensues. Vivian Prescott plays the lead.

"Charlie's Toothache." (Crystal. Split reel. Tues., July 28.)—On the same reel with "Their Parents' Kids." None of the usual and unusual contrivances can extract Charlie's tooth, hut when he gets in a fight out it comes. Charlie DeForrest furnishes all the amusement.

"The Tangle." (Powers. Fri., July 31.)—This is an odd drama and at times most confusing. It is hard to enjoy hecause of this fact. Grace Cunard and Francis Ford head the cast. The spectator is led to helieve that two murders have heen committed when, in reality, none occur. The story has a peaceful ending.

"The Circus." (Sterling. Mon., July 20.)—The adventures of a country ruhe at the circus, ending with a free-for-all fight, create a roar of laughter throughout the reel. Ford Sterling himself does not appear. The photography is slightly helow standard.

Universal Ike, Jr., in "Cupid's Victory." (Universal Ike. Tues., July 21.)—Ike has a hard time getting married. His efforts are quite comical, but he at last succeeds. Robert Fuehrer and Louise Glaum play the leads.

MUTUAL PROGRAM

"The Substitute." (Thanhouser. Two reels. Tues., July 14.)—Mrs. Sinclair loses her mind after the death of her daughter. The doctor suhstitutes a girl from prison. The girl's old partner in crime tries to induce her to rob the house hut she refuses and hands him over to the police. Mrs. Sinclair learns of the deception, hut is just as happy. This is an ahsorhing drama and well produced. Mignon Anderson plays the leading role.

"The Painted Lady." (Majestic. Two reels. Sun., July 19.)—An excellent drama with Blanche Sweet and Dorothy Gish playing the leads. It is exceptionally appealing and all will enjoy it. Through the efforts of her older sister Kitty is made to realize the utter worthlessness of the man she thought she loved. She then induces her to return home.

"The Vengeance of Gold." (Reliance. Two reels. Sun., July 19.)—Mary Alden, Ralph Lewis and Vester Pegg appear in the principal parts. A fine drama of a marriage for money which turned to he a failure. Jim, the cast-off lover, makes a success of life and hecomes rich. The man who was once wealthy fails and then rohs Jim. Later he dies in the desert, and Jim marries the girl.

"A Man's Way." (American. Two reels. Mon., July 20.)—Beautiful scenes mark this ahsorhing story played hy Harry Von Meter and Vivian Rich. The amhitious mining engineer forgets his career and marries a girl of the mountains. He is content for a while hut later hecomes dissatisfied and leaves her. The two are reunited due to the great self-denial of an admirer and former sweetheart of the man's.

"The Pendulum of Fate." (Thanhouser. Two reels. Tues., July 21.)—Outside of one improhahle event, that of a woman passing through a crowded parlor without heing noticed, this picture is fairly well staged. The Thanhouser twins, Marion and Madeline Fairbanks, play important parts. One of two sisters marries below her station and is lost from the family. Years later her daughter meets the daughter of the other sister.

Our Mutual Girl, No. 27. (Reliance. Mon., July 0).—Margaret's maid hreaking a mirror leads to a visit to the fortune teller in the Metropolitan Tower. Nothing definite is learned hy the visit. Later Margaret ascends the Postal Telegraph Tower, and from there views Sandy Hook and New York. The scenario for this reel was furnished hy Arthur James. Those who are not familiar with New York scenes will find the picture enjoyahle.

"Izzy and the Diamond." (Reliance. Wed., July 22.)—Quite a pretty little comedy with Max Davidson, Miriam Cooper and Arthur Macklay in the leading parts. Izzy is a diamond merchant's clerk and is accused by his employer of making off with a diamond, hut it develops that his employer had mislaid it. A numher of laughs in this reel.

"Bill Squares It with His Boss." (Komic. Sun., July 19.)—The second of the "Bill" series and an excellent offering. "Tammany" Young continues in the role of Bill. Fay Tincher creates a laugh whenever she appears as the "stenog." Tod Browning plays the boss. Bill means well and attempts to straighten out his boss' love affairs but makes matters worse.

"The Veteran's Sword." (Princess. Fri., July 17.)—Muriel Ostriche and Boyd Marshall play opposite. The acting of the other characters seems helow the standard. The story is an appealing one of an old soldier who parted with his sword in order to free a man from prison. Later it is returned to him.

"Lest We Forget." (Majestic. Fri., July 24.)—A simple drama, but at the same time one that will please. The clerk of the firm takes some money to aid the stenographer's blind mother. His employer is on the point of arresting him when he recalls his childhood and the time that his own mother became blind hecause no money was forthcoming for the operation, and he changes his mind, aiding the woman himself.

"THE MAN ON THE BOX"

(Lasky—Five Reels)

REVIEWED BY WILLIAM RESSMAN ANDREWS

HAROLD MacGRATH'S novel lends itself well to picturization, and the director has taken advantage of his opportunities. The opening scenes, laid on the vast plains of the West, thrill the audience with swift action, while the latter parts of the play create perpetual amusement by the humorous complications resulting from the hero's impersonation of a coachman.

Max Figman plays the principal male role, Lieut. Bob Warburton, the wealthy adventurer, whose restless soul sent him searching excitement in Indian fighting on the frontier. Mr. Figman rendered the spontaneous gaiety and reckless daring of the character with comprehension of the requirements of the part.

In the principal female lead, Lolita Robertson interprets the impulsive heroine, Betty Annesley, with the surety of complete understanding in a difficult role.

The acting of James Neil as Colonel Annesley reminds one of the masterly conception of this player's impressive work ten years ago in the James Neil Stock Company, which, with Edythe Chapman in the female leads, created a large following in all the principal cities of the Pacific coast and continually played to packed houses.

Numerous spectacular scenes, consisting of an exciting cavalry charge over the brow of a steep hill, a desperate battle with redskins at a stockade gate and the attack of a settler's wagon train by a bloodthirsty band of savages, show clear lighting effects and deep perspective. The pictures are noticeable for their distinctness, due to the rarified Western atmosphere in which the scenes were photographed.

A novel method of flashing the cast of characters on the screen warrants a tribute to the ingenuity of the producing staff. A coach drives up and stops against the curbstone. As each player opens the door and descends to the sidewalk a footman announces the actor through a megaphone. As the name is spoken, white letters, conspicuous against the contrasting black background of the vehicle, issue from the little end of the horn until the name is spelled in full.

Bob Warburton, a lieutenant in a Western regiment, is wounded in a brush with marauding Indians, and receives medical aid in the house of Colonel Annesley. His recovery is effected about the time his term of service expires. The beauty of the colonel's daughter Betty aroused all his romantic enthusiasm, and in order to be near her he represents himself as a penniless wanderer in need of a position. Betty, not knowing his real circumstances, the scion of a wealthy house prevails upon her father to engage him as the family coachman, which he loses no time in accepting.

"HE LOOKS LIKE ME"

After numerous tangled situations, likely to be caused by the action of an irrepressible young man deeply in love, his identity is discovered, and the couple are married.

"THE EAGLE'S REFUGE"

(Milano—Three Reels)

REVIEWED BY PETER MILNE

THIS picture, taken in the heart of Switzerland in the region of Lake Saint Moritz, contains probably some of the most beautiful natural scenes ever filmed. As a scenic itself it deserves to be ranked with the foremost of the day. Large mountains covered with snow, although many miles from the camera, are perhaps the first thing that catch the eye of the observer. The winter sports that the pleasure seekers indulge in in this far-off land are most picturesque. A slight glimpse of a skiing contest is afforded, and skating and sleighing parties appear in abundance.

OFF FOR "THE EAGLE'S REFUGE"

An event seldom pictured on the screen or brought into a picture in any manner is an avalanche. The villain of the story, or rather one who was a villain, but is later considered a hero, is waiting in Eagle's Nest for a visit from his love. A large snow slide can be seen to hit the small cabin and almost knock it over. The telephone connection is cut off, and through a short circuit the house catches fire, and before the rescue party arrives he is dead.

A clever burglar poses as a marquis at a hotel in Switzerland. It is discovered that he is the thief but he makes his escape. Previously he had fallen in love with the fiancée of another resident of the hotel. He attempts to see her once more, which results in his tragic death.

If you want to know how to keep your theatre seats in repair in the most economical manner, and where to buy those that cost the least in maintenance, be sure to read

The Equipment Number

OF

The Motion Picture News

TO BE ISSUED UNDER DATE OF AUGUST 15

How much do you pay?

in one year for repairs to the various equipment in your theatre. It is an item worthy of consideration. Basing the cost upon an approximate estimate of $400 a year per theatre, The Motion Picture News has set about compiling a vast amount of valuable editorial material. It includes the economical maintenance of equipment as its chief feature, and with a great number of other subjects of almost equal importance.

This material will appear in

The Equipment Number

To be published on August 15th under the auspices of The Buyers' Service Department of

The Motion Picture News

Pennsylvania and Ohio Censors Attack "John Barleycorn" Film

(Continued from page 20)

The fact that Ohio is on the eve of the greatest wet and dry campaign in its history, renders the clash acute. Constitutional amendments to wipe out county regulatory laws introduced by the "wets" and for state prohibition by the "drys," will be voted on in November.

Temperance People Approve

When the "John Barleycorn" film was run off before the censors they ordered all scenes of barrooms and carousals cut to a flash of not over three seconds' duration.

This brought a protest from Hobart Bosworth, Inc., producer of the film, and E. K. Gordon was dispatched post haste to Columbus.

Mr. Gordon found the censors obdurate. So he carried his case to the temperance folk, explaining that the film was "a vivid portrayal of the drink evil and a temperance proposition."

For their benefit he staged an exhibition of the film in the Eastwood Congregational Church. The audience consisted of representatives of the Anti-saloon League, W. C. T. U. women and preachers. They all agreed that the film taught a great moral lesson and should run uncensored.

Anti-saloon Man Takes Son

Wayne B. Wheeler, Ohio superintendent of the Anti-saloon League, took his little son to the show. He argued afterward that the barroom scenes were not immoral in effect and illustrated his point by his son. "I asked him what he thought of the little boy who was drunk in the saloon, and he said he wouldn't want to drink because it made the boy so sick," said Wheeler.

Rev. W. H. Miller, of the Gift Street Methodist Episcopal Church, pointed out that while the ministers all wished it understood that they were strongly opposed to drinking scenes generally, the object lesson of the pictures of "John Barleycorn" far eclipsed the objectionable features.

Rev. J. F. Grimes, of the Mount Vernon Avenue Methodist Episcopal Church, said that the drinking scenes were necessary in order to portray the demoralizing effects of liquor.

A W. C. T. U. speaker asserted there were objectionable pictures shown in Columbus theatres every day. For example, she said, that within two days she had seen in local theatres four murders, two suicides, two instances of a man promising to marry a girl and later refusing, numerous grewsome accidents and innumerable drinking scenes.

Bert Gill, who was a saloon keeper until Billy Sunday converted him, and who now heads a religious organization known as the Tabernacle Workers League, told the temperance workers all the barroom scenes were true to life and that the views of drunken little children were not ovedrawn.

Temperance Folk See Censor

Following the exhibition in the church a committee representing the temperance folk waited on the censors. They were received, listened to and then told that the censor board would not change its records.

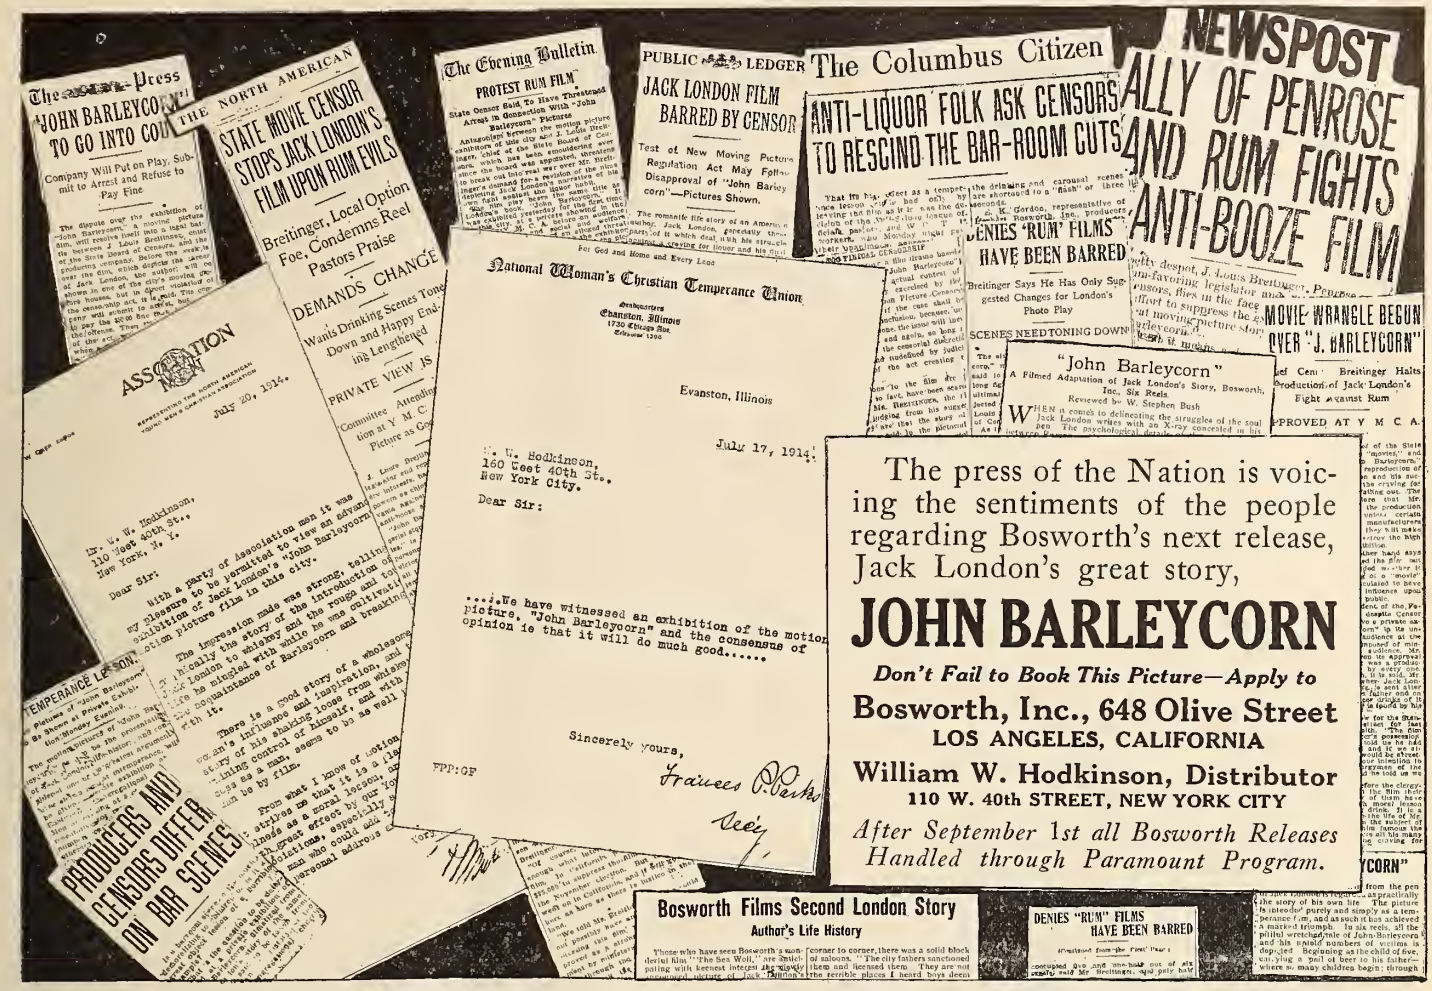
Mrs. Maude Murray Miller, censor, asserted that the cuts made in the picture in no way destroyed its effectiveness, but only removed some disgusting scenes not necessary to the story.

Mr. Gordon, representing the producer, on the other hand, says the cuts made by the censors take the "punch" out of the film and make it worthless as a temperance proposition, and practically worthless as a commercial proposition in Ohio.

Majority Approve Film

Gordon says that censor boards all over the country have passed the "Barleycorn" film without a cut except in Ohio and Pennsylvania. He says the producers were offered money by the liquor interests to suppress the films in all states in which wet and dry fights were imminent.

"But," says Gordon, "I believe the Ohio censors are sincere. I don't think they know actual conditions in saloons, however."



As matters stand now, "John Barleycorn" will be shown in Ohio with "flash" carousal scenes or it won't legally be shown at all.

It is understood that the producer will appeal to the governor from the decision of the censors.

H. F. Busey.

A Motion Picture News representative called upon W. W. Hodkinson, who controls the world's rights to the Jack London film "John Barleycorn," for an expression of opinion regarding the action of the Philadelphia censor. Louis Breitinger, in refusing William E. Smith, of the Famous Players Exchange, handling the Bosworth films in Philadelphia, permission to release the "John Bar-

(Continued from page 66)

Motiograph Satisfaction

What is there about the MOTIOGRAPH that makes MOTIOGRAPH owners so loyal, so enthusiastic? You will have to admit their feeling is different, unusual, remarkable, compared with the Exhibitors satisfaction with other make machines. NOW WHY? The answer is worth knowing if you are seeking the best machine made. Talk with a hundred MOTIOGRAPH owners using the different models from the beginning many years ago. They will all tell you:

> "My Motiograph runs always; I can always depend on it. Such a thing as a machine failing to run or break down or wear out, never enters my mind. From what my friends tell me, I know it costs me less to run and maintain my Motiograph than they pay out for the machines of other makes, and I notice they all come to see my machine in operation when they want to buy, and will ask 'Will you buy another Motiograph?' Yes, when I buy my next machine, but I'm not in any hurry about it; my Motiograph is as sound and serviceable as any machine on the market to-day, regardless of its several years' service."

That is what Motiograph users will tell you if you ask them. After all that is what you want to buy—Satisfaction—No matter what you have in mind to spend, put in Motiograph Satisfaction, and you will get your money's worth.

WRITE FOR CATALOGUE

THE ENTERPRISE OPTICAL MANUFACTURING CO.

Eastern Office 21 E. 14th St., New York, N. Y. — 564 W. RANDOLPH STREET, CHICAGO, ILL. — Western Office 833 Market St., San Francisco, Cal.

PENNSYLVANIA AND OHIO CENSORS ATTACK "JOHN BARLEYCORN" FILM

(Continued from page 64)

leycorn" picture for exhibition at the Stanley Theatre and elsewhere.

Mr. Hodkinson, it was learned, had departed for the Pacific Coast a few days before, but his representative, Mrs. J. S. Johnson, said:

Grave Injustice to Everybody

"On the question of censorship in general, I should not care to make any statement either for or against it, but concerning 'John Barleycorn,' the censors who have refused to pass this picture have perpetrated an injustice upon every person who would thereby be debarred from seeing the picture. The reasons are found in the film itself.

"The very first scene in the picture —a tiny child carrying a pail of beer— applies to legions of children to-day. In the poorer neighborhoods of our great cities it is a very common spectacle. Need anyone ask what the impression upon that child's mind, the memory and influence of these degrading influences will have?

"Next, we see the child of seven, compelled by a man to drink, just to see how much he can drink. And have we not in our cities abundant evidence of men of this type standing around saloon corners and wilfully teaching evil to the little boys, simply to jest at the results upon their innocent victims?

"Then take the newsboy. He must offer his papers wherever men congregate, and again we find our boy in a saloon with a man forcing beer upon him for amusement.

Boy Dislikes Liquor

"The remarkable thing about this particular boy is that he always disliked the taste of liquor, yet it is impossible for him to escape contact with it. And a little later, when he first begins to associate with men, he is forced to prove his worthiness, according to the standards of his companions, by drinking with them as long as they drank. Doesn't the same condition confront thousands of the youth of our land to-day?

"We follow our somewhat unusual boy to the point where, of his own accord, he, in disgust, resigns his position as fish inspector to get away from drink and drinking companions. The first spark of inspiration lights his darkened mind, and he begins to seek better companions, to study, and later to write. Even in these surroundings, he meets 'John Barleycorn' at every turn. He needs money. A bartender lends it to him; he goes on a day's outing, and meeting old companions, returns home intoxicated, to the horror of his sweetheart. Later, first success as an author comes; he celebrates it with drink, and later still, as the successful author of national reputation he finds liquors on the tables of his wealthy and cultured hosts and at the exclusive clubs of which he becomes a member.

Strong Lesson for Temperance

"At a later stage, we find the boyman in his own home, in bondage to the appetite for drink, fighting against hope to save his very life.

"From the first reel to the last, 'John Barleycorn' portrays the evils of intemperance. Its every scene is a silent, potent plea to the spectator for temperance. Every scene is an equally potent plea against the saloon. We know the saloon does not like the picture because the California liquor interests offered Bosworth, Inc., $25,000 to suppress the film until after their fall elections, and would have increased the offer to secure its suppression in several other states. The Y. M. C. A. officials, the national W. C. T. U., the Anti-Saloon League and many ministers of the gospel have seen the picture and approved it, because the film would exercise a powerful influence for right living.

Powerful Uplift Story

"These very facts in themselves tell a graphic story. We have intemperance and its nameless vices lined up in opposition to the honor and honesty and progress of sober men.

"When a board of censors refuses to pass a film of this extraordinary character and influence, there remains small choice of inference, the most charitable of which is either the indifference of the censor, or lack of knowledge and sympathy with the conditions about him."

CENSORS PRAISE ESSANAY FILMS

The National Board of Censorship recently viewed the Essanay single-reel comedy, "The Fable of the Higher Education," one of the George Ade series.

The National Board, in its report, not only passed it with the word "good," testifying to its dramatic entertaining and instructive qualities, but took occasion to add under the head of remarks, "A real comedy."

"This shows the sort of comedies that Essanay is putting out," was the laconic comment of a member of the company.

ROSSMAN MANAGER FOR NEW YORK THEATRE

Earl Rossman, a former newspaper man recently engaged by Wililam Morris as business manager of the New York Theatre, has been for the past two years in the picture and theatrical business. Having grasped the picture end of the profession rapidly, he was engaged as manager of one of Brooklyn's leading theatres.

Mr. Morris, aware of Rossman's experience, engaged him for the position he now retains.

Sam Barnett, of San Francisco Warner feature office, has succeeded M. E. Kreiger, as manager of the Los Angeles branch.

ALL STAR FEATURES

LEW DOCKSTADTER
in "Dan"
By Hal Reid Five Acts

—IN AUGUST—
ETHEL BARRYMORE
in "The Nightingale"
By Augustus Thomas Five Acts

—IN SEPTEMBER—
James A. Herne's
SHORE ACRES
Five Acts

All Star Feature Corp.
220 West 42nd Street New York

Notice: Musicians

Be a Leader
and get the big money as a
Vaudeville Orchestra
Leader at $25 to $75 a week

I give personal attention to all inquiries. Ask for our special offer.

TEEVIN'S CORRESPONDENCE SCHOOL
Orpheum Theatre Bldg.
Grand Rapids - Mich.

ANIMATED SONGS

¶ Motion pictures that move to the rhythm of the songs. They do not require costly mechanism. Motion pictures full of life and action that accompany the human voice. The song story is visualized—not with the old fashioned conventional slides—but with life-like motion pictures, containing continuity and all of the necessary conditions found in first-class film playlets. In fact, each song film is a photoplay in miniature.

If They Are Good Enough for—
KEITH'S, PROCTOR'S, LOEW'S, BROADWAY, NEW YORK, HERALD SQUARE, CIRCLE, HURTIG & SEAMON'S, MINER'S
Theatres in New York; and
M'VICKER'S, CROWN, OAK PARK, WINDSOR, MARLOWE, PLAZA, MONROE, CENTURY, LINCOLN, CRYSTAL
Theatres in Chicago—Are They Good Enough For YOU?
You Furnish the Singer—We Furnish the Song. (VOCALISTS WANTED.)
IMPERIAL MOTION PICTURE CO. OF NEW YORK, Inc., 1476 BROADWAY, N. Y.

Bring Suit to Stop Theatre Construction

Philadelphia Property Owners Seek Injunction—No Objection Made to Another House in the Same Block 500 Feet Away.

Special to The Motion Picture News

Philadelphia, July 23.

SUIT has been started in the Philadelphia courts to enjoin Jacob Kahn and Joseph Greenberg, owners of the property at 2309 North Broad street, from building a motion picture theatre on that site.

Adolph Mark, who owns the adjoining property, is the complainant. Mark avers that the original deed to the property obtained by Kahn and Greenberg contains a proviso that neither the property nor the ground shall be used for any "offensive occupation." He contends that a motion picture theatre constitutes "offensive occupation."

The theatre, which is to be called the Blue Bird, has been projected for about a year and the property was purchased last fall. It is only within the last few weeks, however, that bids have been invited on the plans.

If precedent plays any part in the ultimate decision of the judges before whom the case is argued, the injunction will not be granted, because this same firm went through a similar experience before being allowed to build what is now one of South Philadelphia's handsomest picture theatres, the Plaza.

At that time an adjoining property owner contended that a "picture show" next door would be a nuisance, but the court rules that as the theatre had not been built at the time the case was argued that it could not be proven a nuisance. The point here was that the theatre would have to prove itself to be a nuisance after operation before the judge would consider the matter.

IT is interesting to note that another theatre is to be built in the same block as the Blue Bird, some 500 feet further up the street. The title to the property at 2253 North Broad street has been taken by Louis H. Cohan for the Central Theatre Company from Morris L. Miller and the De Long estate.

The lot is 40x157 feet and has frontage both on Broad and on Dauphin streets. The assessed valuation is $30,500 and Morris L. Miller has taken a mortgage of $30,000 on the entire lot. The theatre will have a capacity of 1,200 seats and the location is ideal from a building point of view, as Dauphin street slopes away from Broad street at this point in a natural grade which will allow the side exits to be flush with the street level.

In the rear is a private alley about five feet wide which can also be used for exit purposes.

With the above two theatres completed the central northern section of the city will be well taken care of by the picture theatres. There are now four theatres of 300 to 500 seating capacity within two to ten blocks of the Broad street locations. Of the present theatres two have been built within the past year and one was completed fifteen months ago. All are doing normal summer business.

The Golgate Film Exchange Incorporated, has bought the Pacific Coast rights to "The Toll of Mammon," the feature of the Excelsior Feature Film Company, Inc., for the states of California, Oregon and Washington.

False Economy

is a pardonable sin. But this is only a temporary concession.

You will have no excuse for spending beyond a minimum sum each year for repairs to equipment, and in the purchase of new theatre necessities after you have read

The Equipment Number

to be issued on August 15, under the auspices of The Buyers' Service Department of

The Motion Picture News

"American" Motion Picture Cameras

AT THE FRONT

Our famous Improved No. 2 Camera on the firing line at "Vera Cruz."

"AMERICAN" products are always with the Advance Guard. The world's most important motion pictures are taken with "AMERICAN" CAMERAS.

Agents for AGFA and GEVAERT Raw Motion Picture Film.

Send for Catalogue C.

American Cinematograph Co.

617-631 W. Jackson Blvd., Chicago, Ill.

DEVELOPING AND PRINTING

carefully done for professionals and amateurs. The largest factory in the world devoted exclusively to

Manufacturing Commercial Moving Pictures

Prices and factory description sent at your request

INDUSTRIAL MOVING PICTURE CO.

Watterson R. Rothacker, Gen. Mgr. 223-233 West Erie Street, Chicago

INQUIRE FOR OPEN TERRITORY ON

"THE TOLL OF MAMMON"

IN FOUR PARTS

EXCELSIOR FEATURE FILM COMPANY, INC., 110 WEST 40th STREET, NEW YORK

The ALBUQUERQUE FILM MFG. CO., Inc.

RELEASING THROUGH

Warner's Features, Inc.

FEATURING

Miss Dot Farley

IN FEATURE STORIES WRITTEN AND ACTED BY HER.

PRODUCED UNDER THE DIRECTION OF

GILBERT P. HAMILTON

Past Releases

"First Law of Nature"
"The Trail of the Law"
"A Web of Fate"
"The Course of Justice"
"The Unwritten Justice"
"The Daughter of the Tribe"

Ready for Release

"The Lust of the Red Man"
The greatest Indian Story ever produced.
"The Toll of the Warpath"
"The Price of Crime"
Undoubtedly the greatest three-reel subject of the year.
"False Pride Has a Fall"

OTHER GREAT PRODUCTIONS IN COURSE OF CONSTRUCTION AT THEIR

WESTERN STUDIO
406 Court St., Los Angeles, Calif.

"LUPIN"

(Pasquali-American Company, Inc.—Three Reels)

REVIEWED BY J. BURROUGHS NOELL

SINCE the days when Kyrle Bellew smoked the cigarette with such an amusingly lackadaisical air, Raffles and gentlemen burglars under other names have exerted an undiminishing fascination over us.

For the reason that it puts this type of character upon the screen, if for no other reason, this picture, released July 21, deserves commendation. But there are other things that distinguish it. First of all, the acting is of a high-class and finished order. Leo Ragusi in the role of Lupin is a worthy successor to the line of actors who have achieved fame in parts that portray this type. His delineation is polished; his facial play is masterly. Nilde Bruno as Mrs. Josette Percy and G. Majone Diaz render satisfactory support to the leading player. The settings are fully in keeping with the demands of the plot, with costly, handsomely furnished interiors, a museum of Egyptian antiquities that would fool an Orientalist, and clear-cut, well-defined exterior scenes.

The plot is the least satisfactory part of the production. This is not because we have had too many stories dealing with this type of character. As a matter of fact, the subject matter seems singularly fresh and varied. But thinking of this plot alone, without reference to any other, too much of it is anticipated by the spectator. Toward the end of the third reel, the action is somewhat obscured. Lupin has everything necessary for his escape, even to a waiting taxi-cab, when there seems no need for flight.

Mr. Ragusi redeems this to some extent by "farcing" the character. The hint of this is given at the beginning of the picture, when he makes foppish preparations for departure from prison.

"THE LOVE VICTORIOUS"

REVIEWED BY PETER MILNE

(Gold Seal—Three Reels)

AN allegorical drama, and a high-class picture of this variety with Cleo Madison, George Larkin and Ed Sloman playing the leading parts. Miss Madison appears as Woman, Mr. Larkin as the Spirit of Good and Ed Sloman as the Spirit of Evil. A large cast ably supports the three principals, of which Ray Hanford, William Dale, Charles Hickman, Jean Hathaway and Mrs. Mae E. Benson are the most important. They all impersonate different vices and virtues.

The story is woven about Woman, who is lured away from her simple home by the Spirit of Evil. She sinks lower and lower in the scale of life, but is rescued at the last moment by the Spirit of Good, who has done his best to turn her from the wicked path throughout the picture.

Naturally with such a story the picture cannot very well help being a success with the people who enjoy such subjects. The success of the picture really depends on the acting, and here it is very good. The scenes are all realistic and staged to good effect.

"FOURTH" PICTURES SHOWN IN FORTY-EIGHT HOURS

Special to THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS.

Philadelphia, July 23.

THE H. B. B. Motion Picture Mfg. Company have scored another scoop by releasing the pictures of the "First National Fourth of July" in their weekly within forty-eight hours after the events recorded had happened. This celebration was held in Independence Hall and Square, Philadelphia, and the leading speaker was President Woodrow Wilson. He was accompanied by the governors of the Thirteen Original States and other National, State and Civic Dignataries. The pictures were taken Saturday, July 4, morning and afternoon, and were released on Monday, July 6 at noon.

What Do You Need?

LISTING IN THE BUYERS' GUIDE, FOR NAME AND ADDRESS, INCLUDING ONE YEAR'S SUBSCRIPTION TO THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS—$8.00 A YEAR, CASH IN ADVANCE. FREE TO ADVERTISERS USING $100.00 OR MORE WORTH OF DISPLAY SPACE DURING THE YEAR. ADDRESS ADVERTISING DEPARTMENT

ANNOUNCEMENT SLIDES

Niagara Slide Co., Lockport, N. Y.

ASBESTOS BOOTHS

Sharlow Bros., 442 W. 42nd St., New York.

COSTUMERS

Miller-Costumier, 236 South 11th St., Philadelphia, Pa.

DEVELOPING TANKS

A. J. Corcoran, Inc., 9½ John St., New York.

ELECTRIC LIGHTING SETS

The Chas. A. Strelinger Co., Box P-2, Detroit, Mich.

FILMS

(Manufacturers, Dealers and Renters)

American Film Mfg. Co., Chicago, Ill.
Thomas A. Edison, Inc., 275 Lakeside Ave., Orange, N. J.
Essanay Film Mfg. Co., First National Bank Bldg., Chicago, Ill.
General Film Co., 200 Fifth Ave., New York.
George Kleine, 166 N. State St., Chicago, Ill.
Lubin Mfg. Co., Philadelphia, Pa.
G. Melies, 204 E. 38th St., New York.
Mutual Film Corp., 71 W. 23rd St., New York.
New York Motion Picture Corp., Longacre Bldg., New York.
Pathé Freres, 1 Congress St., Jersey City, N. J.
Renfax Film Co., Inc., 110 W. 40th St., N. Y.
Selig Polyscope Co., Chicago, Ill.
Thanhouser Film Corp., New Rochelle N. Y.
Universal Film Mfg. Co., 1600 Broadway, N. Y.

FILM ACCESSORIES

Berlin Aniline Works, 213 Water St., N. Y.

FILM TITLES, PRINTING, DEVELOPING, ETC.

Commercial Motion Pictures Co., Inc., 220 W. 42d St., New York.
Centaur Film Co., 670-682 Ave. E, Bayonne, N. J.
Evans Film Mfg. Co., 412-22 W. 216th St., at Broadway, New York.
Gunby Bros., Inc., 145 W. 45th St., New York.
Harvard Film Corporation, 231-233 Tenth Ave., New York.
Industrial Moving Picture Co., 223-233 W. Erie St., Chicago.
Standard Motion Picture Co., 5 S. Wabash Ave., Chicago.

FILM REELS

Lang Mfg. Works, Olean, N. Y.
Taylor-Shantz Company, 224 Mill St., Rochester, N. Y.

FURNITURE AND FURNISHING ON RENTAL

William Birns, 103-105 West 37th St., N. Y.

FEATURE FILMS

Aetna Film Co., Longacre Bldg., New York.
The Alhuquerque Film Mfg. Co., Inc., 406 Court St., Los Angeles, Calif.
All Star Feature Corp., 220 W. 42nd St., N. Y.
Ambrosio American Co., 15 E. 26th St,. N. Y.
Bosworth, Inc., 648 Olive St., Los Angeles, Cal.
Box Office Attraction Film Rental Co., 130 W. 46th St., New York.
A. Blinkhorn, 110 W. 40th St., New York.
California Motion Picture Corp., San Francisco, Cal.
Cosmofotofilm Co., 110 W. 40th St., New York.
Direct-From-Broadway Features Co., 46 W. 24th St., New York.
Eclair Film Co., 126 W. 46th St., New York.
Eclectic Film Co., 110 W. 40th St., New York.
European Feature Film Co., 220 W. 42nd St., New York.
Features Ideal, 126 W. 46th St., New York.
Feature Photoplay Co., 220 W. 42nd St., N. Y.
Famous Players Film Co., 213-229 W. 26th St., New York.
Films Lloyds, Inc., 220 W. 42nd St., N. Y.
General Film Co., 200 Fifth Ave., New York.
General Feature Film Co., Powers Bldg., Chicago, Ill.
Gaumont Co., 110 W. 40th St., New York.
Gloria American Co., 110 W. 40th St., N. Y.
Greene's Feature Photo Plays, Inc., 110 W. 40th St., New York.
W. W. Hodkinson, 110 W. 40th St., New York.
Imperial Motion Picture Co. of N. Y., Inc., 1476 Broadway, N. Y.
Italian American Film Corp., 1482 Broadway, New York.
Inter-Continent Film Co., 110 W. 40th St., New York.
George Kleine Attractions, 166 N. State St., Chicago, Ill.
New York Office: 1476 Broadway.
Jesse L. Lasky Feature Play Co., Longacre Theatre, New York.
Lea-Bel Company, 912 Schiller Bldg., Chicago.
Leading Players Film Corp., 126 W. 46th St., New York.
Life Photo Film Corp., 220 W. 42d St., N. Y.
Mecca Feature Film Co., Inc., 126 W. 46th St., New York.
Mohawk Film Co., Times Bldg., New York.
Mundstuck Features, 909 Longacre Bldg., N. Y.
Pan-American Film Co., 110 W. 40th St., N. Y.
Paramount Pictures Corp., 110 W. 40th St., New York
Pasquali American Co., 110 W. 40th St., N. Y.
Phoenix Feature Film Corp., 164 Federal St., Boston, Mass.
Photo Play Production Co., 220 W. 42nd St., New York.
Playgoers Film Co., Lyric Theatre, New York.
Popular Plays and Players Co., 1600 Broadway, New York.
Progress Film Co., 110 W. 40th St., New York.
Progressive Motion Picture Corp., Times Bldg., New York.
Ramo Films, Inc., Columbia Theatre Bldg., New York.
Rolands Feature Film Co., 145 W. 45th St., New York.
A. H. Sawyer, Inc., 1600 Broadway, New York.
Stellar Photoplay Co., 1476 Broadway, N. Y.
Sterling Camera & Film Co., 145 W. 45th St., New York.
Solax Co., Fort Lee, N. J.
Union Features, 126 W. 46th St., New York.
Unique Film Co., Inc., 110 W. 40th St., N. Y.
Universal Film Mfg. Co., 1600 Broadway, N. Y.
University Films, Inc., 110 W. 40th St., N. Y.
Edw. H. Wagner, Agt., Dania Biofilm Co., 38 Park Place, New York.
World Film Corporation, 130 W. 46th St., New York.
Warner's Features, Inc., 130 W. 46th St., N. Y.

LANTERN SLIDE MATS AND REEL BANDS

Lantern Slide Mat Co., 627 Greenwich St., N. Y.

LABELS

Every Ready Roll Label Co., 203-7 W. 40th St., New York City.

LIGHTING PLANTS

Cushman Motor Works, Lincoln, Neb.

LOBBY PHOTOS

The Wyanoak Pub. Co., 136 52nd St., N. Y.

MOTION PICTURE MACHINES AND SUPPLIES

Amusement Supply Co., 160 E. North Fifth Ave., Chicago, Ill.
Calehuff Supply Co., 1301 Race St., Philadelphia, Pa.
Enterprise Optical Co., 568 W. Randolph St., Chicago, Ill.
Ernemann, 114 Fifth Ave., New York.
Lears Theatre Supply Co., Sam Lears, Prop., 509 Chestnut St., St. Louis, Mo.
Oliver Moving Picture Supply Co., 647 Euclid Ave., Cleveland, O.
Picture Theatre Equipment Co., 21 E. 14th St., New York.
Precision Machine Co., 317 E. 34th St., N. Y.
Nicholas Power Co., 90 Gold St., New York.
The Phantascope Mfg. Co., Washington, D. C.
Sweeley's Photo Supply House, 514-516 Erie Ave., Renova, Pa.
Williams, Brown & Earle, Inc., 916-918 Chestnut St., Philadelphia, Pa.

MOTION PICTURE APPARATUS

Burke & James, Inc., 240-258 E. Ontario St., Chicago, Ill.

MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS

Rudolph Wurlitzer Co., Cincinnati, O.
American Photoplayer Co., Berkeley, Calif.

NOVELTIES

Philip Hano, 806-810 Greenwich St., New York.

POSTER AND PICTURE FRAMES

Menger & Ring, 442 W. 42nd St., New York.

RAW FILM

Eastman Kodak Co., Rochester, N. Y.
Celluloses Planchon, Inc., 75 Fifth Ave., New York.
David Horsley, 1600 Broadway, N. Y.
Raw Film Supply Co., 15 E. 26th St., N. Y.

OPERA CHAIRS

The Hardesty Mfg. Co., Canal Dover, Ohio.
Steel Furniture Co., Grand Rapids, Mich.

PIPE ORGANS

Henry Pilcher's Sons, 914-920 Mason Ave., Louisville, Ky.
M. P. Moller, Hagerstown, Md.

PROJECTION LENSES

Bausch & Lomb Optical Co., 569 St. Paul St., Rochester, N. Y.

POSTERS

The Morgan Lithograph Co., Cleveland, Ohio.

REWINDERS AND GENERAL SUPPLIES

L. C. Smith Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

SCREENS

Atsco, Inc., 218 West 42nd St., New York.
Day & Night Screens, Inc., 291 Broadway, New York.
Mirror Screen Co., Inc., Shelbyville, Ind.

STEEL FILM EQUIPMENT FOR EXCHANGES AND MFRS.

Columbia Metal Box Co., 226-228 E. 144th St., New York.

THEATRE LOBBY FRAMES AND FIXTURES

Eagle Frame Co., 506 N. Carpenter St., Chicago, Ill.
Newman Mfg. Co., 715 Sycamore St., Cincinnati, O.

UNIFORMS

Fechheimer Bros., Union-made Uniforms, Cincinnati, O.

VENTILATION, COOLING AND HEATING

Typhoon Fan Co., 1544 Broadway, N. Y.

RIGHT OFF THE REEL

Thomas Santschi and Bessie Eyton, of Western Selig studio at Los Angeles, and a company are at the Catalina Islands for a three weeks stay. They will make marine pictures.

Manager Isadore Bernstein, of the Western Universal studios, is wearing a fine straw helmet, one of the souvenirs brought from Hawaii by the McRea 101 Bison Company, which has just completed a successful picture making trip.

The camels at the animal farm at Universal City (Calif.) were sheared recently—principally as a sanitary precaution, and the resulting camels' hair was sold for three hundred and fifty dollars.

In the Industrial parade, representing all the industries of Southern California, which took place a few days ago in Los Angeles and which was reviewed hy the Mayor, city officials and prominent men of the state, the Universal occupied the place of honor; the company's representation led the march. While more than one hundred industries were represented, those having the parade in charge felt that the Universal was the leading industry of the section. Several scenes were taken of the parade and will be incorporated in the Animated Weekly.

Jack Lystone, new director of Joker comedies, with Bess Meredyth as leading woman, and Ernest Shields as leading man, is now producing a slapstick entitled "The Third Party" at the West Coast studios.

Robert Brower, of Edison, has had the pleasure of riding in the Pullman "Federal," which is the private car that Colonel Roosevelt used in all his travels.

William Clifford, leading man of the Henry McRae 101 Bison Company, which has been in the Hawaiian Islands for the past four months, has arrived home. At four o'clock on June 28 Bill was presented with a bouncing baby daughter, weight nine pounds. Everybody fine and Bill proud as a peacock.

Ethel Clayton, of the Lubin Company, received a notification from the Onyx Club, who have branches throughout the southwest, that she was awarded second prize in their Photoplay Favorite contest. She received twenty-five thousand votes. This makes the fourth club contest in which the Lubin leading lady has competed and in all four she received first or second prize.

For the staging of "When the Heart Calls," a two-reel Imp drama, Herbert Brenon, director, needed certain styles of exterior settings. Informed that Stamford, Connecticut, or the country thereabouts, could furnish what was wanted, Herbert gathered his players and took them up there.

GET THE CROWD COMING YOUR WAY

You can increase your attendance and have everyone rooting for you.

It will cost you less than 1½ per cent of your gross.

WRITE FOR THE PLAN

In connection with our Photo Gelatine Reproductions we offer this week

Alice Joyce

22 x 28

LOBBY DISPLAY

One Single Tone - $ .50
One Hand Colored - 1.50

WYANOAK PUBLISHING CO.
136 West 52nd Street New York

KLEINE DETECTIVE HIT READY IN SEPTEMBER

"Judge Not," a four-part Kleine-Cines, is scheduled for release through the special feature department of the General Film Company early in September. This is the detective story which created such a furore in Europe recently. The plot centers about a prosecuting attorney, subject to spells of temporary mental aberration. In such a moment, he murders his dearest friend, a judge, and then tries an innocent man for the deed. How a scientist untangles the skeins of destiny, brings back memory, and establishes to the prosecuting attorney unquestioned proof of the latter's guilt, makes a story conspicuous for its dramatic action.

BRADY RELEASES IN FALL

The stars who are to be featured in a few of the William A. Brady picture plays are Thomas A. Wise, in his original role in "The Gentleman from Mississippi," Emma Dunn, in the part she first played in "Mother," Gail Kane in "The Family Cupboard," Wilton Lackaye in the character he originated in "The Pit," Robert Warwick in "The Dollar Mark," and Alice Brady in a play which had remarkable success in New York and throughout America, the identity of which will not be disclosed before New Year's.

These productions are completed at present, but releases, at the rate of one in each month, will not begin until the opening of September.

EDISON SEEKS SCENARIOS

A few weeks ago the scenario department of the Edison Company was so greatly overstocked with scripts of single-reel dramas that authors were asked to temporarily discontinue submitting them.

As the many releases have considerably lessened the supply, the company announced that it is again in the market for powerful single-reel dramas.

Over poor business—don't give up hope—have saved many and can save you. Get out of the mire by booking Gaumont's, the crowd getters.

GAUMONT FILMS

EVERY SORT OF PUBLICITY, BOTH FOR EXCHANGE & EXHIBITION

Gaumont Co.

110 West 40th St., N. Y.

GAUMONT

A. L. Runyan Advertising & Sales Co., Inc.
Successors to
ACME COMMERCIAL FILM CO.

Prices to The Trade
POSITIVE PRINTS .04½ Per Ft.
(In Quantities over 5000 feet)
Above price includes printing, developing, tinting toning and Raw Positive Stock.
Negative Film Developed .01 Per Ft.
Film Titles .08 " "
(Our Special Title Apparatus will match any perforation.) All work guaranteed.
General Offices
2624 Milwaukee Ave. Chicago
Phone Albany 3125

WE will rebuild your old machine as good as new. If your machine needs repairing, we can do the work. We have every facility and use only genuine parts. All work guaranteed. We carry a complete line of new machines and supplies. Will sell for time or cash.

SEND FOR CATALOG TODAY.

AMUSEMENT SUPPLY COMPANY
160 No. Fifth Avenue - - - - - - - - - CHICAGO

Film Quality

Quality in the film—quality from a technical photographic standpoint is as important to the Exhibitor as is interest in the story that the film tells.

There's one film that's recognized the world over as the standard of quality — that is always used by those whose effort it is to give the Exhibitors the very best goods and the very best service—Eastman film.

And it is identifiable. Look for "Eastman" on the perforated margin.

EASTMAN KODAK COMPANY,
ROCHESTER, N. Y.

The Centaur Film Co.

The Oldest Independent Film Manufacturer has the Largest Commercial Plant in America. The most up-to-date equipment and an organization second to none.

Printing and Developing in any Quantity
Guarantee Quality—Prices Interesting

THE CENTAUR FILM CO.

Factory and Studio
BAYONNE, N. J.

Offices
1600 Broadway, N. Y

At the request of State Right buyers we have withheld, until August 1st, closing a large number of states on our stupendous deep sea drama

The GREYHOUND

FIVE PARTS

From on and after that date the balance of the states unsold will be closed out
FIRST COME, FIRST SERVED

The production is conceded to be a masterpiece, adapted from the stage production written by Paul Armstrong and Wilson Mizner, scenario by Louis Reeves Harrison

Beautiful lithographs, heralds, lobby displays and other advertising matter. Wire territory interested in and we will wire terms

Our Next Release NORTHERN LIGHTS A photoplay that will astound the universe

EXHIBITORS COMMUNICATE WITH THE FOLLOWING:

Celebrated Players Film Co., 64 West Randolph St., Chicago, Ill.
"THE BANKER'S DAUGHTER," Five Parts.
Control Illinois—Iowa—Indiana—Wisconsin—Ohio—Michigan—Kentucky.

Noted Players Film Co., 1842 Broadway, New York.
"THE GREYHOUND," Five Parts.
Control New York State.

Progressive Feature Film Co., 800 Broad St., Newark, N. J.
"THE BANKER'S DAUGHTER," Five Parts.
"THE GREYHOUND," Five Parts.
Control Eastern Pennsylvania—Delaware—Maryland—District of Columbia—New Jersey.

Sherman Feature Co., Temple Court Bldg., Minneapolis, Minn.
"THE BANKER'S DAUGHTER," Five Parts.
"THE GREYHOUND," Five Parts.
Control North Dakota—South Dakota—Minnesota—Wisconsin.

LIFE PHOTO FILM CORPORATION

EXECUTIVE OFFICE, 220 WEST 42nd STREET
Studios and Laboratory, Grantwood, N. J. Continental Offices, No. 7 Rupert Court W. London

RECORD OF CURRENT AND COMING RELEASES

EDITOR'S NOTE.—These lists of releases for this week and next are arranged in this form for the convenience of the operator and exhibitor. In the blank column a record may be kept of the date when a given subject will be shown at your house. Keep it in a convenient place for future reference.

GENERAL FILM PROGRAM
RELEASES OF THE WEEK

AT MY HOUSE

MONDAY, JULY 20TH, 1914.

BIOGRAPH. The World and the Woman, D., 998..... 15504
EDISON. The Adventures of the Absent-Minded Professor, C., 1000 15511
ESSANAY. Money Talks, C., 1000 15513
KALEM. In Wolf's Clothing, D., 2000 15505
PATHE. The Crayfish, E., 500. 15507
In French Guinea, T., 500.
SELIG. A Woman Laughs, D., 2000 15508
SELIG. Hearst-Selig News Pictorial, No. 41, N., 1000..... 15512
VITAGRAPH. Love, the Clairvoyant, D., 1000..... 15510

TUESDAY, JULY 21ST, 1914.

EDISON. A Matter of Minutes, D., 1000 15514
ESSANAY. Mrs. Billington's First Case, C., 1000..... 15515
KALEM. The Beast, D., 1000.. 15524
KLEINE. The Stronger Tie, D., 1800 15516
LUBIN. Temper and Temperature, C., 400..... 15522
Worms Will Turn, C., 600.
PATHE. A Badger Hunt, Hunt., 600 15518
Life in Japan, Customs, 400
SELIG. The Lure of the Ladies, C., 1000 15519
VITAGRAPH. Bread Upon the Waters, D., 2000..... 15520

WEDNESDAY, JULY 22ND, 1914

EDISON. A Deal in Statuary, C., 550 15525
His Wife's Burglar, C., 500
ESSANAY. The Fable of Higher Education That Was Too High for the Old Man, C., 1000.... 15528
KALEM. The Rival Railroad's Plot, D., 2000..... 15526
LUBIN. Who Seeks Revenge, D., 2000 15532
MELIES. His Sense of Duty, D., 1000 15534
PATHE. Pathe's Weekly, No. 46, 1914, N., 1000..... 15529
SELIG. The Sealed Package, D., 1000 15531
VITAGRAPH. Buddy's Downfall, C., 1000..... 15530

THURSDAY, JULY 23RD, 1914.

BIOGRAPH. The Snow Busters, C., 404 15535
The Cheeseville Cops, C., 594
ESSANAY. Slippery Slim's Inheritance, C., 1000..... 15536
LUBIN. The False Shadow, D., 2000 15537
MELIES. Wanted a Sweetheart, C., 1000 15539
MELIES. Why Preachers Leave Home, C., 2000..... 15542
SELIG. Hearst-Selig News Pictorial, No. 42, N., 1000..... 15541
VITAGRAPH. The Apple, D., 1000 15540

FRIDAY, JULY 24TH, 1914.

EDISON. Laddie, D., 2000.. 15544
ESSANAY. A Letter From Home., D., 2000..... 15546
KALEM. The Bingville Fire Department, C., 2000..... 15548
LUBIN. A Traitor to His Country, D., 1000..... 15551
SELIG. The Substitute Heir, C., 1000 15549
VITAGRAPH. The Winning Trick, C., 1000..... 15550

SATURDAY, JULY 25TH, 1914.

BIOGRAPH. The Little Widow, D., 1009..... 15558
EDISON. The Last Assignment, D., 1000 15552
ESSANAY. Broncho Billy and the Gambler, D., 1000 15553
KALEM. Defying the Chief, D., 1000 15557
LUBIN. A Matter of Record, C., 1000 15554
MELIES. Black Pearls, D., 2000 15560
SELIG. Footprints, C., 1000... 15559
VITAGRAPH. Romantic Josie, C., 2000 15555

GENERAL FILM PROGRAM
RELEASES OF NEXT WEEK

MONDAY, JULY 27TH ,1914.

BIOGRAPH. Gwendolyn, The Sewing-Machine Girl, C, 507.. 15562
EDISON. A Canine Rival, C, 1000 15569
ESSANAY. Sweedie and the Lord. C, 1000..... 15571
KALEM. The Identification, D, 2000 15563
PATHE. The Hosts of the Sea, E, 410..... 15565
SELIG. Coffee Cultivation, Santos, S. A., Ind., 600..... 15566
SELIG. A Five Hundred-Dollar Kiss, C, 2000..... 15566
SELIG. Hearst-Selig News Pictorial No. 43, N, 1000..... 15570
VITAGRAPH. His Kid Sister, C, 1000..... 15568

TUESDAY, JULY 28TH, 1914.

EDISON. The Mystery of the Lost Stradivarius, D, 1000.... 15572
ESSANAY. A Clash of Virtues, D, 1000..... 15573
KALEM. The Man with the Glove, D, 1000..... 15582
KLEINE. In Temptation's Toils, D, 2000..... 15574
LUBIN. The Question and Answer Man, C, 1000..... 15580
PATHE. The Straits of Bonifacio, Sardinia. T, 350..... 15576
Hemp Growing, New Zealand, Ind., 541.....
SELIG. Muff, D, 1000..... 15577
VITAGRAPH. John Rance, Gentleman, D, 2000..... 15578

WEDNESDAY, JULY 29TH, 1914.

EDISON. Something to a Door, C, 1000..... 15583
ESSANAY. The Fable of The Coming Champion Who Was Delayed, C, 1000..... 15586
KALEM. The Indian Agent, D, 2000 15584
LUBIN. The Lure of the Car Wheels, D, 2000..... 15591
MELIES. An Actress's Son, D, 1000 15593
PATHE. Pathe's Weekly, No. 47, 1914, N, 1000..... 15587
VITAGRAPH. Officer Kate, C, 1000 15588
SELIG. The Mother Heart, D. 2000 15589

THURSDAY, JULY 30TH, 1914.

BIOGRAPH. A Bit of Human Driftwood, D, 2000..... 15594
ESSANAY. Snakeville's Home Guard, C, 1000..... 15596
LUBIN. Three Men and a Woman, D. 2000..... 15597
MELIES. The Trouserless Policeman, C, 1000..... 15599
MELIES. 210 Vs. 213, D, 1000 15602
SELIG. Hearst-Selig News Pictorial No. 44, N, 1000..... 15601
VITAGRAPH. The Greater Motive, D, 1000..... 15600

FRIDAY, JULY 31ST, 1914.

EDISON. The Stuff That Dreams Are Made of C, 2000..... 15604
ESSANAY. The Seventh Prelude, D, 2000 15606
KALEM. The Deadly Battle at Hicksville, C, 1000..... 15608
LUBIN. Within the Noose, D, 1000 15611
SELIG. When the Cook Fell Ill, C, 1000 15609
VITAGRAPH. Private Bunny, C, 1000 15610

SATURDAY, AUG. 1ST, 1914.

BIOGRAPH. The Man Who Paid, D, 995.....
EDISON. Farmer Rodney's Daughter, D, 1000.....
ESSANAY. The Squatter's Gal, D, 1000.....
KALEM. The Lad from Old Ireland, D, 1000.....
MELIES. Honor Redeemed, D, 2000 .....
LUBIN. She Gave Him a Rose, C, 400.....
The Rise of the Johnsons, C, 600 .....
SELIG. Love vs. Pride, D, 1000
VITAGRAPH. The Violin of M'sieur, D, 2000.....

UNIVERSAL PROGRAM
RELEASES OF THE WEEK

MONDAY, JULY 20TH, 1914.

IMP. In the Sultan's Garden, D.
STERLING. The Circus, C.....
VICTOR. Value Received, D., 2000 .....

TUESDAY, JULY 21ST, 1914.

CRYSTAL. Getting Vivian Married, C.....
GOLD SEAL. Lucille Love, The Girl of Mystery, No. 15, D., 2000 .....
UNIVERSAL IKE. Universal Ike, Jr., in Cupid's Victory, C.

WEDNESDAY, JULY 22ND, 1914.

ECLAIR. Allah 3311, D., 3000.
JOKER. Jimmy Kelly and the Kidnappers .....
D .....
NESTOR. By the Sun's Rays,

THURSDAY, JULY 23RD, 1914.

IMP. The Gateway of Regret, D .....
REX. At the Foot of the Stairs, D .....
STERLING. Love and Lunch, C., 2000 .....

FRIDAY, JULY 24TH, 1914.

NESTOR. All at Sea, C.....
POWERS. Kate Waters of the Secret Service, D., 2000.....
VICTOR. Irene's Busy Week, C .....

SATURDAY, JULY 25TH, 1914.

101 BISON. Olana of the South Sea, D .....
JOKER. The Polo Champions, C .....

SUNDAY, JULY 26TH, 1914.

ECLAIR. When Death Rode the Engine, D .....
FRONTIER. When Memory Recalls, D .....
REX. An Awkard Cinderella, C.

UNIVERSAL PROGRAM
RELEASES OF NEXT WEEK

MONDAY, JULY 27TH ,1914.

IMP. When Romance Came to Anne, D, 2000.....
STERLING. A Wild Ride, C..
VICTOR. Out of the Valley, D

TUESDAY, JULY 28TH, 1914.

CRYSTAL. Their Parents' Kids and Charlie's Toothache, C...
GOLD SEAL. The Love Victorious, D, 3000.....

Superior Gradation

IN MOTION PICTURES can be readily obtained with

"Agfa"

"The Distinctive Film"

for the reason that it contains "more than the usual" amount of silver in the emulsion.

Specify "AGFA" and watch results
Formulae Book, Samples, Etc., Gratis

"AGFA" non-flam film either in the raw or finished state can be shipped through the United States Mails.

RAW FILM SUPPLY CO.
Sole American Agents
15 East 26th St. New York City

"Safety First" with "Agfa" Non-Flam

What does it cost?

when your poster frames are dull and lack-lustre. There is a certain economical and timesaving way to keep them looking spick and span and inviting to the eye. That you will find out by reading

The Equipment Number
OF
The Motion Picture News
TO BE ISSUED UNDER DATE OF AUGUST 15

HARVARD

Send your negative and be convinced that quality and punctuality is our motto

FILM

We print—develop—tint and tone
We furnish camera men for all occasions

CORPORATION

231-233 10th Ave. New York City
W. K. HEDWIG, President Tel. Chelsea 812 J. T. REARDON, Sec'y-Treas.

LUBIN

FIVE RELEASES EACH WEEK

"THE QUESTION AND ANSWER MAN"—Comedy.....Tuesday, July 28th
A good story of the editorial room, caused by a mix-up of proper names and non-de-plumes. The newspaperman joins in the love game and wins out.

"THE LURE OF THE CAR WHEELS"—Two Reel Drama.....Wednesday, July 29th
Strange adventures of a boy with a mania for travel. He is nominated for Mayor, but his sweetheart forsakes him and he turns again to the lure of the wheels.

"THREE MEN AND A WOMAN"—Two Reel Drama.....Thursday, July 30th
One of the most sensational melodramatic pictures ever released. A ship on fire and heroic rescue.

"WITHIN THE NOOSE"—Drama.....Friday, July 31st
A strong and graphic picture of the operations of Western outlaws and bank robbers and the justice meted out by the vigilantes.

"SHE GAVE HIM A ROSE"—Split Reel Comedy.....Saturday, August 1st
A roaring comedy love episode, in which two burglars very much interfere with an ardent pair of sweethearts.

"THE RISE OF THE JOHNSONS"—Split Reel Comedy.....Saturday, August 1st
Very laughable incident which takes place in a coon crap joint. Mr. Johnson wins out beautifully.

LUBIN MASTERPIECES

NOW READY "THE WOLF" — 6 REELS——By EUGENE WALTER

To be released soon "THE HOUSE NEXT DOOR" — 6 REELS——By J. HARTLEY MANNERS

NOW IN PREPARATION "EAGLE'S NEST" — 5 REELS——By EDWIN ARDEN

Now being produced in Colorado, with EDWIN ARDEN, Broadway's popular actor in the leading role.

A COMEDY	A TWO REEL FEATURE	A DRAMA
Every Tuesday and Saturday	Every Wednesday and Thursday	Every Friday

LUBIN POSTERS
By Our Staff of Artists—One and Three Sheets with Single and Split Reels. One, Three and Six Sheets with all Multiple Reels.

LUBIN MANUFACTURING COMPANY
PHILADELPHIA, PA. CHICAGO OFFICE: 154 West Lake Street

RECORD OF CURRENT AND COMING RELEASES—Continued

AT MY HOUSE

UNIVERSAL IKE. Universal Ike, Jr., In His City Elopement, C.....

WEDNESDAY, JULY 29TH, 1914.

ECLAIR. The Dupe, D. 2000..
JOKER. Wooing of Bessie Bumpkin, C.....
NESTOR. An Indian Eclipse, D.

THURSDAY, JULY 30TH, 1914.

IMP. Universal Boy, Series No. 2, C.....
REX. Circle No. 17, D, 2000..
STERLING. Title not decided.

FRIDAY, JULY 31ST, 1914.

NESTOR. Maggie's Honest Lover, C.....
POWERS. The Tangle, C.....
VICTOR. The Mad Man's Ward, D, 2000.....

SATURDAY, AUG. 1ST, 1914.

101 BISON. Trihal War in the South Seas, D, 2000.....
JOKER. Wifie's Busy Day, C.

SUNDAY, AUG. 2ND, 1914.

ECLAIR. In the Days of Old, D. ....
FRONTIER. The Mind's Awakening, D.....
REX. Behind the Veil, D.....
RELEASES OF NEXT WEEK .....

MUTUAL PROGRAM

RELEASES OF THE WEEK

MONDAY, JULY 20TH, 1914.

AMERICAN. A Man's Way, D., 2000 .....
KEYSTONE. Not Decided....
RELIANCE. Our Mutual Girl, No. 27 .....

TUESDAY, JULY 21ST, 1914.

BEAUTY. Her "Really" Mother, D .....

AT MY HOUSE

MAJESTIC. A Red Man's Heart, D .....
THANHOUSER. Not Yet Announced .....

WEDNESDAY, JULY 22ND, 1914.

AMERICAN. Business vs. Love, D .....
BRONCHO. Shorty and the Aridville Terror, C, 2000....
RELIANCE. Izzy and the Diamond, C .....

THURSDAY, JULY 23RD, 1914.

DOMINO. The Defaulter, D., 2000 .....
KEYSTONE. Not Yet Announced.
MPTUAL WEEKLY. No. 82...

FRIDAY, JULY 24TH, 1914.

KAY-BEE. The Sheriff of Bishee, D., 2000 .....
MAJESTIC. Lest We Forget, D .....
ROYAL. Not Yet Announced.

SATURDAY, JULY 25TH, 1914.

KOMIC. Not Yet Announced.
RELIANCE. The Saving of Young Anderson, D., 2000....
THANHOUSER. Not Yet Announced.

SUNDAY, JULY 26TH, 1914.

KOMIC. Leave it to Smiley, C.
MAJESTIC. The Mystery of the Hindoo Image.....
THANHOUSER. From Wash to Washington, C .....

MUTUAL PROGRAM

RELEASES OF NEXT WEEK

MONDAY, JULY 27TH, 1914.

AMERICAN. The Broken Barrier, D, 2000.....

AT MY HOUSE

KEYSTONE. Not Yet Decided
RELIANCE. Our Mutual Girl No. 28.....

TUESDAY, JULY 28TH, 1914.

BEAUTY. A Midsummer Love Tangle, D.....
MAJESTIC. Down hy the Sounding Sea, D.....
THANHOUSER. The Messenger of Death, D, 2000.....

WEDNESDAY, JULY 29TH, 1914

AMERICAN. Does It End Right? D.....
BRONCHO. The Long Feud, D, 2000.....
RELIANCE. The Sheriff's Prisoner, D.....

THURSDAY, JULY 30TH, 1914.

DOMINO. The Curse of Caste
KEYSTONE. Not yet decided
MUTUAL WEEKLY. No. 83

FRIDAY, JULY 31ST, 1914

AMERICAN. All on Account of a Jug, C.....
KEY-BEE. An Eleventh Hour Reformation, D, 2000.....
PRINCESS. The Target of Destiny, D.....

SATURDAY, AUG. 1ST, 1914.

KEYSTONE. Not yet announced .....
RELIANCE. The Gunman....
ROYAL. The Baker Street Mystery, C.....

SUNDAY, AUG. 2D, 1914.

KOMIC. Bill Takes a Lady to Lunch—Never Again, C.....
MAJESTIC. Moonshine Molly, D, 2000.....
THANHOUSER. The Butterfly Bug, C.....

INCORPORATIONS

Among the latest companies to he formed and registered are the following:

At Albany, N. Y.:

DYCKMAN PHOTOPLAY CORPORATION, theatre and motion picture exhibition, $75,000, Manhattan. A. J. Norten, Yonkers; George Balsdon, Brooklyn, and E. C. Schnehel end two others, of New York.

THE ARTHUR SHELDON AGENCY, INC., manufacturing films, accessories, motion pictures, theatrical, music halls, general advertising, printers, puhlishers, etc., $1,000, Manhattan. A. J. Bell, New York, and John K. Mills and Neliis W. Mills, of Hackentown, N. J.

SHERO PHOTO PLAYERS AND CAMERA EXCHANGE COMPANY, INC., manufacturing motion picture plays, films, supplies, etc.; also to operate studios, $25,000, Rochester. James Shero, Rochester; Charles M. Rowe and Jesse P. Williard, of New York.

ACME MOTION PICTURE CORPORATION, motion picture and amusement husiness, $25,000, Manhattan. C. Hammond Taylor, Max Beck, A. Schrameck and two others, of New York.

DRUGGED COMPANY, INC., theatrical, motion picture business, etc., $5,000, Manhattan. Alhert Kohn, Martin Herman, Ralph I. Kohn, of New York.

INNOCENT COMPANY, INC., theatrical, music hall, motion pictures, etc., $5,000, Manhattan. Alhert Kohn, Martin Herman and Ralph I. Kohn, of New York.

RENFAX FILM CO., INC., general motion picture husiness, etc., $425,000, Manhattan. Arthur Ahrams, of New York; Milton D. Woodward and Alfred E. Gold and four others, of New York.

RENOWNED PLAYERS FEATURE FILM COMPANY, INC., general motion picture and theatrical husiness, $6,000, Manhattan. Martin H. Crivy, Harry M. Pearlstein, Mae Goldherger and one other of New York.

B. A. ROLFE PHOTO-PLAYS, INC., general motion pictures and theatrical, $50,000, Manhattan. Benj. A. Rolfe, Chas. B. Maddock and Max Karger, of New York.

IVAN FILM PRODUCTIONS, INC., theatrical and motion pictures, $1,000, Manhattan. Ivan Ahramsen, of New York; Barnet Kaplan, of Astoria, L. I., and Sophia Jettleton, of Brooklyn.

THE BANNER THEATRE COMPANY OF ROCHESTER, theatrical and motion pictures, $5,000, Bronx. Jos. Blumenfeld, Herman Rosenzweig and Lizzie Rosenzweig, of New York.

LEIBOW FEATURE FILM CO., INC., general motion picture, $4,500, Manhattan. Frank C. Leihow and Max Sass, of Brooklyn, and Julia Kepleman, of New York.

UPTOWN AMUSEMENT COMPANY, theatrical, motion pictures, restaurants, etc., $5,000, Manhattan. Max Rothherg, Barney Ahramowitz, of New York, and Primer Ahramowitz, of Brooklyn.

OCEAN AMUSEMENT COMPANY, INC., theatrical, motion pictures, menageries and general amusements, $1,000, Queens. Frank H. Sigeren and William W. Worthington, of New York, and Isadore Marshak, of Brooklyn.

THE AUTHORS' SYNDICATE, printing, puhlishing, theatrical, motion picture, Manhattan. Herhert Van Loen, Peter Licari and Agnes Kessler, of New York.

ALBERG STUDIO, INC., general motion picture husiness, $1,000, Manhattan. Otto Hoffman, of Brooklyn; Frederick Alhrecht, Henry Bergman, of New York.

NEW YORK FILM MART, INC., motion picture and theatrical, $5,000, New York. Jno. A. Spooner, of Newark, N. J.; Russell K. Dougherty, and Wm. Carlyle Herhert, of New York.

THE I. C. U. FILM COMPANY of Chicago, to take, develop, lease and deal in motion pictures, $5,000. Incorporators, William P. MacCracken, Jr., Norman H. Pritchard and Urban A. Lavery.

At Springfield, Ill.

THE NEWBERRY AMUSEMENT COMPANY of Chicago, to handle motion pictures and amusements. $2,400. Incorporators, Meyer Morton, Herhert M. Lautmann and I. Karl Davidson.

HEARD IN THE LOBBIES

Gladys Hulette, the leading ingenue of the Edison Company, is still in her teens, hut possesses the strength of a well-trained athlete. in the Edison comedy "The Stuff that Dreams Are Made Of," she overcomes a quartet of police and carries her unconscious sweetheart over her shoulders.

Taylor Opera House, Trenton, N. J., will remain open all summer. It is located at South Broad and East State Streets and is managed hy Montgomery Moses.

Edward L. Hyman is now assistant manager of the Strand Theatre, Buffalo, N. Y. Mr. Hyman was formerly assistant manager of the Lyric Theatre for the last year being associated with Henry Marcus.

The rumor that the Olympic Theatre, Buffalo, N. Y., will return to hurlesque in the near future, or ahout the first of August is becoming more persistent every day. The Lyric is going to stock on Septemher 1 and the Family to vaudeville and pictures. The Olympic was only recently remodeled for motion picture purposes, but it seems that the secret of success for this location is burlesque, which played this house under the name of the Lafayette for the past twenty years.

The World's Feature Corporation in the Navarre Building, St. Louis, is now under the management of Fred J. Murphie.

"The Great Universal Mystery," a Universal Film Company's feature, was first seen in St. Louis at the Lyric Theatre, Sixth and Pine streets.

Light opera with motion pictures between the acts has heen the usual program at the New Favorite Summer Theatre, Cherokee St., and Iowa Ave., St. Louis, hut recently a straight bill of pictures was run, with the feature "A Million Bid," as chief attraction.

The Bijou, at Monmouth, Ill., is being remodeled, and will he reopened shortly. The huilding is heing thoroughly overhauled.

R. S. Hopper, owner of the Lyric Theatre, at Freeport, Ill., hit on a novel puhlicity idea when he decided to erect another motion picture theatre at 110 Stephenson street. Instead of deciding on a name for it himself, he invited the puhlic to help him and offered a reward for the person who sent in the most acceptable name.

Write Your Slides on an L.C. Smith & Bros. Typewriter

DO YOU KNOW that you can throw your announcements on the screen in typewriting? It's no more trouble than to write on a card and it looks far better than the scrawling and illegible handwriting that is so often seen.

The L. C. Smith & Bros. Typewriter is especially adapted to writing these slides. Write for information.

L. C. SMITH & BROS. TYPEWRITER CO.

Home Office and Factory, Syracuse, N. Y. Branches in all principal cities

"Flying A" Feature Films See Americans First

"AT THE END OF A PERFECT DAY"

Human Interest In Two Parts Nature's Tempest.

A powerful narrative, depicting a woman's struggle and a man's sincerity of purpose.

Featuring WINNIFRED GREENWOOD AND ED COXEN.

Under direction of Thos. Ricketts Release, Monday, August 3rd, 1914.

AMERICAN BEAUTY

"A SUSPENDED CEREMONY"

The second of series of "A Midsummer's Love Tangle." Each subject complete in itself

Featuring MARGARITA FISCHER and HARRY POLLARD

Release, Tuesday August 4th, 1914

"A WIDOW"

Intensely dramatic, convincingly portraying the anguish of a woman's soul

Release, Wednesday, August 5th 1914.

AMERICAN FILM MANUFACTURING CO.

CHICAGO

RELEASE DATES FOR READY REFERENCE

RELEASE DAYS

GENERAL FILM PROGRAM

Monday—Biograph, Edison, Kalem, Pathé, Selig, Vitagraph.
Tuesday—Edison, Essanay, Geo. Kleine, Pathé, Lubin, Melies, Selig, Vitagraph.
Wednesday—Edison, Essanay, Kalem, Lubin, Melies, Selig, Pathé, Vitagraph.
Thursday—Biograph, Essanay, Lubin, Melies, Pathé, Selig, Vitagraph.
Friday—Edison, Essanay, Kalem, Selig, Pathé, Lubin, Vitagraph.
Saturday—Biograph, Edison, Essanay, Kalem, Luhin, Pathé, Vitagraph.

UNIVERSAL PROGRAM

Monday—Victor, Imp, Power.
Tuesday—Gold Seal, Crystal, Universal Ike.
Wednesday—Nestor, Joker, Eclair.
Thursday—Imp, Rex, Frontier, Sterling.
Friday—Nestor, Powers, Victor.
Saturday—Joker, Frontier, 101 Bison.
Sunday—Rex, Crystal, Eclair.

MUTUAL PROGRAM

Monday—American, Keystone, Reliance.
Tuesday—Beauty, Majestic, Thanhouser.
Wednesday—American, Broncho, Reliance
Thursday—Domino, Keystone, Mutual.
Friday—Kay-Bee, Majestic, Princess.
Saturday—Keystone, Reliance, Royal.
Sunday—Majestic, Komic, Thanhouser.

AMERICAN

7— 8. Feast and Famine, D.....1000
7—13. The Lure of the Sawdust, D.....2000
7—15. Youth and Art, D.....1000
7—20. A Man's Way, D.....2000
7—22. Business vs. Love, D.....1000
7—27. The Broken Barrier, D.....2000
8—10. The Trap, D.....2000
8—12. The Butterfly, D.....1000

APOLLO

5— 3. The Cheese of Police.....

BEAUTY

6—30. Via the Fire-Escape, D.....1000
7— 7. The Other Train, D.....1000
7—14. The Joke on Jane, C.....1000
7—21. Her "Really" Mother, D.....1000
7—28. A Midsummer Love Tangle, D...1000

BIOGRAPH

The Firemen's Social, C..... 443
7— 4. The Cracksman's Gratitude, D.... 999
7— 6. Eva, the Cigarette Girl, C..... 563
7— 9. A Romance of the Pueblo, D.....1020
7—11. Her Primitive Model, D.....1000
7—13. The Boy from the Poorhouse, D... 996
7—16. The Prospectors, D.....1000
7—18. It Was Some Party, C..... 653
Some Decorators, C..... 344
7—20. The World and The Woman..... 998
7—25. The Little Widow.....1009
7—27. Gwendolyn, the Sewing-Machine Girl, C..... 507
7—30. A Bit of Human Driftwood, D....1055
8— 1. The Man Who Paid, D..... 905

101 BISON

6—20. The Forbidden Room, D.....3000
6—27. The Old Cobbler, D.....2000
7— 4. The Hopes of Blind Alley, D....3000
7—11. Prowlers of the Wild, D.....2000
7—18. A Mexican Spy in America, D....2000
8— 1. Tribal War in the South Seas, D..2000

BRONCHO

6—24. Desert Thieves .....
7— 1. Shorty Gets Into Trouble.....
7— 8. The Final Reckoning.....

CRYSTAL

Boxes and Boxes and Foolish Lovers, C..
6—23. In Wrong, C.....
6—30. The Girl in Pants and Her New Hat, C., split reel.....
7— 7. Nearly a Stepmother, C.....
7—14. Vivian's Four Beaux and What What Pearl's Pearls Did, C. Split Reel .....
7—21. Getting Vivian Married, C.....
7—28. Their Parents' Kids and Charlie's Toothache, C, split reel.....

DOMINO

6—11. A Relic of Old Japan.....
6—18. In the Southern Hills.....
6—25. Frontier Mother .....
7— 2. His Hour of Manhood.....
7— 9. The Curse of Humanity.....
7—23. The Defaulter, D.....2000
7—23. Jim Cameron's Wife.....2000

DRAGON FEATURES

For June
The Black Ship.....3000

ECLAIR

7—29. The Dupe, D.....2000
7— 2. In the Days of Old, D.....
7—27. A Canine Rival, C.....1000
7—28. The Mystery of the Lost Stradivarius, D.....1000
7—29. Something to a Door, C.....1000
7—31. The Stuff that Dreams Are Made of, C.....2000
7—22. Allah 3311, D.....3000
7—26. When Death Rode the Engine, D..
8— 1. Farmer Rodney's Daughter, D.....1000

EDISON

6—20. In the Days of Slavery, D.....1000
6—22. The Basket Habit, C.....1000
6—23. A Foolish Agreement, D.....1000
6—24. The Mysterious Package, C..... 700
On the Ice, A Demonstration of Fancy Skating at Wegen, Switzerland, Sc..... 300
6—26. The Man in the Street, D.....2000
6—27. Dolly Plays Detective, D.....1000
6—29. The Revengeful Servant Girl, C..1000
6—30. The Mystery of the Fadeless Tints, D.....1000
7— 1. Back to the Simple Life, C.....1000
7— 3. The Shattered Tree, D.....2000
7— 4. Molly, the Drummer Boy, D.....1000
7— 6. Her Spanish Cousins, C.....1000
7— 7. Face to Face, D.....1000
7— 8. Andy Has a Toothache, C.....1000
7—10. In the Shadow of Disgrace, D.....2000
7—11. Dolly at the Helm, D.....1000
7—13. Qualifying for Lena, C.....1000
7—14. The Two Doctors, D.....1000
7—15. The Ever Gallant Marquis, C..... 500
7—15. An Up-to-Date Courtship, C..... 500
7—17. Meg o' the Mountains, D.....2000
7—18. Across the Burning Trestle, D....1000
7—20. The Adventure of the Absent-Minded Professor, D.....1000
7—21. A Matter of Minutes, D.....1000
7—22. A Deal in Statuary, C..... 550
7—24. Laddie, D. 2000
7—25. The Last Assignment, D.....1000

ESSANAY

7—16. Snakeville's New Waitress, C.....1000
7—17. His Stolen Fortune, D.....2000
7—18. Broncho Billy Puts One Over, D..1000
7—20. Money Talks, C.....1000
7—21. Mrs. Billington's First Case, C....1000
7—22. The Fable of "Higher Education That Was Too High for the Old Man," C. 1000
7—23. Slippery Slim's Inheritance, C....1000
7—24. A Letter from Home, D.....2000
7—25. Broncho Billy and the Gambler, D.1000
7—27. Sweedie and the Lord, C.....1000
7—28. A Clash of Virtues, D.....1000
7—29. The Fable of "The Coming Champion Who Was Delayed," C....1000
7—30. Snakeville's Home Guard, C.....1000
7—31. The Seventh Pre'ude, D.....2000
8— 1. The Squatter's Gal, D.....1000

FILMS LLOYD

5— 7. Cora, the Temptress.....3900

FRONTIER

6— 7. The Girl and the Hobo, D.....
6—14. His Dress Rehearsal.....
6—21. The Gunmen of Plumas, D.....
6—28. On the Verge, D.....
7— 5. The Broken Barriers, D.....
7—12. The Fight in Lonely Gulch, D.....
7—19. The Ranger's Reward.....
7—26. When Memory Recalls, D.....
8— 2. The Mind's Awakening, D.....

GOLD SEAL

7— 7. Lucille Love, the Girl of Mystery, Series No. 13.....
7—14. Lucille Love. The Girl of Mystery, Series No. 14.....
7—21. Lucille Love, The Girl of Mystery, No. 15 .....
7—28. The Love Victorious, D.....3000

GR. NO. SPEC.

5— 5. The Monomaniac.....3000

IMP

6— 8. The Man Who Lost But Won, C..2000
6—11. Across the Atlantic, D.....3000
6—15. —The Baited Trap, D.....2000
6—18. The Fatal Step, D.....
6—22. Papa's Darling, C.....
6—25. The Skull, D.....2000
7—27. When Romance Came to Anne, D..2000
7—30. Universal Boy, Series No. 2.....
6—29. Adventures of a Girl Reporter, D.2000
7— 2. The One Best Bet, C.....
7— 6. The Lady of the Island, D.....2000
7— 9. The Old Rag Doll, D.....
7—13. When the World Was Silent, D...2000
7—16. Universal Boy Series No. 1, C...
7—20. In the Sultans Garden, D.....
7—23. The Gateway to Regret, D.....

JOKER

7—11. Love Roses and Trousers, C.....
7—15. Wily Walrus and The Awful Confession, C.....
7—18. His Wife's Family, C.....
7—22. Jimmy Kelly and the Kidnappers, C.
7—25. The Polo Champions, C.....
7—29. Wooing of Bessie Bumpkin, C.....
8— 1. Wifie's Busy Day, C. .....

KALEM

7— 3. Fleeing from the Fleas, C..... 500
Trooping the Colors, Top..... 500
7— 4. The Political Boss, D..... 500
7— 6. The Weakling, Third of the Alice Joyce Series, D.....1000
7— 7. Kaintucky Bill, D.....1000
7— 8. A String of Pearls, D.....2000
7—10. Rubo, the Interloper, C..... 807
In Old England, Top..... 195
7—11. Lamo Dog's Treachery, D.....1000
7—13. A Diamond in the Rough, D.....2000
7—14. Accused, D.....1000
7—15. The Express Messenger, D.....1000
7—17. Wanted an Heir, C.....1000
7—18. The Fate of a Squaw, D.....1000
7—20. In Wolf's Clothing, D.....2000
7—21. The Beast, D.....1000
7—22. The Rival Railroad's Plot, D.....2000
7—24. The Bingville Fire Department, C.1000
7—25. Defying the Chief, D.....1000
7—27. The Identification, D.....2000
7—28. The Man with the Glove, D.....1000
7—29. The Indian Agent, D.....2000
7—31. The Deadly Battle at Hicksville...1000
8— 1. The Lad from Old Ireland, D....1000

KAY-BEE

7— 3. The Heart of a Crook.....
7—10. The Feud of Beaver Creek.....
7—17. The City 2000
7—24. The Sheriff of Bisbee.....2000
7—31. An Eleventh Hour Reformation..

KEYSTONE

6—18. A Missing Bride.....
6—20. Mabel's Married Life.....
6—22. The Eavesdropper .....
6—25. Fatty and the Heiress.....
7— 2. Fatty's Finish .....
7— 4. Love and Bullets.....
7— 6. Row-Boat Romance .....
7—11. Love and Salt Water, Split reel World's Oldest Living Thing.....

KLEINE

6—23. A Midnight Guest, D.....1000
6—30. The Bondage of Evil, D.....2000
7— 7. The Heirloom, D.....2000
7—14. The Rival Actresses, D.....2000
7—21. The Stronger Tie, D.....2000
7—28. In Temptation's Toils, D.....2000

KOMIC

7—26. Leave it to Smiley.....
7—28. The Wild Girl.....
8— 2. Bill Takes a Lady to Lunch—Never Again! .....
8— 9. Ethel's Aunt.....
8—16. Bill No. 4.....

LUBIN

7— 7. Fooling Fanny's Father, C..... 400
While Aunty Bounced, C..... 600
7— 9. The Debt, D.....2000
7—10. The Tribunal of Conscience, D....1000
7—11. How He Lost His Trousers, C.... 500
Mandy's Chicken Dinner, C..... 500
7—14. He Was Bad, C..... 400
Tough Luck, C..... 600
7—15. Codes of Honor, D.....2000
7—16. The Cross of Crime, D.....2000
7—17. The Lie, D.....1000
7—18. She Wanted to Know, C..... 400
All For Love, C..... 600
7—21. Temper and Temperature, C..... 400
Worms Will Turn, C..... 600
7—22. Who Seeks Revenge, D.....1000
7—23. The False Shadow, D.....2000
7—24. A Traitor to His Country, D.....1000
7—28. The Question and Answer Man, C.1000
7—29. The Lure of the Car Wheels, D..2000
7—30. Three Men and a Woman, D....2000
7—31. Within the Noose, D.....1000
8— 1. She Gave Him a Rose, C..... 400
The Rise of the Johnsons, C 600

BEN WILSON AS LIFE SAVER

While Ben Wilson was at Long Beach taking a scene for the Edison film, "While the Tide Was Rising," he performed an act of heroism which should entitle him to a Carnegie medal. Sally Crute, the leading lady, was plowing about in the surf in water up to her shoulders, waiting for the click of the camera, when a sudden under-current carried her out into deep water. Unable to swim, she screamed for help.

Without even removing his coat, Wilson plunged in, and with powerful overhand strokes reached the side of Miss Crute as she was going down for the third time. He hauled her to shore, and after willing hands had worked over her for half an hour, she was resuscitated and insisted upon continuing with her work in the film.

FIRST FEATURE UNDER WAY

The Select Photoplay Producing Company, Inc., capitalized at $100,000, with offices at 71 West Twenty-third street, as an adjunct to the Eagle Feature Film Company, Inc., have just entered the market to produce features of five and six reels. They have secured the rights to a number of works among which are "At the Old Cross Roads," "As the Sun Went Down," "The Danger Mark," etc.

They have in the course of construction the "Old Cross Roads" to be produced in five or six reels, headed by Estha Williams. Among others in the cast are Mrs. Stuart Robson, whose personality and character work is already well known.

BROWN AND THE "BRONCHO" CANOE

Milt Brown, six-feet-four in his stocking feet, for several years captain of the cowboys of the original 101 Ranch, and now daredevil rider for the Jesse Lasky company, had his first experience with a canoe, recently, when with the Robert Edeson company at Bear Lake, Cal. The canoe turned over, and Milt explained:

"I reached for my trusty weapon, and the d——n thing bucked. I told the boys before I started I would not care if she loped, just as long as she did not sunfish, or go over backwards. She sure did something."

UNIVERSAL INSTALLS BIG FILTER

A forty-inch sand filter, with a capacity of fifteen hundred gallons an hour, has been installed in the laboratory at the Universal Pacific Coast studio. This is the largest filter yet installed in a motion picture laboratory.

DON'T HURRY

Haste costs money. There is no time when an exhibitor should be more careful than when purchasing material for his theatre.

The capacity of the theatre, its location, the interior arrangement, the amount of business done, the type of patrons, its earning capacity, and many other things must be taken into consideration. Writing to a number of manufacturers of any particular thing you need takes your time, and money for postage and stationery.

The best, and most economical way for you, is to fill in the form below, and mail it. Tell your wants to The Buyers' Service Department of the Motion Picture News. From its files we can tell just what manufacturers are best equipped to supply you.

And then, in a few days, you will have before you a complete line of literature, prices, terms and other valuable information. Then, at your leisure, you can compare merits, and take your own time in deciding. And all this costs nothing more than a two cent stamp.

The Buyers' Service Dept.,
The Motion Picture News,
220 W. 42nd St., N.Y. City.

Gentlemen: Please send to me immediately, without cost or obligation, complete information concerning.....

.....

.....

.....

Name.....

Theatre.....

Street Address.....

City.....State.....

RELEASE DATES FOR READY REFERENCE—Continued

MAJESTIC

6—23. The Burden.....
6—26. The Idiot .....
6—28. The Tavern .....
6—30. Suffragette Battle in Nuttyville...
7— 5. The Angel of Contention.....
7— 7. The Only Clew.....
7—12. A City Beautiful.....
7—19. The Painted Lady.....
7—21. A Red Man's Heart.....
7—24. Lest We Forget.....
7—26. The Mystery of the Hindoo Image
7—28. Down by the Sounding Sea.....
8— 2. Moonshine Molly.....
8— 3. The Election in Nuttyville.....

MELIES

6—27. Gypsy Child, D.....2000
6—30. One Suit of Clothes, C.....1000
7— 1. The Monk's Sacrifice, D.....1000
7— 2. Womanly Curiosity, C.....1000
7— 2. The Prescription, D.....2000
7— 4. Hidden Death, D.....2000
7— 7. A Discolored Romance, C.....1000
7— 8. The Hole in the Wall, D.....1000
7— 9. Good Fortune's Tardy Smile, C...1000
7—11. His Friend's Forgiveness, D.....2000
7—14. Rags and Patriotism, C.....1000
7—15. Justly Punished, D.....1000
7—16. The Test of True Love, C.....1000
7—16. A Sublime Deception, D.....2000
7—18. The River's Secret, D.....2000
7—22. His Sense of Duty, D.....1000
7—23. Wanted A Sweetheart, C.....1000
7—23. Why Preachers Leave Home, C..2000
7—25. Black Pearls, D.....2000
7—29. An Actress's Son, D.....1000
7—30. 210 vs. 213, D.....2000
8— 1. Honor Redeemed, D.....2000

NESTOR

6—26. Sophie of the Film, Series No. 4, C. .....
7— 1. The Lost Arrow, D.....
7— 3. Those College Days, C.....
7— 8. A Ranch Romance, D.....
7—10. The Great Universal Mystery, C..
7—15. Her Grave Mistake, D.....
7—17. When Eddie Went to the Front, C.
7—22. By the Sun's Rays, D.....
7—24. All at Sea, C.....
7—29. An Indian Eclipse, D.....
7—31. Maggie's Honest Lover, C.....

PASQUALI AMERICAN

6—29. A Mexican Mine Fraud,.....5000
6—29. The Chimney Sweeps.....5000
7—14. The Silent Bell.....3000
7—21. Lupin, the Gentleman Burglar....3000

PATHE

6—24. Pathé's Weekly, No. 42, N.....1000
6—29. A Visit to the Paris Zoo, Zoo.... 857
6—30. French Village in Senegal, West Africa, T. 541
7— 1. Pathé's Weekly, No. 43, 1914, N..1000
7— 6. The Heart and the Circulation of the Blood, E. 500
Mode of Travel in Japan (Manners and Customs) 500
7— 7. A Tiger Hunt (Indio-China), S... 500
The Ice and Snow, S..... 500
7— 8. Pathe's Weekly No. 44, 1914, N...1000
7—13. A Russian Boar Hunt, Hunt..... 500
The Wine Industry, Marsala, Sicily, Ind. 500
7—14. Through the Bosnia & Dalmatia, T. 300
The Tombs of the Ancient Japanese Emperors, Annam, Indo-China, S. 350
Water Falls at Aragonia. Spain. T. 300
7—15. Pathé's Weekly No. 45, 1914, N...1000
7—20. The Crayfish, E..... 500
In French Guinea, T..... 500
7—21. A Badger Hunt, Hunt..... 600
Life in Japan, Customs..... 400
7—22. Pathé's Weekly, No. 46, 1914, N..1000
7—27. The Host of the Sea, E..... 410
Coffee Cultivation, Santos, S. A., Ind. 600
7—28. The Straits of Bonifacio, Sardinia, T. 350
Hemp Growing, New Zealand, Ind. 541
7—29. Pathé's Weekly No. 47, 1914, N...1000

POWERS

6— 8. The Undertow, D.....
6—12. The Masked Rider.....
6—19. The Plot that Failed.....
6—26. The Love Victorious, D.....2000
7— 3. Pearl of the Sea, D.....
7—10. Passing the Love of Women, D....
7—17. The Severed Hand, D.....3000
7—24. Kate Waters of the Secret Service, D. 2000
7—31. The Tangle, C.....

PRINCESS

6—19. The Little Senorita.....
6—26. Professor Snaigh .....
7— 3. The Decoy .....
7—10. The Girl of the Seasons.....
7—17. The Veteran's Sword.....
7—24. Scenic .....
7—31. The Target of Destiny.....

REX

6—25. The Woman in Black, D.....
6—28. Lost by a Hair, C.....
7— 2. The House Discordant, D.....2000
7— 5. On the Rio Grande, D.....
7— 9. When Fate Disposes, D.....2000
7—12. Plain Mary, D.....
7—16. The Sob Sister, D.....2000
7—19. Out of the Darkness. D.....
7—23. At the Foot of the Stairs, D.....
7—26. An Awkward Cinderella, C.....
7—30. Circle 17, D.....2000
8— 2. Behind the Veil, D.....

RELIANCE

6—20. The Stolen Code.....
6—22. Our Mutual Girl, No. 23.....
6—24. Izzy's Night Out.....
6—27. The Broken Banner.....
6—29. Our Mutual Girl, No. 24.....
7— 1. Izzy, the Detective.....
7— 4. The Weaker Strain.....
7— 8. How Izzy Was Saved.....
7—20. Our Mutual Girl, No. 27.....
7—22. Izzy and the Diamond.....
7—25. The Saving of Young Anderson..
7—27. Our Mutual Girl, No. 28.....
7—29. The Sheriff's Prisoner.....
8— 1. The Gunman.....
8— 5. Izzy and His Rival.....
8— 7. On the Border.....

ROYAL

6—27. A Hasty Exit.....
7— 4. Did She Run?.....
7— 4. Mistakes will Happen.....
7—11. Mistakes Will Happen.....
7—25. Milling the Militant and Servants Superseded, split reel.....
8— 1. The Baker Street Mystery.....

SELIG

6—24. Somebody's Sister, D.....1000
6—25. Hearst-Selig News Pictorial No. 34, N. 1000
6—26. The Captain's Chair, D.....1000
6—27. The Right to Happiness, D.....1000
6—29. The Leopard's Foundling, D.....2000
6—29. Hearst-Selig News Pictorial, No. 35, N. 1000
6—30. Hearts of Men, D.....1000
7— 1. The Empty Sleeve, D.....1000
7— 2. Hearst-Selig News Pictorial, No. 36, N. 1000
7— 3. Making Good with Her Family, C. 500
Doc Yak's Wishes, C..... 500
7— 4. The Little Hobo, D..... 500
7— 6. Reporter Jimmie Intervenes, D....2000
7— 7. Algie's Sister, C.....1000
7— 8. Caryl of the Mountains, D.....1000
7— 9. Hearst-Selig News Pictorial No. 38, N. 1000
7—10. Did She Cure Him? C.....1000
7—11. His Fight, D.....1000
7—13. The Wilderness Mail, D.....2000
7—13. Hearst-Selig News Pictorial No. 39, N.....1000
7—14. An Egyptian Princess, C.....1000
7—15. His Last Appeal, D.....2000
7—16. Hearst-Selig News Pictorial No. 40, N.....1000
7—17. Wiggs Takes the Rest Cure, C....1000
7—18. The Squatters, D.....1000
7—20. A Woman Laughs, D.....2000
7—21. The Lure of the Ladies, C.....1000
7—22. The Sealed Package, D.....1000
7—23. Hearst-Selig News Pictorial, No. 42, N. 1000
7—24. The Substitute Heir, C.....1000
7—25. Footprints, C. 1000
7—27. A Five-Hundred-Dollar Kiss. C....2000
7—27. Hearst-Selig News Pictorial No. 43, N. 1000
7—28. Muff, D.....1000
7—29. The Mother Heart. D.....2000
7—30. Hearst-Selig News Pictorial No. 44, N. 1000
7—31. When the Cook Fell Ill, C.....1000
8— 1. Love vs. Pride. D.....1000

STERLING

7—13. Almost Married, C.....
7—16. A Beach Romance, C.....
7—20. The Circus, C.....
7—23. Love & Lunch, C.....2000
7—27. A Wild Ride, C.....

THANHOUSER

6—14. The Girl Across the Hall.....
6—16. Remorse .....
6—19. The Man Without Fear.....
6—21. The Outlaw's Nemesis.....
6—23. For Her Child.....
6—28. The Widow's Mite.....
6—30. The Harlow Handicap.....
7— 5. The Cooked Goose.....
7— 7. Deborah .....
7—17. The Leaven of Good.....
7—19. Harry's Waterloo.....
7—21. The Pendulum of Fate.....2000
7—26. From Wash to Washington.....
7—28. The Messenger of Death.....2000
8— 2. The Butterfly Bug.....
8— 4. The Guiding Hand.....2000
8— 9. Little Mischief.....

UNIVERSAL IKE

6—30. Universal Ike, Jr., and The Vampire, C. .....
7— The Triangle Marriage, C.....
7—14. The New Cook, C.....
7—21. Universal Ike, Jr., in Cupid's Victory, C. .....
7—28. Universal Ike, Jr., In His City Elopement, C.....

VICTOR

6—29. A Twentieth Century Pirate, C..
7— 3. Her Ragged Knight, D.....2000
7— 6. At Mexico's Mercy, D.....
7—10. A Beggar Prince of India, D.....3000
7—13. Out of the Valley, D.....
7—17. The Panama Exposition Up To Date. E.....
7—20. Value Received, D.....2000
7—24. Irene's Busy Week, C.....
7—27. Out of the Valley. D.....
7—31. The Mad Man's Ward, D.....2000

VITAGRAPH

6—18. Only a Sister, D.....1000
6—19. The Persistent Mr. Prince, C.....1000
6—20. Father's Flirtation, C.....2000
6—22. Maria's Sacrifice, D.....1000
6—23. The Passing of Diana, D.....2000
6—24. The "Bear" Facts, C.....1000
6—25. Happy-Go-Lucky, C. 1000
6—26. The Old Maid's Baby, C.....1000
6—27. His Wife and His Work, D.....2000
6—29. The Gang, D.....1000
6—30. The Poor Folk's Boy, D.....2000
7— 1. The Circus and the Boy, C.....1000
7— 2. Two Stepchildren, D.....1000
7— 3. A Train of Incidents, C.....1000
7— 4. The Toll, D.....2000
7— 6. The False and the True, D.....1000
7— 7. The Moonstone of Fez, D.....2000
7— 8. Doctor Smith's Baby, C.....1000
7— 9. Prosecution, D. 1000
7—10. The Vases of Hymen, C.....1000
7—11. Lillian's Dilemma, C.....2000
7—13. The Soul of Luigi. D.....1000
7—14. Fogg's Millions, D.....2000
7—15. The Arrival of Josie. C.....1000
7—16. The Little Captain, C.....1000
7—17. Pigs is Pigs. C.....1000
7—18. The Songs of the Ghetto, D.....2000
7—20. Love, the Clairvoyant, D.....1000
7—21. Bread Upon the Waters, D.....2000
7—22. Buddy's Downfall, C.....1000
7—23. The Apple, D.....1000
7—24. The Winning Trick, C.....1000
7—25. Romantic Josie, C.....2000
7—27. His Kid Sister, C.....1000
7—28. John Rance, Gentleman, D.....2000
7—29. Officer Kate, C.....1000
7—30. The Greater Motive, D.....1000
7—31. Private Bunny. D.....1000
8—1. The Violin of M'sieur, D.....2000

ANIMATED SONGS

Imperial Motion Picture Co., New York

Releases for June and July:

Two Floral Wreaths.
Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm.
Peg O' My Heart.
When I Carved Your Name On The Tree.
A Real Moving Picture From Life.
Down On The Farm In Harvest Time.
The Marriage Game.
In The Town Where I Was Born.
You Can Tango, You Can Trot, Dear, But Be Sure And Hesitate.
When It's Apple Blossom Time In Normandy.
A Fool There Was.
Take Me Back To Frisco Town.
Shadows.
Father Came Home With The Milkman In The Morning.
Dear Old Girl.
What A Wonderful Love That Would Be.

Make Your Lobby Display Attractive

There is nothing more fascinating to the public than a bright brass frame to display your photos or posters.

We make Lobby and Theatre Fixtures and Brass Rails of every description.

Don't fail to visit our Showrooms

Write for Catalog

The Newman Mfg. Co.

717 Sycamore Street, Cincinnati Ohio

Branch Factories and Showrooms:
101 Fourth Ave., New York, N. Y.
106-108 W. Lake St., Chicago, Ill.
Established 1882

LANG'S FILM REELS
THE BEST MADE
14 in. $1.50 10 in. $1.00
CATALOGUE
LANG MFG. WORKS, Olean, N. Y.

Lantern Slide Mat Co.

Manufacturers of

Lantern Slide Mats and Reel Bands

Prompt Service	Prices Right	Best Goods

627 Greenwich Street, New York
General Electric Company Building

Telephone: Spring 8558

THE CORCORAN RACK IS THE BEST EVER

Get No. 6 Price List

A. J. CORCORAN, INC.

9½ John Street New York

HAMMERSTEIN WILL GIVE PICTURES AND OPERA

Oscar Hammerstein announces that he will open his new opera house on Lexington avenue, between Fiftieth and Fifty-first street, New York City, on August 8, and operate it as a motion picture house and vaudeville theatre. The chief vaudeville acts will be, as Mr. Hammerstein expressed it, "snatches from grand opera." The singers will be some of the artists Mr. Hammerstein engaged before the courts stepped in and issued an injunction restraining him from giving grand opera in the new building because he had made a contract with the Metropolitan Opera House Directors agreeing to keep out of the grand opera field ten years.

Mr. Hammerstein does not propose to give entire scenes from any of the operas, but will simply present the singers as individual performers in songs from the best-known operas. In addition there will be an orchestra which will confine its playing almost entirely to grand opera selections.

The policy of the house will follow closely along the lines of the Strand Theatre, where the film plays are interspersed with musical selections.

One of the best-known conductors of opera will be in charge of the orchestra and the prices of admission will not be more than 25 cents. The theatre will seat 3,000 persons.

In addition to the orchestra, a large organ is being installed. It will be given over entirely to playing selections from grand opera.

The new building has been completed, and the only work remaining to be done is the interior decorating and the placing of the 3,000 seats.

CHRONO-KINETOGRAPH BANKRUPT

A petition in bankruptcy has been filed against the Chrono-Kinetograph Company, manufacturers of films and records at 222 West Forty-second street, New York, by these creditors: J. K. Haslet, $5,700; D. J. Charles, $5,700, and T. C. Witherspoon, $10,700, all for loans to the company. Liabilities are said to be $50,000 and assets $5,000. The company was incorporated on October 30, 1912, with capital stock $6,000,000, to exploit a synchronizing machine.

Watch for Release Date on

THE LITTLEST REBEL

Should A Woman Tell?

A splendid big feature is proving the biggest hot weather attraction on the market. It played to big success for months on Broadway. For bookings write now to

THE PHOTOPLAY PRODUCTIONS RELEASING COMPANY
37 S. Wabash Ave. Chicago, Ill.

FURNITURE & FURNISHINGS
On RENTAL
We equip your settings complete in accordance with your scenario.
WILLIAM BIRNS
103-105 West 37th St.
Phone: Greeley 6255.

RENTERS OF REAL FEATURES
European Feature Film Corp.
J. H. STEINMAN, Mgr.
220 West 42nd Street New York City

Your negative developed, printed and titled complete
5c per foot delivered within 12 hours
Titles 6c per foot
GUNBY BROS., Inc.
145 West 45th Street New York City

LE COURRIER Cinematographique
28 Boulevard St. Denis, - Paris
Directeur: Charles LE FRAPER
Journal hebdomadaire français, le plus important de l'industrie cinematographique.
Envoie numéro spécimen, sur demande.
Abonnement 12 FR. 50

USE YOUR BRAINS
And save money for slides Write the
NIAGARA SLIDE COMPANY LOCKPORT, N. Y.

HEADQUARTERS FOR POWERS, MOTIOGRAPH, SIMPLEX AND EDISON MACHINES
PICTURE THEATRE EQUIPMENT CO.
THE BIGGEST MOTION PICTURE SUPPLY HOUSE IN AMERICA
21 EAST 14th STREET, NEW YORK CITY
CONDENSERS—BOOTHS—TICKET CHOPPERS—REELS—REEL CASES—BOOTH CABINETS
WE EQUIP MOTION PICTURE THEATRES COMPLETELY

RADIUM GOLD FIBRE SCREENS

"They Save Your Eyes"

We will make you a success in the Moving Picture business.

We will show you how to get in, get up and get over.

The first step to success is to have us install a

Radium Gold Fibre Screen

This will positively produce the most perfect pictures—prevent eye-strain and headaches – cut down your "juice" bill from one-half to one-third.

Ask for ATSCO'S Easy Payment Plan!

We can supply you with everything you need—projectors, lighting systems, fans, scenery, chairs, musical instruments, souvenirs, everything

Send for our complete catalogue. Write for salesman to call.

ATSCO, Inc.

218 West 42d Street New York

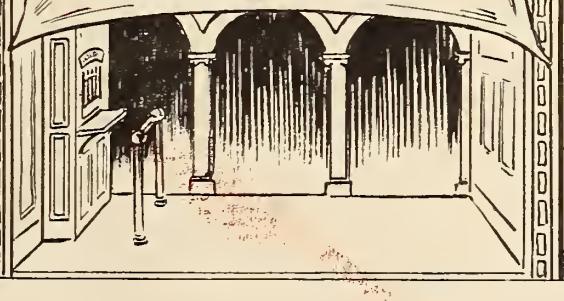
and everywhere

Atsco Makes Customers— Not Trades



"ENOUGH SAID"

EVERY THEATRE

GET BUSY
BOOK THIS GREAT PROBLEM
PLAY NOW RELEASED
AUGUST 4TH

COMING
THE TREY O' HEARTS
BY
LOUIS JOSEPH VANCE

YOUR HOUSE WILL BE CROWDED FROM DOOR TO DORMER IF YOU ARRANGE FOR SPECIAL ADVERTISING FOR
THE TREY O' HEARTS

USE THE BRAINS GOD GAVE YOU

UNIVERSAL FILM MANUFACTURING COMPANY

CARL LAEMMLE, PRES.

WHILE the daily newspapers are giving their opinions on the big events of the day, you can be showing these same events to your patrons in

THE PATHÉ DAILY NEWS

People no longer have to take the conflicting "opinions" of different newspapers—they can see with their own eyes the big world happenings a few hours after they occur, and while they are still news.

The theatres that run the PATHÉ DAILY NEWS are catering to the demands of the wide-awake American public which is always looking for something new. THE PATHÉ DAILY NEWS is both news and new.

ECLECTIC FEATURE FILM EXCHANGES FOR YOUR USE

ATLANTA Rhodes Bldg.	BOSTON 3 Tremont Row	CHICAGO 5 So. Wabash Ave.	DALLAS Andrews Bldg.	LOS ANGELES 114 E. 7th St.	MINNEAPOLIS 4th & Hennepin Sts.
NEW YORK 115 E. 23rd St.	PITTSBURGH 715 Liberty Ave.	SAN FRANCISCO 67 Turk St.	ST. LOUIS 3210 Locust St.	SYRACUSE 214 E. Fayette St.	CINCINNATI 217 E. 5th St.
CLEVELAND 622 Prospect Av., S.E.	PORTLAND 392 Burnside Ave.	PHILADELPHIA 1235 Vine St.	WASHINGTON 7th & E Sts., N.W.	NEW ORLEANS 910 Gravier St.
SEATTLE 810 Third Ave.	OMAHA 1312 Farnam St.	DENVER Nassau Bldg.	KANSAS CITY 928 Main St.	SALT LAKE CITY 68 South Main St.

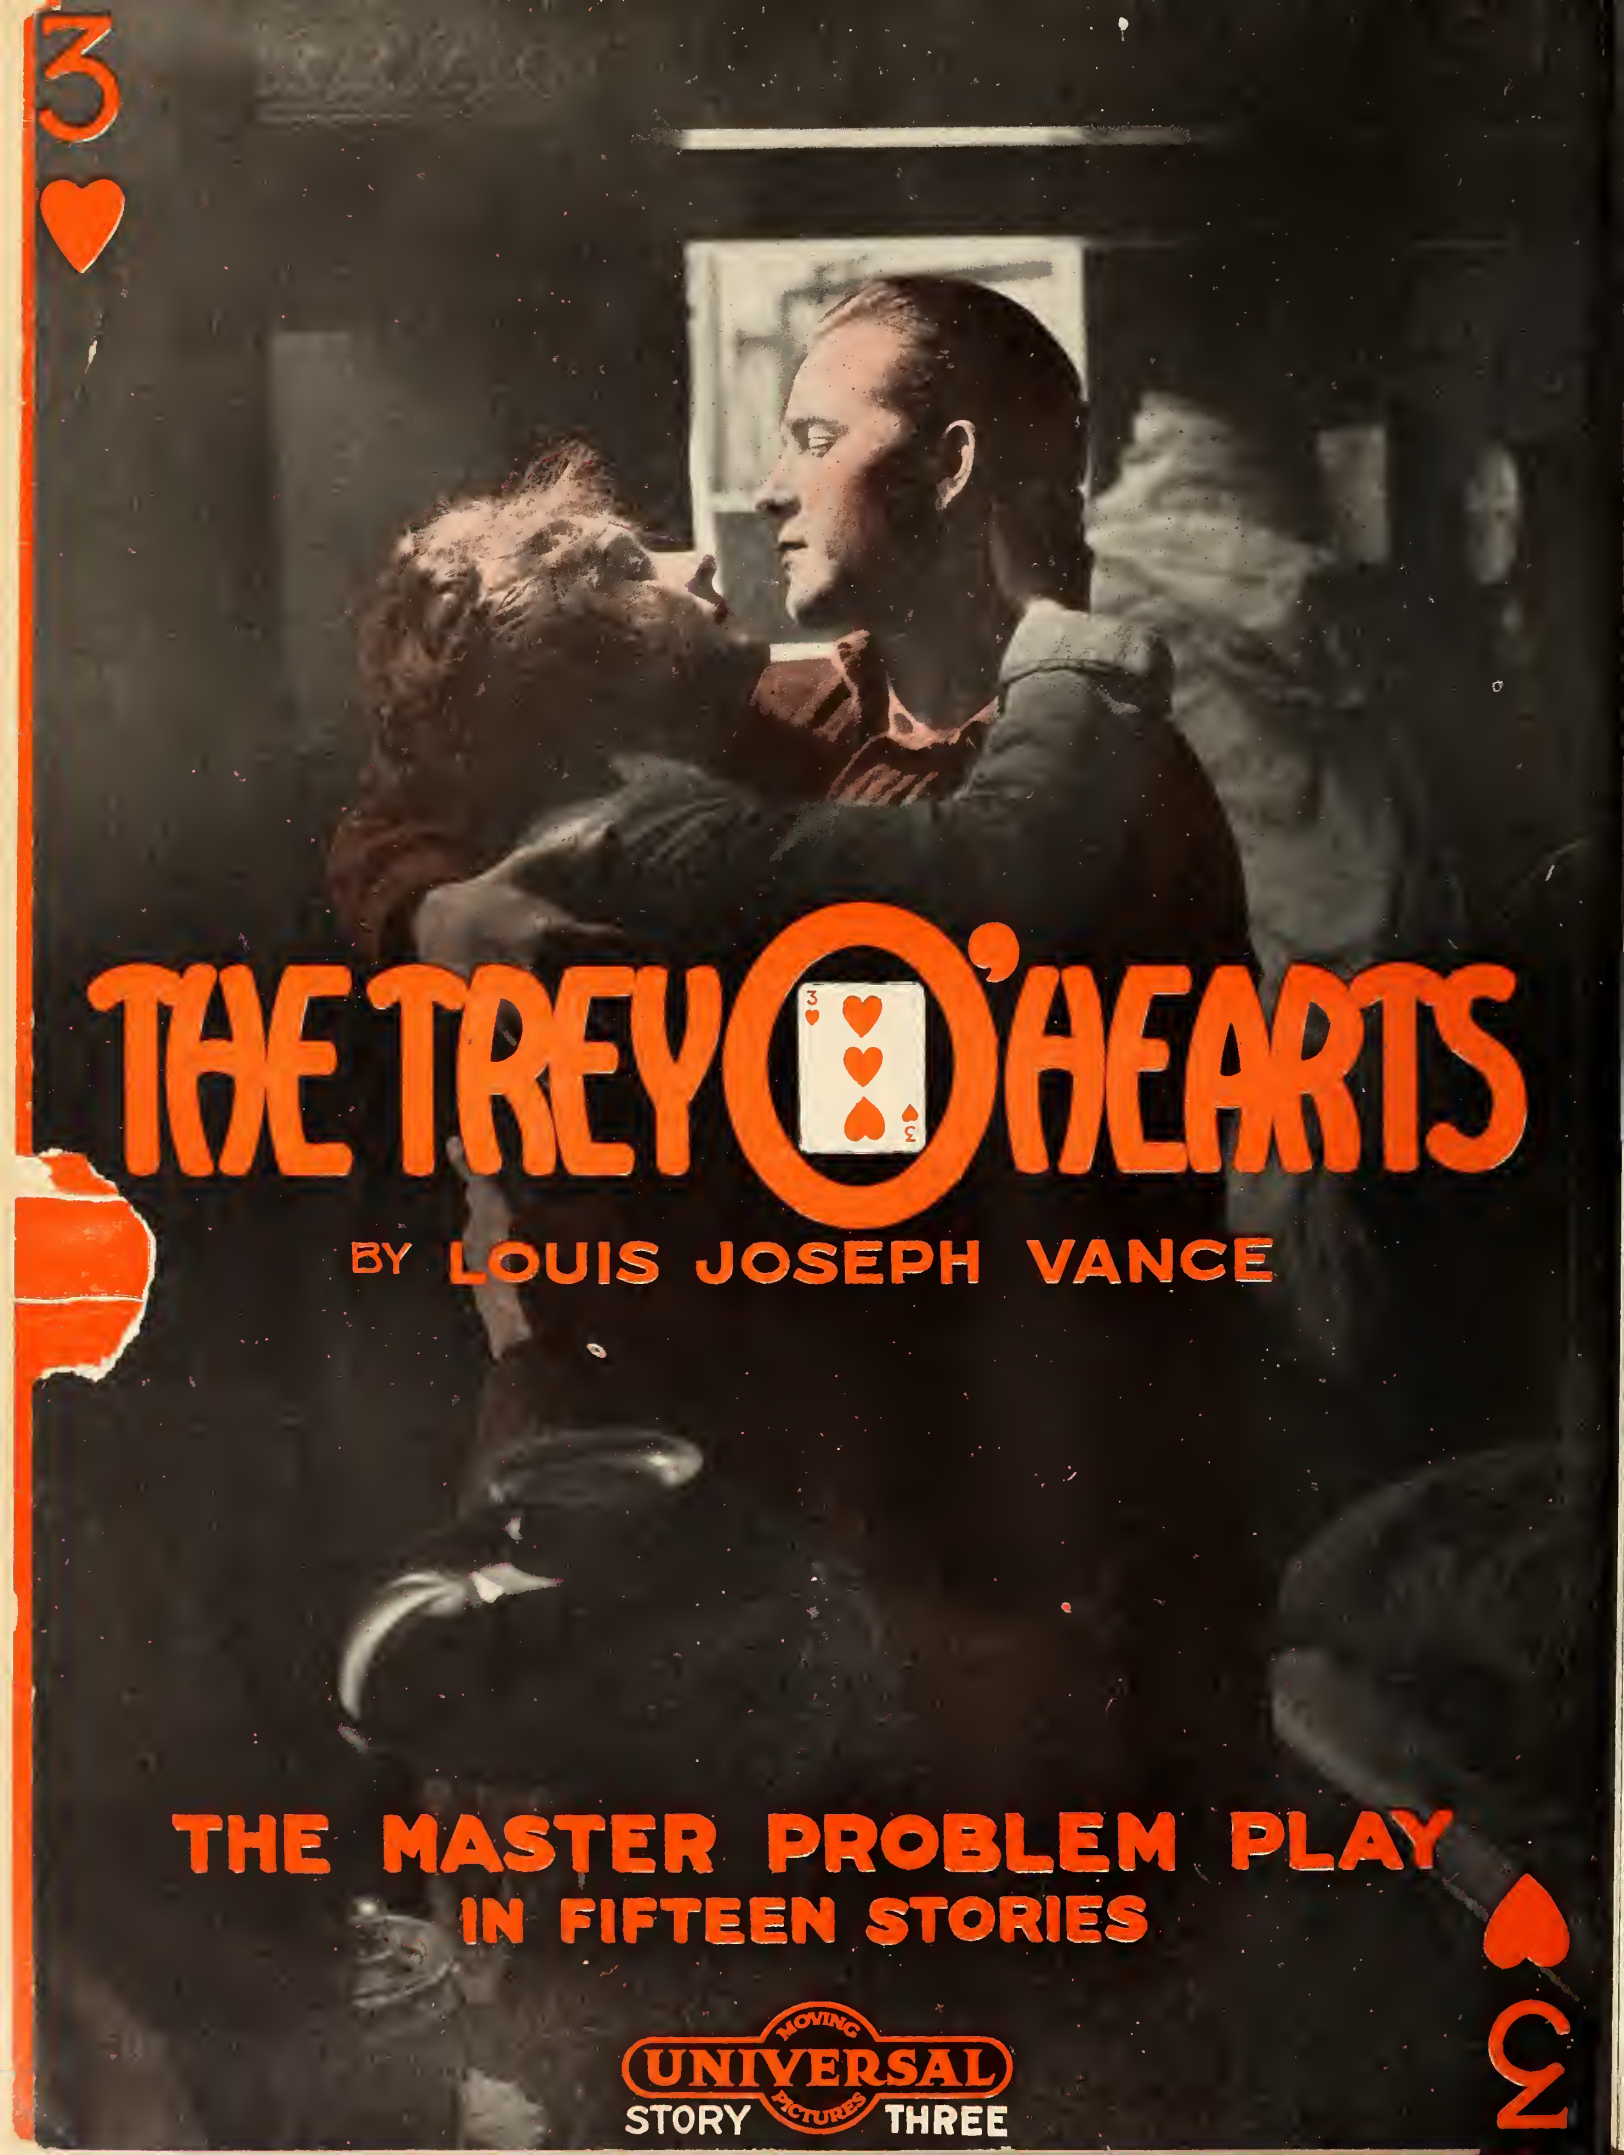
For further particulars address your nearest branch, or

THE PATHÉ DAILY NEWS

1 Congress Street Jersey City, N. J.

AUGUST 8, 1914 PRICE, 10 CENTS

The Motion Picture News



PRODUCERS PRESENT "JOHN BARLEYCORN"

In Spite of PENNSYLVANIA CENSORS:

Board Weakens

The fastest growing picture journal

VOLUME X NUMBER 5

3
THE TREY O'HEARTS
BY LOUIS JOSEPH VANCE
THE MASTER PROBLEM PLAY
IN FIFTEEN STORIES
MOVING
UNIVERSAL
PICTURES STORY THREE

HERE'S YOUR OPPORTUNITY

WHY

READ ABOUT THINGS THAT HAPPEN
WHEN YOU CAN SEE THEM HAPPEN?

Reading about an event can not give you an accurate idea of just what took place. Eyes are better than ears and with you can show your patrons the news so soon after it happens that it still is news and hot news too. The Pathé camera pries into every corner where news is being made and preserves it instantly. The pictures are the most accurate and interesting news reports possible, and everybody is interested in news. Why not get this interest for your theatre?

THE PATHÉ DAILY NEWS

ATLANTA Rhodes Bldg.	BOSTON 3 Tremont Row	CHICAGO 5 So. Wabash Ave.	DALLAS Andrews Bldg.	LOS ANGELES 114 E. 7th St.	MINNEAPOLIS 4th & Hennepin Sts.
NEW YORK 115 E. 23rd St.	PITTSBURGH 715 Liberty Ave.	SAN FRANCISCO 67 Turk St.	ST. LOUIS 3210 Locust St.	SYRACUSE 214 E. Fayette St.	CINCINNATI 217 E. 5th St.
CLEVELAND 622 Prospect Av., S.E.	PORTLAND 392 Burnside Ave.	PHILADELPHIA 1235 Vine St.	WASHINGTON 7th & E Sts., N.W.	NEW ORLEANS 910 Gravier St.
SEATTLE 810 Third Ave.	OMAHA 1312 Farnam St.	DENVER Nassau Bldg.	KANSAS CITY 928 Main St.	SALT LAKE CITY 68 South Main St.

For further particulars address your nearest branch, or

THE PATHÉ DAILY NEWS

1 Congress Street Jersey City, N. J.

The Perils of Pauline

have removed all "peril" of your not being able to show a profit at the box office.

"The Perils of Pauline" is a serial story in films, complete in each episode —the surest way to build up a large and steady attendance at your theatre.

Folks who have once seen Pauline, come back to see her in her next Peril.

Pauline Puts Profits in Your Pockets

Colonel Heeza Liar

In which the famous cartoon comedy character by the inimitable J. R. Bray, takes a trip up "The River of Doubt" and dispels all doubt of your patrons enjoying themselves. A laugh with every click of the reel.

Get Out and Get Under

One Reel American Comedy

"Get Out and Get Under" is another of the laugh-teasers which today are helping to establish the Eclectic reputation for clean-cut breath-catching comedy. Will help to double your patrons up this week, and to double your attendance next week.

ECLECTIC FEATURE FILM EXCHANGES FOR YOUR USE

ATLANTA Rhodes Bldg.	NEW YORK 115 E. 23rd St.	BOSTON 3 Tremont Row	PITTSBURGH 715 Liberty Ave.	CHICAGO 5 So. Wabash Ave.	SAN FRANCISCO 67 Turk St.
DALLAS Andrews Bldg.	ST. LOUIS 3210 Locust St.	LOS ANGELES 114 E. 7th St.	SYRACUSE 214 E. Fayette St.	MINNEAPOLIS 4th & Hennepin Sts.	CINCINNATI 217 E. 5th St.
CLEVELAND 622 Prospect Av., S.E.	PORTLAND 392 Burnside Ave.	PHILADELPHIA 1235 Vine St.	WASHINGTON 7th & E Sts., N.W.	NEW ORLEANS 910 Gravier St.	SEATTLE 810 Third Ave.
OMAHA 1312 Farnam St.	DENVER Nassau Bldg.			KANSAS CITY 928 Main St.	SALT LAKE CITY 68 South Main St.

THE ECLECTIC FILM COMPANY

110 West 40th Street — New York City

"The Cream of American and European Studios"

All Love Excelling

American Pathé Made in Three Parts

Featuring Crane Wilbur and Eleanor Woodruff.

A story of a woman's sacrifice for the man she loves—how she saves him from disgrace with his wife and his son from death and disappointment—all at the cost of her own happiness. From Washington through the Crimean War—a demonstration of a great unselfish devotion with a plot that carries one through stirring unexpected action.

The Masked Motive

A skillfully acted drama in 5 parts with a plot full of sudden surprises and unexpected situations. How a disappointed suitor plots to get even and brings about destruction to two happily married couples and their children. The clever twists to the plot and the high caliber of the acting combined with the rapidity of shifting situations make this an unusually absorbing film.

Special Programme Announcement

Every Wednesday and Friday.....A Super-Excellent Multiple Reel Feature
Every Tuesday.....American Made One or Two Reel Comedy
Every Other Monday....."Perils of Pauline"
Mondays, when Pauline is not released—Cartoon Comedy—or Comedy and Short Scenic Educational subject in Natural Colors.

ECLECTIC FEATURE FILM EXCHANGES FOR YOUR USE

ATLANTA Rhodes Bldg.	NEW YORK 115 E. 23rd St.	BOSTON 3 Tremont Row	PITTSBURGH 715 Liberty Ave.	CHICAGO 5 So. Wabash Ave.	SAN FRANCISCO 67 Turk St.
DALLAS Andrews Bldg.	ST. LOUIS 3210 Locust St.	LOS ANGELES 114 E. 7th St.	SYRACUSE 214 E. Fayette St.	MINNEAPOLIS 4th & Hennepin Sts.	CINCINNATI 217 E. 5th St.
CLEVELAND 622 Prospect Av., S.E.	PORTLAND 392 Burnside Ave.	PHILADELPHIA 1235 Vine St.	WASHINGTON 7th & E Sts., N.W.	NEW ORLEANS 910 Gravier St.	SEATTLE 810 Third Ave.
OMAHA 1312 Farnam St.	DENVER Nassau Bldg.			KANSAS CITY 928 Main St.	SALT LAKE CITY 68 South Main St.

THE ECLECTIC FILM COMPANY

110 West 40th Street — New York City

"The Cream of American and European Studios"

ACROSS the

Mexican War Feature in 3 thrilling Parts

Produced by Colorado Motion Picture Co.

Released by Warner's Features, Inc.,

BORDER

THIS stirring story of the Mexican border-land is conceded by critics to be the best film of its kind yet produced. Its remarkable success is due to the originality of the scenario, the realism of the pictures and the splendid acting of Miss Grace McHugh, the gifted star who lost her life in its production. It is somewhat consoling to reflect that in this great drama Miss McHugh has bequeathed to us an example of her work at the height of her powers. The part of Anita, the Mexican smuggler's daughter, is exactly suited to her. From her first meeting with the Texas Ranger, through all the intrigues, conspiracies, fighting and love-making, to her break-neck night-ride for the troops to save her sweetheart and back in the gray dawn at their head, her work is marked by superb technique, marvellous poise and undaunted courage.

What the Critics Say:—

From the Motion Picture News:—"The picture can take its place with the foremost pictures of its kind. Warner's Features control the picture and in their projection room, where the censors and reviewers witnessed the production, it was acclaimed without one dissenting voice the best yet."

From the New York Telegraph:—"To the obvious advantage of being a timely play, 'Across the Border' adds the assets of good photography, good action and a setting which makes an excellent background against which to project lively action of the hard-riding, hard-shooting type."

There is a Warner's Exchange near you. Book this Big Feature now.

WARNER'S FEATURES, Inc.,
130-W-46th St., New York

KAY BEE FEATURES

KAY BEE

The Gangsters and the Girl. - Two Parts. Aug 7th.
The Stigma. - - - - Two Parts. Aug. 15th.
Thos. H. Ince, Director General.

KAY BEE

DOMINO WINNERS

DOMINO

The Thunderbolt. - - - Two Parts. Aug. 6th.
A Romance of the Sawdust Ring. Two Parts. Aug. 13th.
Thos. H. Ince, Director General.

DOMINO

BRONCHO HEADLINERS

BRONCHO

Jim Regan's Last Raid. - - Two Parts. Aug. 5th.
Shorty and the Fortune Teller. Two Parts. Aug. 12th.
Thos. H. Ince, Director General.

BRONCHO

KEYSTONE COMEDIES

KEYSTONE

Three Comedies a week.
Monday, Wednesday and Saturday release days.
Mack Sennett, Director General.

KEYSTONE

KEYSTONE COMEDIES

Photos

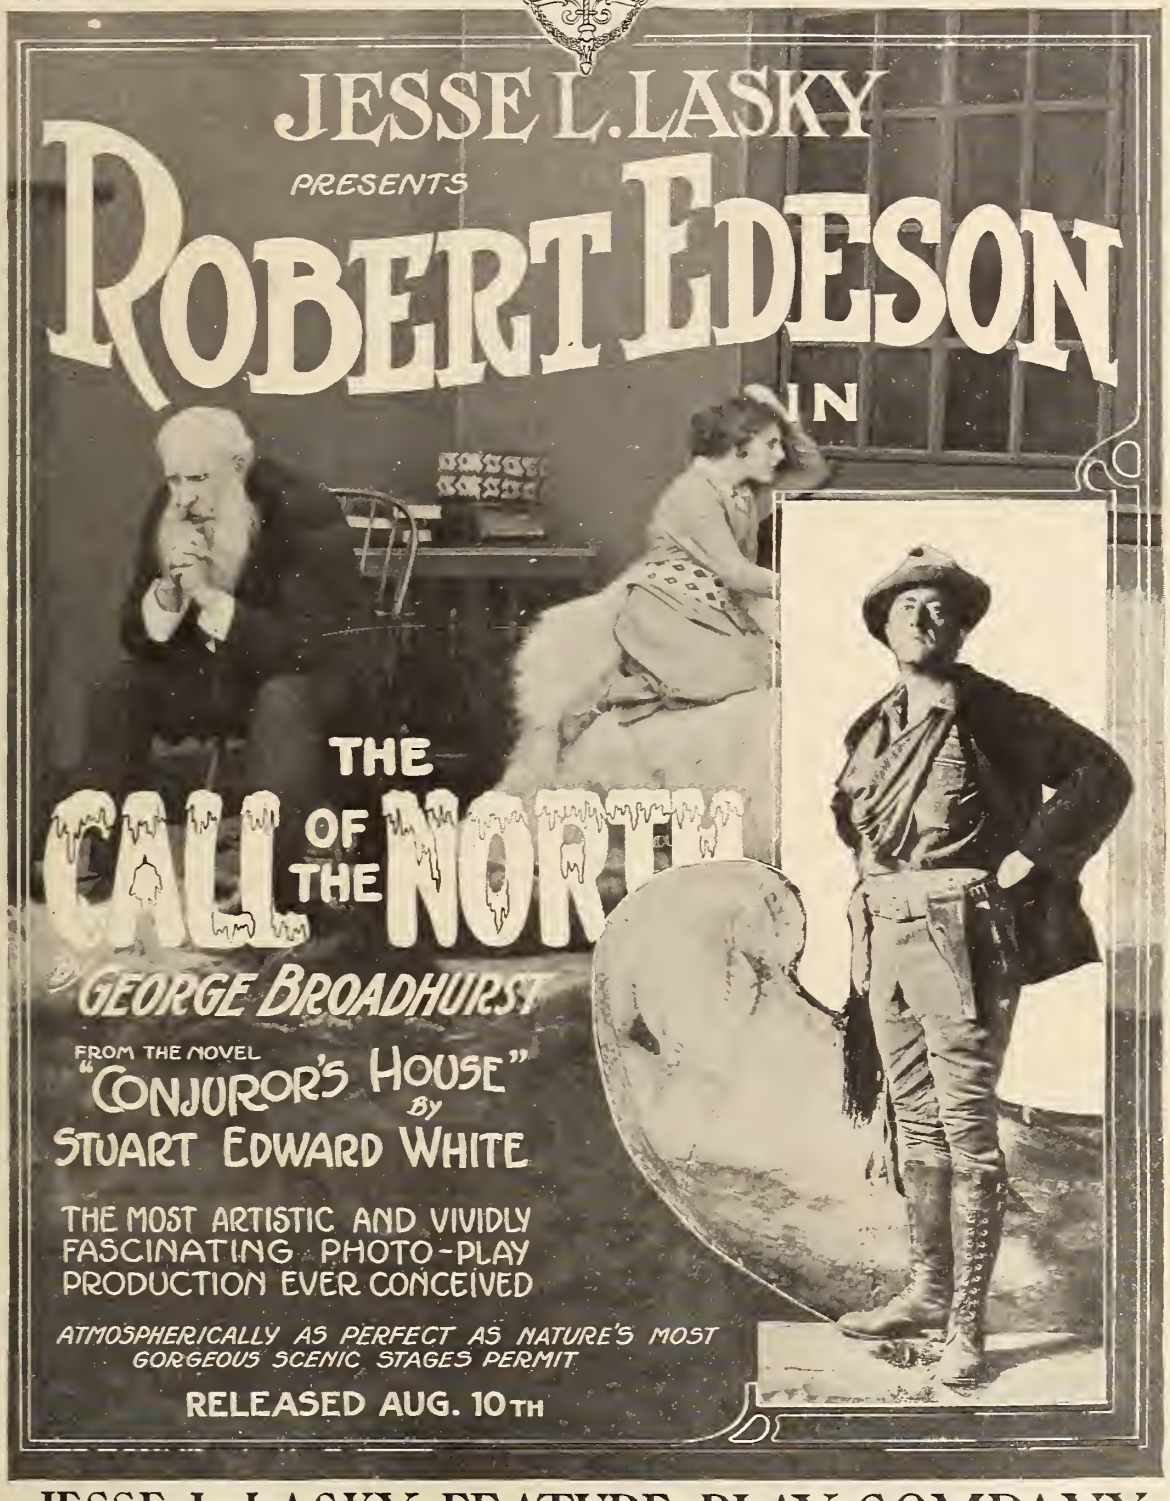
8 by 10 Photos of players mentioned below can be had by sending to the Publicity Department. 15 cents for one; 50 cents for sets of four; $1.00 for sets of eight

Mack Sennett
Mabel Normand
Charles Chaplin
Roscoe Arbuckle
John Keller
Harry G. Keenan
J. Frank Burke
Webster Campbell

Thos. H. Ince
Gertrude Claire
Barney Sherry
Richard Stanton
Gretchen Lederer
Margaret Thompson
Tsuru Aoki
Sessue Hayakawa
Roy Laidlaw
Clara Williams
Jay Hunt
Rhea Mitchell
Mildred Harris
Shorty Hamilton
Walter Edwards
Charles Ray
Walter Belasco
Frank Borzage
Thomas Chatterton
Leona Hutton
W. S. Hart
Enid Markey

A set of 8 by 10 of "KEYSTONE MABEL" in four different poses, 50c.

New York Motion Picture Corporation



Longacre Building, 42nd Street and Broadway NEW YORK

JESSE L. LASKY

PRESENTS

ROBERT EDESON

IN

THE CALL OF THE NORTH

BY GEORGE BROADHURST

FROM THE NOVEL "CONJUROR'S HOUSE" BY STUART EDWARD WHITE

THE MOST ARTISTIC AND VIVIDLY FASCINATING PHOTO-PLAY PRODUCTION EVER CONCEIVED

ATMOSPHERICALLY AS PERFECT AS NATURE'S MOST GORGEOUS SCENIC STAGES PERMIT

RELEASED AUG. 10TH

JESSE L. LASKY FEATURE PLAY COMPANY

LONG ACRE THEATRE — W. 48TH STREET

JESSE L LASKY, PRESIDENT — N. Y. C. — SAMUEL GOLDFISH, TREAS. & GEN'L MANAGER

CECIL B DEMILLE, DIRECTOR GENERAL

AM

Satisfied Patron Factories

EVERY house showing Mutual programme is a satisfied patron factory—turning them out with the "come again" expression that means money to the exhibitor.

Here are some of the reels you have heard about, big helpers in the production of satisfied patrons.

"Blue Pete's Escape" a two reel Reliance drama that shows the fine hand of D. W. Griffith in its direction.

Another from the Majestic Studio, "The Rebellion of Kitty Bell."

The "Izzy" series of screaming comedies help to bring them back.

Here are some more that you will hear successful exhibitors talking about.

"Fatty's Finish" Keystone.

"Blue Knot King of Polo"—A fine Drama from The American.

"The Water Dog" one of Keystone's best.

"The Severed Thong" a stirring two reel Majestic drama, supervised by Griffith.

"Nancy's Husband"—a one Reel Beauty (and a Beauty it is.)

"A Red Man's Heart" from the Majestic, and on the way there is the

"Romance of the Sawdust Ring," a Domino that will make its mark.

Every one of these is getting money for exhibitors that show the Mutual programme.

"The Million Dollar Mystery" that wonderfully successful Thanhouser series is being handled through the Mutual, so that once more every Mutual exhibitor has the advantage over his competitors.

Is your film exchange doing as much for you as the Mutual Film Exchanges are doing for Mutual exhibitors.

Mutual Film Corporation

Branches in 49 Cities New York

"30 FAMOUS FEATURES A YEAR"

DANIEL FROHMAN
Presents

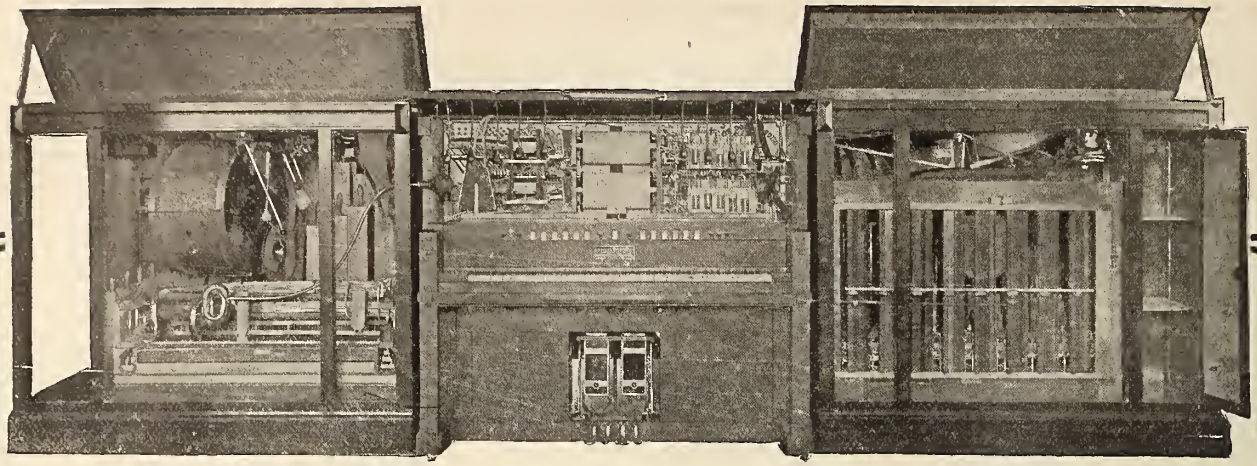
"THE BETTER MAN"

The Story of the Tremendous Struggle Between Two Clergymen for the World's Two Greatest Prizes,

By
Rev Cyrus Townsend Brady, L.L.D.

with

WILLIAM COURTLEIGH



In the Title Role,

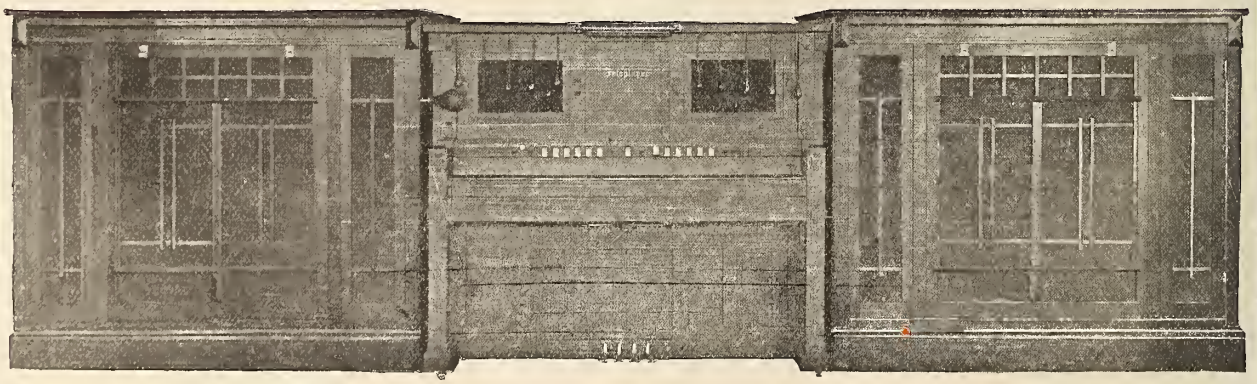
In
Four Reels of Motion Pictures
Released August 10th.

FAMOUS PLAYERS FILM COMPANY

ADOLPH ZUKOR, President
DANIEL FROHMAN, Managing Dir. EDWIN S. PORTER, Technical Dir.
Executive Offices, 213-229 W. 26th St., New York City.

"30 FAMOUS FEATURES A YEAR"

STYLE 40—OPEN—SHOWING PIPES, TRAPS, SWELL BOX AND PIANO PARTS



The "Fotoplayer"

Reg. U. S. Patent Office

Designed and built expressly for Motion Picture Theatres.
Played manually or with 88-note Player Piano Roll
giving Instant Change of Musical Selections.

Player Piano, Reed Organ, Violin, Cornet, 'Cello and Flute Pipes, Drums, Cymbals, Bells, Wind Siren, Locomotive Whistle, Auto Horn, Horses' Hoofs, Castanets, Tambourines, Etc., Etc.

WRITE FOR PRICES AND TERMS

THE FOTOPLAYER READY TO PLAY—"THE INSTRUMENT THAT SUPPLIES THE UNSPOKEN WORDS IN THE PICTURE." Design Patented

American Photo Player Company

Agents Everywhere

62 WEST 45th STREET, NEW YORK CITY
FACTORIES AT BERKELEY, CALIFORNIA, AND NEW YORK, N. Y.

We Ship Anywhere

Paramount Pictures

Handled Through a Perfected System of Distribution

Every Nook and Corner Covered
Exhibitors Big and Little Provided For

The United States Divided Into 11 Districts

THE DISTRIBUTORS ARE:

1—Famous Players Film Co. of New England, 31 Beach St., Boston, Mass.—New England States: Massachusetts, Connecticut, Maine, Rhode Island, New Hampshire and Vermont.

2—Wm. L. Sherry Feature Film Co., Inc. 126 West 46th St., New York City—Greater New York and New York State.

3—Famous Players Exchange, 1331 Vine St., Philadelphia, Pa., and 71 West 23d Street, New York City—New Jersey and Eastern Pennsylvania.

4—Famous Players Feature Co., 28 West Lexington St., Baltimore, Md.—Delaware, Maryland, Washington, D. C., and Virginia.

5—Famous Players Film Service, 404 Ferry Street, Pittsburgh, Pa., and 37 South Wabash Ave, Chicago, Ill.—Western Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and Kentucky.

6—Casino Feature Film Co., Dime Bank Bldg., Detroit, Mich.—Michigan.

7—Kansas City Feature Film Co., Gaiety Theatre Bldg., Kansas City, Mo.—Missouri, Kansas, Nebraska and Iowa.

8—Famous Players Star Feature Film Service, Temple Court Bldg., Minneapolis, Minn.—North and South Dakota, Minnesota and Wisconsin.

9—Notable Feature Film Co., Boston Bldg., Salt Lake City, Utah, and 1641 Stout Street, Denver, Col.—Utah, Colorado, Montana, Wyoming and Idaho.

10—Progressive Motion Picture Company, three offices—Head office: 642 Pacific Bldg., San Francisco, Cal.; Central Bldg., Seattle, Wash.; Marsh-Strong Bldg., Los Angeles, Cal.—California, Oregon, Washington, Nevada, Arizona and New Mexico.

11—Southern Feature Film Association, Dallas, Texas, and Atlanta, Ga.— North and South Carolina, Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi, Tennessee, Florida, Louisiana, Texas, Arkansas and Oklahoma.

A Complete Service for Every Week.
Write to your nearest Exchange for Paramount Pictures.
Make Your Bookings Now.

PARAMOUNT PICTURES CORPORATION

110 WEST 40th STREET - - NEW YORK CITY

Flo LaBadie as the heroine in "The Million Dollar Mystery."

Intensely Dramatic

Every episode—every scene—of The Million Dollar Mystery throbs with human emotion. The intensely dramatic situations cleverly portrayed by beautiful Florence LaBadie are exceptional examples of the motion picture art.

THE MILLION DOLLAR MYSTERY

By Harold MacGrath

Thanhouser's Million Dollar Motion Picture Production

The most exciting thrills in this stupendous production are still to come. Under-water pictures, Flo La Badie's dive off an ocean liner, a fire at sea, the dash of an automobile over a cliff—these are a few of the thrills coming. Remember, $10,000 will be paid for the best 100-word solution of The Million Dollar Mystery.

2-reel episodes of The Million Dollar Mystery are now being released every week. The Million Dollar Mystery is an independent release and may be obtained regardless of the regular program being used.

SYNDICATE FILM CORPORATION

71 W. 23rd Street, NEW YORK 166 W. Washington Street, CHICAGO

or Syndicate Film Corporation Representative at Any Mutual Exchange in the United States and Canada.

The Thanhouser Three-a-Week

36

Tuesday, August 4—"The Guiding Hand" with Mignon Anderson, Morris Foster and Cary Hastings.
Sunday, August 9—"The Tell-Tale Scar" with Mayre Hall and Morris Foster.

THANHOUSER FILM CORPORATION, New Rochelle, N. Y.

Head European Offices: Thanhouser Films, Ltd., London, W. C., England

Thanhouser's releases will continue to be features of the Mutual Program

When You See It In "The News" It's NEWS

The MOTION PICTURE NEWS

The Fastest Growing Picture Journal

Tel. 7650 Bryant. No. 220 West Forty-Second Street New York City

"The Exhibitor's Medium of Communication with His Fellow Showman"

Volume X August 8, 1914 Number 5

Value

ABOUT a month ago the advertising men of the country held a big convention at Toronto.

An ordinary business man who happened to be in Toronto and who was interested in advertising as a vital business problem, spent a good deal of time at the convention lectures.

* * *

IN the end he was mildly mystified, and so expressed himself to a group of advertising managers on the train back to New York.

"You fellows," said he, "have spent four days talking about truth in advertising. I have been wondering if your previous slogan was lies in advertising."

* * *

THERE is a good deal in this layman's observation.

It must have been forcefully evident to the innocent bystander at this interesting convention that something has been rotten in advertising Denmark.

* * *

AS a matter of fact, there have been and are publications that have lied and are lying about their circulations. They lie about quantity and they lie about quality.

But it isn't altogether their fault.

* * *

THE fundamental trouble with advertising to-day is not a lack of truth but a lack of intelligence. This lack of intelligence lies very largely with the advertiser: the publisher lies to meet this lack of intelligence on the part of the advertiser.

But the situation is changing. Conventions like the Toronto one are doing lots of good. Circulations are getting to be less of a joke and a delusion. Advertisers are buying them like merchandise—only after careful analysis and all-around estimation.

* * *

THE whole thing gets right down to value—just as it does with merchandise or with any other purchase.

One advertiser who buys every year as much as a quarter of a million dollars' worth of trade journal advertising, applies a rigid formula to get at circulation value.

THE formula is based in this way: the value of a medium is the quantity of its circulation multiplied by the purchasing power (per cent) of its readers for the thing advertised, divided by the advertising rate charged.

In other words:

$$V = \frac{C \times P}{R}$$

* * *

HERE'S a safe and simple yard-stick.

Equal value is given to quantity and quality of circulation, for if either one is deficient, obviously it neutralizes the value of the other, when the two are multiplied.

Again, value is determined when you divide by the rate charged. If the rate is too high you get a low value in proportion, or vice versa.

* * *

SO it's as clear as your hand before your face that you can't gauge advertising value by the circulation figures claimed and the rate charged. Neither one means anything unless you also consider that powerful factor—the purchasing power of the unit of circulation.

You might be offered a million circulation at a very low rate; but of what value is it if not one reader is in the market for your product?

* * *

ONE reputable owner of a high class theatre, permanently in business is worth more to the advertiser than several hundred hit or miss owners, or several thousand people only indirectly interested in the production or exhibition of pictures.

These are facts!

* * *

AND it is also a fact that the number of exhibitors permanently and seriously in business in this country falls short by 50% or more of the number generally and loosely claimed.

This is the kind of acid test that determines the value, the real dollar value of that misunderstood but really tangible commodity called circulation.

WILLIAM A. JOHNSTON.

25 TRENTON HOUSES DO GOOD SUMMER BUSINESS

Special to The Motion Picture News

Trenton, N. J., July 28.

The twenty-five motion picture houses in Trenton are all running throughout the season. The smaller ones are doing a good business, the managers declare, notwithstanding the opening of a few airdomes. The largest of the latter class is on South Montgomery street, near State, and around the corner from the State Street Theatre, the largest motion picture and vaudeville house in the city. The State Street management, however, says that the new place has not hurt its trade and in fact the house has been crowded throughout the season.

The Trent Theatre, the vaudeville and legitimate playhouse of the city, after closing an engagement with a stock company, has enjoyed two weeks of good business with motion pictures, now showing Annette Kellermann in "Neptune's Daughter." The prices charged at matinees are fifteen cents and at night fifteen and twenty-five cents.

MAN SUCCEEDS WOMAN CENSOR

Special to The Motion Picture News

Los Angeles, Cal., July 27.

Mayor Rose, of Los Angeles, has announced that he will name a man on the motion picture censor board to succeed Mary N. Whipple, who resigned.

The board originally was composed of four women and three men, and it was one of Mayor Rose's promises to the voters that he would replace women with women and men with men whenever there were vacancies on his commissions.

AUTHOR OF "CABIRIA" ILL IN PARIS

Gabriele D'Annunzio, the author of "Cabiria," now being shown at the Knickerbocker and other theatres throughout the country, was recently ill in Paris and not expected to recover. Signor D'Annunzio is fifty-one.

"Cabiria" has made him known by reputation to millions of people, while as a "regular" dramatist he was only known to the cultured minority.

J. C. DOYLE DEAD IN SYRACUSE

Special to The Motion Picture News

Syracuse, N. Y., July 29.

Manager J. C. Doyle, of the Johnson Opera House at Seneca Falls, N. Y., dropped dead of heart disease in his home. Doyle was an old show man, and had done much to popularize pictures in Seneca Falls. His sudden death will be a shock to his many friends among the exhibitors throughout the state.

Seek to Reach Price Agreement in Detroit

Exchanges Balk at Refusing Service to Theatres that Violate League's Rules—Want Limit Made in Feet, Not Number of Reels

Special to The Motion Picture News.

Detroit, July 29.

THE question of how many reels shall be shown for a given price came up for extended discussion at the meeting of the Detroit Exhibitors League last week. The league has a rule of three reels for five cents or five reels for 10 cents.

An effort was made to bind feature exchanges and those giving programs to an agreement to refuse service to a theatre violating the rule. Not all would agree to such a course, fearing the interference of the state or federal government.

One exchange complains that 3,500 feet, the length of film the exhibitors league permits for five cents, is equivalent to many a four-reel feature and argues that the limit should be three thousand feet for five cents or six thousand feet for ten cents.

While there is practical unanimity of opinion on the limiting of the number of reels and most of the theatres abide by the league's rules, it has been impossible to shut out the theatres ignoring the rule.

Increased business of the Casino Feature Film Corporation, Detroit, has made necessary extensive changes in its building at 34 Farmer street. The entire third floor is to be given up to its poster department, the second floor to shipping and receiving rooms and the first to film vaults and exchange rooms and projection room, and the office and shipping department. The sign shop and electrical shop and carpenter shop have been moved across the street.

In the company's Liberty Theatre, on Farmer street, a row of boxes is being installed clear across the house on a balcony in front of the projecting room and Manager Pierce's office.

L. W. Bailey.

Pittsburgh Exhibitors Seek Union

Will Confer with Eastern and Central Pennsylvania Associations Relative to Amalgamation—Herrington and Delves as Envoys

Special to The Motion Picture News

Pittsburgh, Pa., July 30.

A SPIRITED meeting of the Motion Picture Exhibitors Association was held last Monday evening in the headquarters of the organization, 113 Fourth avenue, and lasted longer than any other meeting ever held by these men.

President Herrington and Secretary Delves were appointed a committee of two to meet with a committee from Philadelphia at Harrisburg, this week, with the object of paving the way for consolidation with the old league, which flourishes in the eastern part of the state and the association which controls the western end of Pennsylvania.

The day of the meeting in the state capital has not been decided upon, but it is expected that the meeting will be held the latter part of the week. The question of issuing a weekly periodical was also discussed and at the conclusion of the debate the matter was placed in the hands of a committee of five to consider and take action. Their report is awaited eagerly by their associates in the Association.

A number of applications for membership in the organization were acted upon favorably, but the discussion regarding amalgamation with the Eastern Exhibitors Association was the main business transacted.

G. L. McCoy.

Photoplay Houses Alone Survive in Rochester

Other Theatres, Even Two-a-day Places, Forced to Close for Lack of Business—Exhibitors Find Trade Exceeds Expectations

Special to The Motion Picture News.

Rochester, N. Y., July 30.

THE motion picture theatres of Rochester have everything their own way this week, as they are alone in the amusement field in the city. All the regular houses, even the vaudeville theatres, have closed up. The Family Theatre, presenting C. B Keith vaudeville, was the last to close, and that is to be dark but one week.

It has been a dull summer for the regular theatres, the Lyceum holding out longest with a stock company. This is a first-class house. The Temple, a vaudeville house, tried a musical stock company, but gave up after a few weeks of bad business, and has been dark ever since.

The motion picture houses alone have been doing business. In some cases business has not been very brisk with them, but in most instances it has been better than was expected.

From now on the picture business will pick up rapidly, as August usually brings its cool days, and the nights are more often cool than warm in this section of the country.

Arthur R. Tucker.

Producers Engage Philadelphia Theatre to Show "John Barleycorn" as Censor Weakens

Bosworth Film Has Not Yet Been Passed, But Garrick Theatre, Philadelphia, Is Ready for Showing on August 1, Despite Delay—Breitinger, in Spirit of Compromise, Offers to Re-examine Picture If Cuts Cannot Be Agreed Upon—Newspapers Take Up the Controversy Lawyer Predicts Downfall of Censor Law in Courts

Special to The Motion Picture News

Philadelphia, July 30.

INCREASING determination on the part of the controllers of "John Barleycorn" here, not to be interfered with by the censors, and a wavering on the part of J. Louis Breitinger, the liquor attorney who heads the state censor board, from his uncompromising attitude of last week, are the most significant developments in the fight over the fate of the screen version of Jack London's celebrated story.

To emphasize their attitude toward censorial dictation, C. H. Pierce, representing Bosworth, Inc., and William E. Smith, of the Famous Players Exchange here, who are handling the films for eastern Pennsylvania, have rented the Garrick Theatre, one of the Quaker City's prominent playhouses, and will show "John Barleycorn" there on Saturday evening, August 1.

In contrast to this move is Censor Breitinger's offer to re-examine the film, in case Mr. Smith could not see his way clear to consenting to make the cuts demanded by the censors.

MR. SMITH, who is president of the Famous Players Exchange, had left for New York to confer with his partners but was appraised of the contents of the letter by wire. F. A. Garbutt, vice-president of Bosworth, Inc., also received a copy of the censor's letter by wire. The letter itself is as follows:

COPY

PENNSYLVANIA STATE BOARD OF CENSORS OF MOTION PICTURES

Harrisburg, July 24, 1914.

Mr. Smith,
Care Famous Players,
13th and Vine Streets,
Philadelphia.

Dear Sir:—The film entitled "John Barleycorn" has been examined, and while it was not up to the standard of films heretofore submitted by your company, nor entirely consistent with the book, we are ready to pass finally upon the film as soon as you advise us as to what report, if any, you have received from the manufacturers in California, as per your request to defer final action until you received this information. The following are the eliminations:

Reel 1. (a) Eliminate sub-title "To Offend an Italian to My Child Mind Meant Death."
(b) Scene of Italian forcing boy to drink five times, to be made shorter.
(c) Scene of boys drinking in barroom, to be made shorter.

Reel 2. (d) Eliminate the words "I had outdrunk two men" in the sub-title "John Barleycorn and I Were Good Friends," etc., etc.
(e) Scene of girls and boys drinking on boat, to be made shorter.

Reel 3. (f) Second view of barroom scene to be made shorter.

Reel 4. (g) Scene of men leaving barroom, to be made shorter.

Reel 5. (h) Drunken scene on boat to be made shorter.

If these are not agreed to, we will be glad to have the film reexamined.

Yours very truly,
(Signed) J. Louis Breitinger,
Chief Censor.

THIS letter eliminates some of the cuts at first suggested and reduces the number wanted by about sixty per cent. It also asks for cuts not given in the list published in these columns last week. In all, eight cuts are requested and no recommendation is now made as to adding any matter not in the original story.

The Philadelphia newspapers continue to give the affair much space, and two more have considered it of sufficient importance to treat it editorially. The "Evening Telegraph" has this to say:

"'MOVIE' CENSORSHIP DISPUTE

"J. Louis Breitinger, chief censor of motion pictures for Pennsylvania, should lose no time in making public the exact grounds upon which he stands in delaying exhibitions of the 'John Barleycorn' pictures.

"The charge, made with great emphasis, that his sympathetic interest in the manufacture and sale of liquors has dictated his policy, is of such serious significance that the public will expect and require an unequivocal statement of his position.

"From the first it has been inevitable that propagandists of various sorts should turn to motion pictures as an effective avenue for the expression of their views and theories. No form of proselyting could be less objectionable, or even less likely to extend beyond the boundaries of public favor.

"As literature 'John Barleycorn' was a frank recital of one man's experience with strong drink. If those experiences seem to constitute a temperance lecture which 'dry' advocates are now setting forth on the screen, all who disagree may disagree, but they must not suppress. [The italics are ours. Ed.] As well might the police power be employed to suppress all utterances distasteful to a director of public safety.

"It may be shown that Censor Breitinger's reasons for withholding approval of the films in question are quite free from personal interest.

"We hope that they are, and that he will demonstrate that they are."

THE "Press," one of the morning papers which last week openly admitted that it favored the "booze" interests, nevertheless gave the details of the Barleycorn story at much length in its news columns. On Sunday it came out in its editorial columns and upheld the censor in trying to suppress what they term "an attractive vice film." They sidestep the main issue entirely, that of censorship, and comment entirely on the character of the film itself. The editorial in part reads:

"'JOHN BARLEYCORN' IN MOTION PICTURES

"The first battle between the state motion picture censor and the film companies over a 'movie' version of Jack London's 'John Barleycorn,' gains more interest than one could have hoped for in such a controversy, first, from the fact that the story is so well known, and scarcely less in that for once the censor seems to have the right side of the dispute. Almost everyone is familiar with Jack London's narrative of his adventures with liquor. As first published in magazine instalments and later in book form, it was read wherever anything is read, and surely it was a fascinating tale.

"It was likewise, as almost anyone willing to speak candidly will admit, an extraordinarily immoral tale—the mad adventures along the San Francisco water front and later on the open sea, each inspired by a superhuman consumption of strong drink—these constitute no moral tale for women and babes, but pretty strong meat even for strong men.

"What the film may be one cannot say without having seen it. It is doubtful, however, that the thing can serve any high moral purpose. That an invited audience approved it means nothing, such audiences are inevitably prejudiced beforehand. To place it in a class with the sensational 'white slave' films is perhaps unjust; yet is there any essential difference? Vice is always attractive, when viewed through a romantic medium of a story or a motion picture. To disguise it as a moral pill is not to sweeten the heart of it."

THE other local newspapers favorable to the liquor interests simply gave the occurrence as little space as possible consistent with their idea of printing all the news.

When the editorial writer of the "Press" composed his article he was unaware of one point. The audience was not prejudiced either for or against this particular film. The guests who viewed it at the private exhibition were simply invited to see a film entitled "John Barleycorn."

After the close of the performance they were asked for candid opinions, and in every case the replies were flattering. Not until all these expressions had been made were they informed of the reason why the film had been given a private showing. Then it was that they asked the question, "What could the censor be thinking about?"

The National Board of Censorship wrote Mr. Smith an unsolicited letter regarding the matter and stated emphatically that they had passed the film. Their comment on the Pennsylvania censor's action is very much to the point. Their letter follows:

COPY

July 25, 1914.

Mr. William E. Smith,
Famous Players Exchange,
1331 Vine Street,
Philadelphia, Pa.

Dear Sir: We note among our press clippings that the photoplay "John Barleycorn," based on the London story which appeared in the "Saturday Evening Post" serially for some weeks, has been condemned by the State Board of Censorship of Pennsylvania. In this connection we have been asked to advise you that this picture has been passed by the National Board.

Some time ago the Anti-Saloon League of Massachusetts wrote the National Board asking if this film had yet been completed, as they understood that a company was working upon it. We gathered from the letter of the League that it was their intention to endorse the film as showing the evils of drink.

We note in a news item of the "Public Ledger" of July 3, the position which Mr. Breitinger has taken in condemning this picture. We believe, however, that he misinterpreted this film. Barroom scenes and scenes of drunkenness and disorder should, as a rule, be kept short as possible in motion pictures; nevertheless, in a picture of the character of "John Barleycorn," which is an evident preachment against drink, it is necessary to show the evils of the surroundings, etc., in order to drive home the lesson. This was the position the National Board took in the matter.

We are sending you, under separate cover, a pamphlet on the standards of the National Board in which you will find a paragraph referring to this situation.

Very truly yours,

THE NATIONAL BOARD OF CENSORSHIP,
(Signed) W. D. McGUIRE,
Executive Secretary.

IN spite of the censor's backdown, arrangements have been made to show the film in its uncensored state at the Garrick Theatre, one of Philadelphia's most prominent playhouses, on Saturday evening, August 1.

The theatre has been rented from the owners, and C. H. Pierce, representing Bosworth, Inc., and William E. Smith, of the Famous Players Exchange, who are handling the films in eastern Pennsylvania, will assume the responsibility of arrest if it comes. Seats will be sold for the performance through the regular channels.

Ex-Judge Jame Gay Gordon, counsel for the Famous Players Exchange, believes that the censorship bill will be quashed forever when the matter is finally decided in the courts.

He holds that the law creating the Pennsylvania board of censors is invalid, inasmuch as it interferes with the right of free speech guaranteed by the national Constitution. Every move of the film renters has been carefully mapped out by him, and it is hoped that the injunction will be granted by the courts promptly, so that the picture can be shown without interference or the attached penalty, which is of more than generous proportions.

The fine in Pennsylvania for showing uncensored pictures in public is $50 for the first offense and $100 for each subsequent offense.

Each day that a film is shown constitutes one offense.

JULIAN M. SOLOMON, JR.

Missouri Will Be Filmed for World's Fair

"Show-Me" State Will Exhibit Its Landmarks and Industries on the Screen to Visitors Throughout the Day at Panama Exposition

Special to THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS

Kansas City, Mo., July 29.

THE State of Missouri is going into the motion picture business. Governor Elliott W. Major, good roads booster and builder, has made that announcement from Jefferson City, and throughout his term he has used the pictures to aid in his various educational and uplift campaigns.

Now comes Missouri's newest motion picture wrinkle. The Missouri Building at the Panama Pacific Exposition in San Francisco next year will be turned into a huge motion picture theatre, and throughout the day visitors will be shown Missouri on the screen. They will be shown the boulevards and parks of Kansas City, the factories of St. Louis, the wheat and corn fields of the central counties, the lead, zinc, copper and iron mines of the southwest, the vacational centers of the Ozarks, the fruit and cotton sections of the southern portion, and the buildings and equipment of the state university.

Some of the pictures already have been made. The Commercial Club of Kansas City recently employed camera men and experts to make four reels showing every part of the city. St. Louis has done the same. Joplin and Sedalia have been portrayed in pictures, and Governor Major plans to begin parts of the work necessary to the San Francisco exhibit soon.

These plans were announced here several days ago by W. D. Smith, of Princeton, vice-chairman of the exposition committee appointed by the governor.

"This is a pet idea of Governor Major," Mr. Smith said. "He believes in the pictures as an advertising and educational agency. He himself is a silent drama 'fan'—if I may use that slang—and frequently he may be found in the picture theatres of Jefferson City."

The Missouri Building at San Francisco will be located in the center of the exposition site. It will be 123 feet by 64 feet, and work will start on it at once. The central half will be an auditorium and there the pictures will be shown.

G. E. QUISENBERRY.

Film Drama Supreme in New Orleans

Herman Fichtenberg, a Leading Theatre Owner of the South, Will Remodel the Dreamworld and Run Features at Twenty Cents—"Legitimate" Houses in Louisiana and Mississippi Put to Rout by Motion Pictures—Josiah Pearce and Sons Also Decide on Features

Special to The Motion Picture News.

New Orleans, July 30.

As openly as they dare do so, the "legitimate" theatres of New Orleans, and the rest of Louisiana and Mississippi, admit that they have been beaten by the motion-picture houses in their appeal to public patronage.

And just as openly as they believe that it is necessary to make the declaration, the motion-picture houses of this city are preparing to make the final, convincing test of the comparative drawing powers of the regular theatre and the high-class feature film attractions.

In summer, New Orleans is quiet, but in the winter it has more visitors per capita population than any other city in this country. And almost without exception these visitors come to New Orleans for amusement and recreation. To them the city is really a "play town." It has its France, its Spain, its Italy, all merged with American life into a great cosmopolitan city where one would expect to find and where one does find all of the play-ways common not only to this country, but those brought with them by the sons and daughters of other lands. That is why our own American people pour into this Crescent City by the thousands to view the "un-American"

A Tug of War with "Legit"

It is fitting, therefore, that in the "play city" that there should come such a test between the regular theatre, with its years behind it, and the comparatively new film offerings. And it is a test that the theatrical world is watching with a great deal of interest, and a great deal of apprehension.

This correspondence from New Orleans has referred several times to the situation in respect to the regular theatres, always made necessary by the accompanying announcement that this or that theatre had decided either to close its doors or turn to the films. But to understand the situation, and the inroads that the film houses have made, it is well to explain in some detail.

About three years ago the situation was this: The Tulane and Dauphine theatres were operated as high-class houses, playing week engagements of attractions at New York prices.

At the Tulane Theatre, Klaw & Erlanger attractions were, and still are, shown. At the Dauphine were the Shubert bookings.

In the meantime, the Lafayette, originally the Shubert house, had temporarily closed its doors. The Crescent, also a K. & E. house, played standard attractions at popular prices. The Lyric and Greenwall presented stock attractions and burlesque. The Orpheum and Hippodrome, and a little later the Lafayette, presented vaudeville. So far as announced, the plans for the coming season among the regular theatres are these:

Burlesque in Trouble

The Tulane will continue to present high-class attractions for a week's engagement, but the offering for the first three weeks will be a motion picture. The Orpheum will open, as usual, with Orpheum circuit vaudeville.

The Lyric will present burlesque at popular prices, a contract for seventy-two weeks having been signed with the Columbia Musical Comedy Company of New York. For the past two seasons the burlesque companies playing here have not been successful, and on more than one occasion the members of the organizations have had considerable trouble in raising the money to get out of town.

The Hippodrome, which is now being operated as a motion-picture house, will probably continue its policy, though some vaudeville may be added. The Lafayette has long been an exclusive motion-picture house.

No plans have been announced for the Greenwall and Dauphine, which are under the same management, but a stock company will probably be seen at either one or the other. And here comes the most significant announcement of all, so far as the motion-picture man is concerned.

The Crescent, which has in the past been the best "money getter" of any theatre and which has opened early and closed late with standard attractions at popular prices, will devote the first three months of its time to a stock company, headed by Emma Bunting, who has played here in stock before. Unofficially, it is stated that the reason why the theatre has been given over to stock is that there will not be sufficient companies playing at popular prices on the road to fill the time.

Bad for No. 2 Companies

This is the explanation given by one theatrical man, who, for obvious reasons, cannot allow his name to be used:

"There will be very few attractions of the medium class on the road this year. The New York managers are sending out few companies for the coming season and the attractions will be either of the high-class or of the very cheap sort. Theatres like the Crescent play attractions that in the one-night stands would charge $1, or possibly more, for the best seats.

"These are No. 2 companies playing productions that are two years or more old, minstrels that have been filling long engagements in the East or musical comedy organizations producing a piece whose success has already been made, with a curtailed company and cheaper people. One reason why there will not be an opportunity to see so many of these successful plays at popular prices is that the dramatic rights have been obtained by motion-picture producers, and the standard plays produced by all-star casts can be seen on the films for a lower price of admission than the same play could be presented in the theatre with a much cheaper company. There is no room for the No. 2 company when the film offers a better performance at a lower price."

So much for theatres. Now to the motion-picture houses. Comment has been made several times recently in these articles concerning the increase of high-grade motion-picture features in New Orleans. But a single year ago they were a rarity. To-day there is scarcely a house in the business section of the city that does not present one or more weekly and several of the higher grade houses are devoting their almost entire attention to them.

Feature Inauguration

But it has remained for this week to bring about the most significant development in features, and one that means that the contest for supremacy between the regular and the film house is at the crisis. This is the announcement of Herman Fichtenberg, owning a large string of theatres in Texas, Louisiana and Mississippi, that the Dreamworld Theatre, one of the leading film houses on Canal street, will be entirely remodeled and devoted in the future to high-grade features at the uniform admission price of twenty cents.

This theatre, which is now devoted to the general run of pictures, will present features exclusively, its name becoming the "All-Feature" Theatre or something similar. At his new Plaza Theatre, one of the handsomest houses in this section, features have occupied the greater portion of the time since the opening, and will continue to fill much of it, but the Dreamworld is to become the solely feature house.

A contract has just been closed with the Southern Feature Film Corporation for the presentation of the best productions of the Jesse L. Lasky Company, the Famous Players

Film Company and the All-Star Feature Corporation. Among the films listed for early presentation are "The Master Mind," with Edmund Breese; Herbert Kelcey and Effie Shannon in "After the Ball," Thomas W. Ross in "The Only Son," Max Figman in "The Man On the Box" and Lolita Robertson in "Fine Feathers."

As soon as the feature productions already on the market have been shown, the current feature productions will be presented as rapidly as they come from the manufacturers. It is the idea of Mr. Fichtenberg to confine his bookings to multiple reels of six reels or more and to present only assured successes.

Remarkable Success of Pearce

Definite announcements for the winter season have not been made by Josiah Pearce & Sons, who own five theatres here and others through Louisiana and Mississippi. During the greater part of the summer the Trianon and the Tudor, two new houses which have the largest seating capacities in the city, have been offering features with the admission ranging from ten to twenty-five cents, according to the production.

While it may be that the Pearces will not decide to single any theatre out as the particular feature house, it is known that they have decided to have such a production on hand all the time at one or the other of these houses. The Pearces have recently produced some of the greatest successes that have been filmed and their record has been a remarkable one. On some occasions high-priced films have been running at both houses, although demand of the business men on Canal street necessitates devoting attention to the one and two reels.

This in brief is the outline of the two managers for the coming season, but the writer predicts that before the season has run very far the Dreamworld, the Plaza, the Trianon and the Tudor will all be devoted almost entirely to features of the very highest grade available, at least during the evenings. And this suggests the remark that these managers have been sincere in endeavoring to give the people the very best in high-class multiple reels and that except for a few instances they have been most successful—so successful that one familiar with the general run of patrons of the regular theatre is impressed with the extent to which the patrons of the regular drama have taken to the films as a substitute for the flesh-and-blood actors.

Wins Best Patronage

The motion picture has at last won the regular patronage of the "upper strata," and there is no better index to this than the jammed lines of automobiles in front of the high-class film houses each evening. In fact, one of the houses recently achieved some valuable publicity by printing a flashlight of the great horde of motor cars in front waiting for its occupants to see the closing click of the reel.

Those who have predicted that the motion-picture house is a fad and will soon lose its popularity are pointing with satisfaction to the fact that some twenty-five picture houses in the city have been closed or are for sale or for rent. This is true. But the motion-picture business in New Orleans is good, when conditions are considered, and it will be better with the coming winter and the houses will continue to gain patronage and in numbers if the managers continue to show progressive ideas.

New Orleans has been face to face with some unpleasant conditions recently. Two years ago the high waters of the Mississippi, caused by the floods sent down from the States of the North and the middle West for this section to care for, caused considerable damage. There were breaks in the levees and a number of plantations were inundated.

On the tops of this came the revision of the tariff and free sugar, which meant the ruin of the state's chief industry. Immense plantations have been thrown on the market and their closing have thrown many people out of positions. Generally pleasant while the cities of the North and East are sweltering and with the lowest number of fatalities and prostrations from the heat of any city in America, this has been an unusually hot summer, for a record-breaking period.

City of First Runs

And to still further complicate affairs the visitation of the bubonic plague has unsettled business to some extent. There is no scare among the people, and the uninformed visitors would never know that there was a single case in the city, but it is a fact that the presence of even a few cases of the disease has had its effect upon the traveling public.

When these conditions are taken into consideration it may be safely stated that no city in the country has made a better showing in the motion-picture business than has New Orleans with all its handicaps.

To-day practically every serial film produced is being shown in New Orleans. Nearly every production of the three big booking organizations is given a first-run here. Almost all of the feature productions are seen by Orleaneans as early as in any of the other cities.

Yes, there have been failures in motion pictures here. The maudlin film is on its way. There are a few houses that are still appealing to the cheap, sensational or ignorant and the near-vicious, but there are mighty few of them left, and those that The Motion Picture News correspondent has visited recently had for audiences chiefly vacant seats. When the word "sensational" is used application is not made to the legitimate "thriller," but to the blood-and-thunder type of brute appeal that some years ago was believed by many necessary to draw the "heart interest."

These films are disappearing rapidly and they will disappear all the faster just as the sentiment which is fostering the high-grade features gains ground.

And just a word here. Comedies are great favorites in New Orleans, but producers may safely take warning that the slap-stick is being overdone and that the sameness in these productions is tending to make a tired, tired watcher rather than a zealous picture fan. Legitimate comedies with a soft pedal on the abject farce are needed in greater numbers, but some of the managers complain that these are hard to secure with sufficient regularity.

Cannot Get Enough Attractions

Now just a brief survey of Louisiana outside of New Orleans and of Mississippi. Lake Charles, on the western border of the state, breaks the jumps between this city and Texas points. Shreveport, the second largest city in the state, has a large theatre-going population and is a valuable "stand" between Memphis and Arkansas points, but it is difficult to see how enough attractions can be cared for in the one regular theatre of New Orleans and the Crescent, at the expiration of the three months of the Bunting Stock Company's engagement, to care for the attractions that will be "jumping through" Lake Charles and Shreveport.

Either these two cities will have to be served by attractions that are considered not good enough for the Tulane and Crescent theatres here, or else the managers of these attractions will have to face an alternative—cut out New Orleans and fill in the time with smaller cities.

In Mississippi the situation is similar. There is no really large city in that state. Meridian, Natchez, Jackson and Vicksburg are the largest and about the same size. There are any number of places ranging from the town-to-city class.

In Natchez the Baker Grand, the chief theatre, has become a motion-picture house. In Jackson the manager of the leading theatre is quoted in the local papers as ready to give up his lease when it expires at the end of the season. In Vicksburg the newspapers are publishing "Letters to the Editor" bewailing the reports that the Walnut Street Theatre, the chief playhouse of that city, is to be closed this season.

Meridian possibly offers a better outlook as it is on the direct line between this city, Atlanta, Chattanooga, Nashville

(Continued on page 50)

MILWAUKEE EXHIBITORS TRIUMPH OVER HEAT

Alhambra and Butterfly Theatres Pack in Audiences with Best Features Available and "Winter-Style" Advertising While Calamity-Howlers Gape in Amazement—Thermometer Showing Temperature of 100 Degrees Fails to Dampen Spirits of the City's Managers

Special to THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS

Milwaukee, Wis., July 29.

THE hot weather bugaboo has ceased to exist for the Milwaukee exhibitor.

Despite the fact that the past week has been a record one for heat (the thermometer reaching a hundred degrees, an unusual record for this city) two of the big downtown houses, the Alhambra and the Butterfly, went out after business and both got all they could handle.

Undaunted by the heat of last week and the promise of more heat for this week, Manager George Fischer, of the Alhambra, and Harry Graham, of the Butterfly, went right ahead and secured the biggest features that they could lay their hands on.

Manager Fischer booked "One Wonderful Night," with Beverly Bayne and Francis Bushman in the leading roles, for Wednesday and Thursday.

Not satisfied with this, he wired the Essanay company and secured Francis Bushman in person to come to Milwaukee and appear at the Alhambra on Thursday. He then got after the papers and advertised as though it was the middle of winter instead of mid-summer.

MANAGER GRAHAM, too, had little faith in the old summer bugaboo and he booked "Home, Sweet Home" for a mid-week showing.

He also did extremely heavy advertising in the newspapers.

Both Mr. Fischer and Mr. Graham were heartily laughed at by the "small time" exhibitor who having been told by some one, he knew not who, that, "in the summer no one did much business, and the best way to do was to cut down expenses as much as possible without actually going out of business and try to pull through without losing money."

Naturally this type of exhibitor thought that Messrs. Fischer and Graham were either crazy or bent upon suicide.

Until Wednesday evening they were loud in their criticisms of this unheard of way of running a theatre in the middle of summer.

WEDNESDAY night, however, they had all disappeared from view.

The Alhambra and Butterfly theatres were filled to capacity, despite the unusual heat, while Thursday night both houses "held 'em out" from early until late.

Though having received an actual demonstration of the fallacy of the hot weather bugaboo many of the croakers still stick to the old cry of "this is the slow season, be careful," and in explanation of the Alhambra and Butterfly's showing merely attribute it to a "bit of luck."

They, of course, entirely overlook the fact that on account of most of the legitimate theatres being closed for the summer the advertisements of the two houses made up over fifty per cent of the theatre advertising and were given preferred positions.

Then, too, the dramatic editors had little or nothing in the line of stories on the few houses that were open and they welcomed with open arms all the press matter the houses gave them, especially as it was backed up with liberal advertising and they knew the business office would make no objection.

On top of this the leading dramatic critics, anxious to fill their columns, volunteered to cover the pictures. In the winter it would have been practically impossible to get them away from their routine work to handle the review and they would have assigned an assistant.

Being in opposition to one another, neither one of the managers is resting on his laurels and some more convincing demonstrations on how to get business in hot weather will without a doubt soon be made by both of them.

THE croakers are fast becoming a nonentity in this city.

The exhibitor who boosts as hard for business in the summer as he does in the winter is not confined to the downtown section by any means, and any day when the thermometer is flirting with the century mark, one may find the smaller outlying houses playing features that they would not dare to have tackled in the winter months a few years ago.

While Milwaukee exhibitors have triumphed over hot weather and the majority of weather conditions, but up to date they have not discovered a way to offset the frightful inroads the free municipal band concerts that are given in the parks make in their business.

These concerts, which are given by a fifty-piece concert band and at which a number of well-known soloists or a chorus or both sing, draw from 20,000 to 30,000 people to the parks.

At Tuesday evening's concert at Lake Park it is estimated that close to 30,000 people were present. The concert at this park is given in a huge natural amphitheatre which seats close to 4,000 and conditions are almost ideal.

Naturally an exodus of this sort seriously cuts into the business of the exhibitors. Few are complaining, however, and many are hard at work on means to offset it.

THE church and the motion picture theatre have in the past been at all times more or less antagonistic and the last place that the average manager would look to for help to build up his business was the church.

But George Fischer, manager of the Alhambra Theatre, is not an average manager and that no doubt is the reason that he has successfully gotten one of the local churches interested in his house. The church is St. Boniface, and it is doubtful if there is one member of the congregation who has not been to the Alhambra Theatre in the past week.

The Alhambra, which is the largest photoplay theatre in the northwest, has a magnificent stage, and Manager Fischer utilizes singers, not the usual picture house sort, but vaudeville and opera stars, to entertain his patrons between reels.

In his search for novelties in the singing line Fischer happened to hear of the boys' choir at St. Boniface church. A meeting with the pastor of the church was arranged, and after a talk with Mr. Fischer during which the pastor was shown how the choir could make some money by a week's work and at the same time add to the fame of the church and themselves, his consent was secured and the choir put on.

Naturally all the members of the congregation have spent most of their time boosting the Alhambra and the theatre has received thousands of dollars of free advertising in addition to the crowds that the choir has attracted to the theatre.

THE closing of the Majestic Theatre brought the much heralded invasion of the field by the legitimate and vaudeville theatres to a rather disastrous close.

Of the four downtown theatres, three of which had splendid locations for pictures, the Majestic is the last to close. The Davidson Theatre, which opened its season most successfully with "Traffic in Souls" and whose manager anticipated cleaning up big money in the summer, gave up the pictures over a month ago and went into stock. The Shubert Theatre, which is rather poorly located for pictures, lasted but a week, while the Orpheum, which was the first of the big houses to go to pictures, closed two weeks ago.

Not one of the legitimate managers made the money that they anticipated, and it is expected that the big houses will hereafter leave the film field alone. This sudden closing of the legitimate houses will leave the downtown exclusively for the local exhibitor for the best part of the summer.

J. W. Martin.

OLD ALBANY THEATRE CLOSES

Special to The Motion Picture News

Albany, N. Y., July 30.

One of Albany's first motion picture houses, the Star Theatre, located on South Pearl street, is going back to its original place, that of a dry-goods store. John J. Hartigan, of Troy, has purchased a long lease from Emil Deiches, who first opened a store there and later turned it into a theatre. He afterwards bought the building opposite and opened the Majestic Theatre. It was then predicted that it would only be a matter of time when he would get rid of his "first love," so the change has not been a surprise.

The theatre closed its doors Saturday, August 1, showing a big special bill as a farewell.

The Star has always been considered one of the best picture houses in Albany, and there are patrons, who have gone there since it opened who will miss it. It was a cozy little place, having good ventilation and being absolutely fireproof. The many friends of Mr. Deiches are hoping that his Star patrons will transfer their affection to the Majestic.

PROPOSE COMMUNITY PROJECTION ROOM

Special to The Motion Picture News

Washington, D. C., July 29.

It has been suggested for the purpose of preventing unnecessary expense in cancellations that the Exhibitors League branch here, or the local Screen Club, equip a projection-room in the downtown district, within easy access of all managers, where big films could be run off for the convenience of those making selections for the various motion-picture houses throughout the city.

When the proposed plan became public Harry Warner, of Warner's Features, offered to pay half the cost of the projection-room. It is not known whether the offer has been considered by the members of either club, or if the suggestion to build the projection-room will be acted upon by the Screen Club or the Exhibitors League.

Omaha Social Worker Denies Censorship Threat

Sturgess, Head of Social Service Board Misquoted, He Says—Woman Member of the Board Wants Every Film Scrutinized

Special to The Motion Picture News

Omaha, Neb., July 29.

THOMAS F. STURGESS, head of the Social Service Board—a sort of civic welfare organization in Omaha which works without pay and includes the censorship of motion picture theatres and films among its self-inflicted duties—has denied the authorship of a recent statement in which the local exhibitors were threatened with a censorship equal to that of Chicago.

He said, while being questioned by a strong delegation of exhibitors, that it was a mistake made by the newspapers in quoting him. All of the papers made the same mistake.

The delegation, whose duty it was to explain matters to Mr. Sturgess if he wanted explanations, returned to the local branch of the M. P. E. L. A. to report that the "feeling between the Social Service Board and the exhibitors was never more friendly, that it was deplorable Mr. Sturgess had been misquoted, and that the outlook was that the board and the exhibitors would continue as in the past—working together in the most pleasant harmony."

There is some dissatisfaction, however, because the Social Service Board holds the reins. To The Motion Picture News representative the other day a woman member of the board declared with marked vehemence: "Do you know what we would do if we had the money? We would hire a man by the day to censor every film that comes into Omaha. But we are keeping it quiet until we can get the money."

What if some radical should die and leave the board a few thousand. There is a possibility of such censorship and the local exhibitors who understand the condtion are not satisfied with the present situation.

True, they say, the utmost co-operation has existed between the board and the exhibitors in the past; but if such a feeling exists among the board members, there is a sword dangling over the head of the local trade all the time.

The way out of the difficulty? There is only one, they say. That is to have a higher censorship authority than could be established locally, and do away with such unfair authority on the part of the board. According to their former statements in a series of interviews with The Motion Picture News man, the exhibitors believe an authorized national board would be the solution.

A few more breaks like the recent one—even though Mr. Sturgess may be misquoted—will tend to strengthen that feeling almost to a determination.

Guy P. Leavitt.

Summer Business Brisk in Los Angeles

Patronage in the Principal Houses Better Than in May or June—Capacity Every Night the Record for Downtown Theatres

Special to The Motion Picture News

Los Angeles, July 27.

LOS ANGELES exhibitors believe the dull summer season for motion picture theatres is nearing an end, for in the past two weeks business has been on the increase, and the attendance has been far better than in June and the latter part of May.

Downtown theatres were taxed nightly and "had a line out" continuously for evening performances.

"The Stain," at the Woodley Broadway Theatre, attracted exceptionally large crowds, and the last night the film was on there were as many people outside the theatre waiting to get in as could be accommodated with seats within.

"The Christian," shown at Clune's Auditorium, was a popular film, and while it did not cause records of the 2,500-seat house to be changed, it is very possible it will be returned at a later date for the third week. The record of the house is held by "The Spoilers." This week the Thomas H. Ince picture, "The Wrath of the Gods," is being shown at the Auditorium to good business.

Miller's Theatre, with 900 seats, and located almost three blocks from the retail district, played to capacity with Mary Pickford in "As It Is in Life," Lillian Walker in "Lillian's Dilemma," and Mabel Trunnelle in "The Shadow of Disgrace." Clune's Broadway Theatre featured "The Floor Above" from the story by E. Phillips Oppenheim, and "The Fable of Napoleon and The Bumps" to capacity houses nightly.

This house this week added a fifteen-piece orchestra. The Lasky picture, Edmund Breese in "The Master Mind" at Tally's Broadway, received very favorable criticism from the press and was accorded capacity houses the last few nights of its run. As the "Lucille Love" series draws to a close, the attendance at the Alhambra Theatre, a five-cent house, the only downtown first-run house using the film, has exceptionally good patronage on the nights the serial picture is shown.

CAPITAL AIRDOMES REAP SUMMER HARVEST

Washington Outdoor Theatres, Large and Commodious, and Offering Attractive Programs, Draw Big Crowds—"Country Store" Used Effectively in Some Parts of Dwelling Districts—Managers Arrange for Distribution of Prizes to Prevent Clash of Days Between Nearby Exhibitions

Special to The Motion Picture News

Washington, D. C., July 28.

WITH the intense heat under which Washington has been suffering, the airdomes have been reaping good business. They are all large and attractive and they have supplied the desire of the public to keep out of doors and be entertained at the same time. Some of them offer as many as six reels for five cents, while the more pretentious have a program of the same length for ten cents.

The "country store" idea has pervaded the airdomes in some of the residential sections, which has courted public favor as well as caused keen competition.

The only downtown airdome is Central Park, which gives an excellent show for ten cents, and its seating capacity for 1,000 is none too large for the demand. The entrance is unique, as it possesses a lobby, made brilliant by electricity, from which rises a broad flight of stairs about 8 feet high, at the top of which the park proper begins.

An air of culture, courtesy and comfort pervades everything. One or two features with a couple of single reels form the program of comedy and drama. The projection is excellent, while two machines permit of no wait between reels. Central Park is under the able management of S. Shapiro, who is ever solicitous of the welfare of his patrons.

ANOTHER large airdome is that of the Savoy Park, located in the northwest residential section, which has a capacity of 1,200. This is a ten-cent theatre, with five cents for children. An air of refinement is at once felt from the time the patron reaches C. A. Lehman at the gate until he again passes Mr. Lehman on leaving. A long avenue forms the entrance to the grounds, which precludes the disturbance which sometimes occurs when people come into places of amusement.

Subdued lighting makes easy the finding of seats and does not affect the screen, which is set well into a boxed frame. The projection is among the best in the city, with a throw of more than a hundred feet.

Savoy Park has been brought to its prosperous and attractive condition by Manager Edgar Tracy. Quite recently Mr. Tracy has resigned to accept a position with the General Film Company in its southern district. His departure has been much regretted by the patrons of the Savoy.

He has been succeeded by Mr. Watson. Savoy Park may be considered the summer home of the Savoy Theatre, for it occupies the spacious ground in the rear of this building, and in bad weather the house is used in place of the park. The music here ranks among the best in the city, being a select five-piece orchestra, seated in an attractive shell.

NEAR the Savoy is Garden Movies, which is the location during the warm weather for the Arcade Theatre. This is under the management of Theodore Crandall, who offers a six-reel program, including the big features, for ten cents, children five cents. Much of the popularity of Garden Movies is due to the courtesy and diplomacy of its doorkeeper, A. Adler, who has been identified with the Arcade since it opened, and who knows about everyone in the neighborhood, and keeps track of wives, husbands, children and sweethearts as they enter and leave the show.

He is very useful, indeed.

Under the management of R. H. Wood, the Standard Park is admirably holding its own in the northwest section of the city with a daily change of program of six reels, including a feature.

As a rule, three attractions prevail each week on special nights in the form of the Country Store. One night may consist of the distribution of tickets to resorts among the winners; another is known as "ice cream night," when orders from a quart to a cone become the prizes, filled by an establishment in the neighborhood; then comes the important evening of house furnishings.

The Standard has a capacity of 1,200 comfortably arranged, with General Film Company reels prevailing. There is always a pleasant mixture of comedy, drama and educational. The "Adventures of Kathlyn" have been very popular.

A NEIGHBOR to this is the Liberty Park, under the management of Biron Brothers, who also run the Liberty Theatre. A program of the same length as the Standard is offered with the Country Store once a week, when the price of admission is slightly raised. The Liberty is a very artistic park, having a mounted stage before the screen, which relieves the barrenness so objectionable to the artistic eye.

Still another airdome has an excellent patronage in this residential section in the Truxton, under the management of Dr. H. B. Coblentz. Here also is a Country Store weekly, so arranged that it does not clash with the other parks in the neighborhood.

Some handsome prizes are offered on this night with a slight advance in price of admision. The Truxton Park always offers a good, well-balanced program, and Dr. Coblentz is the pioneer of motion picture exhibitors in his vicinity and has a large patronage. The Truxton has the advantage of being the summer locale of the Truxton Theatre, which houses the performance during bad weather.

Perhaps the Davis Brothers have an improvement over the airdome in the form of the M Street open air theatre. Possessing all the comforts of air and space, this theatre has a roof, which protects the spectators from disagreeable elements, and especially the heavy dews which prevail here in August.

A VERY attractive program is given with a weekly Country Store, which is quite an event in the neighborhood. The M Street Theatre is located in the residential section of Georgetown, is artistically arranged, and very comfortable. The Davis Brothers have served many years in the motion-picture business and know just how to please their patrons.

W. H. Thomas has gone a step higher than the house just mentioned as an open air theatre in the Parkway. Situated in the heart of an aristocratic residential center, overlooking Rock Creek, the Parkway commands dignity and beauty. Its many spacious windows bring in a delightful breeze, and its lofty ceiling affords excellent ventilation, while its immense floor space for a seating capacity of 2,000 furnishes ample comfort.

Dancing may be indulged in before and after the show, which is preceded by a musical program given by the ladies' orchestra. Additional musical attractions are presented, as was the case last week when "Musical Randall," of the Keith cirucit, gave several xylophone numbers. Ice cream is served during the performance by the ushers. A neat program tells of the attractions for the week.

THE Parkway has had many distinguished visitors from official and diplomatic circles. With an admission of ten cents, Mr. Thomas means to maintain a very high standard, and it is his aim to see that nothing is wanting that will add to the comfort of his patrons and the quality of the show. Mr. Thomas is accustomed to handling theatrical affairs, as he was formerly associated with the Keith circuit and with the Chase attractions of this city. The Parkway has at once won public favor. THEODORE FRANKLIN.

EXHIBITOR PLANS LOCAL WEEKLY

Special to THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS
Jackson, Miss., July 28.

Manager Charleton, of the Istrione Theatre, announces that during the early fall he will put on the screen of his playhouse weekly a reel of local pictures.

Mr. Carleton is a former motion picture camera man, and possesses a complete outfit for the manufacture of the films at home. He will begin with pictures of local celebrities, scenes of the fire department in action, etc., and may stage a few local plays of his own.

WILL CATER TO WOMEN AND CHILDREN

The Majestic Theatre, Waterloo, Ia., has come under the personal management of George M. Fenberg. He will inaugurate a daily change of first-run Mutual program service, showing four reels every day.

During the week the "Mutual Weekly" and the "Mutual Girl" will be seen, also subjects from the Thanhouser, Kay-Bee, Beauty, Majestic, Reliance, American, Gaumont, Broncho, Princess and Royal.

Mr. Fenberg is going to cater to women and children and will personally be on hand to see that they are well taken care of.

HUSBAND OF CENSOR DEAD

Special to THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS
Harrisburg, Pa., July 30.

Word has been received in the office of the State Board of Censors of Motion Pictures for Pennsylvania of the death of Edward C. Niver, husband of Mrs. E. C. Niver—the latter is one of the two members of the censorship board. He died in his home in Charleroi, Pa., after a long illness.

Mr. Niver was publisher and editor of the Charleroi "News." He was a prominent member of the Elks and widely known in politics of the state.

THE FIELDS IN MOTORCYCLE ACCIDENT

Mr. and Mrs. George Field met with a painful accident recently. Their motorcycle skidded and threw them both to the ground.

Though badly shaken up and bruised, they were not severely injured, although both will be incapacitated for a few days.

Features Take San Francisco by Storm

Ten-Cent Exhibitors United in Preferring Them to Ordinary Programs—Some Advertising Methods Used "Around the Bay"

Special to THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS
San Francisco, July 27.

MOTION picture shows in Berkeley, Oakland, Alameda, and San Francisco are extremely popular, and the popular price of admission, ten cents, stands for practically all houses. Although there are a few of the five-cent houses, these latter are mostly situated in the downtown business section. Their program is on a different order, too, being shorter and very seldom featuring anything over two reels.

Among the managers and owners, the feature films are considered the strongest drawing cards. For instance, to quote C. V. Clover, manager of the Berkeley Theatre of the "T. & D." circuit, when asked in regard to feature films, he said:

"There is nothing to it, features are the only thing. Why, at this time last week, when featuring Mary Pickford in 'Tess of the Storm Country,' we had to have special police to keep the sidewalk clear because of the people waiting for the second show. And to-night for the first performance there is hardly two thirds of a house. Good features are the best, and next to that is good comedy."

The plan of advertising followed by this company is to have a regular mailing list and each week to send out the program of the following week. This is outside of the usual lobby advertising by means of posters.

The MacDonough Grand Opera House, the largest play house in Oakland, instead of being in the dark between the going of one opera company and the coming of the next, turns the house into motion pictures and puts on feature plays. They advertise in the daily papers under their regular head in the amusement column. Beginning August 9, and running for two weeks, they will put on the "Spoilers," a nine-reel play.

The Tivoli Grand Opera House, one of San Francisco's newest and finest playhouses, follows the same system. And the five-cent houses, when they can get the right sort of a deal to suit them, put on a feature. Around the Bay it is universally acknowledged that features are the best.

The usual way of advertising is to get the theatre located as near the busiest section as possible and put up posters in the lobby where the passers will notice them when they go by.

A synopsis of some of the features is given in the daily paper and then at the bottom of the outline an announcement is made as to where the play can be seen that week and the one following. Another way of advertising that some of the houses use is a canvas box about ten feet square mounted on a spring wagon and then, having painted the name of the play, the date, etc., on the box, the manager sends the wagon out to parade up and down the main streets. The billboards are also utilized to a great extent, after the manner of the regular shows.

C. W. ENYEART.

Sues to Restrain Philadelphia Fire Marshal

Owner of Christian Street Motion Picture House Seeks to Enjoin Official from Interference—Theatre Passed Building Bureau Inspection

Special to THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS
Philadelphia, July 29.

SUIT has been begun in the Court of Common Pleas, No. 4, by Millie Cariola, the owner of a motion picture theatre at 729-33 Christian street to restrain Director of Public Safety Porter and Fire Marshal Elliot from closing the theatre. This they threaten to do unless the place is changed to comply with the act of 1901 governing the construction of places of amusement.

The plaintiff alleges that the theatre has met with the approval of the Bureau of Building Inspection and the Department of Public Safety for the past three years; that it is built with due regard for public safety and that the act of 1901 cannot be applied to motion picture theatres.

The Department of Public Safety and Fire Marshal Elliot claim that vaudeville entertainments are given in the place thus bringing them within the requirements of the 1901 law.

The case is similar to those reported in these columns several weeks ago, when Mr. Elliott's predecessor in office, Mr. Mallory, was enjoined by four vaudeville and picture theatres to prevent the revocation of their licenses. The latter case has not yet been finally settled, but the houses continute to run pictures and vaudeville. JULIAN N. SOLOMON, JR.

LASKY VISITS CALIFORNIA STUDIO

Jesse L. Lasky, president of the Jesse L. Lasky Feature Play Company, Inc., is now at Los Angeles, visiting the studio of his company, where three productions are in the making.

Advertising Reform in Los Angeles

Newspapers and Billboards Have Superseded the Old Methods, Which Held that Lobby Display Was the Sole Necessity—Twenty-four Sheets in Wide Use—A Theatre for Women Only—Old Pickford Films Popular on the Coast

Special to The Motion Picture News

LOS ANGELES motion picture theatres have abandoned the old idea that advertising outside of "paper" in the lobby was not needed, and now practically all of the downtown theatre managers use space in newspapers, and billboards to a more or less extent.

Of the local papers, however, the bulk of the advertising is carried by the "Tribune," a morning paper, which contains a motion picture page Monday and Thursday of each week. In this paper every downtown theatre charging ten cents or more admission is represented, along with the most successful five-cent houses.

In Los Angeles there are many studios, and the news of the manufacturers, photoplayers and theatres is used on the page. It has proven a very attractive feature of the paper, and all exhibitors are able to trace good returns from their advertising.

The larger theatres—Clune's Auditorium, Clune's Broadway, Woodley's Theatre, Miller's Theatre and Tally's Broadway Theatre—use billboards in addition to their newspaper advertising.

In some instances as many as forty and fifty twenty-four sheets with date lines are used. Miller's, Clune's and Woodley's all have a number of painted boards that are changed once in three or four months. The use of less than twenty-four sheet stands is used only when the larger paper cannot be secured.

WHILE the exhibitors here are not as yet users of large space, from one to ten inches being the size of the advertisements, they are, one by one, seeing the folly of using one sheets as compared with the twenty-four sheets and applying the logic to their newspaper space.

Suburban theatres depend almost entirely upon the "paper" displayed in their lobbies. Some use handbills once or twice each week.

Practically every neighborhood is treated to a liberal supply of cheap poster-paper handbills each day, and some managers have come to the conclusion that this form of advertising is almost worthless here because it has been overdone.

HERE'S a new one. A motion picture theatre for ladies only.

Los Angeles, during the past week, has seen the passing of two more five-cent motion picture theatres.

The Rex has been closed permanently because of poor business, and the Shell, owned by W. H. Clune, has been transformed into a very comfortable place of amusement with all new furnishings and equipment, as well as handsome new marble front, where the admission fee will be ten cents. The latter was reopened Sunday night, July 19, and in the future will be known as the Exclusive.

Through the newspapers it was announced that the Exclusive is for ladies and children only, and men will be admitted only when accompanied by escorts. The advertisements also stated the management intended to show pictures of interest to women and educationals.

"All gun play, fighting and slapstick comedy is on the tabooed list," Mr. Clune said in speaking of the new house. "My manager will co-operate with the women members of the local censor board and attempt to secure pictures that will be most pleasing. Educational films will have a place on the program at all times.

"WHY did I make it the Exclusive, for ladies? Well, if you have frequented downtown motion picture theatres, you will have noticed that mashers, or would-be mashers are numerous, despite the stringent city ordinances prohibiting flirting. These mashers find the darkened interiors of the theatres excellent places to while away their hours. Frequently they drive girls and women from the theatres by their persistent efforts to flirt.

"I believe the women of Los Angeles, and any city as far as that is concerned, will welcome an opportunity of attending a motion picture theatre where this masher is kept out."

The theatre has a seating capacity of about four hundred and occupies a former store room, now equipped with a suitable ventilating system. For the present, at least, an exclusively Universal program will be presented.

Since the announcement of the Universal Film Manufacturing Company relative to reprint releases of Mary Pickford pictures has been received in Los Angeles, Miss Pickford has become the star of many screens—and all at the same time.

Last week four of the downtown shopping district theatres were showing Mary Pickford, and the same condition exists this week. Every reel of local exchanges, in which Miss Pickford is portrayed, is in daily use, either downtown or in the suburbs. From the small town exhibitors come calls for Mary Pickford pictures and the demand is beyond the supply.

In practically all of the downtown theatres announcements appeared on the screen prior to the projection of the Pickford film, stating that the next picture was an old favorite, and no attempt was made to mislead the public—after the public had entered the theatre.

LEWIS LOEB, for the past year with the Los Angeles General Film Company exchange, has accepted the management of the World Film Corporation exchange in that city.

John Tuttle, who formerly conducted the Bijou Theatre, 565 South Main street, which was closed about two months ago, is now managing the St. Andrews Theatre at Jefferson and St. Andrews streets, Los Angeles, which is owned by Kelso Brothers.

There was an unusual array of baby carriages in the lobby of the Globe Theatre, Central and Jefferson streets, owned by Judge A. P. Tugwell, president of the Southern California Motion Picture Men's Association, Sunday evening, there being one hundred and thirty-two by actual count.

The Judge was asked to explain, and the only answer he could give was that his theatre was the center of a very prolific neighborhood.

"This is a sight that would make Teddy's teeth appear," he said, "and about the only reason I can give for the number is that their parents have learned that the Globe has a well-balanced program every night.

"The first three evenings of each week we use Universal pictures, Mutual reels the next three nights, and Sunday evening we have on features. The price of admission is but five cents, six reels are shown and every one is a good one, and yes, they know we will look after the little fellows' carriages."

The Globe has a seating capacity of 900 and was the first suburban theatre of Los Angeles to make a daily change of program.

J. C. Jessen.

"THE SILVER KING" FOR PICTURES

"The Silver King" will be the first of the plays of Sir Henry Arthur Jones to be filmed by the Famous Players, with Guy Standing as the star. "The Silver King," undoubtedly one of the best known plays of the past century, provides many unusual factors for pictorial reproduction.

GUY STANDING

The Famous Players have made arrangements to produce the American scenes of "The Silver King" in the West, in the exact localities in which the thrilling situations of the play occur.

Henry Arthur Jones, on his recent visit to America, made a tour of the Famous Players studio, and took a keen interest in the preparations for the production of his play.

"The Silver King" was but a short time ago given a command performance before the King and Queen of England.

SUES FOR BOOSTING "SLAVE" PICTURES

In the New York County Clerk's office the complaint has been filed of Mrs. Inez Milholland Boissevain in an action for $1,000 for alleged professional services against the Sociological Research Film Corporation.

Mrs. Boissevain, who is a lawyer, succeeded in having many prominent women indorse the motion picture play "The Inside of the White Slave Traffic," which was produced by the defendant company.

The state began proceedings against the play and Mrs. Boissevain then asserted the motion picture drama taught a moral lesson. She says her work in behalf of the play was at the instigation of the defendant.

"Legitimate" Hit Hard in Jackson, Miss.

People in Nearby Towns Who Formerly Went to that City for Old Line Amusement Now Patronize Local Picture Houses

Special to THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS

Jackson, Miss., July 29.

IN Jackson, as everywhere else, the "legitimate" theatre is feeling the effect of the motion picture patronage. The Istrione, one of the handsomest picture houses in the South, has just been opened and has been doing a magnificent business from the start.

With the coming of the fall, however, it will have to compete with the Century, which books regular attractions. It is rather interesting, therefore, to note that in the Jackson daily press Manager Sam Myers, of the Century, though boosting his attractions for the coming season, is quoted as saying that business had not been satisfactory for the past two seasons, and that he would not renew his lease when it expires next summer, and he evidently means it.

It has been the experience all over the state that the regular theatre with the class of attractions that come south cannot compete profitably with the motion picture house.

IT was not so very long ago that not only were the "legitimate" theatres the only attraction for the people of the city, but on nights of particularly important performances parties were formed in towns for scores of miles around to come to Jackson and witness the "show."

But now many of the very towns that used to send their citizens here for their only amusement of the season have motion picture houses of their own and this loss of business, together with that taken away by the Jackson picture theatres, have given the managers of the legitimate houses a hard task.

R. E. PRITCHARD.

Exhibitors Protest Against City Competition

They Remind the Authorities that Large Fees Are Exacted from Them for License and Want Free Films in Playgrounds Suppressed

Special to THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS

Pittsburgh, July 29.

THE Pittsburgh Motion Picture Exhibitors League has asked for a special meeting of the Pittsburgh council to suspend the free motion picture exhibitions in the playgrounds of the city. President of Council John M. Goehring refused to call the special meeting for the league for the purpose of suspending the exhibition of the pictures, but referred the committee to W. F. Ashe, superintendent of the Pittsburgh Playgrounds Association for some definite action.

After a conference Mr. Ashe consented to suspend these motion picture shows until after council had taken some action which cannot be until after the first meeting in August, council now being on a thirty-day vacation.

The local motion picture men claim that the free exhibitions ruin their business and state that they have to pay large fees to the city treasurer for the license to do business in the city and that the free shows being given under the auspices of the city is not fair treatment to the men in the motion picture business of this section.

G. L. MCCOY, JR.

Break Ground for Theatre Despite Suit

Philadelphia Building Bureau Grants Permit to Kahn and Greenberg, Who are Going Ahead Regardless of Property Owners' Objections

Special to THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS

Philadelphia, July 30.

ALTHOUGH suit has been brought to restrain Kahn and Greenberg from building a picture theatre at 2209 and 2211 North Broad street, as noted in THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS of last week, on the ground that it would prove offensive and impair the valuation of adjoining brownstone residences, a permit has been granted by the Bureau of Building Inspection.

Harry Gill, Jr., was granted the permit as the contractor for the building and ground has been broken. The plans call for a one-story theatre building of brick and terra cotta, 31 feet 7 inches by 150 feet with a seating capacity of about 500. The estimated cost will be $18,000.

An association is reported being formed by the Rev. Gerald P. Coghlan, rector of the Church of Our Lady of Mercy, which is located at the corner of the cross street below, to fight the construction of the theatre. The membership of the association also includes representatives of two synagogues and property owners on North Broad street from Diamond street to York street.

The fight will be along the lines of Adolph Mark's suit that the deed provides that the site shall not be used for any purpose calculated to become a nuisance.

Among Buffalo Exhibitors

Business During the Summer Months Maintaining a High Average—Patronage in the Majority of Houses Pleases Exhibitors—Warm Weather No Obstacle to Those Who Appreciate the Best Programs—The New Victoria, a $200,000 House, Nearing Completion

Special to The Motion Picture News

BUSINESS on the averags in Buffalo for the summer months is good. The exhibitors are all reporting good audiences. The high-class attractions which the larger houses are presenting are drawing large audiences even on these warm evenings.

Manager Claude Weil, of the Premier Theatre, at the corner of Main and Leroy streets, has just returned from a two-weeks' trip through the Canadian woods. Mr. Weil has closed contracts for the All-Star Feature attractions in Buffalo, some of his early features being "Ethel Barrymore" and "Pierre of the Plains."

The new Mark-Brock Theatre in Olean, N. Y., formerly the old Haven's Opera House, opened on Monday, July 27, under the management of Walter Foster, former manager of the Family and Lyric theatres in Buffalo. The theatre has a seating capacity of 1,400. It has been completely remodeled and a large organ installed. A six-piece orchestra will also furnish music.

Manager Harold Edel, of the Strand Theatre, had one of the most beautiful and unique lobby displays ever shown in Buffalo for his attraction, "The Wrath of the Gods." Japanese lanterns, flags and other decorations were seen everywhere. Special equipment was installed for putting on this feature which attracted capacity audiences. "One Wonderful Night" and "In Tune with the Wild" are other Strand attractions scheduled to follow.

Manager William Kaliska, of the Allendale Theatre, has transformed what was formerly a vacant and exceedingly unattractive lot next to that theatre into a beautiful garden and placed a highly attractive billboard fitted with plate glass in front. The improvement is being received with many remarks of approval by patrons.

THE Academy Theatre closed its doors for the summer season on Saturday, and will open the first part of August with exclusive vaudeville instead of picture features, which they have been running for the past several months. The Academy has not been a paying proposition as a picture house.

Several of the legitimate houses are about to open for the regular fall and winter season. The Gayety and Garden, both burlesque houses, the latter of which tried pictures for a time, will open on August 3. The Teck will show pictures as a preliminary opening. The "Rainey 1914 Hunt" pictures were booked as the opening attraction. The Lyric will have stock next fall. This theatre has been a picture house.

Manager C. C. McKibben gave a private exhibition of "The Lure," the new World's Film feature, at the Strand Theatre recently before a large gathering of local exhibitors who came more for curiosity than anything else. The picture is interesting, but not considered in the class of production that can be shown in Buffalo.

The New Victoria, the $200,000 Mark-Brock house at the corner of West Ferry and Grant street, is nearing completion. Upon its opening it is rumored that the present Victoria will be turned into a five-cent theatre. The New Victoria will seat 2,225, and will be the largest in Buffalo.

MR. LOUIS GREEN, local representative of the Box Office features, whose office is at 410 D. S. Morgan building, booked East Lynne for three days at the Family Theatre. "Fantomas," another Box Office attraction, was shown at the Academy as a closing attraction for the week. Mr. Green was formerly assistant manager of the Academy. He is very sucessful in his new venture. The Allendale and Cozy Corner are among Mr. Green's patrons.

The Maxine Theatre, which recently opened in the South Park district, is operated by the Hall-Hanney Amusement Company. This theatre has a seating capacity of 800. The management reports good business.

Ismailia Temple, the local Shrine, journeyed to the Bedell House on Niagara River on Tuesday, July 28, for their annual summer outing and ceremonial. Manager George W. Erdmann, of the Elmwood, took pictures of this event and will show them at the Elmwood.

Ethel Barrymore in "The Nightingale," will be the opening attraction at the new Regent Theatre in Syracuse, which will be operated by Buffalo men. The opening is scheduled for August 29. Harry L. Vibbard, of the University of Syracuse music department, will be organist at the Regent.

EDWARD L. HAYES, of the special feature department of the General Film Company, recently gave a private exhibition of "The Wolf" at the Strand Theatre. The feature was well received and will be presented at the Strand for four days in August.

The Bureau of Building issued a permit to the Sattler Theatre Corporation last week to build a $35,000 motion picture theatre at 512-516 Broadway.

Work on the erection of the big Griffin Hippodrome at St. Catharines, Ontario, which was stopped last winter by "tight money," will be resumed at once and the building completed by winter.

Charles B. Taylor.

Predicts the Doom of "Legitimate" Theatres

Joe Brandt, After Southern Trip, Sees the Day When Motion Picture Houses Will Have the Field All to Themselves

Special to The Motion Picture News

Vicksburg, Miss., July 29.

JOE BRANDT, special representative and publicity man for the Universal Film Manufacturing Company, with headquarters in New York, was a recent Vicksburg visitor. While here he closed a deal with Fichtenberg's Alamo Theatre for the appearance there of "The Trey o' Hearts," the new serial of Louis Joseph Vance. The picture will be shown in fifteen weekly installments at the Alamo.

Mr. Brandt talked enthusiastically about the motion picture business, and says the industry is yet in its infancy. He says at no distant date pictures will eliminate entirely legitimate theatres.

"One of the biggest stunts I ever pulled off," remarked Mr. Brandt, "was the signing of Christy Mathewson to a Universal contract, which I did just before leaving New York recently. Mathewson will appear exclusively in a series of releases for one year. The thrilling stories in which Matty will appear are now being prepared in the Universal studio, and the great ball player will go to the coast early in the winter to become a motion picture actor," added Mr. Brandt.

Mr. Brandt enjoyed his short visit to Vicksburg, and said Vicksburg's picture houses compared most favorably with any he had seen on his present trip.

R. E. Pritchard.

FLAGG COMMENTS ON HIS WORK

James Montgomery Flagg, the well-known illustrator, who recently made a charcoal sketch of Norma Phillips for "Our Mutual Girl" series and has proved to be quite a film actor himself, says that while he worked on the picture he found he could speed up more than he supposed any artist in or out of captivity could.

JAMES MONTGOMERY FLAGG AND HIS PORTRAIT OF NORMA PHILLIPS

"There is a gentle stimulus in the steady crooning of the camera-handle," he said. "And the photographer was such a genial old chap. Just told me to do my work, watch Miss Phillips, draw my picture, and look pleasantly three feet to the right of the lens all at the same time."

EXHIBITORS FROWN ON FILM OF EXECUTION

Harrisburg, Pa., July 29.

A motion picture photographer who came here not long ago from another Pennsylvania city is not likely to be able to display pictures he took of scenes incident to the hanging in the Dauphin county jail-yard on that date of Pascal Holden, a colored man, who murdered another of his race in a suburb of Harrisburg about a year ago. A vigorous protest against the exhibition of these pictures has been made by the leading colored citizens of Harrisburg. The Colored Voters Energetic League has passed resolutions appealing to the Pennsylvania Board of Censors to suppress the pictures and there have been protests from other sources.

Whether or not the board of censors bans the picture it will not be extensively displayed in this state, in the opinion of the manager of one of the leading picture theatres in Harrisburg. He voiced what appears to be the sentiment of a majority of the local theatre managers when he said that such gruesome subjects would be barred in most theatres, even if they were approved by the censors.

"Evangeline" Pageant Not Photoplay Material

While Available for a News Weekly, It Has No Attractiveness as a Production—G. & W. Feature Amply Covers That Field

THE recent announcement in THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS of the "Evangeline" pageant to be given by the descendants of the Acadians now residing in Louisiana, in June, 1915, has caused misapprehension in some quarters concerning the film production of "Evangeline," made by the Canadian Bioscope Company, and controlled by the G. & W. Feature Film Company, of 145 West Forty-fifth street, New York City.

The recommendation of the pageant to the attention of producers took rise from the obvious historical value of the celebration, which would make it of chief interest to an animated weekly. As a presentation of the story of "Evangeline," the pageant, acted by amateurs, and staged more in a spirit of sentiment than with regard to camera requirements, would offer little or no inducement to the producer of photoplays.

Moreover, the well understood merits of the G. & W. feature, "Evangeline," as a photoplay have enabled that production to fill the public demand for a motion picture version of Longfellow's poem with notable success. It would be more fitting, indeed, that this feature should form a part of the Louisiana Acadians' pageant than that the pageant should be the basis for a new production of the poem on the screen.

To those who might see in a film record of the celebration of the 160th anniversary of the expulsion of the Acadians from their Nova Scotian home a medium of profit, the occasion will be of interest. To the producer of the photoplays, as such, the event has no significance whatever.

Sanitary Vigilance Feature of Universal Studio

Costumes of "Extras" Regularly Fumigated—Water Supply and Drainage System Carefully Looked After, and Physician and Nurses Oversee Hospital

Special to THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS

Los Angeles, July 27.

AN additional health precaution recently added to the motion picture industry is that of disinfecting all clothing belonging to the producing company worn by members or "extras" every time it is returned to the storeroom.

This sanitary measure has been adopted at the Universal studios here, and all clothing is placed in a metal-lined, air-tight room, where it remains for twenty-four hours while fumigated by powerful germ-killing fumes. During the recent filming of "Damon and Pythias," when 1,500 costumes, all alike, and made in the company's costume factory, were worn by extra people, each one was required to use the same costume throughout the entire production. When the big feature was finished all costumes were fumigated before they were returned to the wardrobe for storage.

For several months the company has retained a licensed physician as health officer at the studios, and it is his duty to see that everything is in a sanitary condition at all times. The water supply and drainage system are objects of continual vigilance. In addition to this work the physician is in charge of the Universal City hospital, where he and two trained nurses care for the numerous minor accidents.

Court Upholds Michigan Fire Inspection Law

Declares that Exhibitors in Detroit Must Pay Fire Marshal's Fees in Addition to Annual License of $50

Special to THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS

Detroit, Mich., July 29.

THE Supreme Court of Michigan has just handed down a decision sustaining the law of a state inspection of motion picture theatres.

The suit on which the decision was rendered was brought by Peter Jeup, president of the Detroit Exhibitors League and of the Michigan League and William J. Streng. They contended that inasmuch as a city ordinance in Detroit exacted an annual license fee of $50 it was a violation of the constitution and of the home rule act to compel the payment of $10 at least twice a year for inspection by the state fire marshal.

The text of the decision has not yet been received in Detroit, and it is not known how it treats the fact that the law places no limit on the number of inspections at $10 per that can be made by the fire marshal. Failure to pay the fee exacted means a cancellation of the license of a theatre.

Heat Fails to Check Washington Business

Warner's Features Reports Good Bookings—Company Has Just Opened a Baltimore Branch—Mutual and Universal Placing Orders for Films Regardless of Torrid Conditions—Scramble Among Exhibitors for First Chance to Show Essanay Feature, "One Wonderful Night"

Special to The Motion Picture News

Washington, D. C., July 28.

A. DRESNER, local manager of the Universal forces, is taking a much deserved vacation, and during his absence Mr. Irvin is at the helm. He says he finds local trade conditions good, and with the increase in programs he could use more reels if he had them.

He has all sorts of mean things to say against Washington heat, but he will probably get used to it, like the rest of us. It is rumored that Mr. Dresner will return with a wife, but so far he is keeping everyone guessing as to when the affair will take place.

B. C. Cunningham, of the Mutual, was busy, as usual, when I interrupted, which was indicative of good business. "All I have to say," he remarked between signing letters, "is that I regret I haven't more reels to offer the exhibitors. Mutual movies certainly make time fly."

SYDNEY B. LUST, manager of Warner's Features, reported business unaffected by the hot weather. This office has just opened a branch in Baltimore to look after the increased business of that city.

The comedies which are being issued by the Warner Features caught booking at once and seemed to fill a warm weather need. Mr. Lust recently gave a private exhibition at the Cosmos Theatre of "A Born Warrior" and a Marion Leonard feature. Manager Bralawski, of the Cosmos, spoke in high terms of these two productions, as did also the press and exhibitors present. Both of these features and "Mother Love" have received solid bookings, and some managers have already asked for return engagements.

THE Eclectic Exchange is busy with winter bookings for its big features. Manager L. D. O'Brien approves of the movement of the exhibitors to increase their programs as a summer attraction rather than reducing the price of admission, as he believes this better maintains the standard of the house. "Sealed Orders" just completed a week's run at one of the large theatres in Baltimore.

Great activity was in evidence at the offices of the General Film Company. There has been something of a rivalry for the initial performance of the big Essanay feature, "One Wonderful Night," featuring Frances X. Bushman, who won the hero of this production in the "Ladies' World" contest. The lucky exhibitor has been Crandall's Theatre, which is only permitted to retain it two days.

The chief news of importance from the World's Best Film Corporation is that Joe Bloom, special representative of the corporation, visited the local offices and expressed himself as highly pleased with conditions in the Washington territory. He was on his way south, where he will make an inspection tour, his first stop being Atlanta.

MANAGER WORTHINGTON, of the Eclectic Exchange, was pleased to report a close booking for "The Stain," in which the Washington actor, Thurlow Burgen, is featured. The exhibit room connected with this exchange was formally opened last week with a showing of some of the recent Pathé productions.

This is a spacious room in the basement of the Bank of Commerce Building, amply fireproof, with a throw of about 100 feet. The concensus of opinion of the invited guests on this occasion was very flattering. This room will be used for frequent displays, as well as impromptu showing of films when desired by exhibitors.

The Eclectic has the distinction of being the only exchange that has its own exhibit hall, and Manager Worthington has every reason to be proud of his work in this direction.

The Empress Theatre carries about the most costly program of the five-cent houses. Marcus Notes has always maintained the attitude of offering entire first-run pictures with a daily change of program. Not even is a popular feature retained a second day. At present he is offering five reels, including al the big features and serials of the Universal.

MR. NOTES is an old-timer in the motion-picture business, being the first to champion the independent cause. He also believes in offering good music, using a select small orchestra for the accompaniment of his show.

Tom Moore, proprietor of Moore's Garden, Orpheum, Plaza and other theatres, is in New York making some bookings for his houses for the fall and winter. He intends to bring to Washington the very best and biggest productions that the film industry offers. A. Robb is loking after the Moore Amusement Company affairs during his absence. Mr. Moore was accompanied by his wife, who is about as well known in film circles as her husband, who was a pioneer in the business in the Capital City. They are making the trip by auto and will stop on the way at several of the large cities.

Theodore Franklin.

SOUTHERN HOUSE TO OPEN AGAIN

Special to The Motion Picture News

Meridian, Miss., July 28.

Clifford Gillespie, druggist and A. G. Weems, real estate dealer, are planning to reopen the Gem Theatre in this city. The house was recently closed on an attachment against B. Frank Isaacs, who operated the house for a number of years. Negotiations are expected to be closed within a few days.

The house is fully equipped and all the new management will have to do is to unlock the doors. It is understood that tentative arrangements have been made for the Universal film service.

TABLOID HOUSE GOES TO PICTURES

(Special to The Motion Picture News.)

Shreveport, La., July 28.

The Gem is the latest motion picture theatre to open in Shreveport, the second largest city in Louisiana. It is under the management of Saenger Brothers, with E. V. Richards, Jr., as general manager.

The Gem is located in the old lobby of the Phoenix Hotel, and succeeded the Happy Hour Theatre, which was designed for tabloid comedies, under the management of a Chicago firm. The new management lasted just one week. The Gem is showing first-run pictures.

PATRONAGE WENT TO LARGER THEATRES

Special to The Motion Picture News

Patterson, La., July 28.

The Electric Theatre, of this city, has felt the effect of too much competition in a town of this size and the result is that the films have taken their departure and the building is now being converted into a business house.

"HEART OF MARYLAND" SCRIPT IS READY

The first of the Belasco plays to be put into motion pictures will be "The Heart of Maryland." The scenario has been arranged by Mr. Belasco and turned over to the Lasky Feature Film Company, who will make the production.

The company will be sent into Southern Maryland, where the scenes of the play are laid. Starting at Frederick, the company will traverse the famous Shenandoah Valley and Braddock's Road, which runs through Cumberland, west, along which the Army of the Potomac marched. Several scenes will be laid at Harper's Ferry, Greene Springs, W. Va., and along the Potomac River, through Maryland to Piedmont, W. Va.

There will be three hundred players in the cast and the pictures will be 5,000 feet in length.

SPECIAL REELS FOR CHILDREN

Special to The Motion Picture News

Baton Rouge, La., July 27.

Manager Boehringer, of the Columbia Theatre, has adopted a somewhat novel manner of appealing to the children and at the same time to get the full benefits of the general business.

In daylight hours he is running seven reels at the Columbia, reducing the number to five at night so as to get in two performances before a very late hour. The two additional reels that are run during the day are carefully selected to appeal to the children, who generally attend afternoon performances.

Poe's "Tell-Tale Hearts" in Pictures

"The Avenging Conscience," a D. W. Griffith Production, Soon to Be Released Through the Mutual Film Corporation

AT the Strand Theatre, the principal photo feature for the week of August 2d will be "The Avenging Conscience," an adaptation from Edgar Allen Poe's "Tell-Tale Hearts," which has been produced by the Mutual Film Corporation under the personal direction of D. W. Griffith.

In presenting this picture, it is said that Mr. Griffith has again proved conclusively that he ranks with America's foremost directors of motion picture productions. The play is beautifully conceived and splendidly executed.

The picture was taken in California and the cast includes some of the foremost motion picture artists, among whom are Blanche Sweet, Lillian and Dorothy Gish, Mae Marsh, Miriam Cooper, Henry B. Walthall, Spottiswoode Aiken, Jack Pickford, Robert Harron and many others.

THE UNCLE DRIVES HIS NEPHEW'S SWEETHEART AWAY
Scene from "The Avenging Conscience" (Griffith-Mutual Feature)

The story of "The Avenging Conscience" deals with the development of a young man who as a baby has been left in the care of a bachelor uncle, who lavishes all his love and tenderness on his charge. He plans a great literary career for him, for the boy has shown promise of future greatness. But he had reckoned without thought of a possible obstacle—woman.

In the freshness of his youth, the young man meets a beautiful girl, whom he calls in the joy of his poetical nature, "Annabel Lee." The twain soon grow to love each other with the power which Poe has so vividly portrayed in his poems of the affections. They "loved with a love that is more than love."

But the old uncle, his heart set upon the boy's future, interferes. When "Annabel" calls to invite her young swain to a garden party, the uncle insults her by accusing her of pursuing his nephew with unmaidenly modesty. Then comes to the young man thoughts that are black and evil and he plans murder. It is at this stage that conscience demonstrates its power and saving influence.

Active Preparations for Centaur Releases

David Horsley Signs Harry Palmer, "Babbling Bess" Cartoonist, and Mr. and Mrs. Milton Fahrney—Julia Hurley as the Witch in "Il Trovatore"

HARRY PALMER, author of the "Babbling Bess" serial comics, which appeared in the daily newspapers, is under contract with David Horsley and will commence work for the Centaur Film Company on August 1.

Mr. Palmer will make his headquarters at the Bayonne studio, where he will not only create the famous "I didn't do nothin' but I won't do it again" series, but will arrange them in scenario form and personally assist the stage directors in working them out before the camera.

Arrangements have already been made through the New York daily in which the drawings originally appeared, to resume their publication in its columns and to have them appear simultaneously in fifty-one of the leading newspapers of the continent.

Milton Fahrney and his wife, Alexandra Phillips, have also been signed by Mr. Horsley and are now actively engaged in producing one-reelers for the Centaur Film Company.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Fahrney are old time Horsleyites, having been on the Centaur staff for the last six years, doing their principal work on the Pacific Coast. Mrs. Fahrney has won high honors as a scenario writer, and Mr. Fahrney is credited with some of the most pretentious productions ever made.

Julia Hurley, remembered for many artistic performances in Famous Players productions and even more favorably for her skilful acting in "The Jungle," has sufficiently recovered from her recent severe attack of la grippe to resume work in the six-reel production of "Il Trovatore."

Trade Events in Western Pennsylvania

Herrington Warns Exhibitors Against Trading Stamps and Coupons—Arrest Film Thief in Pittsburgh —New License Laws of West Virginia Arouse Comment—Doings of the Exhibitors and Exchange Men in and Near the Smoky City

Special to THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS
Pittsburgh, July 29.

MAYER SILVERMAN, of the Liberty Renting Film Company, has taken the exhibitors of the Pittsburgh district to his heart and has issued an invitation for all of them to partake of his hospitality in a big banquet he intends giving at some future date. He has asked the exhibitors of this section to set the date for the banquet, and his invitations contain a card which each is asked to fill out and return to him, telling just what date morning, noon or night, is best suited for them to attend. The majority will rule regarding the date that will be set later.

The Downtown Cameraphone changed hands this week, Mr. Beatty selling out to Mr. Aronson. The transaction is to be consummated on August 1.

This sale was rumored about among the exchanges here for a number of weeks, but was always denied by Mr. Beatty. It is said that Mr. Beatty will make his headquarters in his new East Ohio street theatre.

There will be no radical change in the policy of conducting the theatre, and aside from a few alterations which the new owner contemplates, it will hardly be noticeable when the new manager takes charge. All of the present employees of the theatre will be retained by the new management.

THE exhibitors of Asceola Mills and Phillipsburg, Pa., are howling a long, loud howl. There has been a revival in their towns and the "gospel sharks" walked away with most of the money in the two towns. The motion picture business in that section is, for the time being, dead, but it will come back again. It always does after one of those red hot campaigns against iniquity gets out of the public's system.

Sam N. Lichter, manager of the Liberty Film Renting Company, of Cleveland, O., was in Pittsburgh last week and states that business in the Forest City is slow, but anticipates big business in the fall. He says that there are at least twenty-five new theatres going up in the Ohio city, and that they will all be doing business before winter.

Robert Ellis, of Fulton, W. Va., was in Pittsburgh recently and announced he had bought the theatre conducted by William Thomas in that town. He says he intends using Universal features and will make a number of big improvements about the theatre before he gets it going right.

George Shafer, of the Victoria burlesque theatre in Pittsburgh, has announced that he will shortly begin the erection of a new playhouse in Market street, Wheeling, W. Va., which will be the largest motion picture house in that part of the state. He has left for the East, where he will consult Eastern capitalists relative to his plans.

He has two thirty-day options on Market street property between Twelfth and Sixteenth streets. He already has one theatre in Wheeling. It is known as the Victoria and he states it will run nothing but features this coming season.

"One Wonderful Night," the Francis X. Bushman prize production, and "The Eagle's Mate" are two films that are having an exceptional run in the East Liberty Cameraphone. This house gets ten cents for each admission, instead of the regular price of five cents charged at the other theatres in the district.

PRESIDENT Fred J. Herrington, of the Moving Picture Exhibitors Association, has issued a warning against trading stamps and coupons.

A firm from the East has representatives in the field here, and it is said the same scheme failed in the eastern part of the state and should not be tried here. He has warned them so as to keep them out of trouble, as he states it will be more costly in the end than they anticipated.

The Feature Film and Calcium Light Company has on display a new Westinghouse contrivance called a mercury arc rectifier. It is a heavy contrivance weighing 500 pounds but can be placed anywhere in the building.

It is said that the contrivance makes it possible to get direct current where alternating current is supplied in the building and the former current cannot be secured. It also makes a better light, cooler projection room, and cuts down the bill for current besides cutting out the flicker that is so bothersome and harmful to the eyes of the patrons of motion picture theatres. It works automatically.

A FILM thief was arrested at the office of J. F. Hatch while he was trying to sell a Warner feature, "Fight for a Birthright." There were three films and the young man offered them to J. F. Behan, manager of the office, for $2.50.

Behan turned him over to a clerk and notified the Warner office, and the young man was arrested and later fined. Several other films have been stolen in this section lately, but have never been recovered.

W. C. Bachmeyer, manager of the Pittsburgh branch of the Famous Players Film Service, Inc., has left the city on a booking tour that will take him as far south as Louisville, Ky. He has reported to his office that he has met with wonderful success so far on the trip. Mr. Steele, general manager of the company, has charge of the Pittsburgh office at present.

Two Mirroroid screens were sold by Manager F. G. Galbreath, of the Feature Film and Calcium Light Company. The theatres purchasing the new screens were the Family Theatre, of Altoona, Pa., and the Opera House of Clearfield, W. Va.

The Home Theatre in South Wheeling has closed for repairs. It is said arrangements have been made for opening it August 17 and the Universal service will be used.

A number of the exhibitors of Pittsburgh have arranged an auto trip from Pittsburgh to Niagara Falls. They will leave the city next Sunday, headed by Thomas Thompson, of the Columbia Theatre in Fifth avenue.

V. L. MARKS has purchased the Bijou Theatre at 7707 Frankstown avenue, Pittsburgh, from J. A. Watt. The capacity of the theatre is 250, and business is reported to be good. Under the new management some repairs will be made and an increase made in the seating capacity of the house. Many feature films will be run.

"The Toll of Mammon," the new feature of the Excelsior Film Company of New York, is being pushed in this city by Arthur Rosenbach, sales manager of the Eastern firm. Rosenbach is well known and liked in Pittsburgh, and reports that he has done exceptional business during his stay here.

The new license laws of West Virginia will be discussed by Wheeling Local No. 6 at a special meeting called for next week for that purpose. The new laws, it is said, do not appeal to the Moving Picture Exhibitors League of West Virginia, and they will try to have some of the laws changed in such a way as to make it easier for them to operate.

All of the Fifth avenue theatres in Pittsburgh have done away with their orchestras and have installed pipe organs, with the exception of the Columbia Theatre.

G. W. Lewis, president of the Western Film Company, has withdrawn from that firm. He has been appointed manager of the Western Union Telegraph Company, and finds he has not the time to devote to the film business.

WORKMEN have been busy at the Olympic Theatre at Weirton, W. Va., which has been closed for several days. A number of alterations are being made, and the seating capacity of the house has been rearranged so that sixty more seats have been installed.

B. F. Jones, Jr., who has been in the film business in Pittsburgh since 1910, has been appointed manager of the Universal-Mutual branch office at Wheeling, W. Va., and has moved his family to the Stogie City. He stated while visiting Pittsburgh on business last week that he was getting all the business he could handle at present.

Edgar S. Bowman, general sales manager of the Automatic Ticket Selling and Cash Register Company of New York, was in Pittsburgh last week, and made his headquarters at the local office of the firm.

Charles Miller's assistant at the Pittsburgh Photoplay Company, Miss Retta Berger, has left the city to spend her vacation at Waldmier Beach, near Erie, Pa., and when she returns to the city will, no doubt, be able to spring some fish stories on her exhibitor friends.

J. B. Clark, one of Pittsburgh's well-known film men, is spending his vacation in West Virginia, where he is interested in a large apple orchard proposition.

J. D. Dunmeyer, manager of the Grand Theatre at Butler, Pa., was in the city last week contracting for some features for his theatre. He will also install a Seeburg photoplayer in his theatre, and has given the contract for the machine to one of the local companies. He has booked "The Spy" for his theatre for an early date in August.

Saturday was "Film Day" at the McKeesport municipal swimming pool. Pictures of the bathers were taken and Mayor George H. Lysle and the four city commisioners were included in the pictures at the pool.

G. L. McCoy, Jr.

The Kismet Company expects shortly to close a deal for a large studio at Fort Lee, N. J., and will release from there through W. J. Siggs all future productions.

Canadians Want No Picture Men as Censors

Ontario Feels That a Law Should Be Passed Making It Impossible for Anyone with Film Affiliations to Serve on the Board

Special to The Motion Picture News

Hamilton, Ont., July 30.

EACH province in Canada has its board of censors, men appointed by the provincial government on a salary, who see every motion picture show before it is given to the public.

There is a feeling among motion picture men in this country, and especially among Ontario motion picture men, that the members of the board of censors should be forbidden by law to be interested in motion picture theatres personally. What is to prevent a member of the board owning his own motion picture show?

Now, it is a well-known fact that some members of the board of censors are interested in the motion picture business, and at the theatre of one, the motion pictures are censored before being given to the public. It might be, in such a case, that a man would let pass some portion of the picture rather than spoil his chance of running a sensation. He might also censor some adjacent playhouse in order to keep money in his own pockets.

Of course this is not done here, but under the existing conditions it is quite possible it could be done and none would be very much the wiser. If the provinces of Canada had a national board of voluntary censors rather than paid officials, who, some picture men say, censor pictures now and then in order to put up a bluff of work, it would be a much fairer way than the present one is.

Another feature in connection with the way in which the Canadian censors go to work was never better illustrated than in the appeal of D. E. Stewart, manager of the Red Mill Theatre, Hamilton, on the decision barring seventy feet of film in "Hearts Adrift," which was shown in this city last winter. It may be mentioned that Mr. Stewart was the first man to make use of the "appeal" law against the board of censors.

Some alleged "objectionable features" were banned by the board. Mr. Stewart protested, but his appeal was unavailing. In consequence, he had to go without the seventy feet of film. Some of the film ended at a place where the result was left to the imaginative minds of the audience. As the audience knew the film had been censored, it led them to probably believe that the part was more suggestive than it really was.

In consequence the board of censors defeated their aim. When a minister, not one of the old fogies, but a broad-minded churchman, at a motion picture manager's invitation, saw the same photoplay in a Buffalo theatre he was surprised at the splendid way in which the U. S. censors had done their work and declared that his conception of the play as seen in Canada did it an injustice, through having the Ontario board of censors mutilate the film, as they thought, in the interests of the public at large.

Errol D. H. Boyd.

Three Detroit Film Men Organize Company

Operations of Progressive Film and Equipment Concern Wide in Scope —Will do Everything from Buying Theatres to Handling Machine Parts

Special to The Motion Picture News

Detroit, July 29.

W. D. WARD and A. W. Blankmeyer, two of Detroit's busetknown film men, together with H. B. Schantz, a Detroit attorney, have organized the Progressive Film and Equipment Company which will purchase the exclusive state rights to film features, buy and sell theatres, carry a line of machines and parts and do commercial manufacturing on contract only.

They open business with the agency for the Sawyer Film Company, but will add other makes as they desire, so as to give the exhibitors of Detroit and the vicinity an attractive and high-grade feature service.

It is the intention of the new concern to open a branch office in Indianapolis. The headquarters of the new company will be at 97 Woodward avenue, where there will be offices and display rooms and projecting room.

Mr. Ward is president of the new company, Mr. Blankmeyer vice-president and treasurer, and Mr. Schantz secretary.

That these men know the film business is evidenced by the fact that Mr. Ward was three years with the Detroit Mutual exchange, first as assistant manager and then as manager, and has been successful in taking rundown theatres and building them up; and that Mr. Blankmeyer, after a period as theatre operator, was for a year manager of the Universal exchange and is now owner of the Grand Circus Theatre on Woodward avenue, a property which he took the management of when it was a loser and built up to a profitable basis.

The new concern has in experience every prospect for a successful career.

L. W. Bailey.

Prosperity Off the Beaten Path

By L. W. Bailey

The Large Business That Has Been Built Up with the Liberty Theatre, in Detroit, Shows What Can Be Done with a House on a Side Street When the Manager Is a Live Wire—Courtesy, Advertising and High-Class Programs Get Results

THE ofttime question, "Can a motion picture theatre be made to pay under adverse circumstances?" can be well answered in using the Liberty Theatre in Detroit, Mich., as an example.

Here is a theatre located on a side street, off the main avenues of travel, and in a position that cannot be be termed as the most advantageous. Yet its builders were convinced that, with proper management and worthy productions, it not only could be made a fair paying proposition, but could be made a popular theatre catering to a steady business.

Due perhaps to the keen foresightedness and faith of John H. Kunsky, a man who, through sheer merit, exceptional ability and business judgment, has become, in the course of a few years a recognized head in the motion picture industry in the state of Michigan, the project has not only proven a success, but has, under his direction, exceeded even the wildest hopes.

The Liberty is a theatre of beauty, seating 800, a stage opening of 34 feet with a 20-foot depth and a throw of 85 feet.

IN an interview with the correspondent of The Motion Picture News, Howard O. Pierce, the manager, said:

"When this theatre was constructed it was freely predicted that the venture would be a failure. However, as you can readily see, their predictions were entirely wrong.

"To my mind, it is not always the location of a theatre that speaks for its success or failure. Of course, judgment must be used in the selection of a site. However, that is not all.

"A theatre is a mercantile pursuit the same as the grocery store, the shoe shop and the haberdashery.

"Your patrons are your customers and in order to keep them, to call them your friends, and to make them your supporters, they must be treated with courtesy. I have under my direction nineteen employees with whom courtesy to patrons is the first and most important rule.

"When a patron steps to the window to purchase a ticket, he must be met with a pleasant smile and a 'thank you' from the ticket seller; as he deposits his ticket at the door, deference must be shown him; the same applies to the usher seating him.

"Another point which I consider most essential in the conduct of a house, is personal neatness of the employees. Each man must keep his appearance at its best at all times.

"THE same rule applies to the theatre itself. Soap, water and furniture polish are cheap, and by their liberal use a good impression will be created and many a regular customer will be made.

"But with the purchase of a ticket all is not ended as far as the theatre is concerned. No patron ever forgets that he has paid the price of admission, and he expects full value for his money. Cheapening the quality or shortening the show never built up a theatre's clientele. Give him the goods! give him good goods and an ample amount of them. If you do that, you have made a friend, and that friend will come again and bring others.

"We run nothing here but the best films obtainable, specializing in Famous Players, Lasky and All Star Feature Corporation outputs. We run one full week, and have run two weeks with the same attraction.

"As an accompaniment to the pictures, we furnish only the very best class of music, choosing that which is suitable to the picture, from the works of the greatest composers, the compositions being rendered by an orchestra composed of eight pieces and a pipe organ.

"OUR performances typify that which represents only the best in both pictures and music. Regarding the projection, we have a throw of eighty-five feet, employ only the most competent operators, use a Gold Fibre Screen and are very particular as to the projection and the picture obtained therefrom.

"Too much stress cannot be laid upon this department, a fact which I only wish was realized by the average exhibitor for the good of the business as a whole. Bad projection has resulted in the ruin of many a house. A careless operator tarries not long at the Liberty.

"Advertising is another important factor. Not long ago I heard an exhibitor state that he did not deem it necessary to employ posters or banners about his place of business. That man belongs in the class known as the cave man. He will never, as long as he maintains that idea, meet with success in his chosen line. He complained about business being poor. Why?

THE LIBERTY THEATRE, DETROIT

"ADVERTISING is most essential, although by advertising I don't mean that it is necessary to plaster a theatre so that it resembles a billboard. That's not effective advertising. Advertise in a judicious way. Direct advertising by means of a personal letter or card will bring business.

HOWARD O. PIERCE

"I also conduct a weekly program wherein is contained reading matter pertaining to coming attractions and articles of interest to my patrons. A medium of this sort also serves to bring the management in closer touch with the audience.

"By means of a suggestion card, post card size, upon which a patron may mark a choice of program most desirable to him, an excellent circular list has been established which comes in most handy at times.

"Through this medium and others of like nature, a steady and substantial patronage has been created, of an excellent cast. Patrons come week after week and in such numbers that we have difficulty in caring for them."

UNDER Mr. Kunsky's direction, his house managers are schooled in the ethics of the policies expressed and through such policies has Mr. Kunsky built up a chain of eight theatres with two more under construction.

In bringing into effect his ideas he has brought the standard of the motion picture up to the highest plane of efficiency and public estimation, in his vicinity.

Good Summer Business Ruined by Fires

Third Blaze in Owenton House in Past Four Years — No Insurance— $400,000 Damage in Jasonville, Ind., Wiping Out the Family Theatre

THREE fires, two in Kentucky and one in Indiana, are responsible for the loss, in two cases resulting in serious damage, to motion picture theatres which had been enjoying excellent summer business. In one instance, the unfortunate ocurrence was the third fire in four years, none of the loss at any time having been covered by insurance.

Special to THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS

Louisville, Ky., July 30.

Crossed electric wires on the piano of the Highland Motion Picture Theatre were responsible for the starting of a fire recently that did damage of more than $500. Stage and walls were badly damaged, and it was found necessary to close the house until repairs could be made.

Owenton, Ky., July 30.

The motion picture show belonging to Isaac Wolff was among the number of buildings destroyed by the blaze which swept over a part of Owenton the early part of last week. This is the third time within the last four years that this house has been put out of commission by fire, and, unfortunately, the loss was not covered by insurance on any of the occasions.

The house was one of the best motion picture houses in this section of the state and the loss has proved a heavy one. Mr. Wolff will rebuild at once, but he declares that he has learned a lesson, and will not hereafter attempt to carry his own insurance on any property owned by him.

Jasonville, Ind., July 30.

Fire in the Family Theatre, a motion picture house, here, spread to a score of business houses covering a radius of four blocks. Among the buildings which were leveled are the People's State Bank, the Opera House Block, a two-story building, the Bryan drug store, a three-story building containing beside the drug store several other places of business and offices, two clothing stores, a motion picture house, and a dozen smaller business establishments.

Happenings in Chicago's Filmdom

Joseph Hopp, Prominent in Motion Picture Circles, Made a Bank President—Don Meaney, Formerly of Essanay, with Photoplay Productions Company

Special to THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS

Chicago, July 30.

JOSEPH HOPP, who for a long time has figured prominently in the motion picture business and at the present time retains a big interest in the Union Film Company, of Chicago, was recently elected to the presidency of the Fort Dearborn Bank of Chicago. This is one of Chicago's oldest and strongest banking institutions. During the spring primaries Mr. Hopp was a nominee for alderman.

L. A. Boening, president of the American Cinematograph Company, is listed among the nominees for the office of clerk of the Appellate Court. This is his first venture into politics.

Don Meaney, who for the past year and a half held down the advertising manager's desk at the Essanay Film Manufacturing Company, has lined up with the Photoplay Productions Company in the same capacity. Mr. Meaney, while in the Windy City with the Essanay, put over several novel stunts for this concern.

Annette Kellermann, performing her graceful amphibious stunts in "Neptune's Daughter" for eleven consecutive weeks at the Fine Arts Theatre, has brought such a high class of patronage to the Michigan Boulevard playhouse that the new management has renewed Alfred Hamburger's lease for a long term. This new lease will make the Fine Arts a permanent photoplay theatre, and during the coming winter it will probably be the only high-class theatre downtown in Chicago devoted exclusively to feature pictures.

Edward Abeles, performing that inimitable comedy, "Brewster's Millions" on the screen at the Ziegfeld Picture Playhouse, is now entering his third week in combination with Cecelia Loftus.

PICTURE FILMED AT CANAL

The Picture Playhouse Film Company's producing company has just returned from Panama, where they made a splendid three-reel picture called "Desperado of Panama."

The officials on the canal gave the company every opportunity to make use of the natural advantages of the zone, and the military forces helped on the picture. The company expects to release this picture shortly.

IN THE EDUCATIONAL FIELD

Project on Foot to Establish Educational Film Exchange in Kansas City, to Supply Schools, Colleges, Churches, and All Similar Institutions with Suitable Pictures—Louisiana Church Uses Films Regularly with Profitable Results

IN the center of the flat, treeless plains country of Western Kansas a few days ago, the teacher of a one-room rural school looked about herself at the thirty desks of her pupils and said with a nexpressive gesture:

"Yes, with a motion picture machine and the right kind of films, my work would be lightened tremendously. Teaching would have greater results and it would be better for the pupils. They would learn more and faster."

The school in which she stood had been erected as the model rural school connected with the Fort Hays Normal at Hays, Kan., and the teacher was perhaps the most advanced of all the country school teachers in that state. It is her aim—and results show that she is rapidly approaching her ideal—to make the school as efficient as any in the larger cities and she believes that the motion picture holds forth the greatest promise in that line.

Need Appeal to the Eye

"Present day teaching depends too much upon the awakening of ear-interest in the pupil," she continued. "I mean by that, all teaching, all lessons appeal only to the one sense of hearing. I would have it appeal to the eye. Seeing, you know, is believing—and teaching to the eye always brings greater and more lasting results."

Unable to procure satisfactory releases and projecting machines suitable to the use of the small school, this teacher has done the next best thing. She has made hundreds of picture cards—historical, biographical, numerical, alphabetical, cards illustrating natural history, literature, arithmetic and practically every subject taught or touched upon in the school work. These are used daily to take the place of the motion pictures she has been unable to obtain.

An Educational Film Exchange

Back in Kansas City, of which the teacher knew nothing, a plan is being unfolded that probably soon will result in the formation of the first educational film service in this country. R. V. Rothermel, manager of the feature division of the local General Film agency, has had it in mind for several years and the idea probably will be carried out soon.

Briefly, it is a plan to form an educational film exchange to supply schools, colleges, medical societies, mercantile houses, homes, Chautauquas, Sunday schools, churches and special gatherings with suitable films for illustration of lectures and studies. Small portable projecting machines that can be shipped by express from place to place, with small folding screens that require only a few moments to set up would solve the machine problem. Accompanying each film, would be sent out literature and descriptive matter for lectures and a large percentage of the films would show Biblical scenes and studies.

At the present time about 250 educational films are released every year. These are of a topical, scenic and industrial nature. Several of the larger exchanges have huge laboratories for the filming of plant and animal life studies. Others keep their representatives on the road continually snapping travel and industrial scenes. But these films are released intermittently, different services handle them, and it is not possible now to obtain a regular program of such features.

Mr. Rothermel's Idea

Mr. Rothermel would combine all this in one—he would arrange it so that any person, exhibitor, lecturer or minister could obtain at a moment's notice the special film wanted.

"Edison's greatest idea in perfecting the motion picture was educational," Mr. Rothermel said. "Edison believes that the highest future of it is in the schools and homes."

Several small projecting machines that sell for $100 up have recently been put upon the market. A few of them are suitable for use in small lecture and schoolrooms. It is true that these smaller machines have not been developed so highly as the larger machine for exhibitor's use. But it is only a matter of time until that development is reached in the smaller machines. The possible lack of electric power can be overcome easily by the substitution of cheap, portable gas tanks and Mr. Rothermel believes that problem is practically solved now.

The possibility of motion pictures in the school system of Kansas City has long been considered by the board of education. Most of the buildings have been equipped with electric power and in many of them special screen rooms have been built.

Films for Kansas City Schools

"The schools of Kansas City will be equipped with motion pictures as soon as the special needs of the schools are supplied," J. M. Greenwood, former superintendent of the schools here, said three years ago. "Not only will the city schools adopt it, but the country schools as well."

Mr. Rothermel believes that the film will find its way ultimately into the church for Bible study. He believes also that it will become the means of advancing the science of agriculture, of teaching children the alphabet and the multiplication tables.

Motion Pictures in Church

Napoleonville, La., located in the most intensely Catholic section of Catholic Louisiana, is probably the first in the country to so endorse the motion picture business as to have a theatre actually operated by the church, and on Sunday.

Under the direction of Father L. I. H. L'Anglaise, who came here comparatively recently from the Canadian Acadia section, the old church of St. Ann was torn down and was replaced by a splendid new structure. However, the funds were not sufficient to complete the interior of the edifice and the rector, Father L'Anglaise and some of the ladies of the church, hit upon the plan of forming a Nickel Club, the dues of which should be five cents a week.

In a year's time this club had raised $800, and Father L'Anglaise proposed that the club build on the church grounds a structure suitable for the exhibition of motion pictures, and to use the proceeds for the completion of the church work. This suggestion was adopted, and since that time regular film programs have been presented on Wednesdays, Saturdays and Sundays, under the personal direction of the priest.

Church Averages $35 a Week

Local amateur talent often volunteers to aid the program. The church-motion picture house is averaging a net income of $35 a week, and there will soon be enough money in the treasury to complete St. Ann's.

During the absence of Father L'Anglaise on a continental tour the motion picture house is under the direction of Dr. E. Digas and Lee Guillot.

The church theatre uses the General Film Service.

THE PROOF OF THE PUDDING

Tabloid Testimonials Which Indicate How the NEWS is Leading the Other Papers in Motion Picture Field in the Effort to Meet the Needs of the Exhibitor

MOTION PICTURE NEWS,
220 West 42nd Street,
New York City, N. Y.
Gentlemen:—
I think you have one of the best magazines published, and it is getting better every issue.
Very truly yours,
J. M. SWANSON, Pres.,
Savoy Theatre,
Washington, D. C.

We are glad to note you are making an exhibitors' paper in THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS.
Yours truly,
W. J. SLIMM,
8525 Hough Avenue,
Cleveland, Ohio.

I find THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS the best in the market to-day. Thanking you in advance, I remain a constant reader of THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS.
Yours truly,
MORRIS KRAVITZ,
66 Powell Street,
Brooklyn, N. Y.

It is one of the best magazines I ever read.
Very truly yours,
J. C. DINNIGER,
242 W. Jefferson Street,
Dayton, Ohio.

We have been watching and reading your magazine weekly, and we wish to compliment you on the great improvement made in the last few months. With kind regards and wishes for much success.
Very truly yours,
THE MUTUAL FILM COMPANY,
C. C. CHRISTENSON, Mgr.,
108 Prospect Avenue, S. E.,
Cleveland, Ohio.

Your strong campaign against censorship was a hummer, and we appreciate the fact that we have at least one live trade journal that has the exhibitors' interests at heart, and that is fearless enough to oppose our greatest foe, the State Censors.
Thanking you for your efforts, and wishing your enterprising journal a world of success, we remain,
Respectfully yours,
THE SUN-MURRAY AMUSEMENT COMPANY,
Per V. L. SCHRAM, Mgr.,
Canton, Ohio.

Enclosed please find check for $2.00 for subscription to THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS for one year. I esteem your paper very highly and enjoy every issue. I find it exceedingly interesting and instructive.
E. D. LERMAN,
Athens, Ala.

We congratulate you upon the continuous success of THE NEWS. We believe the real, genuine criticisms and the fair mindedness does much towards your success. We really fail to see how any exhibitor could do without it.
Very respectfully yours,
Motion Picture Exhibitors' Association of Greater New York,
BAUERENFREUND & STRAUSS.

Gentlemen:—Your paper is a great help to the exhibitor.
Yours very truly,
Progressive Amusement Co.,
Per E. R. HARDWICK, Mgr.,
Lyceum Theatre,
Clovis, New Mexico.

I wish you continued success and congratulate you on the wonderful growth THE NEWS has made in the last year.
Very truly yours,
CLARENCE H. PFEIFER,
Ridgewood, N. J.

Your favor of the 14th to hand, acknowledging the various subscriptions sent you. All I can say is that were it not for the fact that we deem it an absolute necessity to have your publication every week, we certainly would not have subscribed for same.
Very truly yours,
HARRY GOLDBERG,
Casino Film Exchange,
Detroit, Mich.

Gentlemen:—The NEWS is an excellent publication and an "ideal" moving picture journal.
Very truly yours,
J. H. KING,
260 Dauphin Street,
Mobile, Ala.

Gentlemen:—I consider the paper excellent.
Very truly yours,
E. B. McCLAIN,
Ridgway Opera House,
Main Street,
Ridgway, Penn.

Gentlemen:—Relative to THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS, I cannot speak too highly of it, as certainly you are forging ahead and keeping in line with your caption, "The Fastest Growing Picture Journal." It deserves the support of every one in the business, and we look forward each week with anticipation to receiving it.
With best wishes for your continued success, we remain,
Very truly yours,
Notable Feature Film Company,
L. MARCUS, Pres.

Dear Sirs:—Your supplies, the Vol. IX, No. 7, has reached safely to hand, with thanks. I consider my subscription to THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS is O. K.
CINEMA HAK GWAN & Co.,
Pontianak,
Dutch West, Borneo.

LIVE WIRE EXHIBITORS

EDITOR'S NOTE.—It is the desire of "The Motion Picture News" to include under this heading novel advertising ideas, successful schemes in the management, decoration and equipment of the theatre—everything, in fact, done by the exhibitor to stimulate his trade. We invite every exhibitor to write us about any new enterprise he has; also to come to us for advice or information along any line. Address: Editor, "The Motion Picture News," 220 West Forty-second Street, New York City.

A COOLING ATMOSPHERE

THE summers in Hamilton, Ont., are pretty hot. Some theatres have ingenious cooling contrivances on that account in that city. The Red Mill Theatre, North James street, has a continual flow of water down behind glass steps of a staircase leading to the theatre which is situated above.

The water has a cooling effect which is felt all over the house. D. E. Stewart, manager of the Red Mill Theatre, states that no matter how hot, it draws the crowds. Griffin's Theatre, North James street, has a unique cooling device consisting of a large artificial fountain on the stage. There is also a miniature rockery, and electric fans blow the cooled air all over the house.

The fountain is prettily decorated with colored lights, and has a combined artistic apearance and serviceable effect. Many motion picture shows here rely on the electric fans. These fans are often placed too high up to make much change for the better and the theatres are, in consequence, almost deserted during the summer months.

WORKING UP ADVANCE ENTHUSIASM

Manager Al Sardino, of the Savoy Theatre, Syracuse, N. Y., is making sure that "The Trey o' Hearts" will be a money-getter from the very first showing. He has ordered 40,000 playing cards, trey of hearts, and has secured permission from the mayor to throw these cards off the top of various downtown buildings at such times as he may chose.

The Syracuse papers will tell when the cards will be thrown, but will not tell for what purpose. On the cards will appear the following: "Watch for Me at the Savoy."

Two hundred cards will bear this inscription: "Good for Admission to Every Showing at the Savoy—Watch for Me."

The cards will be stuck in conspicuous places about town, and it is natural to suppose that everybody will be talking and wondering what the "Trey o' Hearts" will be.

LOUNGING CHAIRS DRAW PATRONAGE

THIS shows how Manager Harry B. Hearn, of Atlanta, Ga., has transformed his barren walls into a veritable paradise, and incidentally he is the man who has come into prominence by making the Grand Opera House "go" as a motion picture theatre. Recently Mr. Hearn set a new record for attendance when he showed Annette Kellermann in "Neptune's Daughter" to over 40,000 persons in twenty-four consecutive performances.

The Grand Theatre, one of the biggest in America, had been dark for some time before it was taken over by Mr. Hearn. Other managers had tried it for motion pictures and failed.

Mr. Hearn turned the lobby into a flower garden, and installed comfortable lounging chairs for patrons. He made the big theatre comfortable by inaugurating a splendid ice-air ventilating system and then remodeled the stage.

THE STAGE OF THE GRAND OPERA HOUSE, ATLANTA, GEORGIA

The front of the stage is fenced by vine-covered trellis work, just back of which plays a fountain. Scattered over the stage are gorgeous palms and other potted plants. A ten-piece orchestra occupies the stage.

HELPS THE "CLEAN-UP" COMMITTEE

WHEN Thomas Scott, owner of the Airdome motion picture theatre at Jacksonville, Ill., found out that the members of the "Clean-Up Committee" of the city had a deficit in their treasury, he came with an offer to help them out. It was accepted in spite of the skepticism of many of the townspeople.

Scott agreed to book "Les Miserables," the motion picture feature play adapted from Victor Hugo's novel, for two evenings and to give the committee half the proceeds of the entertainment. His offer was quickly taken up, with the result that he had every member of the committee boosting for the show, and thus assured a large patronage for each of the two shows.

PRIZE CONTEST FOR CHILDREN

A SHETLAND pony and cart constitute the prizes offered for the most popular boy or girl under sixteen years of age, by the managers of the California Garden, California avenue and Sidney street, and the Aubert Garden, Aubert and Easton avenues, St. Louis.

The votes are earned by the contestants and their supporters, through attendance to the Gardens, and through the purchasing of merchandise from different dealers in the neighborhood, a dry goods store, a grocery, a meat market, a drug store, a bakery, and others, who all give votes, ten with each ten-cent purchase.

In addition to this, two hundred votes are given to any boy or girl who sells a family book of twelve tickets to the garden. The twelve tickets sell for a dollar under these conditions. The two gardens are under the same management, and they are veritable fairy gardens, with fountains playing near the entrance, flowers and vines growing all around the walls of the enclosure, and a large orchestra that plays catchy music. Many lights and beautiful decorations ad to the popularity and comfort of the gardens.

PICTURES OUTLIVE CRAZE FOR DANCING

James Howell, manager of the Colonial, Columbus, O., formerly the home of $2 attractions, now devoted exclusively to motion pictures, thought dancing and pictures would mix. They haven't to any great extent. It's the pictures that have survived. The dancing craze has died.

Howell had the picture screen placed at the very rear of the stage, polished the floor, placed steps leading from the auditorium to the stage and set some palms about, naming his new creation "The Cherry Orchard."

Dancing was announced for from 10 p. m. to 12 p. m. daily. At first there were small crowds, drawn by the novelty of the thing. As time went on, however, the crowds dropped off. The heat is largely to blame, the management thinks.

No pictures are shown after the hour for dancing. The theatre does a big motion picture business.

PINS FOR REST ROOM

Manager P. Gevurtz, of the American Theatre, 450 South Broadway, Los Angeles, discovered that many women lost hairpins in removing their hats while in the theatre, and now provides the rest-room with a quantity, as well as all kinds of other pins and other accessories for the women's toilets.

BOOSTING A CIVIL WAR FEATURE

THE publicity stunts negotiated apropos of "The Battle of Shiloh," when that feature appeared at the Sun Theatre, Wilkes-Barre, Pa., have yet to be equalled in that city. The picture was booked to begin on a Monday and the press-agent led off with a call for a private exhibition Sunday afternoon.

Then he goes to the G. A. R. of the valley and invited the veterans to witness it. He described the films in true press-agent style and the veterans were elated with the prospect of the entertainment. The stunt was enlarged and the Spanish-American War veterans were invited as an escort to the G. A. R.

The Spanish-American War veterans assembled at their rooms Sunday in dress uniform and headed by a band marched to the G. A. R. hall. They then formed the escort and to the accompaniment of martial airs paraded to the Sun Theatre.

The parade was led by State Senator Sterling R. Catlin. The streets were lined with people. The veterans drew up in line with the colors in front of the theatre and saluted, and the onlookers cheered.

In the meantime the newspapers made the announcement of the private exhibition, and the public parade in uniform with a band Sunday afternoon added further to the publicity.

The press-agent was still busy. Representatives of the press were also invited with their families. The press-agent wrote interviews with some of the veterans who had been in the Battle of Shiloh and weaved around their supposed statements human interest and thrilling stories of the great conflict. These stories he gave to the newspaper men and they grabbed them for the best copy they could turn in.

Every paper Monday carried big accounts of the parade and the vividness of the battle as it was seen on the screen by the supposed participants fifty years ago.

It is needless to add "The Battle of Shiloh" played to capacity crowds for two days.

CONVERTING THE MOTHERS

PATRONS of the Garden Theatre, Waterbury, Conn., were given a pleasant surprise recently when children under ten years of age, accompanied by adults, were permitted to enter the motion picture house free of charge. This arrangement will continue until further notice and holds good for the matinee performances only. Manager Nichol, when asked what effect this had on his receipts, expressed himself after this fashion:

"I find that by allowing the children to enter free of charge it brings a good many mothers to my house. You know there are a good many women who have two, three or four children and cannot afford to attend the pictures very often when they have to pay for their children. Now they come to my shows, and since the matinee performances are not very well attended during the summer, I find this an excellent means of filling my house.

"I see many new faces and, would you believe it, my receipts for the first three days of the week, despite the warm weather, simply made me almost want to shake hands with myself. If I admit these children with their mothers, it is only natural that they will come to my house instead of the fellows across the street. The manager of the Garden has also arranged to have the dial of a clock thrown on the screen a couple of times during the performance in order that the "movie" lovers may know just what time of day it is. The innovation has been highly commended by the patrons."

Manager Nichol has been so encouraged by the success of his experiment that others in the same direction may be expected.

HANDLING A CROWD

"OH let's go to the Kaiser Theatre, we can always get into such a select crowd there." This statement was made by a married woman of Boise, Idaho, to her husband the other evening when a discussion of what show to visit was brought up in a crowd. Knowing that the show was open to all. THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS representative followed the crowd to get a line-up on the system. Herman Kaiser, manager of the theatre, was on the job directing the ushers and careful observance showed that he had made a study of the people and grouped them according to class and color.

Chinamen, darkies, Greeks, Spaniards and men of that class are seated to themselves, while the more select have seats together. There is no mixing of colors at the Kaiser, and the public, sure of not being embarrassed through being seated by a stranger not up to their standard, are fast realizing the courtesy shown in that respect and giving their patronage accordingly. It can also be said that Mr. Kaiser is as careful about selecting his films for the show as he is in seating the public.

Directory of New Theatres

EDITOR'S NOTE.—The information contained in the "Directory of New Theatres" is gathered by the field representatives of "The Motion Picture News" and the facts and figures in each instance have been verified by them and are authentic. They may be relied upon by members of the trade.

TWO CHICAGO HOUSES, $165,000 AND $90,000

THE North Side, Chicago, is to have two new theatre buildings. One is now in process of construction at the southeast corner of Broadway and Belmont avenue and will be known as the Broadway-Belmont Building.

It will be of stone and terra cotta construction and will cost $165,000. It will contain a motion picture theatre, stores, offices, lodgerooms and an assembly hall. Schiff & Company have made a building loan of $90,000, in the form of a bond issue bearing 6 per cent interest and maturing in from two to ten years, upon the property.

Another theatre structure in that section is one being erected by Siegman & Greenblatt on Lincoln avenue, one-half block south of Belmont avenue, to be leased to Lubliner & Trinz.

The building will have a ground area of 96 by 135 feet, fronting southwest, and will cost $100,000. It will contain a 1,000-seat theatre, four stores, a hall and offices. It will be of fire-proof construction with an exterior of brick and terra cotta. The plans for the building were prepared by S. Milton Eichberg, architect.

$40,000 HOUSE IN WATERLOO, IOWA

Following close on the heels of announcements that a large motion picture theatre is to be erected at once on Fourth street west and that another was to be located in the new McMurray block on Commercial street, Waterloo, Ia., now being built, comes a statement from Manager George Fenberg, of the Majestic Theatre, that the syndicate he represents, the F. & H. Amusement Company, of Chicago, will erect a $40,000 motion picture theatre over the race, immediately adjoining the Y. M. C. A. building from the west.

If the syndicate people take a lease on this property, as they now expect to, it will be for a period of from fifteen to twenty years with the privilege of an extension. The property has a 73-foot frontage on Bridge street, and on one side is 120 feet deep, while on the other it is only 115 feet deep.

THE LYRIC WILL OPEN SEPTEMBER 1

ACTUAL construction of a fine, modern and up-to-date motion picture theatre has been begun in Chattanooga, Tenn. A sum of $20,000 or more will be expended by the Lyric company, of which C. H. Royalty is president; Lawrence H. Smith, general manager, and Dr. C. H. Smith, vice-president, in the construction and equipping of the new theatre building.

Not only will the new motion picture home be absolutely fireproof throughout with concrete floor and steel walls and ceiling, but it will be fitted up with a complete ventilation system. Air from the Broad street end of the structure will be drawn in by two large suction pipes, cooled by being forced through ice boxes, and filtered through silk cloth.

There will be four outlet pipes on the roof of the building. These will be so arranged that they will suck the air out of the theatre, thus keeping a current passing through all the time. In this manner it will be possible to change the air in one and a half minutes, or to reduce summer temperature to sixty-five or seventy degrees in fifteen minutes.

Located in the very heart of the city in the center of the two busiest and best streets and extending back from Market street, the principal downtown thoroughfare, the entire length of the block to Broad street, the new theatre will occupy a conspicuous position. In view of this fact the Lyric company will make its front as attractive as it is possible to make it. Present plans for the front, as decided upon, are to construct it of cream-colored pressed brick, the trimmings to be of stone and marble.

A balcony will be constructed in the front of the theatre and on this balcony a six-piece orchestra will give a concert each evening. The most modern lighting apparatus will be installed.

In addition to the large lobby in which will be the ticket office, there will be a long foyer specially finished and decorated. There will also be rest rooms, for the lady patrons, equipped with high-grade furniture.

The theatre auditorium will consist of one floor, a balcony and boxes. Its seating capacity will be about 1,000. On the stage, which will be built so that vaudeville acts could be easily put on, will be hung the film curtain. This curtain, according to the Lyric company, will be the largest in the South. Operators' booths will be built of fireproof material and fitted with self-closing doors. Two of the latest model projection machines will be installed in the booths.

Aside from the six-piece orchestra a large pipe organ will be installed. All pictures will be accompanied with appropriate orchestra selections.

An average admission price of ten cents will be charged. Only the very highest grade of feature films are to be shown. The Lyric company hopes to secure these features in accordance with the trend of demands of patrons. They do not expect to stand back on the cost in getting the best in filmdom. Their policy will be to advertise extensively. The ice water feature, now in vogue in the present Lyric motion picture theatre, will be carried out in addition to other features. The management will continue to operate the present Lyric theatre, showing only feature films at both places.

Their outlook in regard to the motion picture situation in Chattanooga is an optimistic one, and it is generally conceded that their new theatre, which will formally open September 1, will be a success in every way.

NEW LOUISVILLE HOUSE

A permit has been issued by Building Inspector O'Sullivan, Louisville, Ky., to the Fourth Avenue Amusement Company of the J. C. Lewis Block. Twenty-five thousand dollars will be expended in converting it into a motion picture theatre with a seating capacity of more than a thousand.

WILL SPEND $50,000 ON MILWAUKEE HOUSE

The Badger Amusement Company is preparing plans for a $50,000 motion picture house to be operated at Twelfth and Chambers streets, Milwaukee.

Imagination in Theatre Management

By S. Barret McCormick

The Visualizing Power That Enables a Manager to See Possibilities When Other Exhibitors Are Blind to Facts Right Under Their Noses—One Usher Who Demonstrated Managerial Timber by Original Methods, Now Has Charge of a Picture House

"IMAGINATION is essential for an exhibitor's success, and often it is his rarest attribute," remarked a man recently whose duties bring him into daily contact with film men.

Almost a fanatic in his interest for the silent art, he earnestly seeks ways and means to aid the industry.

"They remind me of a story a friend of mine in the advertising business tells of the lack of imagination in some men working for him. His business required the hiring of fifty or more men to distribute circulars. For this they were paid one dollar a day.

"It was the most they could earn at this work. Every morning this group gathered around one who read aloud the want ads in the morning paper, the lost colmuns, the heirs wanted, and other places where it was likely their 'ship' would seek port. By accident, no doubt, he slipped into the 'Help Wanted' column and began to read, 'Wanted, Dishwasher, $40 a month, room and board.'

"ONE of the men turned to his fellows, 'There's a good job for some guy,' he remarked, and the others nodded as they gathered up their bags and started in pursuit of their dollar-a-day livelihood."

The advertising man said, "Do you see my argument? No imagination. Although there was a job waiting for any one of these men at double his present earnings, yet none had imagination to see himself getting it."

The story illustrates the attitude of the majority of exhibitors and film men. They lack imagination to grasp the fundamental possibilities of their business.

"ONLY recently I suggested a little stunt to a manager," continued the man. "It meant a small outlay for advertising; not enough for any profit to the paper, but it meant an immediate return and accumulative value to the theatre.

"The exhibitor nodded, 'Yes, it was a good idea.' But he could not see how it would work in his theatre. Anyway, he had to go downstairs then and relieve the door man, and didn't have time to bother about advertising.

"Then he thumbed a trade journal and turned to the announcement of a new film with splendid advertising possibilities.

"'There,' he said, 'some fellow will make a good thing with that picture!' But never once did it occur to him to capitalize that dormant imagination struggling for expression."

THAT these unrealized possibilities in the motion picture field are not confined to the exhibitor alone but extend to the producer and exchange man as well, is advanced in an argument by S. L. Baxter, owner of the Isis, in Denver, Col., conceded to be the finest house in the West.

"I played an animal feature the other day. Splendid, thrilling, dramatic—on the film. But did you see the paper and the stills? One scene showed a group of European soldiers seated at a table, and others quite as thrilling. Yet the picture itself was replete with ideal scenes for posters, any one of which would have added ten per cent to the day's receipts.

"It's neglect and lack of interest by the men paid to direct the advertising of the manufacturers. Don't you suppose that fellow supposed to select those scenes had more interest in getting to a ball game?"

Imagination centers, not alone upon advertising, but upon every phase of house management, as demonstrated recently in an insignificant incident.

AN old lady had lost her purse in a theatre, as is customary for old ladies to do. Her appeal for a search was answered by one of the ushers, who promptly put into motion the machinery of seeking lost articles. Row by row stood up as the usher flashed his light along the floor, and finally gave up in vain.

"Guess we will have to wait till night, when the janitors come," he said.

"Oh! that's too bad!" replied the old lady, "and it's so hot to walk home."

"Walk home?" quickly answered the usher as he assisted the old lady through the dimly lighted house. "Nothing like that. Here's carfare, and I'll call you up if we find the purse." She thanked him graciously and departed.

The purse was found and returned the next day. The inherent distrust of the old lady departed, and confidence, inspired by the usher's courtesy and regard, won her good will. Now she seldom misses a day at this theatre, and seldom comes alone.

IT was nothing but imagination that prompted this usher to aid the patron. The same thing occurs many times a day in every house, but few ushers, and managers for that matter, have imagination to see the possibilities of winning their patron's confidence and good will.

Incidentally, it might be remarked in passing that this usher is now directing this theatre's advertising and assisting in its management.

Oz Company Finishes First Release

Music Specially Written for the Picture Soon to be Seen in New York, will be Sold in Theatres Showing Production

Special to The Motion Picture News

Los Angeles, July 27.

"THE Patchwork Girl of Oz," from the famous fairy story by J. Frank Baum, of Los Angeles, author of "The Wizard of Oz," "Tick Tock Man of Oz," and twenty-five other stories, the first production of the Oz Film Company, was recently completed at the company's studio and laboratory, on Santa Monica boulevard, Los Angeles, and the first exhibition will be given at Clune's Auditorium, for members of the company only, following the regular performance at the theatre in the near future.

A number of vaudeville and "legitimate" stage celebrities, including Violett MacMillen, Fred Woodward, Raymond Russell, Frank Moore, Ben Deely, and Couderc, the French acrobat, were given prominent parts in the company of more than three hundred, directed by J. Farrell Macdonald. Louis F. Gottschalk, director of the original "Merry Widow Company," and composer of the music for "The Wizard of Oz," "Tick Tock Man," and other musical comedies, has written a full orchestra score to accompany the five-reel picture. The music will be published and sold through the theatres showing the company's productions.

As soon as the picture is shown to the company it will be taken to New York City for exhibition to the film men. The release arrangements of the company have not been completed.

J. C. Jessen.

How Exhibitors Advertise

HATS AND ADVERTISING

HATS and the motion picture business have but little in common, and no one would expect an exhibitor to get any free advertising out of hats, especially if they were men's hats. But Otto Meister, manager of the Vaudette Theatre in Milwaukee, put one over on the papers that got him lots of space and put the name of his theatre and his own name before the public.

Mr. Meister one very hot afternoon last week got word to the various papers that he had a good story for them, and if they would send a reporter around he might be persuaded to give it out. When the reporters arrived they were met on the outside of the theatre by Mr. Meister, who was bareheaded. He then unfolded to them a wondrous story of a no-hat club, and submitted to them a list of names of those who were charter members. He also told them how the members of this club were to march from his theatre to the lake front on a certain day and throw their hats into Lake Michigan.

The story was gleefully pounced upon and given to the public, embellished with Mr. Meister's picture. The parade has not taken place yet, and though Mr. Meister bravely appears in public without his headgear, his fellow exhibitors accuse him of putting over a slick bit of press work. Mr. Meister, however, denies the accusation, and points to his list of club members as evidence of good faith.

WISE THOUGHTFULNESS

THE Wonderland Theatre in Kansas City believes in comfort for its patrons. That, perhaps, explains the announcement the operator there throws upon the screen at the beginning of every performance:

ICE WATER

AT THE FOUNTAIN ON THE RIGHT

The Wonderland is located near the business center of Kansas City, and many of its patrons are shoppers and workers. They often are tired and thirsty—hence the sign and the fountain. While it, in itself, may not affect the patrons, the idea at least is calculated to show them that the management is interested not only in the nickels and dimes paid in at the box-office, but that it is interested as well in the comfort and welfare of the patrons.

The theatre has just been remodeled.

SMOKING PRIVILEGE DRAWS CROWDS

THE Palace, in Washington, D. C., one of the Brylawski chain of theatres, is offering an innovation by the sign, "You may smoke while seeing the pictures." The supposition was that this privilege would turn this theatre into a "man's theatre," but such has by no means proved the case, as is shown by a glance at the spectators that daily attend the Palace.

Nor has this lowered the social standard of the theatre, which ranks among the first in this respect. What "smoking while seeing the pictures" has done for the Palace has been to almost double its box-office receipts.

Speaking to the manager on the change, this information was gathered:

"The permission to smoke at the Palace has catered to the men who wish a little recreation while smoking after luncheon, and also before returning home after leaving their place of business. The fact that this house is in the busy downtown district gives the business men just the relaxation they want.

"Many men must have a smoke after luncheon, and they wish a rest at the same time. They do not wish to walk the streets, remain in a restaurant, nor yet hold up the walls of large buildings. Again, some men like a relaxation after leaving their desks, and the motion pictures have proved to be 'just the thing,' but among this class are many who would be just a little happier if they could smoke at the same time. The Palace is supplying this desire also. I venture to say it is keeping many a man out of the barroom.

"Nor is the smoke offensive," went on the manager, "for the electric fans soon circulate and remove it. The fire marshal has not found any reason to add any restrictions to those which govern all picture houses, and during our short experience with smoking in the Palace, we have found no causes for fire scares."

As an inducement to the men patrons, the lobby contains a neat automatic cigar salesman, where many brands may be had for the dropping ing of a nickel or dime. A light is also provided.

It was noted, while observing the spectators, that having the privilege to smoke was not conducive to keeping a man constantly puffing at his cigar. He seemed more to have the desire to finish a cigar already begun, and not to be compelled to throw it away on entering the theatre and to begin a cigar which frequently went out in his hand during his interest in the pictures.

A FAN FOR THE FANS

HE Savoy Theatre, the only first-run house in the business section with an admission price of five cents, which is located across from the Prince Theatre, on the corner of Main and Forsyth streets, Jacksonville, Fla., has taken advantage of the warm weather and is giving a fan with every ticket sold.

This fan is for "fans," and it is practically certain that a large number, whether devotees of the Mutual program, which the Savoy runs, the General Film program or the Universal program, will keep the favor on account of the twenty-eight clear pictures of favorite stars which are arranged in an attractive and not gaudy layout on the face of the fan. On the back is a simple, and therefore attractive, advertisement of the theatre and its program.

The back of the fan reads:

MUTUAL MOVIES MAKE TIME FLY
at
SAVOY THEATRE
5 cents.

It doesn't cost much and, while the theatre is well ventilated, it is appreciated by the patrons and helps to bring them back.

GETS LOCAL SOCIETIES INTERESTED

Manager A. D. Treloar, of the Hippodrome, Moss Point, Miss., has built up considerable patronage by the co-operation of the various societies of the town. He has willingly devoted his receipts to various organizations, recent performances having been under the auspices of the Methodist Ladies Aid Society and the Civic League. He is getting frec first page matter in the local weekly with every issue and is rapidly increasing his patronage.

FOURTH EXCELSIOR FILM UNDER WAY

The third picture of the Excelsior Feature Film Company, Inc., is now completed and work has been commenced on the fourth. The scenarios from both the second and third pictures are taken from well-known books. The second will be released some time in August.

The Exhibitors' Forum

THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS assumes no responsibility for any opinion or assertion made in the columns below, nor does the publication of a letter mean that the statements it contains are endorsed by the NEWS. All letters must be signed. No attention will be paid to anonymous communications.

A Wise Manager

Kansas City, Mo., July 28, 1914.
Editor, THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS,
New York City.

Dear Sir:

A little shopgirl recently taught me something new in conducting a motion picture house. One day she said to me at noon:

"I'm going to quit your show if you don't run your pictures so I can see them."

I asked for more particulars and learned that certain time limits must be placed on my noon shows if I wished to attract and hold the business of the uptown workers. The little shopgirl was one of several hundred who come to my house every noon. The girl had an hour for lunch, from 12 o'clock until 1 o'clock. It took her fifteen minutes to eat, and at 12:15 o'clock nearly every day of the week she went into the theatre.

"Why do you always start your long pictures (two and three-reel features, she meant) so early?" she asked.

"We get here right in the midst of a picture, and as we have to be at the store at 1 o'clock, we can't stay to see the start of it. I've missed out on a lot of pictures just for that reason. I want to see them all or none." I have adopted a new policy. I begin my one-reel pictures at 12 o'clock for the noon show. Then the remainder of my program is so arranged that the two and three-reel films are concluded a few minutes before 1 o'clock.

Very truly yours,
A DOWN-TOWN EXHIBITOR.

"The Cat in the Bag"

Editor THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS,
New York City.

Dear Sir: How many managers of motion picture theatres see the films which they are to present to their patrons before they book them and actually get them into their theatres for a morning trial, or show?

How many managers depend on the manufacturers or exchange men to "get them up a good show" and let it go at that?

How many managers are compelled, at the last minute, to rush to an exchange for a film to fill in for some picture for which they do not care?

If the correct answers were to be given to these questions by all managers, it would be evidence enough in itself that they were doing their booking properly, and paying strict attention to the needs of their patrons.

Too often managers do not see the films before they are run through for the first time at an early show. Then, if there is a film which is not exactly up to standard, it is almost too late for him to make a change. At that hour a hurried trip to an exchange, and the use of an old film during the rest of the day, is made necessary if one of the films is thrown out as undesirable.

The booking of motion picture shows has become so much of a routine affair, and is so largely in the hands of the exchange men and manufacturers, instead of the managers, that the results are beginning to show in many houses.

Most managers do not have a very well defined idea as to just what they want and what they do not want in the line of pictures. But, if they once see a film, they can usually tell at once whether it is desirable or not, and fitted to their theatre.

There is no opportunity, of course, for motion picture men to see films first, before they buy them. They have to rely on the word of somebody else, on a written description, before they buy.

This, of course, would not do at all in the case of a merchant buying goods to sell. He wouldn't buy from a catalogue, from a written description of the goods in question. He would have to see them, feel them, tear them apart, take the sample to pieces, in other words, before he placed an order. Then he would know exactly what he was buying, and would know if the goods were not up to the standard. He would know just how much to charge for them to make a profit, just how much he could make, and just how much he could expect to sell.

This buying business, however, is done very much on the "sight-unseen" principle in the motion picture business.

About all a manager knows is that he wants a certain number of comedies, Westerns, dramas, features or educational films, and the total number of reels desired to make up his show. When he has told the exchange man that much, he is through. The rest is up to the exchange man, and until the goods are delivered and the delivery to the public through the retailer has commenced, the retailer often doesn't know just exactly what is in his basket. That accounts for the poor taste, and worse shows, which many managers are responsible for.

PROGRESSIVE.

A Communication

Editor, THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS,
New York City.

Dear Sir:—A recent advertisement of another film producing company, in which the announcement was made that the old Mary Pickford films made two or three years ago, are to be re-issued, was stated so as to imply that Mary Pickford was now in the service of that company, and suggested by the subtle use of the word "henceforth" that her future productions were to appear only on the program in question.

Your readers require no verification of the fact that Mary Pickford is at present under contract with the Famous Players Film Company, in whose productions she appears exclusively.

For the sake of exhibitors who are not fully acquainted with the situation, we desire to explain that any other company releasing Pickford films are merely re-issuing old productions in which this star appeared, and any other inference from the current announcements of other companies is unjust both to Miss Pickford and the Famous Players Film Company.

Very truly yours,
FAMOUS PLAYERS FILM COMPANY.

NATIONAL GUARD IN FILMS

Special to THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS
Louisville, Ky., July 30.

Motion pictures of army maneuvers and camp life, made during the recent encampment of the Kentucky National Guard at Fort Spring were shown at a private exhibition for the officers and members of the First Regiment on July 31 at the Majestic Theatre.

The pictures are now being shown at the Star Theatre, and are booked elsewhere as well.

The
Motion Picture News
MOVING PICTURE NEWS EXHIBITORS' TIMES
Published Every Week by
EXHIBITORS' TIMES, Inc.
220 West 42nd Street, New York City
Telephone Bryant 7650
Chicago Office.....604 Schiller Building
WM. A. JOHNSTON.....President
HENRY F. SEWALL.....Vice-President
E. KENDALL GILLETT.....Secretary
WENTWORTH TUCKER.....Treasurer

WM. A. JOHNSTON.....Editor
LESLEY MASON.....Managing Editor
WILLIAM RESSMAN ANDREWS.....News Editor
R. M. VANDIVERT.....Advertising Manager
E. J. HUDSON.....Circulation Manager
E. KENDALL GILLETT.....Business Manager
C. J. VERHALEN.....Chicago Manager

This publication is owned and published by Exhibitors' Times, incorporated under the laws of the State of New York. The offices and principal place of business are at 220 West 42nd Street, New York City. The address of the officers is the office of the publication.

Entered as Second-Class matter at the New York Post-Office.

Subscription $2.00 per year, postpaid in the United States, Mexico, Hawaii, Porto Rico and the Philippine Islands. Canada $3.00, Foreign $4.00 per year.

ADVERTISING RATES on application.

Copy for next issue must reach us by Wednesday 11 a. m.
For Releases see Pages, 74, 76, 78, 80
For Buyers Guide see Page 71

Cuts and copy are received subject to the approval of the publishers and advertisements are inserted absolutely without condition expressed or implied as to what appears in the text portion of the paper.

Vol. X August 8, 1914 No. 5

Censoring the Censors

THE Pennsylvania State Censors of motion pictures have placed themselves in an ugly position by their attitude toward the motion picture production of "John Barleycorn."

To say the least, it was a piece of political short-sightedness on their part to challenge a picture, the truth and the lesson of which is so powerfully plain that the liquor interests have offered tempting sums of money for its suppression until after the elections in states where temperance is an issue.

* * *

THE hostility of the liquor interests to "John Barleycorn" is a better warrant that the film is free from any offensive or objectionable features than all the certificates that all the boards of censors in the country could give.

* * *

THE odds are all against Mr. Breitinger in this fight. The public has had ample opportunity to judge for itself the inherent moral tone of "John Barleycorn" while the original of the photoplay was running in the "Saturday Evening Post."

The advocates of temperance and prohibition are, we venture to say, quite as sensible to the obnoxious features of a story or a photoplay as an official censor, and quite as ready to demand their elimination. Neither from the public nor from the temperance propagandists has any complaint arisen.

MR. BREITINGER has, at least, the distinction of being the first official guardian of public morality to discern a peril to those he is paid to protect in the Jack London photoplay.

But he is also going to find himself, before long, in the unenviable position of having his own censorial acts censored by that ultimate censor, The Public, his master, from whose decisions there is no appeal.

* * *

HAD he adopted such a policy toward a "white slave" film, Mr. Breitinger would have found his public with him.

But, unfortunately, the millions whom Mr. Breitinger is supposed to represent have very stern and bitterly learned views on the liquor question, and the wise man does not trifle with these convictions.

* * *

ALCOHOL is not a half-myth, like white slavery. It is an incontrovertible fact.

And Mr. Breitinger would do well to let the people have their way in this matter instead of trying to protect where they do not want his protection, such as it may be.

* * *

THAT the film companies as well as the trade in general really appreciate the fight of THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS in their behalf and against censorship, is shown by the following letter which we received from the representative of Bosworth, Inc., who is handling the "John Barleycorn" film fight in Philadelphia in connection with their local distributors:

FAMOUS PLAYERS EXCHANGE
No. 1331 Vine Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

July 27, 1914.

MOTION PICTURE NEWS,
220 West 42d Street,
New York City, N. Y.

Gentlemen:—I desire to thank you on behalf of Bosworth, Inc., manufacturers of the Barleycorn film, for the excellent manner in which you handled the story of our fight with the Pennsylvania State Censor.

I note, too, your sturdy stand for the principle that censors should not be engaged in any other line of work. This is certainly the right view to take of the subject. Mr. Breitinger is not only engaged in serving the liquor interests, but is maintaining a law business as well, and between these elements and the fact that he likes to get in to the office between ten and eleven in the morning and leave at three, the motion picture interests are up against it to get their films reviewed.

Added to that, it is not known that he has ever—as he is required to do by law—issued a certificate in writing, and hence he is in the position at any time to recall a film that his office says has been passed, as occurred in the case of the "Hearts of Oak."

These conditions are not fair to the industry which we represent, and the co-operation of such a worthy periodical as yours is certainly appreciated in this battle for right.

Yours truly,

C. H. PIERCE.

* * *

THE sooner Mr. Breitinger begins to see himself as the spectators of his actions, in this case particularly, see him, the sooner he will become an efficient public servant.

ACCIDENTS BESET PARAGON COMPANY

Special to The Motion Picture News

Milwaukee, Wis., July 29.

Members of the Paragon Film Company, who have been making some productions in and around Wausau the past few weeks, have had a run of hard luck, which was brought to a fatal climax last Monday afternoon, when Edward Rosenthal, of Topeka, Kan., the secretary and treasurer of the company, was killed in Texas, a small town near Wausau.

A rock thrown by a blast crushed his skull and instantly killed him. Mr. Rosenthal was sixty-two years old and his death brought the work to a sudden halt. While the same company was taking pictures of aquatic sports at Rothschild, the railing of the bridge from which they were working broke and several of the company were thrown into the water and rescued with difficulty.

"LITTLEST REBEL" PLAYS TO BIG BUSINESS

Frank Tichenor, general manager of the Photoplay Productions Company, who has just recently returned from Chicago, reports excellent exhibitor business in that city. "The Littlest Rebel" opened at the Studebaker Theatre on Monday evening and is running packed houses at fifty cents to $1.00 admission prices.

Advance sales amounted to over $3.000. The Photoplay Productions Releasing Company, formerly the G. and G. Feature Film Company, which has Illinois rights in "The Littlest Rebel" has booked $7.000 worth of business in the state.

Fifty bookings were made in Chicago alone. Rush reorders of heralds have been sent to New York, after the supply of 170,000 had been exhausted.

PLAN OUTING FOR "REEL" FELLOWS

Special to The Motion Picture News

Philadelphia, July 30.

The "Reel" Fellows of Philadelphia will soon be organized on a permanent basis. Meanwhile a movement is on foot to take the film men to Atlantic City on August 16.

If the plan goes through it will be one of the best ideas yet advanced for promotion of that good fellowship which the "Reel" Fellows want to make their goal.

"SPARTACUS" WILL OPEN OHIO HOUSE

The Ivanhoe Theatre, now nearing completion at Sandusky, Ohio, and expected to be ready about September 15, is said to be one of the finest exclusive picture theatres in America. Manager Blatz will open with George Kleine's eight-part spectacle, "Spartacus."

The Men Behind Paramount Pictures

William W. Hodkinson, James Steele, Raymond Pawley, William L. Sherry and Hiram Abrams Furnish the Motive Power

THE men responsible for the success of the Paramount Pictures Corporation bring to the enterprise managed by them wide experience in the business world and records of achievement made in other branches of the film industry before entering their present field.

William W. Hodkinson, president and general manager of the company, who began his motion picture experience some years ago, was for a time associated with the General Film Company. Later severing his connection with the concern, he entered business for himself and furnished San Francisco exhibitors with programs. He was successful from the start and soon after established branches in several cities of the Pacific coast. To-day he maintains three exchanges at Los Angeles, San Francisco and Seattle, which supply numerous theatres in eleven western states and the western part of Canada.

The secretary and treasurer of the Paramount Company, Raymond Pawley, who is interested in one of the oldest and largest real estate businesses of Asbury Park, N. J., and has been identified with large financial operations conducted in that city, saw the possibilities of the film industry some time ago and decided to try out certain ideas he felt the conditions of the motion picture business warranted. He built the Lyric Theatre in Asbury Park, one of the first houses in the state to present exclusive programs at advanced prices.

IT proved successful, and Mr. Pawley decided to enter the exchange field, as offering opportunities for carrying out further ideas suggested by his experience with the Lyric.

He organized with his brother, W. E. Smith, of Newark, the Famous Players Exchange for the purpose of handling the releases of the Famous Players Film Company's productions. His concern now controls the state rights to the pictures of the Paramount Corporation for New Jersey, Eastern Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, the District of Columbia and Virginia.

The vice-president of the Paramount Pictures Corporation, James Steele, entered the film industry in 1905. He was connected with the Pittsburgh Calcium Light and Film Company until 1910, when the General Film Company took over the branch of that concern in Cincinnati, continuing Mr. Steele with the company.

JAMES STEELE W. W. HODKINSON RAYMOND PAWLEY

The Officers of Paramount Pictures Corporation

MR. STEELE remained with the General Film until 1914, when he resigned to organize the Famous Players Film Service, Inc., with offices in Pittsburgh and Chicago, which operates in the states of Michigan, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Kentucky, West Virginia and Pennsylvania.

Two other men whose well-directed efforts have helped to maintain the prestige of the Paramount Pictures Corporation are William L. Sherry, a director of the company, who is also the president and treasurer of the William L. Sherry Feature Film Company, Inc., and Hiram Abrams, president of the Famous Players Film Company of New England.

After a thorough study of the film business, Mr. Sherry organized, a year and a half ago the company which bears his name and is now recognized as one of the leading exchanges in the country.

Mr. Abrams entered the motion picture business six years ago, and soon gained control of a string of theatres in a number of representative New England cities.

MARY PICKFORD'S POPULARITY

New Orleans, July 28.

POPULARITY of an individual star is shown by the advertising being done by the Pearce theatres, all of which are throwing on the screen the legend, "Little Mary Pickford will appear at the Tudor Theatre each Sunday."

Miss Pickford has thousands of admirers in New Orleans.

"THE BOUNDARY RIDER"

(Eclectic—Five Reels)

REVIEWED BY PETER MILNE

STORIES in which members of the revenue service and smugglers figure never fail to interest the public to a high degree. And so it is almost certain that "The Boundary Rider" will meet with approval, as it deals largely with the attempts and final success of the revenue officers of the north woods to capture a band of opium smugglers.

While the action of the picture is rapid and absorbing from start to finish, there are a few scenes that are slightly too long and could easily be cut without doing the whole production any harm. But as it stands, there are no superfluous scenes, the story is perfectly clear, and it surely stands with the best of the five-reel features.

The picture was made by Wharton, Inc., of Ithaca, N. Y., and is released by the Eclectic Film Company. An accomplished cast appears, consisting of Thurlow Bergen, as the clerk of the opium dealer and later a revenue officer; Elsie Esmond as Elsie Moore of the secret service; William N. Baily as a smuggler; Harry Carr as his servant, and F. W. Stewart as James Maxwell, the leader of the smugglers.

Elsie Esmond assumes such a clever disguise in part of the picture that when at last she reveals herself it is doubtful if most people will not be greatly surprised. She poses as a Chinaman to spy on the smugglers. No one would suspect that she was a woman and not the bland little Chinaman that she represents.

THE REVENUE OFFICER FINDS BIG BILL

A novel effect in photography has been introduced. On the border line the smugglers send the opium to the next station by secreting it in logs and floating it down stream. The log may be seen going over a high waterfall, and then back of the waterfall are the smugglers who throw a rope out and bring in the log. The men are photographed through the water. There are a number of these scenes deserving of great praise, and they will certainly be appreciated by everyone.

Realistic scenes in the opium dens add greatly to the picture. A hot fight occurs between two of the smugglers, and the spying of the secret service men will serve to keep the interest always at the highest point. The clerk of the opium dealer in the city is accused of killing his master, when in reality it was an enraged smuggler. The clerk escapes for the North, and joins the revenue service where with the aid of the girl he brings about the capture of the real offenders.

"THE PERILS OF PAULINE"

(Eclectic—Tenth Episode)

REVIEWED BY J. BURROUGHS NOELL

PAULINE continues on her perilous way. This time the undaunted young lady gets more than she bargained for and it is necessary for Harry to come to her rescue. Pauline thinks that she is undertaking an adventure planned for her by her sweetheart, so she steps gaily forth to prove again her right to be called an intrepid young woman. But it turns out that Owen's wicked brain has done the scheming, and it is not sham, but real, danger that she has run into.

PAULINE ESCAPES FROM THE LIGHTHOUSE

Since she does not know this she innocently allows herself to be carried off by a band of smugglers. Their inhuman brutality makes her realize what a hornet's nest she has gotten into, and a hasty telephone call under difficulties puts Harry on the track. The smugglers carry her far off across the waters and place her in solitary confinement in a lighthouse tower.

By means of a dropped handkerchief Harry perceives at once where his beloved is, and makes for the spot with all speed. But he cannot come nearer than several hundred yards, because the lighthouse stands out in the water. But what is water to such an ingenious and understanding couple as Pauline and Harry! A rope is passed through to Pauline's cell-window. A cable follows and then a life-saving car. Pauline gets into this and is pulled to land and safety, with the smugglers making after her with might and main.

There is one fault to be found with this picture in spite of its undeniable powers of entertainment. The spectator is not always sure that these adventures happen naturally.

NEW IMPORTING COMPANY ON THE COAST

Special to THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS

Los Angeles, July 27.

ARTICLES of incorporation are about to be filed for the American-Europe Film Company, which will control the American rights for a number of foreign manufacturers' pictures.

Richard E. Nathansohn and G. J. Smeby, of Los Angeles, have just returned from spending a year in France, Germany, Denmark, Sweden and Norway, and brought with them contracts from manufacturers in those countries, for handling the products in both the United States and Canada, under the trademark of "Ameropa." For the present an office here will handle all the business of the company, but later branches will be opened in principal cities.

The officers are: Richard E. Nathansohn, president; Roy Manker, vice-president; G. J. Smeby, secretary and treasurer. The other directors are Dr. C. B. Adams and C. E. Rose. Offices have been opened in the Garland Building.

DAYTON FILMED FROM AEROPLANE

Special to The Motion Picture News.

Toledo, O., July 30.

Nasser & Brown, of the Starline Motion Picture Company, of this city, have secured endorsement of Mayor Keller and the Commerce Club for motion pictures to be taken in Toledo for exhibition throughout the country. The first of the series is to be taken soon from Harry Atwood's hydroplane at Toledo Beach. Atwood will be paid a large sum of money to carry the camera man over the city.

The pictures are to show the city in general, including the new postoffice, the new Museum of Art, one of the largest and most beautiful in the United States; the many beautiful parks, streets, fire and police departments in action; industries and transportation facilities. The people of Toledo have taken a great interest in the project and the Toledo newspapers have been carrying the stories in large articles.

KLEINE NOT IN SCENARIO MARKET

The announcement that George Kleine had begun the manufacture of pictures in America in addition to importing films from the European market, has resulted in hundreds of scenarios being submitted to Mr. Kleine's Chicago offices.

For the benefit of free lance photoplaywrights it may be said that Mr. Kleine, for the present at least, will manufacture in this country film subjects adapted from well-known legitimate productions only. The first of these will be "Officer 666" and "Stop Thief."

COLLINS NOW DIRECTOR WITH EDISON

John Hancock Collins, for four years with the Edison Company, has recently been promoted to the position of director.

Under his former title of stage manager, Mr. Collins was responsible for the grandeur of the settings in the Edison films and conceived the idea for the magnificent booth with the fountain at the recent exposition held at Grand Central Palace.

NEW AMERICAN SERIES

Harry Pollard is now producing "A Suspended Ceremony," the second of the Beauty series of which "A Midsummer's Love Tangle" was the opening feature. Margarita Fischer plays the lead and Kathie Fischer is playing child parts with a commendable fervor that augurs well for the productions. Fred Gamble takes the part of the erratie judge.

The series will contain five produetions—each subject complete in itself.

Film Drama Fills Dates Like Road Company

Frank Rogers, on Fifty-Two Week Tour of the South, Carries Complete Equipment, with Orehestra and Atseo Aeeessories

FRANK ROGERS, of Knoxville, Tenn., has bought the rights of "Cabiria" for fourteen southern states and has booked it for production in all the principal cities of the South, for a period of fifty-two weeks. Mr. Rogers is traveling with two special cars, one Pullman sleeper and one baggage car. He carries an orchestra of sixteen men, who double in brass for the big parade, and two camels.

In each town visited the orchestra gives a concert in an important theatre before performances and the camels stand guard at the door. Besides this Mr. Rogers takes an advertising man, a bill poster, and an advance man, together with Cecil Wood, the projection expert of the staff of Atsco, Inc., which has been loaned to Mr. Rogers as chief operator during his trip, and Joe Gilligan, a salesman of Atsco, Inc., who represents the corporation throughout the southern states.

Atsco has furnished the most complete motion picture equipment for Mr. Rogers's journey ever gathered together in New York City; in fact, so well provided is the expedition that it would be possible to give a complete performance in the middle of a ten-acre lot if there was not an electric light plant within a thousand miles.

THE equipment consists of two especially made Simplex projectors with aluminum bases and tables, one Radium Gold Fibre Screen, a complete outfit of Ft. Wayne electric mechanism, motor-generator, compensarc, etc., Atsco nitrogen lamps, Temco ticket vending machines, the Amusement Sales Company ticket choppers, the Theatre Specialty Manufacturing Company's brass frames, Mortimer film cleansers, Gundlach-Manhattan lenses, Drumona, Cushman electric lighting plant, asbestos booths and the photo display line of the Kraus Manufacturing Company, 14 East Seventeenth street, New York. In fact, every kind of an appliance that is used in a motion picture show was represented.

An invitation has been sent out by Atsco and Mr. Rogers to exhibitors in every part of the South to visit his company and see a demonstration of all this equipment. Atsco's expert, Mr. Wood, and its salesman, Mr Gilligan, will be present to handle the business and take orders.

This venture marks and displays an enterprise on the part of Atsco quite in keeping with the remarkable things that have been done by that company, since the little company in St. Louis was merged into the larger organization in New York.

Imperial Studio and Factory Near Completion

Company Plans to Produee Two-Reel Comedies in Addition to Manufaeturing Its Animated Songs—Extending Its Export Business

THE work is rapidly nearing eompletion on the new up-to-date studio and factory of the Imperial Motion Picture Company, of New York, Inc., the originators of "Animated Songs."

J. W. Mahan, general manager, declares that he spent one of the hardest years of his life on the task of synchronizing the human voice with motion pictures—the timing of the voice with action in the picture so that they shall be simultaneous. In every solution or attempted solution of the problem heretofore presented to the public, the voice has been mechanically reproduced, as by the phonograph.

Mr. Mahan took up the problem on an entirely new basis—that of synchronizing the actual human voice and not its mechanical reproduction with the motion picture, and the result is the "Animated Song."

One of its advantages lies in the fact that it forms an enjoyable interlude between the regular pictures. The songs do not require complieated or costly mechanism, and this wins them added favor from the exhibitors.

The Imperial Motion Picture Company are now sending them all over this country and Canada as well as the British Isles, and having made that record in such a short time, minus the advantages of their own studio and factory equipment, much may be expected of them when their own plant is in operation.

Besides the manufacturing of "Animated Songs," the Imperial Motion Picture Company is contemplating the making of one-reel comedies.

NEW HOUSE IN LOUISIANA

Special to The Motion Picture News

Winnsboro, La., July 27.

Local capitalists are having plans prepared for the erection of a motion picture theatre in this city.

This has been made possible by the commencement of the Carl Shipp electric light plant which is expected to be in operation within a few months.

"A ROMANCE OF THE SAWDUST RING"

(Domino—Two Reels)
REVIEWED BY J. BURROUGHS NOELL

IT was always a deep mystery to us what went on back of the big tent of the circus until certain literary folk and scenario writers found interesting material there. After all, the life of the canvas and sawdust world has its own pretty romances, its own heartaches, its own intrigues and base treacheries just as life has everywhere. All is not highly colored and brilliant as it seems, nor is it all base and sordid and degraded.

J. H. Ince and W. H. Clifford have given a pretty story in this picture of the love of an animal trainer for a pretty, dainty little equestrienne. Jack Dorn is the trainer's name and Polly

DORN IS WELCOMED BACK TO THE CIRCUS

Wells, reminiscent of "Polly of the Circus," is the sweetheart. A wicked ringmaster is jealous, and he steals the money from the circus owner's safe and lays the crime on the shoulders of the young trainer. He is arrested, but escapes from the detective.

The ringmaster has been discharged for drunkenness, and in revenge hires an accomplice to set the wild animals loose while the show is going on. The spectators and performers flee in wild disorder. A lion pursues Polly to the barn where Dorn is hiding, and when she is about exhausted with fighting the beast off, he hears her cries and rescues her through his power over beast nature. The death of the ringmaster with the money upon him establishes Dorn's innocence and he is taken back to the circus.

Just a plain tale of the circus is interesting enough; it touches a weak spot in almost every breast, carrying us back to the days when we could not get to sleep waiting for the circus to come to town. But this might not be enough for blasé audiences, so unusual thrills are given them when the tigers and lions and leopards escape from their cages and dash for the panic-stricken spectators. Even more than this, we are shown the poor Hindoo, who was hired by the ringmaster to open the cages, receiving the fruits of his own misdoings in a death grapple with a leopard.

"THE AVENGER"

(Greene's Features—Five Reels)
REVIEWED BY J. BURROUGHS NOELL

DO you like a picture built around a good story of love and intrigue, concerning a bewitching adventuress, set in beautiful surroundings of marble villa and Venetian gardens, over which, for the purpose, the moon sheds a soft light, and these scenes caught by the camera with the utmost accuracy of detail and mellowness of tones? And then, that there may be no possibility of monotony during the unwinding of the five reels, there is given just a dash of excitement in the capture of a band of criminals, probably a Camorra society, by breaking into their den.

"The Avenger" is just such a picture. Made in Italy, it has the advantage of lovely Italian landscapes and country dwellings, furnished in exquisite taste, for its setting. Played by Italian actors, the complicated story is interpreted clearly and sympathetically, and with that emotional expression which these people, on account of their temperaments, are capable of putting into their work. The language of facial expression and gesture is entirely intelligible and there arise no difficulties in realizing the exact relation of one character to another, and in following the developments of a story that depends in some parts on conflicts of emotions and reversions of feelings.

It is the story of a middle-aged artist, a widower, who becomes infatuated with his model, and marries her against the wishes of his son and his brother. After the marriage, she plots with an old lover for his ruin. This is accomplished through laying the crime of the brother's murder on him, a dastardly deed which the lover, the leader of the criminal gang, does not hesitate to commit. But an ex-criminal, whom the son has befriended, steals into the den, learns all the secrets, gets away after a desperate run for his life, and leads the police into it, revealing the true facts just in time to save the artist from execution.

"AT THE END OF A PERFECT DAY"

(American—Two Reels)
REVIEWED BY C. J. VERHALEN

THE cast interpreting this photoplay includes Winnifred Greenwood and Ed Coxen in the leads. These players are familiar to the motion picture world and their splendid work has brought them many friends. They interpret their respective parts in a pleasing manner. Throughout the entire production they create an atmosphere that lends a certain human interest to the entire play.

Special comment is due the splendid outdoor scenes. The interior settings are also commendable.

THE END OF THE DAY

Miss Greenwood, in the leading role, shows a versatility that places her in the foremost rank of photoplayers. Ed Coxen playing opposite her lends valuable support, and also stands out because of his own merits.

There are plenty of good original situations. The story is strong in its appeal. A love story of course twines its way throughout the entire production. The daughter of a widow in a small town refuses to marry Orin because of her great love for her mother. Orin departs for the West, but his love is still ardent, and he writes Dorothy that he will return if she wishes. The letter is delivered by his rival during the absence of Dorothy. The mother asks him to read it. He does away with the address of Orin. Orin not hearing from Dorothy, marries.

Years after he returns to the town with his daughter, whom he has named Dorothy in honor of his old sweetheart. His wife has been dead several years. A perfect day finds a big picnic going on at the sea shore. Orin takes a small boat and goes fishing. A storm arises, and he is caught in its furies. Dorothy, his old time sweetheart, goes in search of him and finds the overturned boat. Orin finds her mourning his loss and the two are finally reconciled.

"THE MILLION-DOLLAR MYSTERY"

(Thanhouser—Sixth Episode)
REVIEWED BY PETER MILNE

EXCITEMENT and mystery are in no way lacking in this instalment of "The Million-Dollar Mystery," termed "The Coaching Party of the Countess." It is safe to say that nobody suspects the location of the million dollars at present. It is a problem that would prove difficult for a skilful detective, and the thousands of people throughout the country trying to solve the question must find it no easy proposition.

In order to lure Florence away from her protectors and to try and force her into telling the whereabouts of the money, the conspirators conceive a brilliant idea. But as it turns out it is not too brilliant for the butler and the faithful reporter to penetrate.

THE CONSPIRATORS ENJOY THE MINUET

The Countess invites Florence to attend a coaching party, and she, suspecting nothing, readily consents. The spectacle of the coach, laden with men and women on pleasure bent, and starting out from the beautiful home of the vanished Hargreaves, is one of the striking scenes in the picture. The butler and Jim, always suspecting the actions of the Countess, follow in a car, and track them to a distant house where a reception is under way for the party.

The spectator is shown by the following scene what quite wonderful things may be done with the camera and by tinting and shading the film. The coaching party is seated about a platform, which is quite in the light, while the people are in the dark. Numerous dancers perform for the benefit of those in the picture and the audience. Fireworks are then set off. Altogether this is a pretty and excellent scene.

The conspirators lure Florence to a secluded room in the middle of the house and there they hold her prisoner. But the butler and Jim have discovered a secret passage leading to the room, and by means of this they make their entrance and then all three escape, once more foiling the conspirators.

"THE BIRTH OF THE STAR-SPANGLED BANNER"

(Edison—Two Reels)
REVIEWED BY J. BURROUGHS NOELL

THIS picture, coming as it does in this year of the hundredth anniversary of the writing of the National Anthem, has unusual timeliness. At the moment all true Americans should be looking back with pride to the events that led to the birth of this fine song. The Edison company is performing a patriotic service in producing this drama that develops around the battle off Fort McHenry, when in the din of that early morning Francis Scott Key watched for the flag floating over the fort and was inspired with the sentiment of the hymn.

The picture is gotten out in connection with the National Star-Spangled Banner Centennial, which will be held in Baltimore, September 6—13, and it will no doubt prove an effective means of publicity.

Of course, every incident of the drama is not historically accurate, but that is not the aim. The historical atmosphere is what is sought for, and by this means we are given an insight into the life of those times. Costuming and settings are splendidly in keeping with the demands of the piece, and show that considerable care and study and attention have been given to them.

Probably one of the most difficult things an actress or actor has to do is to portray an historical character, because everybody has his own idea of just what this character was, and hence is apt to be altogether out of sympathy with the particular delineation. It's almost like playing Hamlet. But the actors who have re-enacted the trying events following the capture of Washington have succeeded almost beyond expectations. We see President Madison in flesh and blood, and we are not offended; Francis Scott Key stands before our eyes, and he lives up to the pictures that we have seen of him. The whole cast plays with due appreciation of the obstacles in their way, and therefore tries all the harder to achieve the task.

"HEART BEATS; OR, THE USELESS CRIME"

(Features Ideal—Three Reels)
REVIEWED BY PETER MILNE

UNCONVENTIONALITY marks the story of this picture. It differs widely from most of the others released recently, and will most surely be a success because of this fact, and again because it contains more action than the usual Features Ideal production. The popular favorite, M. Lombardi, plays the leading character of the story, Richard, the butler. He is ably assisted by Mlle. Adriana Costamagna as Mazel Clarke, M. Nepoti as Arthur Linderdale, M. Mariani as Dickson, and M. Roncoroni as Arthur Morris. The acting, characterized by emotional stress, and identified with pictures of foreign make, is excellent.

THE MIDNIGHT TRYST

The photography and scenic effects are of the best.

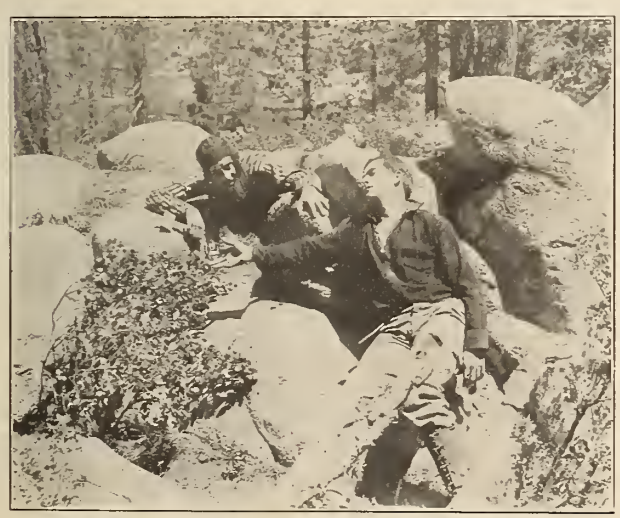
A well-produced fire scene appears in the latter part of the picture in which Richard, the well-meaning butler, and the crook perish. It is not a long scene, but is well done and creates a good effect coming at the time it does. A few stirring tussles between the butler and crook occur which come at opportune moments as relief from the more slower parts.

Richard is given the charge of his mistress' son when she dies. The husband marries again and Richard in fear that he will leave all his money to his new wife instead of his son determines to do away with him. He thinks he has killed his master, but he survives and lets none know it. The butler lays the blame on his master's wife, but she is freed by a formr lover, who takes the blame. Richard meets his death while battling with a burglar. Linderdale sees that his wife is happier with her former lover and never lets her know he is alive, and lives happily with his son.

The picture is an adaptation from the book by Charles Darlington.

"THE TREY O' HEARTS"

(Gold Seal—Second Chapter)
REVIEWED BY PETER MILNE



THIS, the second chapter of "The Trey o' Hearts," will be released August 11, under the title of "White Water," and contains one event which occupies almost the entire second reel, that is worthy to be classed with the best thrillers that the motion picture offers the public. It is so realistic that no one can resist a feeling of admiration for George

ROSE IS DIRECTED TO LAW'S CAMP

Larkin and Cleo Madison, the two principals, and, in fact, the only two appearing in this scene, or series of scenes.

Alan Law and Rose Twine are embarked in a canoe on a swift and shallow river. They are floating serenely and rapidly along when they reach the rapids. As neither of the characters is supposed to be famliar with such things as rapids, it is quite natural that they should upset, and this they do in a most realistic manner. After this they are swept along, bumped against rocks and rolled over and over until finally they reach a turn in the river and are thrown up against a wall of rock with terrific force. They manage to climb out and this thrilling scene is then over. But the severe knocks they experienced, to say nothing of endangering their lives, will be amply rewarded by the appreciation of the most indifferent audience.

THE TREY O' HEARTS IS PLACED BEFORE LAW

Previous to this occurrence Mr. Larkin took a most stirring fall from the top of a high cliff into the water. This act alone would stamp the picture as one entitled to more than passing notice, but when supplemented by the other thriller, all one can say is that it's a wonderful picture.

Little or nothing has been accomplished with regard to the furthering of the plot in this instalment. Judith Twine is still in Canada, intent upon killing Law, even though she does love him. Rose has come to seek her lover and has found him. The two sisters are both in love with the fortunate or unfortunate young man.

If the swift action of this series keeps up it is hard to think in what manner the picture will affect the audiences. This episode is exciting enough to cause anyone to tremble with excitement.

"DETECTIVE CRAIG'S COUP"

(Eclectic—Five Reels)
REVIEWED BY J. BURROUGHS NOELL

THE worst criminal is not always of the debased, thug order, but he may be handsome, well-dressed, well-mannered, a man of fashion and breeding, who depends upon his wits to carry him through and to keep him out of the clutches of the law. He utilizes the brawn and muscle of inferiors in intellect to carry out his wicked and evil purposes. This picture is about a criminal of this type, James Dalton, the leader of a counterfeiting gang, who paid occasional visits to the hang-out and directed the nefarious work that was carried on there, but who spent most of his time as a social lion in brilliantly lighted restaurants and in dazzling drawing-rooms.

BOB FALLS INTO THE TRAP

But when this picture opens, Detective Craig, the sharpest of the city's sleuths, has gotten on the trail of this high-class, disdainful and proud offender. Before he captures him some rare scenes are presented to our eyes and some thrilling escapades are enacted.

A young blood from the West who has been brightening Broadway with hundred-dollar bills, falls into the trap set for him by the counterfeiter and is sent to prison; the counterfeiter escapes. He works in a bank when released. His inside knowledge is all-important to Dalton, and after resisting manfully he finally gives in. But he sends a letter of warning at the same time. The detectives are prepared and capture the gang, including Dalton, who almost gets away, however, boldly crossing the street by a rope strung ten stories in the air.

This is the most thrilling part of five reels full of thrills. For all who are fond of hairbreadth escapes and hand-to-hand battles, this picture will please beyond a shadow of a doubt.

Film Drama Supreme in New Orleans

(Continued from page 20)

and Birmingham, and within convenient jumping distances to a number of cities in Alabama, Georgia and Tennessee.

Take Some Exceptions to Report

There, however, another high-grade motion picture house is preparing to open and the picture men are confident of increased business. Biloxi, Mobile, Laurel, Corinth, Columbus and other cities of that class are counting on fair seasons, but the indications now are that the attractions they do have will be of the strictly one-night stand variety in all that the term indicates.

In The Motion Picture News' survey of business conditions through the country recently, the New Orleans correspondent indulged in some criticism of the failure of producers and their agents to familiarize themselves with conditions in this section. As some friendly exceptions have been called to the attention of the correspondent, the temptation is too great to omit three cases that were called to his attention within a single evening.

Three days after the first case of bubonic plague was discovered here and the people were more or less nervous, "The Moonstone of Fez," an undoubtedly strong picture play, was produced at one of the highest-class houses in the city. It had everything to commend it except one thing, and that was that the story was based entirely on the mother of the heroine dying from the plague, an incident that certainly was not at all pleasant for the average spectator to take with him to bed as a food for dreams.

Sitting next to him was a friend who had just returned from a Louisiana city of the second class where the prevalent language is French. The previous evening he had visited a picture performance where the bill consisted of two plays, both of whose chief elements were English characters and divorce—produced in a section where the people would not know the English type if they saw one and where the divorce is a thing obnoxious in the light of the strict rulings of the church.

Demand High-Grade Features

After this performance, during a ride on a street car, the correspondent passed three "neighborhood" theatres which admittedly appeal largely to children for their patronage. At one of these the bill consisted of: (1) a film with the plot centering about a prize fight, (2) a two-reel problem play and (3) a Western play picturing minutely the horrors of death from thirst. A second theatre was showing films based on a diplomatic intrigue, the reformation of a burglar and a third "mystery play," which the correspondent, with an average amount of intelligence, sat through twice to learn "what it was all about." The third theatre had three single-reel comedies, and a fourth light love story. The pleased faces of the members of the audience just leaving were sufficient endorsements.

These are facts which need no comment. There was only one film in the whole list that was not a good film; in fact, it so happened that all were above the average, but with the exception of the last named theatre, here were distinct cases of bad selection. It was somebody's fault; whether that of the manager or the booking agent is to be settled, but certainly had the agent through his representatives devoted the proper attention to the requirements of the individual manager rather than his vague "selection" the probable increase of patronage would have been greater.

Versions of Popular Books Preferred

Feature films have come to stay. In the four big Canal streets they are going to be of the highest grade, preferably film versions of successful plays and well-known books. In not more than a half-dozen cities in Louisiana and Mississippi are these apt to be a success, especially where an increased price of admission is required.

The serial story has come to stay, but care is going to be necessary to avoid keeping out the production of the manufacturer who is simply putting out a feature because his rival has done so.

In the greater majority of the theatres, especially those outside of the business district of New Orleans and in the average town throughout the two states, the one and two-reels will prove the money-makers. Comedy and the love story seem to be running a close race in popularity. Western films are popular, but sameness is losing them many friends.

The problem play is almost an outcast, and the play that does not "end all right" hurts if shown too frequently. "We have enough troubles in life without paying to see the troubles of others," is the way the patrons define it. Railroad and steamship films, when done well, are probably the most popular of all, undoubtedly because they are not overdone.

As a general rule, any film introducing machinery or the constructive idea is business-building, especially in the scores of great industrial centers that are the really rapidly growing places of Louisiana and Mississippi. The slapstick is as high in favor as ever among the children and the working element, so long as the producers stay away from the more or less brutal elements for their laughs.

Subjects that Please

Mississippi and Louisiana are not the staid and old-fashioned states that many would conclude. The communities where there is any real money for the theatre owner to be made are as progressive as any cities and towns of the East or West.

They are working towns, new towns in many instances, and the element to which the picture theatre is going to appeal for the largest share of its patronage is the film that will appeal to the average man or woman who has done a hard day's work and who wants actual amusement—not necessarily a laugh, but a picture that takes him away from the thought of the lumber mill and makes her forget the kitchen stove. Misery and want and the social problems of the upper strata, sudden death and the eighteenth divorce are not going to do it.

Don't go too far away from the people. That is a mighty good rule for the producer to think over. The average motion picture patron down in this section is a whole lot more familiar with the joys and the sorrows of the country school teacher than with the social machinations of Mrs. Astorbilt to win a title for her only daughter.

New Orleans and the larger city patrons are going to stay away from the $2 admission regular theatre when they can see successful plays produced in films with all-star casts and for twenty cents.

Better Business Conditions Soon

Business had been bad, in some ways, in this section. It is going to be a good deal better. And it is going to be best with the men who understand what the people want. Pearce and Fichtenberg have solved this problem in New Orleans and other towns for themselves. Many one-theatre managers have solved it. And more will solve it, but the quicker they get the individual co-operation and the specialized assistance of the producer and his intermediate representative the faster will be the growth.

R. E. Pritchard.

BEVERIDGE SPONSOR FOR INDIANA CENSORSHIP PROPOSAL

Special to The Motion Picture News.

Evansville, Ind., July 30.

At a formal meeting of Progressives here last week at headquarters in the Waverly Building, attended by former U. S. Senator Albert J. Beveridge, party candidate for the U. S. Senate, it was thought advisable to write a plank in the party platform, pledging a motion-picture censor board.

Evansville exhibitors are contemplating calling a meeting of all Southern Indiana exhibitors in this city in September to take action to discourage the proposed legislation to put motion pictures under the censorship of a political board.

Live News of the Week

The Elysium Theatre, a motion picture house at the corner of Elysian Fields and Burgundy street, New Orleans, was the scene of a genuine stage marriage when Charles O. Morrill, the comedian of a musical comedy company now filling an engagement there, was married to Miss Beatrice Huyler, a chorus girl in the same company.

The Detroit office of the World Film Corporation, under the management of Douglas Dickerson, is preparing to move to new quarters at 97 Woodward avenue, where it will have the entire fourth floor and be prepared for the expansion of business that this firm anticipates in the fall.

Rhea Mitchell, who plays leads in the productions of the New York Motion Picture Corporation, started in the theatrical business with the Baker Theatre Stock Company, of Portland, Ore., and has played stock in every city on the Pacific Coast excepting Los Angeles, Cal.

She went to the New York Motion

RHEA MITCHELL

Picture Corporation studio direct from Alcazar Theatre, San Francisco, where she played ingenue leads. She is known in the studio as the "Stunt Girl." She has jumped off cliffs, been rescued from burning ships, lost in swamps and quicksands, and has also taken quite a few parts as a girl drowning.

Bessie Wynn, the commedienne now in vaudeville, thinks the Hollywood studios of the Universal constitute the biggest and most up-to-date "toy-shop" in the world. She visited the studios recently and met many old friends of her "Babes in Toyland" company. She posed for the motion camera for the first time in her career and was very much interested.

Charlotte Burton is doing excellent work in the character of Mara, in Thomas Rickett's production of "Lodgings for a Night." The part is a most difficult one and Miss Burton handled it with great force. There is no doubt but that she will receive favorable notice from the critics.

CHARLOTTE BURTON

A doctor who swims through a raging sea with his medicine case strapped to his back to save the father of his sweetheart—J. Warren Kerrigan—will be seen in this role in a Victor drama just completed. It is entitled, "There is a Destiny," and is laid in a fishing village along the coast of Southern California.

The Strand Theatre, New York, has now a fully equipped emergency room where patrons or employees of the theatre can receive medical attention in case of accident or sudden illness.

Bessie Barriscale, now playing leading roles in the Belasco Stock Company, Los Angeles, who created the role of Juanita in David Belasco's road production of "The Rose of the Rancho," has been secured by the Jesse L. Lasky Feature Play Company, Inc., to appear in the motion picture production of that play.

BESSIE BARRISCALE

"The Rose of the Rancho," will be one of the first Belasco productions from the Lasky studio, and will be staged throughout the mission country in Southern California.

Miss Barriscale has long been identified with Belasco productions.

Miss Barriscale was one of Mr. Belasco's most valuable assets in all of his road productions, which generally played long engagements at various Chicago theatres.

A print of "The Rose of the Rancho" will be presented to the Smithsonian Institute, Washington.

Last Sunday when Pearl White, who plays the lead in the "Perils of Pauline," was driving through Central Park, New York, in a hansom cab, coming down one of the hills the horse stumbled and fell, throwing Miss White out on her head. She suffered from a sprained wrist and was badly lacerated in the arms and face, and was rendered unconscious for some time. An ambulance driver wished to remove her to the hospital, but as soon as she revived, she continued her drive.

Hunter Bennett, assistant to the general manager of the World Film Corporation, has been on a trip throughout the United States for the past four weeks. Having covered the eastern territory, he is now making San Francisco his headquarters for the West.

The Eclectic Film Company expects to release about the end of August a three-reel play featuring John J. McGraw, of world-wide baseball fame. It will be entitled "Detective Swift," and Mr. McGraw will play the part of the sleuth.

Jack J. Clark, husband of Gene Gauntier, whose productions are released through Warner's Features, has had as much to do with the success of the

JACK CLARK

Gauntier pictures as his talented wife. Mr. Clark has played in various attractions like "All Rivers Meet at the Sea," "Life's Lottery," in Kalem's Irish plays, and from "The Manger to the Cross," a production staged in the Holy Land.

Manager Samuels, of the Photo Player Company, reports that while in Cleveland looking over the field, the Goodman Piano Company, 220 Superior avenue, which is handling in that city the instrument sold by his company, sold two Photo Players in three days.

Wells Hawkes, the well-known publicity man, is now the general representative of the National Star-Spangled Banner Centennial, to be held in Baltimore from September 6 to 13, in honor of the one hundredth anniversary of our national anthem, "The Star-Spangled Banner," with headquarters at 107 East Baltimore street, Baltimore, Md.

By a contract recently signed with the Liebler Company the California Motion Picture Corporation has secured the exclusive rights to "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch. Alice Hagan Rice, who wrote the book and collaborated on the play, has by her advice and criticism proved an invaluable factor in the preparation of the scenario. Beatriz Michelena is appearing as Lovey Mary in the production.

Among the many enthusiastic motorists of the Lubin studio there is none greater than Larry McCloskey, scenario editor, the proud possessor of a Ford.

Last week he had the temerity to run into a bread wagon, and now the studio folk are accusing him of trying to put the Kolb people out of business because Freihofer lets him use his yard for fire scenes and such.

William N. Selig sailed Saturday, July 18, on board the "Imperator" for Liverpool. He will spend several weeks visiting the various Selig headquarters in London, Paris, etc., and will visit some of the leading manufacturers. He is expected to return by the first of September.

John F. Pribyl, scenario editor for the Selig Polyscope Company, is recovering rapidly from a serious operation, which was performed Monday, July 13. It is expected that Mr. Pribyl will enjoy much better health as a result of the operation.

J. A. Koerpel has just sold his theatre known as the Palace, and under those circumstances has sent in his resignation as vice-president of the Motion Picture Exhibitors Association of Greater New York. Mr. Koerpel was one of the hard workers of the Association, and the organization loses a very valuable officer, whose services were appreciated by all his co-workers.

Frank T. Montgomery, president of the Montgomery Amusement Company and manager of the Southern Investment Company of Jacksonville, is in New York City on a business trip. These companies control three theatres in the heart of the business district: the Grand, 16 West Forsyth street; the Prince, on the northwest corner of Forsyth and Main streets, and the Savoy, on the southwest corner of Main and Forsyth streets, Jacksonville.

Bessie Barriscale, who is to play Juanita in "The Rose of the Rancho," was selected by Jesse L. Lasky from seven hundred prominent applicants.

William L. Sherry, president and treasurer of the William L. Sherry Feature Film Company, Inc., of New York City, is a director of the Paramount Pictures Corporation. He is operating successfully an exchange that covers thoroughly Greater New York and New York State, a territory with a population one-half greater than all of the Western states combined, and he supplied to his exhibitors pictures of high quality.

WILLIAM L. SHERRY

"The Toll of Mammon," the four-part production of the Excelsior Film Company, Inc., although only released a few weeks, has been sold for the following states to these buyers:

Golden Gate Feature Exchange: California, Oregon and Washington; Electric Theatre Supply Company: Eastern Pennsylvania, Maryland, Delaware, District of Columbia, Southern New Jersey and Virginia.

M. & W. Feature Film Company: Greater New York and Northern New Jersey; Grelle Feature Film Company: Western Pennsylvania and West Virginia; Empress Feature Film Company: Ohio, Indiana, and Kentucky. Superior and Peerless Feature Film Company of Chicago: Illinois, Iowa and Nebraska. The first print was not ready until July 10.

Calder Johnstone, of the Universal scenario department at the Hollywood studio, is now working on the scenarios for the production of the Alfred Henry Lewis stories, motion picture rights for which were recently purchased. The first to be filmed will be "Sunset Trail," and in all probability Robert Leonard will be selected to play the lead. The other stories to be filmed are "Wolfville Trail," "Wolfville Nights," "Wolfville Days," "Faro Nelle and Her Friends," and several others.

One of the best-known motion picture actors to-day is Hal Wilson, character man and assistant director of the Eclair Film Company, at its Western studio, Tucson, Ariz. Mr. Wilson numbers a period of thirty-five years as his theatrical experience, during which time he has played every character from that of Tom, the newsboy in "The Chimes of London" to the leading character role in the famous rural play, "Way Down East." He has appeared in England and all through the continent, in Africa, Australia, and has toured both South and North America from coast to coast.

When Samuel Goldfish, of the Jesse L. Lasky Feature Play Company, Inc., completed his deals in Europe whereby the productions of the Lasky-Famous Players-Bosworth films were to be distributed throughout the world, the daily papers there gave much space to the transaction, and "Sims," the humorist, dedicated the following poem to Mr. Goldfish:

Two masterpieces every week
America's to send us;
So anxiously our cousins seek
In some way to befriend us.
One hundred plays a year and four
Will pass the Censor's strictures,
Arriving from Columbia's shore
For us to see in "pictures."

I think the notion is sublime
And count the Combine plucky,
And both in reason and in rhyme
I deem old England lucky
The brows of men of wealth and worth
I would not pluck the hays from,
I only wonder where on earth
They're going to get the plays from.

Sol Lesser, of the Golgate Feature Service, of the Pacific Coast, left New York last week after a ten-day stay, leaving $20,000 in cash, and taking with him several features of high merit. On "The Black Triangle" he has booking rights in eleven Western states.

Carl Fischer, multi-millionaire light and power magnate of Los Angeles, is an honorary member of the Jesse L. Lasky Feature Play Company of players. His love for photoplay work impelled him to visit the Lasky studio, and without recompense of any kind, he plays small parts in various Lasky productions.

Harry C. Drum, formerly manager of the feature department of General Film Company, Denver, Colo., and recently manager of The Notable Feature Film Company, has just accepted the management of the World Film Corporation's offices west of the Mississippi and has left for Los Angeles, where he will make his headquarters.

The automobile of the Enterprise Optical Company used in the parade during convention week, at Dayton, created such an impression by the clever advertising effected with its decorations of flying balloons and striking banners that members of the trade have not ceased to talk of "the enterprise of the Enterprise."

MOTIOGRAPH MOTOR CAR AT DAYTON

The many friends and admirers of Winnifred Greenwood, of the American, will be pleased to learn that she is now well on the road to complete recovery, following the accident she met with nearly two weeks ago.

Arthur Rosenbach, sales manager for the Excelsior Feature Film Company, Inc., of 110 West Fortieth street, New York, has returned from a successful selling trip through the Middle West.

H. F. Connelly, vice-president of the Albuquerque Film Company, of Los Angeles, is in New York arranging for the opening of an eastern office for the company. A handsome projecting room will be a feature of the eastern office.

George Larkin, who on account of his acrobat training in the sawdust ring in early life, is able to take parts which require unusual agility and nerve, is playing the lead of "The Trey o' Hearts," the new Universal serial scheduled for release on August 4.

GEORGE LARKIN

Mr. Larkin, who, by the way, does not know his real name, bearing that of his benefactor after being deserted by his parents, recently performed the daring feat of rescuing the heroine from death in a mountain torrent by hanging head downward from the limb of a tree projecting from the bank of a stream and grasping the unfortunate woman as she was swept along by the swift current.

When Box Office Attractions took over the productions of the Balboa Amusement Company some time ago, they endeaverd to find state-right buyers who would interest themselves primarily in Balboa productions.

This line of output was found almost impossible as nearly every state right approached was tied up by prior contracts with other manufacturers; therefore they have been forced to open their own exchanges in cities already announced in The Motion Picture News and also additional exchanges in Denver, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Portland, Seattle, Salt Lake City and Vancouver, B. C. By this means they will obtain maximum selling power on all productions handled by them.

Ira H. Cohen has just severed his connection with the University Film Company, Inc., and is now in the employ of A. H. Sawyer, Inc.

Here is part of a letter received by J. Warren Kerrigan, from Stephen R. Wood, chaplain in the U. S. army: "I had the privilege of seeing 'Samson' on Saturday, in Buffalo. It is a great production and true to scripture. A thousand thanks to you for your magnificent work, and God bless you."

Hiram Abrams, president of the Famous Players Film Company, of New England, in Boston, Mass., is a director in the Paramount Pictures Corporation, and his experience merits him a place as one of the distinguished men who are conducting the affairs of this new organization.

HIRAM ABRAMS

He entered the motion picture business six years ago, and opened in Portland the first film exchange east of Boston. A year later he organized the Abrams Amusement Company, which controls numerous houses throughout New England.

At the Prescott Pioneer Day celebration, held in Arizona on July 12 and 13, Norbert A. Myles, leading man of the Eclair Western Company, wanted to enter as mechanic in one of the automobile races, but the director of the Western Company refused Myles permission on the ground that the Eclair artist was playing leading parts in six different scenarios in course of production, and that if an accident should disable him the pictures would be ruined, entailing a loss of at least $7,000.

Robert Grau's fourth volume of the theatre and its people is to be devoted entirely to the motion picture industry and is entitled "The Theatre of Science."

Thomas Nash, of the Nash Motion Picture Company, and his eastern representative, Stanley H. Twist, are in New York on business. Mr. Nash brings with him the first release under the "'Big' Otto Brand," a four-reel animal picture entitled, "The Mysterious Man of the Jungle." During Mr. Nash's stay in New York his headquarters will be with the Inter-Ocean Sales Company, 110 West Fortieth street, New York City.

Charles Handford, recent manager of the Montreal office of the International Feature Film Corporation, Ltd., was entertained at dinner recently in New York by Herbert Lubin, president and general manager of that company, which lately has been taken over by The Allied Features, Inc. Handford is playing center field for the Buffalo Federal League Baseball Club. At the end of the season he will resume his position in the Montreal exchange.

A week on the high seas in an antique, rat-infested ship, is not pleasant. However, Frank Crane and his Imp Company, including Alexander Gaden, Dorothy Phillips, Howard Grampton and Stuart Paton, have just returned from such a trip in the production of "On the High Seas," a two-reel play. An incident that forms one of the thrillers of the play is the fall Paton took from the bowsprit forty feet into the briny deep.

Director Crane states that the picture will stand as one of the best melodramatic romances he has produced. Mr. Gaden and Miss Phillips, who enact the lead roles, are enthusiastic over their parts and the sea venture.

Earl Metcalfe, who plays the part of John Temple in Lubin's "Three Men and a Woman," written by George W. Terwilliger, is recognized as a clever screen actor of no common versatility and effectiveness before the camera.

EARL METCALFE

Joyce Fair, the little ten-year-old actress now playing in "The Dummy" on the legitimate stage, is being featured as Mary Jane in the "Buster Brown" comedies of the Edison Company.

"The Call of the North," the latest Lasky release, will be shown to the public for the first time at a special hunters' and explorers' matinee, at the Strand Theatre, Monday, August 9, at 2:15. Samuel Goldfish, executive head of the company, will be official host of the occasion.

FRANK CRANE AND HIS "IMP" COMPANY ON THE HIGH SEAS

"THE ROMAUNT OF THE ROSE"

(101 Bison—Three Reels)

REVIEWED BY A. DANSON MICHELL

THIS is the first of a new serial, released August 8, issued by the Universal Company, to be followed by four two-reelers. Beyond a question of doubt, it is the best picture the Universal has so far produced.

It is to Murdock McQuarrie, who plays the leading part, that the credit is mostly due. As a character actor he is par excellence. He shows wonderful technique when playing anything but juvenile leads. In this drama he has an excellent vehicle for the display of his abilities. Pauline Bush, Lon Chaney and a large cast support him with great care for details.

The story is a dramatization of the story by Bronson Howard now running in the "Century Magazine." To read the story, the film possibilities loom up large, but the average American manufacturer would hesitate when the necessity of producing castles and fifteenth-century towns was pointed out. The Universal deserves great credit for the historical accuracy observed in the scenes of the period.

The story of the first chapter is as follows:

Villón and Colin, two vagabonds, set out from the Provinces for Paris in search of fortune. Meeting with several monks, they rob them of what little money they possess. The culprits are arrested and thrown in jail.

A chance is offered to one to escape and Colin gives up his life on the gallows that his friend may be spared. This is against the wishes of Villon, but Colin insists. While Villon is looking at the dead body of his faithful friend, a knight, Philip de Soisons, rides up and orders him away from the gruesome spectacle. On being refused the knight charges him. With a large stone Villon kills the nobleman, and, stealing his armor and papers, arrives in Paris in his name.

VILLON IS ARRESTED AND TAKEN TO THE CASTLE

His first act is to rescue a girl in an inn. A good fight scene is shown. For this Villon is arrested and thrown in a dungeon in the castle. The old King visits him in disguise and asks him to give up his way of living and join a rebellion against the King. For this he promises to free him from the cell.

Villon refuses and the King, making his identity known, knights him in reality, and gives him the name of Chevalier. The scene closes showing the astonished Villon being conducted into the royal castle.

BIG PLANS FOR GRIFFITH'S "THE CLANSMAN"

Special to THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS

Los Angeles, July 27.

D. W. GRIFFITH, managing director of the Majestic Motion Picture Company studio, is now giving all of his time to the production of "The Clansman" from the novel by Thomas Dixon, Jr., which he hopes to make his greatest picture. More than three months have now been spent on this picture and the preparation, and it will probably be four months before it is released. Work has been delayed because of the sickness of Henry Walthall, who has been in a local hospital for the past two weeks, but will soon be able to report for work.

Two village streets, to represent scenes in Piedmont, North Carolina, in Civil War days, have been built at the cost of several thousands of dollars. The best talent of all the Majestic and Reliance companies will take part in the picture, together with about three thousand extra people.

"DAN"

(All-Star—Five Reels)

REVIEWED BY WILLIAM RESSMAN ANDREWS

THIS is a pleasing photoplay of the stirring times during the war between the states. Lew Dockstader is featured as a type of the trusted plantation slave, immortalized in song and story and remembered with deep affection by the people of the South for unwavering fidelity to the interests of his master's family.

THE DEATH OF DAN

Lew Dockstader preserves the traditions of the character, and by playing the part with feeling excites regret over the infrequency of the actor's appearance in the picture. Everyone would welcome more of the rotund jollity of the ante-bellum servant, privileged in his years of attendance on the members of the household to assume the role of friend, confidant and ebony jester, who with rare diplomacy was able to be all things at once without forgetting his real status.

Pathos and tragedy touch elbows in this picture from the first appearance of faithful Dan to the tragic end where the gray-haired old servitor gives up his life before a firing squad for aiding Raoul, his master's only son, to escape.

The producers have succeeded in presenting a film which will not offend audiences in either the North or the South by any tactless references to matters which a united country wishes to remain buried in undisturbed oblivion.

The film contains a number of vivid battle scenes executed by a troop of well-rehearsed supernumeraries. There are sharp skirmishes, slashing cavalry charges and thrilling ambuscades to assist the imagination of the spectator in constructing a picture of the Civil War struggle.

The visit of John Hammond and his sister Elsie to the plantation of their friend, Colonel Dabney, in the South is interrupted by the outbreak of the war. Hammond becomes engaged to Grace, daughter of the colonel, while Raoul, the son of Colonel Dabney, wins Elsie's promise to become his bride.

The two young men are separated, each fighting under the flag duty and conscience dictate. The couples are prevented from pledging themselves in marriage for a long time by the uncertainties of the conflict, but are finally united.

The Operator's Exchange

HARRISBURG FIGHT OVER

Harrisburg, Pa., July 30.

WITH the settlement of a long standing controversy between the union motion picture machine operators and the management of the Victoria Theatre all the motion picture theatres of the city are now on a union basis.

Several months ago the union and George Brothers, who manage the theatre, had a falling out on the subject of overtime pay for motion picture machine operators with the result that the union operators went out on a strike. Several efforts at adjustment were made without success. Meantime the theatre employed non-union operators who, it is understood, did not give good satisfaction.

On last Thursday, however, Maxwell Hite, head of the union in this city, announced that an understanding had been reached with George Brothers under an arrangement by which only union operators will be employed hereafter. The union will be recognized and the union scale of wages will be paid.

This places all the motion picture theatres in Harrisburg on the same basis with regard to organized labor which is very strong in this city and has caused the union men to spread broadcast the fact that the Victoria no longer is to be considered an "unfair" theatre.

V. H. BERGHAUS, JR.

A Live Wire

On this page the reader will find the photo of Brother H. S. Smith, of Rochester, N. Y., who has not only thought and argued in the interest of his fellow craftsmen, but has put his shoulder to the wheel and helped to establish conditions in the city of Rochester that cannot help but improve the motion picture business, from both the manager's and the operator's standpoint.

With a man in the operating room whom the manager feels that he can depend upon owing to the fact that the operator is licensed, presupposes that he is competent, the manager will be in a position to devote more of his time and attention to the safety and comfort of his audience.

The operator having no fear of a boy or other incompetent being employed, for less money, will strive to improve the character of his projection, so as to convince the manager and the public that the confidence of the examining authorities was not misplaced.

And the public, the safety of which should, after all, be the first consideration, will feel that the public officials have at last done their duty insofar as lay in their power, by formulating an ordinance for the proper protection of the said public.

The city of Rochester is to be congratulated for one thing in particular, and that is that the mayor had the courage to appoint a practical operator on the board of examiners.

I do not hesitate to say that I expect Rochester to eclipse every other city in the Empire State for projection within the next six months, as a direct result of the new license law, and the fact that it is the only examining authority in the state where a PRACTICAL OPERATOR is employed on the Board.

I am proud to find that a man of Brother Smith's calibre thinks the same as I do in regard to the question of state license, and hope that all interested parties give this matter more thought, as it cannot help but work out for the ultimate good of the business at large.

W. D. CHANEY.

BOSTON BITS

Local No. 182 held its anual outing and field day at Elcock Grove, Stoughton, Mass., on July 26.

Prof. Maloney, a member of Local No. 182, made a balloon ascension and double parachute drop. Brother Maloney is a past master in this line.

The Massachusetts Legislature has passed a law making it compulsory for anyone desiring a motion picture operator's license to serve an apprenticeship under a licensed operator before he can file an application for a license. Of course, this does not apply to any operator from another city, as this would make it unconstitutional, as in the case of the New York license law.

The new and magnificent Modern Theatre opened with a policy of high-class feature photoplays.

Brothers Andrews and Berkholm are employed at this house and delivering the goods.

Brother Tim Fuller, of Local No. 182, has given up operating for a while, to accept a position as manager of Keith's Theatre at Orange, N. J.

The Alston Theatre, seating 1,800, will open September 1 with Brother Watson, better known as Teddy, as part owner and manager.

Los Angeles Operators Entertain

The motion picture operators of Los Angeles, Cal., will give an entertainment on the evening of August 27, and from all indications this will eclipse any previous affair of its sort ever held in the "City of Angels."

I am pleased to state that THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS contracted for advertising space to the extent of a half-page in the program, which will be issued on this occasion.

Operators "Au Naturel"

Of course we have all suffered more or less at different times from the heat and lack of ventilation in the operating room, but Brother Cecil Wood, of late with the Atsco Company, reports an experience that eclipses anything that has ever been reported before, to the best of my knowledge and belief.

When the famous picture known as "Dope" opened at the Victoria Theatre in Pittsburgh, Pa., Brothers Cecil Wood and Chas. Sheppard were employed as operators.

The performance started at 2 p. m. on last Decoration Day, and at about 8 p. m. the heat of the operating room was so intense that the fuses blew out, releasing the automatic sprinkler, and the water in the operating room was up to the knees of the operators.

The leads to the lamps were immersed, and every time the men touched anything in the booth it was most decidedly interesting, "don't you know."

Brothers Wood and Sheppard discarded all clothing as superfluous, and Max Speigel stated that that was the first time he had ever seen a NATURAL operator.

In spite of the deplorable state of affairs the show ended at 11:00 p. m. on schedule time.

For State License

W. D. Chaney,
MOTION PICTURE NEWS,
New York.

Dear Chaney:—Your communication of the 23d inst. at hand, and wish to say that I most heartily agree with you in regard to the state license law governing motion picture operators. We fellows here in Rochester have thought of this thing ever since we organized, and grew tired of waiting for the state license law, so went into it independently, and last May put across a city regulation which has been a great thing for us.

I am an advocate of state license, and am intending to do more than talk about it. It is my intention to get in touch with all "movie" delegates who attend the State Federation of Labor Convention in Schenectady in August (fourth week) and draft resolutions along these lines endorsing the proposed state license.

Perhaps a remark about the necessity or rather advisability of each local having a representative at this convention would not be out of place. The State F. of L. is the body which secures legislation for the working classes, and just at this time we, the motion picture operators, are entitled to some consideration and support, and all that we have to do to get it, is to get onto the job and make ourselves known. It is not the fault of the legislative committee of that body that we have never been taken care of. We have only ourselves to blame. If we would affiliate and then get to the conventions and make ourselves known we would get the much-needed and wished-for legislation.

H. S. SMITH

But, Friend Chaney, we will never accomplish anything by you sitting in New York, myself in Rochester, another fellow in Buffalo, and the rest of our craftsmen somewhere else, and writing letters to each other.

Let's get together soon. Let's make it in Schenectady on the fourth Tuesday of August, and let's all of us have credentials admitting us as delegates to the N. Y. State F. of L. Convention. If our organization cannot afford to send us, let us go at our own expense, and let's do something for the "movies." Why be drones and make the labor movement carry us?

Why not put our shoulders to the wheel and lift our pound? Why not get on the labor map, and let other tradesmen say of us, "They are a live bunch and are deserving of our support," rather than have the feeling that we are a burden?

I know that some will be represented, and hope that each I. A. local in the state will be on the job in Schenectady in August, and wish to say that if they doubt the truth of my statements they will act wisely to write I. A. President Shay and get his views on the subject.

I hope most sincerely that you will see your way clear to publish my communication, as it is an honest expression of my thoughts.

I am fraternally,

(Signed) H. S. SMITH,
Secretary, Local No. 253, I. A. T. S. E.,
P O. Box 385, Rochester, N. Y.
Office, 104 Reynolds Arcade.

SPECIAL FILM REVIEWS

"Why Preachers Leave Home." (Melies. Two reels. Thurs., July 23.)—Mistaken identity causes the complications that are spread over two reels in this picture.

If this picture had been condensed into one reel, it would have been infinitely better. By having the preacher and the whiskey drummer exchange luggage, there is, undeniably, opened up a good chance for comic action. The minister is mistaken for a crook and arrested, the drummer for the minister, and carried off to perform a marriage ceremony.

A burglar comes in, and matters are complicated still further when the drummer runs off in his clothing. But the only conclusion that there could possibly be to all this is for each to be arrested, and when they are brought together in the jail, explanations are necessarily in order.

"The Vampire's Trail." (Kalem. Two reels. Mon., Aug. 24.—The Vampire is a cabaret singer who comes into a young married man's life and forms the third side of the eternal triangle. The trouble is that the wife is too much absorbed in the love for her child, and lets her husband drift pretty much by himself. He almost drifts into the clutches of the bewitching cabaret performer. But an attack of diphtheria in the house catches both in the quarantine net, and they cannot make good their proposed elopement.

But the character of the singer is finally revealed to him, and the husband pleads forgiveness of his wife. Alice Joyce is the loving and devoted young mother, and Alice Hollister the seductive mischief maker. Several strong scenes are revealed in the two reels.

"The Fable of Higher Education That Was Too Much for the Old Man." (Essanay. Wed., July 22.)—George Ade's faculty for seeing the fun in a given situation is a heaven-sent gift, and the way in which he can reproduce it for us so that we see as much of the fun as he does, is inimitable. In this Fable for Films, the youth spends too much of Dad's hard-earned money, and his incensed parent kidnaps him and carries him off to a farm, where the young man is put to work hoeing potatoes.

"Who Seeks Revenge." (Lubin. Two reels. Wed., July 22.)—By means of a wicked exchange of babies, there is developed in this picture a story of powerful human appeal. Skilful dramatic irony makes tense moments when the father is made, through this error, to go against his own daughter. The photography and stage manipulation of the attack on the fort in the first part of the drama is above the average of such scenes.

It is during this battle that the exchange of babies is made by a worthless soldier named Morgan, after both mothers have been killed and before the father of the daughter, the colonel of the fort, has seen his child. A number of capable players are in the cast, including Joseph Smiley, Justina Huff, Clarence J. Elmer, John H. Smiley, Carol Halloway and Eleanor Blanchard.

"His Stolen Fortune." (Essanay. Two reels. Friday, July 17.)—A cleverly conceived plot which affords Francis X. Bushman a chance to reveal his abilities as an actor and incidentally to appear at his best as a matinee idol. Left a fortune by his uncle, he learns from a letter that the fortune really belongs to a poor inventor whom the uncle has robbed. In answer to his honest advertisement hordes of heirs to the fortune pursue him wherever he turns. But he gets away with his sweetheart and then comes the surprising denouement, which has been admirably concealed until this point, that the letter was only a test of the honesty of the young man and the fortune is really his after all.

"The Incompetent." (Lubin. Two reels. Wednesday, July 8.)—Another high-class drama of the sort that Lubin has been releasing of late. It will hold one spellbound throughout. John E. Ince, William Cohill, Rosetta Brice and Charles Kelly play the leads.

Gardner, an incompetent clerk, marries Mildred for her money. He opens a brokerage office and loses all. She works as his secretary and realizes his utter incompetence. She falls in love with Hilton, a rich broker. Her husband finds them together one night and shoots at his wife but wounds Hilton. In a struggle with the police Gardner is killed.

"Her Primitive Model." (Biograph. Saturday, July 11.)—The adventures of a pretty girl in conquering a man that has not yet passed beyond the primitive state. He poses for her when she scrubs for him, and he is smitten with love. But father interferes and the girl attempts to leave, but she hasn't calculated her man aright. He carries her off by main force, and in the end she gives in, in spite of father and his crew of helpers. It is a comedy quite true to nature.

"Harry's Waterloo" (Thanhouser. Sun., July 19.)—A novel picture and one worthy of the highest praise, especially on the part of the lead, who plays four parts; no other character appears. Harry Benham is the clever impersonator who appears in this picture. He plays the lover, the fiancé, the father and the detective. The double exposure work is excellent.

THE SPIRIT OF GOOD TRIUMPHS OVER EVIL
Scene from "The Love Victorious" (Powers, Three Reels, July 28)

"The Fable of Napoleon and the Bumps." (Essanay. Wednesday, July 15.)—Anything that George Ade puts his hand to is obliged to be funny. We have all been charmed with his delightful "Fables in Slang." He now turns his attention to fables of another sort, which might be called "Fables for Films."

A young $12-a-week clerk is taken in by a phrenological quack. After measuring his head, the quack informs him that it conforms in all particulars to Napoleon. He is born, therefore, to command and not to obey. Proceeding to put this supposition into execution, he gets into all sorts of predicaments. Not only does he raise trouble, but bumps also, on the top of his own head. Another measurement discloses the error of the first, and brings him to his senses.

"The Messenger of Death." (Thanhouser. Two reels. Tues., July 28.)—An excellent drama with Mignon Anderson and Irving Cummings in the principal parts. The locale is India; the action is absorbing and rapid, but might be condensed a trifle without harm to the story. The sergeant is left in charge of the compound while the captain is away. The natives attack the place and prove too strong for the defendants. The sergeant in desperation shoots the captain's daughter to keep her from falling into the hands of the natives. Just as he has done so the rescue party arrives, and the sergeant, realizing his terrible mistake, takes his own life.

"The Saving of Young Anderson." (Reliance. Two reels. Sat., July 25.)—It is an excellent drama, and one that will bear up under the severest criticism. It contains a lot of entertaining action, and the scenes are well laid. Anderson, through the influence of his sweetheart's cousin, obtains a position on the police force. He becomes friends with a crooked gang and neglects his duty. Later when his benefactor sees that he is growing more negligent, he lays a trap for the gang and then tells Anderson to arrest them, which causes all to end well.

"The Mystery of the Hindu Image." (Majestic. Two reels., Sun., July 26.)—An absorbing story which is, for the most part, detective in nature. R. A. Walsh appears as the detective. The guardian of a youth who had quarreled with him the night before is found dead in the morning. The young man is arrested and sentenced to die. The detective then takes up the case, following up a clue left by the head of a Hindu image found on the body of the dead man. He discovers the murderer to be a Hindu who had entered the house to steal.

SCENE FROM "KATE WATERS OF THE SECRET SERVICE" (POWERS)

"Kate Waters of the Secret Service." (Powers. Two reels. Friday, July 24.)—Edna Maison plays the part of Kate Waters in this picture. She is the means of convicting the guilty man in a murder case and freeing the innocent one from suspicion. To do this she assumes various disguises which are clever and entertaining. The action is supposed to transpire in the camp of the United States army. The murder has been committed by one of the soldiers. A realistic café scene is introduced.

"How He Lost His Trousers." (Lubin. Split reel. Saturday, July 11.)—On the same reel with "Mandy's Chicken Dinner." The comedy of errors that follows when a young naval officer on shore leave pays a visit to a friend's family and is mistaken for an escaped lunatic. His trousers must serve for a signal to the keepers and he reluctantly gives them up. His sanity does not become evident until after his arrest. Jerold T. Hevener, Raymond McKee and Marguerite Nemoyer are in the cast

---

"Mandy's Chicken Dinner." (Lubin. Split reel. Saturday, July 11.)—Mandy is entertaining the preacher and what can she do without a chicken for him? But upon poor Mose, her trifling husband, falls the burden of providing it. He buys one, a rooster, and it gets away; he steals one and he is arrested. In spite of his misfortunes, we are compelled to laugh at his efforts to please his high-sprited and imperious wife. John Edwards is Mose, Mattie Edwards is Aunt Mandy, and Billy Higgins is the darky preacher. This is shown on the same reel with "How He Lost His Trousers."

"A Man and His Brother." (Victor. Two reels. Mon., Aug. 3.)—This picture seems to get away from the conventional and hackneyed productions, of which there are more than enough. It is simple in plot and lacking in sensationalism. J. Warren Kerrigan and Vera Sisson interpret the leading roles. The Western atmosphere is realistic, and the photography is of a high standard.

The "man" is employed on a ranch, where he falls in love with the owner's daughter. His employer is told that he is an ex-convict, but retains him. He tells his sweetheart his past and how he was unjustly convicted of murder, and how he was later released on the discovery of the real culprit, his own brother. A few days later he sets out to capture a notorious bandit and swears that he will bring him back or not return. He discovers that the bandit is the erring brother. Not wishing to break his vow, and reluctant to arrest his brother, he does not return.

"A Dive for Life. (Edison. Tues., Aug. 4.)—The "Man Who Disappeared" series, of which this is the latest story, seems to be getting better and better with every release. The feature of this reel is a dive taken by Marc MacDermott from the top of a Hudson River boat into the icy water below. His fiancee, Mary Wales, who is on the boat, fails to see him come up and thinks that she has lost him forever, and her happiness can well be imagined when she meets him again later.

In and Out of Los Angeles Studios

Special to THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS
Los Angeles, July 27.

The studio of the Rohhins Photoplay Company was an exceedingly husy place the latter part of this month, for heginning August 1 the company was to make three releases a week for Pathé. Jesse Rohhins, who was formerly with the Essanay players at the Niles, Cal., studio, directs one company, and supervises the productions of two other directors.

The most recent production was a rural Western comedy in which Jack Phipps and Miss Dixie Stuart played the leads.

Stanley Twist, head of the Inter Ocean Film Company, of New York, has heen in Los Angeles calling upon manufacturers whose products he handles. At the present time the Inter Ocean huys the output of the Thomas Nash Motion Picture Company and Japanese-American Film Company, of Los Angeles, and the Gouwey Feature Picture Company, of San Gahriel, Cal.

Hold Water Carnival

Following the making of a heach picture at Ocean Park, memhers of the Hartigan comedy company, making negatives for Pathé, held a water carnival, in which there were various contests.

Roger Cornell, a professional swimmer and physical culture instructor, dived forty feet into four feet of water, and in the swimming race Miss Peggy Hart was an easy winner. The contests were filmed and will he used in comedies.

Director Archer McMackin, of the Alhuquerque company, has heen producing short comedies to he used on split-reel subjects released hy the company.

For the past few weeks the two companies at the Western Luhin studio, 4560 Pasadena avenue, have heen working on feature pictures of two reels or more, and now have three completed. Two were directed by Captain Wilhur Melville, and one, "When Honor Wakes," written hy Rohert E. Rinehart, is laid in San Francisco, the morning of the earthquake and fire. A miniature city was huilt and hurned.

Paul Powell directed "Fate and The Fugitive," a story of a fortune-teller. In this, Miss Velma Whitman played the lead. Other recent productions of the Western Luhin players are "Restitution," a two-reel detective story; "On Suspicion," with Frank Elliott, a noted English actor, in the lead; a two-reel play of manners; and "Mrs. Will O' Wisp," with Miss Lucile Young playing the lead.

Realistic Drowning

Miss Olive Golden, playing the role of a runaway wife, in "The Inner Conscience," heing filmed for Majestic release with Frank Bennett as the hushand, caused all the male memhers of the company to leap from a ship at Catalina last week to rescue her. She had not told memhers of the company she could swim and was lowered into the water, before the cameraman was ready.

Thinking all was in readiness for the picture, Miss Golden hegan rehearsing the struggles of a drowning woman. The men saw her and so realistic were her actions they thought she was drowning and dashed in, dressed in their street clothes.

"A Lesson in Mechanics," is the title of a one-reel comedy drama with Dorothy Gish and Rohert Harron, heing produced hy W. C. Cahanne. The experiences of the couple with a motor hoat will hring a laugh.

Eddie Dillon is having a strenuous time directing "A Physical Culture Romance," at the Reliance and Majestic studios. Tod Browning, Fay Tincher and Margaret Edwards are the principals. A young woman studies physical culture and hecomes so proficient in athletics that she easily wins the man of her choice from a seemingly more attractive rival.

Thrilling Newspaper Film

Miss Blanche Sweet is playing the leading part in "The Second Mrs. Roehuck," from a recent popular magazine story, heing filmed at the Majestic studio. The plot of the picture-story hinges on an old family portrait and will be a feature of the Mutual program.

A newspaper picture, "For the Last Edition," is heing produced under the direction of Fred A. Kelsey, of the Majestic and Reliance. How a new soh sister hrings in the story of the day, gives the paper a great heat and saves her sweetheart from falling down on the assignment, is shown in the picture. In one scene a freight car is wrecked hy dynamite. Miss Irene Hunt and Boh Burns play leading parts.

Herhert Rawlinson recently passed the federal examination and is now a licensed navigator. He plies his thirty-eight-foot launch hetween San Pedro and Catalina Islands, every Saturday and Monday, in order to spend the week end with his family at the popular Pacific coast summer resort.

Miss Ella Hall, who has heen playing ingenue parts with the Universal company since thirteen years of age is now playing her first leading woman role in the filming of a two-reel picture, "For the Secret Service," directed hy Rohert Leonard. Miss Hall is hut seventeen years old.

Varied Career of W. H. Taylor

William H. Taylor, aged 86 years, horn at Brownville, Mexico, now Brownville, Texas, a Confederate spy under General Pickett, an Indian fighter under Nelson A. Miles for years, and since then a scout, cowhoy, and ranchman in the West, who for the past two years has directed frontier scenes for the Universal companies making Western pictures, has hidden his friends at Universal ranch good-hye, and with two pack hurros and his favorite saddle horse, started on a five-thousand-mile ride from Los Angeles to New York, via Portland, Denver and Kansas City.

For several years Taylor has desired to go over the country he traversed fifty years ago, and now the trail he hlazed he will find a road of steel. He was recently induced to start a hank account hy Manager I. Bernstein, and after making his first deposit, confided to the cowhoys at the ranch that he did not want them to think he "wanted to ho-o-rde up wealth."

The Rotary Cluh of Los Angeles will hid the old scout good-hye for Los Angeles citizens, and he expects to make twenty miles a day, stopping each evening at a town or city where there is a motion-picture show and giving lectures on how frontier film dramas are produced.

He will keep in constant touch with all Universal exchanges, which will have charge of his puhlicity, hooking, and see that films which he supervised the making of will he shown while he is lecturing. In this manner he expects to defray his expenses, advertise his favorite hrand of films—Universal—and fulfil a desire of years, to again see the West.

Kerrigan Filming Ocean Picture

It was a big laugh that every one ahout the Universal studio had this week if he took time to watch the filming of Al Christie's latest comedy, "He Never Said a Word." Eddie Lyons, Victoria Ford and Lee Moran played leading parts, and a clever deaf and dumb act put on by them will turn the audiences into a laughing riot.

Jack Kerrigan has just completed filming a one-reel suhject, "Little Meg and I," adapted from the poem of that title hy C. T. Murphy. The scenario is hy James Dayton. Mr. Kerrigan is now at San Diego, filming an ocean picture.

By the end of this week the Universal director, Charles Gihlyn, will have completed the last of a series of four Francois Villon pictures, from the stories appearing in "Century Magazine," hy George Bronson Howard.

The title of the last production is "The Ninety Black Boxes." As in all of the series, J. Murdock MacQuarrie and Pauline Bush played the leading parts in this. The pictures graphically portray conditions and actual happenings of the period of the reign of terror.

No recent arrival from the East has been hailed with so much enthusiasm and given such a hearty welcome as that accorded to Henry "Pathé" Lehrmann, who put in his appearance at the Universal city Monday, July 20, having arrived with the principals of his newly-formed company that afternoon from New York City, where he completed arrangements for a release of his comedy pictures through the Universal exchanges.

Will Make Everybody Laugh

The Lehrman hrand will he known as the L K O, and the producer says his only intention is to make people laugh all over the world.

Included in the company who came to Los Angeles with Mr. Lehrman are Billie Ritchie, an English comedian; Henry Bergman, weight 303, a character man; Gertrude Selhy, a vaudeville actress, who will he the leading woman; and Al Hamherg, assistant director.

It is the intention of Mr. Lehrman, whose company will produce exclusively for the Universal, to add two producing companies immediately and he is now negotiating with two well-known directors. The new organization, which was formed after the comedy maker had heen homharded with offers from five other film manufacturers, will release three single-reel comedies each week, heginning ahout the middle of September.

Mr. Lehrman was formerly with the Biograph, then the Keystone, and until two months ago director-general of the Sterling Motion Picture Company. When Mr. Lehrman severed his connection with the latter company he departed from Los Angeles, saying he was going to return to his native land, Austria, hut upon his arrival at the Universal studio he explained that he tried to go to Europe, hut he couldn't—they wouldn't let him.

James Neil Producing for Lasky

James Neil, for some time feature director with the Universal, is now producing his first picture for the Jesse Lasky company, "Where the Trail Divides," from the story hy Stewart Edward White, with a cast including Rohert Edeson as "How," the Indian, and Theodore Roherts as Col. Lander.

Miss Winifred Kingston is playing the role of Virginia, the orphan girl cared for hy Col. Lander. All of the exterior scenes have heen completed, they heing filmed at Griffith Park, north of Los Angeles in the San Fernando valley, and in the Lahrae oil fields near Los Angeles.

The interior scenes are now being taken at the Lasky studio and the picture, to consist of five reels, will he completed by the latter part of next week.

Eddie Aheles, of "Brewster's Millions" fame, has arrived at the Jesse Lasky studio for the filming of "Bohhie Burnitt" and "Ready Money," which will be done under the direction of Oscar Apfel. All scenes for "What's His Name," with Max Figman and Lolita Rohertson, have heen filmed and the negative will reach the New York office of the company in ahout two weeks.

The great mountain scenes of the "Trey o' Hearts" series completed, the Wilfred Lucas company, Universal, are now in San Diego, where the spectacular seafaring instalment of the series is heing staged.

Will Blow Up a Ship

To furnish sensations for this drama, two ships will be destroyed at sea. One will he loaded with gasoline and hlack powder and hlown up, while the other will he rammed hy an ocean liner and cut in two. Both ships have heen purchased hy the Universal for this purpose and their destruction will he accomplished a short distance off Point Loma.

The two principal roles in the series are those of twin sisters, Judith and Rose. Both parts are played hy Cleo Madison, the accomplished emotional actress.

In the third and fourth instalment of the series, entitled, "The Sea Adventure" and "Dead Reckoning," Alan Law escapes from numerous threatening dangers with Rose, his sweetheart. Judith suhstitutes herself for Rose and is taken ahoard a ship hy Law. Sailing under false colors, Judith turns a score of harrels of gasoline loose in the hold.

She then escapes from the ship to another yacht previously chartered for her escape. At a critical moment the ship which carried Law is rammed hy a small launch and the gasoline exploded. Law and a friend harely escape with their lives. Later they take possession of the yacht chartered hy Judith where they discover Rose.

Shortly afterward Judith and her accomplices retake the yacht and capture Law and his friends. But their possession is short-lived hecause the yacht is rammed and sunk hy an ocean liner in a dense fog.

INTERESTING FILM REVIEWS

PRODUCTIONS FROM ALL PROGRAMS

GENERAL FILM PROGRAM

"Mrs. Billington's First Case." (Essanay. Tues., July 21.)—Any idea that comes from Montague Glass is sure to be clever. This picture is based on a story of bis that appeared in "Munsey's Magazine." It shows bow a lawyer-husband breaks his lawyer-wife of the desire to practice in the courts at her first case. He appears as opposing counsel and defeats ber unmercifully. Gerda Holmes and Bryant Washburn play the young couple capitally.

"Temper and Temperature." (Lubin. Split reel. Tues., July 21.)—Another mother-in-law comedy, and the much-abused and unappreciated person gets the best of the son-in-law this time. He tries to send her to bed, witb the connivance of a doctor friend, when she comes to visit him. But she is too smart for him and overhears the conversation on the telephone. It makes a ripping laugh producer.

"Worms Will Turn." (Lubin. Split reel. Tues., July 21.)—Here we have that funny troupe of policemen the like of whom are seen nowhere but in Lubin films. They must be seen to be appreciated, as tbe saying goes. The worms in tbis instance bappen to be tramps, who conquer the squad of police and appropriate the officers' honored uniforms to their own base uses. Tbey are then the police, for the uniforms make tbe only difference as far as can be told.

"Bread Upon the Waters." (Vitagraph. Two reels. Tues., July 21.)—A strong picture of the sacrifice of an artist through his devotion to high ideals. The sadness of his life, brigbtened by his generosity and his victory over self, will make a deep and lasting impression. Jean, the artist, is played with sympathetic insigbt into the requirements of the part by Etienne Girardot, and Lillian Walker gives excellent support.

"The Lure of the Ladies." (Selig. Tues., July 21.)—A young man of romantic temperament bas the fatal habit of falling in love with every girl he sees. Of course this sort of thing can not go on always, and he finally gets all tbe romance knocked out of him by a burly truckman, whose girl he was making violent love to. But tbis conclusion does not come until we have witnessed some merry sights in the way of impromptu courting.

"The Sealed Package." (Selig. Wed., July 22.)—A strongly acted and tense drama, in which an error concerning important papers and diamonds nearly causes the ruin of an innocent man, who bad confessed to save another from the severe shock that an accusation might give him. The mistake comes to light in time, the self-sacrificing young man wins the girl whose father he was trying to shield, and the villainous rival is discharged.

"The Show Busters." (Biograph. Split reel. Thurs., July 23.)—An uproarious farce of the rivalry of amateur and professional actors. The professionals have been stranded in a small village, and when the amateurs prove unsatisfactory to the committee in charge of the show for the benefit of "toothless tobacco chewers," the professionals are engaged. The village talent gets its revenge by putting an end to the agonizing show by means of a fire hose. It is on the same reel with "The Cheeseville Cops."

"The Cheeseville Cops." (Biograpb. Split reel. Thurs., July 23.)—Thc police of Cheeseville lead the grand carnival parade of the village and a gallant sight they make. Two "dips" get in a little work on thc side, and when tbe police take their trail the grand paradc is turned into a merry chase after the sleight-of-hand pcrformers. The same reel contains also "The Show Busters."

"Slippery Slim's Inheritance." (Essanay. Thurs., July 23.)—Sophie and the foreman try to put one over on Slippery Slim, but luck favors the wily one. News of a fortunate inhcritance brings Sopbie to him and they are married, but it turns out tbat a grave mistake has been made and tbat tbe money has been left to his sister. Away goes the foreman to marry the sister now, but she bas just married another. Since Slippery seems unusually bale and hearty, the foreman is left out entirely, and has no chance to get Sophie, who must remain in wedded bliss until anotber picture comes out.

"A Friend's Forgiveness." (Melies. Two reels. Sat., July 11.)—Mrs. Gamber is neglected by her husband and has an affair with anotber man, wbo is married. Her husband is ignorant of this. Jack, the other man, meets with an accident and dies soon after. Mrs. Gamber is afraid that her letters to Jack will become known to all. But Jack's wife returns them to her when sbe discovers them.

"The Beast." (Kalem. Tues., July 21.)—The daugbter marries her father's debtor. He drinks heavily and one morning is found dead in his parlor. His wife is accused, but it develops that the butler killed him in self defense. Alice Joyce and Tom Moore are the principals in tbis exciting story. A few of the interiors were taken at the Exposition in New York.

"The Rival Railroad's Plot." (Kalem. Two reels. Wed., July 22.)—A railroad story of more than usual interest. The scenes in tbe cab of the engine are most realistic. Several men fall off the train while it is going at great speed. Two railroads enter into competition for the mail contract. The weaker road tries to ruin the chances of tbe other by sending one of their fireman with the train. All their plans fail, due to the heroic effort of the engineer. Helen Holmes appears as a telegraph operator, William Brunton as a fireman, her sweetheart. N. Z. Wood is the engineer and Leo D. Maloney and Charles Wells are the heavies.

"Prosecution." (Vitagraph. Thurs., July 9.)—An excellent explosion occurs in this picture in which a small house is completely destroyed. Wben the wages of the mine employees are decreased, McClellan, a labor leader, blows up the mine hoist. He is seen by Collins, the local attorney, who loves McClellan's sister. He is undecided whether to expose tbe man or let him go for the sake of the girl, but the girl herself makes her brother confess. Alfred D. Vosburgh appears as the attorney, George Holt as McClellan and Margaret Gibson as the girl.

"Defying the Chief." (Kalem. Sat., July 25.)—An Indian story that surpasses the recent releases dealing with the redskins, featuring Princess Mona Darkfeather. While the wicked tribe of Indians is being attacked by a hostile tribe, Ohonka and her true lover escape. Art Ortega and Rex Downs are the other principals.

"A Matter of Record." (Lubin. Sat., July 25.)—The husband concocts a fine scheme to outwit his wife. He has his dictograph talk to his wife when she calls up, while he is off enjoying himself with his pretty typewriter. But once his records get mixed, the wife hears the one intcnded for the typewriter, and it is all off with Mr. Timkins' fun.

"Broncho Billy and the Gambler." (Essanay. Sat., July 25.)—Through kindness, Broncho Billy has pity on the gambler and sends him off with money in his pocket. This act melts the heart of the girl he loves and overcomes her obstinate indifference. As usual, the acting of G. M. Anderson and Kate Clayton in the leading roles is above reproach.

"Footprints." (Selig. Sat., July 25.)—Through the fact that the identical measurements of two women's feet and that one of the ladies is a somnambulist, some trying situations are developed for the persons concerned in this play. But when these two things are discovered, all is righted, for the owner of the diamond necklace has robbed herself in her sleep-walking.

"Romantic Josie." (Vitagraph. Sat., July 25.)—Josie, reading of Sir Launcelot and Lady Gwendolyn, imagines herself the fair lady imprisoned in the castle and rescued by her knight. Her absorption sets the house on fire, because she put coal oil in the soup, and Hank does play the knight in great fashion by pulling her from the flames.

"The Little Widow." (Biograph. Sat., July 25.)—A drama of the sort to touch tbe heart. But the bank failure part is too full of untruthfulness to be convincing. The widow's friend forces the president to hand over her money. When a bank fails, however, the funds are no longer in the hands of the old directors, but a receiver takes charge.

"The Mystery of the Octagonal Room." (Edison. Tues., July 25.)—Once again Hamilton Cleek solves an apparently unfatbomable mystery concerning the disappearance of precious bric-a-brac. The cunning and ingenuity of the crook is baffled by the science of Cleek, and we are absorbed in tbe working out of the puzzle. Thomas W. Hanshaw's story, upon which this is based, will appear in the September number of "Short Stories."

"A Letter from Home." (Essanay. Two reels. Fri., July 24.)—This is tbe story of a young attorney who is placed between two fires and yet he comes out unscathed, but we are given some tense moments during which he battlcs with his conscience. He has gone to a small town as a special state's attorney to put an end to land graft. He resists the offers of bribery made by tbe crooks, until he becomes aware of his wife's loneliness in the small place. He gives in in order to be ablc to take her away, but sbe accidentally overhears, becomes willing to remain to help ber husband do right, and persuades him to return the tainted check.

"Coffee Cultivation." (Pathé. Split reel. Mon., July 27.)—Everybody drinks but few know anything about the cultivation of coffee and its preparation for market. Pathé has satisfied curiosity about this important Brazilian industry in a picture which is well worth while. It is given on the same reel with "Hosts of the Sea."

"The Hosts of the Sea." (Pathé. Split reel. Mon., July 27.)—This brings an aquarium into the motion picture tbeatre. All sorts of strange and queer looking animals living at the bottom of the sea are photographed in their natural surroundings, with some of their most characteristic habits of life much in evidence. Completes the reel that begins with "Coffee Cultivation."

"The Straits of Bonifacio." (Pathé. Split reel. Tues., July 28.)—The audience is taken through these wonderful straits off the coast of Sardinia, with gigantic cliffs rising abruptly from the dazzling white spray of the troubled waters. A tinted picture of sunrise in this glorious valley of the sea is unusually beautiful. With "Hemp Growing" we get a thousand feet of interesting matter.

"Hemp Growing." (Pathé. Split reel. Tues., July 28.)—All the processes in raising and getting the hemp ready for market, to be shipped to all parts of the world and made into rope and mats, are presented clearly and intellibly in this picture of New Zealand's great industry. It is on the same reel with "The Straits of Bonifacio."

"John Rance, Gentleman." (Vitagraph. One and a half reels. Tues., July 28.)—Splendid acting, strict attention to the smallest details of setting, and uncommonly fine photography combine to make this one of the best Vitagraph pictures that has appeared for some time. The story is vibrant with life and does not need sensational accessories. The sacrifice of the hero at the end in following his conscience, instead of the woman that he loves, makes an ending that must impress all. The two reels are completed with "Beautiful California."

"Beautiful California." (Vitagraph. One-half reel. Tues., July 28.)—The Vitagraph photographers have determined that beautiful things shall not lie right under their noses without their seeing them. In this half reel, which completes "John Rance, Gentleman," they have caught some of the wonderful scenes near the Vitagraph studios at Santa Monica, Cal.

"The False Shadow." (Lubin. Two reels. Thurs., July 23.)—Here is a story that abounds in dramatic moments, and with the able players that are cast for the parts, the production is in every way a strong one. The new science of eugenics forms the central idea. A physician makes a wrong report on the young man who is about to marry the girl that he, himself, is in love with. The girl falls sick, the physician confesses what he has done, and finds the lover for the girl, the sight of whom restores her to health.

"The Apple." (Vitagraph. Thurs., July 23.)—The apple in this picture is not an Albemarle Pippin, although there are two girl pippins in this little drama of the East Side. The apple is the apple of discord. But Aunt Sophia uses her woman's instinct, so that Hugo finds that his wife is the finer pippin after all.

"His Sister." (Vitagraph. Mon., July 27.)—How a tomboy sister stands by her brother who has shot a man in a quarrel that arose out of gambling. She makes the sheriff's posse follow her while the brother escapes to the border. There is pictured some wonderful riding across vast plains and over the slopes of lofty mountains, all of which are photographed with extraordinary clearness.

"Gwendolyn, the Sewing Machine Girl." (Biograph. Split reel. Mon., July 27.)—A burlesque comedy that turns things out of their natural course. The sewing machine girl drinks champagne, her lover is a bootblack in evening clothes, three hefty furniture movers are "perfect ladies." The landlord kidnaps the girl, but she is trailed by the flowers dropped from her bouquet. "Search, the Scientific Detective," is on the same reel.

"Search, the Scientific Detective." (Biograph. Split reel. Mon., July 27.)—This is a curious picture, but it has fun-provoking qualities. It reminds one of the very first motion pictures which showed persons and things disappearing at will. The detective has this strange power, and by means of it and other scientific devices he tracks his criminals, finds the star actress and her precious pearl necklace. With "Gwendolyn, the Sewing Machine Girl."

"A Clash of Virtues." (Essanay. Tues., July 28.)—The moral of this picture, and it is earnestly presented, is that somebody has to lose what somebody else makes on the Stock Exchange and suffer hard for it. But the young clerk who has been drawn into the net is saved by his sister, who weds the son of the "power of the Street," and a tragedy is averted by this sweet turn in affairs.

"The Question and Answer Man." (Lubin. Tues., July 28.)—Bob Johnson writes the "Advice to the Love-lorn" as Madame Leonora's column. Bob's advice is not always fruitful of results, as Freddie Nix learns when Bob gets the girl that the latter has been wearing his heart out for. The decrepit grandfather serves no comic purpose in the picture, and it would have been better if he had been left out of the cast.

"Muff." (Selig. Tues., July 28.)—This is a Roy McCardell picture that is not a comedy. It is a story of a foundling, who has been left by his father, a circus rider, at the door of his aunt's cottage and is raised by her. Later he falls into the company of his father, who is about to lead him into criminal practises when the relation of the two becomes known. The meeting of father and son is too artificially contrived.

"The Bingleville Fire Department." (Kalem. Fri., July 24.)—A rollicking comedy of a funny town, funny fire department, and funny police force. The heads of the last two love the daughter of the honorable mayor of the town. They do not win her, losing to a young sprig of a fire-extinguisher drummer, who beat them both in saving the mayor's house from burning.

"A Traitor to His Country." (Lubin. Fri., July 24.)—The scene of this picture is in the Philippines, during the rebellion against the United States Government. A young insurgent reveals the secrets of the rebel camp in order to protect his sweetheart. The circumstances of this treachery make a powerful human interest story.

"The Substitute Heir." (Selig. Fri., July 24.)—In which a purchased heir acts as a boomerang, and has exactly the opposite effect from that contemplated. The widow of a wealthy man needs a child to secure his fortune in the courts, but the one she gets turns out to be of a dusky color. The situation is led up to with sharp surprise in Roy McCardell's best manner.

"The Winning Trick." (Vitagraph. Fri., July 24.)—This sounds as if it might be about a card game, but it is not. The trick was played upon a young lady by the man who loved her, in order to win her for his wife. It was a clever trick to cure her of her romantic socialistic ideas about not wanting to marry a rich man. He becomes poor long enough to prove that she doesn't like it.

"The President's Special." (Edison. Two reels. Fri., Aug. 7.)—Through overwork the station agent goes to sleep at his post and allows a picnic train to go by when he should have sidetracked it. In a vision he sees the terrible results of his negligence. But his wife also sees the train and realizes that it should have been stopped. She jumps in an automobile and overtakes the train in the nick of time. The race between the automobile and the train is slightly too long. Charles Ogle and Gertrude McCoy lead the cast.

"A Change of Business." (Edison. Split reel. Wed., Aug. 5.)—On the same reel with "Faint Heart Ne'er Won Fair Lady." To win the charming widow of the town Jones changes from a bartender to a soda fountain keeper. This comedy is rather slow but will furnish amusement for those who like this variety of parlor comedies. May Abbey and Frank A. Lyon are the principal characters.

"Faint Heart Ne'er Won Fair Lady." (Edison. Split reel. Wed., Aug. 5.)—On the same reel with "A Change of Business." By persistently addressing his much-desired father-in-law with, "I love your daughter. Will you let me marry her?" the suitor finally wins the girl. A number of comical situations are introduced. Edward Boulden and Bessie Learn lead the cast.

"One Touch of Nature." (Edison. Sat., Aug. 8.)—One of the best one-reel dramas produced for some time. The perpetual crank comes in touch with a little boy fishing. The friendship of the boy causes him to re-enact scenes of his childhood and his bad character leaves him forever.

"A Tango Spree." (Edison. Mon., Aug. 3.)—One lone man in the town is adverse to the tango, but when his mother takes it up he falls in line. Dan Mason plays the lead in this enjoyable comedy.

"The Man with the Glove." (Kalem. Tues., July 28.)—A drama showing the instincts of cruelty, selfishness and revenge in full play. A banker has been marked with the word coward, and since his schooldays is forced to wear a glove to conceal the mark. Later in life he gets his chance for revenge upon the man who thus disfigured him, but the sight of the latter's suffering makes him relent, and kindness takes the place of revenge. A dramatic but hardly logical piece, acted with forceful reality.

"The Deadly Battle at Hicksville." (Kalem. Thurs., July 31.)—No one likes to see the incidents of our Civil War travestied as in this picture. Of course it is funny in a way; the characters are so ludicrous in appearance and the action is so ridiculous that the picture cannot but be funny to certain kinds of audiences. But it is distasteful to many to read "General Flea" and "Union soldiers do not work after 5 o'clock."

"The Indian Agent." (Kalem. Two reels. Wed., July 29.)—A picture of life on the plains a couple of generations ago, with grizzled trappers, wild Indians, brave women. There is a caravan of prairie schooners attacked by Indians, and we are given a fair reproduction of the ensuing battle.

"The Identification." (Kalem. Two reels. Mon., July 27.)—The somewhat gruesome and repulsive life of a cocaine fiend is revealed with uncommon realism. The uncontrolled craving for the drug discloses the secret of the young attorney to the girl whom he wishes to marry. The luxurious surroundings of fashionable life are varied with prison scenes, and punctuated with pistol shots and mortal scufflings. An automobile is caught turning turtle. For those who like this sort of film, it is a powerful picture of its type.

UNIVERSAL PROGRAM

